If Colorado (10-1-1) beats Notre Dame (8-2), the Buffaloes should win the national championship. But if Notre Dame spoils Colorado's title hopes in the Orange Bowl for the second straight year, the Cotton or Citrus could have the No. 1 team.

Miami (7-2), which probably will move from third to second this week, will play the Southwest Conference champion — possibly a once-beaten Texas team — in the Cotton. A Miami victory and a Colorado defeat could give the Hurricanes their third title in four seasons and make them the first school with two losses to be voted national champion. That's assuming, of course, that they win their final two regular-season games against Syracuse and San Diego State.

If seventh-ranked Texas (8-1) gets past Baylor and Texas A&M and beats Miami in the Cotton, the Longhorns may have a shot at No. 1 if Colorado loses and Nebraska (9-1) beats Georgia Tech (9-0-1) in the Citrus.

Tech, the only unbeaten team in Division I-A, can stay in title contention by beating Georgia on Dec. 1 and Nebraska on Jan. 1. But the fourth-ranked Yellow Jackets will probably still need losses by Colorado and Miami to make it to the top.

No. 11 Nebraska, with a game left against Oklahoma, is seemingly out of the title picture because there are too many teams ranked ahead of the Cornhuskers. And Notre Dame's late-season loss makes the Irish a long shot even if they beat Southern Cal and Colorado.

If you're thinking No. 1, forget about the rest of the New Year's bowls. There is a slim chance, however, that a non-Jan. 1 bowl could produce the national champion.

After all, what if fifth-ranked Brigham Young (9-1) beats Utah State and Hawaii before going to the Dec. 29 Holiday Bowl? Then suppose BYU beats its opponent (probably Texas A&M) in the Holiday and Colorado, Miami and Georgia Tech lose their bowl games? The Cougars, who beat Miami early in the season, could make a strong case for No. 1 if that happens.

One reason the championship scenario is so muddled is that the major bowl matchups were set two weeks before the official Nov. 24 bid date.

If they had waited a little longer, we may have gotten a 1-2 Orange Bowl between Colorado and Miami, Notre Dame vs. the SWC champion in the Cotton and Georgia Tech (if they could get out of their Citrus commitment) vs. the Southeastern Conference champion (probably Tennessee) in the Sugar.

Instead, the Sugar is stuck with an 8-2 Virginia team whose star quarterback, Shawn Moore, just underwent surgery.

Lawrence, Pittsburg take titles

By The Associated Press

Lawrence doesn't always make it look pretty, but the Lions just win, win, win.

Lawrence defeated Garden City 9-3 Saturday for its second-straight Kansas 6A high school football title and its fourth in the last five years.

First-year coach Dick Purdy said it wasn't pretty, but it didn't matter.

"When you win this game, who cares how you do it," Purdy said. "But I would say this was more like a Lawrence Lion football game."

Saturday also marked Purdy's 200th career victory as a head coach.

The Lions (11-1) broke open a 3-3 deadlock with 3:20 left in the first half when Tyrone Thompson scored on a 1-yard run. Thompson completed 6-of-9 passes for 104 yards and Michael Cooley gained 82 yards on 13 carries for the Lions.

The Buffs ended their season at 10-2.

Perfection is the only way to describe Pittsburg's season.

The Dragons ended a perfect season as J. J. Dalton rushed for 127 yards and scored two touchdowns to lift the Dragons over Buhler 28-10 for the 5A state title.

Pittsburg finished the season at 13-0 and ranked No. 1.

"That's probably the best thing this football team did all year," Pittsburg coach Larry Garman said. "It's a great tribute to the competitiveness of these kids."

Buhler (8-4) took a 10-7 lead after Gerben Van Kalsbeek kicked a 46-yard field goal with 10:35 remaining in the first half, but the Dragons dominated after that.

"He's a really nice sophomore quarterback, isn't he," Garman said of Dalton. "You won't win many state championships with sophomore quarterbacks."

German foreign exchange student Marc Tiemann kicked field goals of 41 and 27 yards as Scott City beat Marysville 13-0 for the 4A championship.

"I didn't know that I would play here," Tiemann said. "I thought I could play soccer or tennis, but I went to practice and tried it, and (Coach Dave Dunham) said I was on the team."

"He had never seen a football," Dunham said, "let alone played the game."

Scott City (11-2) tallied its only touchdown when Brian Dart capped a 58-yard, 11-play drive, on a 1-yard run with seven minutes left in the first quarter.

Chris Stoppel totaled 109 yards rushing for Scott City, which sealed the victory on Tiemann's two third-quarter field goals.

"That first field goal was the big one," Marysville coach Bill Lowe said. "The second one put us away."

Marysville, which started the season at 1-4, finished at 8-5.

Andy Ball rushed for 130 yards and two touchdowns and Robert Nutting tossed three touchdown passes as Riverton defeated Chase County 32-13 in the 3A championship.

Riverton finished the season at 13-0.

In addition to his three touchdown passes, Nutting scored on a 6-yard run in the third quarter that put Riverton ahead 20-7. Ball scored on a 3-yard run and a 16-yard scoring pass.

Chase County (12-1) gained only 44 yards on the ground.

Repeat — that's what Atwood did.

Shane Felzien scored five touchdowns and rushed for 255 yards as Atwood defeated Clifton-Clyde 66-34 in the 2-1A championship game.

Atwood concluded its season at 12-1. Clifton-Clyde finished at 8-5.

"I felt we possibly had a chance to win our league (Northwest Kansas) and win state," Coach Dan Lankas said.

Felzien scored on runs of 2, 2, 63 and 83 yards. He also scored on a 70-yard punt return with 4:45 left in the third period that gave Atwood a 52-0 lead. He added a 30-yard scoring pass to Steve Horinek and kicked five extra points.

Atwood racked up 559 total yards on offense, including 432 on the ground.

In Eight-Man championship action, Keith Sides rushed for 207 yards and three touchdowns as Northern Valley defeated Lost Springs-Centre 50-32 for the Division I title.

Northern Valley (13-0) held a 22-18 halftime lead as Thad Schemper scored on runs of 4 and 3 yards.

Wildcats to play AAU club

By The Collegian Staff

Coming off a win in its exhibition opener last Wednesday, the men's basketball team will face the Michigan AAU squad in a second and final exhibition tilt tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Coach Dana Altman's squad enters the game with little knowledge of its opponent.

"I really don't know a lot about them," said Altman, who is now less than a full week away from his regular-season debut as head coach. "I haven't had a chance to see them play."

K-State had five players score in double figures in its exhibition opener, led by Wylie Howard's 26 and Jean Derouillere's 18. Altman hopes for continued balance.

"Everyone hopes for balance," he said. "We'll need for at least two or three guys to step up for us."

Altman, however, isn't sure how many scorers he'll be able to depend on to put big numbers on the board during the regular season, which opens Saturday night with a 7:35 contest against Akron in Bramlage.

"I don't know how many of those (explosive scorers) we do have," he said. "Wylie has shown he's capable, and Jean has proven he can put up those numbers."

"We'll just have to wait and see after the season starts if anyone else will be able to do that."

David Mayes/Staff

Lawrence Lions running back Michael Cooley gets pulled down by Garden City Buffaloes defender Jim Moore during the Class 6A state football championship at KSU Stadium Saturday. The Lions won 9-3.

Big play sparks Chiefs to win

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — For an offense that hadn't visited the end zone in almost a month, watching J.J. Birden streak 90 yards on the third play of the game seemed like the answer to a prayer.

"When we saw him running down there to the end zone, the thought was, 'At last, the drought is over,'" guard Dave Szott said Sunday after Kansas City held on for a 27-10 victory over mistake-prone San Diego. "We all thought, 'Now let's get on with our lives.'"

Birden took a short pass from Steve DeBerg, who had played poorly through the Chiefs' offensive slump, and sped for the fourth-longest pass play in team history. It was the Chiefs' first offensive touchdown since Oct. 21, spanning 10 quarters.

Billy Joe Tolliver then fumbled the snap, and the Chiefs had a 10-0 lead on Nick Lowery's 36-yard field goal before the Chargers (5-6) had run two plays.

"Playing a team like that down 10 points early on, they can use their whole arsenal," said Chargers linebacker Leslie O'Neal. "They can use all the tools they have. It took us out of the game and got them going. It let them open up their whole game plan."

The Chiefs (6-4) ended the first half in confusion. Lloyd Burruss intercepted backup quarterback Mark Vlasic and returned it to the 24. With 14 seconds left, DeBerg overthrew a pass and the Chiefs called a timeout. But time expired before they could line up for a field goal, and the Chiefs had to settle for a 17-3 lead.

"We were charged a timeout," said Chiefs' Coach Marty Schottenheimer. "I had every reason to believe we had a timeout."

"I measured and Kansas City made the first-and-10," said referee Dick Hantak. "There is a rule if there is a stoppage or an official act such as a measurement, the timeout is not charged the team that calls it, and the clock will start when on the ready."

It had no bearing on the outcome, as DeBerg added touchdown passes of two yards to Billy Jones in the second quarter and six yards to Jones in the fourth. In the meantime, the reliable Lowery added a 37-yard field goal.

Tolliver, who had thrown 141 passes without an interception, was picked off by Kevin Ross in the third period.

The Chargers had pulled within 17-10 on Tolliver's 2-yard touchdown pass to Derrick Walker. But Ross' interception and 33-yard return set up Lowery's second field goal for a 20-10 lead late in the third period.

"We were slumping a little at that particular time," Ross said.

"That was a real momentum-turnover," said Derrick Thomas. "It came at a pivotal time."

One week after setting an NFL record with seven sacks, Thomas was held in check by the Chargers' double- and sometimes triple-team blocking.

The Chargers, who had beaten the Chiefs five in a row and won their three previous games, had five turnovers and drew 11 penalties for 96 yards, including a 15-yarder against running back Arthur Cox for unnecessary roughness when he was caught kicking the Chiefs' Percy Snow.

"To me, they played hard, but it got dirty," Ross said. "I got jabbed in the eye with a finger or something."

"Cox was doing it all game long," Thomas said. "For them to get him one time and not the other 100 times, I don't think justifies it."

Schottenheimer had hinted he might use Barry Word and Christian Okoye in the backfield at the same time, but he did not. Still, Word had 17 carries for 90 yards and Okoye, the NFL's leading rusher in 1989, had 15 for 43.

Mike Vanzo/Staff

Lady Cat coach Susan Yow keeps an eye on the scoreboard at the Lady Cats first game of the season Friday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Loss

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6 with 10 second-half points and assisted on forward Leah Honeycutt's jump shot late in the half to bring K-State within three — as close to the Aussies as the Lady Cats would get.

Diana Miller led all scorers with 20 points, 15 in the first half, followed by Hazim's 16 points and forward Kristie Bahner's eight points.

"We're still trying to get used to the offense and once we get used to it, it's going to be really good," Miller said. "There's a lot more freedom with it. Once we get used to the offense and used to what each other's going to do, it's going to be real good."

The Lady Cats shot 40 percent from the field and 83 percent from the line, but ran up 21 turnovers. Yow looks for these numbers to improve as the team adjusts to the new system.

"I think we need to keep (Miller) and Nadira (Bahner) more involved in the offense. We didn't keep ourselves involved in what we're supposed to be doing," Yow said. "I thought our offensive execution was not sound, but it'll get better."

With the Australians listing seven players at six foot-plus, the inside game of K-State was limited. Even though the Lady Cats were out rebounded only 32-31, the

“How can you simulate that type of inside defense in a practice with our team?”

—Susan Yow
Lady Cat coach

Aussies' defense dominated in the paint, blocking eight shots and grabbing 22 defensive rebounds.

"Their inside game was hard on us," Yow said. "Kristie Bahner is going to score most of the time when she gets the ball in the inside against anyone we play. How can you simulate that type of inside defense in a practice with our team? The fact that they're able to block shots like they did, that's a tough adjustment to make in the first game."

The Lady Cats will start their regular season Friday night as hosts of the fifth annual McCall Pattern Classic. K-State plays Alabama State at 7 p.m. to start the three-team, round-robin tournament.

Spikers drop final 2 matches of campaign

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State volleyball team dropped a pair of three-game matches in Colorado over the weekend to close their 1990 season.

On Friday night, Big Eight foe Colorado handed the 'Cats a 15-12, 15-2, 17-15 defeat. The Buffs were led by Tina Murray, who registered 12 kills, and Tiffany Jestadt, who had 10 digs.

With the win, Colorado moved to 8-3 in the Big Eight, while the loss ended K-State's conference season with a 3-9 mark.

The Wildcats were led in the Colorado match by Kathy Saxton, who had nine kills and 10 digs. Neither team hit well for the match, with Colorado registering just a .139 mark while K-State struggled to hit .133.

Against Colorado State on Saturday, the Wildcats didn't fare much better.

The homestanding team downed K-State 15-4, 15-6, 15-7 to end the Wildcat season. The loss dropped the team to 11-15 overall.

Leading the way in the win for Colorado State was Jill Johnson, who had 13 kills and hit .474. Johnson also had 11 digs.

For K-State, Betsy Berkley had eight kills and Julie James had seven digs as the Wildcats just hit .070 for the match.

The conference season will continue for Colorado and those other Big Eight teams qualifying at the Big Eight Championships Friday and Saturday in Omaha, Neb.

Harriers set to compete at NCAAs

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

After recording a second-place district finish, the women's cross country team is preparing for their biggest — and final — challenge of the season today in Knoxville, Tenn.

The women's team will be pitted against the 22 best cross country teams in the nation at the NCAA National Cross Country Championships.

"We haven't really talked about any goals, except that we want to run better than we did at districts and we will be all right," K-State runner Paulette Staats said.

The women turned in a second-place finish at the District V Championships in Springfield, Mo., behind champion Iowa State on Nov. 10.

Staats and Janet Haskin led the Wildcats to the runner-up position with two top 10 places.

Even though the meet qualified the team for the NCAA Championships, it was still a disappointing finish. Coach John Capriotti feels the women have much more potential, and he said that Haskin and Janet Treiber need to move closer to the top pack for team to improve.

Haskin and Treiber had been the No. 1 and No. 2 runners for the team except for the last two meets. Their times have fallen, and Staats has picked up the slack. At a large meet such as the NCAA, however, the slack might be too much for Staats to cover.

"We just need to have both Janets move up where they can run and have some of the other girls also move up a little bit on their finish from last week," Staats said.

The team was at a low-key stage Sunday night in preparation for the meet. The mood of the team has lifted since their performance last weekend, and everyone is trying to keep high hopes alive, Staats said.

"Everyone has a pretty good outlook about it, and everyone seems to be pretty excited," Staats said. "We just got back from a dinner sponsored by Nike, and we are all just trying to relax and get ready for tomorrow."

Staats and her teammates hope K-State will not be hit by the bad luck that struck last year's team at nationals, when Angie Barry and Treiber both got tripped and taken out of the race at the start.

Staats said she believed the team is not worried about what happened last year or the pressure that comes with such a large meet.

"Everyone is pretty much calm right now, and no one has really said they are nervous," Staats said. "We went over to the course today to warm up, and we saw all the other teams. We realize it is going to be a big meet."

The men's team will not be represented by a full squad. They got squeezed out of qualifying at the District V meet by three points by Kansas.

David Warders and Todd Trask, however, will compete in the men's race. Warders and Trask both qualified by placing in the top 10 individually at the District meet.

Men's golf team to close season at Georgia event

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State men's golf team will complete the fall portion of its schedule Tuesday and Wednesday at the Jaguar Classic in Augusta, Ga.

It will be the Wildcats' first meet since Oct. 30, when they finished 15th in the 19-team Hyatt Bear Creek Classic in Dallas.

Some of the top schools in this week's 13-team field include tournament host Augusta College, East Carolina and Furman.

"We have a lot of question marks going into this tournament," assistant coach Mark Elliott said. "Our top three players, Brett (Vuillemin), Richard (Loring) and Bill (Graham) haven't played as well as we had hoped."

The tournament will be the first for Sean Robertson and Matt Seever. The pair will play in the bottom two spots in K-State's lineup.

"It will be interesting to see how they handle the pressure," Elliott said. "Even with our questions, we are optimistic, and think that our team can play well in this tournament."

New life brought back to old club

By Cindy Jeffery
Collegian Reporter

K-State's International Club, inactive for the past year, is being revived by the original founder and new students.

Phil Rendon started the club in 1982 while he was a student at K-State. He now lives in California, but recently returned to the University for a brief visit in October to help the club reorganize.

"Phil had heard the club was inactive and called me about getting it going again," said Donna Davis, director of the International Student Center.

"I joined the club several years ago, when I first came to K-State," said Kelly Hansen, senior in anthropology. "I think it's important to promote understanding and contact with other cultures, and it's so much fun."

Hansen was one of the students interested in reviving the club who met with Rendon.

"It's so people can relate to people—an opportunity to step outside stereotypes," Hansen said. "Learning to dance the merengue and salsa gave me insight into another culture—the liveliness and energy—language doesn't explain."

With Rendon's encouragement and the interest of those at the first meetings, the club now has officers and is planning for the next semester, Davis said.

"I heard about the international club through the conversational English program," said Lisa Ralston, freshman in psychology and the new president of the club.

Ralston said her interest in meeting international students began in high school with exchange students. There were two international students in her graduating class of eight.

"When I heard about an international club, I thought, 'awesome,'" she said.

Planning for next semester is the club's main objective now. Ralston said anyone interested in the club is welcome at the board meetings at 12:30 p.m. Mondays at the International Student Center.

"This is the first time I have been in a club like this," said Olga Koper, a research assistant in chemistry whose home is in Poland. Koper said she has been in the United States two months and came to the meetings because she wanted to make friends.

Also new to the University is the club's adviser, Walter Adams, assistant professor of anthropology.

"Part of what anthropology is about is cultural understanding, and I think it's something important at a university," said Adams, who has dual citizenship in the United States and Guatemala. "Having clubs for different groups is fine, but they are separate. We hope this club will be a common ground for all to share and communicate."

One of the activities planned for next semester is a monthly luncheon that would feature a particular culture, Ralston said. The luncheons would be open to the public.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00130	03470	05970	09050	11680	15010	18450	20870	25460	26620	27490	30845	33760	37900
00140	03480	05980	09060	11710	15050	18490	21030	25470	26630	27500	31570	33780	37910
00900	03490	05700	09160	11720	15070	18470	21070	25480	26670	27510	31580	33790	37920
01480	03500	05720	09250	11721	15090	18480	21100	25490	26690	27530	31590	33800	38010
01770	03510	05750	09260	12410	15100	18490	21210	25510	26720	27550	31760	33810	38160
02000	03520	05760	09280	12420	15130	18500	21240	25540	26750	27600	31810	33820	38200
02060	03530	05770	09290	12440	15150	18510	21280	25550	26780	27720	31860	33830	38240
02100	03540	05780	09300	12470	15160	18560	21330	25630	26830	27790	31950	33840	38280
02140	03550	05810	09310	12530	15180	18600	21420	25640	26890	27810	31990	33850	38320
02150	03560	05820	09350	12540	15190	18650	21460	25650	26930	27850	32040	33860	38360
02260	03570	05900	09370	12520	15220	18600	21520	25660	26940	27860	32050	33870	38370
02410	03580	05920	09390	13240	15250	18710	22020	25670	26950	27880	32110	33950	38400
02440	03590	05930	09410	13250	15290	18730	22090	25680	26960	27900	32120	33960	38410
02730	03600	05950	09430	13320	15320	18740	22350	25700	26970	27910	32130	33970	38420
03040	03610	05970	09440	13700	15350	18770	22400	25720	26980	27920	32140	33980	38430
03100	03620	05980	09450	13710	15360	18780	22420	25730	26990	27930	32150	33990	38440
03110	03630	05990	09460	13720	15370	18790	22440	25740	27000	27940	32160	34000	38450
03120	03640	06000	09470	13730	15380	18800	22460	25750	27010	27950	32170	34010	38460
03130	03650	06010	09480	13740	15390	18810	22480	25760	27020	27960	32180	34020	38470
03140	03660	06020	09490	13750	15400	18820	22500	25770	27030	27970	32190	34030	38480
03150	03670	06030	09500	13760	15410	18830	22520	25780	27040	27980	32200	34040	38490
03160	03680	06040	09510	13770	15420	18840	22540	25790	27050	27990	32210	34050	38500
03170	03690	06050	09520	13780	15430	18850	22560	25800	27060	28000	32220	34060	38510
03180	03700	06060	09530	13790	15440	18860	22580	25810	27070	28010	32230	34070	38520
03190	03710	06070	09540	13800	15450	18870	22600	25820	27080	28020	32240	34080	38530
03200	03720	06080	09550	13810	15460	18880	22620	25830	27090	28030	32250	34090	38540
03210	03730	06090	09560	13820	15470	18890	22640	25840	27100	28040	32260	34100	38550
03220	03740	06100	09570	13830	15480	18900	22660	25850	27110	28050	32270	34110	38560
03230	03750	06110	09580	13840	15490	18910	22680	25860	27120	28060	32280	34120	38570
03240	03760	06120	09590	13850	15500	18920	22700	25870	27130	28070	32290	34130	38580
03250	03770	06130	09600	13860	15510	18930	22720	25880	27140	28080	32300	34140	38590
03260	03780	06140	09610	13870	15520	18940	22740	25890	27150	28090	32310	34150	38600
03270	03790	06150	09620	13880	15530	18950	22760	25900	27160	28100	32320	34160	38610
03280	03800	06160	09630	13890	15540	18960	22780	25910	27170	28110	32330	34170	38620
03290	03810	06170	09640	13900	15550	18970	22800	25920	27180	28120	32340	34180	38630
03300	03820	06180	09650	13910	15560	18980	22820	25930	27190	28130	32350	34190	38640
03310	03830	06190	09660	13920	15570	18990	22840	25940	27200	28140	32360	34200	38650
03320	03840	06200	09670	13930	15580	19000	22860	25950	27210	28150	32370	34210	38660
03330	03850	06210	09680	13940	15590	19010	22880	25960	27220	28160	32380	34220	38670
03340	03860	06220	09690	13950	15600	19020	22900	25970	27230	28170	32390	34230	38680
03350	03870	06230	09700	13960	15610	19030	22920	25980	27240	28180	32400	34240	38690
03360	03880	06240	09710	13970	15620	19040	22940	25990	27250	28190	32410	34250	38700
03370	03890	06250	09720	13980	15630	19050	22960	26000	27260	28200	32420	34260	38710
03380	03900	06260	09730	13990	15640	19060	22980	26010	27270	28210	32430	34270	38720
03390	03910	06270	09740	14000	15650	19070	23000	26020	27280	28220	32440	34280	38730
03400	03920	06280	09750	14010	15660	19080	23020	26030	27290	28230	32450	34290	38740
03410	03930	06290	09760	14020	15670	19090	23040	26040	27300	28240	32460	34300	38750
03420	03940	06300	09770	14030	15680	19100	23060	26050	27310	28250	32470	34310	38760
03430	03950	06310	09780	14040	15690	19110	23080	26060	27320	28260	32480	34320	38770
03440	03960	06320	09790	14050	15700	19120	23100	26070	27330	28270	32490	34330	38780
03450	03970	06330	09800	14060	15710	19130	23120	26080	27340	28280	32500	34340	38790
03460	03980	06340	09810	14070	15720	19140	23140	26090	27350	28290	32510	34350	38800
03470	03990	06350	09820	14080	15730	19150	23160	26100	27360	28300	32520	34360	38810
03480	04000	06360	09830	14090	15740	19160	23180	26110	27370	28310	32530	34370	38820
03490	04010	06370	09840	14100	15750	19170	23200	26120	27380	28320	32540	34380	38830
03500	04020	06380	09850	14110	15760	19180	23220	26130	27390	28330	32550	34390	38840
03510	04030	06390	09860	14120	15770	19190	23240	26140	27400	28340	32560	34400	38850
03520	04040	06400	09870	14130	15780	19200	23260	26150	27410	28350	32570	34410	38860
03530	04050	06410	09880	14140	15790	19210	23280	26160	27420	28360	32580	34420	38870
03540	04060	06420	09890	14150	15800	19220	23300	26170	27430	28370	32590	34430	38880
03550	04070	06430	09900	14160	15810	19230	23320	26180	27440	28380	32600	34440	38890
03560	04080	06440	09910	14170	15820	19240	23340	26190	27450	28390	32610	34450	38900
03570	04090	06450	09920	14180	15830	19250	23360	26200	27460	28400	32620	34460	38910
03580	04100	06460	09930	14190	15840	19260	23380	26210	27470	28410	32630	34470	38920
03590	04110	06470	09940	14200	15850	19270	23400	26220	27480	28420	32640	34480	38930
03600	04120	06480	09950	14210	15860	19280	23420	26230	27490	28430	32650	34490	38940
03610	04130	06490	09960	14220	15870	19290	23440	26240	27500	28440	32660	34500	38950
03620	04140	06500	09970	14230	15880	19300	23460	26250	27510	28450	32670	34510	38960
03630	04150	06510	09980	14240	15890	19310	23480	26260	27520	28460	32680	34520	38970
03640	04160	06520	09990	14250	15900	19320	23500	26270	27530	28470	32690	34530	38980
03650	04170	06530	10000	14260	15910	19330	23520	26280	27540	28480	32700	34540	38990
03660	04180	06540		14270	15920	19340	23540	26290	27550	28490	32710	34550	39000
03670	04190	06550		14280	15930	19350	23560	26300	27560	28500	32720	34560	39010
03680	04200	06560		14290	15940	19360	23580	26310	27570	28510	32730	34570	39020
03690	04210	06570		14300	15950	19370	23600	26320	27580	28520	32740	34580	39030
03700	04220	06580		14310	15960	19380	23620	26330	27590	28530	32750	34590	3

String quartet breaks rules with new acoustic sounds, innovative musical trends

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reviewer

Of course it was odd — a string quartet playing anything but chamber music.

"You may think by now that we're frustrated rock 'n' roll guitarists stuck with these little wooden boxes," said David Balakrishnan, soprano violinist for the Turtle Island String Quartet.

The quartet played Saturday night at McCain Auditorium, and the performance was an affirmation of a musical trend against trends.

The quartet can hardly be categorized, which is one of their attractions. They play a wide variety of jazz, classical and bluegrass music, as well as a brand of sounds composed especially for the group. Each of the four musicians displayed composing talent as well as performance mastery.

Mark Summer, cellist, composed "Ensanada," a song about his decision-making, sanity-saving trip to Mexico. The piece is similar to a made-for-TV movie. Parts of it included snatches from the theme to the "The Odd Couple."

Katrina Wreede, violist, created a composition from the inspiration of her California mountain home. "Mr. Twitty's Chair" was dedicated to sociopaths everywhere.

The quartet played a David Balakrishnan arrangement of Dizzy Gillespie's "A Night in Tunisia." Balakrishnan was nominated for a Grammy for the piece, which includes an extensive duet between Darol Anger, baritone violinist, and Balakrishnan. Each went on tangents and still managed to remain in a fierce musical duel that included dissonant selections from the "The Wizard of Oz."

The Turtle Island String Quartet is "new acoustic music," or "American vernacular music," as characterized by other musicians such as Kronos, Henry Kaiser, Bill Frisell and many others not so well-known innovators.

The group plays essential music, arranging pieces to communicate the basic intensity and emotion of the sound.

Pieces from the band's jazz influence included works from Pat Metheny and Chick Corea. "Waterfalls and Blenders," was an arrangement of the essentials of a chamber orchestra piece. Much of what they played came off their newest album, "Skylife."

The only instruments on stage were those of the string quartet, but they created an atmosphere of sounds that made it hard to believe there was not a full array of accompanying instruments. Percussion from a string quartet was startling and was only one of many illusions of other instruments, including winds.

The sort of music that The Turtle Island String Quartet performs is refreshing and exciting. The performance clearly demonstrated the group's talent as musicians and ingenious creativity as composers.

Story's piano expertise shows on fifth, most moving release

By Stacey Lentz
Collegian Reviewer

Liz Story's talent reaches a crescendo with her return to Windham Hill records on her fifth and most moving piano album "Escape of the Circus Ponies."

The 33-year-old Story has been playing the piano since the age of four, which is evident in this release.

Story made her debut with "Solid Colors," which was released by Windham Hill in 1983. After her 1985 release of "Unaccountable Effect," she recorded two albums for Novus/RCA: "Part of Fortune" and "Speechless." During this time, she received three Grammy nominations and reams of critical praise for her thoughtful compositions and soulful playing.

But it is "Escape of the Circus Ponies" that is far and away her best recording. Despite the familiar solo piano context of the album, portions of the music were prewritten for the recording session, which is something new for an artist who rarely plays from a page. This, however, was combined with improvisation that turn her songs into a dance with the piano.

"Escape of the Circus Ponies" demonstrates Story's deep understanding of the creative process and her ability to integrate unexpected music.

Story has fashioned her own deeply personal style on this album. She balances her powerfully strong playing ability by contrasting it with delicate moods and textures. From the stately lyricism of "Church of Tress" to the mellow but dramatic "Inside Out" to the dark and dreary title cut, Story takes command of the piano and moves the listener.

In what is an essentially solitary endeavor, Story is able to communicate feelings held in common by her audience through the piano. With "Escape of the Circus Ponies," Story renews the connection between artist and audience by transforming her own individual experiences into a new and expansive musical world.

The album is wonderful for a piano solo album, and it is one every listener — even those who do not normally enjoy solo piano albums — will find intriguing and relaxing.

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT COLLEGIAN

Think Christmas with QUALITY FRAMING

ACID FREE MATS
UV FILTER GLASS
MUSEUM MOUNTING
EXCELLENT CRAFTSMANSHIP

Quality Framing, Fine Arts, Gifts, Posters

332 Poyntz 539-2139
10-5 Tuesday through Saturday

STRECKER GALLERY

ORGANIC FRUITS & VEGETABLES

for your Thanksgiving Feast

PEOPLE'S GROCERY
Co-Op

811 Colorado
10-6:30 Tues.-Fri.
Sat. 9-5
Closed Sun. & Mon.

Closed on Thanksgiving

UNITED ARTISTS Theatres

*3.50 ALL SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 P.M.

SETH CHILDS 6 776-9886

Seth Childs at Farm Bureau Rd.

Tuesday Bargain Day
All Seats All Day $3.00 Admission

Wed.-Sun. all movie times are available

Rocky V (PG-13)
Daily 7:00 & 9:25

Rescuers Down Under (G)
Wed. Sun. 2:05, 4:30, 7:05 & 9:30

Jacob's Ladder (R)
Daily 7:05 & 9:30

Sibling Rivalry (PG-13)
Wed. Sun. 2:05, 4:30, 7:05 & 9:30

Home Alone (PG)
Daily 7:15 & 9:25

Ghost (PG-13)
Wed. Sun. 2:10, 4:35, 7:10 & 9:35

Ghost (PG-13)
Daily 6:50 & 9:25

Wed. Sun. 1:50, 4:25, 6:50 & 9:25

Lori Ann's Back

in Town

Announcing the return of Lori Ann to

new BEGINNINGS

HAIRSTYLING & TANNING

1107 N. 3rd

537-1003

Lori Ann is offering:

$2 off Haircuts

$5 off Perms

Good through Dec. 1, 1990

—Bring this Ad—

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

Free Estimates

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

PREGNANCY

TESTING

CENTER

539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

MacSource Open House

Join us for the Grand Opening of Manhattan's Source for Macintosh® peripherals, accessories and software.

Monday, November 19
10 am - 6 pm
1110 Laramie, Manhattan, KS

Complimentary refreshments will be served. Several drawings for Door Prizes!

Authorized Dealer

MacSource

The Best Support Team for the Apple® Macintosh®. Anywhere.
1110 Laramie Manhattan, KS 66502 Phone 537-0188

Sales
Training
Service
Support

Apple, the Apple logo, and Macintosh are registered trademarks of Apple Computer Inc.

THANKSGIVING HOURS

AT THE K-STATE UNION

General Building

Tuesday, Nov. 20 7:00a.m. - 10:00p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 7:00a.m. - 5:30p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, November 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. 11:30a.m. - 8:00p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 25 12:00noon - 11:00p.m.
Monday, Nov. 26 7:00a.m. - 11:00p.m.

Bookstore

Tuesday, Nov. 20 7:45a.m. - 8:00p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 7:45a.m. - 5:00p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, Nov. 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. 12:00noon - 7:30p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 25 12:00noon - 5:00p.m.
Monday, Nov. 26 7:45a.m. - 8:00p.m.

Copy Center

Tuesday, Nov. 20 8:00a.m. - 5:00p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 8:00a.m. - 5:00p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, Nov. 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. Closed
Sunday, Nov. 25 Closed
Monday, Nov. 26 7:45a.m. - 9:00p.m.

Information Counter

Tuesday, Nov. 20 7:15a.m. - 6:30p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 7:45a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed

Friday, Nov. 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 1:00p.m. - 7:30p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 25 12:00noon - 9:30p.m.
Monday, Nov. 26 7:15a.m. - 9:30p.m.

Recreation

Tuesday, Nov. 20 8:00a.m. - 10:30p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 8:00a.m. - 10:00p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, Nov. 23 2:00p.m. - 11:00p.m.
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. 2:00p.m. - 11:00p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 25 12:00noon - 10:30p.m.
Monday, Nov. 26 8:00a.m. - 10:30p.m.

Stateroom

Tuesday, Nov. 20 7:00a.m. - 6:30p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 21 7:00a.m. - 4:30p.m.
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, Nov. 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. 4:00p.m. - 7:30p.m.
Sunday, Nov. 25 12:00noon - 11:00p.m.
Monday, Nov. 26 7:00a.m. - 11:00p.m.

Union Station

Tuesday, Nov. 20 Closed
Wednesday, Nov. 21 Closed
Thursday, Nov. 22 Closed
Friday, Nov. 23 Closed
Saturday, Nov. 24 .. Closed
Sunday, Nov. 25 Closed
Monday, Nov. 26 11:00a.m. - 10:00p.m.

FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE THE BOOKSTORE, STATEROOM, RECREATION AREA & INFORMATION COUNTER WILL BE OPEN
GAME DAYS OVER THE HOLIDAY BREAK!

Marshall, Rhodes awards provide money for U.K. education

Universities nominate only their best students to compete for this award because only 30 students have up to three years of graduate study at any university in the United Kingdom. Virtually all expenses are funded by the British government.

Montaner said, "The Rhodes carries more clout because of its public-

State and regional interviews for the Rhodes Scholars will be during the first week of December and the 1990 scholars will be announced in mid-December.

"The internship is not designed for a gofer. The students are given a project just like the extension agent would have," Lindquist said.

Taking 4-H members to camp and

The extension internship also helps students interested in extension work to see if they would enjoy a job as a county extension agent.

Many students are able to receive credit for the extension internship, Lindquist said.

(Continued from page 10)

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locators, P.O. Box 1981, Joplin, MO 64802-1981. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

2 Apartments—Furnished

NEED ROOMMATE. $185/ month plus electricity. Cross street from campus. 539-6496.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM furnished apartment one block from campus. $295/ month. 776-1231.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Bluemont. Available mid-November. $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

QUIET WELL-MAINTAINED one-bedroom, furnished apartment with laundry and patio. Opening Dec. 15. Prefer employed person or graduate student. $245, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686 for application.

STUDIO APARTMENT—$165—plus electric. Sunny, spacious, clean. Off-street parking. Available Jan. 1. 537-3196.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Spacious two-bedroom, bathroom, central air, dishwasher. Call after 6p.m. 776-0269.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. one-bedroom apartment located on West side. $320/ month. No pets. 776-1340.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place • 539-2951
• 1, 2 and 3 bedroom
• 2 swimming pools and a heated spa
• Some utilities paid
• Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center
• Campus shuttle leaving every hour
Pre-leasing for Jan.-May

Brittany Ridge Townhomes

—More Than Your Basic Apartment—
• 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, study room
• Wired for cable, phone, computer
• Hot tubs & volleyball court
• Bus service to campus
• Monthly rent as low as $195

DWC
Dan Weir Co.
2601 Anderson Ave. 776-5599

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

NICE, QUIET, spacious one-bedroom apartment, close to campus. Need to take over lease, expires July 1. Renewable with landlord's approval. $295 a month plus utilities. Call 539-5173.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valtier, one block from campus. $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, good location, air conditioning, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1st. 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1981 PONTIAC Gran Lemans station wagon, 109,000 miles, 3.8L V-6, good tires, reliable. $750. 539-8459.

1987 ESCORT GT 1.9L H.O., 51,000 miles, maroon with sport package. Sunroof, new tires, $5,800. 537-3157.

WINTER LIQUIDATION

'84 Chevy Caprice 4Dr. $2,000.
'83 Olds Cutlass Supreme. V8. $2,795.
'81 Mercury Linx Wagon. $995.
'80 Camaro, New 350 Motor. $2,850.
'79 Cadillac Eldorado Baritz-Loaded. $2,850.
'78 Chevy Nova 4Dr. $1,095.

ACE AUTO SALES

428 Riley Ave.- Ogden, Ks.
537-8860 or 537-0870

6 Child Care

NEED COLLEGE student to do childcare in my home. One 4-year-old. Tuesday and Thursday, 11:30a.m.—5p.m. Beginning Jan. 8. 537-3380.

7 Computers

COMPUTER RIBBONS and supplies, Hull Business Supplies, Aggieville, 714 N. 12th. 539-1413.

IBM COMPATIBLE XT dual floppy, monochrome monitor, printer. Software and manuals, $800. Call 537-8664.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

47 WAYS to beat the high cost of college! Make $12-$20-$50 an hour! Be Your Own Boss! Amazing 24 hour recorded details (406)756-5134.

EXPERIENCED ILLUSTRATOR wanted to freelance for local advertising agency. Airbrush preferred. Leave resume/ sample work at Box 4, Collegian.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

NANNY OPPORTUNITIES. "San Francisco— one girl— $150/ week." "Southern California— newborn— $175/ week." "Connecticut— infant— $180/ week." "Boston— one girl— $150/ week." "Virginia— two children— $225/ week." Many positions available. One-year commitment necessary. Call 1-800-937-NANI.

HOUSEPARENT WANTED: Good job for student spouse. Live and work in group home caring for five or six children works of SRS. Need parenting skills and ability to work with teenagers. Mature person required. Week on, week off. Good salary and fringe benefits. Spouse may live in free. Job site: Alma, Kansas. Call house staff 1-767-3627. EOE.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

PART-TIME FARM help, small cow-calf/ sheep operation 15 miles northeast Manhattan. 1-457-3504 after 7p.m.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors. over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 133 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.s, drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616.

Every Monday ½ Price Nite

Order any dinner or sandwich and receive the 2nd at ½ price
Evenings 5-8:30 p.m.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: GRAY and white tabby kitten at Putnam Hall. Call 532-2449 and 537-1386.

LOST: MEN'S 18-inch silver rope chain on or near campus on Nov. 7. High sentimental value! Phone 539-8283.

LOST: PRESCRIPTION glasses around Calvin or Student Union, brand name Tura. Burgundy color. Call Catherine. 532-6799.

STILL MISSING: Gray and white tabby cat. He has circles on sides. 537-4430 leave message.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

SALE. TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1985 KDX 200, excellent condition, many new parts. Riding gear. 539-3945.

1989 CR125— Better than new, modified, must see. 539-6363. Joel.

TREK 820 18-speed. SIS Cromoly construction, white with blue graphics, 16.5 inch frame, good condition. $200, accessories extra. 539-2942, Erin.

19 Music/ Musicians

FOR SALE: Sholtz Rockman soloist portable guitar amplifier. Brand new. 776-8317.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

DARRELL. MY love squirrel, Happy six months anniversary. Love ya, JS.

Goodluck Troopers
Dandruff, Robocop, Jen Ben, Joel, and Jani.
From, Patty and Moo

FLUTIE HAS a naughty bride. His birthday presents she did, nonetheless he still can win, if he follows the clues she has for him. Love, K.

MSR #1— Happy Birthday (yesterday) to my "little" cowboy. Who'd ever thought that little kid with the underpants on his head would be my favorite roper and ride! ASI College Student when he was 23! I love you— from ATKMT student (AKA-Mom).

PHI KAPS Scott & Steve (Tiny & PeeWee), you said you would go public, but your idea was lame. Now it's time to play our game. Love Action & Kinky— Cheesebread lives!

PLAINVILLE HOOPSTERS. Prepare to tumble, come Saturday, I will rumble. —No Mercy.

RAH-SHEE— HEY! Thank you for bein' the coolest friend in the world. I'll miss you this weekend!! Happy Turkey Day. —Your favorite (?) Sib.

REBECCA— I would like to see The Rules in action— James. The Underworld.

SUSAN— FORD, Happy 1 year and 6 month anniversary. I miss you very much. Love you always. P. Bear.

TO THE Sexiest man alive— Thank you for caring under such insane circumstances, and for tolerating me, my cooking, and my never-ending rule changes. I Love you! Sorry I've been such a girl lately. I care about you more than you can imagine, and always will— no matter what happens. —Melissa. P.S. I'm even verbose in the Personals! Geez!

THETA MELANIE— I really want to know you. I really want to show you the way I feel. Happy 21st birthday, Michael.

TROY P., from Pascal and Chem.— Let's go for a "ride" in your Porsche. I'll shift, you "drive." Jennifer W.

VICTORIA— TODAY you turn 21. We've tried and tried to think of something clever to say, but you know Scott's sense of humor. Anyway— Have a great day and wonderful year. Love, Corine and Scott.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

55-GALLON AQUARIUM. Lionfish, eel and two Damselfish in salt water, all chemicals and extras. $275. 776-2497.

55-GALLON SALT water aquarium. Complete setup includes Wet Dry drip filter. $450. 537-6252.

MEALWORMS CHEAP! Great for reptiles, spiders, fish. $30/1, 100/$250. Keep this ad. 539-1931.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851, Claitin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

PAPERS, RESUMES, letters, theses and dissertations. Stored and completed to your satisfaction. Fast turn around. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147. Across from Kite's.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, Tally Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WORD PROCESSING/ Typing. $1.25 D/S page. 776-9636 after 3:30p.m., or leave message on answer machine.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $168 plus utilities, after 5:30p.m. 537-8288.

BE MY roommate. Clean, modern apartment. Female, Christian, non-smoker. $175. 539-3459. Available now.

CHRISTIAN FEMALE looking for female to share two-bedroom apartment two blocks west of campus. Laundry, $100 plus utilities. 539-6871.

FEMALE. MUST love pets. $192.50 a month plus utilities. Shuttle service. Call Karen, 776-1286.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted for Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/ month. Call 539-2919.

FEMALE ROOMMATE immediately. First month's rent free. One block from campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. Call 539-0437.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $142.50/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Available December, $175/ month plus one-half electricity. Call 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom, own room, $185/ month. No deposit. Call 776-9218.

FEMALE— SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE ROOMMATE needed for spring semester. Close to campus. $140/ month, one-sixth utilities, own room. Ask for Matt or Larry. 776-9443.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share brand-new three-bedroom apartment at 1850 Claitin. Call 539-2999 for details.

MALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house. Must see to appreciate. Close to campus. $182.67/ month, one-third utilities. Spring semester. 539-8662.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $182.50, one-half utilities. Ask for Matt, 539-8200.

NEED IMMEDIATE. responsible, female roommate, spacious two-bedroom apartment, own bedroom with bath, dishwasher, washer/ dryer. $187.50, one-half utilities. Leave message. 539-7029.

ONE, NON-SMOKING female for January. $147.50 month plus one-fourth utilities. One-half block from Ahearn. Nice. No deposit. 776-9026.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three fun-loving roommates. Own room. Has everything. $195. 776-2497.

ROOMMATE WANTED. share three-bedroom furnished house with married couple. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student. Two blocks from campus, washer/ dryer free. $200, utilities paid. 537-0280.

TWO ROOMMATES. Dec. 1st or June 1st. Washer/ dryer, $125 each. 539-5727, own room, close to KSU.

WANTED: COLLEGE girl to share farm house with mother and two children. Call 776-0466.

WANTED— FEMALE roommate, non-smoker, $150/ month and one-half utilities. Own room. 776-1281. Ask for Chris.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL, FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 84, Cincinnati, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

FEMALE. OWN bedroom, washer/ dryer, hot tub, cheap bills, available anytime soon. Call Katrina Custer. 776-2378.

FEMALE. SPRING semester, furnished house. Lease ends in May. Washer/ dryer. Rent negotiable. Amy 537-3886.

GREAT TWO-BEDROOM apartment for spring! 1212 Bluemont. Rent plus utilities. Terrific location! 776-0797.

LUXURY TWO-BEDROOM, one and one-half bath, washer/ dryer, fireplace, beautiful view. $405/ month. Call 776-2422 anytime.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment. Efficient, water and trash paid, appliances. Deck and near Aggieville. 537-2424.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT for sublease second semester, unfurnished, brand new. Call 776-6191.

TWO FEMALE roommates for spring semester, four-bedroom, two-bath house. Close to campus, Aggieville. Washer/ dryer, $150 each plus one-fourth utilities. 539-7356.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

GA SEASON Basketball Ticket. $70. Call Neal at 537-0345.

KSU SEASON B-ball tickets for sale, free one still attached. Best reasonable offer. 539-9535.

30 Travel!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119/ 7 NIGHTS

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129/ 5 AND 7 NIGHTS

STEAMBOAT from $96/ 2, 5 AND 7 NIGHTS

FORT LAUDERDALE from $137/ 7 NIGHTS

PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124/ 7 NIGHTS

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND from $108/ 5 AND 7 NIGHTS

HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112/ 5 AND 7 NIGHTS

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

"Depending on break dates and length of stay"

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/ or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

TUTORING in Modern and Classic Greek, emphasizes the more formal language (Katharevousa) used in official documents and in the conservative press. Open to anyone, call Aki Barmashi, phone 776-6128.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

EXCELLENT INVESTMENT Opportunity— Nice 16-unit apartment building, very close to growing KSU. 100% full, excellent history, very good net cash flow of $58,000/ year plus $4,600/ year management fee. 80% financing available with good borrower. This is a high quality property that the selling real estate broker has held a continuing ownership interest for the last six years. Price $550,000. Contact The Curtin Companies between 8a.m.—5p.m. 776-1223, after 5p.m. 776-1222.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

FOR SALE: Snow skis including poles, sizes 175 and 185; Ski boots, size 8½; Pioneer 6944 6x9 car speakers. 776-0535.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS— Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday— Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)555-4248.

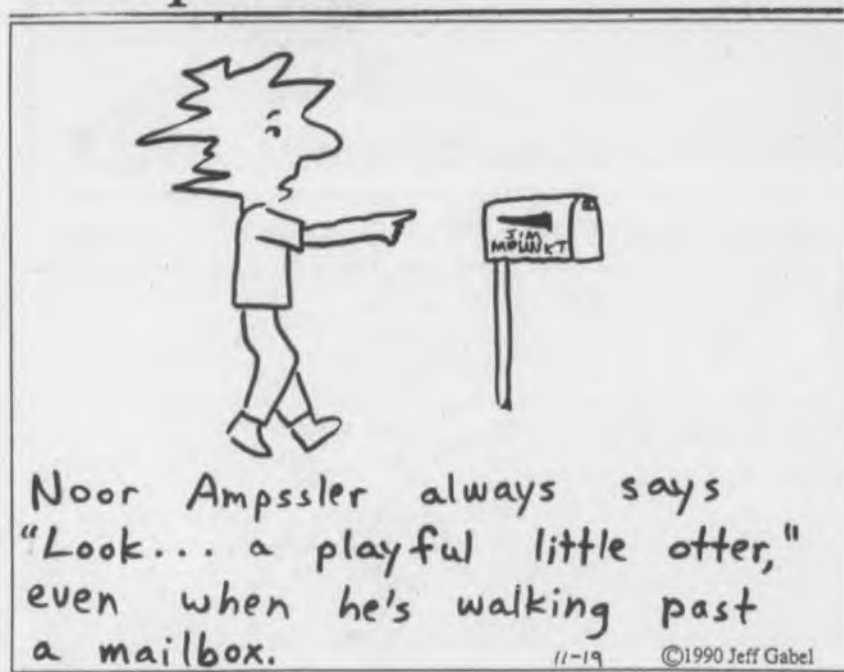

NEED TO sell. Oceanic 30-gallon tank and custom stand. Includes everything you need except fish. Very Nice. Make offer. Call 776-2422.

TV—MAGNAVOX, 24" sq. screen, remote, cable ready, stereo hookup— like new. Call 776-2422.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale. Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case. $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. If no answer, leave message.

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Transfer

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

and human development. "If it went through, I would have transferred." Others have considered changing majors.

"This is the only college in Kansas that has this program," said Katherine Miller, freshman in apparel and textile marketing. "I didn't know what I was going to do. I really don't want to go out of state."

Miller said she believes the reorganization plan has not been totally scrapped.

"I think they're just going to blow (the proposal) off for now and then bring it up later — just in a different way," she said.

Lisa Goheen, junior in family life and human development, said she also thinks the program might still be in jeopardy.

"I'm fearful that my undergraduate degree would be unaccredited," Goheen said. "I was glad (the proposal was dropped) because I only have a year left now, and I'm planning on going to graduate school.

"I considered transferring to KU, and I checked into it," she said. "I found out my graduation date would be set back at least a year because my credits wouldn't transfer."

Administrators in the College of Human Ecology are aware of these concerns, said Virginia Moxley, the college's associate dean for academic affairs.

Songs from the heart

J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

Heather Strickland, left, and Heidi Maechten, both seniors at Sumner Academy High School, practice voice control at the Flint Hills Choral Festival. The Sunday festival at the K-State Union Ballroom was attended by six high school choirs.

Vets

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

veterinary medicine student, explained the grading policy by saying an F — or a D in subsequent semesters — could result in dismissal from the program unless special permission is obtained from the dean to stay in.

The test schedule in the veterinary classes is also rigid.

"We have a test every Tuesday and Friday," Schuler said, "and our tests can cover up to 225 pages of type-written notes."

The tests cover a wide range of material and require staying up in the class.

"You just can't cram for these tests," Seat said. "If you don't know the material the night before the test, you probably won't pass it regardless of how much you cram."

They also have a final each day of finals.

The schedule for a third-year veterinary medicine student includes classes like avian diseases, small-animal surgery, toxicology, medicine II, food animal medicine, laboratory diagnosis and theriogenology.

The students receive practical experience in the small-animal surgery lab class. They do exploratory surgeries on dogs to learn surgery techniques.

The students are divided into groups of four and take turns being the head surgeon, assistant surgeon, anesthesiologist and circulator.

The third-year students are also required to do emergency rounds at the Veterinary Hospital.

Love of animals gets the students through their classes.

"You have to really just love animals and the profession to be crazy enough to do this," Compasso said. "We sure ain't going to get paid much."

Tacos 3 for $1.25
(reg. 55c each)
Chili Burritos $1.77
(reg. $2.35)
Good through 11-24-90

TACO HUT
"Where Good Friends Get Together"
2809 Claflin
On the hill overlooking Westloop, 539 2091

Open Sun-Thur
11 am 10 pm
Fri & Sat
11 am 12 midnight

Claflin Books & Copies
FirstBank Center 1814 Claflin

- 5¢ copies
- 3 self-service copy machines
- Resume & Typing Service Available

Open: M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sat. 9-6 Sun 12-9 776-3771

"BEST DAMN PIZZA"

Also:
Pool
Room
&
Sports Bar

16" Extra Large Pizza
ONLY $6.25
Dine In or Carry Out.
"premium pizza for a cardboard pizza price"

Pool Room 523 S. 17th 537-1484

BOOKS & BRICKS IS COMING!

THE KSU STUDENT FOUNDATION
LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

K-State Union's
Union Station
Established 1990

is opening
Monday,
November 26!

Featuring large screen tv, snacks
and deli sandwiches, large dance floor, beverages,
entertainment and more!

See you at
Union Station!

K-State Union
Union Station

WE'LL GO TO GREAT LENGTHS
FOR YOUR CHRISTMAS PARTY.

...
...
...
...
...

Holiday time is party time. With a Subway Party Sub or Party Platter. You tell us how long you want your Party Sub — and we'll make it. And we'll stuff your Party Platter with your favorite subs — sliced in tasty 4" portions. Call today. And start your holiday off on the right foot.

24 Hours notice required
620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

SUBWAY

Watch for the K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

K-State Union
Bookstore

OFF SHORE — Sundek — California Beach Co. — Surf Fetish
MEN'S TEES — Great Collection of California Surf and Athletic prints
TEES! TEES! TEES! NOW $5.99

CLOTHING CONCEPTS
Presents
A WAREHOUSE SALE

1 DAY ONLY!

JIMMY Z
MEN'S TEES By BODY
GLOVE & JIMMY Z
Unique Prints
$9.99

le coq sportif
MEN'S TEES
By LE COQ
SPORTIF
Special Selection
$2.99

prince
Men's Flia, Vuarner
& Prince
ACTIVEWEAR
NOW $9.99

FORENZA
ALL COTTON
MOCKS
Oversized - Washed
NOW $12.99

Champion
Men's
CHAMPION TURTLENECKS
All Cotton Quality
Special Selection $4.99

Men's
BUGLE BOY
LONG SLEEVE MOCK TEES
$5.99

LEGGINGS
Ladies Cotton Leggings
Assorted Colors
Great Buy! $5.99

JIMMY Z
Ladies
OVERSIZED SWEATS & TEES
Padded Shoulders/Big Pockets
$9.99

JIMMY Z
Men's
HEAVYWEIGHT SWEATSHIRTS
NOW $14.99

MEN'S COTTON
SWEATERS
Heavyweight Shaker Stitch. Sold at 3
Times the Price in Better Stores
$9.99

FORENZA
COTTON CARDIGAN HEAVY CABLE SWEATERS
SAVE 60% OFF
REGULAR RETAIL

JANSPORT
Men's Quality
HEAVYWEIGHT SWEATPANTS
by JANSPORT-
College Logos $7.99

NIKE
MEN'S OCEAN PACIFIC & NIKE
TEE SHIRTS $2.99
Special Selection Only! NOW

Champion
Men's SUPER Heavyweight Sweatshirts
Major College & University Prints
by Russell Athletic & Champion
NOW $12.99 Excellent Quality RUSSELL ATHLETIC

ONE DAY ONLY!
TUESDAY,
NOVEMBER 20TH
10:00 A.M. - 7:00 P.M.

Master Card
VISA

RAMADA INN
(FORMERLY UNIVERSITY INN)
MAIN BALLROOM - DOWNSTAIRS
17TH & ANDERSON
(ACROSS FROM CAMPUS)

MEN'S HEAVY FLEECE SHORTS - WORKOUT OR CASUAL - KNEE LENGTH $7.99

MEN'S CONVERSE SPORTS TEES $5.99

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Monday, November 26, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 61

Walesa captures election primary

Polls claim Solidarity chief facing runoff

By The Associated Press

WARSAW, Poland — Lech Walesa, who united Poles in their struggle against communism, won the initial round in Poland's first popular presidential election Sunday but appeared headed for a runoff, according to state TV exit polls.

The Solidarity chief had 41 percent of the vote, a 2-to-1 lead over Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki and political unknown Stanislaw Tyminski, according to the polls.

The polls indicated Mazowiecki and Tyminski each had 20.5 percent of the vote, far ahead of the remaining three candidates.

It was a stunning setback for Mazowiecki, a former Walesa ally who instituted unpopular economic austerity measures after taking Poland's first postwar non-Communist government.

Pollsters questioned every 20th voter at 404 polling places around the country, or up to 15,000 people. The results were issued on nationwide TV minutes after the polls closed at 8 p.m. (2 p.m. EST).

The poll indicated that farmers, who represent 40 percent of Polish society, deserted Mazowiecki en masse.

Only 4 percent of the farm vote went to the prime minister, according to the poll. Farmers have been angry at the abolition of guaranteed prices for their produce under the government's shock economic reform plan.

If no one wins 50 percent in the vote, a runoff must be held between the two top vote-getters Dec. 9.

At Mazowiecki national headquarters in Warsaw, a spokeswoman said Walesa seemed far ahead in several areas around the country but that supporters were not discouraged.

If no one gets 50 percent, a runoff between the top two will be Dec. 9.

Walesa himself expressed optimism after voting in Gdansk with his wife, Danuta, and their second son, 18-year-old Slawek.

"I voted for the candidate who is supposed to win," he said, smiling.

Mazowiecki walked to the polling station in his central Warsaw neighborhood, accompanied by his daughter-in-law wheeling his 4-month-old granddaughter in a stroller.

"I am happy it stopped raining. Otherwise the turnout would have been much worse," said the prime minister, the East bloc's first non-Communist head of government.

Tyminski had been considered a dark-horse candidate. An emigre businessman, he returned to Poland this fall after 21 years in Canada and Peru.

"Tyminski conducted an American-standard campaign, breaking every rule," political commentator Ryszard Legutko said on state television. During the campaign he was accused of slander for charges that Mazowiecki had committed treason against the nation.

The new president will take over from President Wojciech Jaruzelski.

■ See POLAND, Page 10

Margaret Clarkin/Staff

Sgt. George Morse, Michigan, says he will refuse orders to take part in Operation Desert Shield. Morse, a member of the 1st Infantry Division from Fort Riley, said he wants to be approved as a conscientious objector. Morse spoke to a group of students at UFM Sunday afternoon.

Army sergeant faces court martial for refusing to go to Saudi Arabia

By Gregory A. Branson
Government/City Editor

Sgt. George Morse would rather go to prison than be shipped to Saudi Arabia to participate in Operation Desert Shield.

"I now believe, with all my heart, war is wrong," Morse said in his request for conscientious objector status on Nov. 23. "Not just in the case of the Middle East, but in any case. I cannot have any part in the senseless killing of war."

"I can no longer, in good conscience, be a member of the military," he said.

His request for conscientious objector status was denied.

Morse, a seven-year serviceman in the Army who is now stationed at Fort Riley, expects to get orders today to prepare for deployment, orders Morse says he will disobey.

"I've stated this before, and I will tell them again. I will not participate in preparation for deployment. I will not participate in a war effort or a military effort. No matter if it has started yet or not," he said.

For his troubles, Morse could be court martialed and sentenced to five years in a federal prison.

Morse grew up in Grayling, Mich., and joined the army in 1982 to raise money for college. After training, he was stationed in Germany and assigned guard tower duty.

Fort Bliss, Texas, was the next stop in Morse's Army career. Morse considered leaving the Army before his three-year enlistment was over, but the thought of losing his father's respect kept him going.

"It was the worst three years of my life," Morse said, "but my father's approval was, and still is, very important to me."

Even after being discharged, his association with the Army was not over. Morse planned to attend college but re-enlisted after his wife became pregnant.

He was stationed in Germany again and decided toward the end of his second stint with the Army he did not want a military career.

"I needed to find a job, but that would be almost impossible from Germany," Morse said. "I extended my discharge date in order to be re-assigned stateside. This, I decided, would prove beneficial to my finding a job stateside."

Fort Riley became Morse's new home, and he was assigned to the 1st Division Band as a trumpet player.

His hate for war, Morse said, grew larger the longer he was in the Army.

Morse found a job and was expecting to be discharged from the Army in December when Iraq invaded Kuwait.

The crisis in the Middle East and the U.S. deployment of Operation

■ See OBJECTOR, Page 10

Bush to visit Mexico, discuss trade outlook

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY — President Carlos Salinas de Gortari welcomes President Bush to his hometown Monday for a discussion expected to center on developing closer relations through trade.

The two nations are negotiating a free trade agreement, which Salinas hopes will help Mexico grow out of the Third World into the ranks of developed nations.

Bush is to arrive in Monterrey about noon and travel 55 miles by helicopter to Aguileguas, the Salinas family hometown of 5,000 people, where they will attend a rodeo and meet privately for two hours.

Another private meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, and Bush will speak to businessmen in Monterrey, the country's industrial capital.

A Mexican bishop was quoted recently as saying "it is like dealing with sharks" to negotiate a free trade arrangement with the United States, but a government official said, "Bishops don't know much about economy."

The official, speaking anonymously, said the Salinas government feels it can strike a satisfactory deal with the United States.

Otto Granados, the presidential press spokesman, said, "We think that within a year we can have the basis of the agreement."

Salinas hopes Mexican industrialists can produce more and better products to compete with an expected flood of U.S. goods, and also find

■ See MEXICO, Page 10

Oak Ridge Boys, Osmond to perform Christmas concert

By Candace Plett
Collegian Reporter

Christmas songs and popular country music will fill Bramlage Coliseum when the Oak Ridge Boys and Marie Osmond perform at 7 p.m. Sunday.

"It's going to be a nice family show and a great way to get people in the spirit of Christmas," said Becky Montoya, ticket systems manager for Bramlage Coliseum.

Montoya said the show is titled "The Magic of Christmas."

"It's laid out very nicely," said Denise Cooke, promotional assistant for Group One Enterprises. "Marie's doing a film clip of past Christmases with the Osmond family. Also, her little boy will come on stage to sing a song with her. Then, she'll do a grand finale of 'He's Alive' with a local choir."

Cooke said that KTPK-FM in Topeka is having a contest to pick the choir that will sing back-up to Osmond.

"From the many, many people I've talked to, I've heard that she gives a spectacular concert," she said.

The Oak Ridge Boys will sing some of their popular hits and then about 9 or 10 Christmas songs, she said.

"Santa Claus will be there. It's going to be quite a production," Cooke said.

The Oak Ridge Boys visited Manhattan the year Bramlage opened, Montoya said.

"It was a good show. Patrons that came to it didn't go away disappointed," she said.

The Oak Ridge Boys have had more than a dozen hit singles since the band changed to a popular country sound in 1977. They have been named Best Vocal Group, Best Instrumental Group and Record of the Year by the Country Music Association.

The band members said their stage performance is a crucial element of their success.

"When we had our lowest ebb with our changes, we were still making good money," vocalist Duane Allen said in a press release. "The reason is because we have a good stage show and high visibility. We don't stop with just a record."

In the 1950s, the Oak Ridge Boys were known for gospel music. The band, known for its longevity, has weathered more than 40 members and two total disbandments since forming in 1945.

Tickets for the concert are on sale for $18.75.

Ag college claims quality staff

Faculty ranks 2nd among colleges with doctorate degrees

By Angie Schrock
Collegian Reporter

Quality education begins with the hiring of quality staff. The College of Agriculture, with the second-highest percentage of faculty members with doctorates of the colleges in K-State, has taken this motto seriously.

Only the College of Education, with 98.2 percent, has a better percentage of faculty with doctorates than the College of Agriculture.

"Including all of the faculty in the College of Agriculture, 83.8 percent have achieved the doctorate degree," said Bill McCulley, graduate student in industrial psychology and employee of planning and evaluation

services.

The College of Arts and Sciences has 79.4 percent doctoral faculty, business administration has 78.9 and architecture and design has 18.4 percent, he said.

The percentage of faculty in the College of Agriculture with doctorate degrees was no accident.

"This isn't something that just happened. Over the years, the deans and administrators had a high priority for quality teaching and research in the College of Agriculture," said David Mugler, associate dean of agriculture.

Positions in the college include extension, experiment stations and teaching/research combinations.

When only the instructional faculty are considered, more than 95 percent have earned doctoral degrees, according to the general catalog.

"This gives an innate advantage to the faculty when they are teaching. They can bring the latest research and findings directly to the students from the source," Mugler said. "That is one of the beauties of the split research and teaching appointments and the quality of the faculty we have here."

In the College of Agriculture, a teacher's having a doctorate degree instead of only a masters does not mean a great difference in salary.

"The teaching faculty with doctorate degrees don't get paid that much more than those without in most cases. Those who haven't earned their doctorate degrees have been hired because they have years of experience of being directly involved in the industry, which is very valuable," Mugler said.

"They are able to bring outstanding first-hand knowledge about the field to the classroom," he said.

"We try to be competitive with the other land-grant universities, and I think they're doing similar things to what we are doing," Mugler said.

Cause of 2-car collision unknown

Drivers both claim stoplight was green

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

The drivers of two cars that collided at the intersection of Bluemont and Juliette avenues Sunday afternoon both said the light was green as they entered the intersection perpendicular to each other.

At the scene, Riley County Police Officer Mark Posler would only say the accident was under investigation, and the investigation would be completed late Sunday night or early Monday morning.

A spokeswoman for the RCPD said late Sunday night it might be three or four days before the report was available for release.

Pvt. Jeff Simen of the 437th Armor Battalion said the light was green before he drove his Datsun into the intersection from the west on Bluemont.

"I was going with the flow of traffic. About 200 meters before I got in the intersection the light was green. That's the last I remember," Simen said.

Pfc. Martin Smith, also of the 437th Armor Battalion and a passenger in Simen's car, said he received some minor cuts in the wreck, which crumpled the right front side of Simen's car and appeared to bend the right front wheel up and into the body of the vehicle.

Kent Hipp, senior in math education, said the light changed from green to yellow as he entered the intersection from the south on Juliette.

"I was through the first lane of Bluemont when the light turned yellow," Hipp said. "All of a sudden I saw a black blur. I tried to brake. They tried to swerve. But it was too late. They had to be doing at least 40."

Cliff Conrad, stacks manager at Farrell Library, lives on the northeast corner of the intersection where the accident occurred.

He said there have been several accidents at that intersection and he has called the city to ask if the corner could be made safer. He said the city has not tried to correct the problem.

"People continued to get injured at this intersection," Conrad said pointing at Smith's cut hand. "One of these days, there will more than just minor injuries."

BRIEFLY

World

Heseltine prepares for vote

LONDON (AP) — Michael Heseltine, who precipitated Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's downfall, said Sunday he was confident of getting the necessary votes to win the leadership of his party and country this week.

But he admitted that some Conservative Party loyalists are deeply angry at him for his role in forcing out Thatcher, who last week agreed to step down as prime minister.

Heseltine, 57, and treasury chief John Major, 47, a right-winger who is reportedly supported by Thatcher, appeared to be locked in a close contest in the race to succeed Thatcher, with Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd trailing.

London bookmakers ranked Heseltine and Major as even favorites to win in Tuesday's ballot among the 372 Conservative Party legislators. Hurd was a long shot at around 10-1.

A series of opinion polls in Sunday's newspapers indicated the party would win elections with him or Major as leader, but lose under Hurd.

Well-wishers root for Thatcher

ELLESBOROUGH, England (AP) — Well-wishers cheered Margaret Thatcher as she left church Sunday during her last weekend at Chequers, the prime minister's official country house.

Thatcher announced last week she would resign after a rebellion in the ranks of her Conservative Party.

About two dozen well-wishers, and twice as many reporters and cameramen, were waiting for Thatcher outside the 15th-century hilltop church of Saints Peter and Paul.

Sikh gunmen attack public

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — Sikh gunmen on Sunday raided a shopping center and a residential district in a Punjab city, killing at least 16 people and wounding 18, police said. A senior police officer blamed separatist Sikhs for the slayings.

Elsewhere in the state, Sikh gunmen killed four others in separate attacks.

Police, battling the separatists, killed nine suspected militants in separate incidents, the United News of India reported.

Sikh radicals have killed an average of 16 people a day in Punjab in the last two weeks in ambushes, bombings and bus attacks, according to police officials.

Since Jan. 1, the militants have killed 2,955 people in the rich farming state where they want to establish an independent nation for members of their faith.

Nation

Elf hurt in parachute jump

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — A parachutist dressed as a Christmas elf lost control and landed on a moving car in front of thousands of spectators at a Christmas festival.

Robert Humphrey of Holbrook was hospitalized after he was carried by a wind squall from his intended target, Faxon Field, and landed on a moving car nearby Saturday.

More than 1,000 spectators were gathered to watch the annual Christmas parachute jump, sponsored by the Quincy Christmas Festival Committee.

Police said Humphrey was falling at about 30 mph when he hit the car and bounced into the street.

Humphrey was taken to Quincy Hospital with a broken knee, a broken leg and bruises. The hospital would not comment on his condition Sunday except to say he was resting comfortably.

Parachutists dressed as Santa Claus and other elves landed safely.

Seattle floods, rains continue

SEATTLE (AP) — Record rains, high winds and rampaging flood waters on major Washington rivers chased more than 2,000 people from their homes and destroyed a closed interstate highway bridge Sunday.

"My state is falling apart on me," Gov. Booth Gardner said after a helicopter tour of the region.

Gardner added a dozen counties to five others for which he had sought federal disaster aid to recoup from severe floods two weeks ago.

"We've been looking at some of the past records, and we're definitely right up there with some of the worst there's ever been," he said.

NASA, company share blame

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — NASA and the manufacturer share the blame for a flawed mirror that prevents the $1.5 billion Hubble Space Telescope from focusing clearly, a member of an investigatory panel said.

The NASA panel's final report on the flawed telescope will criticize both the space agency and the Perkin-Elmer Corp., said John Mangus, head of the optics branch of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's space technology division. The report is to be released Tuesday.

Mangus said the flaws in the manufacture of the 94½-inch telescope in 1980 and 1981 can be partly traced to the same management climate that led to the fatal explosion of the space shuttle Challenger in 1986.

In both cases, he said, engineers were discouraged from bringing potential problems to the attention of their superiors.

Region

Fire put out at barber shop

Manhattan firefighters quickly extinguished a minor fire at the Aggieville Barber Shop, 613 N. 12th Street, late Sunday night.

Lt. Rick Berry of the fire department said the blaze appeared to be caused by a malfunctioning electrical system in the hydraulic lift of one of the shop's two barber chairs.

He said damage was confined to the chair and smoke in the shop with some smoke damage on the second floor.

There was no damage estimate available by presstime, he said.

Campus

Paper fills executive positions

The Board of Student Publications announced its selections Nov. 15 for Collegian spring executive staff positions.

Tomari Quinn, senior in journalism and mass communications, was named spring Collegian editor. She is currently the Collegian managing editor.

Karen Lind, senior in journalism and mass communications, was named spring advertising manager. She is currently a Collegian advertising representative.

"I think next semester we have the chance to break some ground for the paper," Quinn said. "We are looking forward to the opportunity."

Quinn said some of her goals as editor are to increase diversity at the Collegian and cover more aspects of campus life.

"I'm really excited that they chose me to be the ad manager," Lind said. "I hope to have a good staff that works well with each other and with the public and to have a good semester."

Applications for all Collegian news and advertising positions are being accepted through Wednesday in Kedzie 103.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

26 Monday

■ Pi Sigma Epsilon will have a meeting for active members at 3:30 p.m. and a meeting for new members at 5 p.m. at the Holidome.

■ Student Senate will have a special meeting on the engineering fee referendum at 7 p.m. in the Union Big 8 Room.

■ Water Ski Team will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 207.

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ Human Ecology Council will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Justin 234.

■ International Club will meet at 12:30 a.m. at the International Student Center.

27 Tuesday

■ Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Student Organization (BaGaL) will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Wheat State Agronomy Club will meet at 6 p.m. in Throckmorton 313.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism will have an officers' meeting at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 213.

■ NAMA will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

■ Mortar Board will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Union 213.

■ Department of Geology will present "Minimum Biota: Window into the Miocene" by Joe Thomasson at 4 p.m. in Thompson 101.

■ FENIX Adult Student Program/OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

28 Wednesday

■ KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy. High in the low 60s. Southwest winds 10 to 20 mph. Tonight, becoming cloudy early with a 40-percent chance for rain changing to snow toward morning. Low 25 to 30. Tuesday, Cloudy and colder. A 40-percent chance for snow. High in the upper 30s.

McCain

Pippi Longstocking
The Children's Theatre Company

Wednesday, November 28, 7 p.m.
Merriment, confusion, and the unexpected rule the day when Pippi moves to a quiet Swedish village to await the return of her pirate father. This rollicking whirlwind of a girl doesn't have to go to school and has no one to tell her when to go to bed. Even Bart Simpson doesn't have it as good. Take your entire family to see the show Artscape called "a delight for children and adults."

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

For information on the party following the performance, call Jenne Andrews at 776-0749.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University

For best available seats, call (913) 532-6428 and charge your tickets to MasterCard or VISA, or come to the box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

Red Flour Beetle studies to aid in cancer research

By Scott Berg
Science Reporter

A group of scientists from K-State and the U.S. Grain Marketing Research Laboratory have recently received $414,000 in grants from the American Cancer Society and the National Science Foundation.

The group, which includes Richard Beeman, associate professor of entomology and research entomologist for the U.S. Grain Research Laboratory, and Robin Denell, professor of biology, are researching the regulation systems in the Red Flour Beetle.

Research is being done to find the genes activated to create tumors, Denell said.

"We are conducting studies of basic genetic regulations of the Red Flour Beetle and causing mutations in the regulatory cells to create the wrong structures," said Denell, who will collaborate with Beeman on the research.

Basically there are two levels of research, Denell said. The first is looking for new mutations caused by irradiation of the beetles. The second is cross-breeding the offspring of the beetles and checking them for abnormalities.

"We look at the progeny to see if the offspring have any changes for mutations," Denell said. "Most abnormalities are not found on the irradiated adults but in the embryonic development of their offspring."

Research is being done to find out how animals differentiate in early development, Beeman said.

A homeotic gene is being looked for in the beetle, like the tumor-causing oncogene that helps cause human cancer, Denell said. Oncogenes give unstopping power for cell replication.

"Homeotic genes are the master switches to turn on or off gene and cell activities in the body," Beeman said. "Cells grow and divide at certain times, and these genes indirectly regulate the cells through other genes."

The homeotic genes are in a cluster of eight to 10 genes on one chromosome and all look alike, Beeman said. Most are found to be basically the same in mammals, but they serve different functions.

The genes play a role in creating the body features for insects and the hind brain and central nervous system in the embryonic development of mammals, Beeman said.

The results of the research could supply important insight into different organisms, Denell said, because all organisms developed from a common ancestor.

"Homeotic gene research is the hottest research area in genetics of the past few years," Denell said.

Previous research involved molecular cloning studies and attempts to find transposable DNA in the beetle, Denell said. This research will continue. Transposable elements are pieces of DNA that wander throughout the body and don't belong to one certain area.

The researchers have a long-term goal to add other DNA to the transposable elements to see what

■ See BEETLES, Page 10

Checking the troops

Gen. Carl Vuono, Army Chief of Staff, and Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., speak with soldiers at the Fort Riley motor pool on Nov. 19. Vuono and Dole were at Fort Riley to check troop preparedness for deployment to the Persian Gulf and tour a family planning center on base.

J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

Attorney to chair committee

Seaton elected to Kansas division of Cancer Society

By Scott Berg
Science Reporter

Richard Seaton, senior University attorney, was recently elected Chairman of the Board of Directors for the Kansas Division of the American Cancer Society.

He was chosen to run the administration for the Kansas chapter of the ACS, said Mary Molt, instructor for the department of housing and public-information chairwoman for the Manhattan chapter of the ACS. The society is mainly staffed by volunteers and the job is voluntary.

"The chair is picked by the people on the board for a one-year term," Seaton said. "It is custom for people to serve two one-year terms, but new elections are held each year."

One of the chairman's goals is swaying potential new volunteers to join the society, Seaton said.

"I want to get more younger people involved in the force," he said.

I want to get more younger people involved in the force.

—Richard Seaton
senior University attorney

"Surveys show people in the 25-to-40 age group are more interested in doing volunteer work than in the past. It is a matter of focusing on the right age group to get volunteers and people in their late twenties and thirties want to spend more time doing charitable work," he said.

"I also want to keep it on the same sound financial footing which it's on now," Seaton said.

The Kansas division conducts the ACS's business in the state, Seaton said. It provides professional education services, helps people with transportation to and from cancer treatments and supports those undergoing surgery.

The society doesn't provide any medical service — only support, he said. Most of its money goes for research into the causes and cures for cancer.

"The income is divided into 17 percent used for fundraising and 75 percent is spent for research," Molt said.

"Most of the research funded is basically like that being done in the biology department," Seaton said.

Christmas tree to be lit

Goal set to raise 100,000 pounds of food

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

The lighting of the Mayor's Holiday Tree at 7 p.m. today in Triangle Park is the major event for the Flint Hills Breadbasket, said Ruth Ann Wefald, Breadbasket president.

"It's what keeps us going," Wefald said.

This year, the food drive plans to raise 13,000 pounds of food beyond the amount donated last year, said Atina Hanna, executive director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

The Breadbasket set 80,000 pounds of food as the goal for last year's campaign and it received 87,000 pounds of food.

Hanna said Wefald called upon the Breadbasket to raise 100,000 pounds of food for this year.

The earnings guidelines for those who may receive assistance from the Breadbasket are the same as those for receiving commodities from the federal government, Hanna said.

People requesting assistance must be residents of Manhattan or Riley County.

Additionally, the Breadbasket is offering food baskets to military dependents who have members on assignment to the Middle East, Wefald said. The food assistance is open to all military dependents requesting it.

Assistance is being offered to military dependents because it's a stressful time for those families,

Hanna said.

Wefald said she enjoys the sense of teamwork that comes from working at the Breadbasket.

"One of the things that makes this so unique is the sense of teamwork that evolves between K-State, the business community and the people in need," she said.

"It's more a feeling of one family and we're trying to make sure all the parts of the family are taken care of," Wefald said.

The Mayor's Holiday Tree also benefits the Emergency Assistance Committee, which provides heat assistance to those in need.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00110	01350	04150	06020	07660	11160	11680	14240	15510	17730	20830	23350	25510	26370	27750	30220	32670	34750
00140	01350	04170	06200	07900	11180	11690	14260	15551	17760	20870	23370	25530	26390	27770	30240	32710	34780
00900	01360	04180	06210	07910	11190	11700	14270	15561	17770	20880	23380	25540	26400	27780	30250	32710	34790
00930	01370	04190	06220	07920	11200	11710	14280	15570	17780	20890	23390	25550	26410	27790	30260	32720	34800
00960	01380	04200	06230	07930	11210	11720	14290	15580	17790	20900	23400	25560	26420	27800	30270	32730	34810
01000	01390	04210	06240	07940	11220	11730	14300	15590	17800	20910	23410	25570	26430	27810	30280	32740	34820
01030	01400	04220	06250	07950	11230	11740	14310	15600	17810	20920	23420	25580	26440	27820	30290	32750	34830
01060	01410	04230	06260	07960	11240	11750	14320	15610	17820	20930	23430	25590	26450	27830	30300	32760	34840
01090	01420	04240	06270	07970	11250	11760	14330	15620	17830	20940	23440	25600	26460	27840	30310	32770	34850
01120	01430	04250	06280	07980	11260	11770	14340	15630	17840	20950	23450	25610	26470	27850	30320	32780	34860
01150	01440	04260	06290	07990	11270	11780	14350	15640	17850	20960	23460	25620	26480	27860	30330	32790	34870
01180	01450	04270	06300	08000	11280	11790	14360	15650	17860	20970	23470	25630	26490	27870	30340	32800	34880
01210	01460	04280	06310	08010	11290	11800	14370	15660	17870	20980	23480	25640	26500	27880	30350	32810	34890
01240	01470	04290	06320	08020	11300	11810	14380	15670	17880	20990	23490	25650	26510	27890	30360	32820	34900
01270	01480	04300	06330	08030	11310	11820	14390	15680	17890	21000	23500	25660	26520	27900	30370	32830	34910
01300	01490	04310	06340	08040	11320	11830	14400	15690	17900	21010	23510	25670	26530	27910	30380	32840	34920
01330	01500	04320	06350	08050	11330	11840	14410	15700	17910	21020	23520	25680	26540	27920	30390	32850	34930
01360	01510	04330	06360	08060	11340	11850	14420	15710	17920	21030	23530	25690	26550	27930	30400	32860	34940
01390	01520	04340	06370	08070	11350	11860	14430	15720	17930	21040	23540	25700	26560	27940	30410	32870	34950
01420	01530	04350	06380	08080	11360	11870	14440	15730	17940	21050	23550	25710	26570	27950	30420	32880	34960
01450	01540	04360	06390	08090	11370	11880	14450	15740	17950	21060	23560	25720	26580	27960	30430	32890	34970
01480	01550	04370	06400	08100	11380	11890	14460	15750	17960	21070	23570	25730	26590	27970	30440	32900	34980
01510	01560	04380	06410	08110	11390	11900	14470	15760	17970	21080	23580	25740	26600	27980	30450	32910	34990
01540	01570	04390	06420	08120	11400	11910	14480	15770	17980	21090	23590	25750	26610	27990	30460	32920	35000
01570	01580	04400	06430	08130	11410	11920	14490	15780	17990	21100	23600	25760	26620	28000	30470	32930	35010
01600	01590	04410	06440	08140	11420	11930	14500	15790	18000	21110	23610	25770	26630	28010	30480	32940	35020
01630	01600	04420	06450	08150	11430	11940	14510	15800	18010	21120	23620	25780	26640	28020	30490	32950	35030
01660	01610	04430	06460	08160	11440	11950	14520	15810	18020	21130	23630	25790	26650	28030	30500	32960	35040
01690	01620	04440	06470	08170	11450	11960	14530	15820	18030	21140	23640	25800	26660	28040	30510	32970	35050
01720	01630	04450	06480	08180	11460	11970	14540	15830	18040	21150	23650	25810	26670	28050	30520	32980	35060
01750	01640	04460	06490	08190	11470	11980	14550	15840	18050	21160	23660	25820	26680	28060	30530	32990	35070
01780	01650	04470	06500	08200	11480	11990	14560	15850	18060	21170	23670	25830	26690	28070	30540	33000	35080
01810	01660	04480	06510	08210	11490	12000	14570	15860	18070	21180	23680	25840	26700	28080	30550	33010	35090
01840	01670	04490	06520	08220	11500	12010	14580	15870	18080	21190	23690	25850	26710	28090	30560	33020	35100
01870	01680	04500	06530	08230	11510	12020	14590	15880	18090	21200	23700	25860	26720	28100	30570	33030	35110
01900	01690	04510	06540	08240	11520	12030	14600	15890	18100	21210	23710	25870	26730	28110	30580	33040	35120
01930	01700	04520	06550	08250	11530	12040	14610	15900	18110	21220	23720	25880	26740	28120	30590	33050	35130
01960	01710	04530	06560	08260	11540	12050	14620	15910	18120	21230	23730	25890	26750	28130	30600	33060	35140
01990	01720	04540	06570	08270	11550	12060	14630	15920	18130	21240	23740	25900	26760	28140	30610	33070	35150
02020	01730	04550	06580	08280	11560	12070	14640	15930	18140	21250	23750	25910	26770	28150	30620	33080	35160
02050	01740	04560	06590	08290	11570	12080	14650	15940	18150	21260	23760	25920	26780	28160	30630	33090	35170
02080	01750	04570	06600	08300	11580	12090	14660	15950	18160	21270	23770	25930	26790	28170	30640	33100	35180
02110	01760	04580	06610	08310	11590	12100	14670	15960	18170	21280	23780	25940	26800	28180	30650	33110	35190
02140	01770	04590	06620	08320	11600	12110	14680	15970	18180	21290	23790	25950	26810	28190	30660	33120	35200
02170	01780	04600	06630	08330	11610	12120	14690	15980	18190	21300	23800	25960	26820	28200	30670	33130	35210
02200	01790	04610	06640	08340	11620	12130	14700	15990	18200	21310	23810	25970	26830	28210	30680	33140	35220
02230	01800	04620	06650	08350	11630	12140	14710	16000	18210	21320	23820	25980	26840	28220	30690	33150	35230
02260	01810	04630	06660	08360	11640	12150	14720	16010	18220	21330	23830	25990	26850	28230	30700	33160	35240
02290	01820	04640	06670	08370	11650	12160	14730	16020	18230	21340	23840	26000	26860	28240	30710	33170	35250
02320	01830	04650	06680	08380	11660	12170	14740	16030	18240	21350	23850	26010	26870	28250	30720	33180	35260
02350	01840	04660	06690	08390	11670	12180	14750	16040	18250	21360	23860	26020	26880	28260	30730	33190	35270
02380	01850	04670	06700	08400	11680	12190	14760	16050	18260	21370	23870	26030	26890	28270	30740	33200	35280
02410	01860	04680	06710	08410	11690	12200	14770	16060	18270	21380	23880	26040	26900	28280	30750	33210	35290
02440	01870	04690	06720	08420	11700	12210	14780	16070	18280	21390	23890	26050	26910	28290	30760	33220	35300
02470	01880	04700	06730	08430	11710	12220	14790	16080	18290	21400	23900	26060	26920	28300	30770	33230	35310
02500	01890	04710	06740	08440	11720	12230	14800	16090	18300	21410	23910	26070	26930	28310	30780	33240	35320
02530	01900	04720	06750	08450	11730	12240	14810	16100	18310	21420	23920	26080	26940	28320	30790	33250	35330
02560	01910	04730	06760	08460	11740	12250	14820	16110	18320	21430	23930	26090	26950	28330	30800	33260	35340
02590	01920	04740	06770	08470	11750	12260	14830	16120	18330	21440	23940	26100	26960	28340	30810	33270	35350
02620	01930	04750	06780	08480	11760	12270	14840	16130	18340	21450	23950	26110	26970	28350	30820	33280	35360
02650	01940	04760	06790	08490	11770	12280	14850	16140	18350	21460	23960	26120	26980	28360	30830	33290	35370
02680	01950	04770	06800	08500	11780	12290	14860	16150	18360	21470	23970	26130	26990	28370	30840	33300	35380
02710	01960	04780	06810	08510	11790	12300	14870	16160	18370	21480	23980	26140	27000	28380	30850	33310	35390
02740	01970	04790	06820	08520	11800	12310	14880	16170	18380	21490	23990	26150	27010	28390	30860	33320	35400
02770	01980	04800	06830	08530	11810	12320	14890	16180	18390	21500	24000	26160	27020	28400	30870	33330	35410
02800	01990	04810	06840	08540	11820	12330	14900	16190	18400	21510	24010	26170	27030	28410	30880	33340	35420
02830	02000	04820	06850	08550	11830	12340	14910	16200	18410	21520	24020	26180	27040	28420	30890	33350	35430
02860	02010	04830	06860	08560

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Political correctness avoids examination

Politically Correct Persons are becoming as pervasive in America as cockroaches are in my student-ghetto kitchen. These PCPs scurry around society, notably around college campuses, and they feast on any idea originated by the racist-sexist-homophobes (one word, and theirs).

PCPs have Politically Correct thoughts. Among these are support for affirmative action, multiculturalism, and vegetables. They rarely smile — how can you smile when there is no social justice? Joan Baez is a PCP, and so are Jesse Jackson and Anne and Paul Erlich. PCPs have left honest questioning behind for their own establishment wherein there are no questions, only tenets and university-financed forums.

So pervasive are the PCPs that I found one running my old high school. I went back recently, which is inadvisable, and found the news editor of the student newspaper. He told me a scary story. He had written an editorial which argued that the school-sponsored "Earth Day" celebration proposed fascist and communist solutions to environmental problems. It quoted National Review Editor-at-large William F. Buckley, Jr. on the character of environmentalists, stating, "Environmentalists are like watermelons: green on the outside, but pink on the inside."

The principal pulled the young journalist aside and told him that he was not going to allow the editorial to be published. It was not, he was informed, Politically Correct.

To this PC principal, the student's right of free expression against an established function was less important than The Environmental Ideal, one of the central beliefs of PC-ness.

Non-PCPs at the University of Kansas who believe that perhaps not everyone is interested in the private lives of gays and lesbians are punished with public insults, sit-ins and vandalism. A good PCP believes that Gay and Lesbian Studies programs are necessary to further the purpose of a liberal, multicultural education. They also support the eradication of ROTC programs because they are, by nature, anti-homosexual.

In a Wall Street Journal editorial piece on Nov. 13, Dorothy Rabinowitz points out that to oppose "PC positions on women, minorities, multiculturalism and the like comes at a high cost — a cost that may include vandalism, threats, shout-downs, charges of racism and sexism, and frequently, administrative punishment."

During halftime at this fall's Stanford-Oregon football game, Stanford's marching band satirized Oregon's campaign to save the spotted owl. A Stanford administrator, fearing that PCPs would be offended, prohibited the band from playing at the next week's game, in addition to other sanctions.

The list goes on, and might be forgivable, but these PCPs are bitter and have a limited sense of humor. Imagine, hundreds of little Natalie Merchants and Stings running around campus. It's enough to make one subscribe to the National Review and start a Get Out the Vote campaign for Jesse Helm's presidential run.

Ed Skoog

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Next fall at the University of Texas at Austin, freshman composition students will not buy textbooks, but rather packets of essays concerning affirmative action, discrimination, and civil-rights cases. The plan was voted in by UTA faculty a few months ago, and has been praised for giving the curriculum more relevancy to real-life concerns.

In an interview in the New York Times, UTA English professor Alan Gribben said, "You cannot tell me that students will not be inevitably graded on politically-correct thinking in these classes."

He's right. A true believer believes that he's right, and that any action he takes to further his cause is pure and just. Sure, buddy. Take your medicine.

I am a conservative, or a classic liberal, or a moderate republican, or a federalist, or whatever — a person who believes in small government and a double-wide truckload of personal, economic and political freedom. If I were told to write a paper about affirmative action, I'd trash it. Would I get a lower grade than someone who wrote an equally good paper, but who supported quota systems in hiring?

I've always been suspicious of the English teacher who is soft on grammar but says, "I'm not as interested in the way a student writes something as in what the student has to say."

In the Rabinowitz article, she examines PC-ness at Duke University in Durham, N.C., a fairly non-traditional school. She found gobs of PCPs, but also, promisingly, a resistance movement.

James David Barber, professor of political science at Duke, decided to begin a chapter of the National Association of Scholars, which is specifically opposed to the PC ideal of multiculturalism, arguing that it denigrates the importance of Western culture.

When Stanley Fish, the head of the English department, heard about this, he fired off a letter to the provost, advising him that faculty belonging to the NAS should not be appointed to key committees involving tenure or curriculum decisions. He called the NAS "racist, sexist and homophobic."

Here is a liberal, respected professor calling for a violation of a person's academic freedom because of their affiliation with an organization. Rabinowitz draws comparisons between the incident and the McCarthyism of the 1950s.

"At the time, they had the House Un-American Activities Committee," she says. "Today, they have something they should call the House American Activities Committee because people and ideas that are pro-American or pro-Western are now treated on the campuses as though they are some sort of subversive evil."

The editorial at my old high school, the NAS at Duke, composition packets at UTA, the abolishing of the Western Civilization requirement at Berkeley (about to be repeated at KU, by the way) — when will it all hit us here at K-State?

Possibly soon, if the tension in the Persian Gulf leads us into a war. But the demonstration for peace in the Gulf on Nov. 13 gives me some hope. The organizers of the event claimed that they were not protesting military action, just hoping that all alternative avenues to the liberation of Kuwait would be exhausted before fighting began. It is an admirable view that anyone would be justified in agreeing with, but I admit that I expect that support for the war will be declared Politically Incorrect by America's PCPs. The magnitude of a war will be the catalyst needed for bringing politically correct thinking into the foreground at K-State.

I hope the cockroaches in my kitchen are dead by then. I couldn't handle both at once.

EDITORIALS

Time of thanks also time to give to poor

How many of you were alone over Thanksgiving vacation? How many of you didn't get to be with family or friends? How many of you didn't eat so much turkey you had to nap afterwards?

By all outward appearances, Manhattan is an affluent little burg. People are not sleeping in the streets. You can take a stroll downtown and not get accosted by someone looking for handouts. We can sleep at night without our consciences being guilt-ridden over the bum we didn't give a dollar for washing our windshield.

The "hidden poor" is a label used all too often by too many faux humanitarians. But the poor here in Manhattan are truly hidden. Many of us don't see the poverty as we sit in our two-bedroom apartments waiting for our parents to send us the rent money. We don't see hungry children as we drive to campus in our heavily-insured little sports sedans.

Holidays are a time to be thankful. Thankful for what we have, who we love and where we are. And as beaten a horse as the old "help the needy during the holidays" cliché is, it still rings true. You are not patronizing by giving canned goods. You placate no one by giving your old clothes to the Salvation Army or a thrift store.

The programs to help the poor in Manhattan are numerous, but there are still little stomachs that remain empty, heads that are not sleeping on down pillows and people sitting home alone.

Operation Santa Claus is currently accepting toys to distribute to needy children around the region. More than 4,600 toys were given to children last year. More than 4,600 toys to near as many children.

The Manhattan Emergency Shelter on Leavenworth is never empty, and the holidays are no exception. A roof and meals are given to those who seek help, be they transients or area residents seeking shelter from a dangerous spouse.

There are lines of people at the Flint Hills Breadbasket every time they hand out food for the needy. And the Manhattan area Social Rehabilitation Service sends people to different Manhattan churches for food every day.

The FONE Crisis Center had a relatively mild Thanksgiving but is prepared to have several crisis situations over Christmas break.

What are the turns that lead to poverty? How many paychecks keep us from sleeping on a grate? How many of us know what is to be truly hungry? How many of us have ever been truly alone?

We should give thanks, but that is not enough. Thanks will not make the ugliness go away. But if you must, give thanks to whatever gods you owe your allegiance to, and then give of yourself. And then give thanks that you are able to give thanks.

LETTERS

Article incomplete

Editor,

This letter is a response to the article entitled "Love of animals gets junior vet students through long days" in the Nov. 19 Collegian.

As a senior veterinary student, I was pleased to see an article about veterinary medical students making the front page. After reading it, however, I was disappointed, almost embarrassed, by the piece, which, aside from being poorly written, contained several inappropriate quotes and misrepresented my 3.5 years in the College of Veterinary Medicine. I appreciate the reporter's effort to give readers a taste of veterinary student life, and I realize that an article such as this is written primarily from the interview material collected. I would have liked to have seen, however, some of the positive aspects addressed.

Some people may choose veterinary medicine as a career because they "love animals," but I think it is safe to say that for the majority of us, this decision involves much more. I chose to be a veterinarian because of my respect and concern for animals and their welfare; because of my fascination with science, the make-up, mechanisms, and maintenance of living creatures; because of the unique human interaction that doctor-patient-client relationships afford; and because veterinary medicine allows me to excel in any number of related occupations and become a successful, contributing member of the human community.

It is true that veterinary school is demanding, demanding of one's time, dedication, and commitment — mentally, physically, and emotionally. Veterinary school is also rewarding. The structured and difficult curriculum provides us with excellent educational opportunities and a broad knowledge base from which to develop our diagnostic and clinical skills. The long days spent in lecture and lab with the same 80 to 100 people yield lifelong friendships and professional relationships. Upon graduation, we enter a diversified and flexible profession. A DVM can lead to work in private practice, industry, academia, research, government and many specialty fields such as zoo and exotic medicine, ophthalmology, dentistry, surgery and neurology, to name a few.

Veterinary school is hard to accurately describe in a single article or letter to the editor. One cannot truly understand the experience without participating in it, but hopefully this letter will leave readers with a better appreciation of what vet school can be and why I am so proud to be a part of it.

Janice Sandquist fourth-year student in veterinary medicine

Van Zile investment

Editor,

This letter is in response to Dave Schafer's interesting but ill-founded analysis of the Van Zile Hall renovation. After speaking to Robert Burgess from the Department of Housing, the following facts were compiled:

■ The Department of Housing is an auxiliary service of K-State. It is not funded by the state of Kansas, and it is not included in the University budget. The Department of Housing is a self-sufficient entity.

■ Most of the services provided at Van Zile are available for all 500 Strong Complex residents and not for only the 68 residents of the building itself. Long-range plans include a greater dependence on Van Zile as the center of the Strong Complex residence halls.

■ Due to a basic error in the economics of the situation, Schafer failed to recognize that the investment of $6.9 million toward the renovation of Van Zile will generate revenues for the Department of Housing through payments made by its tenants and users. Most notably, the lifetime of the building has been extended considerably, and the potential for future revenues has increased.

At this point, it should be evident that money spent by the Department of Housing is unrelated to Farrell Library, faculty salaries, etc. It is truly unfortunate that excess housing monies cannot be better spent elsewhere. I am considerably concerned about the present state of our University, but I know that anger regarding current problems would be directed most effectively at the process by which the state of Kansas budgets money for higher education. Don't write the Collegian, write your legislators in Topeka.

Greg Weisenborn
graduate student in electrical engineering

Keep TV room clean

Editor,

Each day I have a little time between classes to sit in the TV lounge in the K-State Union and catch up on some soaps. And each day the trash left around in this room appalls me. Have people forgotten how to clean up after themselves? It makes me sick that it seems to be just too much trouble for someone to walk five feet and throw away a cup or a paper. I counted four trash cans in this room alone.

I can't tell you how many times I've had to move someone's dirty lunch tray so that I could sit and relax for a few moments. What do these people's homes look like? Perhaps the Union should institute a rule not allowing lunch trays outside of the cafeteria until people learn to pick up after themselves.

This is not a consequence of a lazy staff. They are continually trying to keep this room clean. I've seen them kneel down to dig out trash that has been stuffed under the chairs by inconsiderate individuals. I'd hate to think of my mother trying to clean up after hundreds of people.

Let's show a little consideration for the other students and for the staff that has to clean up after these slobos. Please be responsible.

Kristin Grace
senior in economics and social sciences

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR
MANAGING EDITOR
NEWS EDITOR
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR
PHOTO EDITOR
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR
GOVERNMENT EDITOR
SPORTS EDITOR
CAMPUS EDITOR
FEATURES EDITOR
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR
COPY CHIEF
COPY EDITORS

Eric Henry
Tomart Quinn
Chris Koger
Brad Camp
Gary Lytle
Wendy Snider
Mike Venso
Ellen Dayton
Greg Branson
David Svoboda
Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
Tomart Quinn
Rod Gillespie
Mark Schreiner
Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7107.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116.
Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Livestock-judging team 1990 national champs

By The Collegian Staff

Eight sleepy-eyed K-Staters climbed out of a University van and headed home. It was late, and they had just finished a 2,680 mile, six-day livestock-judging trip. The team had just been named the 1990 Reserve National Champions.

The students were returning from Louisville, Ky., after competing in the North American International Livestock Exposition on Nov. 13. The five days prior they spent working out at livestock operations in five states.

The workouts give the students practice judging cattle, sheep and swine.

"The NAIL is the biggest contest in the world," said Calvin Drake, professor of animal sciences and industry and coach of the livestock-judging team. "It's tough."

Dan Egger, senior in animal sciences and industry and a member of the team, said he agrees.

"(The NAIL) is really tough," Egger said. "It's the big one. The best judges are there to judge."

Egger placed 12th overall, and Loma Wade, senior in animal sciences and industry, placed ninth.

The team finished second, 12 points behind Oklahoma State University. The K-State team placed first in cattle, fourth in swine and ninth in sheep.

The rest of the team also placed in the top 30 out of 185 judges. Clay Dalquest was 14th, Brian Anderson finished 16th and Corey Krehbiel placed 27th. Alternates for the contest were Dan Moser, Kendall Lock and T.J. Douthit. All the team members except Douthit are seniors in animal sciences and industry. Douthit is a senior in agricultural economics.

"We've had an excellent year," Drake said. "We've been fairly consistent all year and come together as a unit at the big contests."

Drake said he considers the NAIL and the American Royal Exposition the biggest contests of the year. At the American Royal contest, the team placed third out of 23 teams.

Since January, the team has placed in the top five in all but one contest.

"The kids work really hard, probably harder than the football team," Drake said.

He said that being on the senior livestock team isn't all glory.

The team works out Monday through Friday for a least two hours, Drake said. Drake, assistant coach Lance Huck, graduate student in animal sciences and industry, and the eight team members have spent each Saturday since August traveling to operations in Kansas and Oklahoma to get in more workouts.

"In a year's time, we travel 6,800 to 8,000 miles," Drake said, "and the students pay a majority of their own, which is something I'm not proud of, but the funding is not there."

Drake said the team members are willing to pay for some of the costs

"The NAIL is the biggest contest in the world. It's tough."

—Calvin Drake
professor of animal sciences and industry because they want the experience. He tries to reimburse them whenever possible, he said.

"There are a lot of benefits involved," Moser said. "I've gotten to meet a lot of people and made a lot of connections that will help me later on."

Moser, unlike many of the team members, became interested in judging when he came to K-State.

"I had friends that were judging," he said. "I became interested and just followed through."

Both Wade and Egger got their start through 4-H, and they said they feel judging livestock has helped them to learn to think on their feet.

"It has a lot of good things to offer," Wade said. "It's very competitive. When you give oral reasons, you have to be able to defend the way you're placing. Judging has given me public-speaking skills and a lot of confidence."

Egger said he feels judging has helped him to explain his decisions.

Moser, Wade and Egger agreed that the friendships formed between the teammates is one of the best benefits.

"I love the guys on the team,"

Wade said. "Instead of a team, we are more like a family; and that means a lot."

Wade said the team members often study together, take many of the same classes and hang out together.

"When you spend every afternoon and Saturday together, you really get to know everyone on the team," Moser said.

Drake said that all of the team members do well in school.

"Some people think anyone can judge livestock, but these kids don't go on the road with me unless they have at least a C average," Drake said. "We try not to miss a lot of class."

Drake said that he is proud of the team and that K-State should be proud too.

"They represent K-State well on the road and at the different farms where they work out," he said.

WE PROVIDE SERVICES TO
KEEP YOU
WELL —

YOU ARE WELL
WORTH IT.

Lafene
Health Center

Super Deals Menu

59¢ EACH

Bean Tostada
Crisp Pinto Burrito
Refritos

Amigos

Have "You"
Had Your Frozen Yogurt
Today??

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!

537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

PREGNANT?
NEED HELP?
For confidential
help call

Birthright

FREE Pregnancy Tests
523 S. 17th Old Town Mall
537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

RUSHWACKERS
THE LUNAR BUNNY

Comedy Invasion

9 p.m.

Mon., Tues. & Wednesday

Jack Simmons

along w/Don Reese

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

18 to enter, 21 to drink

Call for Reservations

After 5 p.m.

539-9727

BOOKS & BRICKS IS HERE!

Tacoburgers 2 for $1.30
(reg. $1 each)

Burrito Dinner $2.77

(reg. $3.60)

Good through 12-1-90

TACO HUT

"Where Good Friends Get Together"
2809 Claflin
On the hill overlooking Westloop, 539 2091

Open Sun. 11 am-10 pm
Fri. & Sat. 11 am-12 midnight

Claflin Books & Copies

FirstBank Center 1814 Claflin

• 5¢ copies

• 3 self-service copy machines

• Resume & Typing Service Available

Open: M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sat. 9-6 Sun 12-9

776-3771

ORIENTAL RUG SHOW

&
SALE

November 30 & December 1

Two days only

STRECKER GALLERY

332 Poyntz Manhattan, KS. 66502
Hours: 10-5 Tues.-Sat. 539-2139

K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book
Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through
Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union
Bookstore

Celebrate the good news!

When you

pre-register to deliver your baby at The Family Birthing Center at The

Saint Mary Hospital, we'll help you celebrate by sending you a special coupon booklet good for all the things new parents need:

maternity clothing, diaper services, infant wear, personalized birth announcements, and much, much more, all at a discount to you.

It is never too early to pre-register.

To find out more, ask your obstetrician, or call (913) 776-2822.

The Family Birthing Center at The Saint Mary Hospital, 1823 College Ave., Manhattan, KS 66502 (913) 776-2822
Member, CSJ Health System of Wichita

- Skin Care Essentials
- Baby Cat Diaper Service
- Moto Photo
- Crown Decorating
- The Palace
- Westside Market
- Country Gift Shop
- Ben Franklin Crafts

- Westloop Floral
- Heirloom Portraits
- Pfeifley
- Jewelers
- SoFro Fabrics
- Home Cinema
- Mrs. Powell's
- Ladies Club

- Patricia's Undercover
- Book Shop
- J.C. Penney
- Judi's
- Dillards
- Manhattan Holidome
- Stork News
- Monograms Plus

SPORTS MONDAY

Wildcats fail to zip past Akron, but win

Jean Derouillere's shot attempt is blocked by Ernest Williams of the Sam Ragnone AAU team during K-State's 90-81 win Nov. 19 in Bramlage Coliseum.

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

In sharp contrast to the way the Lady Cats opened their 1990-91 basketball season less than 24 hours earlier, the Wildcat men opened their year with an admittedly less-than-impressive 61-54 win over Akron Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

While their female counterparts were hitting on all cylinders Friday night in a 103-57 rout of Alabama State, Coach Dana Altman's 'Cats struggled shooting the ball against the Akron zone defense and were outfought for most of the night, Altman said.

"I know that they outfought us and played harder than we did, and that's disappointing," said Altman, who became the third-straight Wildcat head coach to win in his debut at K-State.

As the visiting Zips played a steady opening 20 minutes, K-State struggled, with Jean Derouillere going 0-for-7 from the floor including 0-of-5 from behind the three-point stripe.

As K-State's senior floor leader failed to get in rhythm, its other emerging senior leader — Keith Amerson — kept the team in the game.

■ See WIN, Page 7

K-STATE (61)

Amerson 7-13 1-3 15, Howard 6-10 0-0 12, Rettiger 1-3 1-2 3, Wires 4-9 1-2 11, Derouillere 6-20 3-6 17, Shadd 0-1 0-0, King 0-3 0-0, Zeigler 1-3 0-2 3, Sams 0-2 0-0 0, Fritz 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 25-64 6-15 61.

AKRON (54)

Jones 10-16 1-2 21, Wilczynski 0-2 1-2 1, Freeman 1-5 5-9 7, Dawson 5-8 2-2 12, Coleman 4-15 0-0 9, Wright 1-3 0-0 2, McGee 1-2 0-3 2, Smith 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 22-51 1-5 54.

Halftime — Akron 32, K-State 30. Three-point goals — K-State 5-17 (Amerson 0-2, Wires 2-3, Zeigler 1-3, Derouillere 2-9), Akron 1-5 (Coleman 1-5). Rebounds — K-State 42 (Amerson, Derouillere 9), Akron 35 (Jones 9). Assists — K-State 19 (Amerson 8), Akron 10 (Dawson 3). Total fouls — K-State 15, Akron 19. Fouled out — Howard. Technicals — none. A — 7,153.

David Mayes/Staff

K-State's Jean Derouillere and Jeff Wires put pressure on Illya McGee during the 'Cats win over Akron Saturday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

Individual efforts key in 'Cat victory

By Todd Fertig
Sports Reporter

Big plays at crucial moments went in favor of K-State during the decisive second half of Saturday's game against Akron.

The Wildcats returned from the intermission desperate to assert themselves, trailing 32-30. According to Coach Dana Altman, the team was outthusted and lacked enthusiasm in the opening half.

When the game hung in the balance in the second half, however, the team made the clutch plays. It seemed every time Akron closed the gap, a loose ball would wind up in the possession of the Wildcats or a much-needed shot would drop.

The second-half resurgence of Jean Derouillere fueled the comeback. There were no bigger buckets in the game than Derouillere's first, a 3-pointer at 16:11 in the second half that put K-State ahead 37-36 and seemed to lift a burden from the Wildcats.

"We need him to score. We knew that going into the season, that we have to count on Jean to give us some punch," Altman said.

The coach noted that until Derouillere got untracked, the offense struggled.

"I was concerned with his shot selection," Altman said. "He didn't get in the flow, but he got a few shots to fall and that helped."

Over the next five minutes, Derouillere knocked down 11 of the Wildcats' 13 points to give the team the lead for good. His re-established confidence was never more evident than at the 11-minute mark when, after missing a free throw, Derouillere found the ball immediately back in his hands at the top of the key.

Unshackled from his 0-7 start from the field, Derouillere never hesitated. He launched another 3-pointer that widened the gap to six points.

"I think it's tough to keep great players down the whole game," Akron coach Coleman Crawford said. "He's got a lot of pride in himself, and he got some things going in the second half. He hit a couple of shots, and that got his confidence going, and he was a big factor down the stretch. He made the big baskets."

Hustling defensive plays by Marcus Zeigler and Keith Amerson also helped get things going K-State's way, but Altman said such efforts were too scarce.

"Obviously it wasn't a performance that we were real proud of," Altman said. "I don't think we competed very hard, and that's probably the most disappointing thing. We can talk about all the X and O things that we want, but I thought that our guys were standing straight up and down at times and just didn't compete like I hoped we would."

A five-point turnaround with 2:50 remaining was one of the few breaks Akron got in the second half, but it was nearly enough to bring the Zips back from behind.

A bad pass in the Zips' backcourt was nearly picked off by defensive specialist Patrick Sams, who had only open court between him and a certain score. Instead, the ball was batted to Akron's Roy Coleman, who knocked down a 3-pointer to cut the Wildcat lead to 56-53.

The Zips, however, failed to capitalize on back-to-back turnovers by the Wildcats, and Derouillere then put the game out of reach with two more buckets to give him 17 points, all in the second half.

Chiefs beat Raiders, now in 1st

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — So much for that low-scoring defensive struggle expected between the Kansas City Chiefs and Los Angeles Raiders.

And so much for the Raiders' hold on first place in the AFC West.

Steve DeBerg, protected well by his offensive line, threw three touchdown passes, two to Bill Jones, as the Chiefs topped the Raiders 27-24 Sunday to move into a tie for first place in the AFC West.

Both teams are 7-4 with five games remaining, but the Chiefs will win the division title if the teams finish with the same record because they swept the Raiders, having beaten them 9-7 at Arrowhead Stadium on Nov. 4.

The sweep was the first for the Chiefs over the Raiders since 1981.

Perhaps the most surprising thing about Sunday's game was the 51 total points. Most observers expected a contest similar to the one played three weeks earlier.

And it certainly started that way, as the teams combined for just one first down and 25 yards of total offense in the first quarter. Then, the offenses got in gear.

"We did not play as well on defense as we have," Chiefs coach Marty Schottenheimer said. "But the offense picked us up. And that's especially nice to see because the offense has been quite maligned the last few weeks."

"In our business, you try and do what is needed to win and today it was the offense and kicking game's turn."

The loss was the second in a row at home for the Raiders, who won their 10 previous games at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

"We have really put ourselves in a position we should not be in," a tearful Raiders defensive tackle Bob Golic said. "We just made it very hard on ourselves. We should have won this game."

A 36-yard field goal by Nick Lowery with 51 seconds left in the third quarter snapped a 17-17 tie and put the Chiefs ahead for good. Kansas City moved 71 yards on nine plays to get into position for the go-ahead points.

The Raiders appeared on the verge of at least tying the score, but Jay Schroeder fumbled and Mike Bell recovered for Kansas City at the Chiefs 27 with 11:59 remaining in the game.

"When I jumped on the ball, everyone was just trying to tear it loose," Bell said. "I was just hanging on for dear life. It could have been the turning point because it stopped their drive down deep in our territory."

And it started a decisive drive for the Chiefs, who moved 73 yards on nine plays to take a 27-17 lead. DeBerg capped the drive by throwing an 11-yard scoring pass to Jones.

"When I was going down, I just tried to re-grip the ball and it just slipped away," Schroeder said of the fumble. "Sometimes, you try too hard."

The Raiders drew within three points on a 5-yard scoring run by Marcus Allen, his third touchdown of the game, with 4:19 left, capping an 81-yard, five-play drive.

The final four plays came with Vince Evans at quarterback. Schroeder suffered a bruised left knee when hit by Neil Smith after throwing a 16-yard pass to Willie Gault. The injury wasn't believed to be serious.

"My legs just got pinned under me and I won't know until tomorrow if anything is wrong," said Schroeder, who didn't appear to be in pain in the Raiders' dressing room.

Evans completed his only pass on the march, a 36-yarder to Ethan Horton, to put the ball at the Kansas City 18. Two runs by Allen resulted in the final Los Angeles touchdown.

The Chiefs then got two first downs, enabling them to run out the clock. On a third-and-5 play, DeBerg threw a 6-yard pass to Robb Thomas. And on a third-and-9 play, Todd McNair gained 13 yards on a sweep.

"Our offensive line deserves all the credit on the last possession," DeBerg said. "The Raiders' defensive line was playing great, but our line was up to the task and just took over. I give all the credit to today's offensive performance to the offensive line."

"To this point in the season, this was our biggest game. It should get us over the hump and into the playoffs."

DeBerg completed 12 of 21 passes for 149 yards without being intercepted, and he was sacked just once. Schroeder was 9-of-18 for 202 yards with no interceptions.

Lady Cats split in McCall tourney

By Russ Ewy
Sports Reporter

Keeping the K-State Lady Cats at arm's length throughout most of the championship game, the No. 21 Clemson Lady Tigers won the fifth annual McCall Pattern Classic title, 68-61, Sunday afternoon in Bramlage Coliseum.

Lady Cats coach Susan Yow suffered her first loss at K-State after the Lady Cats' offense failed to execute,

"With the exception of about five times in the second half, we never operated our offense and never stayed in our offensive systems," Yow said. "I think the biggest part of it was our lack of self-discipline, just being determined to execute in our offense. We had poor ball movement and poor people movement."

K-State shot 5-of-25 from the field in the first period, with more than half of their 24 points coming from the line. K-State's woes helped Clemson build a 10-point lead at the half, 34-24.

The Lady Tigers dominated the boards in the first half, hauling in 28 rebounds to the Lady Cats' 15, helping them generate most of their scoring opportunities.

"The other thing that really broke our backs was their offensive boards," Yow said. "It was something that we had not worked a lot on as a team. It was something that going into the game I thought would be a problem for us. I told the team if we would win the boards, we would win the game."

The Lady Cats turned in a better second half, finishing the game with 16-of-53 shooting from the field and grabbing 29 second-half rebounds to Clemson's 19, but after giving up 26 turnovers, K-State couldn't fuel a comeback.

"We played a good team. It was just a matter of who's going to execute the best," Yow said. "It was our second time out, and it was the first

ALABAMA STATE (57)

McMullen 7-22 3-4 19, Hall 2-8 2-2 6, Young 2-5 0-4, McDole 5-14 0-0 10, Walker 3-6 0-0 6, Peterson 3-8 0-1 6, Coleman 1-1 0-2 2, Stokes 0-0 0-0, Floyd 0-0 0-0 0, Fowler 0-0 0-0 0, Thomas 1-1 2-2 4, Totals 24-65 7-11 57.

LADY CATS (103)

D. Miller 7-14 0-0 16, Honeycutt 1-3 0-0 2, Bahner 5-7 3-3 13, Hazim 7-14 4-4 20, M.J. Miller 1-6 0-4, Grebing 1-5 0-2, Holzman 8-13 5-6 21, Moylan 3-6 2-2 9, Bertrand 0-0 0-7 6, Cherry 2-4 2-6, Begley 0-2 2-2 2, Williams 1-3, 2-3 4, Totals 36-77 26-33 103.

Halftime — K-State 49, Alabama State 26. Three-point goals — Lady Cats 5-11 (D. Miller 2-5, Hazim 2-2, M.J. Miller 0-1, Moylan 1-3), Alabama State 2-12 (McMullen 2-11, McDole 0-1). Rebounds — Lady Cats 57 (Holzman 11), Alabama State 32 (McMullen, McDole 6). Assists — Lady Cats 14 (three with 3), Alabama State 7 (three with 2). Total fouls — Lady Cats 13, Alabama State 28. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none.

Win

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

Amerson hit 6-of-8 shots in the opening half for 12 points, and ended the game with 15 points, nine rebounds and a team-high six assists.

"Keith was the reason we won tonight," said Derouillere, who led K-State with 17 points, and tied Amerson for the rebounding high. "We were fortunate to win because the intensity and fight weren't there. By all rights, they should have beaten us."

A zone defense employed by Akron — much like that employed so successfully by K-State teams in recent seasons to slow running teams to time we were having to run the offense, the first time we having to count on it.

"We just didn't have any chemistry on offense, but the team showed consistency on both nights out in effort and defense. We just need to spend more time on offense."

K-State was led by center Kristie Bahner's 19 points, 17 rebounds and two blocked shots, while forward Diana Miller netted 15 points and guard Mary Jo Miller scored 10.

Leading the inside game for the Lady Tigers was 6-4 center Jackie Farmer, who scored 21 points, pulled down 14 rebounds and had three blocks.

FRIDAY'S GAME

K-State 103

Alabama State 57

Four Lady Cats scored in double figures, led by freshman Lynn Holzman's 21, as K-State routed Alabama State in the season-opener for both schools.

K-State shot 50 percent from the floor in the opening 20 minutes, racing to a 49-26 edge at the half. And, with reserves on the floor for most of the game's final half, the Lady Cats ran up an additional 54 points to top the century mark for just the 17th time in history.

The win in the opening game of the McCall Classic helped Yow successfully debut as K-State head coach. She was hired to replace interim coach Gaye Griffin on March 27.

—David Svoboda

CLEMSON (68)

Farmer 9-17 3-6 21, Johnson 4-8 2-2 10, Miller 2-3 2-2 6, Wells 2-11 2-4 6, Mattress 2-3 2-2 6, Boyatt 2-9 0-0 4, Wilson 1-5 0-0 2, Seils 1-1 0-0 2, Bryan 4-11 0-0 8, Stephens 1-3 0-0 2, Peters 0-0 1-2 1, Howard 0-0 0-1 0, Totals 28-71 12-19 68.

LADY CATS (61)

D. Miller 5-17 4-4 15, Honeycutt 0-5 2-3 2, Bahner 3-9 13-16 19, Hazim 2-6 4-6 9, M.J. Miller 4-11 1-2 10, Grebing 1-2 2-2 4, Holzman 0-0 0-0 0, Moylan 1-2 0-0 2, Williams 0-1, 0-0 0, Totals 16-53 26-33 61.

Halftime — Clemson 34, K-State 24. Three-point goals — Lady Cats 3-8 (D. Miller 1-2, Hazim 1-2, M.J. Miller 1-4), Clemson 0-2 (Boyatt 0-2). Rebounds — Lady Cats 44 (Bahner 17), Clemson 47 (Farmer 14). Assists — Lady Cats 9 (M.J. Miller 5), Clemson 11 (Wells 4). Total fouls — Lady Cats 15, Clemson 24. Fouled out — Hazim. Technicals — none.

Warders becomes 2nd All-American

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

The thought of what the entire men's cross country team could have accomplished had to cross Coach John Capriotti's mind on Nov. 19 at the NCAA Championships.

David Warders, senior from Hesston, recorded his best effort of the season at perhaps the best time for it. On the hilly course in Nashville, Tenn., Warders became only the second runner from K-State's men's squad to be an All-American.

To earn that status, Warders finished as the 20th American and as the 28th finisher overall.

"I thought he ran a great race," Capriotti said. "He just stayed back the first 5,000 meters, but he was still in contention and moved into the top in the last couple of miles."

The thought of running without the rest of his teammates was on the mind of Warders before the meet, but according to Capriotti, he threw his pre-race jitters aside and ran a controlled race.

"He ran a very smart race. His goal going into the meet was to make All-American, and he accomplished that. I am very proud of him," Capriotti said.

The women's team's woes continued for the third-straight meet. The women had qualified the entire squad by placing second at the District V meet.

Their No. 1 and No. 2 runners, Janet Haskin and Janet Treiber, continued to run in the No. 2 and 3 slots, while Paulette Staats led the K-State charge for third time. Staats placed 61st at the NCAA competition to lead the Wildcats to a 20th-place finish for the second year in a row.

According to Capriotti, however, the women performed about to his expectations.

"The girls did about what I thought they would," Capriotti said. "The first three girls ran about where they had the last three meets, but the other group — their inexperience really showed through."

The lack of experience, coupled with a conservative start, led to the 20th-place showing. The first five runners did not include a senior, and three of the top five were running in their first collegiate cross country season.

"They went out a little too slow and got caught up in all the runners. Paulette, our No. 1 runner, even went out a little slow, and I think that may have caused her to not make All-American," Capriotti said.

Capriotti believed that the high level of inexperience attributed to the team's finish. He said the bottom four runners for the team were amazed by the large crowds and the number of exceptional runners at the meet.

"The other four girls were a little overwhelmed, but we now know what it takes to be successful at this level," Capriotti said. "The inexperience as a team hurt the women, but I think they can get better over the next couple of years."

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Wildcats receive honors

Four K-State football players and a volleyball player were named second-team All-Big Eight performers for 1990.

Wildcat quarterback Carl Straw, receivers Frank Hernandez and Michael Smith and linebacker Brooks Barta were all selected from the squad of the Big Eight Coach of the Year, Bill Snyder.

In addition, defensive backs Danny Needham and Jaime Mendez and center Quentin Neujahr were named honorable mention football performers. Mendez was selected by the conference writers as the Defensive Newcomer of the Year. Barta won the award last year.

Senior Val Roberts, who finished the year with an attack percentage of .309, was named second-team in volleyball.

We Take Tips!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

Announcements-Apartments-Automobiles-Child Care
Computers-Electronics-Entertainment-Health-Insurance
Jobs-Real Estate-Services-Sports-Travel-Used Cars
COLLEGIAN
ClassADS
Let them work for you.
Tickets-Travel-Volunteers Needed-Wanted to Buy or Sell

GLASS IMPRESSIONS

YOU'LL STAND OUT IN THE CROWD WHEN YOU GIVE A GIFT FROM US!

- Big selection of lead crystal prisms $2 to $20
- More Exquisite handmade marbles $9.75, $12.95 & $18.40
- Beautiful glass chimes $49.00 to $58
- Fun contemporary designer clocks $24 to $25
- And much more...

GLASS IMPRESSIONS 1128 Laramie, Aggieville Mon. - Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

NOMINATIONS
for COLLEGE OF
EDUCATION
OUTSTANDING
UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AWARD

Due by
December 7, 1990
Dean's Office
Blumont Hall 006

Super Deals Menu

49¢ EACH

Taco
Bean Taco
Soft Pinto Burrito

Amigos

What services are available at Lafene?

- *Outpatient Medical Clinic
- *Allergy/Immunization Clinic
- *Health Education and Promotion
- *Laboratory Services
- *Nutritional/Dietary Services
- *Pharmacy Services
- *Physical Therapy Services
- *Radiology Services
- *Sports Medicine Clinic
- *University Counseling Service
- *Urgent Care After Hours
- *Women's Clinic

For Appointment Call
532-6544

Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University

FOR YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Need money for college?

ASK
ABOUT
STUDENT
LOANS

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.
Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
776-9400

Lender Code
*804581
EMPIRE BANK
Originator

Member FDIC

Save Farrell Library

THE STUDENT FOUNDATION LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

Currently Farrell Library ranks eighth among Big Eight libraries, if you are a graduating senior here is YOUR opportunity to improve the quality of OUR library!

How can you help?

Members of the KSU Student Foundation and Student Governing Association will call graduating seniors this week. We will ask you to begin a financial commitment to K-State after graduation.

How much?

We will ask you to pledge $25-$50 per year for 4 years. YOU decide if your pledge will be added to the library building fund or be used to purchase new volumes.

Farrell Library needs YOUR help.
FUTURE K-STATERS ARE COUNTING ON YOU!

Sponsored by:

Makin' it great!

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schlabe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1" Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Purchase one single American coffee and receive the second one free.
Valid with coupon today only.
Expires 11/26/90

More Than Copies

- ▶ Resumes
- ▶ FAX Service
- ▶ Collating
- ▶ Binding

- ▶ Passport Photos
- ▶ Macintosh™ Rental
- ▶ LaserWriter® Prints
- ▶ Office Supplies
- ▶ Oversize Copies

- ▶ Color Copies
- ▶ Specialty Papers
- ▶ Business Cards & Letterheads
- ▶ Full & Self-Serve Copies
- ▶ Convenient Hours

kinko's
the copy center

1329 Anderson
537-7340
537-0967 Fax

You deserve a special Holiday gift.
You deserve the
Brittnay Ridge Lifestyle!

Units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Computer, phone, cable TV pre-wired
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE
201 Anderson Washington, KS 66502
913/776-1399 • Fax 913/776-1395

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

WIK/LITE
BATTERIES

Free Estimates

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.00

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.00

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

HOLIDAY SPECIALS

Hair Removal $2 Off
Manicure $2 Off
Pedicle $2 Off

Tanning Special 10 sessions
for $20

Gift Certificates Available

LORDS 'N LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

Offer Expires Dec. 31, 1990
With this Ad

218 S. 4 (V.F.W. Plaza)
776-5651

On the second day of Christmas, My true love gave to me...

$2 off Turtle Pies

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

Enjoy frozen yogurt pies custom made for any occasion. Offer expires 12-31-90

Limit one per coupon.
705 N. 11th Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

537-1616

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS, BELLS,
RINGS, CRYSTALS,
GEMSTONES &
JEWELRY OUT THE YING-YANG

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

Holiday Hours

Open Evenings

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-8 p.m.
Sat. 9-5 Sun. Noon-5

Kansas Grown fresh cut trees have arrived!
Choose yours while selection is at its best.

Christmas at Bloomingdale's

DALE'S
GARDEN CENTER
539-4751

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

2nd Day-Buy any Sub for Two, get 2 small drinks for FREE.

Offer good Nov. 26 & Nov. 27

Must present ad—not good in combination with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

HANG ON!
IT'S ALMOST CHRISTMAS

- *Boxed Cards
- *Candy
- *Gift Wrap
- *Balloons
- *Stuffed Animals
- *1991 Calendars
- *Great Gift Ideas

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville-539-7654

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS?

Men's Selected Suits Reg to 475⁰⁰
Hart, Dair, Gordon Thomas

Now 216-380⁰⁰

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

All Topcoats & Raincoats values to 295⁰⁰
Selected Shirts & Slacks values to 150⁰⁰

Now 20% off
Now 20% off

Women's

Early Fall Sportswear, Dresses & Suits — Now up to 50% off
BIS • NAUTICA • KASPER & More

We Make Your Shopping Fun & Easy!

- FREE GIFT WRAP WITH GREAT PAPER
- NO HASSLE EXCHANGE OR REFUNDS W/RECEIPT
- GIFT CERTIFICATES
- EXTENDED HOLIDAY HOURS

Our KISS? Gift Certificate for You.
on your purchase
of $100 more

20 OFF

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Expires 12/10/90
Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10-6, 11hrs. 10-8, Sun. 1-5

Flight prices rising for holiday; recession curbing travel plans

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

As the Christmas season approaches, some students are making travel arrangements for trips home. "A lot of students still haven't made travel arrangements for Christmas yet," said Shelly Gowdy, owner of Travel Unlimited Inc. "The schedule is already getting tight. Most college students wait and try to get all of their money together so they have to wait longer, which is bad because all of the good seats are gone then. "About one-third of our business is from college students, and we try to get a schedule that will fit their needs," Gowdy said. "A lot of factors are going to come into play when people are making their holiday arrangements this year," she said. "With the current situation in Saudi Arabia, the cost of airline tickets has risen 15 to 20 percent due to raises in fuel prices, when usually the Christmas holiday season is one of the cheapest times to travel."

Gowdy said the deployment of the Big Red One from Fort Riley could affect travel as soldiers may go home to see their families before they leave or may stay in Manhattan to save money.

"I don't think as many people are going to be traveling this year because the media is blowing up the recession so much. As long as we have the problem in the Middle East, people are going to try and save money, and travel is always the first thing to go," she said. "If it is less than an eight-hour drive, I think — because of the economy — people will drive this year rather than fly."

Students are going various places for the holiday season.

"The Los Angeles area is always a hot area to go to for the holidays, along with the New York area," Gowdy said.

Judy Chavarria, senior in journalism and mass communications, said she is going to Reno and Lake Tahoe in Nevada and to Arizona.

"I estimate it will cost us around $150-$200," Chavarria said.

David Crum, first-year student of veterinary medicine, will be flying to southern Pennsylvania. He said it will cost him between $200-$300.

Sgt. Stan Conkright, Riley County Police Department, said the number of accidents increases during the holiday season because more people are in a hurry.

"We notice an increase in the number of alcohol-related accidents because more people are out partying during the holidays," Conkright said. "We are looking for December 22-26 to be the busiest times for travelers."

"We will be keeping an eye on the weather, and if it gets bad, we will be looking for stranded motorists and accidents," he said.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad. Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. Florida Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103, $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! You receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Kripp, 539-6193 after 5:30 p.m.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

2 Apartments—Furnished

814 THURSTON, one two-bedroom basement. Gas/water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Bluemont. Available mid-November. $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

QUIET WELL-MAINTAINED one-bedroom, furnished apartment with laundry and patio. Opening Dec. 15. Prefer employed person or graduate student. $245, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9666 for application.

SUNNY SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30 p.m.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Spacious two-bedroom, bathroom, central air, dishwasher. Call after 6 p.m. 776-0269.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, one-bedroom apartment located on West side. $320/month. No pets. 776-1340.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, QUIET, spacious one-bedroom apartment, close to campus. Need to take over lease, expires July 1. Renewable with landlord's approval. $285 a month plus utilities. Call 539-5173.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus, one person basement apartment. $230/month, heat and gas paid, no pets. 537-6871 or 539-5136.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place • 539-2951

• 1, 2 and 3 bedroom

• 2 swimming pools and a heated spa

• Some utilities paid

• Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center

• Campus shuttle leaving every hour

Pre-leasing for Jan.-May

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE January. Four bedrooms, house near campus. Laundry and parking facilities. $600 plus utilities. 537-5134.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, good location, air conditioning, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1st. 776-6401.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, one-bedroom apartment, pool/jacuzzi, nice, close to campus, extremely affordable. 539-0361.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5662 evenings and weekends.

5 Automobile for Sale

1981 RENAULT LeCar, air conditioning, four-speed, front-wheel drive, 65,000 miles. $900. Leave message, 776-8547.

1982 BLACK two-door, velour interior, Saab. Good condition. 776-8759 or 537-2642.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/539-8257.

1987 ESCORT GT 1.9L H.O., 51,000 miles, maroon with sport package. Sunroof, new tires, $5,800. 537-3157.

7 Computers

COMPUTER RIBBONS and supplies. Hull Business Supplies. Aggieville, 714 N. 12th. 539-1413.

IBM COMPATIBLE XT dual floppy, monochrome monitor, printer. Software and manuals. $800. Call 537-8664.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

47 WAYS to beat the high cost of college! Make $12-$20 an hour! Be Your Own Boss! Amazing 24 hour recorded details (406)756-5134.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

HOUSEPARENT WANTED: Good job for student spouse. Live and work in group home caring for five or six children wards of SRS. Need parenting skills and ability to work with teenagers. Mature person required. Week on, week off. Good salary and fringe benefits. Spouse may live in free job site. Alma, Kansas. Call house staff 1-765-3627. EOE.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.A. drivers, office, wranglers, handy, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers ages 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616.

PART-TIME FARM help. small cow-calf sheep operation. 15 miles northeast Manhattan. 1-457-3504 after 7 p.m.

SUMMER JOBS Outdoors, over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 133 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

9 Food Specials

Bobby DJ's
Mondays:
Play Monday Night Football
Every TD pays up to 50¢ on food purchases
$1 Draws
Chicken Fried Steak
$2.49
539-1571

Every Monday
½ Price Nite
Order any dinner or sandwich and receive the 2nd at ½ price
Evenings 5-8:30 p.m.
The CHEF Cafe
111 S. 4th

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: GRAY and white tabby kitten at Putnam Hall. Call 532-2249 and 537-1388.

LOST: ENGAGEMENT Ring—Eleven small diamonds with one larger diamond. If found, please call 537-5129.

LOST: GAMMA Phi Beta black and gold sorority pin, if found, call 539-2372.

LOST: MEN'S 18-inch silver rope chain on or near campus on Nov. 7. High sentimental value! Phone 539-8283.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1985 KDX 200, excellent condition, many new parts. Riding gear. 539-3945.

1989 CR125—Better than new, modified, must see. 539-4383, Joel.

19 Music/Musicians

FOR SALE: Sholtz Rockman soloist portable guitar amplifier. Brand new. 776-8317.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

AGRS—HOW do you like your eggs? Hard, overeasy or scrambled? —The Chels.

BITTY BLONDE Babe of Boyd (SLS). E. gads, 191 FFA in Colorado. Tramping and fibbing South Africans. And if Mark doesn't tell you often enough, you're wonderful! —The Only One.

MSR #1—Happy Birthday (yesterday) to my "little" cowboy. Who'd ever thought that little kid with the underpants on his head would be my favorite roper and rider! ASI College Student when he was 23! I love you —from ATKMT student (AKA-Mom).

SKI BUMS Chisley, Erin & Sarah—What are you, @#!ing high? Thanks to the mogul potion from the Budda bag, skiing the bumps was the b-s-t best. No headbangers! Bobbo and Dorik.

TO My Mom Shannon—Hope you had a great Thanksgiving break! U R the Greatest Theta love. Your Dot, Lezie.

WHAT? & ALEX—For the date, 976-BABE. It is Babe, isn't it? Have a good break. I promise you'll "ch" your nose all vacation. Love, Loser.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

55-GALLON AQUARIUM. Lionfish, eel and two Damselfish in salt water, all chemicals and extras. $275. 776-2497.

MEALWORMS CHEAP! Great for reptiles, spiders, fish. $0.51, 100/$2.50. Keep this ad. 539-1931.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851, Clatin.

RESUMES
Writing a resume may be easy, but writing the best possible resume is not easy. CDS knows how to develop resumes for different employment settings. Kathleen Lowman has worked directly with employers for nine years and also has conducted employer surveys on resume writing. We offer professional advising on the content of your resume, as well as computer type-setting and laser printing.

CDS CAREER DEVELOPMENT SERVICES
776-1229

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

PAPERS, RESUMES, letters, theses and dissertations. Stored and completed to your satisfaction. Fast turn around. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147. Across from Kite's.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WORD PROCESSING/ Typing. $1.25 D/S page. 776-9636 after 3:30 p.m., or leave message on answer machine.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $166 plus utilities, after 5:30 p.m. 537-8288.

FEMALE OR male. Own room. Extremely cheap! Pets allowed. 539-6703.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted for Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/month. Call 539-2919.

FEMALE ROOMMATE immediately. First month's rent free. One block from campus. Own bedroom and bathroom. Call 539-0437.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $142.50/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Available December. $175/month plus one-half electricity. Call 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom, own room. $185/month. No deposit. Call 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half block from campus. Aggieville. $200, water, trash paid. One-third others. 776-5492 leave message.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share brand-new three-bedroom apartment at 1850 Clatin. Call 539-2999 for details.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $182.50, one-half utilities. Ask for Matt. 539-8200.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three fun-loving roommates. Own room. Has everything. $195. 776-2497.

ROOMMATE WANTED, share three-bedroom furnished house with married couple. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student. Two blocks from campus. washer/dryer free. $200, utilities paid. 537-0280.

TWO ROOMMATES, Dec. 1st or Jan. 1st. Washer/dryer. $125 each. 539-5727, own room, close to KSU.

WANTED: COLLEGE girl to share farm house with mother and two children. Call 776-0466.

WANTED—FEMALE roommate, non-smoker, $150/month and one-half utilities. Own room. 776-1281. Ask for Chris.

25 Services

Headaches? Neck pain? Back pain?
Call today for an appointment
537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

CONFIDENTIAL. FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Ginnell, Kansas. 67738. Confidential response will follow.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

FEMALE: OWN bedroom, washer/dryer, hot tub, cheap bills, available anytime soon. Call Kallina Custer. 776-2378.

FEMALE: SPRING semester, furnished house. Lease ends in May. Washer/dryer. Rent negotiable. Amy 537-3886.

GREAT TWO-BEDROOM apartment for spring! 1212 Blumont. Rent plus utilities. Terrific location! 776-0797.

TWO FEMALE roommates for spring semester, four-bedroom, two-bath house. Close to campus. Aggieville. Washer/dryer. $150 each plus one-fourth utilities. 539-7356.

30 Travel

SPRING BREAK
RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!
DAYTONA BEACH $119*
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND $129*
STEAMBOAT $96*
FORT LAUDERDALE $137*
PANAMA CITY BEACH $124*
CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND $108*
HILTON HEAD ISLAND $112*
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

*Depending on break dates and room type

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

TUTORING IN Modern and Classic Greek, emphasizes the more formal language (Katharevousa) used in official documents and in the conservative press. Open to anyone, call Aki Barnastis, phone 776-6128.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

EXCELLENT INVESTMENT Opportunity—Nice 16-unit apartment building, very close to growing KSU. 100% full, excellent history, very good net cash flow of $58,000/year plus $4,000/year management fee. 80% financing available with good borrower. This is a high quality property that the selling real estate broker has held a continuing ownership interest for the last six years. Price $550,000. Contact The Curtis Companies between 8 a.m.—5 p.m. 776-1223, after 5 p.m. 776-1222.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8 p.m.

FOR SALE: Snow skis including poles, sizes 175 and 185. Ski boots, size 8 1/2. Pioneer 6844 6x3 car speakers. 776-0535.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Cammatt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, bowties, mugs. Send for free catalog. Amerprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

QUEEN-SIZE DOWN comforter, nine-drawer dresser with round mirror. Quasar stereo and speakers. 776-0730.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels, $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8 p.m. If no answer, leave message.

34 Room Exchange for Duties

CHRISTIAN FAMILY wants college girl to live in for second semester, non-smoker, food and private room in exchange for duties. P.O. Box 652, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Fictional sleeper
4 Sudden falls
9 Poke
12 Hubbub
13 Souvenir
14 French island
15 Football great
17 "The — I Love" (song)
18 Psych. org.
19 Examined
21 Ump's concern
24 Eastern nanny
25 Indian
26 "The limit," maybe
28 Flea to wed
31 Edges
33 "They cannot — the forest..."
35 Jog
36 Egyptian dam
38 Sharp-bladed tool
40 Play on words
41 War god
43 Tourist need
45 Potassium carbonate
47 GI's friend
48 Print units
49 Baseball great
54 Sticky mess
55 Bay window
56 Brazilian macaw

Mexico

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

markets in the United States. Years of hiding behind high tariff walls has hurt the competitive ability of some Mexican companies.

Since Salinas took office in December 1988, Mexico has lowered tariffs and joined the General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs, which his predecessors had sworn the country would never do.

U.S. products, from beer to cars, now can be imported by those who can pay the lower duties.

"Ten years ago, if a Mexican president had suggested a free trade agreement with the United States, people would have hanged him in the middle of the main plaza," a high government official said, on condition of anonymity.

"I think Mexican society has matured," Granados said. "There is less fear of the United States and we have a more pragmatic vision of our relationship with the United States."

"There is a global tendency to form regional blocs. Europe is too concentrated on its own expanded markets, Asia is another bloc and we must look at our own regional possibilities," he said.

Mexico focuses its economic attention on the United States and Canada rather than on Central and South America.

Granados said the presidents probably would discuss the drug issue only in passing, if at all. Mexico feels cooperation on the drug problem is at least as good as it ever has been, he said.

Another question is the treatment of Mexican nationals working in the United States, a sensitive issue on both sides of the border.

Migrant workers, legal or illegal, often are accused of involvement in drug trafficking and other criminal activities.

Allegations of racism have marred relations in the past.

We Take Tips Day or Night

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams •

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases.

Providing quality health care to women since 1974.

Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

Comprehensive
Health for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)

Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

"BEST DAMN PIZZA"

Also:
Pool
Room
&
Sports Bar

16" Extra Large Pizza

ONLY $6.25

Dine In or Carry Out.

"premium pizza for a cardboard pizza price"

Pool Room 523 S. 17th

537-1484

Poland

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

the Communist general who ordered martial law to crush Solidarity and imprisoned Walesa and Mazowiecki in December 1981.

He also is expected to receive the symbols of authority from the still-existing World War II government in exile in London, which never recognized the Soviet-backed state.

Walesa, 47, is the charismatic leader of Solidarity, the first independent labor federation in the Soviet bloc, which led the anti-Communist rebellion. He contends even more reforms are needed more quickly or a social explosion is coming.

Mazowiecki, 63, launched the region's most dramatic economic overhaul on Jan. 1 and says Poland needs his team to stay and finish the job through consistent, gradual change.

He has accused Walesa of making promises he cannot keep, and some of his backers say Walesa would be a demagogue.

It was the first time that Poles voted for a president by popular election. In the past, both under Communist rule and before World War II, presidents were elected by the Parliament.

Beetles

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

mutations appear, Denell said. Chromosomal deletion is the most spectacular result possible from the sought-after mutations. Chromosomal deletion, which has never been done, would alter all genes that relate to the development of a certain physical feature, Denell said.

Results of the research with the beetles will be compared with research with the fruit fly, Drosophila, Denell said. Studies were first done on fruit flies because it is the most powerful organism for research.

"It is easy to culture, has a short reproductive cycle and genetic changes are easily done on it to make dozens of mutations," Denell said.

Beetles were chosen because comparative studies require research with more than one organism, beetles and flies are not close relatives, the species have the similar number of chromosomes and the beetles have the same advantages in research as fruit flies, Denell said.

The main advantage of both insects is that sophisticated genetic research can be done on them that can't be done on mice or humans, Denell said.

While it is hard for people committed to raising funds to put money into insect research, the National Cancer Society takes a broad view of research and most scientific breakthroughs have come from molecular studies, Denell said.

Objector

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Desert Shield has put his life on hold. The military's Stop Loss policy has suspended his and other active personnel's honorable discharges indefinitely.

"I'm supposed to get out of the Army on the 20th of December," Morse said. "I have fulfilled my contract and served honorably. There is no state of national emergency. There is no declaration of war. And there is no draft."

"I have been forced, involuntarily, to extend my service to the military because of a Stop Loss order," he said.

Morse said his family is supporting his decision 100 percent. Even his father, a veteran from the Korean War who earned a purple heart, is behind his son.

Morse said he estimates about 70 percent of the soldiers in his unit are backing his decision and support has also come from people in Manhattan and around the country.

"I have learned there are support groups for conscientious objectors," he said. "I learned there are peace organizations that can help people. I learned there are attorney organizations that give legal help in this situation."

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

Hardee's. 537-2526
DELIVERS
7 am - 1 am • 7 days a week • Citywide

Wild Card® Special
This Week:
Mushroom & Swiss—$1.09

Mortar Board Senior Honor Society
will award a $350 scholarship.

Applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Be of Junior or Senior requirements
- Have at least a 3.3 GPA
- Not be a member of Mortar Board or Blue Key

Applications can be picked up in
Union Activities Center.

Applications due back by 5 p.m. Dec. 3.

KSU BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB

K-State
Anderson Avenue
Sub and Such
Sals Yr Duds
Pregnancy Testing Center

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

Pottberg & Dill

Professional Association
Certified Public Accountants

We are pleased to announce the opening of our office at 1119
Westloop Shopping Center.

Monday-Friday 9-12, 1-5
Saturday by appointment.

Please call Tom Dill or Dan
Hoffman at 537-9700.

HELP!

BOOKS & BRICKS

THE STUDENT FOUNDATION LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

- WHAT: The Books & Bricks campaign is sponsored by the KSU Student Foundation to help raise money for Farrell Library. You as a donor choose how your pledge will be spent.
- BOOKS: Funds given to "Books" will be used to purchase new volumes. More volumes are necessary to reach Big Eight standards.
- BRICKS: Funds given to "Bricks" will supplement the library building fund. When enough money is raised Farrell Library will be expanded.
- WHO: Graduating seniors, YOU have the opportunity to improve the quality of our library.
- WHEN: Members of Student Foundation and Student Governing Association will call graduating seniors the week of November 26th. We will ask you to begin a financial commitment to K-State after graduation.
- HOW MUCH: $25-$50 per year for 4 years.

Make a difference.

FUTURE K-STATERS ARE COUNTING ON YOU!

Sponsored by:

DOW

Makin' it great!

KSU
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Office of the President
Anderson Hall
Manhattan, Kansas 66506-0112
913-532-6221

Dear Prospective Library Donor:

Kansas State University enjoys a proud heritage of academic excellence through the commitment and successes of students, faculty and alumni. To build upon this foundation as we enter the 21st century, it is essential that we find the resources needed to establish our library facility and its holdings as being among the best in the Big Eight.

Such an effort will require a financial commitment from students, faculty, alumni and friends of the University to supplement funding support from our state government. Alumni and friends are currently being solicited for funds through the Essential Edge campaign. A campus campaign for faculty and staff support of the library will officially kick-off in January of 1991. The KSU Student Foundation is handling the campaign among the student body.

Your contribution, no matter the amount, will help Kansas State University meet its library needs for undergraduate, graduate and research activities. This is our opportunity to provide the resources necessary to elevate K-State among the leading national universities in every viable criteria used to measure academic quality. Such recognition not only benefits tomorrow's graduates, it adds prestige to the degrees of all alumni while enhancing the University's efforts to attract and retain the best faculty.

As President of Kansas State University, I ask you for your commitment to this project through your contribution to the "Books and Bricks" campaign of the KSU Foundation. Thank you and best wishes always.

Sincerely,
Jon Weis
President

KSU
Student Foundation

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, November 27, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 62

Big Red 1 loads equipment for deployment

J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

Warrant officer Stanly McCrary transfers the identification numbers of military vehicles to their front bumpers Monday as the vehicles await their turn to be loaded on rail cars for deployment to the Persian Gulf.

Troops begin move to Texas; ships to carry vehicles, supplies for Operation Desert Shield

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

FORT RILEY — Maj. Larry Burks, executive officer of the 701st Support Battalion, kept looking past the five reporters in front of him Monday afternoon as he watched the men and women under his supervision load sand-colored vehicles on the backs of railroad flat cars.

Burks' eyes flicked beneath the brim of his Kevlar helmet, held firmly in place by a chin strap, to crews chaining down military tractor-trailer trucks bearing generators, water purifiers and sand-proof communications repair sheds. Others guided tanker trucks and five-ton trucks on the railroad cars.

Dressed in green, brown and black woodlands pattern fatigues, his moustache trimmed to military regulation, the 14-year veteran of the Army and military deployments admitted this was his first deployment for a potential war.

"That is in fact true, yes," Burks said. "This is the first time we've had to do this."

And the trains loaded under his supervision will be among the first to leave Fort Riley with equipment of the 1st Infantry Division en route to the Middle East.

Burks said the Saudi Arabian desert, where the 1st Infantry has been ordered to deploy as part of Operation Desert Shield, posed unique challenges in addition to the possible combat.

"It's going to be somewhat austere, in that some of the things and services that we're normally used to are just not going to be there," he said. "So we're going to have to pack and bring it all with us because we're not going to have a readily available source to go back to and get it."

Among the extras Burks said the support battalion is packing are air filters and other normal replacement and repair parts for the trucks, important factors to the battalion's mission.

"Our battalion, for the division, is responsible for supply, storage, and issue of all classes of supply that come into the division," he said.

Maj. Johnny Abbott, division transportation officer, said the division's equipment would reach Saudi Arabia two to three weeks after leaving a port in Texas. The Army uses Galveston and Houston ports, he said. He had not heard of the Army using Beaumont, a third port in Texas.

Burks said it would be another day or day and a half before the train he was loading would leave Fort Riley. The trains will arrive in Texas two to three days after leaving.

Neither Abbott nor Burks could say how long the equipment would sit in Texas staging areas before being loaded on cargo ships.

"If they have a ship that's avail-

Mike Vensor/Staff

Sgt. Neil Davis directs vehicles from the 701st Support Battalion onto a rail car at Fort Riley's rail loading center Monday. The loading, which began Monday, is expected to take one to two weeks before the equipment is sent to Texas for shipping to the Persian Gulf.

able to be loaded when we get down there, our equipment can be pulled right into a staging area and they can begin operations immediately," Abbott said.

Burks said the soldiers of the 1st Infantry Division will arrive in Saudi Arabia shortly before their equipment is unloaded.

"As I understand it, the people will be in the theater before (the equipment) gets there," he said. "That allows us time to get to the port (and) get that organized. And once the ships come, we can effect the down-load and placement of that equipment where it needs to go."

The soldiers will fly out of Forbes Field in Topeka. Burks declined to say when the soldiers would leave Fort Riley.

If combat breaks out, Burks said the support battalion has trained to survive nuclear, chemical and biological attacks.

"We are still subject to the same kinds of stresses that the units up front are. The NBC (nuclear, biological and chemical) threat is something that's real to us. ... There are also small insurgents, you know, like maybe little pockets of resistance that our folks will have to defend against as well," Burks said.

As the 1st Infantry Division prepares for departure, Irwin Army Hospital is coping with a temporary shortage of physicians due to the deployment, hospital commander Col. William Parry said Monday.

Eight physicians who have been working at the hospital are assigned to the 1st Infantry and are no longer working at the hospital as the division prepares for Desert Shield, Parry said.

"They are in the primary-care arena," Parry said. "That is family practice physicians, emergency room physicians, internists ... pediatricians."

Replacements are expected within three to four weeks. Until their arrival, doctors remaining at the hospital are taking an increased patient load, he said. No decrease in the services provided by the hospital has taken place.

Before leaving, the eight physicians received training in treatments for injuries from chemical weapons. They were also trained in how to defend against a chemical attack, Parry said.

College begins search to fill dean position

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

Marvin Kaiser is the interim dean of the College of Arts and Sciences until a new dean is appointed.

"We will be making our decision in April, and the new dean will take over in July," said James Coffman, provost.

Coffman appointed a search committee, and it is conducting a nationwide search for applicants.

Kaiser, who had a part in planning for the College of Arts and Sciences, said he doesn't plan to apply for the dean position.

"I feel I must act as interim dean of the college. I'm going to concentrate my effort on other things," Kaiser said. "We have a lot of work at hand like planning for next year, major budget decisions for this and next year. These all need to be done in an effective way to benefit the college."

Kaiser said Thomas Isenhour, former dean of the college, was an excellent mentor.

"He taught me a lot about believing in new ideas and in the improvement of this college," he said.

Kaiser said the position has been an exciting challenge.

"These are interesting times at the University. I look at it as a privilege to be able to participate in improving the College of Arts and Sciences," Kaiser said.

Kaiser has a variety of goals, which include providing leadership to enhance the central role of the college and open communication within the college to support common goals, he said.

"I think the biggest challenge is to ensure that the quality and centrality of the College of Arts and Sciences is both guaranteed and strengthened. And to do that, we need to create ways to keep the best faculty and students at this University and focus on how to accommodate them," Kaiser said.

Arts and Sciences Search Committee

The members of the search committee to select a dean of the College of Arts and Sciences are as follows:

- Chair of the committee, Duane Nellis, head of geography.
- Lewis Cooke, physics.
- Stephen Kiefer, psychology.
- Walter Kolanosky, modern languages.
- Patricia O'Brien, anthropology.
- Tom Rawson, vice president of administration and finance.
- Donald Roufa, biology.
- Walter Woods, dean of agriculture.
- Sue Zschoche, history.
- Michelle Addleman, senior in psychology.
- Dwayne Lively, graduate student in English.
- An alumni representative to be named later.

Source: K-State News Services

Engineering fee hike possible

Student Senate meets to propose bill in response to regents

By Lajean Rau
Collegian Reporter

The proposed engineering fee was discussed at an informational meeting of Student Senate Tuesday night.

Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt called the meeting to discuss a proposed Student Senate bill written in response to a request by the Kansas Board of Regents.

The regents asked K-State, along with the University of Kansas and Wichita State University, to hold a referendum concerning the engineering fee and to provide the results by Nov. 30.

The proposed bill provides for a question to be presented to all engineering students to find out what they think about the proposed fee. The fee will cause any student enrolled in engineering courses to be charged $15 per engineering credit hour.

"I called the meeting mainly to get a lot of the debate out of the way," Heitschmidt said. "Because of the short time frame we are forced to work with, we have to do this special orders, which means we have to take action at the Senate meeting Thursday night. It usually takes two weeks to pass or fail a bill."

Senate has already expressed to the regents this semester that it does not approve of any restricted academic fees.

Many senators voiced their concern about the proposed fee and the suddenness which the referendum was presented to Senate.

"I realize and agree that the College of Engineering needs more attention regarding funds for equipment," Heitschmidt said. "But I disagree with the way this request came to us, and secondly, I would really like to see something done to address the equipment needs of other colleges on campus."

"Basically, they are just asking us to conduct this referendum and report the results to them," he said.

"We are taking no action on this," Heitschmidt said. The issue is not whether or not Senate is opposed to this specific fee. The Senate used this opportunity to discuss restricted fees and the many issues involved when a fee is imposed.

"We have procedures that we are supposed to follow to ensure the rights of the students we represent, and I'm not sure they have been followed," he said.

Senate members said they are worried that the details of the fee are

■ See FEE, Page 12

Britian's top position up for grabs; Thatcher supports treasury chief

By The Associated Press

LONDON — Three candidates attempting to succeed Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher lobbied for support in the House of Commons Monday, hoping victory was a day away. One of the contenders, John Major, won the support of Thatcher.

The outgoing prime minister let it be known that she would vote on Tuesday for Major, the 47-year-old treasury chief.

But supporters of Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd and of former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine argued that their candidates would be better able to lead Britain if war broke out in the Persian Gulf.

Major and Heseltine both claimed to be edging closer to the necessary 187 votes going into the ballot by the 372 Conservative lawmakers in the House of Commons. Hurd said he was in second place.

"If you add up the number of pledges, they come to over the number of members of Parliament," said Tory lawmaker Emma Nicholson.

If there is a winner Tuesday, Thatcher is expected to go to Queen Elizabeth II on Wednesday and resign, and the winner would be called as prime minister.

If the vote is inconclusive, a third and final ballot would be Thursday. Thatcher's aides put out the word that she favored Major, who as chancellor of the exchequer is her next-door neighbor, at 11 Downing St.

Major, 47, is the son of a circus performer and ended his formal education at age 16. He worked his way up from laborer and welfare recipient to banker, and was elected to Parliament in 1981. Thatcher appointed him foreign secretary last year, then chancellor of the exchequer.

Many of Major's prominent backers are Thatcher's ardent supporters in the right wing of the party.

Supporters of Hurd and Heseltine pointed to the gulf crisis and the possibility of war.

"We think our man (Hurd) is the

■ See THATCHER, Page 12

BRIEFLY

World

German rail workers strike

BERLIN (AP) — Thousands of rail workers in eastern Germany walked off the job Monday demanding protection from layoffs caused by unification, and the strike disrupted travel in neighboring countries.

The strike was the first major walkout since East and West Germany united on Oct. 3. It started in Berlin Sunday evening, then spread across eastern Germany Monday, forcing some trans-European express trains to stop in Czechoslovakia.

About 260,000 employees of the former East German Reichsbahn rail authority, facing heavy layoffs in a merger with the former West German Bundesbahn, voted overwhelmingly to strike after negotiations broke down on Thursday.

No new talks were scheduled.

The East German Reichsbahn estimated that the strike caused 150,000 people to postpone trips or find other ways to travel. The rail line carried an average of 1.6 million passengers a day in 1989.

Kremlin may cut foreign aid

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin said Monday it wants to slash foreign aid by 75 percent and defense spending by 10 percent in next year's budget, which for the first time makes a distinction between national and republic revenues.

Communist countries including Cuba, Vietnam, Ethiopia, North Korea and Angola likely would be hard-hit by the cutback.

"We have a crisis in the management system, instability is besetting the economy in all republics and the country as a whole," First Deputy Prime Minister Yuri Maslyukov told the Supreme Soviet legislature, according to the official news agency Tass.

Sitamarhi site of bombing

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — A bomb exploded at a public meeting addressed by former Prime Minister V.P. Singh, killing one person and injuring at least 31 others, newspapers reported Monday.

The Hindustan Times said Singh's political opponents were suspected in Sunday's explosion in the eastern Indian town of Sitamarhi.

The blast occurred minutes after Singh finished speaking, the newspaper said. He was not injured.

Sitamarhi, in Bihar state, is 510 miles southeast of New Delhi.

Singh resigned as prime minister on Nov. 7 after his Janata Dal party split and his government lost a vote of confidence in Parliament.

Chandra Shekhar, a longtime rival of Singh who led the breakaway faction of the Janata Dal, was sworn in as prime minister on Nov. 16.

Nazi war criminal falls ill

PARIS (AP) — Convicted Nazi war criminal Klaus Barbie has cancer and needs special treatment from a French specialist, his lawyer said Monday.

Deputy Justice Minister Georges Kiejman said the request by lawyer Jacques Verges amounted to an appalling media operation and was unlikely to lead to Barbie's early release from prison.

Barbie, 77, was convicted of crimes against humanity in July 1987 and was sentenced to life in jail following a lengthy trial in Lyon, where he had served as Gestapo chief during the World War II Nazi occupation.

"A sentence of life in prison is not a death sentence for lack of care," said Verges, who defended Barbie in his trial.

Nation

Denver fire drops in intensity

DENVER (AP) — A drop of patience, along with a quarter of the water Denver uses in one day, helped firefighters rein in a fire Monday that burned 1.6 million gallons of jet fuel at a tank farm near Stapleton International Airport.

The strategy of the 150 firefighters was to let the fire that began Sunday consume fuel in the ignited tanks and prevent it from spreading by drenching nearby tanks with water and foam.

"We, at this point in time, feel like everything is under our grasp," said Denver Fire Department Capt. Nick Nuanes.

"Things are going real, real good. The intensity has dropped dramatically."

The fire at the Ogden Allied Services Corp. tank farm began when a valve on a 400,000-gallon storage tank broke and jet fuel began to leak. The flames eventually spread to three other tanks.

Region

Johnston unsure of timetable

TOPEKA (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Michael Johnston said Monday he has not decided when he will resign to become secretary of the Department of Human Resources in the administration of Gov.-elect Joan Finney.

Finney ended speculation that Johnston was in line for a top position in her cabinet by announcing that she will appoint Johnston to lead Human Resources when she takes office on Jan. 14.

Johnston's resignation after 14 years in the Senate will trigger a contest for the minority leadership position. Three senators are expected to bid for it, former Minority Leader Jack Steineger of Kansas City, Jerry Karr of Emporia and Paul Felecano of Wichita.

Kennel owner pleads innocent

OTTAWA (AP) — A woman whose dog kennel near Centropolis was raided by authorities pleaded innocent to a charge of cruelty to animals.

Marilyn Marsh of Topeka entered the plea Monday in Franklin County District Court in Ottawa.

Her lawyer, Benjamin Wood, said he would ask the charge be dismissed and evidence from the October raid suppressed because officers had not obtained a search warrant.

Magistrate Larry Coursen set a hearing for Jan. 7 for those motions.

Kansas Attorney General Bob Stephan filed the cruelty charge after Franklin County Attorney Wendell Barker declined to do so, citing the lack of a search warrant.

Authorities seized 124 dogs and two carcasses at the kennel just north of north of Centropolis and about nine miles northwest of Ottawa. Four dogs have since died.

Church official dies in crash

WICHITA (AP) — A Church of God official trying to reach an airport in fog crashed his small plane, killing himself and his wife Monday.

L.D. "Linnie" Hudson, 63, was Kansas overseer for the Church of God-Cleveland, Tenn. His wife, Margaret, 60, was a secretary at the church's Kansas state office.

The Rev. James Miles said Hudson owned the single-engine two-seat airplane that crashed late Sunday. He had received his pilot's license in June or July, Miles said.

Hudson preached Sunday morning at the Church of God in Manhattan and Sunday evening at the Cathedral of Praise Church of God in Salina.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

■ Touchstone Magazine manuscripts are in Denison 206 for students who submitted them for publication.

■ Center for Basic Cancer Research deadline for research award applications is Dec. 10. Applications are available in Ackert 234.

27 Tuesday

■ Bisexual, Gay and Lesbian Student Organization (BaGaL) will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Wheat State Agronomy Club will meet at 6 p.m. in Throckmorton 313.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism will have an officers' meeting at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 213.

■ NAMA will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

■ Mortar Board will meet at 9:30 p.m. in Union 213.

■ Department of Geology will present "Minimum Biota: Window into the Miocene" by Joe Thomasson at 4 p.m. in Thompson 101.

■ FENIX Adult Student Program/OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Education Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106.

■ Alpha Chi Sigma will present a pledge skit at 7 p.m. in Willard 218.

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Dairy Science Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Call 226.

■ Social Work Organization will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 213 to hear Cheryl Rathbun speak.

28 Wednesday

■ KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

29 Thursday

■ AICHe will present Chemistry in Crime by Dr. Meloan at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

■ Finance Club/FMA will present a savings and loan roundtable at 3:30 p.m. in the Union Big 8 Room.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly cloudy and colder with a 50-percent chance for rain or snow. High around 40. North to northwest winds 15 to 25 mph. Tonight, mostly cloudy and cold. Low in the mid-20s. Wednesday, partly cloudy. High around 40.

VERY MERRY SPECIALS
From THE TRAVEL STORE

Money Belts
$10.95

PARK VISTA
5 Piece Set

$89.95

Just some of our Travel
Accessories that are available...

Ask about our Leather Attaches

Select Group of Briefcases
$99.95

Alarm
Clocks
$14.95

Converters
$27.95

SAMSONITE

"Our Strengths Are Legendary"

Ask About Our
In-Store Specials

Carriers
$21.95

Ask About Other Store Specials

TRAVEL STORE and

957 Seth Child • Village Plaza Shopping Center
539-0531

See The TRAVEL STORE
Also Located in
Manhattan Town Center

Ulysses McBride
Grand President
Kappa Alpha Psi
Fraternity, Inc.

Mary Jo Scott
National President
Alpha Kappa Alpha
Sorority, Inc.

Yvonne Kennedy
National President
Delta Sigma Theta
Sorority, Inc.

Leroy D. Smith
National President
Phi Beta Sigma
Fraternity, Inc.

Henry Parker
National President
Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity, Inc.

Frances Thomas
Grand President
Zeta Phi Beta
Sorority, Inc.

THE NATIONAL PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL
IN HIGHER EDUCATION

presents

Black Fraternities & A Glorious Past, The Road Ahead Sororities

LIVE! VIA SATELLITE VIDEOCONFERENCE

YOU MAY VIEW THIS PROGRAM AT:

BLUEMONT HALL
Basement
Educational Media Center

TIME
Noon to 2 p.m.
Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1990

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT:

Dean of Student Life
Holton Hall 102 at 532-6432

A TWO-HOUR INTERACTIVE VIDEOCONFERENCE.

Co-Sponsored by:
The National Pan-Hellenic Council and
The Eight Major Black Greek-Letter Organizations

NOVEMBER 28, 1990

Kate K. White
National Grand President
Sigma Gamma Rho
Sorority, Inc.

L. Yvonne Coleman
Grand President
Omega Psi Phi
Fraternity, Inc.

Jack Carver
Associate President for Student Affairs
Rutgers University

Israel (Ike) Trible
President
Florida Endowment Fund for Higher Education

Larnia Richards
Student in President's University

Diane Goodwin
Student at Baruch College

Tractors to improve Nigerian farming methods

By Mary Skinner
Collegian Reporter

After a lifetime of watching those around him suffer from hunger, Chris Akhimien decided to do something about more productive farming technology for the people of Nigeria.

Akhimien's dream is becoming a reality with the help of Fred Rice, director of the Small Business Development Center, and through the project "Tractors For Our Daily Bread."

"I saw starvation, hunger and malnutrition among children," Akhimien said. "There was no adequate farming equipment, which resulted in low production."

Akhimien said when he was young, his family worked a rented farm. Hoes and sticks were the only implements used to plant the corn and other crops.

"My early vision was to find a solution to this problem," he said.

In 1980 Akhimien went to England and earned a degree in business and finance from West Bromwich College of Technology. He also studied business management at the University of Warwick.

Akhimien then came to the United States where he earned a degree in business administration from Friends University in Wichita and a master of science in agricultural economics from K-State.

"In 1982, I made a trip back to England, and it was clear and vivid to me that there was a need for this knowledge," Akhimien said. "I trained in agriculture so I could take this knowledge back."

After Akhimien and Rice paired on the project, they wrote a five-page description of the business plan for "Tractors For Our Daily Bread." Starting in the spring of 1991, Akhimien said he hopes to ship 10,000 tractors to Nigeria in the next five years.

"This will also require a training program in Nigeria on how to operate the tractors safely," Rice said. "The project is youth-oriented. Through the school system, we want to find young people that are willing to work and that see the need for the technology, then we want to train them to learn the maintenance and safety of the tractors."

Training young people will give them a chance at a better success rate, Rice said.

"The mechanization will also help to free up the youth," Akhimien said. "Now a family of 10 all work on the farm. This would free up people for training in other areas."

The Ford 8-N tractor is being used by the group because it is small and stable and can handle a variety of implements, Akhimien said.

"Also, the plow can work right up to the fence row," he said. "All the land of the five- to 20-acre farms can be used this way."

A pilot study will be conducted to determine problem areas, Akhimien said.

"The missionaries in Nigeria will help to select areas with good land to farm and also be close enough together to have a central maintenance facility," he said.

The researchers are wanting to send a tractor that will last at least 10 years, Rice said.

The tractors can be bought for $800 to $1,500 and require an additional $1,000 to $2,000 for repairs and maintenance before being shipped to Nigeria, Rice said.

"Things like the spark plugs and gas tanks need to be checked," he said. "We need to check over everything in general."

Akhimien and Rice said they hope most of the tractors will be donated to the project by churches and organizations.

"I would like to see the K-State students donate the first tractor," Rice said. "This would let people throughout the world know that K-State students care."

A table and tractor will be in K-State Union Plaza Dec. 4-6, Rice said.

"Students can donate aluminum cans or money to help refurbish the tractors," he said.

Jury selection begins for Luff

Trial moved to other county at behest of defense lawyers

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, Ohio — Jury selection began Monday for the last of the aggravated murder trials connected with the cult killings of a former Missouri family of five.

The trial of Ronald Luff, 30, was moved to Lucas County at the request of defense lawyers who said he could not receive a fair trial in Lake County.

Luff is charged with five counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping in the slayings of the Dennis Avery family April 17, 1989. The family was formerly of Independence, Mo.

Their bodies were found in a barn near Kirtland that had been used by a cult led by Jeffrey Lundgren.

Lake County Common Pleas Court Judge Martin O. Parks split the pool of 60 potential jurors into three groups Monday. Interviews with the jurors likely will last through Wednesday, attorneys said.

Luff's trial is the last of four murder trials, but the first in which insanity has been used as a defense. Defense lawyer J. Ross Haffey is calling 30 witnesses. Some are expected to testify Luff was so deeply influenced by Lundgren he temporarily lost his mind.

One other cult member, Kathryn Johnson, awaits trial on charges of five counts of complicity.

Haffey has filed a motion asking the judge to divide the case into two parts; one to determine whether Luff was insane at the time of the slayings, the second to determine his guilt or innocence.

"In the question of insanity, we have the burden of proof. In the question of the guilt or innocence, the state has the burden of proof. We want to separate the issues to make it less confusing to the jurors," Haffey said.

Martin said he would rule on the motion Tuesday.

Haffey and Prosecutor Steven C. LaTourette asked prospective jurors how they felt about the death penalty and if they had ever heard of the case. Most jurors could recall few, if any, details.

Several said they strongly supported or opposed the death penalty. One prospective juror, Debbie Harris, a nurse, said she supported the death penalty in certain crimes.

"I would be for it if the murder was premeditated, gruesome and more than one person was killed," she said.

Lundgren was convicted on five counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping and sentenced to death. His wife, Alice, was convicted on five counts each of conspiracy and complicity to aggravated murder and five counts of kidnapping and was sentenced to five terms of life imprisonment.

Their son, Damon, was convicted on four counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping but acquitted on one count each in the death of Avery's wife, Cheryl. Damon Lundgren was sentenced to 120 years in prison.

Lake County taxpayers will bear the cost of moving the trial to Toledo, some 150 miles west of Painesville, the Lake County seat. Parks ruled successive trials in the summer for the Lundgrens had made it impossible to seat an impartial jury for Luff.

Luff allegedly used a stun gun to subdue Dennis Avery, 49, to begin the killings. He also allegedly led Cheryl Avery, 42, and the Averys' daughters, Trina, 15, and Rebecca, 13, to the barn where they were killed. He allegedly gave 6-year-old Karen a piggyback ride to her death.

By pleading innocent by reason of insanity, Luff could avoid prison if jurors believe he suffered from a legally recognized mental problem. However, if acquitted on the insanity defense, Luff then would face another hearing in which the judge would determine if he should be committed to a state mental hospital.

Key prosecution evidence is expected to include Luff's own alleged videotaped confession, as well as the testimony of former cult members Richard E. Brand and Gregory S. Winship.

S&L chief to testify of actions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The nation's former chief S&L regulator testified Monday that his 1987 meetings with five senators, now subjects of an ethics investigation, capped "years of private threats" designed to stop banking officials from curbing high-flying thrift institutions.

Edwin J. Gray only had time to read a 13-page opening statement at the Senate Ethics Committee hearings into the five senators' ties to former S&L operator Charles H. Keating Jr.

But he immediately set the stage for confrontation with the senators by declaring that he was trying to stop risky investments by institutions like Keating's failed Lincoln Savings and Loan — while powerful politicians were trying to stop him on Keating's behalf.

Gray did not go into details on the conduct of the senators: Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.; Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; John McCain, R-Ariz.; John Glenn, D-Ohio, and Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich.

But his testimony starting Tuesday will be crucial in determining whether the senators made improper demands of regulators on behalf of Keating, a political contributor to all five.

■ See S&L, Page 12

Bush visits Mexico to talk gulf crisis, new trade policies

By The Associated Press

AGUALEGUAS, Mexico — President Bush conferred with President Carlos Salinas de Gortari Monday in a state visit expected to focus on U.S.-Mexican trade barriers and the Persian Gulf crisis.

Making his first official visit as president, Bush said maintaining excellent relations with Mexico was one of his most important foreign policy objectives. But even before his guest arrived, Salinas signaled difficult talks, accusing the United States of trade protectionism.

"Today, American products can enter the Mexican market without restriction," he told the Monterrey daily El Norte. "But ours are detained at customs, and there are always many restrictions."

Bush, in a statement coinciding with his arrival, noted that he had visited Mexico "more often than any other country" and said he had "developed especially deep ties and respect for its people."

On landing at the airport in Monterrey, about 60 miles southeast of this small farming and cattle community, Bush got a red-carpet greeting. He then accompanied Salinas by helicopter to a charro — or rodeo — in the Mexican president's hometown.

The pair put pleasure before business, sitting side by side in shirtsleeves under a glaring sun and watching Mexican dancers frolic before walking through the packed streets of the town square to a luncheon and talks.

White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater told reporters the administration believes U.S.-Mexican relations "have never been better," and said Bush would herald the trip as "a promising moment in our shared history."

Bush wants a free-trade agreement with Mexico akin to the pact the United States reached with Canada two years ago. But even as the United States and Mexico work toward achieving such an accord by 1992, trade frictions remain.

And while the Persian Gulf crisis has focused attention on Mexico as an oil-producing nation, Salinas has resisted Bush administration suggestions that the state-run industry be opened up to U.S. investment as part of the free-trade negotiations.

Mexico increased its oil production to help offset lost production from Iraq and Kuwait, boosting its exports to the United States by 100,000 barrels a day. There are 42 gallons in each barrel.

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

NOVEMBER 28, 1990

Noon-4 p.m.

Shellenberger 220.

We will be selling Christmas packs at this flour sale. Christmas packs contain:

- 5 lbs. of White Flour
- 5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
- 2 lbs. of Bran
- 2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6

Packs will also be available Nov. 28, Dec. 5 and 12, 1990.

FLORIDA A & M

Tuesday, November 27

Tipoff: 7:45 p.m.

Tickets: 532-6920

Bramlage Coliseum

Free Team Photo for

*A can of food or $1 donation to the Flint Hills Bread Basket

Sponsored by:

KMRF 101.5

Applications are being taken for

SGA Positions

Student Body President Cabinet Positions

Chief of Staff
Attorney General
Public Relations Director
College Council Coordinator
International Affairs Director
Special Projects Director(s)
Executive Administrator
Non-Traditional Affairs Director
Multi-Cultural Affairs Director
State & Community Affairs Director
Manhattan Community Affairs Director
Lobby Team Members
Student Governing Association
Treasurer
Off-Campus Director
Campus Safety Director
A.S.K. Campus Director

Applications for Cabinet due Friday, November 30, 1990, in the SGS office—ground floor of the Union.

Student Senate Standing Committee Chairs

Academic Affairs & University Relations
Student Affairs & Social Services
Senate Operations
Legislative Affairs
Communications

Applications for Senate Standing Committee Chairs are due Friday, December 7, 1990, in the SGS office.

Student Senate Finance Committee

4 At large members

Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

Student Publications Ad Hoc Committee

2 At large members

Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

ALL APPLICATIONS AND JOB DESCRIPTIONS ARE AVAILABLE IN THE SGS OFFICE, GROUND FLOOR OF UNION

McCain

Pippi Longstocking
The Children's Theatre Company

Wednesday, November 28, 7 p.m. Merriment, confusion, and the unexpected rule the day when Pippi moves to a quiet Swedish village to await the return of her pirate father. This rollicking whirlwind of a girl doesn't have to go to school and has no one to tell her when to go to bed. Even Bart Simpson doesn't have it as good. Take your entire family to see the show Artscape called "a delight for children and adults."

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

For information on the party following the performance, call Jenne Andrews at 776-0749.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
For best available seats, call (913) 532-6428 and charge your tickets to MasterCard or VISA, or come to the box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

Tractors to improve Nigerian farming methods

By Mary Skinner
Collegian Reporter

After a lifetime of watching those around him suffer from hunger, Chris Akhimien decided to do something about more productive farming technology for the people of Nigeria.

Akhimien's dream is becoming a reality with the help of Fred Rice, director of the Small Business Development Center, and through the project "Tractors For Our Daily Bread."

"I saw starvation, hunger and malnutrition among children," Akhimien said. "There was no adequate farming equipment, which resulted in low production."

Akhimien said when he was young, his family worked a rented farm. Hoes and sticks were the only implements used to plant the corn and other crops.

"My early vision was to find a solution to this problem," he said.

In 1980 Akhimien went to England and earned a degree in business and finance from West Bromwich College of Technology. He also studied business management at the University of Warwick.

Akhimien then came to the United States where he earned a degree in business administration from Friends University in Wichita and a master of science in agricultural economics from K-State.

"In 1982, I made a trip back to England, and it was clear and vivid to me that there was a need for this knowledge," Akhimien said. "I trained in agriculture so I could take this knowledge back."

After Akhimien and Rice paired on the project, they wrote a five-page description of the business plan for "Tractors For Our Daily Bread." Starting in the spring of 1991, Akhimien said he hopes to ship 10,000 tractors to Nigeria in the next five years.

"This will also require a training program in Nigeria on how to operate the tractors safely," Rice said. "The project is youth-oriented. Through the school system, we want to find young people that are willing to work and that see the need for the technology, then we want to train them to learn the maintenance and safety of the tractors."

Training young people will give them a chance at a better success rate, Rice said.

"The mechanization will also help to free up the youth," Akhimien said. "Now a family of 10 all work on the farm. This would free up people for training in other areas."

The Ford 8-N tractor is being used by the group because it is small and stable and can handle a variety of implements, Akhimien said.

"Also, the plow can work right up to the fence row," he said. "All the land of the five- to 20-acre farms can be used this way."

A pilot study will be conducted to determine problem areas, Akhimien said.

"The missionaries in Nigeria will help to select areas with good land to farm and also be close enough together to have a central maintenance facility," he said.

The researchers are wanting to send a tractor that will last at least 10 years, Rice said.

The tractors can be bought for $800 to $1,500 and require an additional $1,000 to $2,000 for repairs and maintenance before being shipped to Nigeria, Rice said.

"Things like the spark plugs and gas tanks need to be checked," he said. "We need to check over everything in general."

Akhimien and Rice said they hope most of the tractors will be donated to the project by churches and organizations.

"I would like to see the K-State students donate the first tractor," Rice said. "This would let people throughout the world know that K-State students care."

A table and tractor will be in K-State Union Plaza Dec. 4-6, Rice said.

"Students can donate aluminum cans or money to help refurbish the tractors," he said.

Jury selection begins for Luff

Trial moved to other county at behest of defense lawyers

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, Ohio — Jury selection began Monday for the last of the aggravated murder trials connected with the cult killings of a former Missouri family of five.

The trial of Ronald Luff, 30, was moved to Lucas County at the request of defense lawyers who said he could not receive a fair trial in Lake County.

Luff is charged with five counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping in the slayings of the Dennis Avery family April 17, 1989. The family was formerly of Independence, Mo.

Their bodies were found in a barn near Kirtland that had been used by a cult led by Jeffrey Lundgren.

Lake County Common Pleas Court Judge Martin O. Parks split the pool of 60 potential jurors into three groups Monday. Interviews with the jurors likely will last through Wednesday, attorneys said.

Luff's trial is the last of four murder trials, but the first in which insanity has been used as a defense. Defense lawyer J. Ross Haffey is calling 30 witnesses. Some are expected to testify Luff was so deeply influenced by Lundgren he temporarily lost his mind.

One other cult member, Kathryn Johnson, awaits trial on charges of five counts of complicity.

Haffey has filed a motion asking the judge to divide the case into two parts; one to determine whether Luff was insane at the time of the slayings, the second to determine his guilt or innocence.

"In the question of insanity, we have the burden of proof. In the question of the guilt or innocence, the state has the burden of proof. We want to separate the issues to make it less confusing to the jurors," Haffey said.

Martin said he would rule on the motion Tuesday.

Haffey and Prosecutor Steven C. LaTourette asked prospective jurors how they felt about the death penalty and if they had ever heard of the case. Most jurors could recall few, if any, details.

Several said they strongly supported or opposed the death penalty. One prospective juror, Debbie Harris, a nurse, said she supported the death penalty in certain crimes.

"I would be for it if the murder was premeditated, gruesome and more than one person was killed," she said.

Lundgren was convicted on five counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping and sentenced to death. His wife, Alice, was convicted on five counts each of conspiracy and complicity to aggravated murder and five counts of kidnapping and was sentenced to five terms of life imprisonment.

Their son, Damon, was convicted on four counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping but acquitted on one count each in the death of Avery's wife, Cheryl. Damon Lundgren was sentenced to 120 years in prison.

Lake County taxpayers will bear the cost of moving the trial to Toledo, some 150 miles west of Painesville, the Lake County seat. Parks ruled successive trials in the summer for the Lundgrens had made it impossible to seat an impartial jury for Luff.

Luff allegedly used a stun gun to subdue Dennis Avery, 49, to begin the killings. He also allegedly led Cheryl Avery, 42, and the Averys' daughters, Trina, 15, and Rebecca, 13, to the barn where they were killed. He allegedly gave 6-year-old Karen a piggyback ride to her death.

By pleading innocent by reason of insanity, Luff could avoid prison if jurors believe he suffered from a legally recognized mental problem. However, if acquitted on the insanity defense, Luff then would face another hearing in which the judge would determine if he should be committed to a state mental hospital.

Key prosecution evidence is expected to include Luff's own alleged videotaped confession, as well as the testimony of former cult members Richard E. Brand and Gregory S. Winship.

S&L chief to testify of actions

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The nation's former chief S&L regulator testified Monday that his 1987 meetings with five senators, now subjects of an ethics investigation, capped "years of private threats" designed to stop banking officials from curbing high-flying thrift institutions.

Edwin J. Gray only had time to read a 13-page opening statement at the Senate Ethics Committee hearings into the five senators' ties to former S&L operator Charles H. Keating Jr.

But he immediately set the stage for confrontation with the senators by declaring that he was trying to stop risky investments by institutions like Keating's failed Lincoln Savings and Loan — while powerful politicians were trying to stop him on Keating's behalf.

Gray did not go into details on the conduct of the senators: Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz.; Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; John McCain, R-Ariz.; John Glenn, D-Ohio, and Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich.

But his testimony starting Tuesday will be crucial in determining whether the senators made improper demands of regulators on behalf of Keating, a political contributor to all five.

■ See S&L, Page 12

Bush visits Mexico to talk gulf crisis, new trade policies

By The Associated Press

AGUALEGUAS, Mexico — President Bush conferred with President Carlos Salinas de Gortari Monday in a state visit expected to focus on U.S.-Mexican trade barriers and the Persian Gulf crisis.

Making his first official visit as president, Bush said maintaining excellent relations with Mexico was one of his most important foreign policy objectives. But even before his guest arrived, Salinas signaled difficult talks, accusing the United States of trade protectionism.

"Today, American products can enter the Mexican market without restriction," he told the Monterrey daily El Norte. "But ours are detained at customs, and there are always many restrictions."

Bush, in a statement coinciding with his arrival, noted that he had visited Mexico "more often than any other country" and said he had "developed especially deep ties and respect for its people."

On landing at the airport in Monterrey, about 60 miles southeast of this small farming and cattle community, Bush got a red-carpet greeting. He then accompanied Salinas by helicopter to a charro — or rodeo — in the Mexican president's hometown.

The pair put pleasure before business, sitting side by side in shirtsleeves under a glaring sun and watching Mexican dancers frolic before walking through the packed streets of the town square to a luncheon and talks.

White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater told reporters the administration believes U.S.-Mexican relations "have never been better," and said Bush would herald the trip as "a promising moment in our shared history."

Bush wants a free-trade agreement with Mexico akin to the pact the United States reached with Canada two years ago. But even as the United States and Mexico work toward achieving such an accord by 1992, trade frictions remain.

And while the Persian Gulf crisis has focused attention on Mexico as an oil-producing nation, Salinas has resisted Bush administration suggestions that the state-run industry be opened up to U.S. investment as part of the free-trade negotiations.

Mexico increased its oil production to help offset lost production from Iraq and Kuwait, boosting its exports to the United States by 100,000 barrels a day. There are 42 gallons in each barrel.

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

NOVEMBER 28, 1990
Noon-4 p.m.
Shellenberger 220.

We will be selling Christmas packs at this flour sale.
Christmas packs contain:

- 5 lbs. of White Flour
- 5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
- 2 lbs. of Bran
- 2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6
Packs will also be available Nov. 28,
Dec. 5 and 12, 1990.

VS.

FLORIDA A & M

Tuesday, November 27
Tipoff: 7:45 p.m.

Tickets: 532-6920
Bramlage Coliseum

Free Team Photo
for

*A can of food or $1 donation to the Flint Hills Bread Basket

Sponsored by:

KMRF
101.5

Applications are being taken for

SGA Positions

Student Body President Cabinet Positions

Chief of Staff
Attorney General
Public Relations Director
College Council Coordinator
International Affairs Director
Special Projects Director(s)
Executive Administrator
Non-Traditional Affairs Director
Multi-Cultural Affairs Director
State & Community Affairs Director
Manhattan Community Affairs Director
Lobby Team Members
Student Governing Association
Treasurer
Off-Campus Director
Campus Safety Director
A.S.K. Campus Director

Applications for Cabinet due Friday,
November 30, 1990, in the SGS
office—ground floor of the Union.

Student Senate Standing Committee Chairs

Academic Affairs & University Relations
Student Affairs & Social Services
Senate Operations
Legislative Affairs
Communications

Applications for Senate Standing
Committee Chairs are due Friday,
December 7, 1990, in the SGS office.

Student Senate Finance Committee

4 At large members

Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

Student Publications Ad Hoc Committee

2 At large members

Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

ALL APPLICATIONS AND JOB DESCRIPTIONS ARE AVAILABLE
IN THE SGS OFFICE, GROUND FLOOR OF UNION

McCain

Pippi Longstocking
The Children's Theatre Company

Wednesday, November 28, 7 p.m.
Merriment, confusion, and the unexpected rule the day when Pippi moves to a quiet Swedish village to await the return of her pirate father. This rollicking whirlwind of a girl doesn't have to go to school and has no one to tell her when to go to bed. Even Bart Simpson doesn't have it as good. Take your entire family to see the show Artscape called "a delight for children and adults."

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

For information on the party following the performance, call Jenne Andrews at 776-0749.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
For best available seats, call (913) 532-6428 and charge your tickets to MasterCard or VISA, or come to the box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Christmas time for everyone to give

I am the ultimate consumer. I was, of course, in the mall this holiday weekend, fighting the crowds and trying to find a happy medium between what I'd like to buy for Christmas and what I can afford. I bought a roll of wrapping paper. I don't have anything to wrap yet, but it's best to be prepared. Besides, the line in the Hallmark store was relatively short.

I like the mall during the holidays. I like the crowds (sort of) of happy holiday people (some of them), and I like the big Santa display with all the kids and parents waiting in line to preserve the joyous memory (of a terrified child screaming on a miserable Santa's lap). I like the strings of lights and stars hanging from the ceiling, and I like the big sections of department stores where you can go and immerse yourself in the sights and sounds of a commercial Christmas. The only thing I don't like are those little strings of lights and bells and whatnot that make rhythmic beeps to the supposed tune of Christmas songs. I am one of the few people in the world that can actually listen to Christmas music for hours on end, but not in that form. Whenever I can find the switches on those things, I turn them off. They hide the switches pretty well, though. I wonder why.

The best thing about the particular mall that I was in (it was in Wisconsin, but all malls tend to be the same at Christmas) was a tree full of little plastic hearts in the department store. You pulled one off, and it contained the name and Christmas list of a kid who might, without your help, think he was on Santa's naughty list. You come back with a toy and that's pretty much the end of it, for you. But you do get the fun of going to the toy store and reliving your own childhood. It's a cool thing that goes beyond dropping your change into the Salvation Army bucket and into the (I hate to say it) spirit of Christmas. (Yes, it's a cliché. You think of a better way to put it.)

A mall is usually a place where it's tough to remember any of the meanings of Christmas. Unless of course you are deeply moved by the sight of a kiosk in the middle of the mall selling sweatshirts that say, "Jesus is the reason for the season." Whether you believe that or not, Christmas has a lot of wonderful things behind it. Things like thinking of others, being with family, taking time out to remember how lucky you are and maybe going to church to praise whatever superior force you choose to just because you're alive. A shopping mall isn't deeply supportive of any of those values. It's too busy being deeply supportive of itself.

Karin Dell'Antonia

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Sure, you're in the mall, buying things that will make your loved ones happy, but chances are that you're really thinking of yourself. It's sort of a big, competitive, irritating atmosphere that somehow encourages thoughts like "I want to get this over with, I want to go home, I have to buy a big gift that I can't afford and why didn't I do this sooner — like sometime last year?" Not what Christmas is all about — at least not according to all the Christmas specials I've been watching all these years.

Christmas is the time when we all get to be Santa Claus, and Santa is what every superior God-type being would like to be if (S)He only had the time and resources to give everybody everything they wanted all the time. Buying a present for a kid who doesn't know you, won't thank you and certainly won't give you anything in return is about as much like Christmas as a relatively poor college student can get.

Monday's paper had a nifty, neat editorial about giving to the needy — one that admittedly rather stereotyped us all as a bunch of spoiled yuppie kids, but it still had an important point. No matter how you feel about giving charity or people on welfare and how they got there, there is no way that their children can be at fault and deserve to suffer. Even if you think Christmas is a commercialized excuse for retailers to unload end-of-the-year merchandise, it's hard on a kid not to get a present when everyone else seems to have a whole bunch. If you happen to see a tree of hearts, and you have an extra 10 bucks or so, I can't think of a better way to spend it.

I, by the way, don't mind all the commercialization. I think it just reminds everyone to think of Christmases in their past and in their future and to feel pretty good about life in general. Every society needs a time of year where everybody gets some kind of holiday. Whether you're celebrating Christmas next month, or Hannukah, or are just ready to take advantage of some time off, this is a good time to get a holiday spirit. Christmas may be meant to be a religious holiday, but it's gone way beyond that. It's a time for everyone to think about others before thinking about themselves. We should probably do that all year, but if we don't, it's nice to see it take over the country for a change.

Of course, if one of my roommates buys one of those little noisemaker things and turns it on, I may lose my Christmas spirit really quick. I must admit, there are limits. I'd probably turn cynical and conclude that even the "Tree of Hearts" is probably sponsored by a toy store. But right now, I don't care. I intend to revel in Christmas for a whole solid month, and not even finals can get in my way.

EDITORIALS

Cheating, plagiarism alarmingly prevalent

Cheaters may never prosper, but they seem to be proliferating.

A recent survey conducted by a Rutgers University anthropology professor appeared in a story in the Kansas City Star. The survey revealed that of the 232 students surveyed, 45 percent reported they had cheated occasionally. Another 33 percent admitted cheating more regularly.

Assuming that college students in New Jersey have nearly the same moral fiber as their Kansas counterparts, we must assume that over 75 percent of our schoolmates are cheaters.

Startling. Or is it?

Should we be surprised so many turn to cheating when so few are caught and the rewards seem limitless?

A browse through recent newspapers is like a journey through the cheater's hall of shame. Milli Vanilli, Michael Milken, Martin Luther King Jr., and Vanilla Ice have all recently been caught lip-synching, insider-trading, plagiarizing and lying, respectively. It would seem that cheaters have infiltrated every niche of our society and that the only way to spot a cheater is to be on the lookout for a preponderance of the scarlet letters "M," "L," and "I" in their names.

Though each of the aforementioned cheaters have lost credibility, money or both, the response of the media, public and even judicial system (Milken will walk out of a minimum security prison in a few years still a rich man) has been forgiving.

The Rutgers anthropologist's survey is the most alarming. It is unfortunate to think that bright, creative college students, who will someday be artists, financiers and leaders, are needlessly taking the chance of short-circuiting their careers by being dishonest.

It is far better to flunk out of school than to be kicked out.

LETTERS

Morse abused system

Editor,

I suspect that Sgt. Morse expects a great amount of sympathy from the American public. The only feeling I get is one of sickness. The blatant abuse of the military for his purposes along with the waste of our, the taxpayers, money is derogatory. I really cannot believe that he expects anyone to fall for the "conscientious objector" garbage, especially after seven or more years of voluntary service that involved at least one re-enlistment.

Morse has reaped the benefits — training, pay, food and housing, medical care and education. Now when it's his turn to pay the proverbial piper he gets "closer to the Lord" and his mommy's apron. Whenever I think of this man one word echoes through my head — wimp.

David Stephens senior in psychology

Don't give in to war

Editor,

I've been criticized for calling for an end to the deployment of U.S. troops in Saudi Arabia. A common argument is that raising a fuss here in Kansas will do nothing more than hurt the U.S. military in its effort to reach its objectives abroad. "We must support our boys in the Middle East," they say. Possibly, they remember the alienation of U.S. soldiers by the American public during the Vietnam War.

Here, however, it is important to separate the soldiers from the foreign policy of the Bush administration. I am not against the soldiers. In fact, I value the lives of the American soldiers who are in the Middle East and, therefore, will not condone the Bush administration's willingness to send our troops into a senseless slaughter. Furthermore, I do not believe that U.S. soldiers are "warmongers." Instead, I see them and their families as victims. Many of them are led to believe that when they join the military, they will be serving their country by fighting for "freedom" and "democracy." Instead, they are a pawn in a quest for U.S. political domination in the Middle East. Others are drawn in by recruiters who push the possibility of involuntary conflict under the table and expound on all the opportunities for education, job training, money and self-enhancement — an opportunity to "be all you can be." Thus, I do not buy the argument that soldiers should quietly follow through on their contract to kill or be killed, or that the American public should allow them to do so. There have already been soldiers who have stepped forward and have refused to take part in Bush's games. I consider those who have filed for "conscientious objector" status to be worthy, not of condemnation, but of admiration; they have had the courage to refuse to kill another human being for something that they do not believe in. Other soldiers feel the same way, but are often not made aware of their rights, and face tremendous pressure to go along with something not consistent with their values.

Being a patriotic American does not require one to follow the president's wishes blindly. I've heard those who say that there's nothing we can do about it now, so we might as well go along with President Bush's policy and provide a united front against the Iraqis. I've heard others argue that in being good Americans, we need to support our leaders because they necessarily know what's best for the American people. Do we live in a democracy when we believe that we can have no impact on the decisions of our government and refuse to question the policy of our president?

Polls are now showing that the overwhelming majority of Americans now oppose a "shooting war" in the Persian Gulf. The Bush administration, however, continues to provoke one by furthering the build-up of troops in Saudi Arabia. In doing so, he is not only acting against the will of the American people, but also against the wishes of our closest allies. Contrary to what I've heard from many, war is not inevitable; there is something you can do to help stop it. Get in touch with your federal representatives — whose constitutional right it is to declare war — and tell them you support negotiations and a reduction of U.S. troops in the Middle East instead of bloodshed. Ask others to do the same. Do not yield to war quietly.

I know there are many who are confused on the issue and don't know where to stand. There will be a multisponsored public forum at 7:30 p.m. on Nov. 29 in the Union Little Theatre. It will begin by a brief panel discussion, followed by a question-and-answer session. All views are welcome; come and express yours and hear those of others.

Gerald Snell
senior in secondary education

Support military

Editor,

Recently, I've read many letters to the Collegian concerning the peace rally and the Persian Gulf crisis. I've remained silent until learning of an incident which seemed to justify speaking out.

Some people have been verbally harassing ROTC and other military students.

Although I believe in peace and a peaceful solution to this crisis, I must support our reasons for being in Saudi Arabia. The possibility of Saddam Hussein having nuclear capabilities within one and a half years and control of the world's oil supply leaves him in a position to dictate the world's economy.

I am asking you to think of the others in our generation willing to give up their lives for us and our right to think for ourselves. Give them your support.

Troy Huggins
freshman in arts and sciences undecided

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. Students will be asked to show their I.D. card upon submission when done in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Veno
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Mark Schriener
COPY CHIEF	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
COPY EDITORS	Scott Berg
SCIENCE REPORTER	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimotheas, Elvyn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
STAFF REPORTERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
COLUMNISTS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
REVIEWERS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, Kyle Wyatt
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
STRIP CARTOONISTS	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry
EDITORIAL BOARD	Tommy Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Veno

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allison Schaff
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Angie Humphrey
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER	Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Puntney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fullerton
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Deanna Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minida Dowdy, John Fullerton, Norm LeComte, James Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

One Semester (Fall or Spring)	$30
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)	$54
Summer Session	$10
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer)	$60

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Send orders and address changes to Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

Manhattan stores stock variety of gifts for adults

By Jenifer Scheibler
Collegian Reporter

Less than 30 shopping days are left until Christmas.

Although many people haven't begun their Christmas shopping, store owners and buyers have been prepared for the Christmas shopping season for some time.

Sherry Timbrook, Hallmark marketing and media relations coordinator, said the majority of the Hallmark Christmas line has been in respective Hallmark retail stores since September, although the stores usually wait to display it until after Halloween.

Merchants and buyers said that gift ideas for adults appear to run along traditional lines this year.

Computers and computer software are often given as Christmas gifts, said Marci Demman, systems consultant for the Connecting Point Computer Center.

"Some computer companies are really targeting home users this year," Demman said.

She said computers are a major purchase, and often consumers spend a lot of time shopping for what they want and then ask for it as a Christmas gift. Computer owners may also receive software.

For gifts requiring that special touch, jewelry could be the answer. Rick Pfeifley, owner of Pfeifley Jewelers, said watches, chains, colored stones and diamonds make popular gifts.

Karen Medlin, owner of West-loop Floral, said she expects traditional poinsettias and Christmas arrangements to be popular gifts again this year.

"Flowers are an easy gift to give," Medlin said. "You don't have to worry about getting the right size or color."

She said flowers are easy to give people who live out of town, because the hassle of buying and mailing a gift is eliminated.

LeAnne Williams, manager of Kitchens Plus, said any kind of artwork, such as pottery, by a local artist is popular at Christmas.

Another local, popular item is the game K-Stateopoly, she said. This is a board game resembling Monopoly, but it substitutes Manhattan and University sites and terms for the original ones.

"Quite a few people have started Christmas shopping," said Janeyce Michel-Cupito, buyer for Halls Department Stores.

She said good sellers early in the season are Christmas items given as gifts, such as tree ornaments, wreaths and stockings.

Michel-Cupito said she expects smaller gifts to be given this year.

"It is an interesting season," she said. "It will be hard to know what to expect."

Sue Willsey, fashion director for Saks Fifth Avenue in Kansas City, said she believes the traditional Christmas gifts, such as sweaters, jewelry, intimate apparel and fragrances will be popular again this Christmas season.

"These are all popular items," Willsey said. "They are what we think of when we think of Christmas gift-giving."

She recommends bright, colorful clothing and anything leather or suede. Perfume or cologne are also safe gifts.

"When it comes to choosing the wrapping for the gifts they have purchased, people often spend the time to pick wrapping that fits the personality of the gift's receiver," Timbrook said.

"How the gift is wrapped is important," she said. "People search for just the right look."

Timbrook said shoppers will be seeing Christmas cards reflecting peace and good will due to the unrest in the Persian Gulf.

Students indicated that they plan to give their parents books by their favorite authors, subscriptions to magazines relating to a hobby or interest, items that can be used around the house, such as small kitchen appliances or tools, and home or office decorations.

A concern expressed by students was the lack of time for Christmas shopping due to finals week running so late into December.

Some students are forced to squeeze their shopping in during study breaks because by the time they are done with finals and make it home, the selection of gifts is not as good.

"I really don't get quality Christmas shopping done because I don't have the time I need to really look and buy exactly what I want," said Tanya Fairbank, senior in accounting.

Christmas boom season begins for local merchants, businesses

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

Christmas is drawing near, and anxious children are awaiting the day they get to see what Santa Claus brought them.

As the Christmas season nears, local stores are noticing an increase in business and are preparing for the holiday shoppers.

"The Christmas shopping season is slowly picking up. It started about a month ago," said Sara Switzer, manager of the toy department at Wal-Mart. "We have already started hiring help for the Christmas season and will add more people to our staff as they are needed for the holiday crowd."

This week is unofficially known as the first Christmas shopping week of the season.

"The week after Thanksgiving is usually a busy time for us because a lot of people think that Christmas is not far away, so they start doing some of their shopping. But you always have the last-minute shoppers," said Dave Donnet, manager of Kay-Bee Toy and Hobby Shop.

Some shoppers may have an edge on those just getting started.

"The hard-core Christmas shoppers have already started their shopping, and most of them are putting their stuff on layaway," Switzer said.

This season promises to be big for action-adventure toys.

"Nintendo is always a popular item, along with the Ninja Turtles, Go-Go Puppy, Baby Magic and Baby Shivers are all going to be hot items this year, but sports cards — like basketball and baseball cards — seem to also be in great demand," Donnet said.

"It is best to do your toy shopping early, because after Thanksgiving we only get two or three shipments in, and the warehouse begins to run out of some of the more popular toys," he said.

Some hot Christmas toys may already be sold out.

"Anything that is a hot item for that particular year we always have trouble keeping in stock, especially anything to do with the Ninja Turtles or other dolls," Switzer said.

Demand for Teen-age Mutant Ninja Turtles hasn't decreased and could again show record sales this year.

"Last year, the Ninja Turtles were very big, and we had a problem keeping them in stock, but this year the warehouse is still sending us shipments of eight to 10 cases a week with 24 dolls to a case — so hopefully we won't have a shortage this year," Donnet said.

Many to act as Father Christmas

Caring, gentle persons selected to play St. Nick, helpers

By Angie Schrock
Collegian Reporter

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" and "Merry Christmas" will ring out across the malls at Christmas time as people walk past the "North Pole." Children will squeal and tell Santa Claus what they want for Christmas, and parents will smile as the camera flashes.

Santa, however, may have many different faces behind the beard. But the people have similar qualities.

"We need people who are caring and gentle with children, and they have to like to be around children," said Robin Weirsig of Portraits by LBJ, which is in charge of the "World of Discovery" at Manhattan Town Center.

Santa will also be making appearances in Topeka.

"Most of the people we employ as Santa are retired men who have been playing Santa for years. A lot of them even have their own costumes (because) they have been doing this for so long," said Bobbie Anderson, owner of Western Temporary and Permanent Services in Topeka.

Santas come in a variety of ages. "We have hired one high school student to work as an elf, and from there, they range to retirement age," Weirsig said.

Most of the people we employ as Santa are retired men who have been playing Santa for years.

— Bobbie Anderson
owner of Western Temporary and Permanent Services

Finding people to play Santa can be done several different ways.

Ads in newspapers and fliers at the mall have been used in Manhattan, Weirsig said. "We also put ads on the K-State job board, talked to Job Services of Manhattan and the Area Agency on Aging."

Agencies are selective with the applicants hired to play Santa.

"Locally, we only hire people we know and trust personally," Anderson said. "These people need good references, and we have to be able to completely trust them with children."

"We don't want to hire just anyone to work with all the children," she said.

Even though Christmas is a charitable season, the people who play Santa and his helpers are usually paid.

"We have hired four Santas, three photographers and two elves to work different shifts at the mall," Weirsig said. "The helpers won't be there all the time, only during the busy times like Thursday and Friday evening and the weekends."

Above all, Santas need enthusiasm, she said.

"I'm really excited about this job. I really like to work with people and especially kids," said Christine Malesa, senior at Manhattan High School who will play one of Santa's helpers at the Manhattan Town Center.

Many old Christmas traditions originated from pagan festivals before being brought to America

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

Many Christmas traditions originated in different countries, and they were adopted by the United States.

Christmas itself is believed to have been established on Dec. 25 because it corresponded with pagan festivals taking place around the time of the winter solstice — when the days began to lengthen to celebrate the rebirth of the sun.

In ancient Scandinavia, people would gather around huge bonfires in honor of the winter solstice. The English transformed this tradition into burning a yule log in the family fireplace.

Christmas trees can be traced back to when the pagans of northern Europe became Christians. One legend relates how on Christmas Eve, 12 centuries ago, Winfred, an Englishman who had gone to Germany to spread the teachings of Jesus, found a group of worshippers gathered at the Oak of Geismar. The worshippers were about to sacrifice young Prince Asult to the god Thor.

Winfred saved the prince and chopped down the oak tree. As it fell, a young fir tree appeared, which the missionary declared was the tree of life and Christ. People began keeping fir trees in their house as a sign of life and Christ's love even through cold, hard winters.

The practice of giving gifts at Christmas time can be traced to a Roman custom called Strenae. During the Saturnalia, Roman citizens used to give good-luck gifts of fruits, pastries or gold to friends on New Year's Day. In medieval England on Dec. 26, priests opened the alms boxes and distributed the contents among the poor of the parish.

The origin of the Christmas card is disputed, but many believe that in 1842 William Egley, an English artist, designed a card and sent them to 100 of his closest friends. Louis Prang, a German emigrant printer, introduced the Christmas card to the United States in 1875.

The Christmas meal has been celebrated around the world since people started celebrating Christmas. In medieval England, the high point of the feast occurred when the chef and waiters paraded into the dining room carrying the boar's head with every-around them singing the carol, "The Boar's Head in Hand Bring I." Was-sail, an English Christmas drink, consisted of ale, roasted apples, eggs, sugar, nutmeg, cloves, and ginger.

Today, however, most American homes serve turkey and punch at Christmas dinner.

Treat Yourself To A "Triple Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616

705 N. 11th

Nautilus Tower

Aggieville

UNITED ARTISTS Theatres

*$3.50 ALL SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 P.M.

SETH CHILDS 6 776-9886

Seth Childs at Farm Bureau Rd.

Tuesday Bargain Day

All Seats All Day

All Movies

$3.00

Admission

Rocky V (PG-13)

7:05 & 9:35

Rescuers Down Under (G)

7:00 & 9:20

Jacob's Ladder (R)

7:05 & 9:30

Home Alone (PG)

7:10 & 9:25

Dances with Wolves (PG-13)

8:30 only

Sibling Rivalry (PG-13)

7:15 & 9:20

BOOKS & BRICKS CONTINUES

BUSHWACKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion

9 p.m.

Tuesday—Comedy starts after the game

Mon., Tues. & Wednesday

Jack Simmons

along w/Don Reese

18 to enter, 21 to drink

Call for Reservations

After 5 p.m.

Before 5 p.m.

539-4321

531 N. Manhattan

539-9727

Community Enrichment

Gymnastic Classes Start:

Fall Session III: November 28-January 31

Spring Session I: February 4-March 29

- classes year-round
- small classes
- continually purchasing new equipment
- qualified collegiate instructors

For Registration Information
call 532-5566

Division of Continuing Education

the
Loft
Women's Casualwear In Aggieville

SWEATER DRESSING

(I.B. DIFFUSION - RICHARD & CO.)

$15 OFF

The feeling is casual · The look is sophisticated

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO

539-1319

HRS

Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 8:00

Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30

Sun 1:00 - 5:00

Mortar Board Senior Honor Society
will award a $350 scholarship.

Applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Be of Junior or Senior requirements
- Have at least a 3.3 GPA
- Not be a member of Mortar Board or Blue Key

Applications can be picked up in
Union Activities Center.

Applications due back by 5 p.m. Dec. 3.

MISSOURI-KANSAS CITY

Tues. Nov. 27, 5 p.m.

Bramlage Coliseum

Tickets Available at the Door

* Students free with K-State ID

* Adults $3 * Children $1

GLASS IMPRESSIONS

LAST DAY!
10% OFF STOREWIDE
15% - 30% OFF SELECTED ITEMS

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
1128 Laramie Aggieville
Mon. - Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Students compete in All-University Intertube Water Polo Championships

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

If swimming and goofing off on an innertube were a large part of your childhood, K-State offers the chance to relive it in intramurals.

K-State's recreational services completed its version of the sport of

"We just try to get someone open in the middle and throw it as hard as you can at the goal."

—Andrew Broce
Acacia team member water polo Monday night at the natatorium at Ahearn Field House.

K-State adds one catch, which probably benefits college students who are probably not conditioned as well as professional water polo players, by using innertubes.

Innertube water polo is also one of the few intramurals that is co-rec. Although the sport is overshadowed by the major intramural activities and does not count for team points, competition for an all-University championship T-shirt is still intense.

The sport has been around for about 10 years and has gradually grown in popularity, according to Steve Martini, director of intramurals.

The championship game pitted the men of Acacia and the women of Delta Delta Delta against Tau Kappa Epsilon and Gamma Phi Beta. Acacia and the Tri Deltas, coming up through the loser's bracket, needed back-to-back wins over the Tekes and Gamma Phi to capture the championship.

Susan Weixelman, sophomore in premedicine, keeps the ball away from Ramiro Hernandez, senior in graphic design, during the intramural water polo championship.

Acacia and the Tri Deltas accepted the challenge head on and disposed of the Tekes and Gamma Phi in a nasty two-game slaughter.

They won the first game 8-5, holding off a fourth-quarter surge, and came out firing to build a large cushion and coast through the second half to claim the championship match 9-4.

The win fulfilled the goal of Acacia and the Tri Deltas after they finished second last year.

"It was especially important since we finished second last year. We had to win the T-shirt this year," said Andrew Broce, member of Acacia.

The matches differ from professional water polo, which has a distinct plan of attack. The main offensive goal here was to shoot as hard as possible at the goal, and the main defensive tactic is tipping the enemy's tube.

"We just try to get someone open in the middle and throw it as hard as you can at the goal," Broce said. "Some of us played last year, so the first couple of games were learning experiences. We had a couple of people that were all-state swimmers that helped a lot."

Although there may not be quite as big a challenge to stay afloat as there is in professional water polo, the toll of paddling, splashing and trying to tip the opponent's tube began to play an important role.

"The hardest thing probably is the endurance because your arms get really tired because you don't use the same motion as in other sports," Broce said. "Another major thing is staying on the tubes, especially if you're big."

"When you play two games in a row, it is really tiring. I can see why water polo players are considered to be in the best condition in the world, and we are even on tubes."

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Arizona, Syracuse move up

Victories in a pair of preseason tournaments proved beneficial to Arizona and Syracuse in the first regular season Associated Press college basketball poll released Monday.

Arizona, ranked No. 3 in the preseason poll, beat No. 2 Arkansas for the title in the Big Apple NIT and took over the runnerup spot from the Razorbacks behind UNLV in the poll.

Despite the loss, Arkansas slipped only to No. 3, perhaps because it defeated No. 15 Oklahoma and No. 6 Duke en route to the NIT championship game. With its losses, Oklahoma dropped three notches to No. 18 and Duke two places to No. 8.

Syracuse topped Indiana for the Maui championship and moved from No. 13 in the preseason poll to No. 7 this week.

Basketball teams set for battles

PROBABLE STARTERS

vs.
Florida
A&M

Keith
Amerson
6-3 Sr. F
15.0 ppg
9.0 rpg

Wylie
Howard
6-8 Jr. F
12.0 ppg
9.0 rpg

John
Rettiger
6-10 Jr. C
3.0 ppg
5.0 rpg

Jeff
Wires
6-0 Sr. G
11.0 ppg
4.8 rpg

Jean
Derouillere
6-5 Sr. G
17.0 ppg
9.0 rpg

'Cats face Florida A&M

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

There were not any Gatorade showers or cutting down of the nets following Dana Altman's debut as K-State head coach Saturday.

In fact, a sigh of relief was common among Wildcat players after their 61-54 win over Akron.

"We dodged a bullet for sure," senior forward Keith Amerson said. "It was an ugly win."

K-State can enhance its appearance with a win tonight against Florida A & M. The Rattlers, 1-0, arrived in Manhattan late Monday.

Tip-off for tonight's game is 7:45 p.m. at Bramlage Coliseum. It will follow the K-State Lady Cats' 5 p.m. matchup with the University of Missouri-Kansas City.

The 'Cats performance Saturday, especially against Akron's extended zone defense, concerned Altman. K-State shot 39 percent from the field, including 5-of-17 from 3-point range.

"We didn't see a zone in our two exhibition games, and that hurt us," Altman said. "It really gave us fits."

The cold-shooting bug bit senior guard Jean Derouillere. Derouillere missed his first 10 shots before scoring 17 second-half points to lead the 'Cats.

"It's really hard to play poorly early in the game and then pick it up," Derouillere said. "I let my shooting affect the rest of my play."

Akron, playing without 3-point specialist Mark Alberts, who suffered a season-ending leg injury last week, ran the 45-second shot clock down on most of its possessions. The style prevented the 'Cats from unleashing their fast break.

"It wasn't really throwing us out of sync," Amerson said. "But we weren't doing what we planned."

A return to the up-tempo style may be in order tonight. Florida A & M used its transition game effectively in a 96-83 win over Bethune-Cookman on Friday.

"They're a very athletic team," Altman said. "I don't know how patient they'll try to be. But they showed they aren't afraid to run in

■ See GAME, Page 12

PROBABLE STARTERS

vs.
Univ. of Missouri
Kansas City

Diana
Miller
5-10 Sr. F
15.5 ppg
7.0 rpg

Leah
Honeycutt
5-9 So. F
2.0 ppg
7.5 rpg

Kristie
Bahner
5-11 Sr. C
16.0 ppg
10.5 rpg

Nadira
Hazim
5-7 Sr. G
14.5 ppg
2.5 rpg

Mary Jo
Miller
5-5 Jr. G
6.0 ppg
2.5 rpg

Lack of offensive discipline has Yow upset, embarrassed

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

Ugly.

That was one of the few words Lady Cat coach Susan Yow didn't use in describing her team's offensive effort in a 68-61 loss to Clemson on Sunday afternoon in Bramlage Coliseum.

But she sure used every synonym for it that is in Roget's Thesaurus.

And, in the same breath, she promised it would be a good while before she'd have to use such words again. She made the promise in a way that could best be termed a threat to some of her players who might be feeling a bit too comfortable in their old ways of doing things.

"Personally, I'm embarrassed by how we played," Yow said Monday before practice. "We just had a poor, poor, poor offensive performance. We never ran our offense. We just never ran it."

Yow said her emphasis in Monday's practice would be — guess where — at the offensive end of the floor. Going into tonight's 5 p.m. contest with the University of Missouri-Kansas City, she said that the focus was necessary.

"We'll have a total emphasis on our offensive game for a few days," she said. "I was a lot more disappointed with what I saw on the film after the game than I was as I watched it live. And after our players see the tape — and they will see it — they'll be embarrassed."

Yow said she could have counted on both hands the number of times the Lady Cats executed within their new offensive system during the entire contest. Hurried shots and lack of discipline were the rule rather than the necessary exception.

"There was a lot of one-on-one," she said. "There was no semblance of team basketball whatsoever. We'll never be able to compete effectively with teams having as much talent individually as we have if we don't play together, as a team."

Without naming names, Yow also promised that if some of her starters didn't begin showing discipline and playing within the team's new system, youth will be served.

"We don't even want to win games like that and be content as a staff," she said. "We want to be a fine-looking basketball team. It was just a sad effort."

"We don't want to — and won't — go through a whole season looking like that. You don't wait for someone else to do it. You do it yourself, within the offense. I'm not going to have another game like that. If we have to sit some of our older players down and put in the underclassmen so they can learn our system the right way, we'll do it."

Yow was careful not to blame former Coach Matilda Mossman, who resigned early last season, for the team's lack of discipline. And though not naming former interim coach Gaye Griffin directly, she did say that the team looked particularly ragged on tapes taken of games after Jan. 1 of this year.

"This team lacks discipline, and that's not something new," she said. "And that's not Coach Mossman's fault. We saw it on tape before we even started practices."

Because of the individual talents of her senior starters — Nadira Hazim, Diana Miller and Kristie Bahner — Yow has kept the offensive system fairly uncomplicated.

"Our offensive system is very simplistic, and it needs to be so individual talent can be exposed," she said. "And it will work if we give it a chance."

"The Kansas State Lady Cats are just not a very talented team at this time. We've got some talented individuals, but we're not a talented team."

Whoa, coach, let's not get totally out of control here. There must have been something good coming out of the first two games, in which K-State split with a pair of non-conference foes.

Yow pointed to a couple rays of hope.

■ See EFFORT, Page 12

Humble Snyder honored

Scott
Paske

SPORTS REPORTER

He won't jump up and down and yell about it. He'll say there's more he could have done, and he'll say there's more to be done. He'll shift what credit there is to his players.

All of this is true. But Bill Snyder deserved the honor of Big Eight Coach of the Year, which was given to him last week among other postseason awards for the 1990 season.

Snyder received 10½ out of 15 first-place votes in a poll of conference writers to outdistance Colorado's Bill McCartney and KU's Glen Mason. Not since Jim Dickey led the Wildcats to the Independence Bowl in 1982 has a K-State coach received the award.

Good arguments could be made for the runners-up. McCartney's team is four quarters away from a national championship, and his gutsy move to turn the Buffaloes into a more balanced offensive team has paid big dividends.

Still, Colorado has the personnel to succeed at a higher level. After the Buffs routed K-State 64-3 in the season finale, Snyder suggested Colorado try the NFL.

They could probably do it. But the Buffs are currently 10-1-1 at the major college level, and McCartney's roster was his downfall in not winning the award. Colorado should be 12-0.

Such problems. Mason, who finished third in the balloting, may have received his lone first-place vote out of sympathy. Kansas was

■ See COLUMN, Page 12

Shelter to help homeless Christmas meal, gifts planned for holidays

By Liz Anne McElhaney
Collegian Reporter

The homeless have a home for the holidays in Manhattan.

Guests of the Manhattan Emergency Shelter and recent past guests are invited to a Christmas Dinner, said Kathy Rankin, executive director of the shelter.

"We try very hard to make it look like a home with decorations," Rankin said.

She said the shelter provided a meal for Thanksgiving. For Christmas, a meal and one or two gifts will be given to guests.

"We accept food donations during the holidays from anyone willing to help us," Rankin said.

Basic gifts such as gloves, hats, socks and small toys are also accepted, she said.

Rankin said the shelter usually houses 15 to 18 people a night. Within the past few months, 20 to 26 people have been housed at the shelter. Rankin said she could not pinpoint a reason for the increase.

She said situational problems usually lead to homelessness rather than lack of ability or skills.

"Many things cause homelessness — not just one," Rankin said.

Rankin said 60 to 90 percent of the income of low-income people goes to basic living costs. A high utility bill or an unexpected illness may cause the need for emergency shelter.

Seventy to 75 percent of the people housed at the shelter are from the Manhattan area. Rankin said that a person visiting the shelter averages about 10 nights and that a family averages three to six weeks.

A program is set up within the shelter where volunteers provide a main dish for shelter guests on the same date every month, Rankin said. Volunteers include churches, individuals and other Manhattan groups.

Rankin said one-third to one-half of the donated food comes from the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

"We are here to help agencies who specialize in helping the poor in Manhattan and Riley County," said Atina Hanna, executive director of the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

"This is just a Band-Aid to allow these agencies to maintain their purpose," she said. "The real heroes in social service are the emergency shelter and the people wanting to make a difference in the lives of families with limited resources."

The organization acts as a food bank all year, Hanna said. Food received from drives, individuals, Dillon's and Eastside and Westside Markets is distributed to 45 social-service agencies in Manhattan and Riley County, she said.

The outreach of the community provides more food during the holiday season, Hanna said. During 1990, close to 2,000 people in Manhattan needed food assistance.

Santa Claus originates from traditions, legends

By Stacey Harbison
Collegian Reporter

Santa Claus is an American symbol of Christmas.

In the United States, Santa developed from many traditions, poems, songs, cartoons and stories.

The traditional Santa of today is a jolly, plump fellow with a white beard and a ruddy complexion. He wears a red ermine suit and an elf-like cap. He rides through the night on a sleigh pulled by eight reindeer to bring gifts to children on Christmas Eve.

He is also said to be more generous with children who are well-behaved.

Today's Santa was influenced by many European traditions brought to the United States by early immigrants.

Santa originated from the bishop of Myra in Asia Minor during the fourth century. Nicholas, hero of the people, was later recognized as a saint by the Eastern Catholic Church.

Catholics believe that a saint is someone who has led such a holy life that after death the person can still help people on earth.

The Dutch settlers of New Amsterdam, today known as New York, first introduced Santa Claus through St. Nicholas.

St. Nicholas Day was celebrated on Dec. 6, the anniversary of his death. The children of the Dutch settlers spread out a white sheet, on which St. Nicholas scattered candies and distributed gifts. Singing and dancing are also part of the celebrations.

The bishop is thought to come by night, descend chimneys and leave gifts, just like Santa Claus is believed to do.

His reputation for kindness and generosity became the source of many legends still circulating today.

One legend is he threw three bags of gold through the window of a poor merchant for his three daughters' dowries, saving them from shame and slavery. One bag is said to have fallen into a stocking hung by the window to dry. This resulted in the custom of hanging stockings for Santa Claus to fill with candy.

Another legend says St. Nicholas brought three students back to life after they had been butchered by an evil innkeeper.

These legends and many more gave rise to St. Nicholas' being called a guardian of young children and students.

St. Nicholas Day also featured an evil character called Black Peter. Black Peter had horns, a soot-covered face, fiery red eyes and a long, red tongue. He is said to have marched around rooms carrying birch rods to influence the children to behave.

The celebration of gift-giving moved from St. Nicholas Day to New Year's Eve and then to Christmas.

When the British seized New Amsterdam and renamed it New York, they told the children that it was Father Christmas, not St. Nicholas, who brought gifts. They also influenced changing the celebration to Christmas from St. Nicholas Day.

The British and Dutch eventually mixed and the name Santa Claus emerged.

The association of reindeer and the North Pole suggests Scandinavian or Norse traditions.

Topeka reserve unit collects toys for needy area children

By Jan Puls
Staff Reporter

Members of the Marine Reserve Corps have been filling the Christmas wish lists of underprivileged children for more than 40 years through the Toys for Tots program, said Capt. Ray Lummus of the Topeka Marine Reserve Corps.

Marine Reservists nationwide collect toys and supply them to local service organizations for distribution to needy children.

Last year, 6,833 Topeka-area children received toys through Toys for Tots, Lummus said. This Christmas, the Topeka unit hopes to collect more than 8,000 toys.

The tradition behind Toys for Tots and a sense of community spirit inspire many Reservists to help with the program, Lummus said.

"In the Marine Corps, tradition means a lot," he said. "They are all members of the community, and this is their way of giving something back."

The Topeka unit collects toys from 20 barrels at local businesses twice a week, said Sgt. Thomas Imus, Toys for Tots coordinator for the unit. Volunteers spend most of a day picking up the toys.

The Reservists don't distribute the toys directly to the children. The donated toys are distributed by 28 local service agencies, including the Salvation Army, Topeka Rescue Mission and North Topeka Headstart.

"In most cases, agencies give toys to parents or the toys are given by Santa at parties," Lummus said. "The kids don't really know where the toys come from, and I guess it really doesn't matter."

The Reservists officially kicked off events for the season early in November, but they receive toys all year long for the program, Imus said.

"In a lot of cases, we get bikes when people clean out their garages over the summer and they are still thinking about the program," he said.

Most people give new toys, Imus said. The barrels are usually filled with traditional toys such as dolls and trains.

Lummus said there seems to be an increased interest in donating to Toys for Tots this year because of the military activity in the Middle East with Operation Desert Shield.

The benefits of Toys for Tots are unfortunately limited to the communities with a local Marine Reserve unit, Lummus said. Collecting toys locally becomes a full-time job for the Topeka unit.

"We've had calls from people as far as Colorado interested in helping with the program," Lummus said. "I wish we could expand, but we just can't do it."

The Abate Motorcycle Club from Topeka will support Toys for Tots with its annual motorcycle ride and party Nov. 25. The club is expected to donate 2,000 toys this year.

Foreign countries celebrate Christmas with own versions of St. Nicholas tradition

By Stacey Harbison
Collegian Reporter

Santa Claus isn't the only gift-bringer in the winter months.

In other countries, Santa Claus is known as Father Christmas, Grandfather Frost, Saint Nicholas, Three Wise Men and others. The gift-giving celebrations take place on dates other than Dec. 25.

Canadians call the traditional gift-bringer Pere Noel, also known as Father Christmas. Many still reserve New Year's Day for gift-giving, but most make Christmas the most important day for gifts.

Their Christmas is traditionally religious. The nativity scene is popular in Catholic homes. They attend midnight mass on Christmas Eve, followed by a family feast. Stockings, Christmas trees, mistletoe, plum pudding and caroling also characterize the Canadian Christmas.

In Europe, owners of large estates gave gifts to their servants and farm workers on Dec. 21, which is the winter solstice — the longest night of the year.

Gift-giving is now celebrated on the eve of St. Nicholas Day. The bishop visits houses and leaves gifts in children's shoes and stockings left by the chimney. The children often leave hay or other food for the white horse that the bishop is said to ride.

The original St. Nicholas in Holland was stern and left a whip for naughty children. He wore a bishop's robes and rode on a horse.

In Germany, the Christ child brings presents on Christmas Eve. Children put out bread baskets and plates to be filled with nuts, cookies and candies. A bundle of straw is left for the white donkey the Christ child rides.

The presents he brings are called Christ bundles, and they contain food, caps, scarves, mittens, dolls and small toys. Sometimes a birch rod is tied to the bundles to remind the children to be good.

Another name for the Christ child is Claus. ■ See CLAUS, Page 12

JOBS

Apply now for spring semester COLLEGIAN news and advertising positions.
Students in any major are welcome to apply.

News Staff

Assistant Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Campus Editor
City/Government Editor
Editorial Page Editor
Feature Writers
Managing Editor
News Editor

Photography Editor
Sports Editor
Sports Reporters
Staff Reporters
Columnists
Cartoonists
Reviewers
Copy Editors

Advertising Staff

Assistant Ad Manager
Graphic Artist
Sales Representatives

Campus/Tearsheet Rep.
Photographer
Creative Director

Obtain an application and job descriptions in Kedzie 103.

Application Deadline:

5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 28, in Kedzie 103

Sign up for interview when you return application.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

SPRING ENROLLMENT PROBLEMS?

Independent Study may help you:

- take a course not offered on campus in a particular semester
- complete degree requirements or make up prerequisites
- earn academic credit without restrictions on class time and place

Independent Study offers you:

TIME—You have nine months to complete an Independent Study Course.

TRANSFERABILITY—Credit will transfer to Kansas State University. Before enrolling, check with your advisor to make sure the course applies toward degree requirements.

FLEXIBILITY—Work at your own pace in your own space.

QUALITY INSTRUCTORS—Most Independent Study instructors are faculty members at the Kansas Regents universities.

CHOICE—more than 100 college courses including:

Algebra	Introduction to Marriage & Family	Principles of Nutrition and Health
Calculus I	Introduction to U.S. Politics	Psych. and Ed. of Excep. Children
Composition	Kansas Literature	Supervisory Management
Composition and Literature	Managerial Accounting I	Teaching Reading in the Content Areas
Financial Accounting I	Modern Elementary Math	Technical Writing
General Psychology	Principles of Biology
History of Kansas	Principles of Human Learning
Human Physiology
Introduction to Fiction

Independent Study is a unit of the University of Kansas Division of Continuing Education and is mandated by the Kansas Board of Regents to serve the correspondence study needs of all Kansans. All courses are similar to those taught in residence.

For more information or to request a course catalog, call toll free:
1-800-532-6772.

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1" Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT (913) 776-1750

Kinko's Means Business So Many Convenient Ways

- Full-Serve Copying
- Passport Photos
- Open 24 Hours, 7 Days a Week
- Specialty Papers
- Collating and Binding
- Oversize Copies
- Wedding Invitations
- Business Cards
- Self-Serve Copying
- Mailing Services
- Fax Service
- Cutting, Padding, Folding
- Office Supplies
- Laminating
- Resumes
- Stationery & Office Supplies

1329 Anderson
537-7340

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Lattes

$1.31

Valid with this coupon. Today only.
Exp. 11/27/90

Christmas is right around the corner
And so is second semester!

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

Has units available for you and your friends
for the spring 1991 semester.

Come See Them Today

776-5599

DAR VEIS CORP. DVC REAL ESTATE

2001 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66507
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-3885

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

QUICK LITE

BATTERIES

Free Estimates

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.00

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.00

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS
BEADS, BELLS,
RINGS, CRYSTALS,
GEMSTONES &
JEWELRY OUT THE
YING-YANG

1124 Moro Aggieville Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

Crum's

beauty college

776-4694

1/3 off
All Perms
&
Relaxers

Offer expires 12/19/90
w/this ad

512 Poyntz Avenue
Manhattan, Kansas
66502

On the third day of Christmas,
My true love gave to me:

3 French Vanilla
servings (for the price of 2) small-medium-large

at

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

Waffle cones, toppings—reg. price
One special per customer/ per visit.
Offer expires 12/31/90

705 N. 11
Nautilus Towers—Aggieville

537-1616

Plastics and Aluminum have changed the world.
But, it hasn't changed Christmas.

Kansas Grown Fresh cut trees have arrived.
Choose yours while selection is at its best.

Christmas at

DALE'S
GARDEN CENTER

1105 Waters

539-4751

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

3rd Day—Buy any single meat 6", get 16 oz. drink & chips or cookie. All for only $3 plus tax.

Offer good Nov. 27 & Nov. 28
Must present ad—not good in combination with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan

537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

MERRY
CHRISTMAS
MAN!

T-SHIRTS
POSTERS
BUTTONS
DOLLS
KEY RINGS
1991 CALENDARS

COUPON

25% OFF ALL
THE SIMPSON'S PRODUCTS
SALE ENDS DEC. 9, 1990
MAKE IT A SIMPSON'S CHRISTMAS
COUPON

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville 538-7554

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Sun. 12:00-3:00 p.m.

Keep It Simple Santa KISS?

Men's
Selected Suits Reg. to 475
Hart, Dair, Gordon Thomas

Now
216-380

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

All Topcoats & Raincoats

values to 295

Now 20% off

Selected Shirts & Slacks

values to 150

Now 20% off

Women's

Early Fall Sportswear, Dresses & Suits — Now up to 50% off

BIS • NAUTICA • KASPER & More

We Make Your Shopping Fun & Easy!

• FREE GIFT WRAP WITH GREAT PAPER

• NO HASSLE EXCHANGE
OR REFUNDS W/RECEIPT

• GIFT CERTIFICATES

• EXTENDED HOLIDAY HOURS

Our KISS? Gift Certificate for You.
on your purchase

$20 OFF of $100 more

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Expires 12/10/90

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10-6, Thurs. 10-8, Sun. 1-5

Copy center to benefit students

Profits directed towards new services, machinery, equipment

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

K-State students and instructors always need to make copies of class notes, workbooks, resumes and other materials.

The copy center in the K-State Union is a non-profit organization that works for the students.

Its profits are put back into new equipment and other needed items, said Anna Buckland, supervisor of the K-State Union Copy Center.

Kinko's copy business is about 60 percent K-State generated and 40 percent commercial use, said Kim Brandon, manager of Kinko's.

Professor publishing packets are a big part of Kinko's business, Brandon said.

"The self-serve copiers add a lot with students copying notes and projects," Brandon said.

At the Union Copy Center, Buckland said, pamphlets, resumes, and blueprints for the architecture students are in demand.

Both copy centers offer discounts in various forms to the K-State faculty.

Kinko's gives instructors and graduate teacher assistants a 10-percent faculty discount that can be used at all times for personal or school use, Brandon said.

Special rates are run before semester deadlines at Kinko's. These discounts allow faculty to receive cheaper copies if the material is given to Kinko's by the deadlines.

Brandon said the rates are better for instructors who meet earlier deadlines than for those who are later.

The Union Copy Center also gives special discounts to faculty.

"Each faculty or staff member receives a 10-percent discount," Buckland said.

There are also occasional mailer discounts of 15 percent (an increase of 5 percent) that can be used at anytime, Buckland said.

Instructors do not directly profit from having their copying done at either location.

"Well, in a sense they do (make a profit), but they are benefits to the students," Buckland said.

Instructors using Kinko's do not make money from the copying business that they do there, Brandon said.

Kinko's and the Union Copy Center also provide services other than copying.

The Union Copy Center offers use of typewriters free to students, Buckland said.

Kinko's offers full-service or self-service Macintosh at $8 an hour, and they have a Fax service, Brandon said.

K-State singer to perform gospel, opera selections

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

Musical eclecticism does not scare Jonathan Walls.

Walls, a baritone vocalist, said he isn't nervous about performing two thematically different types of music in his first solo performance.

Walls, a senior in music education, will perform both operatic and gospel styles at 8 p.m. tonight in All Faiths Chapel as part of the Student Recital Series. He will be accompanied by pianist Kathy Wogan, senior in music education.

Walls will perform various Classical pieces, including George Frederic Handel's "Finche lo strale," Johannes Brahms' "Wie Melodien zieht es mir" and "Sonntag," Robert Schumann's "Mein Schöner Stern," Ernest Chaus-son's "Le Charme," Paul Vidal's "Le Fidele Coeur" and Carlisle Floyd's "Pilgrimage."

Walls will also perform Harry Burleigh's gospel songs "Go Down Moses," "Deep River" and "Every Time I Feel De' Spirit."

The Classical pieces are examples of art songs. Art songs are intended to be performed exactly as the composer wrote them. Popular songs, however, include any work that can be improvised or arranged differently from the original work. Gospel music is an example of popular song.

Walls' vocal coach, Jennifer Edwards, assistant instructor of music, said Walls has had the opportunity to learn two different styles of music.

"Singing gospel is almost second nature for Jonathan," she said.

"What we teach him in the music department is to use his voice in the traditional way. Learning the operatic kind of music isn't hard if you have been exposed to it."

Walls said he chose Burleigh as a composer because he wrote a lot of spiritual music.

"Most all gospel is rooted from spiritual music," Walls said.

Walls is also involved with the United Black Voices, a gospel group that performs in various churches across the state.

"All the Big Eight schools have a version of the organization," Walls said. "In the four years I have been with the United Black Voices, we have traveled to Kansas City, Wichita, Topeka and a lot of other churches all over the state."

Remember
People's Grocery Co-Op
HOLIDAY OPEN
HOUSE

Friday, Nov. 30
Saturday, Dec. 1
SUNDAY, Dec. 2nd
(Noon 'til 5 p.m.)

811 Colorado-10:30 Tues.-Fri.-Sat. 9-5
Closed Mon.

ORNAMENT COLLECTORS

Riley County Historical Society is offering its first limited edition ornament, a walnut woodcut of a pioneer log cabin in City Park. Sold only at the Museum gift shop at 2309 Claflin for $7.50.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00130	01300	02300	03300	04300	05300	06300	07300	08300	09300	10300	11300	12300	13300	14300	15300	16300	17300	18300	19300	20300	21300	22300	23300	24300	25300	26300	27300	28300	29300	30300	31300	32300	33300	34300	35300	36300	37300	38300	39300	40300	41300	42300	43300	44300	45300	46300	47300	48300	49300	50300	51300	52300	53300	54300	55300	56300	57300	58300	59300	60300	61300	62300	63300	64300	65300	66300	67300	68300	69300	70300	71300	72300	73300	74300	75300	76300	77300	78300	79300	80300	81300	82300	83300	84300	85300	86300	87300	88300	89300	90300	91300	92300	93300	94300	95300	96300	97300	98300	99300
00130	01300	02300	03300	04300	05300	06300	07300	08300	09300	10300	11300	12300	13300	14300	15300	16300	17300	18300	19300	20300	21300	22300	23300	24300	25300	26300	27300	28300	29300	30300	31300	32300	33300	34300	35300	36300	37300	38300	39300	40300	41300	42300	43300	44300	45300	46300	47300	48300	49300	50300	51300	52300	53300	54300	55300	56300	57300	58300	59300	60300	61300	62300	63300	64300	65300	66300	67300	68300	69300	70300	71300	72300	73300	74300	75300	76300	77300	78300	79300	80300	81300	82300	83300	84300	85300	86300	87300	88300	89300	90300	91300	92300	93300	94300	95300	96300	97300	98300	99300

K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through
Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

Pre-Finals Stress?

Champale Wine Coolers $2.99 4 pk.
$10 Case

Keystone Suitcases

Reg. & Light

$5.99

We accept:

VISA MasterCard

Gasoline Alley Conoco

Hop-n-Skip

We sell:
Regular & Unleaded

Collegian

Auto Directory

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Headlining
Tonneau Covers
Boat Covers
Window Tinting
Convertible Tops
Vinyl Tops
Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery
201 Sarber Lane
(behind Wal-Mart)
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Alan Clark BODY SHOP INC.

COMPLETE BODY REPAIR SINCE 1967

ESTIMATES 776-5333

INSURANCE CLAIMS WELCOME 2160 Pillsbury Dr. • Manhattan

Oppy's

Since 1953

"Your Friendly Neighborhood Amoco"
WE HAVE EXPANDED
to Westside Amoco

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 5:30 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Sun. 7 a.m. to 10 p.m.

- Allen Computer Diagnostic Tune-ups
- Domestic & Foreign Car Repair
- Complete Brake Service
- Auto Air Conditioning
- Tire Repair
- Electronic Spin Balancing
- Interstate Battery Dealer
- Pick up and delivery service

Oppy's Amoco
3rd & Ft. Riley Blvd.
776-9940

Westside Amoco
3001 Anderson
539-4331

We Accept:

TOYOTA

TRIUMPH

VOLVO

AUDI

COMPLETE LINE
OF FOREIGN PARTS

IMPORT CAR
PARTS & SERVICE

EXPERT MECHANICS ON DUTY

Call 539-0577

315 S. 3rd

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri., Sat. 9-1

PORSCHE

MAZDA

TOYOTA

MG

JAGUAR

AC/DC ready to rock Bramlage

Aussie rock group displays classic form on tour, album

By Alan Wilds
Staff Reporter

If AC/DC has one thing, it is staying power.

As the Australian bare-bones hard-rock band prepares to take the stage 8 p.m., Dec. 9 in Bramlage Coliseum, their latest release from ATCO Records, "The Razor's Edge" has already attained the No. 3 spot on Billboard's top-10 album chart and has produced two hit singles, "Thunderstruck" and "Money Talks."

Kevin Dochtermann, director of concerts for Contemporary Productions, said Manhattan should expect nothing less than "another Motley Crue and Def Leppard-type show."

Dochtermann said the band's 1990 tour packs 11 semis carrying a huge stage complete with sound system, lighting and pyrotechnics.

AC/DC has been in the business a long time. After a three-year absence, they are still selling out arenas around the world with their rough-edged rock.

"The Razor's Edge," the band's 14th album, is definitely identifiable as AC/DC, and its sales demonstrate the band's mass appeal it has had since its first album, "High Voltage," released in October 1976.

Not much has changed since then, or from the January 1987 release, "Blow Up Your Video." AC/DC delivers 12 tracks on "The Razor's Edge," all of which have the unmistakable speedy lead guitar riffs of schoolboy Angus Young, backed by the simple but powerful beat that has become an AC/DC trademark.

It seems that vocalist Brian Johnson's piercing voice has started to deteriorate. His voice on "The Razor's Edge" definitely sounds raspy and forced when compared to past AC/DC headbangers such as "Back In Black," released in 1980 and "Flick Of The Switch," released in 1983.

The jobs of rhythm guitarist Malcolm Young and bassist Cliff William remain the same. Nothing exciting, just power chords and thumping bass lines. The new circuit in AC/DC's power supply is drummer Chris Slade, formerly of The Firm, who replaces Simon Wright.

AC/DC fans should be content with "The Razor's Edge." The two releases are only hints of what the album could become. Other singles such as "Are You Ready?" and "Shot of Love" could fare well on top-40 charts and perhaps make "The Razor's Edge" the band's biggest album to date as far as airplay goes.

If AC/DC is seeking more radio exposure, they are doing it in their own way. Their music and lyrics are still the renegade, garage-band style AC/DC defines themselves as being. Songs like "Got You By The Balls" and "Mistress For Christmas" are evidence AC/DC has no intent of softening up just make the top 40.

As AC/DC makes its rounds on "The Razor's Edge" tour, fans should expect nothing less than what the band has presented in the past. No snobby attitudes, no media spotlighting, just all-out rock 'n' roll down to the last detail such as the traditional mooning of the audience by Young.

Dochtermann said the AC/DC show will be something new for the Manhattan area, and he said he hopes the concert will have the community's support.

"This is the first time I have tried a straight-ahead rock 'n' roll band in Manhattan," he said. "Motley Crue and Def Leppard are rock 'n' roll, but they also appeal to a crossover audience."

Dochtermann said ticket sales, which have reached 5,000 out of about 10,000 seats available, are running behind those of the Motley Crue show last March.

Tickets for AC/DC are on sale for $18 at the Bramlage box office.

By Stacy Lentz
Collegian Reviewer

Trio to play Thursday

The sounds of Czechoslovakia will fill the air in the All Faiths Chapel 8 p.m. Thursday. That's right — Czechoslovakia.

The Kansas Trio, comprised of three music department faculty members, will present a concert devoted entirely to the music of the Eastern European nation in the group's first concert of the year. The event is free to the public.

The trio consists of violinist Cora Cooper, instructor of music; cellist

David Littrell, assistant professor of music; and pianist Robert Edwards, professor of music.

The addition of Cooper gives the group a new look.

"We have been performing as the Kansas Trio for the last four years, but Cora Cooper recently joined the staff of the music department — and the trio," Littrell said. "This will be our first concert with her on the violin."

Cooper, a new violin instructor at K-State, recently transferred from Florida State University. She was a violin instructor there while working on her doctorate in music.

The group's experience and hours of rehearsal should combine for quite a performance.

"I've been a member of a trio group before and have done lots of chamber music," Cooper said. "We also rehearse about two times a week, and I'm really looking forward to our first concert."

The program features compositions by some of the finest Czechoslovakian composers — Bohuslav Martinu, Leos Janacek and Antonin Dvorak.

KSU BAKERY SCIENCE CLUB

Christmas Fruitcake
& Coffeecake Sale
Place orders by calling
539-9412 before Nov. 28
(please leave message on answering machine) Pickup orders on Dec. 5, 3-5 p.m., Shellenberger 105!

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members used the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $10.00 ($10.50 for Rush Service) - to: HARPER ASSOCIATES, P.O. Box 103, Dept. IR, Hayden, ID 83835. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do. © 1990

Perspectives

Optical Dispensary & Lab

Lenses and Frames Complete

(Includes scratch resistant coating, photo gray & UV protection)

Thru Dec. 24

Presents

Single-Vision

$79.00

People

Bifocals

$109.00

Pleasing

No-Line Progressive

$149.00

Prices

300 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan 539-5105

Open Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00; Thursday till 8:00; Sat. 9:30-4:30

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY

(C)

CONGRATULATIONS!

Chi Omega West Hall
Fiji's Goodnow Hall
Alpha of Clovia

for having the highest percentage of participation in the Fall 1990
Bloodmobile

Thanks to all the donors & volunteers who made the KSU
Bloodmobile possible.

KSU Bloodmobile

Chaired by Circle K International

Best Prices with Local Support

Connecting Point offers IBM® and Apple® computers at below Bookstore prices - with the support you deserve.
Compare both name brands. Talk to the computer professionals.

IBM® PS/2® Model 25
PS/2 in full color with 640 by 480 dot resolution. Includes 2 720K drives, 640K memory, keyboard, mouse & DOS 4.0. $1187

IBM® PS/2® Model 55SX
For the real power user, this 16MHz PS/2 has 2Mb memory, a 30Mb hard drive, VGA color screen, Windows 3.0, SoftType, DOS 4.0, Word, and more. $2349.

Macintosh® Classic®
The power to be your best at a price you can afford. The Classic has a 3.5" SuperDrive™, a SCSI port, 40Mb hard drive, and Microsoft Works. $1449.

Macintosh® IIx®
Apple's newest power computer uses the fast 68030 processor, has 2Mb of memory, and comes equipped with a 40Mb drive. $2779. monitor not included

Connecting Point
COMPUTER CENTERS

1115 Westloop • 539-0801

Authorized Dealer

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation. Apple, the Apple logo, Macintosh, Macintosh Classic, and Macintosh IIx are registered trademarks of Apple, Inc.

Prices may change. Fulltime students, faculty & staff only.

* Macintosh Classic and Macintosh IIx only

We Take Tips!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

532-6556

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex or ancestry.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

BEST FUNDRAISER on campus! Looking for a fraternity, sorority or student organization that would like to earn $500 to $1,000 dollars for a one week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hard working. Call Jeanie or Ashley, 1-800-592-2121.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations. P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

Hardee's

DELIVERS

537-2526

(Continued on page 11)

We at DB92 always want to know what type of music you, the Kansas State Community, would like to hear. KSDB plays specialty music programs but the majority is NEW ALBUM ROCK. Along with NEW ALBUM ROCK we have listed eight other possible formats. Check the format that best fits your listening needs. If other give examples.

NEW ALBUM ROCK EXAMPLES—REM, RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS, PIXIES, SMITHERENS, SONIC YOUTH, PUBLIC IMAGE LTD (PIL), GUADALCANAL DIARY AND JAMES ADDICTION.

CLASSIC ROCK-N-ROLL EXAMPLES—AEROSMITH, BOSTON, BAD COMPANY, BEATLES, DOORS, EAGLES, JIMI HENDRIX, LED ZEPPELIN, STEPPENWOLF, ROLLING STONES, VAN HALEN AND ZZ TOP.

CLASSIC GOLD EXAMPLES—CHUCK BERRY, JERRY LEE LEWIS, ELVIS, BEACH BOYS, SUPREMES, MARTHA AND THE VANDELLAS, FOUR TOPS, FRANKIE VALLI, BIG BOPPER, RICHIE VALENS, AND BUDDY HOLLY.

HEAVY METAL EXAMPLES—METALLICA, GUNS-N-ROSES, AC/DC, KISS, SLAUGHTER, DAMN YANKEES, FAITH NO MORE, THE CULT, MEGADEATH, EXTREME, MOTLEY CRUE, KIX, GREAT WHITE, WHITE SNAKE, IRON MAIDEN, GIANT, BADLANDS, AND SCORPIONS.

UNBORN CONTEMPORARY EXAMPLES—MORRIS DAY, L.L. KOOL J, PUBLIC ENEMY, VANILLA ICE, DEF CON 4, VICIOUS BEAT POSSE, LUTHER VANDROSS, THE THROW DOWN TWINS, KOOL MOE DEE, EAZY E, SKINNY BOYS, ETTA JAMES, AND MARY DAVID.

NEW AGE EXAMPLES—PAUL McCANDLESS, WILLIAM ACKERMAN, SCOTT COSSU, MONTREUX, ENYA, PAUL WINTER CONSORT, MICHAEL HEDGES, NIGHTNOISE, MICHAEL MANRING, AND PHILLIP AABERG.

JAZZ EXAMPLES—WYNTON MARSALIS, MICHAEL HEDGES, MILES DAVIS, ITCHY FINGERS, HERB ALPERT, HIRAM BULLOCK, STANLEY CLARKE, THE HOLLIDAY BROTHERS, B.B. KING, BRANFORD AND JANE HARVEY.

COUNTRY EXAMPLES—GEORGE STRAIT, HANK WILLIAMS JR., ALABAMA, OAKRIDGE BOYS, STADLER BROTHERS, RANDY TRAVIS, GARTH BROOKS, CLINT BLACK, TAMMY WYNETTE, GEORGE JONES, THE JUDDS AND GLENN CAMPBELL.

TOP 40 EXAMPLES—MADONNA, PAULA ABDUL, GEORGE MICHAEL, WILSON PHILLIPS, M.C. HAMMER, MICHAEL JACKSON, JANET JACKSON, PHIL COLLINS, TAYLOR DAYNE, NEW KIDS AND WHITNEY HOUSTON.

OTHER

1) Do you have a favorite radio station in Manhattan?

YES NO

If yes which one? (CALL LETTERS)

Do you have a second favorite?

2) In Manhattan, how many hours a day do you listen to the radio?

0 1-2 2-3 3-4 5 or more

3) What hours of the day do you listen to the radio when in Manhattan?

6AM-10AM 10AM-3PM 3PM-7PM 7PM-12AM

12AM-6AM

4) Do you have a favorite radio in your home town?

YES NO

If yes which one? (CALL LETTERS)

5) At home, how many hours a day do you listen to the radio?

0 1-2 2-3 3-4 5 or more

6) What hours of the day do you listen to the radio at home?

6AM-10AM 10AM-3PM 3PM-7PM 7PM-12AM

12AM-6AM

8) Do you listen to DB92? YES NO

If yes, what shows do you listen to?

NEW ALBUM ROCK ROCK OF AGES JAM THE BOX

METAL HEAD REGAEE EXTRAVAGANZA JAZZ

CROSS POINT DR. DEMENTO INTO AFRICA

LEFTOVERS

9) In your living group or local residence which would you rather listen to?

RADIO MTV OWN MUSIC

AGE UP TO 18 19 20 21 22 23-24

25-34 35-49 50 AND UP

SEX FEMALE MALE

Check your current status.

HIGH SCHOOL KSU UNDERGRAD KSU GRAD

KSU FACULTY KSU STAFF NON KSU

TO VALIDATE THIS SURVEY WE NEED YOUR PHONE NUMBER AND SIGNATURE.

Signature

Phone Number

Drop survey off at one of the five locations on campus. Just look for the DB92 Logo:

•Willard
•Farrell
•Kedzie 104
•Cardwell
•McCain

or mail to Kedzie 104
care of DB92 survey.

Column

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6
put before a firing squad almost every week, losing to six teams that were nationally ranked during the season.

If teams were ranked based on moral victories, the Jayhawks might be playing in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day. Mason held KU together through it all and would definitely deserve the Big Eight's Mr. Congeniality award, if such an honor existed.

But even through the most objective eye, neither can touch what Snyder did at K-State in 1990.

Snyder would be the first to tell you that his program has not reached the top of the mountain. Five wins does not attract a national spotlight. But five wins turns a lot of heads in these parts.

Since Judy Garland clicked her heels in "The Wizard of Oz," the 'Cats have had only eight seasons with five or more wins. That's more than 50 years for the non-silverscreen types.

Needless to say, Saturdays in this Kansas town were a bit sweeter than usual this fall.

Listening to Snyder talk, you get the impression that if K-State beat Notre Dame 56-0 in the Orange Bowl, he'd find an aspect that the 'Cats could have performed better. The term commonly associated with that is perfectionist.

It describes Bill Snyder perfectly. He is the first to criticize and the first to compliment any and every fragment of his program. There were days he would come off K-State's practice field bubbling with excitement about his team. There were others when he wondered if the 'Cats could succeed against junior high teams.

Then, Saturday would come and the answer would be clear. To Western Illinois, New Mexico State, New Mexico, Oklahoma State and Iowa State, it was very clear.

But wins and losses aren't the backbone of what Snyder has constructed after two seasons in Manhattan. Quality student-athletes, improved facilities and an environment to succeed are the things he has attempted to showcase.

So far, it's shining through.

Game

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6
their opener."

Forward Kelvin Daniels led the Rattlers with 30 points and 12 rebounds in their opener. Florida A & M shot 57 percent from the field and outbounded Bethune-Cookman 49-29.

"I think they'll get out and run," Altman said. "It will be a good test for us."

Altman said that Saturday's game at nationally ranked Arkansas doesn't create a need for complete improvement tonight.

"We're just looking at it as progression that we have to make at this early point in the season," Altman said. "It's just another game to us."

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
vague.

Senators said they were wondering what will happen when the college receives the funds and who will be in charge of allocating it.

Heitschmidt said he had not seen no official breakdown of the funds.

When fee was first being discussed, Heitschmidt said he thought 50 percent of the funds was supposed to go to individual departments within the College of Engineering and the remaining 50 percent was under the control of the college dean. Tricia Thornton, arts and sciences senator, asked what would happen to undergraduate and graduate students who are not in the College of Engineering but take courses from the curriculum.

"It would be great if all I took were classes from the College of Arts and Sciences and it all worked out neatly, but that's just not the way it is," Thornton said.

Vagueness of the bill is a concern of Student Senate.

"The point is we just don't know," Heitschmidt said. "None of this is in black and white."

Another concern addressed is the difficulty Senate faces in informing all the engineering students of both sides of the issue and getting them out to vote in the course of a week.

Engineering senators said the word they were getting from engineering students was in favor of the proposed fee. At the same time they said they wondered if the students knew the ramifications of it.

"I do think the students' needs need to be met, I'm just not sure they are seeing the big picture," Heitschmidt said. "It seems to me they have been getting one side of the story for two years, and we have one week to try to present the other side."

"I'm not saying that this fee is not the answer. It may well be — but maybe it's not," Heitschmidt said. "There are so many things to look at, and this really has farther reaching repercussions."

Several senators discussed restricted fees in general and whether if this might start the ball rolling in other colleges. An all-University equipment fee was suggested as an alternative.

S&L

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Gray, former chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, said that his meetings with the five senators in April 1987, when they intervened for Keating, "capped years of private threats and public vilification designed not just to change particular decisions by the bank board but to render us unable to carry out our central responsibilities."

"No one in Washington with the slightest knowledge of this situation or the effect it would have on the way the regulators received and interpreted messages from senators and congressmen."

Gray is a crucial witness because of his House Banking Committee testimony a year ago that DeConcini offered a deal on Keating's behalf when he, Cranston, Glenn and McCain met with him on April 2, 1987. DeConcini has vigorously denied proposing a deal.

Earlier, an aide to DeConcini said her boss once asked her if there was a way to "bring heat" on Gray.

Effort

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

"I couldn't possibly go into a team meeting and complain about a lack of hustle and effort and not be totally slighting Kristie Bahner," Yow said of her senior center's effort against Clemson, which included a career-high 17 rebounds.

"She was obviously working very hard out there. You don't score like she did and hit the boards that hard without showing great effort."

Yow said her team's work on the defensive end — especially in a newly-installed defense — was encouraging.

"We did a good job in the match-up zone," she said. "and we just installed it last Thursday. I'm real excited about that."

Yow is hoping her team will be equally excited about the chance to face UMKC and begin the process of executing the offense correctly.

UMKC enters the contest at 0-2, having fallen to Florida State and Jackson State. The Kangaroos won last season's meeting 60-54.

minister and 15 years as Conservative leader.

If the election goes to a third ballot, lawmakers will vote for their first and second choices. If no one wins a majority of the first-choice votes, then the third-place finisher would be eliminated and his second-choice votes distributed to determine a winner.

All three candidates have portrayed themselves as Thatcherites: supporters of free markets, strong defense and lower taxes.

All of them, however, have distanced themselves from the government's deeply unpopular new "poll tax" to support local government, and all have promised to try to make it more fair.

Claus

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

child was Christkindl, now called Kriss Kringle.

The Spanish give gifts on Jan. 5, the eve of Epiphany, when the Three Wise Men brought gifts to the infant Jesus.

Italy also celebrates on Epiphany Eve, but their gift-giver is Befana. Befana is said to travel the world on this day searching for the Christ child and leaving gifts and candy in shoes. She is said to be trying to make up for not joining the Three Wise Men when they brought gifts to the Christ child.

A witchlike old woman, Babushka, is the gift-giver for the Soviet Union. She gave wrong directions to the Wise Men and now wanders the Earth each Epiphany Eve placing gifts under children's pillows.

The Soviet Union also celebrates gift-giving on New Years' Eve through Grandfather Frost. He is a chubby man with a white beard and red, fur-trimmed clothes.

In Sweden, Jultomten, an elf, delivers presents on Christmas Eve. He wears a red cap and has a long, white beard. Children leave porridge for Jultomten and hay and carrots for the Christmas goat that pulls his sleigh.

France used to celebrate gift-giving on St. Nicholas Day. Eventually the celebration moved to Christmas after the German religious leader, Martin Luther, led a movement to reform the Roman Catholic Church. Luther said the worship of saints was based largely on superstitions.

Father Christmas is the gift-giver of the English. He is portrayed as a gigantic man in a scarlet robe lined with fur. He wears a crown of holly, ivy or mistletoe on his head.

Chinese strategists charged in crime of leadership revolt

By The Associated Press

BEIJING — Two strategists of last year's pro-democracy movement have been charged with plotting to overthrow the government, a crime punishable by death, Chinese sources said Monday.

The accused men are Chen Zeming, 37, who was publisher of the now-banned Economic Studies Weekly, and Wang Juntao, 32, who was its editor. They were also charged with counter-revolutionary incitement.

The charges, which come more than a year after the two were arrested, are the most serious brought so far against any intellectuals involved in the June 1989 protests, which were crushed by the military.

Their families received official notices late last week of the charges, said sources who spoke on condition of anonymity. No trial dates were set.

In charging the two, the government moved closer to confronting the sensitive issue of what role high-level support and behind-the-scenes maneuvering played in the protests.

Neither Wang nor Chen was publicly prominent during the seven weeks of student-led marches for democratic reform that began in Beijing and spread nationwide.

But after the movement was crushed, the official media accused Chen and Wang of being black hands who manipulated the students in an effort to topple the government.

Hong Kong news reports said the two men, both participants in earlier democracy movements, met frequently with student leaders and helped plan strategy, including the timing of marches and wording of demands.

Wang had ties to high Communist Party officials dating from the early 1980s, when he was an alternate member of the Communist Youth League's Central Committee.

Official Chinese news reports last year accused Bao Tong, secretary to then-Communist Party General Secretary Zhao Ziyang, of involvement in plotting the protests. By formally charging Wang and Chen, the government has committed itself to reveal more details of what happened behind the scenes, potentially implicating Zhao's aide.

Zhao himself was ousted for allegedly supporting the movement, but the party has closed its investigation of him without announcing any conclusion because of the danger of splitting party ranks.

Soviet Union, China join U.S. in ultimatum to Iraq

By The Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS — The Soviet Union and China joined the United States, Britain and France on Monday in delivering an ultimatum that gives Iraq until January to withdraw its troops from Kuwait or face a military strike.

The nations — the five permanent Security Council members with veto power — agreed Monday on a draft resolution that allows use of all necessary means to liberate Kuwait and restore its government.

The draft contains optional deadline dates — Jan. 1 or Jan. 15. It gives Iraq one last chance in a pause of goodwill.

The deadline in the final resolution, to be adopted Thursday, will be decided in consultations among the 15 council members, diplomats said.

Monday's accord ends speculation the Soviets and Chinese might abstain. Previously, the Kremlin and Beijing pledged only not to veto the measure.

The broad coalition against Iraq's invasion of Kuwait now has passed its toughest test — authorization of military force.

The resolution demands that Iraq withdraw and authorizes "all necessary means" — military force — to drive Iraqi invaders from Kuwait. But it decides to allow Iraq one final opportunity, as a pause of goodwill, to leave the sheikdom it invaded Aug. 2.

The measure is expected to be adopted at an extraordinary session of foreign ministers. It would mark the second time in U.N. history the Security Council authorized military action to counter aggression. The first was in 1950 during the Korean conflict.

The council also authorized military action to enforce the maritime embargo of Iraq and the blockade against Rhodesia — now black-ruled Zimbabwe — in 1966.

Kuwait was preparing a presentation for the Security Council on Tuesday — including a videotape — to portray what it describes as Iraqi atrocities since the invasion, including the murder of children and looting of hospitals.

The resolution text, obtained by the Associated Press, says that despite all U.N. efforts, "Iraq refuses to comply with its obligation" to heed U.N. resolutions demanding withdrawal from Kuwait in flagrant contempt of the council.

Judith Kipper, an associate at Brookings Institute, a Washington research group, said it would be a mistake for the Bush administration to try to set a deadline.

Kipper, who just returned from Baghdad where she met the Iraqi president, said: "To put a date is to put his back to the wall and make things impossible. If we go public, it's a guarantee that we'll have to go to war."

The United States has the nine votes needed to ensure passage, and the vote is likely Thursday or Friday.

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

Arts & Crafts Sale

Nov. 29, 11 a.m.-6 p.m.
& Nov. 30 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

2nd Floor KSU Union Main Ballroom

Trying to find that special gift or doing some last minute Christmas shopping shouldn't get you down. The annual UPC Arts & Crafts Sale has beautiful and unique handmade items that make great gifts. Make Christmas shopping a snap this year & get your gifts at the Arts & Crafts Sale.

Santa Suit Rental

Nov. 26-Dec. 21

$15/day.

For more information call the UPC office at 532-6571 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

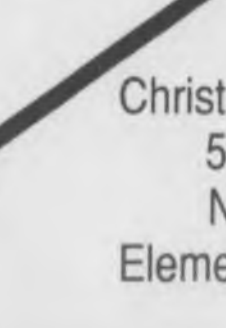

WINTER DANCE

November 28

Union Courtyard

Noon

THE HOUSEHOLDER

November 28 & 29

A comic account of how two young Indians came to grips with the realities of their arranged marriage. Directed by James Ivory.

Wednesday and Thursday, 7 p.m.,
Forum Hall &
Thursday 3:30 p.m.,
Little Theatre. $1.75 with KSU ID.

Nov. 26-Dec. 21

2nd Floor Showcase

Christmas Artwork:
5th grade
Northview
Elementary School

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, November 28, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 63

Area bar fails to respond

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

The Kansas Civil Rights Commission has apparently decided Bushwackers is not going to respond to an offer to settle an alleged racial incident that occurred in the club and are proceeding with plans for a public hearing.

Luis Montaner, fourth-year student in veterinary medicine, filed the complaint before the commission after the Bushwackers' management posted a sign slurring San Juan on June 23, 1989. About 30 Puerto Rican students were in the bar celebrating San Juan Day.

After the commission found probable cause for his complaint in October, Montaner said he made the settlement offer to Bushwackers asking for $2,000 in compensation and for the club to conduct discrimination workshops.

Montaner said he phoned the civil rights commission Monday to find out the status of the complaint. Montaner said the commission has decided that Bushwackers has had enough time to respond to the settlement offer and has forwarded the case to legal counsel to prepare for a public hearing sometime next semester.

Don Ramey, owner of Bushwackers, said he has not been notified by the commission about a public hearing.

Ramey said he refused Montaner's settlement offer because had already offered him a settlement.

"We offered to settle one other time, after this first happened, for more money," Ramey said.

Robert Lay, assistant director of the commission, said he could not directly comment on any case in the investigative stage, which the Bushwackers' case is in, but he did explain the general procedure involved in a public hearing.

Lay said the case is presented to the public hearings examiner, and both sides of the case can be represented by legal counsel. After hearing the case, the public hearings examiner submits a proposal to the full commission, which can accept or reject the entire proposal entirely or parts of it.

The public hearings examiner can recommend an offending party to pay up to $2,000 in compensation for pain and suffering and issue cease and desist orders, he said.

Lay said either party can appeal this finalized version to the State District Court.

The commission formally notifies both parties involved in the dispute when a public hearing is scheduled, Lay said. Any public hearing on the Bushwacker's incident would take place in Manhattan.

Montaner said he hoped a public hearing in Manhattan would draw a large number of the people, like the crowd that protested in front of Bushwackers after the incident.

"It seems to me they (Bushwackers) want to play for time," he said. "But they will be disappointed if they think people will forget about this."

Montaner said many cases are settled between the time of notification of a public hearing and the actual hearing.

Instuctor uses toy boats as aids

By Lajeau Rau
Collegian Reporter

Some engineering students are finding out what it takes to be an integral part of a working company.

In the manufacturing systems design and analysis course, students must transform themselves in a matter of days from a class of engineering students to a business organization with a purpose — to bring an actual product from its conception to production and sale.

The course was designed five years ago by Brad Kramer, assistant professor of industrial engineering.

"I wanted to create a class that would incorporate everything the students have learned in industrial engineering to manufacture a product," he said. "There is another course that is similar, but looks at it from the design side. This course tackles the actual manufacturing."

The official goal of the course is to make a manufacturing system to mass produce a product, Kramer said.

Previous classes in the past have made wooden model riverboats, cars and airplanes. This semester's product is a wooden model sailboat.

"This is not just about making a product and selling it," he said. "It's about making an efficient manufacturing system."

Creating this manufacturing system is not a simple task. Besides conceiving and designing the product, the class must also design the tools they will use, design the production system and facilities, work out a production schedule, choose an evaluation system and market the product.

"He always tells us 'you're not here to build boats,'" said Amy Young, senior in industrial engineering. "We do much more than that."

In the first week of class, options for a product are explored and researched, and managers are elected for different departments, including engineering, finance, marketing and production. A student administrator is also elected to oversee the entire endeavor.

Research strategies ranged from phone calls, to door-to-door visits and surveying students in the K-State Union.

The sailboat appealed to more people than, for instance, a wooden model car or horse, so the class went with it, Young said.

The money needed to get the project off the ground came from selling stock in the company, the I.E. Yacht Club. Students in the class make up the majority of the stockholders.

When it comes time to price the product, only a certain percentage mark-up is allowed, since the company is designed to be a non-profit organization. At the end of the semester, any profit left over is divided equally between the stockholders. Essentially, most of the stockholders will get their investment back, but no profit will be made, Young said.

"This class is really hard, or at least it takes a lot of time," Young said. "But you learn a lot. I'm part of the marketing department and have had to do some things I have never really considered doing as an engineering major."

The future engineers get a chance to explore aspects of business, which gives them insight into how different departments work hand-in-hand with the engineering department. They even become laborers, building the boats on a production line.

"The students learn a lot about cooperation and organization and leadership," Kramer said. "They learn about quality control, production planning, management skills, manufacturing techniques and tool engineering."

"They end up using things they have learned in about every class

■ See BOATS, Page 9

Gary Lytle/Staff

Susan Fiedler, senior in industrial engineering, puts the final touches on a wooden sailboat being manufactured on an assembly line as a class project in the basement of Durland Hall.

Conservatives elect Major

Britain's new prime minister endorsed by resigning Thatcher

By The Associated Press

LONDON — John Major, endorsed by Margaret Thatcher as the politician closest to her heart, was elected by the Conservative Party Tuesday night to succeed her as prime minister.

Major, 47, fell two votes short of winning a majority in voting among the 372 Conservative Party members of Parliament, but his two opponents quickly conceded defeat and the party confirmed Major as the winner.

Mrs. Thatcher, ending 11½ years in power, intended to submit her resignation to Queen Elizabeth II on Wednesday morning, and Major would then be called to lead the government.

Major, the chancellor of the exchequer, emerged from his official residence at 11 Downing St. Tuesday night smiling and holding hands with his wife, Norma. Inside, Mrs. Thatcher, who came next door from the prime minister's 10 Downing Street residence, embraced Major. "I am thrilled and delighted that John Major is to succeed me," the "Iron Lady" said in a statement released by aides.

Major received 185 votes, two short of a majority. Former Defense Secretary Michael Heseltine received 131 and Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd had 56.

Hurd and Heseltine conceded within minutes, and party officials declared Major elected.

"It is a very exciting thing to become leader of the Conservative Party, and particularly exciting, I think, to follow one of the most remarkable leaders the Conservative Party has ever had," Major said.

"Our job now I think is quite clear. We are going to unite totally and absolutely, and we're going to win the next general election," said Major, who will be the youngest British prime minister in this century.

Thatcher said she resigned to let someone from the Cabinet stand against Heseltine. Major and Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd both joined the race, but before the vote her aides spread the word that she was backing Major.

"I am thrilled and delighted John Major is to succeed me as prime minister of this country," said Thatcher in a statement.

The son of a circus performer and at one time a welfare recipient, Major personifies the values of self-reliance and hard work that Thatcher had preached to the nation.

Heseltine, 57, who precipitated Thatcher's downfall, said Major's election lays the basis for the unity of the party.

Hurd said the party needed to unite.

"John Major is the right leader for this task," he said.

Opposition leaders derided Major's election as Thatcherism with a different face. The Conservatives' main rivals, the socialist Labor Party, demanded a general election.

"John Major is a Thatcherette," said Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock. "It means that the policies that brought the poll tax, recession, heavy mortgages and rising unemployment will go on."

During his five-day campaign, Major had said he would review the poll tax, an unpopular local tax brought in by Thatcher, but he gave no other hints of differing with her.

Local shelter offers help with housing

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

Many professionals in social work and counseling say that everyone is two paychecks away from living on the street.

Such is true of college students working their way through school. Students often live from paycheck to paycheck and pay their rent in the same way, and they sometimes face eviction because they cannot meet rent deadlines.

Michael Cody, life skills coordinator for the Manhattan Emergency Shelter Inc., said there are many things that students living off-campus can do before they reach the point of eviction.

"Students can approach the Red Cross or the Salvation Army for financial assistance with rent," Cody said.

Officials at the Red Cross said in order to obtain information on rent assistance, the person would need to come by their office and get a list of places in Manhattan that provide assistance.

Cody said non-students may receive assistance with their utility bills through the Manhattan Emergency Shelter Inc.

"If a person needs assistance with their utility bill, they can go to KPL Gas Service and get a verification form and bring it to the shelter, fill out an application and they might be able to receive financial assistance," Cody said. "We will not pay the whole bill, but we will pay enough to keep the service turned on."

Lauren Baeten, credit manager for KPL Gas Service, said the company has a policy to help people with payment during the cold weather months, which starts Nov. 1 and ends March 31.

"We can work out extensions with anyone," Baeten said. "We need them to call us and come into our office to fill out a form agreeing to pay us, and we will work out a payment plan for them up to 12 months."

■ See SHELTER, Page 7

Big Red 1 deployment to affect local economy

By Alan Wilds
Staff Reporter

The deployment of the 1st Infantry Division has economic ramifications for local businesses. But the main concern, said Rex Fiedler of Jon Murdock Inc. Chevrolet, is the welfare of the 11,500 troops going to Saudi Arabia.

Fiedler, the general sales manager for the Manhattan car dealer, is one of many businessmen and city officials in both Manhattan and Junction City who are keeping a positive attitude while dealing with the economic and emotional effects of Fort Riley's participation in Operation Desert Shield.

Randy Martin, president of the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce, said the effects on retail businesses, housing and sales tax will depend on how long the troops are gone.

"There are some indications that a lot of people are doing their Christmas shopping now, so maybe they will buy more, and that will have a positive impact," he said. "After Christmas, business may start to slow down."

Manhattan relies on Fort Riley for about 9 percent of its retail business and 10 percent of its housing, according to research conducted by Clyde Jones, professor emeritus in the College of Business Administration.

Jones conducted research in 1989 to determine Fort Riley's economic effect on Manhattan.

Martin said some government services may also have to be readjusted, but for the moment it is hard to tell who will be affected and to what extent.

"All businesses will be affected," he said. "The question is to what degree because we don't know exactly how much business is attributed to Fort Riley."

When asked to compare the economic impact on Manhattan and Junction City, Martin said they both will be equally affected.

"We probably do as much business related to Fort Riley as Junction City does," he said. "But the difference is Junction City is a smaller community and military business may account for about 50 percent of their business overall, where ours may be only 15 to 20 percent."

Martin and Manhattan mayor Richard Hayter are confident a significant number of the soldiers' families will remain in their present homes because the Army has not allocated any relocation funds to them.

Hayter said he believes if families do choose to return to their original homes, the economic effect has the potential to be felt in two stages. First, the immediate decline in retail sales due to departing soldiers, and second, the later departure of the soldier's families.

"There will be a lot of areas impacted, including the University," Hayter said, citing the number of military personnel who are K-State students and their family members who are employed at K-State. "Fort Riley is a very important part of our economy and this will be a loss of people that are very important to us."

Car dealerships have the potential to be among the hardest hit. Fiedler said about 22 percent of his car sales are to military personnel.

"Without a doubt, it will affect sales, but not the service department and other aspects of our business," he said. "We just have to work the business a lot closer."

Hayter said no contingency plans are in the works other than services to assist soldiers' families.

"As far as dealing with the economic impact, there is nothing we can do," he said. "It's just one of those unfortunate things that happens when you have something like a military installation close by. We just have to adjust and hope it is very temporary."

Ken Burgoon, from the Junction City Chamber of Commerce, said his efforts will be concentrated on support for the troops and their families.

"Nothing negative is going to come out of this because this community is focusing on the positive," Burgoon said. "We are no longer talking about economic impact because that is not an issue."

BRIEFLY

World

8 die in military plane crash

MOSCOW (AP) — Eight men were killed Tuesday when their military transport plane crashed while landing in the Central Asian city of Alma Ata, the official news agency Tass reported.

Seven of those killed were crew members and one was a serviceman. The AN-12 plane was on a training flight when it went down, Tass said, quoting the Defense Ministry.

No cause was given for the crash, which occurred about 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow near the China border. A commission was investigating, it said.

Marijuana may be fuel answer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A top state official claims his idea of burning marijuana to generate electricity is far from a pipe dream.

New South Wales state Minerals and Energy Minister Neil Pickard told Parliament on Tuesday that he had asked the Electricity Commission to examine the possibility of burning confiscated pot crops to generate electricity.

"Marijuana burns at extremely high temperatures and gives off considerable heat energy," he said.

Pickard's comments were greeted with uproarious laughter, but he said it was a serious proposition.

He said burning marijuana would be cheaper than coal and produce about as much energy. The Electricity Commission would look into what modifications would be needed for power stations to handle marijuana as well as coal, Pickard said.

He said the state's power stations use an average of 20 million tons of coal a year.

Nation

Liver tumor treatment found

CHICAGO (AP) — A procedure that freezes cancerous tumors by using ultrasound-guided probes offers hope to people who otherwise would be certain to die of liver malignancies, a radiologist said Tuesday.

Of 30 patients who underwent the treatment, six are free of disease, said Dr. Gary Onik of Presbyterian Hospital in Pittsburgh.

The technique, called cryosurgery, has the ability to destroy tumors next to major blood vessels without destroying normal tissues nearby, Onik reported at the 76th Scientific Assembly and Annual Meeting of the Radiological Society of North America.

It offers hope to patients whose cancer is caught before it involves the entire liver, he said, noting that radiation and chemotherapy are ineffective treatments for liver cancer.

Man killed in asphalt accident

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A businessman helping an out-of-towner with a stalled car was killed when a runaway dump truck crashed into a parking lot, struck the car and covered him in tons of steaming asphalt.

Truck driver Terry Conner, 42, told police he was approaching a busy intersection Monday when an indicator showed a loss of brake pressure.

"His only option was to run into the traffic at the light or turn off into the parking lot," Police Officer Steve Tinder said.

The truck crashed into a bank parking lot, striking three cars before dumping the asphalt and tipping over.

The asphalt engulfed Charles H. Sprinkle, general manager of a property management company.

Columbia ready for launch

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Shuttle Columbia got a clean bill of health Tuesday and NASA set the launching of its long-postponed astronomy mission for Sunday.

Columbia is to carry four major astronomical instruments, including a telescope designed to investigate the content of stars and the history of their formation, in a mission that was originally planned for 1986.

"The shuttle team has worked very hard to get Columbia ready to fly," said shuttle Director Robert Crippen. "With the hydrogen leak resolved, we're ready to end the year with the Astro-1 mission which will extend our knowledge of the universe."

Columbia and its $150 million payload were scheduled to lift off between 12:28 a.m. and 2:58 a.m. Sunday for a 10-day mission.

Scientists who have waited years for the flight would prefer to wait a little longer to take advantage of better celestial viewing in mid-December, the brightest visible quasar.

Noriega tapes show errors

MIAMI (AP) — Manuel Noriega's taped prison conversations show he was shifting assets around the world at the same time he pleaded poverty before a federal judge, court papers filed Tuesday showed.

The allegations came in an affidavit signed by Gregory Craig, attorney for the government of Panama, in its $6.5 billion civil racketeering lawsuit against the deposed dictator.

Craig refused to disclose how he obtained information about the taped conversations, which are the subject of a legal tussle between Cable News Network and Noriega's defense team.

Region

State must resolve appeals

TOPEKA (AP) — The state Board of Tax Appeals still must resolve more than half of the valuation appeals filed by Kansas property taxpayers as a result of statewide reappraisal completed in early 1989.

David Cunningham, attorney for the board, told the Legislature's interim committee on Assessment and Taxation on Tuesday that despite the board's accelerated process for hearing appeals, it has closed only 47 percent of the appeals that remain pending from reappraisal.

The board has held hearings and made decisions on 4,387 appeals, while 4,905 still are pending.

Road maintenance resumed

HOLTON (AP) — County road graders will return to a northeast Kansas Indian reservation Tuesday.

After two meetings Monday, the Jackson County Commission decided to resume maintenance of roads on the Pottawatomie Indian Reservation. About 100 people attended each of the meetings to protest last week's vote to discontinue road maintenance.

But questions of jurisdiction over the roads and other issues affecting the Indian nation have not been settled.

The county does not collect property taxes from the reservation, and merchants there do not pay sales taxes on gasoline and cigarettes.

Without tax money the county cannot afford to provide services to the reservation, Jackson County Attorney Mike Hayes said. But many of those at the meeting said they were paying taxes and should not have to suffer while the county sorted out the legal issues.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

28 Wednesday

■ KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

29 Thursday

■ AICHE will present Chemistry in Crime by Clifton Melon at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

■ Finance Club/FMA will present a savings and loan roundtable at 3:30 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.

■ SADD will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 206.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

■ Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 6 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

■ KSU Sailing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Talking Hands will meet at 4 p.m. in Room 3 of the Holton Hall basement. Anyone interested in sign language is invited.

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Engineering Ambassador Executives will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

30 Friday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Joni R. Hays at 1:30 p.m. in Bluemont 368. The dissertation topic is "An Analysis of the Effects of Relaxation, Locus of Control and Creativity on Figurative Language Production."

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy and cold. High around 40. Northwestern winds 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, mostly clear and cold. Low 20 to 25. Thursday, mostly sunny. High 45 to 50.

April 13 Could Be The Most Important Day of Your Career

Why April 13? Because that's when you can take the Fundamentals of Engineering exam and become qualified as an engineer-in-training... the first step in becoming a Professional Engineer.

If you're an engineering student consider this. P.E. registration allows more career flexibility and choice. Professional Engineers aren't locked out of a career path; jobs are theirs for the choosing in government, industry, construction and private practice. Many employers require registration for advancement to senior engineering positions.

It will never be easier to take the exam than now, while courses are still fresh in your mind. The test will be administered on April 13 at sites selected by the State Board of Technical Professions. The cut-off date for exam applications is February 1. For more information, call the state board at (913) 296-3053.

Clip and return the coupon below for a free brochure on how to become a P.E.:

Please send me the free brochure, "Why Become a P.E.?" The NCEES Guide to Registration."

Name: _____
College: _____
Address: _____
City: _____ State: _____ Zip Code: _____

Return to: The National Council of Examiners for Engineering and Surveying
Executive Director
P.O. Box 1686 • Clemson, S.C. 29633-1686

K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through
Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union
Bookstore

Iraq given deadline for leaving Kuwait; more hostages released

By The Associated Press

The United States and the Soviet Union have fixed Jan. 15 as a deadline for Iraq to get out of Kuwait, or face the possibility of a military strike to drive it out, diplomats said Tuesday.

The deadline for an Iraqi withdrawal had been the only sticking point in a U.N. Security Council draft resolution agreed upon by the five permanent members of the council. The measure is expected to be voted on by the full council on Thursday.

In a fresh sign that the Baghdad government is bracing for war, the Pentagon said Iraq is rapidly increasing its troop strength in Kuwait and southern Iraq. It said Iraq has 450,000 troops in the region, an increase of 20,000 over last week.

The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, meanwhile, questioned whether it is really in the vital interest of the United States to use military force to liberate Kuwait, the oil-rich emirate Iraq seized on Aug. 2.

Three Americans, waving Iraqi flags and criticizing their government, arrived in Jordan after being freed by Saddam Hussein.

The freed Americans, whose families had traveled to Iraq to plead with Saddam for their release, told reporters at the Amman airport that the Bush administration had ignored their plight.

"I was not released with help from my government," said John Stevenson of Panama City, Fla. "It was my family who did it."

The United States has demanded the unconditional release of all of the hundreds of foreigners held hostage in Iraq, and the State Department has discouraged private hostage-freeing missions.

Another freed American, Clyde Jesse of Buffalo Grove, Ill., suggested the United States should negotiate with Saddam. "I believe it is time we started talking," he said.

The third freed American was Fred Harrington of Bellevue, Wash. Ten Britons and five Germans were released as well. The women in the British group carried flowers; the Americans waved the U.S. and Iraqi flags.

At the United Nations, the stage
■ See GULF, Page 14

Hittin' the books

Mike Herzog, sophomore in nuclear engineering, left, and John Boyle, junior in pre-veterinary medicine, spend Tuesday evening studying for classes in Farrell Library.

J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

Senate questions Bush's gulf policy

Action not supported by some members

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Senate Democrats on Tuesday challenged President Bush's Persian Gulf policy.

They questioned the immediate need for offensive military action to oust Iraqi forces from Kuwait and demanded a greater role in the crisis.

"The question is not whether military action is justified," said Sen. Sam Nunn, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which began several days of hearings on the gulf crisis. "The question is whether military action is wise at this time and in our own national interest."

The hearings were called in reaction to Bush's decision to send an additional 200,000 troops to the gulf to provide an offensive military option.

With the administration seeking U.N. approval for the use of force in the gulf, some committee members said the president also must make the same request of Congress.

House Speaker Thomas Foley, in remarks to newly elected House Democrats, underscored the point. "I would personally want to have some assurance from the administration that no action would be taken prior to this Congress meeting, or it would be necessary to think seriously about calling in the previous Congress," he said.

The opening day of the session also was marked by the conspicuous absence of the administration's top military officials — Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The two will testify Monday morning.

Sen. Bob Kerrey, D-Nebr., said the policy change to underline a U.S. attack capability undermines the nation's attempts to maintain international support for the sanctions.

Committee member Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., declared, "If ever there is a case for giving peace a chance, this is it."

Odor in Ahearn prompts repair, replacement of gas supply line

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

Due to three leaks in the past year, a new gas line will be installed on the south and east sides of Durland Hall.

"We just had another (leak) here about six weeks ago, I guess," said Ray Sharp, supervisor of plumbing maintenance. "We had a very dangerous situation because people could smell gas in Ahearn."

"We're putting in a new gas line, it's the main line feeding the whole campus, a high-pressure line," Sharp said.

John Dollar, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, said, "They cut the sidewalk and the idea was they were going to replace the gas line."

Kansas Power & Light was notified when people began to smell gas in Ahearn Field House, and they began to investigate with their sniffer, a machine that detects gas leaks. KP&L found the leak in a gas line which was carrying 130 pounds of gas.

Then, KP&L rated the gas leak depending on how much gas was being released into the air. Due to the seriousness of the leak, KP&L ordered that the gas be either shut off immediately, or the leak repaired in 24 hours.

KP&L assisted maintenance in patching the leak without turning off the gas.

"We'd never patched a 130-pound line before," Sharp said. "We've patched the leak — it's not leaking anymore."

"This is a steel line, and we'll have to put steel back," Sharp said. "Eventually we're going to replace all distributing lines."

So far, maintenance has received two loads of damaged pipe, both of which were sent back. The first load was damaged by the forklift that loaded it onto the truck. Sharp informed the company of the damaged pipe and although the company said the next load would be hand-loaded to avoid damage, the second load of pipe also arrived damaged.

Union displays 'Life Forces'

Wagner's sculptures show sense of continuity, motion

By Heather Anderson
Collegian Reviewer

Sometimes you don't have to look any further than your own backyard for talent.

Ken Wagner, graduate student in fine arts, is currently exhibiting charcoal drawings and metal sculptures in the Union Gallery as part of his show, "Life Forces."

The exhibition runs until Dec. 7. And although the Union frequently features guest artists, these West Stadium creations are well worth a look.

Featuring free flowing shapes and a sense of continuity and motion, both mediums complement each other marvelously. The drawings sometimes seem like they were drawn from the sculptures, and vice versa. Both feature interlocking shapes that intertwine and embrace each other.

"Sacred Dance," "Fins" and "Nantucket Whaler" are bronze sculptures that illustrate this idea. Each part combines to form a whole that is nothing short of beautiful.

Most of the sculptures are smooth in texture, but the bronze "Growth" experiments with some interesting surfaces, one of which looks suspiciously like plastic packaging bubbles.

"Captive Whales" and "Sea Thread" are larger, somewhat airy sculptures done in steel. These two look as if they are sprouting right up from the floor — if the gallery was underwater, they would sway in the ocean tides.

"Icarus of the Sea" is the only completely solid sculpture. Through its simplicity, it leaves the viewer with very strong impressions.

The charcoal drawings don't leave near the impression the sculptures do.

They provide a nice, two-
■ See WAGNER, Page 14

ORNAMENT COLLECTORS

Riley County Historical Society is offering its first limited edition ornament, a walnut woodcut of a pioneer log cabin in City Park. Sold only at the Museum gift shop at 2309 Claflin for $7.50.

Knee Volleyball Tournament

Starts
December 3rd
Women's & Men's Division
2 person teams
$10.00 entry fee per team

Live! In the first 30 men's teams, and the first 20 women's teams.
Each team receives official
BoWinkle's & Miller Life T-Shirts!

•SIGN UP NOW•
Deadline Nov. 30

100% of entry fee will be donated to the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Applications are being taken for

SGA Positions

Student Body President Cabinet Positions

Chief of Staff
Attorney General
Public Relations Director
College Council Coordinator
International Affairs Director
Special Projects Director(s)
Executive Administrator
Non-Traditional Affairs Director
Multi-Cultural Affairs Director
State & Community Affairs Director
Manhattan Community Affairs Director
Lobby Team Members
Student Governing Association
Treasurer
Off-Campus Director
Campus Safety Director
A.S.K. Campus Director

Applications for Cabinet due Friday,
November 30, 1990, in the SGS
office—ground floor of the Union.

Student Senate Standing Committee Chairs

Academic Affairs & University Relations
Student Affairs & Social Services
Senate Operations
Legislative Affairs
Communications

Applications for Senate Standing
Committee Chairs are due Friday,
December 7, 1990, in the SGS office.

Student Senate Finance Committee

4 At large members
Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

Student Publications Ad Hoc Committee

2 At large members
Applications due Nov. 30, in SGS office.

ALL APPLICATIONS AND JOB DESCRIPTIONS ARE AVAILABLE
IN THE SGS OFFICE, GROUND FLOOR OF UNION

Pippi Longstocking
The Children's Theatre Company

Wednesday, November 28, 7 p.m.
Merriment, confusion, and the unexpected rule the day when Pippi moves to a quiet Swedish village to await the return of her pirate father. This rollicking whirlwind of a girl doesn't have to go to school and has no one to tell her when to go to bed. Even Bart Simpson doesn't have it as good. Take your entire family to see the show Artscape called "a delight for children and adults."

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

For information on the party following the performance, call Jenne Andrews at 776-0749.

Presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
For best available seats, call (913) 532-6428 and charge your tickets to MasterCard or VISA, or come to the box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

'Correct' not inflammatory, but relative

I have to admit my first draft of this column was an attack upon Ed Skoog's attack, "Political correctness avoids examination." But then something magical happened. I saw Ed, smiled and didn't tell him to watch for Wednesday's paper. I felt sneaky. But more magical than that, when I got home to finish the draft, my computer would not cooperate with me. I went to pull up the file entitled "skoog" and that scathing review was gone.

And then the light didn't just come on, it hit me over the head. I realized that if that first draft had been published, I would have become embroiled in a ridiculous, rhetorical beauty pageant, where words, ideas, quotes and politically correct persons would glimmer from the page like sequins on the evening gown of Miss Texas.

So sorry, no crown of thorns will be thrown today, just an examination of Skoog's distaste for the politically correct.

I understand where Skoog is coming from. I get irritated when environmentalism becomes trendy, when Birkenstocks are hip, when I feel guilty if and when I buy a styro-foam cup at the Union.

I get irritated when I overhear such a conversation as: "Oh, I hope that the reorganization demonstration goes on all day. That way I get to miss all my classes — we can just soak up some rays."

I get irritated when I think of the 2,000 students who felt strongly enough about reorganization to demonstrate, but who are not willing to demonstrate for issues much more detrimental to the longevity and standard of living of this entire planet of humans, plants and animals. When issues hit home, they are imperative, and it is only human to react violently.

But what issues should a person choose? I am overwhelmed by social injustice, and overwhelmed by the concessions I have to make daily. If I choose to correct my behavior environmentally, I must choose not to be as comfortable, not to have all the conveniences offered by the modern world. If I choose to be correct on one issue, do I then have to be correct on every issue? Skoog may be reacting to such imperatives of the politically correct — it may, in fact, be difficult to smile when one is aware of social injustice.

Jana Leep

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

And thus, I get irritated when writers, especially young writers such as Skoog and me, write without realizing they haven't taken various perspectives into account. Maybe we are too young, and haven't seen the big picture yet, but in any case, we have the responsibility of looking for all the pieces to the puzzle.

Skoog has found one piece. He believes in the "double-wide truckload of personal, economic and political freedom." Skoog believes in freedom because he has freedom.

Freedom spills out of the double-wide truckload like cotton, filling the cushions that keep us comfortable. But who picks the cotton?

Skoog doesn't believe in affirmative action, for he is afraid such a system would mistreat his fellow man (as in men). He fears for his freedom to get a job. And thus he fears for the backlash placed upon those who oppose politically correct positions on women, minorities and multiculturalism. He doesn't want to be called a racist or a sexist.

But what is bothersome about affirmative action is that such an imposed system is necessary in order to ensure that institutions acquire a heterogeneous complexion, in order to ensure that individuals are protected from discrimination because of complexion. Why do we have to have a system imposed in order to ensure that the societal demographic distribution is paralleled in the work place? Perhaps the costs of opposing affirmative action and multiculturalism are much worse than what he imagines. Much worse for the groups of individuals that have been omitted from H1Story? Does Skoog understand that perhaps affirmative action is a step in the correct direction?

But again the word "correct" — and yet, what is so inflammatory about a word that, historically speaking, is meaningless without knowing the context or the source. Skoog and his buddies, Buckley and Barber, have their own agenda of what is correct, and if it were cool to be conservative (which it is in some places and sometimes), none of them would be biting the bit, for the bit would be in the mouths of the unpopular.

We are all so human. But we can be so inhumane to others and to our environment, and if being politically correct means addressing human needs, then I am not embarrassed to be so. But I am embarrassed and saddened to think that Skoog dreads the possibility of war for he dreads the politically correct thinking that will be brought to K-State. Perhaps Skoog will change his mind if the war becomes a reality and takes away some of his freedom, takes away a friend, takes away the prosperity that is taken for granted.

EDITORIALS

Bush limits possibility for peaceful resolution

The United States has moved from a defensive to an offensive position in the Persian Gulf, and a U.S. invasion of Kuwait seems the next likely step.

Both President George Bush and Secretary of State James Baker III have seemingly let the possibility of using diplomacy and negotiation to reach a settlement that does not involve armed conflict slip from their minds as they travel about the world seeking U.S. allies' and U.N. support for invasion.

Bush writes in an essay in this week's issue of Newsweek that he will use every means at his disposal to reach a peaceful solution. Earlier in that same essay, however, he writes: "Many, understandably, counsel prolonged patience. Yet, it is grim reality that with each passing day the consequences of Saddam's aggression grow."

The actions of Saddam Hussein are reprehensible. Invading a sovereign nation state, holding foreign citizens hostage, torture and execution do not make Hussein a model leader. He should be punished for his actions, but a war to take back Kuwait is not the only way to accomplish this.

Bush's militaristic posturing is limiting the options to resolve the Persian Gulf conflict. By giving diplomacy secondary status to military action, war becomes more and more likely.

It should be the other way around. War does not have to be the singular answer to the Gulf Crisis. Diplomacy and negotiation for a resolution should be the U.S. stance, and military strength is one way to back up this stance. From Bush's offensive position, however, the military is leading the way — and backing the United States into a corner in terms of alternate viable options for resolving the conflict.

By ruling out any sort of chance to resolve the crisis without armed conflict as unacceptable, Bush is sending Hussein and the rest of the world the message that war is inevitable.

LETTERS

Collegian hypocrites

Editor,

You labled Martin Luther King Jr. a cheater. You implied that he should be in the "Hall of Shame" along with Milli Vanilli, Michael Milken and Vanilla Ice. You defamed a man who gave his life for freedom.

You don't have the right to call Martin Luther King Jr. a cheater. If you want to look back into the past and discredit a man's name, call the white man, your forefather, a cheater. He cheated the Indians out of their land. Call the white man a cheater because he cheated the black man out of his freedom. I will be bold and call him a cheater, a murderer and a thief. I will call your great white heroes slanderous names. I will defame the good name of your forefathers because they are dead and they can't defend themselves.

So tell me, why did you even criticize Arizona for not celebrating King's birthday as a holiday when you were going to turn around and discredit him? Answer me this, O mighty critics of the dead: Why are you so eager to discredit Martin Luther King Jr.? Why do you look at the bad before the good of a black man? Obviously, Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week means nothing to you because you are still ignorant and relentlessly negligent toward the sensitivity of minorities. Was Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week an elegant facade to conceal the way you really feel about minorities? If so, then how do you really feel about minorities? Ask yourself this question before you embark on another so-called short-lived Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week, and think about this - racial harmony shouldn't be for one week but every day.

Finally and not least, I demand that the Collegian editorial writers retract their statement labeling Martin Luther King Jr. a cheater, and I'll retract my statement labeling them hypocrites.

Eric Lynum
senior in electrical engineering

Protests back troops

Editor,

William Nathan Wright ("Protest Opposed", Nov. 14) thinks American citizens elect a president to decide whether our nation will go to war. Once we elect a leader, he implies, it is our duty to respect his judgment and presumptuous to second guess.

Trust the president — he knows more than we do. Those of us who went through the Vietnam war debate remember this argument well.

We can see why Wright is mistaken if we remember that the U.S. Constitution gives Congress, not the president, sole authority to take the nation to war. The point of this provision is to involve the American people, through the process of petition and democratic debate, in the most fateful decision a nation can make. Recent polls show that the American public agrees with this view. By a 2 to 1 margin, they say Congress should fully debate and finally decide whether we will wage war against Iraq.

Wright also belittles the K-State peace rally because "chances are Washington will never hear of it." On the contrary, U.S. Rep. Jim Slattery's office knew of the demonstration before it had occurred and of earlier protests in Abilene and Lawrence. We were pleased that the rally here was covered prominently in the Manhattan Mercury, the Topeka Capital-Journal, KTKA-TV and local radio stations, as well as by the Collegian.

The history of the Vietnam war, Watergate, Iran-Contra and the savings and loan disaster show us the dangers of placing too much trust in the judgment of presidents. We need a thorough no-holds-barred debate about the purpose and consequences of President Bush's war policy. I cannot imagine a better way to support our troops in the Persian Gulf than to make sure that they are not maimed and killed in a war that does not appear to be necessary to achieve any of the objectives stated so far by President Bush.

John Exdell
associate professor of philosophy

Respect soldiers

Editor,

I would like to respond to Troy Huggins letter in which he speaks of incidents in which "people have been verbally harassing ROTC and other military students." As a member of the Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East, I think I speak for the entire coalition when I say we unequivocally condemn any harassment of military personnel.

Such harassment is not, nor has — if ever — been our policy. As we see it, U.S. military personnel are not the authors, but will be among the victims of Bush's pro-war, no negotiations policy. It is our goal to save the lives of those soldiers by advocating a negotiated settlement.

U.S. soldiers who are in or on their way to Saudi Arabia are there because they are under orders to do so. Some soldiers may support Bush's policy, while some may not. Many are likely to be angry, scared and confused, as would most people if faced with the prospect of having to kill or be killed.

We should try to understand the internal conflict many soldiers may now be facing. We must support the soldiers in whatever decision they make. That means we should not engage in the verbal harassment directed at random military personnel that Huggins described. And it means we should not engage in the immature name-calling that was evident in David Stephens letter, directed at Sgt. George Morse, a brave young man who is willing to risk prison rather than participate in "a war, that in his heart he believes is wrong."

Matt Narramore
senior in political science

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. Students will be asked to show their I.D. card upon submission when done in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Keger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Venso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimie Hattimotoheadia, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Pula, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel, Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, David Seaborn, Kevin Zwick
REVIEWERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Krotzer
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
EDITORIAL BOARD	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Keger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Venso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayne Wall, Allyson Schaff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Angie Humphrey
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER	Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Puntney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Jackie Harmon
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Linda Weatherly
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
OFFICE MANAGER	Connie Rulkerson
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Carla Jones
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Britt Owen, Deanna Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minnie Dowdy, John Rulkerson, Norm LeCompte, James Seymour

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Alcohol disrupts lives of addicts

By Scott Berg
Science Reporter

Alcoholism is a collection of diseases placed in a category for easy classification.

"An alcoholic basically is a person whose drinking is causing problems in any part of life — and he or she continues to drink," said Stephen Benton, associate professor of counselor education and educational psychology.

Symptoms of alcoholism are a collection of disorders, said Sheryl Benton, counselor for the University Counseling Services and Stephen's wife. There are many different kinds of alcoholism, and physical addiction is only present in four percent of all alcoholics.

Some of the identifying symptoms of college-age alcoholics are alcohol being used as a coping mechanism for stress and frequent arrests for driving while drunk, Sheryl Benton said.

A sign that alcohol is becoming too important to the drinker is interference with family, friends and school, she said.

Alcohol affects people differently, said Bill Arck, director of alcohol and other drugs education service at Lafene Student Health Center. Generally, when someone is an alcoholic, the results of the disease complicates relationships by interfering with their positive side, Arck said.

"The chemical creates problems in the life of the alcoholic, including mental obsession and physical addiction — a craving for the chemical," Stephen Benton said.

In the later stages of the addiction, the person will have symptoms of withdrawal, the shakes and blackout periods, he said. Blackouts occur when the alcoholic is awake but doesn't remember certain passages of time, caused by drinking a large amount of alcohol.

People are becoming alcoholics when they get the shakes and have a visible increased tolerance to the chemical, Sheryl Benton said.

"The alcohol changes the focus of their lives," Arck said. "Everything in life is secondary to getting the next drink. Their main focus is on drinking."

Going out with the intention of getting drunk is a warning sign.

"When a person's main goal at a party is to drink and not to socialize, it is a sign the person is getting addicted," Sheryl Benton said.

One in 10 drinkers develop severe alcohol problems or is an alcoholic, Arck said.

When the alcoholic realizes there is a problem, he or she goes through a process of trying to manipulate and control the drinking, Sheryl Benton said. After this fails they may go for outside help.

Alcoholics drink to change the way they feel, Stephen Benton said. "Alcohol changes their personality into a Jekyll-and-Hyde sort of thing," he said. "A nice person can become mean or a shy person can become the life of the party."

"They get addicted to the mood swings and end up drinking to feel normal," Stephen Benton said. The alcoholics continue to drink until it doesn't work any more before getting desperate."

There are three organizations on ■ See ALCOHOL, Page 14

THE CLAY CELLAR

HOLIDAY SHOW AND SALE Nov. 30th 7-10 pm.
OPEN STUDIO Dec. 1st 10-6 pm.
Dec. 2nd 1-5 pm.

FEATURING POTTERS:
JOYCE E. FURNEY
RONNA ROOKS ROUNDS
GARY D. TYSON

INVITED GUEST ARTISTS:
ANN TALARICO, Silversmith
JAN NEAL, Watercolorist
JUDY WILLINGHAM, Jeweler

THE CLAY CELLAR 539-4064
572 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, KS

PUSHWACKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion
9 p.m.

Mon., Tues. & Wednesday
Jack Simmons
along w/Don Reese

18 to enter, 21 to drink
Call for Reservations
Before 5 p.m. 539-4321
531 N. Manhattan
After 5 p.m. 539-9727

Two Great Christmas Gifts

Gift Certificates good at ANY Dairy Queen and Coke glasses for 89¢ filled with your favorite soft drink.

Dairy Queen

1015 N. 3rd
Manhattan

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1983

$1 PITCHERS

Fri. & Sat.
The Barnburners

"Go Cats" Shirts on Sale
First Bank Center 776-4111

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

NOVEMBER 28, 1990
Noon-4 p.m.
Shellenberger 220

We will be selling Christmas packs at this flour sale.
Christmas packs contain:

- 5 lbs. of White Flour
- 5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
- 2 lbs. of Bran
- 2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6
Packs will also be available Nov. 28,
Dec. 5 and 12, 1990.

Open Forum on the Persian Gulf Crisis

Speakers in favor of, and against military action as the means to resolve the conflict will present their views. Audience participation in discussion will be encouraged as well.

Thursday, Nov. 29
7:30 p.m.

K-State Union Little Theatre

Sponsored by The Departments of History, Modern Languages, and Philosophy, Ecumenical Campus Ministries, S.A.V.E., P.R.I.M.O., and Students for Educational Awareness.

EQUIPMENT FEE INFORMATION MEETINGS

Information regarding the proposed equipment fee and options will be presented and discussed by Donald Rathbone, Dean, College of Engineering
and
Todd Heitschmidt, Student Body President in a series of Dean's Forums on the following dates:

Wednesday, Nov. 28, 8 p.m., Monday, Dec. 3, 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 4, 3:30 p.m.,
Ackert 120 Paslay (Durland 173) Paslay (Durland 173)

Please attend one of the above meetings to educate yourself on the proposal and options of the equipment fee.

Voting will take place on Tuesday, Dec. 4 and Wednesday, Dec. 5

Equipment requirements at the college level have presented an increasing financial challenge for higher education. In the past three years, the engineering college has demonstrated that equipment and maintenance monies are imperative to its future, and has initiated a proposal for a special equipment fee charged to engineering students.

As the Board of Regents has begun consideration of the equipment fee issue, they have requested a referendum of engineering students to determine whether a majority of engineering students at each campus would accept or reject the current engineering fee proposal. The results will in no way obligate the Board to a particular course of action.

Current Proposal
Implement Engineering Fee— Spring 1991. The engineering fee would be implemented as proposed by KSU, KU, and WSU.
— $15/credit hour to be paid by all engineering students enrolled in an engineering course.

NOTE: This method would generate $400,000 to $500,000 per year for engineering

The support staff to the Board of Regents has begun study of possible alternatives to the above engineering equipment fee. The Board has not taken action on its staff's study. Following are some brief comments concerning possible alternatives.*

*1. Implement a Systemwide Equipment Fee. This equipment fee would be applicable to all university students.

- a. The fee could be collected as either a General Use or Restricted Use Fee.
- b. With a broader base of support allowed by a fee of all students, a smaller fee per student or credit hour would be possible, while raising a larger grand total than a fee placed on one college. Example: $2/credit hour per student would raise $1,048,000 per year for the university; $75/semester per student would raise $2,708,175 per year for the university.
- c. Allocation to the various university colleges would be at the university's discretion, with engineering expected to receive $500,000/year.
- d. Revenue from the fee could only be expended for instructional equipment, research equipment, computing, libraries, and instrumentation.

Restricted Use Fee: A restricted use fee has the advantage of being guaranteed for its intended use (equipment & maintenance only) but may have legislative review problems.

General Use Fee: A general use (equipment) fee is a distinguishable component of tuition but is budgeted as a part of the General Use budget. This can be used generally and not necessarily for equipment.

*2. Engineering Fee, Systemwide Equipment Fee. This option would be a combination of the two.

- a. A restricted use Engineering Fee would be approved only for one year.
- b. It could then be replaced the following year by a general use systemwide equipment fee—applicable at all campuses in the Regents system.
- c. This option has the following characteristics:
 - 1) allows engineering access to funding for immediate equipment needs;
 - 2) raises additional funds to address equipment needs for all campus programs;
 - 3) gives university administration the flexibility to allocate the funds; and
 - 4) possibly avoids the proliferation of fees, which could occur on a college by college basis.

* Information taken from the Fiscal Affairs Agenda Item 4 at the November 15, 1990 Board of Regents meeting.

These alternatives are not a part of the proposal before the Board of Regents.

Paid for by SGA

McCain

Chanticleer

Thursday, December 6, 8 p.m.
Welcome the holiday season with a Christmas concert by America's premiere a cappella vocal ensemble! Chanticleer's 12 singers perform works that span five centuries and include liturgical music, traditional carols, and gospel hymns. Their voices range from countertenor to bass and their remarkable vocal precision has won Chanticleer worldwide acclaim as "an orchestra of voices."

"One of the most beautiful musical experiences in my life. The audience was mesmerized." (Robert Shaw, dean of American choral conductors)

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

Presented in part with support from the Fine Arts fee and from the Friends of McCain.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) To charge tickets by phone, call (913) 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SPORTS

'Cats showcase fast break, win 93-48

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

Maybe the up-tempo style K-State coach Dana Altman promised just needed some time to familiarize itself with new surroundings.

One game, perhaps. What was missing in Saturday's opener with Akron found its way to Bramlage Coliseum Tuesday, as K-State ran past Florida A & M 93-48.

"I think we played harder than we did against Akron," Altman said. "We had too many turnovers, but part of that was the way the game was going."

The ball-handling cylinder was about the only one K-State didn't have clicking against the Rattlers. The 'Cats had five players in double figures, outrebounded Florida A & M 56-24, forced 20 turnovers and held the Rattlers to 31 percent shooting.

The results were nightmarish for Florida A & M coach Willie Booker.

"They made some mistakes last game," Booker said. "I guess they made up for them on us tonight."

It took a while for K-State's running game to get out of the blocks. Entry passes to post players were fumbled, outlet passes went out of bounds, and layups rolled off the rim. Still, K-State had a 14-4 lead seven minutes into the game.

"Everybody kept their minds on the game plan," junior center Darryl King said. "When things aren't going right, you can't let the mistakes get you down."

Midway through the first half, the early miscues disappeared. K-State outscored Florida A & M 23-11 to build a 37-15 lead with 3:52 remaining. Guard Keith Amerson scored 10 of his career-high 16 points during the stretch.

"I felt like I was taking good shots," Amerson said. "They just kept giving them to us, and I was able to knock some of them down."

Amerson, who has scored in double figures in all of K-State's exhibition and regular-season games, was 5-for-5 in the first half. K-State led 40-25 at intermission.

"We came out playing hard," Amerson said. "Tonight, we were ready to go the full 40 minutes."

The Rattlers learned that the hard way in the second half. K-State stretched the margin to 47-27 on a 3-point play by John Rettiger with 17:38 remaining, and the rout was on. The 'Cats had leads of 61-35, 76-39 and 82-40 after halftime.

"They pushed us out of our offense,"

■ See GAME, Page 11

K-STATE (93)

Amerson 7-10 2-2 16, Howard 5-12 1-2 11, Rettiger 6-11 3-4 15, Wires 1-7 0-0 3, Derouillere 7-13 2-4 17, Shadd 2-7 1-1 5, King 5-9 2-3 12, Zeigler 1-3 3-4 6, Sams 3-6 0-0 6, Fritz 1-3 0-0 2. Totals 38-81 14-20 93.

FLORIDA A & M (48)

Kennion 3-11 2-2 9, Dow 3-4 1-2 7, Daniels 3-16 4-6 10, K. Davis 4-11 1-1 9, Williams 2-7 0-0 5, Wright 1-4 0-0 2, McGear 1-1 2-4 4, C. Davis 0-0 0-0 0, Jackson 0-0 0-0 0, Lawson 0-0 2-2 2, Staten 0-1 0-0 0. Totals 17-55 12-17 48.

Halftime — K-State 40, Florida A & M 25. Three-point goals — K-State 3-9 (Amerson 0-1, Wires 1-1, Zeigler 1-2, Derouillere 1-4, Sams 0-1), Florida A & M (Kennion 1-2, Daniels 0-1, K. Davis 0-2, Williams 1-1). Rebounds — K-State 56 (King 9), Florida A & M (Daniels 7). Assists — K-State 23 (Wires, Derouillere 5), Florida A & M 7 (C. Davis 2). Total fouls — K-State 14, Florida A & M 19. Fouled out — none. Technicals — Dow, A — 8,789.

Wildcat forward Steve Fritz and Florida A & M guard Clarence Davis scramble for a loose ball during the first half Tuesday night in Bramlage Coliseum. The 'Cats went on to beat the Rattlers 93-48. Fritz scored two points and had two rebounds.

Players find new offense gets everyone involved

By Russ Ewy
Sports Reporter

K-State's new offense showed its face in Bramlage Coliseum Tuesday night, as the Wildcats ran away from Florida A & M, 93-48.

After scoring 61 points in their season opener Saturday night against Akron, the 'Cats jumped on the Rattlers from the start, building a 22-point lead late in the first half to a 47-point lead in the final minute of play.

"Anytime you get a team down a little bit, your confidence starts going, and it makes things run a little smoother," Coach Dana Altman said. "I think we played a little harder than we did against Akron, and I was encouraged by that."

"We were able to get it going a little bit more. The players were able to get some shots down early and get things going."

Guards Keith Amerson and Jean Derouillere paced the 'Cats, teaming up for 21 points on 10-for-14 shooting in the first period to offset K-State's 12 turnovers.

"Shooting makes up for a multitude of sins," Altman said. "We were shooting the ball well, and that helps. We didn't shoot the ball well in the first half, we shot 41 percent, but there was a stretch there where we hit some jumpers."

Getting used to his starting role this year, Amerson improved on his 15-point performance against Akron, shooting a career high 7-of-10 for 16 points — missing his first shot midway through the second half.

"I was into the flow of the game. I felt a little more comfortable with one game under my belt," Amerson said. "Jeff (Wires) was kicking me the ball and I was

■ See OFFENSE, Page 11

Sophomore transfer Deryl Cunningham and fellow sophomore Askia Jones watch the Wildcat win from the bench Tuesday night. Jones will undergo surgery this morning for a small, previously undetected break in his ankle. Surgeons will place two screws into the area, which already contains three screws from his previous surgery. Jones and Cunningham will both take the floor for K-State during the 1991-92 season.

Jones will undergo operation

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

The 1990-91 season was over before it started for K-State basketball player Askia Jones.

Jones, a sophomore from San Antonio, Texas, will undergo surgery at 10 this morning to repair a small break in his ankle that was previously undetected.

He broke the ankle this past summer while practicing to participate in the Olympic Festival in Minneapolis. Following the break, he returned to Manhattan and was operated on by Dr. William Jones, who will perform today's procedure as well.

At the time, Dr. Jones put three screws in the larger, detected break, and Askia Jones began the road back to full strength.

■ See JONES, Page 11

Second-half effort gives Lady Cats win

Coach views varied halves

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

If Coach Susan Yow had hoped that the Lady Cats would rebound from an ugly loss to Clemson, those hopes were definitely dashed after she watched the first half of Tuesday night's 63-57 win over the University of Missouri-Kansas City in Bramlage Coliseum.

The Lady Cats trailed by as many as 13 points during the half and by nine at halftime. They did not hit their first field goal until five minutes into the game, when Diana Miller canned a three-pointer.

The stats posted by the Lady Cats in the first half reflect what had to happen in the second half in order to make a comeback win. K-State shot only 6-of-23 from the field for 26.1 percent, and committed 14 turnovers.

"I thought in the first half we had very little ball movement in our offense and very little people movement," Yow said.

But forget about the first half and concentrate on the second half. The Lady Cats straightened out their problems over halftime and came out to seal the victory. According to

■ See VICTORY, Page 11

UMKC (57)

Creamer 4-9 0-28, Davis 4-6 0-8, Bivens 3-8 0-0 6, McNeal 2-9 0-0 5, Oliver 2-7 0-0 4, Barry 5-9 0-0 11, Ahrens 4-8 0-0 8, Walden 3-6 0-0 7, Briley 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 27-62 0-2 57.

LADY CATS (63)

D. Miller 9-16 4-5 25, Honeycutt 1-2 0-0 2, Bahner 3-9 3-9 9, Hazim 3-11 2-2 10, M.J. Miller 3-5 3-4 10, Grebing 0-1 1-2 1, Holzman 0-0 0-0 0, Moylan 0-0 0-0 0, Williams 2-3 2-5 6. Totals 21-47 15-21 63.

Halftime — UMKC 32, K-State 23. Three-point goals — Lady Cats 6-11 (D. Miller 3-5, Hazim 2-5, M.J. Miller 1-1), UMKC 3-9 (McNeal 1-4, Barry 1-2, Walden 1-3). Rebounds — Lady Cats 32 (Hazim 9), UMKC 34 (Davis 8). Assists — Lady Cats 13 (Bahner 5), UMKC 15 (Oliver 6). Total fouls — Lady Cats 8, Alabama State 19. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none.

David Mayes and Margaret Clarkin/Staff

ABOVE: Lady Cat Polly Williams attempts to block a shot by UMKC forward Tracy Creamer during the 63-57 K-State victory Tuesday night. RIGHT: Junior guard Mary Jo Miller scored nine points for the Lady Cats against UMKC at Bramlage Coliseum.

Backup center sparks rally

By Todd Fertig
Sports Reporter

Down by 12, averaging just a point per minute, there appeared to be little hope that the Lady Cats could bounce back with 15 minutes left to play against the University of Missouri-Kansas City Tuesday night.

And should anyone have given them even a shadow of a chance, they would never have expected the necessary spark to come from a reserve with only four points to her credit this season.

Sophomore center Polly Williams, who saw just 11 minutes of action in the team's first two games, entered the lineup in the second half with the team trailing by 13 and struggling to right itself on offense.

Adding height against the shorter UMKC team, Williams drew two quick fouls on the opposing defense and added a free-throw, but a comeback hardly appeared in the making.

After shooting just 26 percent from the field in the first half, the team suddenly found the right chemistry with Williams on the court, however, and began cutting into the UMKC lead.

At 12:19, Williams got a shot to drop from underneath the basket while drawing another foul. The three-point play brought the crowd to its feet and reduced the lead to 40-37.

Using a tall lineup teaming Williams with Kristie Bahner and Diana Miller, Williams defended against UMKC's top post player and added another bucket as the Lady Cats pulled to within one.

The spurt which decided the game lasted just more than five minutes and saw Williams record six points. The K-State run continued after Williams returned to the bench.

When two quick baskets brought

■ See WILLIAMS, Page 11

Shelter

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

If a person is evicted, the Manhattan Emergency Shelter may be able to provide a temporary living if the person is older than 18 years old. If a person is younger than 18, he has to be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

"We will not guarantee anybody any length of time to stay in the house, because there are rules in the house," Cody said. "No one can come into or stay in the house if they use drugs or have been drinking."

Cody said a person can only come to the house to live on three separate occasions during the span of one year.

The first time is of no certain length, usually just until the guests get their feet back on the ground and their financial situation stabilized. Cody said this is usually two to three weeks.

The second entry is only for five to seven days, and the third is only allowed for one night.

"We will help them budget and map out a plan to get them back on their own feet," Cody said. "In addition, we require people who stay with us to work at getting a job."

The financial assistance, a place to stay and the counseling on budgeting and attainment of goals are just a few of the services offered by the Manhattan Emergency Shelter Inc.

The emergency shelter can also provide clothing and a minimum amount of small household appliances.

Housing offers payment alternative

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

As the end of the semester approaches, students can find themselves strapped to pay that last housing installment, but K-State's Department of Housing has a policy to help those students pay their housing bills.

As the Christmas holiday nears, students' financial funds can become depleted and bills can go unpaid as they buy Christmas gifts for the family and spend money on their holiday vacation.

"If students are having a difficult time making payments, they are more than welcome to make a call, and we will see what kind of arrangements can be made," said Robert Burgess, assistant director of housing and dining services.

"We can't offer guarantees of being able to provide free housing, but we are willing to make the necessary arrangements with the students to see how we can assist them," Burgess said.

He said some options available might be to sit down with the student and determine their financial situation, expenses and draw up a plan accordingly.

Other options might be to restructure their payments or to lengthen them out.

"We typically do not have a large number of students who are unable to make payments," Burgess said. "Of the 4,000 students in residence halls, we are usually dealing with less than 1 percent who are having problems making payments."

Burgess said one of the pitfalls students encounter is they anticipate getting a campus job and don't receive it.

Another pitfall is that financial aid does not stretch as far as was originally anticipated.

The situation, however, that students are faced with most, Burgess said, is having to make decisions on whether to forego a certain activity in order to pay a bill.

"It's a difficult decision that the students don't always want to make," Burgess said.

If on-campus students are having problems they can seek assistance through the residence life department, an office within the housing department.

"It is the arm of the housing and dining services that deals specifically with the day-to-day experiences of the residents," said Rosanne Proite, assistant director of the department.

This department offers educational programs set up to help students with time management, stress management, financial planning and

Boston Acoustics Sale

Boston Acoustics separate series are designed to give you the ultimate sound quality in any application. The component system includes a woofer, varimount dome tweeter, and matching crossover. There is a system to fit your car!

	Sale
The Boston Acoustics 761 with 6" woofer Reg. $249 pr.	$169
The Boston Acoustics 751 with 5" woofer Reg. $239 pr.	$159
The Boston Acoustics 741 with 4" woofer Reg. $229 pr.	$149

All other Boston Acoustics car speakers sale priced, too!

AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.

630 Grant Ave.

HI FI-Car Stereo-Video
Car Stereo Installation
Stereo and Video Repair
1-762-4447
Mon.-Fri. 10-7, Sat. 10-5

PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET

WARNS YOU....
IF YOU ARE PAYING MORE THAN
$2495* COMPLETE SINGLE VISION - OR - $3495 COMPLETE BIFOCAL

FOR YOUR EYEGLASSES, INCLUDING FRAME - YOU ARE OVERPAYING!

AT PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET YOU GET....
UNLIMITED SELECTION - YOUR CHOICE OF OVER 1,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!

- NO CHARGE FOR SUN OR FASHION TINTED LENSES!
- NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR OVERSIZED OR PLASTIC LENSES!
- HIGHEST QUALITY FRAMES AND LENSES!
- HIGHEST PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS!
- SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!

* All normal prescriptions - distance, reading, or flat to 25 and 28mm, round or executive bifocals, in Rx's no higher than (+) or (-) 8.00 diopter sphere, with up to -2.00 cylinder. Adds no higher than (+) $3.00.
Photogrey Extra, Scratch and Ultra-Violet Coat - each $10 additional.

1210 MORO
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
537-1574

NEVER A SALE, ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICE!

JOBS

Apply now for spring semester COLLEGIAN news and advertising positions.
Students in any major are welcome to apply.

News Staff

Assistant Editor
Arts/Entertainment Editor
Campus Editor
City/Government Editor
Editorial Page Editor
Feature Writers
Managing Editor
News Editor

Photography Editor
Sports Editor
Sports Reporters
Staff Reporters
Columnists
Cartoonists
Reviewers
Copy Editors

Advertising Staff

Assistant Ad Manager
Graphic Artist
Sales Representatives

Campus/Tearsheet Rep.
Photographer
Creative Director

Obtain an application and job descriptions in Kedzie 103.

Application Deadline:

5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 28, in Kedzie 103

Sign up for interview when you return application.

SPRING ENROLLMENT PROBLEMS?

Independent Study may help you:

- take a course not offered on campus in a particular semester
- complete degree requirements or make up prerequisites
- earn academic credit without restrictions on class time and place

Independent Study offers you:

TIME—You have nine months to complete an Independent Study Course.

TRANSFERABILITY—Credit will transfer to Kansas State University. Before enrolling, check with your advisor to make sure the course applies toward degree requirements.

FLEXIBILITY—Work at your own pace in your own space.

QUALITY INSTRUCTORS—Most Independent Study instructors are faculty members at the Kansas Regents universities.

CHOICE—more than 100 college courses including:

Algebra	Introduction to Marriage & Family	Principles of Nutrition and Health
Calculus I	Introduction to U.S. Politics	Psych. and Ed. of Excep. Children
Composition	Kansas Literature	Supervisory Management
Composition and Literature	Managerial Accounting I	Teaching Reading in the Content Areas
Financial Accounting I	Modern Elementary Math	Technical Writing
General Psychology	Principles of Biology
History of Kansas	Principles of Human Learning
Human Physiology
Introduction to Fiction

Independent Study is a unit of the University of Kansas Division of Continuing Education and is mandated by the Kansas Board of Regents to serve the correspondence study needs of all Kansans. All courses are similar to those taught in residence.

For more information or to request a course catalog, call toll free:
1-800-532-6772.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

12 DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Purchase one Double Cappuccino for the price of a Single Cappuccino.
Valid with this coupon. Today only.
Expires 11/28/90

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—

Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWE REAL ESTATE

2001 Anderson Boulevard, KS 66602
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-3005

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz

537-2480

Free Estimates

QUICK LITE
BATTERIES

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

More Than Copies

- ▶ Resumes
- ▶ FAX Service
- ▶ Collating
- ▶ Binding
- ▶ Passport Photos
- ▶ Macintosh™ Rental
- ▶ LaserWriter® Prints
- ▶ Office Supplies
- ▶ Oversize Copies
- ▶ Color Copies
- ▶ Specialty Papers
- ▶ Business Cards & Letterheads
- ▶ Full & Self-Serve Copies
- ▶ Convenient Hours

kinko's
the copy center

1329 Anderson
537-7340
537-0967 Fax

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.00

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.00

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS

Tinker Belles

sterling silver spheres with musical chimes inside.
For pendants, Christmas gifts, and executive play toys.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

25% OFF

PERMS
&
RELAXERS

$5.00 off FACIALS

HAPPY HOLIDAYS

Exp. 12/15/90

613 N. Manhattan • 539-7621 w/this ad

On the fourth day of Christmas
my true love gave to me:

3 for 2 French Vanilla
serving (small-medium-large)

at

Nautilus Towers
in Aggieville
Manhattan, KS

537-1616

Coupon expires 11/30/90

Kansas Grown fresh cut trees have arrived. Choose yours while selection is at its best. Decorate your fresh tree with lights, ornaments, and ribbon from . . .

Christmas at

1105 Waters

539-4751

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

4th Day—Buy any $4.39 or higher footlong for just $4 plus tax.
Offer good Nov. 28 & 29

Must present ad—not good in combination with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan

537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

Man's Best Gund.

Gotta
Getta
GUND.

704 N. Manhattan Ave.-In Aggieville-539-7654

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS?

Selected Suits

from Hart
Schaffner & Marx,
Christian Dior,
Gordon Thomas &
Sansabel

Reg. $270-$475

NOW $216-380

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours Mon.-Fri. 10-8 Sat. 10-6 Sun. 1-5

Finney announces appointments for prison, highway patrol heads

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — Governor-elect Joan Finney announced Tuesday she will retain Steve Davies as secretary of corrections and will put defeated attorney general candidate Bert Cantwell in charge of the Highway Patrol when she takes office in January.

Davies, who has quieted legislative complaints about how the state's prison system is run since outgoing Gov. Mike Hayden made him corrections chief a year and a half ago, and Cantwell, who headed the Patrol in the mid-1980s, are the second and third permanent appointments Finney has announced since she was elected governor Nov. 6.

On Monday, she named state Sen. Michael Johnston of Parsons to be secretary of the Department of Human Resources when she takes office.

She previously named six acting top officials in her pending administration. They are Robert C. Harder, secretary of social and rehabilitation services; Michael Lennen, chief transition person in revenue; Arthur Griggs, acting secretary of administration, and Gary Stotts, acting budget director. Also, Esther Wolf continues as secretary on aging and Stanley Grant continues as secretary of health and environment on an interim basis.

Davies was appointed secretary of the Department of Corrections by Hayden in May 1989, replacing the controversial Roger Endell. Davies has worked 14 years in the Department of Corrections, including stints as deputy secretary and director of Kansas State Penitentiary.

Davies, 43, announced last May he was leaving the Department of Corrections to become president of Highland Community College in Highland, Kan., but changed his mind six weeks later and decided to continue as secretary of corrections.

He was hospitalized last February with a collapsed artery in his neck, and cited the need to continue his therapy treatment in Topeka as the reason he was turning down the Highland job.

"Secretary Davies' depth of experience and proven ability in the field of correctional management is of the highest quality," Finney said in announcing that Davies will continue as corrections secretary. "His popularity throughout Kansas has been well-earned."

Cantwell, who ran unsuccessfully for attorney general this year, was Patrol superintendent in 1983-87 when John Carlin was governor. He has been practicing law the past two years.

"We'll be fortunate to have him in our administration," Finney said of Cantwell.

Gary Lytler/Staff

Working on the assembly line, students in the manufacturing systems design and analysis course assemble wooden sailboats in Durland Hall.

Boats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 they have taken up to this point," he said.

As in any real working company, things have gone wrong. The class is required to stop and correct any production problems that occur. These snags and holdups are one of the most frustrating parts of the class, Young said.

ing parts of the class, Young said.

"No textbook can teach you these kind of things," Kramer said. "It's a really heavy load for the students, but I think they always end up enjoying it."

The sailboats, which come with a wooden stand, are made of redwood with colored canvas sails and brass keels. They cost $10.

Tale of young truant appealing to all ages

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

What child — or even adult — wouldn't like to live as Pippi Longstocking does? She doesn't go to school, nobody tells her when to go to bed, she's traveled the world and carries a suitcase full of gold.

Children of all ages will have a chance to see Pippi's magic when the Children's Theater Company presents its production of "Pippi Longstocking" in McCain Auditorium at 7 p.m. today. Tickets for the performance are $6 for students and children, $10 for senior citizens and $12 for general public.

"This show is not exclusive to children," said Richard Martin, director of McCain. "It is for everyone to enjoy memories of childhood adventures."

The story revolves around a whirlwind of a girl named Pippilotta Delicatessa Windowshade Mackrelmint Ephraim's Daughter Longstocking — Pippi for short. Pippi lives with her horse and pet monkey, Mr. Nilsen, in the Swedish village of Villa Villekulla.

The free-spirited girl tries to be friends with everyone, but her humorous disregard for authority gets her into trouble with adults.

The CTC's 1990 tour consists of 20 members, including three young people under the age of 16. These children aren't latter-day Pippis, however. The company double-casts the leads so the children do not have to be away from school for more than two weeks at a time.

The Manhattan show will feature Jennifer Green as Pippi, Rachel Wilkie as Annika and Vincent Kartheiser as Tommy.

"Children are the special part of what we do," said Heather Spicuzza, CTC national tour coordinator. "We feel that only children should play children's roles."

The child actors may miss some school, but the CTC offers them an opportunity to gain acting experience and world travel — and living expenses are paid.

Directly following the show, the Children's Program Committee of the McCain Development Board will sponsor a Pippi Ice Cream Party for children and adults in the lobby of Nichols Hall. Pippi, accompanied by pirates, will attend the party.

The reception will feature several activities to entertain everyone. Along with ice cream topped with all kinds of candy, participants will receive coloring souvenirs, posters and a handful of goodies from Pippi's treasure chest. Tickets for the reception are $3.

In Monday's edition of the Collegian, MacSource Manhattan was incorrectly listed as an Apple Authorized Dealer. The Manhattan store is an Authorized Higher Education Sales Consultant. MacSource has Apple Authorized Dealers in Overland Park and Lawrence.

We apologize for any inconvenience.
Paid for by Apple

Ad It Up! in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Kansas State University
presents

PARKER J. PALMER

delivering the

Chester Peters Lecture
in Student Development

Dr. Palmer's address is titled
The Courage To Teach and To Learn

Thursday, November 29, 1990
10:30 a.m.
Forum Hall
K-State Union

Follow-Up Session
1:30 - 3:00 p.m.
Union 212

The Public is Invited
Sponsored by the College of Education in Cooperation with the KSU Foundation and Blue Key Honorary
Contact Person: Dr. John Steffen, (913) 532-5541

Live Band Tonight:

"Be Here Now"

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Radio Shack

AMERICA'S TECHNOLOGY STORE™

CHRISTMAS GIFT SALE!

PLUS REGULAR AND SPECIAL-PURCHASE ITEMS

Handy Cordless Telephone Cut 25% 59.95 Reg. 79.95 Tone/pulse dialing. #43-554	Compact Two-Way Speaker HALF PRICE! 39.95 Reg. 79.95 Bookshelf-size. #40-4036	3-Channel Walkie Talkie 40% Off 29.95 Reg. 49.95 2-watt power! #21-1638	Dual-Alarm Clock Radio 38% Off 29.95 Reg. 47.95 Blue fluorescent display. #12-1578
Personal Telephone Cut 25% 14.88 Reg. 19.95 Tone/pulse. #43-500	Spell Checker 40% Off 29.95 Reg. 49.95 Pocket-size! #63-676	Stereo Headset 45% Off 21.95 Reg. 39.95 Lightweight. AM/FM. #12-125	Pocket Calc Cut 41% 8.88 Reg. 14.95 Adjustable display. #65-564
Electronic Spell 'n Math Cut 19% 21.95 Reg. 26.95 Fun way to learn! Teaches ABCs and 123s. #60-1093	Radio-Controlled 4 x 4 Trucks SUPER VALUE! 47.95 Reg. 59.95 Tackles Tough Terrain High-traction 4-wheel drive. Two gears—high for speed, low for power. 12 1/2" long. 27 MHz. #60-4057. 49 MHz. #60-4067	Robie Bank—A Safe Investment SUPER VALUE! 9.95 Teaches kids to save. Pop a coin in Robie's mouth, he licks his lips & rolls his eyes. #60-2261	Pencil Sharpener SPECIAL PURCHASE! 3.99 Cordless! Ideal gift. #61-2795

Computer Savings to Make the Season Brighter

Compact Home PC Compatible HALF PRICE! 499.50 Low As $20 Per Month Reg. Separate Items 999.95 Easy-to-use Personal DeskMate 2™ for writing, filing, music. #25-1053/1043 PC Software Composite	Family PC Compatible Save $100 799.90 Low As $25 Per Month Reg. Separate Items 899.90 $200 Off. Tandy 1000 RL with 20MB Drive, Monitor and 24 Applications. Reg. separate items $1299.90. #25-1451/1043. Sale 1099.90.	Take the Office With You! Laptop PC Compatible Save $100 $699 Low As $75 Per Month 3 1/2" floppy drive. #25-3530	Dot-Matrix Printer Save 269.95 Low As $15 Per Month Reg. 359.95 #26-2848
Joystick 27% Off 21.95 Reg. 29.95 #26-3123		Diskette Box SPECIAL PURCHASE! 4.88 Each 3 1/2", #26-283

Shop Radio Shack, Your Software Headquarters!

New Holiday Hours
Mon.-Fri., 9-8
Sat., 9-5, Sun., 1-5

2609 Anderson
in Anderson Square
539-6151

Most Major Credit
Cards Welcome

North's felony charges set aside

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A federal appeals court left in place Tuesday its decision setting aside former White House aide Oliver L. North's three felony Iran-Contra convictions, setting up a likely Supreme Court appeal.

The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit denied independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh's petition for a rehearing of the July 20 decision by a split three-judge panel.

The court let stand the panel's 2-1 ruling, which set aside all of North's convictions, and ordered a lower-court hearing to determine whether references to testimony the former White House aide gave Congress under a limited grant of immunity from prosecution had seeped into his trial.

The split panel had also reversed outright North's conviction on one count because it found the trial judge had given erroneous jury instructions.

Walsh said that he would ask the Supreme Court to review Tuesday's decision "because of the importance of the questions involved."

North, a retired Marine Corps lieutenant colonel, was also convicted of aiding and abetting the obstruction of Congress, and of accepting an illegal gratuity.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell had placed North on probation, fined him $150,000 and ordered him to perform 1,200 hours of community service.

If the Supreme Court does not agree to take the case, Tuesday's decision would send the case back to Gesell for a hearing. Walsh would have to prove then that the testimony North gave Congress was not unfairly used against him at his trial.

North had used the July 20 decision to resist testifying as a witness before the federal grand jury that is investigating the role of other Reagan administration officials in the Iran-Contra affair.

He testified six times before the grand jury but has not appeared since his convictions were set aside. North's lawyers attended a closed court session last week to argue against further grand jury testimony.

The three-judge panel had ordered a witness, by witness review of the trial, to determine if any testimony was influenced by news accounts of what North told the congressional panels that investigated the sale of U.S. arms to Iran.

Fuel fire at airport out after 53 hours

By The Associated Press

DENVER — A huge jet fuel fire that burned unchecked for two days near Stapleton International Airport was extinguished Tuesday with help from a team of specialists flown in from Texas.

Mounting an all-out assault, firefighters put out the flames in two storage tanks about 2:30 p.m., 53 hours after the fire began, said Fire Department spokesman Mike McNeil.

"Everybody is relieved. It's been a long ordeal," McNeil said. "There were a lot of smiles on a lot of faces."

A five-man team from Williams, Boots & Coots of Port Neches, Texas, donned fireproof suits and sealed broken valves on an 800,000-gallon tank that was one-third to one-half full of jet fuel and a 350,000-gallon tank that had only a fraction of fuel left.

The two tanks had been on fire since Monday, ignited by a pair of 400,000-gallon tanks that caught fire Sunday. Two other tanks that caught on fire burned themselves out Monday. The four tanks, containing more than 2 million gallons of jet fuel, were part of a fuel storage farm for Stapleton airport that includes 12 tanks holding a total of about 5 million gallons of fuel.

The storage area is about one-half mile north of the Stapleton terminal.

Several water and foam sprays were trained on the two still-burning tanks to cool them down so the team could move close enough to spray the leaking valves with potassium bicarbonate.

McNeil said the blasts of foam and water worked better than expected.

Denver fire officials had planned to let the fire burn itself out, but they changed their strategy Tuesday after a meeting with Williams, Boots & Coots executives.

U.N. says Soviets face hard winter

By The Associated Press

GENEVA — The Soviet Union and its former allies are likely to face the hardest winter since World War II as recession, compounded by rising oil prices, continues to deepen, U.N. economists said Tuesday.

The economists drew a grim picture of increasing food shortages in the Soviet Union, Bulgaria and Romania, soaring unemployment rates throughout the region and double-digit inflation. These threats could stall the whole reform process of moving from a command to a market economy.

"The consequences of such a failure are incalculable and would not only be economic," they warned in a 147-page report. The report also pointed to increasing signs of social unrest in the East.

"One certain effect would be to raise enormous pressures for emigration from the East to the West," said the survey, compiled by experts of the U.N. Economic Commission for Europe. It noted that new Soviet legislation would soon allow unrestricted travel abroad.

"There seems to be little ground for contradicting the view that the people of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union are facing their hardest winter since the end of the second World War," it said.

The survey also said slower economic growth in Western Europe and fears that the United States could slide into recession may have an impact on financial and technical support for the East.

Moscow's former Eastern European allies depend on the Soviet Union for about 80 percent of their oil. Transmission breakdowns have already reduced Soviet exports by more than a fifth, the survey noted.

Bush vows to work for free U.S.-Mexico trade

By The Associated Press

MONTERREY, Mexico — President Bush said Tuesday the U.S. economic slowdown could make it harder to obtain a free-trade pact with Mexico, but pledged to write a new page in North American history with his veto pen if necessary to stop protectionist bills.

Bush wrapped up a two-day state visit and talks with President Carlos Salinas de Gortari with new agreements on oil investment, border crossings and on educational exchanges.

In a joint statement issued shortly before the president headed home from this northern Mexico industrial city, Bush and Salinas proclaimed cooperation between their governments and reiterated a mutual call for a free-trade agreement.

In a key agreement, the pair resolved a U.S.-Mexican disagreement over the question of whether Mexico's vast oil industry should be open to U.S. or other foreign investment. Salinas has insisted the state-run and subsidized oil industry be exempt from the free-trade talks.

Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady told reporters here that the dispute has been eased by Mexico's agreement to allow an Export-Import Bank loan for drilling and supplying equipment in Mexican oil exploration.

Brady said that, "for the first time, the services of American companies will be welcome and sought after with regard to drilling and other supplies in the Mexican oil fields."

Brady said the agreement will continue to prohibit U.S. companies from owning direct interests in Mexican oil production.

The two presidents also announced that both governments would work toward opening nine new border points-of-entry to ease congestion at crossing stations and to make it easier for both Americans and Mexicans to travel across each other's borders.

Roman Popadiuk, a White House spokesman, said "both the United States and Mexico favor having new and additional ports-of-entry between the two countries where feasible, and after study and approval, by both sides."

He said specific sites for the nine new crossings had not been determined.

"This agreement will unleash powerful energies in both economies," Bush said in a toast at a state luncheon. "We're not on an easy path, but I believe we're on the right one."

Salinas said the free-trade pact would help Mexicans find jobs in their own country instead having to cross the border to find work.

Bush held a breakfast meeting with a group of Mexican and American business leaders, then met for the second day with Salinas and aides. Afterwards, the two leaders addressed a theater audience of Monterrey citizens and Bush met with about 100 Mexican business leaders.

"As the giant U.S. economy slows down, it concerns me that some in our country and some in our Congress might turn inward to what you properly label as a protectionist mode," Bush said.

He said that if U.S. businesses want to export "we better not be protectionists."

"We're going to have problems with certain elements" in winning support for the trade pact, which would be similar to the one the United States and Canada signed in 1988, Bush said.

"It is a concern. It is not an overwhelming concern. I think it is something that can be managed," he said.

BOOKS & BRICKS CONTINUES!

2 Good To Be True
2 of VISTA'S Corndogs/Reg. Fry
$2.00

Two of Vista's famous homemade corndogs and a regular fry — only $2.00

Vista
DRIVE IN 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Vista
EXPRESS
Village Plaza Shopping Center

Snookies

Tonight, Nov. 28

Live Band "No Parking"
$2.00 Pitchers

Thurs., Dec. 6

THE Romantics

Tickets on Sale Now
$8 in advance, $10 at the door

18 to enter, 21 to drink

1122 Moro • Upstairs • Aggieville • 776-7726

the
Loft
Women's Casualwear In Aggieville

Felt Fedora Hat
50% off

A perfect topper for that casual but sophisticated look.

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO
539-1319

HRS Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 8:00
Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

If you're serious about fun we have the glasses

Drs. Price, Young, & Odle, P.A.
and Associates, Optometrists
3012 Anderson,
Manhattan, KS
913-537-1118

Bowling Tournament

December 7, 1990 3:30 p.m.

Participants must be K-State Students.

Men's and Women's Divisions. Top 5 men and women to represent K-State in Regional Competition.

Each entrant will bowl 6 games. Entry fee - $9

Sign up deadline December 5

K-State Union Recreation

'tis the season

1225 Moro
Aggieville

Open:
Mon.-Thurs.
9:30-1:00
Fri. & Sat.
9:30-5:30
Sun. 1-5

Jones

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

But he never reached the end of that road because of the small crack that was finally detected by a Kansas City-area doctor late last week, when Askia Jones underwent a stress X-ray while seeking out a second opinion.

No stress X-ray was performed before the initial operation.

"I could see a clear break line when they showed me the stress X-ray," Askia Jones said. "It was broken from day one."

He had been suffering from inflammation in the tendons surrounding the break, and it was thought that the screws implanted in the initial break might have been the cause. But the undetected break was the culprit all along.

Dr. Jones will put an additional two screws in the newly-detected break, and Askia Jones is expected to be back at full strength — minus any further complications — by March.

That prognosis, however, left Wildcat coach Dana Altman and one of his top returnees with but one option — to exercise the forward's red-shirt year. When Askia Jones returns to the court next season, he'll be a junior in the classroom but still a sophomore eligibility-wise.

"We waited as long as we could to see if we could get him ready, and then they found the additional break," Altman said. "We're very disappointed. Ski's someone who means an awful lot to our program. I guess if there's a silver lining to this, the fact that we have him for the following three years is very encouraging. Ski's only going to get better."

Jones, despite obvious disappointment that the small break hadn't been detected earlier — he stared silently into space when he was asked if he was angry and appeared to need a few seconds to regain his composure — tried to be as philosophical as possible later.

"I'm pretty disappointed about having to sit out this year, but I'm just going to work hard to rehabilitate, practice and just improve my game," he said. "I'm not too worried about it. At 10 o'clock, I'll be there."

The earliest the screws could be removed is six months, Askia Jones said, and he indicated he'll opt to play with them still in place for as long as it causes him no further discomfort.

The loss of the swingman hurts K-State in a multitude of ways, Altman said.

"Ski is our most versatile player," Altman said. "He's able to play the one (point guard), two (shooting guard) or three (small forward) positions."

"That's the thing that will hurt our team the most. Ski is able to handle the ball at the point, is able to shoot it well enough to be an off guard, and he's big enough to go rebound and crafty enough to take it to the hole."

Jones, named to the UPI All-Big Eight freshman team last season, averaged 7.9 points a game overall, but 10.6 points and 3.4 rebounds an outing in conference play.

Williams

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

UMKC back to within one at 56-55, however, Lady Cat coach Susan Yow gave Williams a vote of confidence, quickly ordering her back into the game to help stop the comeback.

Because of her limited playing time in the first two games, the opportunity to provide such a crucial spark to the team came as somewhat of a surprise for Williams.

"I'm always ready, but I just wasn't sure how I would react when I got in there," Williams said. "I don't feel so much like I made that big a contribution. I just feel like when they needed me to play my role, I was confident enough to be able to keep the team from going down to a lower level. If I'm able to add a spark when I go in that's great."

"I think Polly was a real key for us coming off the bench," Yow said following the game. "I think she really sparked us. The three-point play she made was a real key for us."

Yow noted that it was important for Williams to blend into the flow of the offense, and said Williams' presence allowed her some flexibility in the defensive rotation.

"I think the team felt good with her coming in, and our defense was real good at that point because we could move Kristie and Diana up and it gave us some good height on the back line."

Williams connected on two of three attempts from the field and drew four fouls on opposing defenders. She said the opportunity to contribute and Yow's faith in her down the stretch gave her a boost of confidence.

"It allows me to believe that (Yow) has confidence in me and that she's not afraid to put me in when the game is on the line," Williams said.

Victory

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

Yow, the team that played the second half was the type of team K-State is. K-State outscored UMKC 40-25 and shot 62.5 percent from the field to capture the victory. The win moved K-State to 2-1 on the season and dropped UMKC to 0-3.

"I really think the whole key was that the players decided that they were here to play basketball. They had decided that they wanted to win the game as much as the University of Missouri-Kansas City," Yow said. "We dodged a huge bullet. I feel like I've heard that word a lot lately in the paper, but ... we were so fortunate to pull it out."

The keys to the game came in the form of big plays by Diana Miller and Mary Jo Miller. Mary Jo Miller sparked an 11-0 run that knocked the UMKC lead from 40-28 to 40-39 with a three-point shot from 23 feet.

Diana Miller then gave the Lady Cats their first lead of the night — 51-49 — since 1:09 into the first half. She hit a shot underneath the basket and converted it into a conventional three-pointer by drawing a foul and converting the charity toss with 5:52 left. She led all scorers with 25 points, 15 of which came in the second half.

"I really don't know what my problem is. It seems like I am turning into a second-half player, and that is kind of bad news," Diana Miller said. "I think when we didn't do good, and (Yow) called a time out immediately, that's when I started saying 'Di, you have got to buckle down right here and step up.'"

The first half seemed as if K-State was committing more turnovers than putting points on the scoreboard. It forced Yow to look at the offensive scheme, and initiate a new one to begin the second half.

"The key was that they got more aggressive and got more determined in the second half," Yow said. "As far as strategically, we changed our offense. We went to what we call No. 3 offense, and it's more of a thought-up type of offense and has a continuity to it. I think that that helped us."

Another concern for Yow is the team's inability to get offensive rebounds. K-State had only eight offensive boards, and that immediately effects scoring if there is only one attempt to score.

"We don't seem to get any offensive boards. We only attempted 47 shots for the game. We don't have a lot of put-backs," Yow said. "We can't hit 50 percent every night — 55 percent from the field — and I am concerned about us not being able to get second and third shots."

Offense

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

into the flow of the game. I felt a little more comfortable with one game under my belt," Amerson said.

With the entire squad scoring, along with five 'Cats scoring in double figures, K-State posted its second-biggest win margin in Bramlage.

"Getting a lot of players scoring is what every coach likes. The shots looked pretty even and that's nice to see," Altman said. "I thought we moved the ball well at times and got the ball to the open man. We got the ball a little bit more inside tonight, which is encouraging."

"When you play hard, I think good things will happen for you, everything will fall into place," King said. "We have a lot to learn from (last night). It was a good game, we played pretty good, but we have a lot to learn."

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's

12 Days of K-State Christmas

Sale Items in the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

Farrell Needs Your HELP!

"Books & Bricks is a campaign sponsored by the KSU Student Foundation to raise money for Farrell Library.

"Student Foundation and the Student Governing Association will call graduating seniors this week to ask for your pledge of $25-50 per year for the next four years.

"Funds given to 'Books' will increase book purchases. Funds given to 'Bricks' will supplement the library building fund.

FUTURE K-STATERS ARE COUNTING ON YOU!

Sponsored by:

SPRING ENROLLMENT PROBLEMS?

Independent Study may help you:

- take a course not offered on campus in a particular semester
- complete degree requirements or make up prerequisites
- earn academic credit without restrictions on class time and place

Independent Study offers you:

TIME—You have nine months to complete an Independent Study Course.

TRANSFERABILITY—Credit will transfer to Kansas State University. Before enrolling, check with your advisor to make sure the course applies toward degree requirements.

FLEXIBILITY—Work at your own pace in your own space.

QUALITY INSTRUCTORS—Most Independent Study instructors are faculty members at the Kansas Regents universities.

CHOICE—more than 100 college courses including:

Algebra
Calculus I
Composition
Composition and Literature
Financial Accounting I
General Psychology
History of Kansas
Human Physiology
Introduction to Fiction

Introduction to Marriage & Family
Introduction to U.S. Politics
Kansas Literature
Managerial Accounting I
Modern Elementary Math
Principles of Biology
Principles of Human Learning

Principles of Nutrition and Health
Psych. and Ed. of Excep. Children
Supervisory Management
Teaching Reading in the Content Areas
Technical Writing

Independent Study is a unit of the University of Kansas Division of Continuing Education and is mandated by the Kansas Board of Regents to serve the correspondence study needs of all Kansans. All courses are similar to those taught in residence.

For more information or to request a course catalog, call toll free:
1-800-532-6772.

SUPER VALUE MENU

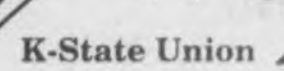

Jr. Bacon Cheeseburger
Biggie Fries
Biggie Drink
16 oz. Frosty Dairy Dessert
8 oz. Chili
Garden Salad
Baked Potato w/sour cream

99¢

EACH

Both Manhattan locations:
3006 Anderson 421 North Third

The best hamburgers and a whole lot more.

Holiday Buffet

Sunday, December 9, 1990
11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.
and
5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.
K-State Union Main Ballroom

Tickets are $10 per person,
$5 for children 10 years and younger

Tickets are by reservation only
Purchase your tickets now through December 7, 1990
at the Director's Office
2nd Floor of the K-State Union

K-State Union
Host to Kansas State University

Alaska declares oil spill nearly cleaned

By The Associated Press

JUNEAU, Alaska — About 85 percent of the rocky shores oiled in the Exxon Valdez disaster have been sufficiently cleaned, Alaska's oil-spill coordinator said as the state released next year's cleanup plan.

"The last 15 percent might come hard, but there's just not all that much left to do," Ernie Piper said Monday.

The plan repeats the state's contention that Exxon Corp. should complete the cleanup next year. It is intended to clarify which areas the state believes still need treatment.

"Next summer the big, tough decision is going to be made: How much oil to leave behind," Piper said. "It's one of the biggest decisions since statehood."

The tanker Exxon Valdez spilled nearly 11 million gallons of crude oil in Prince William Sound after it struck a reef on March 24, 1989. A total of 1,285 miles of shore extending into the Gulf of Alaska were coated with oil, and many birds and sea mammals were killed.

The plan includes a summary of conditions at 757 shoreline segments, based on a fall survey. The state has determined 404 of those segments need no more treatment.

Oil remains at many of the 404 sites, mostly under the surface. But the plan says the state considers it neither technically possible nor environmentally practical to remove all remaining contamination.

In a news release, Gov. Steve Cowper said "The state, Coast Guard and Exxon have made substantial progress throughout the spill area. Many areas are free of oil. However, there are limits to what we can and should do."

It's somewhat misleading to say the sites have been cleaned, Piper said. What the state is saying is that everything that can be done has been done at the approved sites.

Exxon spokesman Karsten Rodvik in Anchorage said the company was reviewing the plan and would have no immediate comment. The company will make no decision on next year's cleanup until a new shore survey is completed next spring, he said.

The nation's largest oil company has spent more than $2.2 billion on the cleanup and paid more than $240 million in claims to those who suffered damages from the spill.

Kedzie 103

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

TONIGHT
$1
LONGNECKS
25¢
KAMIS
BAYSTREET

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

532-6555

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

Bobby J's
WEDNESDAYS:
STEAK NIGHT
$4.49 Filet Mignon
$4.99 K.C. Strip
$5.49 T-Bone
with drink order, baked potato and salad
539-1571

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW, one, two-bedroom, furnished, located in Denison, no pets, $245/$380 a month. 539-5697.

FIRST MONTH free! Available spring semester, roomy apartment for two. One and one-half blocks south of campus, water, trash, deposit already paid. Call Carina 537-0772.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, heat, water trash included. No pets. $220/ month. 539-3821.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Blumont. Available mid-December. $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May. $275, no pets. 539-5136.

IDEAL ARRANGEMENT for three compatible students, three-bedroom, two-bath, full kitchen, off-street parking, laundry. Available Jan. 1. $190 month each, bills paid. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus, one person basement apartment. $230/ month, heat and gas paid, no pets. 537-6871.

ONE- OR two-bedroom with living, dining, kitchen, hardwood floors, storage, laundry, off-street parking. Ideal for married couple. 537-2266.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-FOURTH block from campus. One and one-half bath, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1. $540 per month plus utilities. 539-6878 or 537-1746.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, one-bedroom apartment, pool/ jacuzzi, nice, close to campus, extremely affordable. 539-0361.

(Continued on page 13)

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00070	01830	06540	09060	11640	14770	18090	20760	23420	26280	27580	32720	36640
00080	03910	06560	09070	11650	14780	18100	20780	23430	26270	27670	32780	36650
00130	03950	06590	09110	11670	14790	18110	20790	23440	26280	27700	32800	36670
00140	04150	06810	09160	11680	14800	18120	20800	23460	26290	27710	32820	36690
00440	04170	06830	09170	11690	14810	18130	20810	23470	26300	27720	32830	36700
00900	04230	06890	09250	11700	14920	18240	20820	23470	26310	27840	32840	36800
00930	04300	06960	09300	11710	14940	18360	20830	23490	26320	27870	32850	36800
00940	04660	06980	09360	11720	14950	18370	20840	23500	26330	27890	32860	36800
00960	04691	06990	09380	11721	14960	18380	20850	23510	26340	27900	32870	36800
00970	04750	06990	09400	11740	14970	18400	20860	23520	26350	27910	32880	36800
01480	04870	06910	09660	11750	14980	18410	20900	23510	26360	27920	32880	36800
01490	04930	06910	09680	11760	15010	18420	20910	23520	26370	27930	32890	36800
01520	04950	06940	09690	11770	15050	18430	20920	23530	26380	27940	32890	36800
01760	05370	07030	09700	11910	15070	18490	20940	23590	26400	27980	32920	36800
01760	05380	07040	09710	11920	15080	18490	20950	23590	26410	27990	32930	36800
01770	05390	07050	09720	11930	15090	18500	20960	23600	26420	28000	32940	36800
01990	05810	07060	09750	12130	15130	18590	21000	23640	26460	28040	32980	36800
02000	05830	07070	09770	12160	15150	18600	21030	23670	26490	28070	32990	36800
02010	05840	07080	09780	12170	15160	18610	21040	23680	26500	28080	33000	36800
02060	05870	07130	09800	12210	15180	18630	21060	23700	26520	28100	33010	36800
02100	05880	07140	09810	12230	15190	18640	21070	23710	26530	28110	33010	36800
02140	05890	07150	09820	12240	15200	18650	21080	23720	26540	28120	33020	36800
02150	05900	07160	09830	12250	15210	18660	21090	23730	26550	28130	33020	36800
02320	05510	07180	10260	12590	15260	18680	21130	23760	26580	28160	33060	36800
02340	05520	07210	10320	12630	15290	18690	21190	23800	26620	28200	33100	36800
02350	05530	07230	10360	12630	15300	18710	21230	23810	26630	28210	33100	36800
02420	05540	07260	10400	12640	15320	18730	21290	23850	26670	28250	33140	36800
02430	05550	07290	10460	12650	15330	18740	21300	23860	26680	28260	33140	36800
02440	05560	07300	10470	12660	15340	18750	21310	23870	26690	28270	33140	36800
02450	05570	07310	10480	12670	15350	18760	21320	23880	26700	28280	33140	36800
02730	05580	07360	10710	13220	15370	18780	21330	23890	26710	28300	33180	36800
03040	05600	07380	11120	13240	15420	18790	21370	23900	26720	28350	33220	36800
03060	05610	07390	11130	13250	15430	18800	21380	23910	26730	28360	33220	36800
03120	05620	07400	11160	13260	15440	18810	21390	23920	26740	28370	33230	36800
03130	05630	07410	11170	13270	15450	18820	21400	23930	26750	28380	33230	36800
03140	05640	07420	11180	13280	15460	18830	21410	23930	26760	28390	33240	36800
03160	05650	07430	11190	13290	15470	18840	21420	23940	26770	28400	33240	36800
03190	05660	07440	11200	13300	15480	18850	21430	23950	26780	28410	33250	36800
03200	05670	07450	11210	13310	15490	18860	21440	23960	26790	28420	33250	36800
03260	05680	07460	11220	13320	15500	18870	21450	23970	26800	28430	33260	36800
03270	05690	07470	11230	13330	15510	18880	21460	23980	26810	28440	33260	36800
03280	05700	07480	11240	13340	15520	18890	21470	23990	26820	28450	33270	36800
03290	05710	07490	11250	13350	15530	18900	21480	24000	26830	28460	33270	36800
03300	05720	07500	11260	13360	15540	18910	21490	24010	26840	28470	33280	36800
03310	05730	07510	11270	13370	15550	18920	21500	24020	26850	28480	33280	36800
03320	05740	07520	11280	13380	15560	18930	21510	24030	26860	28490	33290	36800
03330	05750	07530	11290	13390	15570	18940	21520	24040	26870	28500	33290	36800
03340	05760	07540	11300	13400	15580	18950	21530	24050	26880	28510	33300	36800
03350	05770	07550	11310	13410	15590	18960	21540	24060	26890	28520	33300	36800
03360	05780	07560	11320	13420	15600	18970	21550	24070	26900	28530	33310	36800
03370	05790	07570	11330	13430	15610	18980	21560	24080	26910	28540	33310	36800
03380	05800	07580	11340	13440	15620	18990	21570	24090	26920	28550	33320	36800
03390	05810	07590	11350	13450	15630	19000	21580	24100	26930	28560	33320	36800
03400	05820	07600	11360	13460	15640	19010	21590	24110	26940	28570	33330	36800
03410	05830	07610	11370	13470	15650	19020	21600	24120	26950	28580	33330	36800
03420	05840	07620	11380	13480	15660	19030	21610	24130	26960	28590	33340	36800
03430	05850	07630	11390	13490	15670	19040	21620	24140	26970	28600	33340	36800
03440	05860	07640	11400	13500	15680	19050	21630	24150	26980	28610	33350	36800
03450	05870	07650	11410	13510	15690	19060	21640	24160	26990	28620	33350	36800
03460	05880	07660	11420	13520	15700	19070	21650	24170	27000	28630	33360	36800
03470	05890	07670	11430	13530	15710	19080	21660	24180	27010	28640	33360	36800
03480	05900	07680	11440	13540	15720	19090	21670	24190	27020	28650	33370	36800
03490	05910	07690	11450	13550	15730	19100	21680	24200	27030	28660	33370	36800
03490	05920	07700	11460	13560	15740	19110	21690	24210	27040	28670	33380	36800
03500	05930	07710	11470	13570	15750	19120	21700	24220	27050	28680	33380	36800
03510	05940	07720	11480	13580	15760	19130	21710	24230	27060	28690	33390	36800
03520	05950	07730	11490	13590	15770	19140	21720	24240	27070	28700	33390	36800
03530	05960	07740	11500	13600	15780	19150	21730	24250	27080	28710	33400	36800
03540	05970	07750	11510	13610	15790	19160	21740	24260	27090	28720	33400	36800
03550	05980	07760	11520	13620	15800	19170	21750	24270	27100	28730	33410	36800
03560	05990	07770	11530	13630	15810	19180	21760	24280	27110	28740	33410	36800
03570	06000	07780	11540	13640	15820	19190	21770	24290	27120	28750	33420	36800
03580	06010	07790	11550	13650	15830	19200	21780	24300	27130	28760	33420	36800
03590	06020	07800	11560	13660	15840	19210	21790	24310	27140	28770	33430	36800
03600	06030	07810	11570	13670	15850	19220	21800	24320	27150	28780	33430	36800
03610	06040	07820	11580	13680	15860	19230	21810	24330	27160	28790	33440	36800
03620	06050	07830	11590	13690	15870	19240	21820	24340	27170	28800	33440	36800
03630	06060	07840	11600	13700	15880	19250	21830	24350	27180	28810	33450	36800
03640	06070	07850	11610	13710	15890	19260	21840	24360	27190	28820	33450	36800
03650	06080	07860	11620	13720	15900	19270	21850	24370	27200	28830	33460	36800
03660	06090	07870	11630	13730	15910	19280	21860	24380	27210	28840	33460	36800
03670	06100	07880	11640	13740	15920	19290	21870	24390	27220	28850	33470	36800
03680	06110	07890	11650	13750	15930	19300	21880	24400	27230	28860	33470	36800
03690	06120	07900	11660	13760	15940	19310	21890	24410	27240	28870	33480	36800
03700	06130	07910	11670	13770	15950	19320	21900	24420	27250	28880	33480	36800
03710	06140	07920	11680	13780	15960	19330	21910	24430	27260	28890	33490	36800
03720	06150	07930	11690	13790	15970	19340	21920	24440	27270	28900	33490	36800
03730	06160	07940	11700	13800	15980	19350	21930	24450	27280	28910	33500	36800
03740	06170	07950	11710	13810	15990	19360	21940	24460	27290	28920	33500	36800
03750	06180	07960	11720	13820	16000	19370	21950	24470	27300	28930	33510	36800
03760	06190	07970	11730	13830	16010	19380	21960	24480	27310	28940	33510	36800
03770	06200	07980	11740	13840	16020	19390	21970	24490	27320	28950	33520	36800
03780	06210	07990	11750	13850

(Continued from page 12)

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus. City Park, Aggieville, 776-7643.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM one block from campus. Available in January. 537-8986.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valler, one block from campus. $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE January. Four bedrooms, house near campus. Laundry and parking facilities. $600 plus utilities. 537-5134.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, good location, air conditioning, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1st. 776-6401.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place • 539-2951

• 1, 2 and 3 bedroom
• 2 swimming pools and a heated spa

• Some utilities paid
• Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center
• Campus shuttle leaving every hour

Pre-leasing for Jan-May

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 CHEVY 4x4 350. New paint, no rust, clean. 776-4387.

1979 TOYOTA Corolla, good tires, 88K miles, runs excellent, $595 or offer. 539-7491.

1982 BLACK two-door, valour interior, Saab. Good condition. 776-8759 or 537-2642.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1985 FIREBIRD, T-tops, V-6, five-speed, Kenwood stereo system. Excellent condition. $5,000. Ask for Duane 539-6644.

1987 ESCORT GT 1.9L H.O., 51,000 miles, maroon with sport package. Sunroof, new tires, $5,800. 537-3157.

1988 RANGER GT, red with yellow graphics. Custom tarp. $6,500. 776-3703.

1990 TOYOTA Tercel, automatic, air, excellent condition, 9,600 miles. 537-0597.

6 Child Care

NANNIES: COME experience life in the east while doing something you enjoy—caring for kids. Call now for application. Nannie Network Inc. 1-800-US-NANNY.

7 Computers

COMPUTER RIBBONS and supplies, Hull Business Supplies, Aggieville, 714 N. 12th. 539-1413.

IBM COMPATIBLE XT dual floppy, monochrome monitor, printer. Software and manuals. $800. Call 537-8664.

8 Employment

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

CHILD CARE in our home, Mondays 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for girls ages 1, 5 and 7. Must be reliable, non-smoker, have own transportation and references. 537-1558.

GREAT MONEY making opportunity for ambitious student service group. To provide X-mas gift wrapping service for K-State Union Bookstore. Wrapping materials provided. Contact Odette at 532-6583 before noon Nov. 29.

HELP WANTED—College student with sheetrocking experience, part-time, afternoons and Saturdays. 776-6725.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

PART-TIME SALESPERSON for downtown local jewelry store (experience required). Apply in person. G. Thomas Jewelers, 419 Poyntz Ave.

PIANIST WANTED for Unity Church. Musical variety. Sunday mornings and/or Wednesday evenings. 539-8416, 537-6120.

RESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT: Part-time position during evening and weekends available immediately. Responsible for being on-site at a five bed male residential facility for the mentally impaired. Duties include monitoring and supervision of daily living skills and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure skill activities. Must be available to attend a weekly team staff meeting. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, 539-7426.

SPRING SEMESTER employment. Student secretary/receptionist: Telephone, typing and organizational skills required. Computer experience helpful. Need help Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and mid-day on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Applications are available at the Recreational Services office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Application deadline is Monday, Dec. 3. Position begins Jan. 7.

EARN & LEARN

Work with an international computer company, Zenith Data Systems, on your campus as part of a student sales and marketing team. Guaranteed consulting fee plus commission, flexible hours, build resume, gain experience. Fax resume to: 212-675-1732 or mail to CTL, 5 West 19th St., 10th Fl., New York, NY 10011 or call 1-800-827-8440.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.A. drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206. 303-377-3616.

STUDENTS FROM KANSAS CITY OR WICHITA

Part Time

wanted: K-State students from KC or Wichita for jobs taking inventory in retail stores. Work from KC or Wichita this Christmas break, Manhattan during the school year.

Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884, Manhattan Job Service. Call for an appointment on Friday, Nov. 30. Interviews at 9 a.m., 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ROLL of film, 1600 professional color near Waters. Claim in Kedzie 103 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

LOST: ENGAGEMENT Ring—Eleven small diamonds with one larger diamond. If found, please call 537-5129.

LOST: MEN'S 18-inch silver rope chain on or near campus on Nov. 7. High sentimental value! Phone 539-8283.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

1983 SCHULT 14x64, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, central air, dishwasher, washer/dryer hookups. Good condition. $300. 539-1041.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countrywide, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 SUZUKI to sell, 450ccs. $250 or best. Call Mau at 537-3585.

1986 XR200, great shape, best offer over $700. 776-0535.

HONDA CL100 1971. Only two owners. Lots of fun! Call Tracy 539-7734.

Motorcycle Supply

TNT Off-road Helmets
snell approved
$115

1221 Moro • 776-6177

19 Music/Musicians

JUST IN time for Christmas, alto saxophone, $300 or best offer, very good condition. 539-8896 evenings.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

ACTIVES OF Phi Kappa Tau. You went on your walk out and had lots of fun, but now the associates are on the run. You failed to catch us and that's too bad, now we're gone and we hope you're not mad. Now we're having a blast at O.S.U., don't you wish we would have taken one of you. In case you haven't guessed by now, the associates are on sneak, see you at the end of the week. Bye for now, Associate Phi Taus.

DAMON K: Roses are red, this semester's been a trial, Now it's finally time for a Koch and a smile! All my congratulations Love, KMC.

GUY'S IN the blue Celica—Sorry we lost ya at the light. We're waiting—waiting—waiting—to get our happy—Girls in red VW.

IRAK—Happy 19th Birthday to my dear, sweet, Eternal-loving roommate Love ya, Asil.

KARI M—Yo Birthday Girl! I'm really glad you're the stud chick across the hall. Happy Birthday! Love ya, Looney and Bert.

MINIVAN BOULDER 4—A little late. But wanted to say, I had a Blast! "Schweee" Let's do it again. Becky & Dirk watch the pointed finger—The Driver.

MW: I like fireplaces, snowy places, slow dance romance, R. Marx, Cosby, Costner, walks and talks—See ya tomorrow—Mystery.

TO THE tall Sigma Kappa in my life. I Love You... Hondo.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

MEALWORMS CHEAP! Great for reptiles, spiders, fish. 30/$1, 100/$2.50. Keep this ad. 539-1931.

MISC. AFRICAN Cichlids 1"-5" ($1-$5). Call 776-6922 Karen or Chris or leave message.

PUREBRED CHOW puppies. They have shots and are wormed. Price negotiable. 776-2497. Ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clatin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

PAPERS, RESUMES, letters, theses and dissertations. Stored and completed to your satisfaction. Fast turn around. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147. Across from Kite's.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

RESUMES

Writing a resume may be easy, but writing the best possible resume is not easy. CDS knows how to develop resumes for different employment settings. Kathleen Lowman has worked directly with employers for nine years and also has conducted employer surveys on resume writing.

We offer professional advising on the content of your resume, as well as computer type-setting and laser printing.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

776-1229

24 Roommate Wanted

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/ month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE OR male, own room. Extremely cheap! Pets allowed. 539-6703.

FEMALE, OWN bedroom, $148 plus utilities. 537-4510.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $142.50/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-6391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Available December. $175/ month plus one-half electricity. Call 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom, own room, $185/ month. No deposit. Call 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half block from campus, Aggieville. $200, water, trash paid. One-third offers. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment, own room, close to campus. 537-0706.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house, own room. $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2668.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, close to campus, fully remodeled, laundry facilities, extra nice. 776-9124.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4847 after 6 p.m.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $182.50, one-half utilities. Ask for Matt, 539-8200.

NON-SMOKER FEMALE, clean and neat. Own bedroom. Woodway Apartments. $175 monthly plus one-third utilities. Call 537-3233.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE OR two roommates for spring semester, available Jan. 1. Large, nice house very close to campus. Own bedrooms. $183/ month. 537-6853.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $140 and one-fourth utilities. Washer and dryer, 1635 Laramie. 776-5265.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed immediately. December rent free. Own room, nice house, one block from campus. $118.75, one-fourth utilities. 537-2412 or 537-0350.

TWO MALE roommates for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $160 month plus utilities. 537-2368.

TWO ROOMMATES, Dec. 1st or Jan. 1st. Washer/dryer, $125 each. 539-5727, own room, close to KSU.

TWO ROOMMATES. One block from campus, $143.75, plus one-fourth utilities. 539-4189 or 537-3782.

WANTED: COLLEGE girl to share farm house with mother and two children. Call 776-0466.

WANTED—FEMALE roommate, non-smoker, $150/ month and one-half utilities. Own room. 776-1281. Ask for Chris.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9 a.m.—5 p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, out, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Sun Care—Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: Hearts Restored, Box 999, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

Traveler's Limousine Service

Call 539-2284

Any pain is too much pain.

Call us today for an appointment: 537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

26 Stereo Equipment

JVC RECEIVER—with remote. Almost new. Jeff 539-6754 and leave message.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

FOR SALE: Snow skis including poles, sizes 175 and 185; Ski boots, size 8 1/2; Pioneer 6944 6x9 car speakers. 776-0535.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, spacious one-bedroom apartment, balcony, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6 p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house. Own room $175/ month, one-third utilities. Lease ends May. Close to campus. 776-0595.

FEMALE: OWN bedroom, washer/dryer, hot tubs, cheap bills, available anytime soon. Call Katrina Custer, 776-2378.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/ month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

MALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Mile from campus. 539-1503.

TWO FEMALE roommates for spring semester, four-bedroom, two-bath house. Close to campus, Aggieville. Washer/dryer, $150 each plus one-fourth utilities. 539-7356.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

CHICAGO—ROUNDTrip Thursday evening through Sunday evening from KCI. Best offer 537-1270.

30 Travel

SEASON B-BALL tickets, GA section, $60. 532-9624, ask for Jim.

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119*

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129*

STEAMBOAT from $96*

FORT LAUDERDALE from $137*

PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124*

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND from $108*

HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112*

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY

1-800-321-5911

*Depending on break dates and length of stay

31 Tutor

TUTORING in Modern and Classic Greek, emphasizes the more formal language (Katharevousa) used in official documents and in the conservative press. Open to anyone, call Aki Barnashli, phone 776-6128.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

FOR SALE: Brand new HP 2B-S calculator and manuals. $110. 776-0861.

FOR SALE: Plane ticket from KCI to Minneapolis, Dec. 27, 875; Sleeper and Lux Seat, $40. 537-3794.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8 p.m.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9 a.m.—5 p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4 p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales, 1-437-2734.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, bowties, mugs. Send for free catalog. Amenprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

LEATHER BOMBER jacket, worn only few times. Also assorted name brand clothing, rarely worn. All in great condition. Call Julie 539-4868.

QUEEN-SIZE DOWN comforter, nine-drawer dresser with round mirror. Quasar stereo and speakers. 776-0730.

SALE: LIKE new computer desk. $50. Call Kristi at 776-2433.

SOLOVOX: IF familiar write: B.J., RR #4, Box 42A, Junction City, KS 66441.

TANNING FACIAL Lamp—Brand new! Woolf system—Bought for $225—$125 or make offer. 539-2009.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 6 p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WATERBED QUEEN-SIZE, padded rails and headboard. $150 negotiable. 776-0535.

34 Room Exchange for Duties

CHRISTIAN FAMILY wants college girl to live in for second semester, non-smoker, food and private room in exchange for duties. P.O. Box 652, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

35 Acreage

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres—Pottawatomie County—Fenced—extremely low taxes—New High School District. 776-6970.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

37 Calculator

HEWLETT-PACKARD IIC engineering calculator. Asking $40. 1-456-2977.

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Sant Fler Filed a suit against the State of Oregon. Officials told him to take the state to court on time. 11-28 ©1990 Jeff Gabel

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Alcohol

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5
campus to help students with drinking problems, Sheryl Benton said. They are Students Helping Students, Recovery Group and the Responsible Drinking Group.

Students Helping Students is a student social group for students trying to quit drinking, she said, by giving mutual support.

The Recovery Group has therapy groups for students who are chemically dependent, she said. The group isn't just for alcoholics but for anyone who is addicted to a drug.

A screening meeting is set up for the student, Sheryl Benton said. The meeting is used to set goals, find the best route to take and make an assessment to see if he or she is addicted.

The third group, Responsible Drinking Group, is not for alcoholics, she said. It is for those whose drinking has become a problem, and they want to control it.

The meetings help the students look at their drinking and shows them patterns of drinking problems.

China's foreign minister to visit U.S.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — China's foreign minister will make an official visit to Washington on Friday, the first such encounter here since before China's crackdown on pro-democracy demonstrators in June 1989.

But the State Department said the visit does not signal any change in the U.S. policy of barring high-level exchanges with China. The policy does not preclude contacts but does rule out exchanges of a "formal and ceremonial nature," a spokesman said.

Foreign Minister Qian Qichen will be in New York on Wednesday and Thursday for the U.N. Security Council deliberations on the Persian Gulf. He will travel to Washington on Friday.

As a member of the Security Council, China has been the target of a U.S. campaign for support for a resolution authorizing the use of force against Kuwait. It reportedly has agreed to support the proposal, along with the four other permanent Council members.

"China's vote on the U.N. Security Council resolution will be based on its own national interest determination," said State Department deputy spokesman Richard Boucher.

"To date, China has consistently held to the Security Council consensus on the gulf crisis and has voted for every one of the 10 Security Council resolutions on Iraq's continuing aggression."

Boucher said that since the June 1989 rights crackdown, there have been four meetings between Qian and Secretary of State James A. Baker III.

Wagner

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3
dimensional variation to the sculptures — and deal with interesting subjects — but it seems that Wagner was trying to create the illusion of three dimensionality and didn't quite get the job done.

True, he utilizes all the tried-and-true methods, from highlighting to scaling, but somehow they just don't seem to work.

Despite technicalities, the drawings are all very interesting and are good suggestions of what the driving forces of life and death may look like.

They just don't come to life like the sculptures.

Regardless, Wagner's show is another example of the high-quality and thoughtful art work being produced by the K-State art department and is a pleasant reminder of the diversity that exists on this campus. Let's keep it.

Gulf

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3
was set for a Security Council meeting on Thursday to consider the strongest measure yet against Iraq. The resolution calls on Iraq to release all foreign hostages, withdraw its troops and restore Kuwait's government by the first of the year.

Western diplomats speaking on condition of anonymity said Secretary of State James A. Baker III and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze had settled on Jan. 15 as the deadline for an Iraqi withdrawal. The diplomats said they had reached the agreement in the past 24 hours. Britain and the United States favored Jan. 1, but said the question was open to negotiations.

The United States had already secured the backing of the other permanent members of the Security Council for the measure. The permanent members have the power to veto council resolutions.

Altogether, nine votes on the 15-member council are needed to approve the resolution. It is supported by at least six of the non-permanent council members: Canada, Finland,

Romania, Ivory Coast, Zaire and Ethiopia.

Yemen, the council's only Arab member, is believed likely to abstain or vote against it.

Malaysia and Colombia's votes are uncertain. Colombian foreign minister Luis Jaramillo said Tuesday that Colombia still has not decided how to vote, but would prefer a diplomatic solution.

Budget Car Care

Winter Coat Special

Wash, wax, interior cleaning, deodorizing, and buffing.

just $30.00!

Offer expires Nov. 30, 1990

Call 537-1496 or 537-3981

STUDY IN EUROPE

EuroCollege International Study Centers offer European Language and cultural studies programs in Paris, Cannes, Salzburg, Florence, Siena, Barcelona and others. Courses last three to twelve weeks and include Foreign Language Studies, Theatre, History, Applied Arts & Art History, etc. Classes are held in summer & throughout the year. Programs are enhanced by numerous excursions and cultural activities. On/off campus accommodations and full board are provided.

For detailed information, please contact EuroCollege International at:

EuroCollege International Moosstrasse 106-D A-5020 Salzburg, Austria Tel (662) 824617 Fax (662) 842555	EuroCollege U.S. Office P.O. Box 8707, Dept. D Newport Beach, CA 92658 Tel (714) 261-1166 Fax (714) 261-8088
---	---

NOMINATIONS for COLLEGE OF EDUCATION OUTSTANDING UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AWARD

Due by December 7, 1990
Dean's Office
Blumont Hall 006

Have "You" Had Your Frozen Yogurt Today??

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

15 words—5 days—$5.50 KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN ClassADS

Physical Therapy

- Registered Physical Therapist
- Rehabilitaiton from:
 - *Sports Injuries
 - *Low Back Pain
 - *Neck Pain
 - *Postsurgery
- Referral from Physician

532-7880

Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University

Pizza Hut

DELIVERY

Makin' it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

- AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
- WESTLOOP 539-7447
- 3RD & MORO 776-4334

•Citywide Delivery
•537-2526
•Hours: 7 a.m.-1 a.m.
This Week:
Mushroom & Swiss—$1.09
606 N. Manhattan

Need money for college?

ASK ABOUT STUDENT LOANS

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.
Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
776-9400

Lender Code #804581
EMPIRE BANK Originator
Member FDIC

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

LOOKING FOR A SPECIAL GIFT?

UPC ARTS & CRAFTS SALE
November 29, 11 a.m.-6 p.m.
November 30, 10 a.m.-4 p.m.
2nd Floor K-State Union
Main Ballroom

Pitch Tournament
December 1 & 2, Saturday
Noon, Sunday 1 p.m. $4 per team due on sign up
Prizes: $80 first place team
$40 second place team
Sign up today in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor Union 8 a.m.-4 p.m.

THE HOUSEHOLDER
November 28 & 29 THE HOUSEHOLDER (INDIA) A comic account of how two young Indians come to grips with the realities of their arranged marriage. Directed by James Ivory. $1.75 with KSU I.D. WED. and THUR., 7 p.m., Forum Hall & THUR., 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre.

SANTA SUIT RENTAL
from the UPC Office
$15 a day
532-6571

WHY THE WEST WAS WILD. YOUNG GUNS
December 1 & 2
Saturday and Sunday
2 p.m.
Forum Hall
$1.50

YOUNG GUNS II
November 30 and December 1 & 2
Friday and Saturday, 7 & 9:30 p.m. Sunday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall
$1.75 with KSU I.D.

Northview Elementary School 5th Grade Artwork

Christmas Artwork

Pink Floyd THE WALL

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, November 29, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 64

Sergeant charged for defying orders

CRISIS IN THE MIDDLE EAST

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

The Army filed charges Wednesday against a Fort Riley soldier alleging he disobeyed orders to prepare equipment for deployment to the Persian Gulf.

Sgt. George Morse of Michigan, who was denied conscientious objector status last week, was charged "for failure to obey several lawful orders" according to a press release issued by the public affairs office at Fort Riley.

Capt. Bill McCormick, public affairs officer for the 1st Infantry Division, said the charges were filed because Morse clearly disobeyed the orders.

"He was given the order repeatedly by several different people in his chain of command," McCormick said.

Neither McCormick nor the press release provided further specific details about the incident or incidents for which Morse has been charged.

In an article published in the Monday edition of the Collegian, Morse said he would not take part in the 1st Infantry's preparations for deployment to Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield.

"I've said this before and I will tell them again: I will not participate in preparation for deployment; I will not participate in a war effort or a military effort, no matter if it has started yet or not," Morse said.

Morse could not be reached for comment following the Army's announcement Wednesday.

McCormick emphasized that the charges were unrelated to Morse's desire to be declared a conscientious objector to war.

MORSE

"We understand his feelings. The right thing for him to do would be to go to Saudi Arabia and then apply," he said.

According to the press release, the Department of the Army has declared that soldiers cannot apply for conscientious objector status between the time their units are alerted for deployment and their arrival in Saudi Arabia.

After arrival in Saudi Arabia, requests for conscientious objector status may be made.

The type of punishment Morse may receive will be depend on the type of court-martial he must undergo, McCormick said.

Morse could receive a summary court-martial which is conducted before a single military officer, or he could receive a general court-martial which would be conducted before a military judge and jury.

If convicted, Morse could be sentenced to the U.S. Disciplinary Barracks at Fort Leavenworth and receive a dishonorable discharge.

Morse could end up going to Saudi Arabia because "when the trial takes place, it should be where his unit is," McCormick said.

Morse said he wished to be declared a conscientious objector because "I cannot have any part of the senseless killing of war."

David Mayes/Staff

On the move

Armored transport vehicles from the 1st Infantry Division move in a convoy to the railhead at Fort Riley Wednesday. The vehicles will be shipped by rail to Texas and by sea to the Persian Gulf.

Regents want Senate to ask students their opinion about engineering fee

STUDENT SENATE PREVIEW

By Gregory A. Branson
Collegian Reporter

A restricted fee for the College of Engineering will be discussed again by Dean Donald Rathbone and Student Senate tonight.

Senate will debate at its regular meeting about how to poll the students in engineering on whether they are for or against the fee.

The Kansas Board of Regents asked Senate to conduct the poll to help them make their decision about the fee.

A current proposal before the regents would require all students taking classes in the College of Engineering to pay $15 per engineering hour.

The fee, which will also be enacted at Wichita State University and Kansas University, would raise about $500,000 at K-State and would be used to acquire and maintain equipment.

The regents will probably take action on the fee next month at their regularly scheduled meeting. But according to Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt, they are pushing it through too fast.

"They have circumvented (Student Senate's) processes," Heitschmidt said. "The process this has gone through has left out the students."

Engineering Schools and Fees

Big Eight Schools	Tuition	Fees
Colorado (spring 1990)	$1,610	$106 per semester per engineering student.
Iowa State (Sept., 1990)	$1,826	$100 per semester per engineering student plus a base funding from the state of $250,000.
Missouri (spring 1990) (Columbia, Rolla)	$1,816	$23.50 per credit hour per student. Is proposing a change to $150 per semester per student.
Nebraska (Sept., 1990)	$1,455	Effective fall 1989, will receive $525,000 per year from the state.
Oklahoma (Sept., 1990)	$1,528	No line item in the budget. Uses some maintenance operations monies for equipment. Computer fee of $50 per semester for every student taking an engineering course. Sometimes receives state allocations.
Oklahoma State (Sept., 1990)	$1,675	Charges $25 per student per course for courses using computers, consumables, etc. Maximum allowed charge per student is $200 per year.
Colorado State (spring 1990)	$1,897	$100 per semester per engineering and technology student.
Peer Schools
Oregon State (spring 1990)	N/A	Line item in budget of $200,000 per year. Also, some additional state appropriations each year.
North Carolina State (spring 1990)	N/A	State appropriations for engineering includes $1,500,000 per year for equipment plus $250,000 per year for maintenance. $50 fee per lab course. Proposed an additional $100 per student per semester for next year.

Source: College of Engineering

Gregory A. Branson/Staff

He also criticized the proposal as being too vague and containing too many promises.

"Where did the $15 per hour number come from?" Heitschmidt said. "Is this a rough estimate? I haven't seen anything in black-and-white to show where this number came from."

Rathbone has explained the $15 per hour fee came at the suggestion of Wichita State and KU because they have more part-time students taking engineering courses, and it would be easier to enforce than a flat fee.

He also said he is going to try to have the K-State fee changed to a flat $100 per semester fee.

"I'm going to go before the regents in December and tell them my students would prefer a flat $100 fee instead of an hourly fee," Rathbone said. "I understand the regents can make a variance on the current bill, and this can be done."

This idea is criticized by Heitschmidt as being a tool Rathbone is using to gain support from the engineering students.

"If this is what he wants to do, why

See FEE, Page 10

Professors to study ways to preserve African vegetation

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

A forest in Africa is being destroyed by one of the largest savanna elephant populations in Africa. Two K-State professors are currently working with the government of Botswana in Africa to study this destruction and determine possible means of preserving the vegetation.

In a district in Botswana, Duane Nellis, head of the geography department, and Charles Bussing, associate professor of geography, are monitoring the Chobe Forest destroyed from compaction and eating by the elephants.

The project uses remote sensing images to monitor the destruction. Satellites survey the Chobe district at various intervals. Two satellites are dedicated to earth surface monitoring; Landsat, an American satellite, and SPOT, a French satellite.

Landsat surveys the district every 16 days and SPOT passes over every 26 days.

The information from the satellites are transmitted and stored on magnetic tape. The tapes can then be purchased for viewing from the governments or government entities.

The information is not in picture form when the satellite tapes it, Bussing said.

"It provides data not only in visible range of light as in humans, but in other forms of reflected radiation," he said.

The satellite information records the different energy levels of the vegetation.

"From this we can tell some of the damage of the vegetation and soil, differences in canopy cover," Bussing said.

Nellis said the information is stored on magnetic tape in digital form. Colors are then assigned to each number and then images are created on the computer, he said.

To process the data, special computer software is needed.

Bussing first became aware of the forest's problems when he traveled to Botswana in 1981 to work for K-State's Agriculture Technology Improvement project.

"My main interest was in traditional ag systems and natural resource management," Bussing said.

Subsequent trips to Botswana during the summer months are needed to determine what is actually represented by the satellite's digital information, he said.

Results will eventually be published in scientific papers, and some will go back to the government to show what resources are available or being destroyed, Bussing said.

BRIEFLY

World

Former chiefs urge caution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former U.S. military chiefs urged caution in the Persian Gulf on Wednesday, even as President Bush sent Secretary of State James A. Baker III to press the United Nations for formal support of a possible attack against Iraq.

"I counsel patience. War is not neat, it's not tidy. It's a mess," said retired Adm. William Crowe, who was chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff under President Reagan.

Retired Air Force Gen. David C. Jones, chairman of the joint chiefs under President Carter, voiced concern with the latest deployment of 200,000 more troops to bolster the 230,000 already in the gulf and to add an offensive capability.

Jones said his fear "isn't that we might choose to fight, but rather that the deployment might cause us to fight."

Baker went to New York Wednesday to personally take charge of the U.S. effort to win formal international support of the idea of a last-resort attack to free Kuwait from Saddam Hussein's forces.

Britain buses now smokeless

LONDON (AP) — Smokers will no longer be allowed to light up on London's red double-decker buses, transportation officials said Wednesday.

Smoking, only allowed in the rear seats on the top deck of the buses, will be banned as of Feb. 14, said a spokesman at London Transport, the government agency that oversees London's buses and subway system.

The agency said surveys have shown that 73 percent of Londoners want a ban. Only a third of the people using London's 5,000 buses are smokers, and of those fewer than three in five actually smoke on board, the agency said.

"We hope London will welcome the ban on smoking because buses will be cleaner, healthier and safer," said London Buses managing director Clive Hodson.

London Transport banned smoking on the subway system after 31 people were killed and 80 injured in a subway station fire in November 1987.

Nation

AIDS may spread on campuses

BOSTON (AP) — About one in 500 U.S. college students is infected with the AIDS virus, and further spread of the deadly disease is likely on campuses unless students change their sex habits.

Based on the new findings, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control estimates that between 25,000 and 35,000 college students are infected with HIV, the AIDS virus.

"Risky behaviors are occurring, and now we know we have the infection. It is cause for concern and appropriate attention," said Dr. Helene D. Gayle, who directed the study.

The CDC study is the first nationwide attempt to judge the presence of HIV on college campuses, said co-author Dr. Richard P. Keeling of the American College Health Association.

It shows that the virus is probably about as common there as in the public at large.

However, the researchers cautioned that AIDS could still spread dramatically among college students, just as some other sexually transmitted diseases have done.

Kassebaum: send envoy to Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., said Wednesday that the United States should send a special envoy to Iraq to deliver a last-ditch warning that military force will be used unless the country withdraws from Kuwait.

Kassebaum, in an interview, also said Congress should vote as early as next week on a resolution authorizing the use of military force in the Persian Gulf.

She said lawmakers should be called back into a special session and act on a Persian Gulf resolution regardless of the outcome of a vote by the U.N. Security Council on a measure that would allow the use of force against Iraq if it fails to meet a deadline for pulling its forces out of Kuwait.

Kassebaum, a senior member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it was important to have a high-level direct meeting with Iraq to ensure that Iraqi President Saddam Hussein clearly understood the "consequences and the seriousness of the situation."

"I'm all for deadlines. I think clearly the mood of the public is, 'Look if we're going to do this let's go in and get it done,' and I think that's what has to be conveyed to him — there is a deadline there and it will be met and we're serious about it," Kassebaum said.

Region

Man convicted of killing ex-wife

WICHITA — A jury convicted Randy Pioletti of killing and cremating his ex-wife after he failed to explain away the circular burn on his forehead and the scratches on his hands, chest and face.

A forensic pathologist with more than 30 years experience examined Pioletti shortly after his arrest in Wichita. He told investigators about the burn, which was consistent with the height of the crematorium at the funeral home where the suspect worked, and the scratches, which were the same as many attackers suffer in struggles with victims.

The Pioletti case was an exception.

More often than not, such "living autopsies" are not performed and investigators lose valuable information and evidence, according to several internationally recognized experts.

"Evidence is being lost because wounds heal, colors change and things go away, including physical evidence that is sometimes destroyed in the emergency room," said Dr. Cyril Wecht, department chairman at the Pittsburgh Central Medical Center.

Cosmosphere receives missiles

HUTCHINSON (AP) — Bits of space history have landed at the Kansas Cosmosphere and Space Center Space Works.

Portions of four ballistic missiles arrived Tuesday by truck at the space exhibit and artifact restoration firm. The missiles — an Agena, Corporal, Honest John and a Nike Hercules — run the gamut of space and ballistic history.

The Cosmosphere's curator of collections, Rick Donovan, discovered the missiles in a scrap yard at Dyess Air Force Base near Abilene, Texas. For the cost of shipping, about $1,500, the Cosmosphere was able to pick up the four missiles plus a Mercury Redstone.

While all five of the rockets are historically significant, Donovan said, the Agena is of particular interest.

"The Agena was one thing we never thought we were going to find," he said. "It's fairly significant. Most of the Agenas were used up for satellite deployment."

The Agena was used in the early days of the space program as a docking and rendezvous target during NASA's Gemini program, Donovan said.

CAMPUS BULLETIN
Announcements

■ Center for Basic Cancer Research deadline for research award applications is Dec. 10. Applications are available in Ackert 234.

■ K-State Community Service Program International Teams applications are available for work on teams in Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic from Nov. 30 until Dec. 12 in Eisenhower 14-A.

29 Thursday

■ Horticultural Therapy Club will hear Renata Replogle talk at 5:30 p.m. in Waters 18A.

■ KSU Horticulture Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Waters 244.

■ Golden Key National Honor Society will have a high school mentoring program information meeting at 6:30 p.m. in Union 209.

■ KSU Wildlife Society will present "Reintroduction and Propagation of Endangered Species" by James Carpenter at 7 p.m. in Ackert 221.

■ Kansas State Engineering Technologists will meet at 7 p.m. at Campbell's Distributing.

■ Ag Ambassadors/Ag Reps will have a meeting and Christmas party at 6 p.m. in Waters 231.

■ Alpha Kappa Psi will meet at 7 p.m. in Calvin 201.

■ Baptist Student Union will meet at 7 p.m. at the Baptist Campus Center.

■ AICHE will present Chemistry in Crime by Dr. Meloon at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

■ Finance Club/FMA will present a savings and loan roundtable at 3:30 p.m. in the Union Big 8 Room.

■ SADD will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 206.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

■ Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 6 p.m. in Union Statroom 2.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

■ KSU Sailing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Talking Hands will meet at 4 p.m. in Room 3 of the Holton Hall basement. Anyone interested in sign language is invited.

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Engineering Ambassador Executives will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Thursday, sunny. Highs in upper 40s to mid-50s. Thursday night, mostly clear. Lows in 20s. Friday, mostly sunny. Highs in mid-50s to low 60s.

WARM LEGWEAR
REDUCED $2
WITH COUPON

- ✓COTTON TIGHTS (6 colors)
- ✓COTTON LEGGINGS
- ✓THERMAL PANTS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie

1224 MORO AGGIEVILLE
Mon.-Thurs. 10-8 p.m., Fri. & Sat. 10-6

Expires Tuesday, Dec. 4

BOOKS & BRICKS:
THE FINALE!What Can Make ACUVUE®
Disposable Contact Lenses
Even Better?

A Free Trial Pair!

We want to open your eyes to the convenience and comfort of ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses.

Come in for an eye exam.

If ACUVUE is right for you, we'll give you a free trial pair.*

ACUVUE® The First Disposable Contact Lens. Johnson & Johnson

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist

See your eyecare professional annually.

New Location: 555 Poyntz Suite 151 Colony Square

776-9461 Toll Free 1-800-432-0035

*Examination and other professional service fees are not included in this free trial pair offer.

A Salute to Rocky and Bullwinkle

- SEE CLASSIC TV CEREAL SPOTS • FRACTURED FAIRY TALES •
- MR. KNOW-IT-ALL • BULLWINKLE'S CORNER • DUDLEY DO-RIGHT •
- COMPLETE MULTI-PART EPISODE WITH BORIS & NATASHA •
- RARE ORIGINAL MR. PEABODY EPISODE • RESOP & SON •
- AND MUCH MORE FROM JAY WARD'S CHARACTERS •

Kansas State University
Durland Hall #173

(West side of campus—Across from Ahearn Fieldhouse)

FRIDAY & SATURDAY

NOVEMBER 30 & DECEMBER 1

SHOWS 7 & 9 PM

TICKETS @ DOOR: $3.00 KSU STUDENTS / $5.00 GENERAL PUBLIC

SPONSORED BY PI SIGMA EPSILON MARKETING FRATERNITY

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams •

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974.

Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

Comprehensive Health for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400
Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

To Chi Omega Formal Dates,

Christmas time is coming around
And Chi Omega dates have been found.
The tree is trimmed, the stockings are full.
We guarantee it won't be dull.
Saturday night is the time to go
To "Meet Me Under the Mistletoe."

Saturday Dec. 1

Scott Alexander	Derek Dusek	Brad Musser
El Don Amend	Craig Fischer	David Nicodemus
Rance Ames	Chris Freberg	Ken Ning
Scott Baener	Doug Gardner	Gregg Otto
Dave Baum	Todd Gast	Jeff Peebler
Rob Beaman	Dave Hannam	Tom Poer
Steve Beatte	Steve Harlan	Ed Pudlo
Jay Belcher	Greg Harvey	Todd Richards
Chris Boone	Britt Haven	Mark Rieger
Reed Bork	Damon Hininger	Mike Riley
Bart Brooks	Kent Hipp	Shawn Roberts
Mike Buchanan	Andy House	Dave Saab
Steve Burkhart	Jon Huntley	Greg Savage
John Butler	Darrin Ives	Eric Schmutz
Keith Carter	Ryan Kapple	Mark Sherlock
Rick Carver	Richard Laing	Jimmy Staderd
Brannan Cass	Steve Lauberth	Chris Stancie
Ryan Charfield	Tom Laughlin	Rob Swanson
Kevin Collins	Nathan Lee	Jason Taylor
Kurt Comeford	Darius Lechtenberger	Rick Tirina
Chris Crum	Sam Lett	Chris Tozier
Kevin Davis	Wes Meitner	Mark Tyler
Kurt Dinkel	Richard Mick	Dave Watson
Tom Donnelly	Neil Miller	Marcus West
Jeff Dunaway	Loren Minnich	Brad Williams
David Duntz	Jeff Minson	Dave Williams

BLUE RIVER PUB

Friday, Nov. 30

MatriX

Hot Rock 'n' Roll

Saturday, Dec. 1

Block-n-Bridle
Dance

$1 Kamis All Weekend

Watch for 50¢ Specials

Video conference focuses on merits of minority houses

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

Black fraternities and sororities are vital in providing bonding and unity, especially in predominantly white colleges, according to a live video-conference on higher education for blacks.

A live, interactive-satellite telecast on the topic of black fraternities and sororities was broadcast Wednesday at the instructional media center in Blumont Hall. The program was entitled "Black Fraternities and Sororities: A Glorious Past, the Road Ahead."

A panel of national leaders of the eight predominantly black Greek-letter organizations, administrators, students and journalists discussed black Greek history, the relevance of black Greek organizations, self-regulation, accountability and adaption to a changing society.

Tarrus Richardson, student body president at Purdue University, said the black Greek system has adapted to the theme of unity better than most white Greek organizations.

"With white fraternities, there isn't the closeness that black fraternities have," Richardson said. "Black fraternities have a life-long commitment. We continue to serve long after graduation. Whites serve predominantly only during their college years and are very social in focus."

Some students questioned whether the black Greek system portrays elitism among blacks. Yvonne Kennedy, national president of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., said elitism must be viewed in the broad sense.

"Not everyone has had the opportunity to join a fraternity, sorority or even go to college. Black fraternities and sororities should make a difference for the positive by helping those less fortunate," Kennedy said.

Henry Ponder, general president of Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity Inc., said inter-black rivalries within the Greek system are good only in the spirit of competition.

"Good competition and the desire to win makes all the chapters better. Competition is one thing, but hate is something we cannot tolerate," Ponder said.

New to the black Greek system is the intake policy. The new pledging policy was approved by all eight major black Greek-letter organizations. It abolishes the current pledging process, along with any form of hazing.

Tony Williams, co-adviser of the Pan-Hellenic Council at K-State, said each of the eight black fraternities and sororities at K-State are formulating their own intake process.

"Each organization will use the process in a slightly different way. The leaders in each of the fraternities and sororities' grand chapters will train their local chapters to adapt to the intake process," Williams said.

The intake policy at K-State will include the following requirements for all organizations:

- A required grade point average will be set by the national headquarters of each chapter.

- An application, similar to a resume, will be filled out and given to the local chapters for review.

- The prospective initiate must be recommended by an undergraduate or alumni of the chapter.

If all requirements are met, a chapter orientation lasting eight to sixteen hours will take place. This orientation is much like a retreat, including the learning of rituals and chapter history.

Mike Welchans/Staff

Magic makeover

Ginger Lafferty, freshman in journalism and mass communications, gets a complete makeover by hair stylist Michael Bever from Hair Express Design Team Wednesday in a Moore Hall study room. Residents volunteered themselves for the free beauty makeovers.

Tickets on sale for Christmas tour

Decorated homes, sorority open to support performing arts at McCain

By Angie Schrock
Collegian Reporter

'Tis the season to be jolly — and now holiday revelers can enjoy the season's cheer by touring homes decorated in the holiday spirit.

Four families and the women of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority have opened their houses for a tour sponsored by the McCain Auditorium Development Board.

"The homes will be decorated by the owners for the Christmas festivities," McCain Development Board co-chairwoman Rita Keating said. "We have four varieties of homes — ranging from one built in 1874 to a very modern, contemporary home."

"At the Kappa Alpha Theta house, four Manhattan florists will each decorate one room with their nicest holiday decorations," she said.

The development board selected the homes in the tour and asked the homeowners to participate in the project.

"They chose us and asked if we would be willing to allow our sorority house to be decorated for the tour," said Kappa Alpha Theta member Emily Folsom, junior in anthropology.

"Our pledges chose to help with this as their service project," Folsom said. "They will be around the house to serve punch and hors d'oeuvres, welcome guests and answer any questions anyone might have."

The homeowners chose the decorations they wanted to use in and around their homes.

"We have two Christmas trees, one inside and one outside. We also have garland throughout the house and lots of Christmas figures," said tour participant Ron Cochran, of

■ See Tour, Page 10

Irish group continues U2's rock traditions

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reporter

Just when you thought it was safe to go back in the water, here comes An Emotional Fish.

Look out Bono. The self-titled effort from An Emotional Fish is a strong rock 'n' roll album in the Irish tradition of U2. The album is characterized by intriguing bass lines, driving beats, intense guitar licks, and vocals that mirror the intensity of the songs with barely audible groans leading to gravelly screams.

Intricate guitar licks only add to the tightly mixed album, which obviously benefited from Tim Palmer's production skills. The group has a full sound and its talent and creativity is clearly represented here.

The band has lot more in common with U2 than Irish heritage. A couple of the songs include a familiar driving bass sound over heavily strummed lead guitar chords. Vocalist Gerard Whelan wails and moans like some other Irish fellow we all know and love for characterizing the sound of rock in the 1980s. Whelan actually howls in the song "Lace Virginia." A tough guitar solo powers the tune into a powerful duet that brings the song to a driving climax.

Drummer Martin Murphy provides the band with most of its energy with percussion that is intriguing and inspiring. Bassist Enda Wyatt and guitarist David Frew complete the sound with music that is much stronger than the lyrics.

The album begins with "Celebrate," a song about "the trouble with reality/its taken far too seriously." The record goes on to explore "Grey Matter" with "I drilled a hole in my head to let the sun shine through/ and ooh ooh baby ooh."

The guitars twang straight into "Blue," a song full of creative melody lines and barely resolving phrases. The pinnacle of the album is the song "Change." Whelan is left panting at the end.

The most spiritual lyrics are found in "Colours." Whelan groans, "Let us pray I know what right is/And let's hope I have the faith to believe," as the guitars plead from a distance.

"An Emotional Fish" ends with a statement about the breakdown in communication. The jazzy "Brick It Up" is the most musically pleasing song on the record. Few words are used to portray the hopelessness theme. The vocals become ragged and mellow at every other word, finally becoming just a shriek — overwhelmed by the desperation. This is indicated in the lyric sheet with a squiggled line between the repeating phrase, "Brick it up/ Brick it up/Brick it up/ Brick it up."

CPI photo finish

one hour photo

Save 50%

on color processing & 4x6 prints
Each picture is the best it can be or we reprint it free... now!

Film Developing
50% off
regular one-hour price

No limit on number of rolls discounted.
Offer applies to first set of color prints only.
Print length varies with film size. C41 in lab process, not combinable with other processing and print offers.
Coupon good through Feb. 2, 1991

CPI photo finish

one hour services: photo finishing • enlargements • reprints • double prints also available: wallet photos • instant color passport photos • video transfer • copies from prints • cameras and accessories • film

Manhattan Town Center
main entrance by food court

Christmas CPI Film Sale!

SAVE 25%

when you buy 3 or more rolls

Example Prices: (35mm - 24 exp.)

3 100 ASA...$6.95 (reg. $9.27)

200 ASA...$7.85 (reg. $10.47)

Rolls 400 ASA...$8.75 (reg. $11.67)

Buy 3 or more rolls of 35mm CPI color print film (24 or 36 exposures) and get 25% off the regular price. Choose from 100, 200 and 400 ASA. mix or match. Not combinable with other film offers.
Sale ends Dec. 24, 1990

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's
12 Days of K-State Christmas
Sale Items in the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union
Bookstore

Perspectives

Optical Dispensary & Lab

Lenses and Frames Complete

(Includes scratch resistant coating, photo gray & UV protection Thru Dec. 24)

Presents
People
Pleasing
Prices

Single Vision
$79.00

Bifocals
$109.00

No-Line Progressive
$149.00

300 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan 539-5105
Open Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00; Thursday till 8:00; Sat. 9:30-4:30

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY (C)

Bravo! Encore!

You'll be the main attraction wearing a show-stopping gown
from our exciting collection of holidaywear.
After all, you deserve a gown
from...

CHRISTINE'S
THE
WEDDING COMPANY

1223 Moro 776-7387

Open Thursdays 'til 8 p.m.

Member National Bridal Service

Snookies

25¢ Draws 75¢ Wells

THE Romantics Pre-Party

Ticket Giveaways for Dec. 6 Show

776-7726 • 1122 MORO • Upstairs

LAST DAY!

BOOKS & BRICKS

THE STUDENT FOUNDATION LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

Makin' it great!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Engineering fee issue brought to light

The last few weeks of listening to the silent, behind-the-door, debate over the prospect of an engineering fee has forced me to make a personal attempt at informing students about this issue. I cannot stand by while powerful entities exercise their political muscle to institute conspicuously inequitable and short-sighted taxes on students at K-State. To be silent in my judgment would be a blatant disregard for the welfare of our student body. It would also be an affirmation of students' inability to marshal the motivation and courage to question those who are the caretakers of our institutions.

I begin this article with some historical commentary. In 1988, after I was elected student body president, one of the first issues I faced at the Board of Regents meeting was the surfacing of an engineering fee. The feeling at the time was that the fee proposal did not go through the appropriate channels, and consequently, students were not given the opportunity to adequately influence the fee proposal.

This perception by students led other student leaders and myself to overwhelmingly condemn the proposal on the grounds that we could not support a fee in which we as a collective body, did not debate, study, and help shape. We argued before the regents that though the fee may be needed, we had not studied what implications such a fee would have on the University community. We also argued that the deans of engineering who proposed the fee showed a shameful disregard for our elected student leaders who make major sacrifices in order to judiciously seek out the welfare of current and future generations of students. No, we could not — we would not — support the engineering fee proposal. After listening to our arguments, the board acted in good faith and declined to implement the fee referring the proposal instead to an established committee.

Two years later, we have the same players unconsciously using the same tactics. Our current dean of engineering and his select few have taken the issue to Topeka requesting that the board implement an engineering fee which, in essence, amounts to a "blank check." The proposal in its present form (or lack of it) is a strong argument for student input. He has once again ignored the need for collective student debate — ignored the need to educate the student body.

So great is his obsession with implementing the fee that he has become insensitive to the potential implications of such a fee on the overall University community. From many corners of the University there have been appeals asking that any equipment fee be handled with a "systems approach" in mind. These appeals have fallen on deaf ears. No one with political muscle has stood up and emphatically expressed that this is the only equitable way to address this issue.

There are real needs within the College of Arts and Sciences that warrant our immediate attention and certainly the argument can be made for other colleges. The present engineering proposal ignores this important issue, and as a result, takes on the appearance of being short-sighted and selfish. However, to say that 100 percent of the blame for how this issue is being handled should be shouldered by Dean Donald Rathbone would be unjust.

I certainly must mention that our former student body president could have done more to prepare the student body for what he should have known was a resurfacing of the engineering fee issue. That insight, however, does very little to curb my contempt for how the dean of engineering, and those in Anderson Hall, have handled this very important issue. Anyone who has ever taken a history course will tell you we experience history in hope that our present and future actions will be guided by our encounter with the past. Is this not the basic rationale behind the study of history?

Laurian Cuffy

GUEST COLUMNIST

If my assessment is correct — and I am certain it is — then why is Rathbone insistent on his present course of action? And for God's sake — can someone tell me why President Jon Wefald and Provost James Coffman are silent? Will it take another 2,500 students and faculty "demanding" our University president involve students in a timely manner before proposals are communicated beyond the University? I must publicly congratulate the Colleges of Human Ecology and Architecture and Design for not allowing administrators to remove them from our University community. The University is indebted to you all. We admire your hunger for justice.

So where are we now with regard to this engineering fee proposal? You won't believe this when I tell you. With less than three weeks before final examinations, a recent student government election, a brand new student body president and Student Senate — the Board of Regents has requested that a student body referendum be conducted to see how students feel about an engineering fee.

This has got to be the most inconsiderate and downright ridiculous request I have seen in a long time. A student body president who does not have a cabinet in place, a senate which has no committees in place, a student body which is focused on preparations for final examinations — and from the sky drops this urgent request.

Student leaders, my friends and all those who are interested in the welfare of students at K-State (including administration and Board of Regents members) I employ you to be visionary and fair in assessing the problem at hand. It is not whether we should support an engineering fee to address the equipment needs within the College of Engineering, but rather how can we address the "equipment needs" throughout the University.

Further, we must ask how can we unite, get President Wefald, student leaders, the Board of Regents and the student body to focus on a fair process to address this need? Anything short of this only reaffirms our administration's inability to work towards a sound long-term solution to this important problem. Having said the above, I don't believe the legislative and executive branches of student government can, nor should they honor the regents' request at this time.

Instead, they should draft a very clear letter expressing to the regents reasons for their inability to comply with a referendum request. After all appropriate senate committees are in place and the student body president's cabinet selected, then a timetable addressing when a referendum could be conducted should be communicated to the regents. This plan would allow student government the opportunity to work with other students, the administration and the regents to fairly address this issue. If the administration and the dean of engineering truly have the students' interest in mind, then they will see the wisdom in this plan.

Student government leaders must strongly request that the administration use their resource to communicate the necessity of this plan to the regents. Finally, if the wisdom of this plan is ignored and a referendum conducted, students from throughout the University should send a clear message to the regents and administration saying "no, we will not support a fee that we have not adequately debated, studied, or helped shape."

My sincere advice to Rathbone is to be visionary. Let history be the light that guides his path. The athletic fee proposal failed time and again because those who proposed it did not want to work for the fairest fee possible. In the end, students pressed the issue of equity and forced a marriage between the needs of the fine arts department and the athletic department, hence establishing a sound fee which well serves a large portion of the student body. Such an attitude must be taken with regard to the current equipment fee proposal. The attitude "I have mine, go find yours" is selfish and will do nothing but promote elitism throughout our University. I offer these thoughts to the student body, administration, regents and the University community. I sincerely hope that those who read this article will demand this issue be given the consideration it needs so as to generate the best solution to the real problem of addressing our University equipment needs.

Laurian Cuffy is a senior in business administration.

EDITORIALS

Success of K-State's teams show diversity

K-State's emphasis on diversity is becoming a reality daily. Although the realization is slow, it is obvious.

Minority programs, special organizations and Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week are all symbols of K-State's dedication to diversification on campus. But that dedication seems to have spilled over into two other areas that show K-State's diversity to the outside world.

This week, it was announced that K-State's livestock-judging team placed second in the national championships, and K-State's head football coach was named the Big Eight Coach of the Year.

Both honors exhibit that the University has shown the mettle to put its interests into numerous activities, without spreading itself too thinly to where those activities cannot succeed.

Bill Snyder garnered the honor of becoming his conference's coach of the year. This is in spite of the fact that another coach in the Big Eight has the chance at capturing the national collegiate football championship in January. Snyder's ability to improve the Wildcats' record from 1-10 a year ago to 5-6 this year has placed the program back on its feet again and surely gained him a few votes in the writer's poll.

But the turf wasn't the only place that K-Staters excelled this past month. K-State's livestock-judging team returned home from Louisville, Ky., as the second best team in the nation. This feat becomes that much more spectacular when considering the fact that the student participants pay for the majority of their expenses.

Congratulations are in order for both teams and all their coaches, but possibly more important is the University's challenge to each individual to strive for the goal of diversification in all activities.

Gulf crisis lacks rationale

"When we, the workers, all demand: 'What are we fighting for? ... Then, then we'll end that stupid crime, that devil's madness ... War.' Robert W. Service (1874-1958), Canadian poet."

If polls are any indication, the most recent show that less than 55 percent of Americans surveyed approve of President Bush's handling of the Middle East crisis, down considerably from the August and September highs of about 80 percent. A mid-November Los Angeles Times poll found 52 percent opposed the recent U.S. troop increase of 150,000 as compared to 42 percent who agreed with this action.

As more of America's fathers, mothers, sons, and daughters are loaded into the mighty U.S. war machine, an increasing number of Americans are demanding to know the reasons for our determination to avoid diplomacy and force a war with Iraq. Our president has not failed in this regard. We have a reason for war this week. The trouble is, it is not the same reason we had a week ago, or several weeks ago, or a month ago, or the month before that. Yes, we have lots of reasons for war, and they keep changing like the winning numbers for the weekly Lotto-America jackpot.

A consistent characteristic of the Bush administration's justifications for going to war in the Arabian Desert (justifications which are the result of a decision-making process something akin to "spin-the-bottle" or "pin-the-tail-on-the-camel") is that they do not individually, nor as a whole, provide adequate cause for the wholesale slaughter of men and women in a so-called "multi-national" military contingent whose composition is over 80 percent American.

Here are a few of the flag-waving, tear-jerking reasons offered by the president to explain the carnage about to take place in a region of the world called the Middle East, in a tiny country called Kuwait:

■ We must stop "naked aggression." This is a "selective" policy when practiced by our government. We "select" when and where we wish to apply it. Like Tibet, for instance. The Chinese engulfed Tibet like many Ramen noodles and alfalfa sprouts. Did we send an invasion force "to stop naked aggression" then? Or maybe you prefer the Israeli invasion of Lebanon? Or the Russian invasion of Afghanistan? Did we send half a million soldiers to stop "naked aggression" in any of these situations? It would seem "naked aggression" is appropriate when it "selectively" serves the interests of a "selected" group of rich and powerful in the United States.

Brad Seabourn

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

States.

■ We are protecting the American way of life. Ah, yes. Mom, apple pie, and baseball. Or is it MTV, a Big Mac, and American gladiators? Who knows. These things are as fleeting as savings and loan institutions.

The president certainly is not referring to freedom, justice, and the democracy embodied in that one-of-a-kind document known as the U.S. Constitution. For if he is, we could not defend a single country in the Middle East based upon these terms. The Islamic monarchies of the Middle East have crushed pro-democracy movements within their respective kingdoms with as much ruthless zeal as a hundred Saddam Husseins.

As for Israel, just ask the Palestinians about freedom and justice in a so-called "Jewish" democracy. At least Hussein claimed Kuwait based on events which occurred within this century and not some half-baked religious edict issued over 2,000 years ago.

■ We are protecting jobs. This is too cold, too calculating a reason for Americans to die in a place where my wife couldn't even drive a moped. Besides, most people know that if you are poor, homeless, or out of work, all you need to do is get a dozen or so fellow indigents, hold an election, and then apply to Congress for all the foreign aid you need.

■ Saddam Hussein is Hitler. I thought Adolf Schickelgruber was Hitler? But then Josef Stalin was also Hitler. Then there was Mao Tse Tung, Fidel Castro, Kim Il-Sung, Idi Amin, Omar Gadhafi, Noriega, Ceausescu, ... the list goes on and on and on. Will the real Hitler please stand up? Hussein is a nasty guy alright, but not a Hitler. Anyone can see his mustache, as well as his image, is a bit too big.

■ Saddam Hussein will soon have "The Bomb." President Bush gave this reason last week when he talked turkey with the troops in Saudi Arabia during the Thanksgiving holiday. "No one knows precisely when this dictator may acquire atomic weapons or who they may be aimed at down the road," he said. "But we do know this for sure: He has never possessed a weapon that he hasn't used." I guess the President forgot that this allegation holds true for the United States as well. Maybe he also forgot that the United States claims a distinction no other nation on earth can claim: we are the only nation to actually use the atomic bomb as a weapon of war. If the world is worried about the proliferation and use of nuclear weapons, then the world should focus on the United States and its allies. We have shown a willingness to use them.

Bush also must have forgotten that our government has not only been aware of Iraq's nuclear program, we turned a blind eye whenever U.S. corporations, as well as business interests from other western countries, sold nuclear technology to any nut with a few bucks and a physics book.

■ Oil is a national interest. Yes, oil is a national interest, not only of the U.S. but for most of the industrialized world. Yet, how important an interest is it? Is it worth dying for? Just how many American soldiers is a gallon of gas worth? There are many alternatives to dying for oil ... like conservation for one. Or, instead of dumping a billion dollars a month into military intervention in the gulf, investing that money in alternative energy research. For an important "national interest" that could cost us as many as 20,000 to 30,000 American lives by some estimates, we have managed to do very little to change or improve our dependence on such an important "interest" over the last 15 years.

■ To protect the U.S. military-industrial complex. President Bush never said this, but it is becoming quite apparent as events unfold. Just as the communist threat in Europe evaporates, rendering our $300-billion-a-year military budget obsolete, a grave and serious threat to our "national interests," our "jobs," our "way of life," and "world security" materializes! Just a coincidence?

Is it a coincidence that our ambassador to Iraq prior to the invasion of Kuwait, April Glaspie, in a July 25 meeting with Hussein, made it clear that "we have no opinion on the Arab-Arab conflicts, like your border disagreement with Kuwait?"

Is it a coincidence in the week prior to the invasion that secretary of state James Baker's spokeswoman, Margaret Tutwiler, and his assistant secretary of state for the Middle East, John Kelly, both publicly said the United States was not obligated to come to Kuwait's aid if the emirate was attacked?

Go figure. And while you are at it, figure on watching "American gladiators," "live" and on "prime-time" come January 15, 1991.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Venso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzon, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimotheadis, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Pula, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seabourn, Kevin Zwink
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzon, David Frese, Eric Henry
	Tommy Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer
	Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Venso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johann Koel
CAMPUS/TEASHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little
	Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allyson Schaff
	Amy Sall, Karen Lind
	Angie Humphrey
	Scott Boyd

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 108, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 108, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

LETTERS

Column lacks thesis

Editor,

I wondered how long it would take the next generation of the good old boy network to respond to the preponderance of politically correct attitudes that view feminist, homosexual and multi-racial thought as equal in importance to traditional Western (therefore, white) male ideas. Skoog and his reactionary cohorts are suffering from their diminishing role in the Western world. Because of this, many people have a chance of being heard. This is the end of the Universal — now we must accept many universals.

But I don't think Skoog is really that mad at PCPs. I think that he wanted to vent his fears of his manly viewpoint not being the one on top, the one others must follow. His column in Monday's Collegian lacked organization and a clear thesis. Because of this the column rambled and took circular dips and dives into "radical thought" like affirmative action and the censorship of unpopular ideas. (I agree with Skoog on both these points.)

But his argument against both of these subjects is counter to his argument against an education that pursues ideas about the environment, gender roles and racial issues. This is educating people to be aware of other cultures in addition to, not instead of, western civilization. Why can't we have both? I'm not suggesting replacing Hemingway with Amiri Baraka but that people have the opportunity to read both.

I see Skoog's plea to refuse to stand up for the rights of homosexuals, women, blacks and other minority groups as rallying against education and against understanding and for a volatile society, incapable of compassion. Now what this has to do with political correctness, I don't know, because I think you will find that feminists, and other human rights activists, are those who are most wary of what you call PCPs.

Laurie McKinnon
graduate student in English

Hunting interest declines in state

By Lajeau Rau
Collegian Reporter

The number of registered hunters in the state of Kansas is at a 30-year low this year.

"The problem seems to be a lack of interest with younger people," said Lou Constantino, public information officer for the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks in Topeka. "We don't seem to be seeing as much of the old tradition of the boys going out with dad and grandpa anymore."

Constantino estimated that most hunters are between the ages of 25 and 45. Fewer high school and college age people are hunting each year, he said.

He said the lack of public land available for hunting is also a problem. Only three percent of the land in Kansas is public, the remaining 97 percent is owned.

Ron Lackey, senior in agricultural economics, is an avid hunter. "Public lands get so much hunting pressure you really don't want to go there," Lackey said. "It's really hard to find a farmer or landowner that will let you hunt on his land."

Lackey said one reason for landowners' reluctance to accommodate hunters is that poachers give hunters a bad name.

"People will go out and hunt out of season or break other hunting regulations," he said. "Then all of a sudden private landowners won't let you hunt on their land."

Hunting, fishing, boating and other wildlife and parks activities rank second in money-making operations for the state of Kansas.

"I don't think people understand just how important hunting is to this state," he said. "The impact on the state's economy is tremendous. I really believe, though travel and tourism falls under the Department of Commerce and not the Department of Wildlife and Parks, that hunting is the most important part of tourism in Kansas."

The trend toward dropping sales of hunting licenses and permits has the Department of Wildlife and Parks officials worried.

"We are working on some new programs to raise interest in hunting, especially with the younger people," Constantino said.

Deer season for regular firearms began Wednesday and ends Dec. 9. Hunters are required by the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks to obtain a permit to hunt big game.

Deer permits must be applied for in July and are awarded through a drawing system.

The state is divided into units, Constantino said. A Department of Wildlife and Parks biologist decides how many permits should be issued

■ See HUNT, Page 10

On The Wild Side
Beads from around the world

Also: Baja shirts &
Guatemalan Toto Belts
1128 Moro
Open weekdays till 7 p.m.
Sat. till 6 p.m.

People's Grocery
Co-op
HOLIDAY OPEN HOUSE

- *Live music (1-2:30 Sat. only)
- *Samples of specialty cheeses
- *Free recipes of natural & healthy holiday snacks
- *Holiday gift items on sale
- *Holiday baskets
- *Holiday fruit breads
- *And much, much more.

Listen for KQLA giveaway this weekend!

Friday - Nov. 30, 10-6:30

Saturday - Dec. 1, 9-5

SUNDAY-Dec. 2, 12-5

811 Colorado 539-4811

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Applications are Being Taken for

SGA Positions

Applications and job descriptions for Student Body President Cabinet are available in the Student Government Services Office located on the ground floor of the K-State Union.

Due Friday Nov. 30, 1990.

FINANCE CLUB/FMA

PRESENTS AN

S & L ROUNDTABLE

NOV. 29, 3:30 p.m.

STUDENT UNION BIG 8 ROOM
EVERYONE WELCOME!

ONE HOUR MOTOPHOTO

PHOTO PROCESSING AT ITS BEST

40% off
Processing
(C-41)

Expires Dec. 15, 1990

29¢
Reprint Special
(35mm, 110, 126, Disc)

Expires Dec. 15, 1990

1134 Gardenway
Across from Westloop

C-31
776-9030

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND THRIFTY THURSDAY

PYRAMID PIZZA rolls back the prices

Only $3.49 for a small pizza (one topping)
(additional toppings are 75¢ each)

Carryout/Dine In Only

539-4888

12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

COUPON
"THRIFTY THURSDAY"

$3.49 for a Small
One-topping Pizza

Good Every Thursday

"We Pile It On!"

THE CLAY CELLAR

HOLIDAY SHOW AND SALE
OPEN STUDIO

Nov. 30th 7-10 p.m.

Dec. 1st 10-6 p.m.

Dec. 2nd 1-5 p.m.

FEATURING POTTERS:
JOYCE E. FURNEY
RONNA ROOKS ROUNDS
GARY D. TYSON

INVITED GUEST ARTISTS:
ANN TALARICO, Silversmith
JAN NEAL, Watercolorist
JUDY WILLINGHAM, Jeweler

THE CLAY CELLAR 539-4064

572 Pillsbury Dr Manhattan, KS

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

HUNAM
EXPRESS

1116 MORO

537-0886

This coupon good for

Chicken with Snow Peas $2.50

not good with any other special, promo, delivery

Free Delivery with min. $9 order

Open 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Expires 12/5/90

Christmas Golf Sale!!

Entire Inventory 10-50% OFF

- *Golf Clubs Men's & Ladies
- *Sweaters
- *Wood Headcovers
- *Golf socks
- *Golf Shirts

- *Windbreaker Jackets
- *Shoes
- *Golf Bags
- *Golf Balls

- *Golf gloves
- *Umbrellas
- *Putters & Wedges
- *Pull Carts

STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB
PRO SHOP 539-1041

We have what you need to make
Your Gift Special!!

Gift Certificates Available

8am-6pm Seven Days A Week

1 Mile East of Manhattan Airport on K-18

* Lessons For Spring

November

PORTRAIT Special

Sitting and 8 Original Proofs

Only! $14.95

ONE HOUR
MOTOPHOTO

PORTRAIT STUDIO

1134 Gardenway

Manhattan

(913) 776-9030

TOP TEN REASONS TO FILL OUT THIS SURVEY

- 10) IT'S MORE FUN THAN PLUCKING NOSE HAIRS.
- 9) DISCO IN THE '90S ... SCARY, ISN'T IT.
- 8) 97 WENT COUNTRY.
- 7) CAN'T PICK UP RADIO STATIONS IN L.A.
- 6) NEW KIDS, NEW KIDS, NEW KIDS.
- 5) WHAT ELSE ARE YOU GOING TO DO ... FILL OUT THE CROSSWORD PUZZLE?
- 4) BARRY MANILOW'S COME BACK TOUR.
- 3) SIMON Q IS DEAD
- 2) MADONNA'S BODY NOT EFFECTIVE ON RADIO.
- 1) V.D. OR TOP 40 ... V.D. IT'S CURABLE!!!!

We at DB92 always want to know what type of music you, the Kansas State Community, would like to hear. KSDB plays specialty music programs but the majority is NEW ALBUM ROCK. Along with NEW ALBUM ROCK we have listed eight other possible formats. Check the format that best fits your listening needs. If other give examples.

NEW ALBUM ROCK EXAMPLES—REM, RED HOT CHILI PEPPERS, PIXIES, SMITHEREENS, SONIC YOUTH, PUBLIC IMAGE LTD (PIL), GUADALCANAL DIARY AND JANES ADDICTION.

CLASSIC ROCK-N-ROLL EXAMPLES—AEROSMITH, BOSTON, BAD COMPANY, BEATLES, DOORS, EAGLES, JIMI HENDRIX, LED ZEPPELEN, STEPPENWOLF, ROLLING STONES, VAN HALEN AND ZZ TOP.

CLASSIC GOLD EXAMPLES—CHUCK BERRY, JERRY LEE LEWIS, ELVIS, BEACH BOYS, SUPREMES, MARTHA AND THE VANDELLAS, FOUR TOPS, FRANKIE VALLI, BIG BOPPER, RICHIE VALENS, AND BUDDY HOLLY.

HEAVY METAL EXAMPLES—METALLICA, GUNS-N-ROSES, AC/DC, KISS, SLAUGHTER, DAMN YANKEES, FAITH NO MORE, THE CULT, MEGADEATH, EXTREME, MOTLEY CRUE, KIX, GREAT WHITE, WHITE SNAKE, IRON MAIDEN, GIANT, BADLANDS, AND SCORPIONS.

URBAN CONTEMPORARY EXAMPLES—MORRIS DAY, L.L. KOOL J, PUBLIC ENEMY, VANILLA ICE, DEF CON 4, VICIOUS BEAT POSSE, LUTHER VANDROSS, THE THROW DOWN TWINS, KOOL MOE DEE, EAZY E, SKINNY BOYS, ETTA JAMES, AND MARY DAVID.

NEW AGE EXAMPLES—PAUL McCANDLESS, WILLIAM ACKERMAN, SCOTT COSSU, MONTEUX, ENYA, PAUL WINTER CONSORT, MICHAEL HEDGES, NIGHTNOISE, MICHAEL MANNING, AND PHILLIP AABERG.

JAZZ EXAMPLES—WYNTON MARSALIS, MICHAEL HEDGES, MILES DAVIS, ITCHY FINGERS, HERB ALPERT, HIRAM BULLOCK, STANLEY CLARKE, THE HOLLIDAY BROTHERS, B.B. KING, BRANFORD AND JANE HARVEY

COUNTRY EXAMPLES—GEORGE STRAIT, HANK WILLIAMS JR., ALABAMA, OAK RIDGE BOYS, STATLER BROTHERS, RANDY TRAVIS, GARTH BROOKS, CLINT BLACK, TAMMY WYNETTE, GEORGE JONES, THE JUDDS AND GLEN CAMPBELL.

TOP 40 EXAMPLES—MADONNA, PAULA ABDUL, GEORGE MICHAEL, WILSON PHILLIPS, M.C. HAMMER, MICHAEL JACKSON, JANET JACKSON, PHIL COLLINS, TAYLOR DAYNE, NEW KIDS AND WHITNEY HOUSTON.

OTHER

1) Do you have a favorite radio station in Manhattan?

YES NO

If yes which one? (CALL LETTERS)

Do you have a second favorite?

2) In Manhattan, how many hours a day do you listen to the radio?

0 1-2 2-3 3-4 5 or more

3) What hours of the day do you listen to the radio when in Manhattan?

6AM-10AM 10AM-3PM 3PM-7PM 7PM-12AM

12AM-6AM

4) Do you have a favorite radio in your home town?

YES NO

If yes which one? (CALL LETTERS)

5) At home, how many hours a day do you listen to the radio?

0 1-2 2-3 3-4 5 or more

6) What hours of the day do you listen to the radio at home?

6AM-10AM 10AM-3PM 3PM-7PM 7PM-12AM

12AM-6AM

7) Do you listen to DB92? YES NO

If yes, what shows do you listen to?

NEW ALBUM ROCK ROCK OF AGES JAM THE BOX

METAL HEAD REGAE EXTRAVAGANZA JAZZ

CROSS POINT DR. DEMENTO INTO AFRICA

LEFTOVERS

8) In your living group or local residence which would you rather listen to?

RADIO MTV OWN MUSIC

AGE UP TO 18 19 20 21 22 23-24
25-34 35-49 50 AND UP

SEX FEMALE MALE

Check your current status.

HIGH SCHOOL KSU UNDERGRAD KSU GRAD

KSU FACULTY KSU STAFF NON KSU

TO VALIDATE THIS SURVEY WE NEED YOUR PHONE NUMBER AND SIGNATURE.

Signature _____

Phone Number _____

Drop survey off at one of the five locations on campus. Just look for the DB92 Logo:

- *Willard
- *Farrell
- *Kedzie 104
- *Cardwell
- *McCain

or mail to Kedzie 104
care of DB92 survey.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Snyder, Miller begin contract renegotiations

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

The first formal contract-renegotiation meeting between K-State football coach Bill Snyder and athletic director Steve Miller was held Wednesday afternoon, and Miller termed the discussion a profitable one.

Snyder was unavailable for comment Wednesday night.

Miller had indicated just before the season's end that he wanted to open talks with his second-year coach as to a possible change in Snyder's contract designed to keep him in Manhattan and reward him for the team's on-field performance in 1990.

The meeting Wednesday in Miller's office at Bramlage Coliseum marked the first time since the season ended Nov. 17 that the coach met with his boss face-to-face to begin the renegotiation process.

Miller said he expects the negotiation process will be wrapped up in the next week to 10 days.

"The instigating factors in renegotiating Bill's contract include three main things," Miller said. "No. 1, we want to keep him, obviously. The second major reason has to do with how he's thought of by the students, alumni and everyone else involved with this program."

"Finally, and possibly most importantly, it is an absolute death knell to have to hire a coach repeatedly. It is absolutely critical that you have continuity in a program — particularly one like this one."

Miller said his talk with Snyder centered on length of contract rather than increased monetary compensation, though both will be a part of the package.

"I want to stress that what we talked about primarily has to do with length of contract rather than salary," Miller said. "Bill will get additional money, but the length of the contract was the major issue."

When he was hired on Nov. 30, 1988, Snyder received a five-year contract.

The pact contains buyout clauses that allow both sides to end the agreement, and also contains incentive clauses that increase the base salary figure determinant on number of victories, place in the Big Eight Conference, and the number of players in the program who graduate.

Miller said that any change in Snyder's contract would be effective with the beginning of the 1992 fiscal year in the summer of 1991. As such, any increase in monetary compensation would be a budgeted item, Miller said, and would not increase the existing athletic department debt.

Miller indicated that he would not be adverse to discussing a rollover-type contract with Snyder, in which the agreement would automatically be extended for an additional year at the conclusion of each fiscal year if both parties were in agreement.

Former men's basketball coach Lon Kruger had such an agreement, though Miller said any such agreement with Snyder would be fundamentally different.

"If we discuss that type of agreement, it will be more of a binding rollover pact," Miller said. "There would likely be buyout clauses and incentives involved."

Miller also indicated that the contracts of Snyder's assistants would also be adjusted.

K-State coach Bill Snyder entered into contract renegotiation talks with athletic director Steve Miller Wednesday. Snyder has just completed his second season as the Wildcat grid boss.

Football players continue climb

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

K-State coach Bill Snyder arrived in Manhattan two years ago promoting intangibles.

The former Iowa assistant promised to reform attitudes, create a stronger work ethic and place high demands on his players. There was no mention of Big Eight Conference championships, Orange Bowls or national titles.

The Wildcats produced other tangible results with the formula in 1990.

"I think it's obvious our program has grown a great deal," said Snyder, reflecting on K-State's 5-6 season. "To me, five wins indicates that our kids have made progress and have learned how to win."

Indeed, the past season gave K-State coaches, players and fans something to feel good about. The 'Cats finished with their most wins since 1982, set a lengthy list of statistical records and received the praises of all opposing league coaches.

Was it good enough for Snyder?

"It's still not anything that I'm particularly satisfied with," Snyder said. "It's just an indicator that the program has grown, and I think at no time has it ever stopped going in that direction."

"Our kids are getting better."

Several 'Cats improved enough to receive postseason honors. Senior quarterback Carl Straw led four K-Staters on the Associated Press' All-Big Eight second team. Straw finished his career as the 'Cats' second all-time leading passer behind Lynn Dickey, throwing for 2,156 yards this season.

It was games like the one against Iowa State, in which Straw led the 'Cats to a come-from-behind 28-14 win, which enabled the Fair Lawn, N.J. native to land a spot behind Colorado's Darian Hagan.

"I told our kids at halftime of that game that whoever had the tougher quarterback was going to win," Snyder said. "Carl Straw is that type of quarterback."

Straw's two favorite targets, junior receivers Michael Smith and Frank Hernandez, were also second-team all-conference selections. Smith, who earned third-team All-America recognition from Football News magazine, caught 46 passes for 796 yards, a year after setting a school record with 70 receptions.

The attention given to Smith by opposing defenses opened the door for Hernandez, who had 41 receptions for 577 yards. Hernandez led the 'Cats with four touchdown catches.

Sophomore linebacker Brooks Barta was K-State's lone second-team defensive selection. After being named the Big Eight Defensive Newcomer of the Year last season, the Smith Center native ended his second campaign with 105 tackles.

Barta's newcomer award remained at K-State, as defensive back Jaime Mendez was the recipient. Mendez' knack for making the big play caught the attention of sports writers, as he tied a school record with six interceptions, recovered two fumbles and blocked a field goal to go along with 40 tackles.

Tight end Russ Campbell and safety Danny Needham received honorable mention on the All-Big Eight team. Despite leading conference tight ends with 27 catches for 473 yards, Campbell finished behind Nebraska's Johnny Mitchell and Missouri's Tim Bruton in the voting.

Five of the award winners will return for the 1991 season.

One of Snyder's biggest disappointments to the season — a point he made clear after K-State's first few games — was the struggle to fill KSU Stadium with fans each Saturday. The 'Cats averaged attendance was 23,551 for six home games.

"In order for the things to happen in this program that all the people would like to have happen, I've always felt it's extremely important that the visible support be there first, in order to give our kids a feeling of security," Snyder said. "Empty seats don't show that."

"But the people who are there are so genuine, I wouldn't do anything in the world to offend them. I'm not addressing anyone in particular. Not everyone has to be a Kansas State supporter. That's like telling me I've got to go see the Kansas City Chiefs every week."

Smith's omission from team makes no sense

Dan Wicker
SPORTS REPORTER

Although Coach Bill Snyder may downplay his acceptance of the Big Eight Coach of the Year honors, he was deserving. However, for him to capture those honors, someone had to go out on the field and practice what was preached, or K-State would have never won five games.

There were many highs and lows in the best season since K-State made a trip to the Independence Bowl in 1982, but I think it is safe to say that another low has notched itself in the goalpost of K-State football.

That low is having preseason All-Big Eight wide receiver Michael Smith snubbed from the first team All-Big Eight postseason squad by both the media and the conference coaches.

Smith did join his teammates Frank Hernandez, record-setting quarterback Carl Straw and line-backer Brooks Barta among the second team All-Big Eight selections, but he belonged among the league's top spots for the second consecutive year.

Replacing Smith on the first team were Linzy Collins of Missouri and Mike Pritchard of Colorado. Both Collins and Pritchard are quality receivers and can make strong cases for their selections.

Collins was no doubt a unanimous selection after recording nine receptions in his final game against Kansas and setting numerous Missouri school records. Collins made the climb from fourth in the Big Eight last season to lead the conference in yards per game (87) and receptions per game (5.09).

Smith had led the Big Eight in yards per game the entire season until the final game at Colorado, where he caught only three passes.

Pritchard's ground for a first-team selection is a bit shakier than Collins. Pritchard fit into the Colorado offense as a long-play threat, but since Colorado was more of a rushing team than a passing one, Pritchard only had an average of 2.33 receptions per game.

It is obvious that this is where the selection committee slandered Smith. Pritchard trailed Smith in almost receiving category, but still somehow slithered into All-Big Eight honors, just as Colorado always finds some way to notch a mark in their "W" column.

Last year, the selection committee made their picks clear and simple instead of maliciously denying honors to those that should have received them. The league leaders Smith and Quintin Smith of Kansas were first-team selections.

Smith doubled Pritchard's mark of 2.33 receptions a game, and caught 18 more passes on the season than did Pritchard. Smith also ranked among the nation's leaders at 33rd with 72.3 yards per game, while Pritchard did not even rank among the top 50 in the nation.

Pritchard's sole claim to the first-team honors lies with his yards per catch, which led the league at 27.6 yards. But Pritchard was not nearly as important to Colorado's offense as Smith was to K-State's. Eric Bieniemy and Darian Hagan provide the brunt of Colorado's offense and have all season.

Another K-State athlete might have also been snubbed from All-Big Eight honors among the second team instead of the honorable mention he received. Tight end Russ Campbell emerged as one of the Big Eight's premiere tight ends and provided crucial catches for K-State in many games.

In the future, remember that just because a team finishes with the Big Eight crown does not mean that every player deserves All-Big Eight honors. There are players around the conference that provided more of an impact for their team than some of the first-team selections.

Table tennis club to host tourney

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State Table Tennis Club, in cooperation with the city of Manhattan, will host a table tennis tournament this weekend at the Manhattan City Auditorium.

According to tournament director and club faculty adviser David Surowski, eligibility for sanctioned events is open only to members of the United States Table Tennis Association.

However, non-USTTA members can participate in the novice portion of the competition scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

"For the novice events, I'd like to encourage the casual players — like those involved in the recreational services tournament — to get involved with our tournament," Surowski said.

There's a tremendous amount of enjoyment in the morning novice event."

The sanctioned events, which begin at 10 a.m. Saturday and will conclude with the open round-robin final at 7 p.m. that day, will likely be very competitive, Surowski said.

Players from as many as six states have played in previous club-sponsored events, and Surowski has received entries or phone inquiries from players in Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois for this tournament.

Surowski said that there are several reasons he's involved with the game.

"There's a very strong sociological component," he said. "You'll see a lot of international people involved with our events. I think the exchange of information and the friendships developed are very rewarding."

"As far as the sport itself, the real appeal is that this sport has so many types of skills involved but can be developed at the middle level of play without a great deal of physical conditioning."

Surowski said the sport isn't for everyone.

"It's an acquired taste," he said. "You have to be around other people also interested in the game to cultivate an interest of your own."

Those players wanting to cultivate an interest of their own can contact Surowski at 539-9579 for tournament information. Entry fees for the novice events are $3 and $5.

KU has free throw trouble

By The Associated Press

LAWRENCE — Free-throw woes for Kansas seem to be snowballing.

Only two games into the regular season, the Jayhawks already have shown a weakness at the line.

In their opening weekend in Arizona, the Jayhawks made just 14 of 37 foul shots for an average of 37.8 percent.

"Concentration is probably the biggest thing," said forward Mike Maddox. "We all just have to relax. It's contagious almost."

The epidemic swept Kansas on Friday against Arizona State. Guard Terry Brown shot three of six, the best for the team. Forward Mark Randall went to the line twice and hit one, while both Maddox and Alonzo Jamison were one of four.

Jamison missed twice in the final 27 seconds of the game with the Jayhawks tied with the Sun Devils at 68. Arizona State then took the rebound and scored to win 70-68.

"If we win it's not as bad," Jamison said. "But I take it upon myself if we lose. I started missing and then everybody started missing."

"I don't know. It feels good when it leaves my hands. My mechanics are OK. I need to work on the mental aspects. I think about it all the time especially after missing at ASU. But there is nothing you can do about it, except keep shooting."

Jamison, who made only two of 10 from the line Saturday against Northern Arizona, said Coach Roy Williams increased free-throw shooting drills during practice Monday. The squad shot three minutes of free throws between other drills. Each player will also come in for 30 minutes of personal shooting during the week, Maddox said.

"We just need to relax and go back to the basics," he said. "Everyone on the team can shoot and we know that."

The Jayhawks showed potential from the line during preseason, making 31 of 41 free throws.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Randall undergoes surgery

LAWRENCE (AP) — Kansas forward Mark Randall has had surgery for a leg injury and may miss up to four weeks, the Jayhawks said Wednesday.

Randall, a key player for Kansas at forward, is out for an indefinite period of 10 days to four weeks, said Doug Vance, sports information director for Kansas.

Randall suffered an injury in his lower right leg called anterior compartment syndrome when a player fell on him during an exhibition game Nov. 16. The injury had continued to bother him and was aggravated when he was kicked in the exact same spot during a team practice Monday, Vance said.

The surgery was performed Tuesday to remove pressure, Vance said.

Kansas coach Roy Williams said the loss of Randall was "definitely a severe blow to our team."

Quirk signs with A's

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Catcher Jamie Quirk, who became a free agent after the 1990 season, has signed a two-year contract with the Oakland Athletics.

He passed up a chance for a fourth time with the Kansas City Royals, who had also offered him a contract.

Quirk, 36, batted .281 with three home runs and 26 RBIs for the Athletics in 1990. As a pinch-hitter, Quirk was 4-for-11 with a home run and four RBIs.

A 12-year veteran, Quirk played for seven other major league teams before joining The A's before last season. He has a .240 career average with 40 home runs and 219 RBIs.

Coaches select team

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Colorado running back Eric Bienemy and three other Buffaloes players were unanimous picks on the Big Eight coaches all-conference team announced Wednesday.

Teammates joining Bienemy as unanimous picks were quarterback Darian Hagan, center Jay Leeuwenburg and defensive tackle Joel Steed.

Linebacker Joe Bowden of Oklahoma was also a unanimous pick.

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Shlabe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1" Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO ROYALE CAFFE
CLASSIC CAFE CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Double Mochas
$1.75
Valid with this coupon. Today only.
Expires 11/29/90

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—

Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAVID WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE

2801 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66505
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-1861

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz

537-2480

Free Estimates

OWIK/LITE

BATTERIES

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.00

Everyday Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.00

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

On the fifth day of Christmas
my true love gave to me:

3 for 2 French Vanilla
serving (small-medium-large)

at

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY

Nautilus Towers
in Aggieville
Manhattan, KS

537-1616

Coupon expires 11/30/90

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS BEADS BEADS

Make your own

Christmas gifts...

Thousands of beads,
crystals and all the
supplies you need.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

Decorate your apartment.
Decorate your dorm room.
Decorate your Greek house.
Decorate your Jardine apartment.
Decorate your office.
Decorate your own home
With trees, lights, and ribbon from.

Christmas at

DALE'S
GARDEN CENTER
539-4751

1105 Waters

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

5th Day - Get 50¢ off any 6" sub

(not good on Cold Cut Combo or Veggie & Cheese)

Offer good Nov. 29 & 30

Must present ad - not good in combination with any offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

Give K-State for Christmas

You'll find great K-State gifts including the highest quality
T-shirts and sweatshirts from

JANSPORT
DIFFERENT BY DESIGN.

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville 539-7654

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS?

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Select Group Sport Shirts
Twills, Blends & Flannels
Choice from Nautica,
Gordon Thomas & Nicola Mancini.
NOW 20% off

Gordon Thomas
Leather Jackets Reg. $255 NOW $199
100% cotton brushed twills slacks
3 colors. Sizes 30-42. Reg. $30 NOW $24

• Free gift wrap
• Extended holiday hours
• Gift certificates

Our KISS? Gift Certificate for You.
on your purchase
of $100 more
$20 OFF
BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Expires 12/10/90
Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $3.00, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.25, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.50, 40 cents per word over 15.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ATTENTION: WOMEN students and faculty. Participants needed for survey. Complete a questionnaire (30 minutes) and receive $2. Contact Agustina, Justin Hall room 139 A.

BE IMPULSIVE, be romantic. The Osage House! Tonight! 2605 Stag Hill Road, 776-1234.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locators, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

HIGH NOON

is the deadline for
KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
ClassADS
Kedzie Hall 103 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
532-6555

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

STRIPPERS ARE at Baystreet Monday, Dec. 3 and Tuesday, Dec. 4.

Hardee's
DELIVERS
537-2526

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119
7 NIGHTS
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129
5 AND 7 NIGHTS
STEAMBOAT from $96
2, 5 AND 7 NIGHTS
FORT LAUDERDALE from $137
7 NIGHTS
PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124
7 NIGHTS
CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND from $108
5 AND 7 NIGHTS
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112
5 AND 7 NIGHTS
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

*Depending on break dates and length of stay

BACKLESS BRAS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

Don't Forget
99¢
Pitchers
Tonight
only at
Baystreet

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW, one-, two-bedroom, furnished, located on Denison, no pets, $245/$380 a month. 539-5697.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Reasonable rent. Serious inquiries call collect (316)321-5810.

FIRST MONTH free! Available spring semester, roomy apartment for two. One and one-half blocks south of campus, water, trash, deposit already paid. Call Carina 537-0772.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, heat, water trash included. No pets, $220/ month. 539-3821.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Bluemont. Available mid-December, $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

THURSDAY
99¢ Pitchers
99¢ Wells

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to college. All utilities paid except personal electricity. Air conditioning, no pets, $175 a month. Available Jan. 1, 1840 Elaine Drive.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January. 10th and Osage. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

TWO-BEDROOM in duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Unfurnished two-bedroom with washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. 776-7950.

IDEAL ARRANGEMENT for three compatible students, three-bedroom, two-bath, loft with kitchen, off-street parking, laundry. Available Jan. 1, $190 month each, bills paid. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment for rent from January—August. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143 evenings.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE- OR two-bedroom with living, dining, kitchen, hardwood floors, storage, laundry, off-street parking. Ideal for married couple. 537-2266.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-FOURTH block from campus. One and one-half bath, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1. $540 per month plus utilities. 539-6878 or 537-1746.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 814 Thurston, gas/ water included. No pets, start Jan. 1, $375/ month. 537-9336.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, one-bedroom apartment, pool/ jacuzzi, nice, close to campus, extremely affordable. 539-0361.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM one block from campus. Available in January. 537-8986.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vattier, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE January. Four bedrooms, house near campus. Laundry and parking facilities. $600 plus utilities. 537-5134.

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 CHEVY 4x4 350. New paint, no rust, clean. 776-4387.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1979 TOYOTA Corolla, good tires, 88K miles, runs excellent, $595 or offer. 539-7481.

1982 BLACK two-door, velour interior, Saab, Good condition. 776-8759 or 537-2642.

(Continued on page 9)

BAYSTREET AND THE PIT

99¢ Pitchers
75¢ Longnecks
75¢ Wells
25¢ Kamis

Strippers are coming Dec. 3 and 4!

NO COVER BEFORE 8 p.m.

$2.50
Pitchers
at Manhattan's
Premiere
Country-
Western Bar
The Ranch
SALOON

3 miles east on Hwy. 24
539-4989
$2 Members, $3 Guests

Treat Yourself
To A "Triple
Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

GRAT TASTE - NATURALLY.
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

Christian Dior

The Double-Breasted
Black peak lapel.
A distinguished alternative.

CHRISTINE'S
THE WEDDING COMPANY

1223 Moro 776-7387
Open Thursdays 'til 8 p.m.

Christian Dior

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR FALL
LUBE, OIL (UP TO 5 QTS.), FILTER
MOST POPULAR BRANDS

$15.95

by appointment only

537-1201
1026 Poyntz

Parkside CONOCO & U-Haul

K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through
Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the Union
sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union
Bookstore

Which sign are you?

59¢*

Taco
Soft Taco
Bean Burrito
Tostada
Pintos 'N Cheese
Cinnamon Twists

ORIGINAL!

79¢*

Taco Supreme™ Soft Taco Supreme® Chilito
Nachos
MexiMelt®

NEW!

99¢*

Chicken Soft Taco
Steak Soft Taco
Combo Burrito
Nachos Supreme™

NEW!

Now 3 Great New Value Menus!

VISIT TACO BELL AT:
1155 WESTPORT RD.
MANHATTAN

TACO BELL®
RUN FOR THE BORDER.™

*Tax not included

© 1990 Taco Bell Corp.

(Continued from page 8)

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1985 FIREBIRD, T-tops, V-6, five-speed, Kenwood stereo system. Excellent condition. $5,000. Ask for Duane 539-6644.

1987 ESCORT GT 1.9L H.O., 51,000 miles, maroon with sport package. Sunroof, new tires, $5,800. 537-3157.

1988 HONDA Civic, three-door hatchback, deluxe, five-speed, power steering, power brakes, air. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AM/FM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

1988 RANGER GT, red with yellow graphics. Custom tarp. $6,500. 776-3703.

1990 TOYOTA Tercel, automatic, air, excellent condition. 9,600 miles. 537-0597.

PAYDAY SPECIALS: 1977 Pontiac Trans Am, T-tops, $2,100; 1983 Olds Cutlass Supreme V8, $2,795; 1984 Chevy Caprice, four-door, $2,000; 1981 Mercury Lynx wagon, $995; 1980 Camaro, new 350 motor, $1,695. Ace Auto Sales, Olathe, Kansas. 537-8866 or 537-0870.

6 Child Care

NANNIES: COME experience life in the east while doing something you enjoy—caring for kids. Call now for application. Nannie Network Inc. 1-800-US-NANNY.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMPUTER RIBBONS and supplies. Hull Business Supplies. Aggieville, 714 N. 12th. 539-1413.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

ASSISTANT TEACHER, part-time in an established early childhood program. Must be available to work from 11 a.m.—12:30 p.m. daily plus an additional 1 1/2 hours two afternoons per week. Must have experience with groups of young children and hours in ECCE, EI Ed or related field. Apply at Seven Dolors Childcare Pre-school, 220 S. Juliette, by Dec. 7. Position available spring semester. EOE.

CHILDCARE IN our home, Mondays 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for girls ages 1, 5 and 7. Must be reliable, non-smoker, have own transportation and references. 537-1558.

GREAT MONEY making opportunity for ambitious student service group. To provide X-mas gift wrapping service for K-State Union Bookstore. Wrapping materials provided. Contact Odette at 532-6583 before noon Nov. 29.

HELP WANTED—College student with sheetrocking experience, part-time, afternoons and Saturdays. 776-6725.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

PART-TIME SALESPERSON for downtown local jewelry store (experience required). Apply in person. G. Thomas Jewelers. 419 Poyntz Ave.

PIANIST WANTED for Unity Church. Musical variety. Sunday mornings and/or Wednesday evenings. 539-8416, 537-6120.

RESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT: Part-time position during evening and weekends available immediately. Responsible for being on-site at a five bed male residential facility for the mentally impaired. Duties include monitoring and supervision of daily living skills and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure skill activities. Must be available to attend a weekly team staff meeting. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services. 539-7426.

SPRING SEMESTER employment. Student secretary/receptionist: Telephone, typing and organizational skills required. Computer experience helpful. Need help Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and mid-day on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Applications are available at the Recreational Services office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Application deadline is Monday, Dec. 3. Position begins Jan. 7.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.s, drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, crafts counselors, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6526, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616.

STUDENTS FROM KANSAS CITY OR WICHITA

Part Time wanted: K-State students from KC or Wichita for jobs taking inventory in retail stores. Work from KC or Wichita this Christmas break, Manhattan during the school year. Availability on weekends a MUST. 10-key experience helpful but not mandatory. $5 an hour to start. If interested call 776-8884, Manhattan Job Service. Call for an appointment on Friday, Nov. 30. Interviews at 9 a.m., 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

9 Food Specials

50¢ Tacos
99¢ Margaritas
105 N. 3rd • 776-9879

KITE'S BAR AND GRILLE
Thursday
FALSETTO'S
Pizza Slices
5-7 p.m.
50¢
$1.25
1 WELL
FRIDAY
FREE TACOS
5-7 p.m.
619 N. 12th • Aggieville

Bobby J's
Thursdays
Booga Booga Night
Any Burger and Fries Only
$1.99 + drink specials for the ladies
16 oz. Mason Jar of draft $1.25
539-1571

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half block from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM house in Riley, $150. Available Dec. 1. Call 1-485-2204.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ROLL of film, 1600 professional color near Waters. Claim in Kedzie 103 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

LOST: ENGAGEMENT Ring—Eleven small diamonds with one larger diamond. If found, please call 537-5129.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

1983 SCHULT 14x64, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, central air, dishwasher, washer/dryer hookups. Good condition. $300. 539-1041.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x50 MOBILE home, washer and dryer, shed, furnished, $5,000. Call 537-3909.

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 SUZUKI to sell, 450ccs. $250 or best. Call Mau at 537-3585.

1986 XR200, great shape, best offer over $700. 776-0535.

HONDA CL100 1971. Only two owners. Lots of fun! Call Tracy 539-7734.

Motorcycle Supply

TNT Off-road Helmets
snell approved
$115
1221 Moro • 776-6177

19 Music/Musicians

JUST in time for Christmas, alto saxophone, $300 or best offer, very good condition. 539-8896 evenings.

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

1 OF 2 Surprise? Hope you have a Happy Birthday! 2 of 2

ANTHONY, HAPPY Birthday to The #1 man in my life—to new memories!! Love, Daf.

BUNNYLOVER—SURPRISE!! Not. Redeem this for an "anything" Happy Birthday and I Love You. Dr. Message.

ELSA, I hope that this day is as special for you as the time that you have shared with me. You have taught me very much and shown me how great life is. Thank you and Feliz Cumpeanos. Ian B.

GONEY—SIX months and going strong! If you don't remember anything else, remember... Strong City, pools, picnics, Godfather's, homemade ham-mocks, Tennessee, miniature golf, the zoo, "fire-works," mud v-bill, house-sitting, rings, skiing, VCRs wherever they may be, bearbags, pink rocks, Twila, colorful markers, late night talks... remember how it all started? You're the best—you're my sweetie. See ya at 9:02. I love ya! —Poophead.

HAPPY B-day, Poopie! I hope it's a great one. Love, Angel.

HEY BRAT: Happy Birthday to the greatest Big Sis at KSU! Hope you're ready for Friday—we are! It's Party Time Love, Mary and Jean.

MW: I dislike summer, snobs, smoking, Punctuality, lists, whiners, fat figures, math. Until tomorrow, Mystery.

POOPHEAD—SIX big ones! Yo, Yo, Yo! Six more? —Goney.

TO THE TWO snugglesbunnies Bill and Craig: You guys need to get out more often. "Schweer" from Becky, Jenny and Dirk.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm raised Dalmation pups. $125. 539-6596 or 537-8427.

MEALWORMS CHEAP! Great for reptiles, spiders, fish. 30¢/1, 100¢/$2.50. Keep this ad. 539-1931.

MISC. AFRICAN Cichlids 1"-5" ($1-$5). Call 776-6922 Karen or Chris or leave message.

PUREBRED CHOW puppies. They have shots and are wormed. Price negotiable. 776-2497. Ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-0027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double, $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851, Clafin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

PAPERS, RESUMES, letters, theses and dissertations. Stored and completed to your satisfaction. Fast turn around. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th, 539-5147. Across from Kite's.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

Typing USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $160 plus utilities, after 5:30 p.m. 537-8288.

CLOSE TO campus, own room, $120/ month, one-third utilities. 539-1161.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/ month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE OR male. Own room. Extremely cheap! Pets allowed. 539-6703.

FEMALE, OWN bedroom, $148 plus utilities. 537-4510.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Available December, $175/ month plus one-half electricity. Call 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half block from campus, Aggieville, $200, water, trash paid. One-third others. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment, own room, close to campus. 537-0706.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house, own room. $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2666.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, close to campus, fully remodeled, laundry facilities, extra nice. 776-9124.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, own bedroom, across from campus, $150/ month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1st. 537-6823.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/ month. 539-2919. Ask for Debra or Kristie.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6 p.m.

MALE NON-SMOKER wanted to share two-bedroom house, washer/dryer, $135/ month plus one-half utilities. 537-4369.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room, close to campus. $182.50, one-half utilities. Ask for Matt, 539-8200.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice four-bedroom house. Own room. Close to campus and Aggieville. $125/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 776-1562.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/ month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring/summer to share two-bedroom, own room, washer/dryer, fireplace, pool, furnished, $200 plus half electric. 539-5508.

NON-SMOKER FEMALE, clean and neat. Own bedroom. Woodway Apartments. $175 monthly plus one-third utilities. Call 537-3233.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE OR two roommates for spring semester, available Jan. 1. Large, nice house very close to campus. Own bedrooms. $183/ month. 537-6853.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three bedrooms. Own room. Has everything. $195 negotiable. 776-2497.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $140 and one-half utilities. Washer and dryer, 1635 Laramie. 776-5265.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed immediately. December rent free. Own room, rice house, one block from campus. $118.75, one-fourth utilities. 537-2412 or 537-0350.

TWO MALE roommates for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $160 month plus utilities. 537-2368.

TWO ROOMMATES. One block from campus, $143.75, plus one-fourth utilities. 539-4189 or 537-3782.

WANTED—FEMALE roommate, non-smoker, $150/ month and one-half utilities. Own room. 776-1281. Ask for Chris.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westholts Skin Care... Essentials. 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

FOR SALE: Snow skis including poles, sizes 175 and 185. Ski boots, size 8 1/2; Pioneer 6944 6x9 car speakers. 776-0535.

SOLOFLEX FOR sale! Two months old. Leg attachment and Butterfly included! $900 or best offer. Call Mau at 537-3585.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, spacious one-bedroom apartment, balcony, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6 p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Brand new one-bedroom apartment. Rent plus utilities. Washer/dryer, garage, etc. 776-9875 ask for Mark.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house. Own room. $175/ month, one-third utilities. Lease ends May. Close to campus. 776-0595.

FEMALE, SPRING semester. Furnished, quiet house. Washer/dryer. Rent negotiable. Lease ends in May. Amy 539-3886.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/ month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

MALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Mile from campus. 539-1503.

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 or leave message.

TUTORING in Modern and Classic Greek, emphasizes the more formal language (Katharevousa) used in official documents and in the conservative press. Open to anyone, call Aki Barnashi, phone 776-6128.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORY are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Brand new HP 2B-S calculator and manuals. $110. 776-0861.

FOR SALE: Plane ticket from KCI to Minneapolis, Dec. 27, 775; Sleeper and Luv Seat, $40. 537-3794.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8 p.m.

FOR SALE: Wooden bookshelf $10; and queen-size foam core Futon mattress $150. 537-4093.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9 a.m.—5 p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4 p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, bowties, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

LEATHER BOMBER jacket, worn only few times. Also assorted name brand clothing, rarely worn. All in great condition. Call Julie 539-4868.

QUEEN-SIZE DOWN comforter, nine-drawer dresser with round mirror. Quasar stereo and speakers. 776-0730.

SOLOVOX: IF familiar write: B.J., RR #4, Box 42A, Junction City, KS 66441.

TANNING FACIAL Lamp—Brand new! Woolf system—Bought for $225—$125 or make offer. 539-2009.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case. $50. Call 538-1371 before 8 p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WATERBED QUEEN-SIZE, padded rails and headboard, $150 negotiable. 776-0535.

34 Room Exchange for Duties

CHRISTIAN FAMILY wants college girl to live in for second semester. Rent, non-smoker, food and private room in exchange for duties. P.O. Box 652, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres—Pottawatomie County—Fenced—extremely low taxes—New High School District. 776-6970.

35 Acreage

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

36 Insurance

HEWLETT-PACKARD IIC engineering calculator. Asking $40. 1-456-2977.

37 Calculator

THE FIRST Day of Christmas—25% off backpacks, Nov. 29th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE FIRST Day of Christmas—25% off backpacks, Nov. 29th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Plato Wountis arrived at K-State yesterday from Greece. He's going to visit the Greek Affairs Office. He doesn't know that most of the Greeks are Kansas residents. 11-29 ©1990 Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 Karate blow
5 Shriner's hat
8 Dice
12 Etna
13 Caviar, essentially
14 Lolla-palooza
15 Suggesting the Sahara
16 Em halves
17 Where heroes are born?
18 Butt in 20 Saunter
22 You can't stand to have one
23 MacGraw or Baba
24 Lasso
27 G. & S. creation

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
wasn't it taken into consideration before?" Heitschmidt said. "It really looks more and more like he's doing what he can to get it passed. I don't fault him for it. I even respect him for that."

"But it's too much of a blank page," he said. "There are no guarantees. Nothing has been put in writing for us to look at or for the students to look at."

About four years ago, the idea of a restricted fee for engineering was first discussed. Two years later, the regents put the fee on hold until a study of restricted fees in general could be made.

Last year, the regents adopted three criteria that programs must meet before a fee would be considered. To meet these criteria, a program must prove it has a definite need for funds and all other means of funding have been exhausted.

Student body presidents and faculty senate presidents from the regent schools have criticized the use of restricted fees to provide extra money for university programs. Some say the criteria can be met by too many programs, and soon, every college will have its own fee.

"The criteria will be difficult to meet," Rathbone said. "But if a program can make a case and show cause, then they should get it. For everyone that can, though, there'll be 10 that won't."

Heitschmidt argues that almost all the colleges on campus can show a need for an equipment fee. He intends to prove this tonight by having the deans, or their representatives, from the other seven colleges come to Senate to show inadequacies in their own equipment funds.

"We're not arguing that there is not a need for money in engineering," he said. "I don't think it's fair that just engineering students should get a quality education while the rest of the colleges just have to make due."

A new tuition system based on the needs of each individual department is something Heitschmidt would say he would like to see. A flat $2 equipment fee campus wide is another idea being kicked around Senate.

But in a letter to Rathbone, Stanley Koplick, executive director of the Board of Regents, said nothing but the restricted fee is a viable option at this time.

"Your students should be advised that to guess on any other ways of funding is to engage in risky business," Koplick said in the letter.

Hunt

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5
for each unit and that many applicants' names are drawn.

A new regulation provides for unlimited sale of permits over-the-counter to landowners. Previously, landowners had to go through the same drawing all hunters went through to hunt big game on their own land.

In unit one, for instance, 4,000 permits might be issued. Of these, 2,000 might go to sportsmen and 2,000 might go to landowners, Constantino said.

"If a landowner missed the drawing or didn't get drawn, he could apply for one of the 2,000 landowner permits," Constantino said. "But if he didn't get one, he was out of luck."

Tour

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3
Manhattan.

"We do this every year anyway, so we aren't going to a lot of extra trouble to decorate for the tour," he said.

Keating said there were two reasons for her group's involvement in the holiday tour.

He couldn't hunt deer on his own land.

"This new regulation is really a drastic change from last year," Constantino said. "All landowners are guaranteed a permit now. All they have to do is go out and buy one."

Constantino said hunting is important to prevent overpopulation of the deer.

"If the deer weren't harvested, the effects would be devastating to landowners," he said. "Deer can do serious damage to farmers' crops."

Lackey said animal rights activists have given people the wrong impression about hunting and hunters.

"If the deer weren't hunted every year, they would become diseased and their genetic strain would be weakened," he said. "Not to mention the havoc they would wreak on private lands."

"The main reason is to raise money to support the performing arts at McCain and to continue to provide quality programming," she said. "The second reason is simply because it is good public relations for us."

Tickets for the tour are $8 in advance and $10 at the door of any of the homes on the route.

Organization lobbies for student causes

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Associated Students of Kansas represents the students of the Board of Regents schools.

ASK was founded in 1973 by K-State. Its purpose is to help represent students in areas that concern all regent schools.

"Top priority is funding of base budgets, Margin of Excellence and GTA fee waivers," said Todd Heitschmidt, former K-State ASK campus director.

ASK is managed by a hired staff consisting of several positions. Included are executive director, legislative director and administrative assistant. There is a board of directors that is made up of the student body presidents of various schools, he said.

There is also an ASK campus director for each school who serves on the student body president's cabinet and is involved with the lobby groups, Heitschmidt said.

He said there is not a specific lobbying team, but there is a full-time staff member who works as a lobbyist for ASK.

The lobbyist is paid through ASK funds and attends committee meetings and legislative sessions to keep the colleges abreast on the state level, said Jake Reisinger, acting K-State ASK campus director.

Reisinger said the organization has sponsored Lobby Days and rallies in Topeka and has encouraged as many students to attend as possible.

"Definitely, it helps for large crowds to be at rallies. It is a plus to have 500-600 people crammed on to the steps. It looks good," he said.

Funding for ASK is collected by each school's student government. K-State's is collected through fee payments.

"Each student pays 75 cents each semester to support ASK," Heitschmidt said.

WANT PIZZA P.D.Q.? SOUND THE CALL!

Call: 539-5303
1118 Laramie

We have a platoon of cars on alert to deliver your choice of our rich, luscious pies P.D.Q.. WE'LL MARCH RIGHT OVER.

USE THE MONEY-SAVING COUPONS BELOW FOR YOUR NEXT MESS.

2 Medium Family Pack
One Combo and One Single-Topping

$10.99

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any other discount offers. Limited delivery area and times. Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/9/90 KSU

Medium All Meat Combo
Beef • Sausage • Pepperoni • Ham • Bacon

$7.99

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any other discount offers. Limited delivery area and times. Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/9/90 KSU

2 Medium One-Toppers
Cheese plus one topping on each

$8.99
or 2 Large $11.99

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any other discount offers. Limited delivery area and times. Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/9/90 KSU

$4 OFF
Any Large Pizza

$3 OFF
Any Medium

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks or any other discount offers. Limited delivery area and times. Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/9/90 KSU

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00130	04230	06450	08400	10470	11070	15110	18360	20520	22400	24770	26560	29980	33550	37040
00140	04240	06460	08410	11180	11080	15120	18370	20530	22410	24780	26560	30010	33580	37050
00150	04250	06470	08420	11190	11090	15130	18380	20540	22420	24790	26570	30020	33590	37060
00160	04260	06480	08430	11200	11100	15140	18390	20550	22430	24800	26580	30030	33600	37070
00170	04270	06490	08440	11210	11110	15150	18400	20560	22440	24810	26590	30040	33610	37080
00180	04280	06500	08450	11220	11120	15160	18410	20570	22450	24820	26600	30050	33620	37090
00190	04290	06510	08460	11230	11130	15170	18420	20580	22460	24830	26610	30060	33630	37100
00200	04300	06520	08470	11240	11140	15180	18430	20590	22470	24840	26620	30070	33640	37110
00210	04310	06530	08480	11250	11150	15190	18440	20600	22480	24850	26630	30080	33650	37120
00220	04320	06540	08490	11260	11160	15200	18450	20610	22490	24860	26640	30090	33660	37130
00230	04330	06550	08500	11270	11170	15210	18460	20620	22500	24870	26650	30100	33670	37140
00240	04340	06560	08510	11280	11180	15220	18470	20630	22510	24880	26660	30110	33680	37150
00250	04350	06570	08520	11290	11190	15230	18480	20640	22520	24890	26670	30120	33690	37160
00260	04360	06580	08530	11300	11200	15240	18490	20650	22530	24900	26680	30130	33700	37170
00270	04370	06590	08540	11310	11210	15250	18500	20660	22540	24910	26690	30140	33710	37180
00280	04380	06600	08550	11320	11220	15260	18510	20670	22550	24920	26700	30150	33720	37190
00290	04390	06610	08560	11330	11230	15270	18520	20680	22560	24930	26710	30160	33730	37200
00300	04400	06620	08570	11340	11240	15280	18530	20690	22570	24940	26720	30170	33740	37210
00310	04410	06630	08580	11350	11250	15290	18540	20700	22580	24950	26730	30180	33750	37220
00320	04420	06640	08590	11360	11260	15300	18550	20710	22590	24960	26740	30190	33760	37230
00330	04430	06650	08600	11370	11270	15310	18560	20720	22600	24970	26750	30200	33770	37240
00340	04440	06660	08610	11380	11280	15320	18570	20730	22610	24980	26760	30210	33780	37250
00350	04450	06670	08620	11390	11290	15330	18580	20740	22620	24990	26770	30220	33790	37260
00360	04460	06680	08630	11400	11300	15340	18590	20750	22630	25000	26780	30230	33800	37270
00370	04470	06690	08640	11410	11310	15350	18600	20760	22640	25010	26790	30240	33810	37280
00380	04480	06700	08650	11420	11320	15360	18610	20770	22650	25020	26800	30250	33820	37290
00390	04490	06710	08660	11430	11330	15370	18620	20780	22660	25030	26810	30260	33830	37300
00400	04500	06720	08670	11440	11340	15380	18630	20790	22670	25040	26820	30270	33840	37310
00410	04510	06730	08680	11450	11350	15390	18640	20800	22680	25050	26830	30280	33850	37320
00420	04520	06740	08690	11460	11360	15400	18650	20810	22690	25060	26840	30290	33860	37330
00430	04530	06750	08700	11470	11370	15410	18660	20820	22700	25070	26850	30300	33870	37340
00440	04540	06760	08710	11480	11380	15420	18670	20830	22710	25080	26860	30310	33880	37350
00450	04550	06770	08720	11490	11390	15430	18680	20840	22720	25090	26870	30320	33890	37360
00460	04560	06780	08730	11500	11400	15440	18690	20850	22730	25100	26880	30330	33900	37370
00470	04570	06790	08740	11510	11410	15450	18700	20860	22740	25110	26890	30340	33910	37380
00480	04580	06800	08750	11520	11420	15460	18710	20870	22750	25120	26900	30350	33920	37390
00490	04590	06810	08760	11530	11430	15470	18720	20880	22760	25130	26910	30360	33930	37400
00500	04600	06820	08770	11540	11440	15480	18730	20890	22770	25140	26920	30370	33940	37410
00510	04610	06830	08780	11550	11450	15490	18740	20900	22780	25150	26930	30380	33950	37420
00520	04620	06840	08790	11560	11460	15500	18750	20910	22790	25160	26940	30390	33960	37430
00530	04630	06850	08800	11570	11470	15510	18760	20920	22800	25170	26950	30400	33970	37440
00540	04640	06860	08810	11580	11480	15520	18770	20930	22810	25180	26960	30410	33980	37450
00550	04650	06870	08820	11590	11490	15530	18780	20940	22820	25190	26970	30420	33990	37460
00560	04660	06880	08830	11600	11500	15540	18790	20950	22830	25200	26980	30430	34000	37470
00570	04670	06890	08840	11610	11510	15550	18800	20960	22840	25210	26990	30440	34010	37480
00580	04680	06900	08850	11620	11520	15560	18810	20970	22850	25220	27000	30450	34020	37490
00590	04690	06910	08860	11630	11530	15570	18820	20980	22860	25230	27010	30460	34030	37500
00600	04700	06920	08870	11640	11540	15580	18830	20990	22870	25240	27020	30470	34040	37510
00610	04710	06930	08880	11650	11550	15590	18840	21000	22880	25250	27030	30480	34050	37520
00620	04720	06940	08890	11660	11560	15600	18850	21010	22890	25260	27040	30490	34060	37530
00630	04730	06950	08900	11670	11570	15610	18860	21020	22900	25270	27050	30500	34070	37540
00640	04740	06960	08910	11680	11580	15620	18870	21030	22910	25280	27060	30510	34080	37550
00650	04750	06970	08920	11690	11590	15630	18880	21040	22920	25290	27070	30520	34090	37560
00660	04760	06980	08930	11700	11600	15640	18890	21050	22930	25300	27080	30530	34100	37570
00670	04770	06990	08940	11710	11610	15650	18900	21060	22940	25310	27090	30540	34110	37580
00680	04780	07000	08950	11720	11620	15660	18910	21070	22950	25320	27100	30550	34120	37590
00690	04790	07010	08960	11730	11630	15670	18920	21080	22960	25330	27110	30560	34130	37600
00700	04800	07020	08970	11740	11640	15680	18930	21090	22970	25340	27120	30570	34140	37610
00710	04810	07030	08980	11750	11650	15690	18940	21100	22980	25350	27130	30580	34150	37620
00720	04820	07040	08990	11760	11660	15700	18950	21110	22990	25360	27140	30590	34160	37630
00730	04830	07050	09000	11770	11670	15710	18960	21120	23000	25370	27150	30600	34170	37640
00740	04840	07060	09010	11780	11680	15720	18970	21130	23010	25380	27160	30610	34180	37650
00750	04850	07070	09020	11790	11690	15730	18980	21140	23020	25390	27170	30620	34190	37660
00760	04860	07080	09030	11800	11700	15740	18990	21150	23030	25400	27180	30630	34200	37670
00770	04870	07090	09040	11810	11710	15750	19000	21160	23040	25410	27190	30640	34210	37680
00780	04880	07100	09050	11820	11720	15760	19010	21170	23050	25420	27200	30650	34220	37690
00790	04890	07110	09060	11830	11730	15770	19020	21180	23060	25430	27210	30660	34230	37700
00800	04900	07120	09070	11840	11740	15780	19030	21190	23070	25440	27220	30670	34240	37710
00810	04910	07130	09080	11850	11750	15790	19040	21200	23080	25450	27230	30680	34250	37720
00820	04920	07140	09090	11860	11760	15800	19050	21210	23090	25460	27240	30690	34260	37730
00830	04930	07150	09100	11870	11770	15810	19060	21220	23100	25470	27250	30700	34270	37740
00840	04940	07160	09110	11880	11780	15820	19070	21230	23110	25480	27260	30710	34280	37750
00850	04950	07170	09120	11890	11790	15830	19080	21240	23120	25490	27270	30720	34290	37760
00860	04960	07180	09130	11900	11800	15840	19090	21250	23130	25500	27280	30730	34300	37770
00870	04970	07190	09140	11910	11810	15850	19100	21260	23140	25510	27290	30740	34310	37780
00880	04980	07200	09150	11920	11820	15860	19110	21270	23150	25520	27300	30750	34320	37790
00890	04990	07210	09160	11930	11830	15870	19120	21280	23160	25530	27310	30760	34330	37800
00900	05000	07220	09170	11940	11840	15880	19130	21290	23170	25540	27320	30770	34340	37810
00910	05010	07230	09180	11950	11850	15890	19140	21300	23180	25550	27330	30780	34350	37820
00920	05020	07240	09190	11960	11860	15900	19150	21310	23190	25560	27340	30790	34360	37830
00930	05030	07250	09200	11970	11870

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, November 30, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 65

Rami Ali, graduate student in physics, displays information that he used in response to a question raised on nuclear weapons in Iraq during a public forum on the Gulf Crisis Thursday night in the K-State Union Little Theatre. A panel of three guests gave its opinions about the conflict and fielded questions from the audience.

Gulf forum sparks heated debate

CRISIS
IN THE MIDDLE EAST

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

A forum on the Persian Gulf crisis that was designed to create more light than heat — did start some heated discussions between participants in the audience.

The forum at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in K-State Union Little Theatre was sponsored by numerous departments and organizations on campus. William Nathan Wright, senior in political science; Charles Perkins, professor emeritus of psychology; and Rami Ali, graduate student in physics, made up the panel that answered questions from the audience.

The structure of the forum often broke down, however, as audience members made statements and argued among themselves. Jonathan Morris, junior in mathematics and moderator of the forum, had to redirect questions to the panel and calm questioners on several occasions.

Ali, a citizen of Jordan, said every possible peaceful solution should be explored to get Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait and to disarm him.

"If we want to build a new world order, let's respond by different means than the way we used to respond," he said. "Don't go to war without exhausting all diplomatic alternatives."

"Negotiations don't mean humiliation for the United States, because the United States would be negotiating from strength," Ali said.

Perkins said modern military warfare is by nature anti-democratic and perpetuates itself. The present crisis and the relaxed relations between the superpowers creates the possibility for negotiations to eliminate advanced and nuclear weapons, he said.

"(The crisis) opens up the real possibility for the elimination of these weapons," Perkins said. "If the administration came out forcefully with the willingness to destroy our nuclear weapons, all other countries should agree to eliminate their own."

Wright said the difference between himself and Sgt. George Morse, a Fort Riley soldier who refused to follow orders to prepare for the transfer of the 1st Division to the Gulf, is that he would obey the president if ordered to the Gulf.

The audience debated the question of whether Morse gave up his right to dissent when he signed up for the military or had the right to follow his conscience.

Brad Camp/Staff

More than 50 people attended a public forum on the Gulf Crisis Thursday in the K-State Union Little Theatre. The forum was a question-and-answer session with a group of three panelists on issues relating to the current crisis situation.

Council authorizes use of military force

By The Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS — The Security Council, led by the United States, on Thursday authorized military action to liberate Kuwait if Iraq does not withdraw its troops and release all hostages by Jan. 15.

The vote was 12-2, with an abstention by China. Cuba and Yemen voted no.

Adoption of the resolution marked only the second time, during the Korean War, in the 45-year history of the United Nations that the council authorized the use of force to counter aggression.

In an extraordinary meeting of 13 foreign ministers, the council handed Iraqi President Saddam Hussein an ultimatum to vacate the small oil-rich sheikdom that his troops invaded Aug. 2, or risk military conflict with U.S.-led forces.

"Our aim today must be to convince Saddam Hussein that the just, humane demands of the Council and the international community cannot be ignored," said Secretary of State James A.

Baker III, top representative for the United States as president of the council.

"If Iraq does not reverse its course peacefully, then other necessary measures, including the use of force, should be authorized," Baker said. "We must put the choice to Saddam Hussein in unmistakable terms."

"If war is imposed upon us by the United States, this will be our destiny," said Iraqi Ambassador Abdul Amir al-Anbari. "Our people will not kneel. We will rise to this responsibility."

Said Kuwaiti Foreign Minister Sheikh Sabah al-Ahmad al-Jaber, "The intransigence of the Iraqi regime is pushing the region to a conflagration which we do not want, but which appears to be the only avenue to restore our rights."

The Kuwaiti representative denounced the "wild beasts" from Iraq whom he said were pillaging his country and murdering his people. "The Iraqi aggressor showed no sense of mercy or compassion, indeed, no respect for the divine or human codes of conduct."

Senate hears fee proposal; deans voice equipment needs

STUDENT SENATE

By Dan Scott
Collegian Reporter

Editor's note: The Student Senate meeting was still in progress at press time. The result of a bill that could allow a vote by engineering students for approval of an equipment fee will be reported in Monday's Collegian.

The College of Engineering is not the only college on campus that needs extra funding for equipment.

Administrative representatives from four other colleges said they also have equipment needs, and most voiced support of the proposed engineering fee before the Kansas Board of Regents.

The representatives presented their needs to Student Senate during open period at Senate's meeting Thursday night.

Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, said the fee calls for students paying $15 per credit hour for engineering courses. He also said, however, there is a possibility the fee could still come in the form of a flat fee.

"I did not ask for an equipment fee for 13 years," Rathbone said. "Our needs are getting greater and greater."

Rathbone said he has compiled a list of equipment that totals $10 million. He said getting this equipment is vital to maintaining a level of education competitive with other colleges around the nation.

The details of the list were not given because the priorities would change constantly if the equipment fee is passed, he said. They change due to leveraging funds.

For instance, Rathbone said, deals can be made with private companies where each party gives a certain dollar amount toward purchasing an item. As these opportunities arise, priorities change.

"I could go down this list one by one," Rathbone said. "It's pointless because what is No. 8 on our priority list now could be No. 1 in two days. I don't know all of those opportunities out there today."

Robert Hollinger, associate dean of the College of Business Administration, said the business college will be second in line to receive an equipment fee.

Hollinger said the college's other operating expenses for the 1991 fiscal year are $171,000. The needs of the college total $231,000, mostly in upgrading computer equipment.

Currently, business students are not able to run the more advanced computer programs, he said.

"We're not going to be able to educate our students if we can't do this," he said. "We need to be using state-of-the-art equipment."

The College of Arts and Sciences has computer needs as well, said William Feyerharm, associate dean of the college. He said the college needs between $1.3 million and $1.4 million to get it moving in the right direction.

Larry Erpelding, associate director of agriculture resident instruction, said the College of Agriculture needs $300,000 in computer equipment plus other equipment needs.

"In 1987, we found a need for $7 million in equipment," Erpelding said. "As of now, a significant portion remains unfunded."

Student volunteers aid elderly

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

A team of student volunteers will work with elderly minorities in Junction City and Geary County this winter.

The students are working for Elderserve, a program that works across generations to help meet the needs of older residents in rural communities.

Elderserve, which was created in July 1989, is the newest aspect of K-State's Community Service Program, which was established in 1987.

"It is a unique program in that nothing has been done to see what the needs of the minority elderly are," said Melanie Starns, director of Elderserve Program.

"We are going into the community and asking them what their needs are instead of telling them, and I think that is an important and logical position we take," Starns said.

According to Anne Butler, faculty mentor of the Junction City Minority Elderly Outreach Project, contacts with the community have already begun.

66
It is a unique program in that nothing has been done to see what the needs of the minority elderly are.
—Melanie Starns
director of Elderserve

99

The student volunteer team that will be working on the Junction City project consists of Gayle Bandt, senior in social sciences; Aileen Killcullen, sophomore in English; and John Kitchings, junior in psychology.

The students have undergone training and orientation sessions, have already made a site visit and did a small analysis of the Junction City community.

"We will conduct a number of interviews with some significant people in the Junction City community starting in December and will resume those in January," Butler said.

Butler said that by the end of April 1990, the team will have completed the analysis, the data gathering and the interviews and will have developed the package of outreach materials that will be available for the Senior Center in Junction City.

The Junction City minority outreach project was initiated by a task force of the Geary County Council on Aging at the suggestion of Shirley Spittles, field representative for the Flint Hills Area Agency on Aging, Butler said.

According to Butler, 378 minority elderly residents have been identified, and less than 5 percent are participating in the city or county programs provided for the elderly.

Butler said the reasons why so few people are participating in the programs is something the team will try to find out through the interviews.

"I suspect that one of the reasons is because the people who are elderly at this stage were in their youth in the 1930s and 1940s, prior to the opening up of society," Butler said. "The whole issue of access is just something that is not very viable to them."

Butler said there had been a pattern of separatism — meaning segregation — established in the '30s and '40s, and that it is not easy to break through.

"There are several segments of the minority community that for the most part are somewhat invisible to the rest of society," Butler said. "The minority elderly population is one of those."

The Elderserve Program is useful because it provides the students with the opportunity to extend themselves to others, she said.

"We came through a decade, the 1980s, where there was so much focus among students on 'me,' on the 'I,'" Butler said. "And to see a group of students who want to extend beyond that and to accept some ownership and responsibility for addressing some issues that are relevant to the rest of society, I think that underscores the value of the Elderserve Program."

BRIEFLY

World

Gorbachev excepts blame

MOSCOW (AP) — President Mikhail Gorbachev on Thursday pronounced himself and other Communists guilty before the working class in a candid admission of blame for the country's worsening economy and political paralysis.

He told nearly 1,000 delegates to the 28th Moscow City Communist Party Conference that the Soviet Union faced increasing difficulties with food supplies, ethnic conflicts, crime and a battle of laws that has led to a paralysis of power.

"The reasons," Gorbachev said, were "errors in the actions of central organs, above all in the Central Committee of the Communist Party, and including the actions of the general secretary and president."

Gorbachev is both the country's president and general-secretary of the 18-million-member party.

In his hourlong speech, he promised immediate steps to increase food supplies, reiterated his determination to hold the restive republics together, and urged the delegates to keep the common man in mind.

Bulgarian premier resigns

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Premier Andrei Lukanov and his government of former Communists resigned Thursday under unrelenting pressure from strikes, street protests and the halls of Parliament.

The Socialist premier, blamed for the Balkan country's political and economic anarchy, accused unions and the opposition of making it impossible for him to govern.

"For me, it is therefore pointless to remain at the premier's post, and ... I resign my office," he said in a statement broadcast on state radio and television.

It appeared certain the resignation would end a four-day nationwide strike that had gained strength daily, and would draw the opposition Union of Democratic Forces back into Parliament. Its lawmakers walked out last week.

The resignation of the 52-year-old Lukanov had been expected since he and other political leaders struck a deal in talks Thursday to end a stalemate that has prevented Bulgaria from tackling its worst postwar economic crisis.

Nation

Dinosaur remains unearthed

DENVER (AP) — The discovery of two giant dinosaurs in Wyoming is reigniting debate over why the huge beasts became extinct.

Colorado paleontologist Robert Bakker, who led the team that found the dinosaur remains, said Thursday the discoveries reinforce his theory that dinosaurs became extinct gradually.

A scientist at the Smithsonian Institution who supports the theory that dinosaurs met their end suddenly, in a cosmic collision, said the latest finds prove nothing of the sort.

The extinction of dinosaurs is a big area of controversy right now in science, said Richard Stucky, paleontologist at the Denver Museum of Natural History.

Scientists offer dozens of theories about the mysterious mass extinctions, including a change in the Earth's motion, famine, parasites, poisons, climatic changes, meteorites and even extraterrestrial hunters.

The debate is on again since Bakker's team of University of Colorado scientists unearthed a 70-foot-long, 25-foot-high Haploanthosaurus. It was a member of the cetiosaur or whale dinosaur family. The "Carlin Giant" found near McFadden, Wyo., was the largest cetiosaur ever located, Bakker said.

Consumers cut spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer spending, the driving force behind eight years of U.S. economic expansion, did not budge in October, the government said Thursday in a report analysts contend was further evidence of a recession.

"The consumer has retrenched," said economist Gilbert Benz of the Swiss Bank Corp. in New York. "It clearly supports those who say we're in a recession."

Consumer spending, which accounts for two-thirds of the nation's economic activity, was unchanged from September at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $3.73 trillion, the Commerce Department said. Personal incomes rose just 0.1 percent, to a $4.71 trillion rate.

The marginal increase in incomes failed to match the 0.6 percent increase in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index in October. It also was the smallest gain since incomes were unchanged in August 1989. Spending had posted gains each month since last May, when it was unchanged.

Disposable incomes, or incomes after taxes, also inched ahead 0.1 percent, down from a 0.4 percent gain the previous month. It was the smallest gain since after-tax incomes fell 0.1 percent last April.

"Consumer spending can survive a lot of things — temporary shocks, consumer confidence, oil surprises — but three months in a row of negative disposable income suggests that people are going to have to cut back even more," Silvia said.

Region

Troop deployment protested

WICHITA (AP) — About 75 people gathered on the Wichita State University campus Thursday to protest the United States' deployment of troops to the Persian Gulf.

The protesters carried signs with messages like, "No Blood for Oil" and "Bring Our Troops Home."

Wichita State Student Peace Group spokeswoman Signa Knee said there are few alternatives for students frustrated because they have not been able to express their views on the crisis.

Knee said her group has collected more than 200 signatures on a petition opposing the military buildup.

Farm bill viewed as 'not bad'

HAYS (AP) — The 1990 farm bill is not very different from the 1985 bill and is not as bad as it first appeared, the president of the National Wheat Growers Association said Thursday.

The 1990 bill will give farmers a chance to reduce government influence over their practices, Del Wiedeman said at a gathering of about 40 farmers in northwest Kansas.

"It's like the 1985 farm bill with a lot less money," Wiedeman said in a meeting of wheat producers from nine counties.

Wiedeman said he had discussed the bill with Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter and came away convinced it was not a bad bill.

Wiedeman said Yeutter pointed out to him that reducing the federal budget deficit will cut interest costs by 1 percent, resulting in interest savings to farmers from $800 million to $1 billion.

Farmers will be able to plant alternate crops on the 15 percent of the acreage they must set aside from wheat production, Wiedeman said.

Farmers could plant oil seed crops, such as canola and sunflowers, on the acreage set aside, but those crops are not eligible for price supports. Planting the crops will not affect future base acreages.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

30 Friday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Joni R. Hays at 1:30 p.m. in Blumont 368. The dissertation topic is "An Analysis of the Effects of Relaxation, Locus of Control and Creativity on Figurative Language Production."

■ KSU Horseman's Association will meet at noon at the east end of Weber Hall to leave for Oklahoma City.

■ InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

2 Sunday

■ New Currents, K-State's New Age/Jazz/Fusion music club will meet at 2 p.m. in Union 203.

■ College of Business Ambassadors will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Playwright's Stage will present "A Gathering of Fools" at 2 p.m. in the Purple Masque Theatre.

3 Monday

■ French Table will meet from 12:05 a.m. from 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ Collegiate FFA will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 204.

■ KSU Marketing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly sunny, windy and warmer. High around 60. South to southwest winds 15 to 25 mph and gusty. Tonight, mostly clear. Low around 30. Saturday, partly cloudy. High 50 to 55.

HOLIDAY SPECIALS

Spiral Perms— starting at $38

Root Perms— starting at $38

Open 7 days per week & evenings.

Call for appointment
537-8169

★ Super Diner ★

...the new food in town!

Our selections:

1) Chicken Tandoori (3 Pc.)...$2.99
(w/ green lettuce, baked potato & chick peas)

2) Chicken Biryani.....$2.59
(chicken & rice)

3) Beef & Vegetable Samosa....49¢
(Beef or vegi & crusty pastry shell.)

4) Pepsi Products:
(12oz..49¢, 20oz..69¢)

For fast service
& delivery
Call 537-2014

Mon.-Sun. 5:00-9:00

Fri., open until 1a.m.

Sat. & Sun. 11:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

Waiting to serve you at
707 N. 12th.
Aggieville

BoWinkle's and Miller Life present

K.N.E.E VOLLEYBALL

Knee Volleyball Tournament

Starts
December 3rd
Women's & Men's Division
2 person teams
$10.00 entry fee per team

1st Prize: $125.00 each division
& championship
BoWinkle's & Miller Life T-Shirt

2nd Prize: $75.00 each division

3rd Prize: $50.00 each division

•SIGN UP NOW•
Deadline Nov. 30

100% of entry fee will be donated to the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

BoWinkle's
& Sports Bar

776-1022

3043 Anderson

PREGNANCY
TESTING CENTER
539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

IMAGINATIVE GIFT SOLUTIONS

- From $2 - $1000
- New 50/50 Layaway
- New Gift Registry
- Expanded Store & Selection

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
1128 Laramie - Aggieville
Mon. - Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

WORLD
AIDS
DAY

Stop by the display in the
K-State Union.

Sponsored by:
Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University

BAYSTREET
AND
THE PIT

TONIGHT!!

LADIES FREE

SAT.

NO COVER WITH STUDENT I.D.10¢ KAMIS ALL WEEKEND!

$1 wells

Strippers coming Dec. 3 and 4

Fashion Watches
(selected)

50% off

The feeling is casual - The look is sophisticated

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO
539-1319

HRS

Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 8:00
Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

Students benefit from modern laser center

Donald Setser, professor of chemistry, uses both pulse lasers in Ward Hall and continuous lasers in the basement of King Hall. Both types of lasers are used in different types of experiments conducted by the chemistry and physics departments.

By Mary Skinner
Collegian Reporter

Graduate students in engineering, chemistry and physics are able to train and research with professors on state-of-the-art laser equipment in the KSU Laser Center.

"There is an advantage in learning directly from someone who has done research in the field instead of just handed down from books," said Christopher Sorensen, professor of physics.

The center in the basement of Ward Hall provides a fertile training ground for students because of its modern equipment, Sorensen said.

"The laser center provides an instrumentation for individuality in research," said Donald Setser, professor of chemistry.

Research projects at K-State are funded by grants, which are easier to obtain because the laser equipment is available, Sorensen said.

"Most of the research throughout the country comes from colleges and universities," he said.

The laser center consists of two rooms equipped with two lasers apiece. The Eximer laser mixes inert gases and reactive gasses together to produce ultraviolet light.

"With the ultraviolet light, we are able to shine the light into any state of matter to see what the atoms and molecules are doing," Sorensen said. "It's a way of seeing the microscopic world."

The laser is like a two-part rocket,

Sorensen said. The ultraviolet light pumps into a dye laser and is tuned to any color of the spectrum by twisting a knob to see how matter reacts to different frequencies.

The laser center also has an argon laser that goes into a spectrometer.

Experiments that currently involve the lasers include using a laser to cut through metal, collecting the metal that was left after being cut and combining it to make a new material. The metals that are mixed usually cannot be mixed together.

Different ways of producing high temperature superconductors and the physical properties and actions of the molecules in water under supercooled conditions are also being researched in the center.

"We're studying the process that occurs in the Eximer laser to learn what is happening in the machine itself," Setser said.

The Laser Center was made possible by a grant from the National Science Foundation six years ago. The $200,000 grant, supplemented by $50,000 from the University, was used to purchase the equipment currently used in the center.

Setser said the University does not put any additional money into the laser center, and because technology changes rapidly, the laser center needs to be improved.

The center is at a standstill though, because the resources are not available at this time, Setser said.

Film features Bullwinkle

Pi Sigma Epsilon sponsors salute to cartoon characters

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

Long before the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles or the Simpsons, the misadventures of Rocky the squirrel and Bullwinkle the moose were featured in one of the first prime-time cartoons on network television.

Now the bumbling moose and flying squirrel are back again in a retrospective film titled "A Salute To Rocky And Bullwinkle," showing at 7 and 9 p.m. today and Saturday in Durland Hall Auditorium. Admission is $3 for K-State students and $5 for the general public. The show is sponsored by the Pi Sigma Epsilon Marketing Fraternity.

Pi Sigma Epsilon member Todd Muscari, senior in marketing, said the cartoon-movie isn't a run-of-the-mill feature film.

"It's something different and unique," Muscari said. "I think a lot of older people will be there."

Bob Lukas, member of the film collectors' cooperative, said the movie has been received well across the United States.

"The response has been good," Lukas said. "We've shown it all over the country, including Alaska."

The cartoon show premiered as "Rocky And His Friends" on ABC in 1959. It then moved to NBC in 1961 and was renamed "The Bullwinkle Show." It was one of the first TV cartoon shows to use a limited animation process in which characters have limited movement and the backgrounds are plain.

Many of the people that attend showings of the retrospective grew up during that era of television. "About 50 percent of the audience is in their 30s and 40s," Lukas said.

In addition to examples of the show's 375 episodes, the film features Rocky and Bullwinkle as pitchmen—in vintage cereal commercials for Trix, Kix and Twinkies.

Lukas said the show was very witty for its day, and people either really love Rocky and Bullwinkle or have never heard of them.

"The narration often went right over the heads of children," he said. "It was a very liberal and political show in nature."

Lukas said the show's creator, Jay Ward, often weaved Cold War themes into his characters and storylines.

Rocky and Bullwinkle were the first animated creatures to be banned by the KGB. Two of the show's support characters, Boris Badenov and Nastasha Fatale, were the main cause of controversy. Badenov and Fatale were cast as bumbling Russian spies.

Many parallels have been drawn between "The Bullwinkle Show" and "The Simpsons" because of each show's narrative wit and sarcastic portrayal of American institutions.

Lukas said he disagrees with such comparisons.

"I think that people identify with each show for different reasons," he said. "Kids want to identify with Bart (Simpson). They want to be like Bart. But people don't have that reaction to Rocky and Bullwinkle."

Writer delivers education lecture on attributes of good teaching

By Shannon Meyers
Collegian Reporter

Good teaching and learning cannot be reduced to a technique or a methodology, said Parker Palmer, writer and activist.

Palmer delivered the Chester Peters Lecture on Student Development 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the K-State Union Forum Hall.

"Teaching and learning has been neglected for years. We have talked about research and techniques, but good teaching cannot be trivialized," Palmer said. "It comes from the identity and integrity of the teacher."

Palmer, previously a sociology professor who received his doctorate degree from the University of California at Berkeley, lectured on "The Courage to Teach and to Learn."

The lecture series is a way to bring nationally recognized speakers to K-State to discuss education issues. The series is sponsored by the KSU Foundation and Blue Key Senior Honorary.

"It takes courage to teach," Palmer said. "Very few occupations are called to stand at the intersection between public and personal interests."

"The fear that dominates teaching and learning is the fear of the live encounter, the fear of hearing voices of diversity, the fear of conflict and the fear of change," he said.

Paul Parsons, professor of journalism, said, "I was impressed with the concept that everyone in the classroom has some fear. The students have fear because they are being evaluated, but the person standing in front of the class also has fear."

In order to overcome this fear, Palmer said one must look at the sources. The sources he cited were the dominant way of knowing, the students and people's fear of themselves as professionals.

The dominant way of knowing is removing one's self and being objective, he said, because people externalize what they learn. This came about as a result of radical subjectivism.

"The consequences in contemporary education are that there are thousands of incredibly competent, well-educated individuals who externalize problems and do not have the foggiest notion what is going on inside them," Palmer said.

"Subjects need to be taught in such a way that they illuminate our own lives," he said. "The objectivist way of teaching separates students from the world."

Palmer urged the audience to communicate their mutual fears in the classroom. Teaching and learning could become more human and allow deep rich relationships, he said.

"Good teaching and learning requires innerwork, we all need to find ground to stand on," Palmer said.

BUSHWACKER'S

Friday & Saturday
Join us this weekend!

Comedy Invasion
Mon., Tues. & Wednesday

Amazing Jonathon

HIGH NOON

is the deadline for

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

ClassADS

Kedzie Hall 103 8 a.m.-5 p.m.
532-6555

Kansas Book Signing Party
Sunday, Dec. 2, 2-5 p.m.

Featuring: Thomas Fox Averill
Peg Wherry
Bobbie Pray
David Hann
Homer Socolofsky
William Koch
Grace Muilenburg
Clenton Owensby
John L. Zimmerman

In celebration of Clafin Books
& Copies fifth year in business.
Sunday Afternoon Refreshments

Clafin Books & Copies
FirstBank Center, 1814 Clafin
776-3771

People's Grocery Co-op
HOLIDAY OPEN HOUSE

*Live music (1-2:30 Sat. only)
*Samples of specialty cheeses
*Free recipes of natural & healthy holiday snacks
*Holiday gift items on sale
*Holiday baskets
*Holiday fruit breads
*And much, much more

Listen for KQLA giveaways
this weekend!

Friday—Nov. 30, 10-6:30
Saturday—Dec. 1, 9-5
Sunday, Dec. 2, 12-5

811 Colorado • 539-4811
We're open this Sunday!

Have "You"
Had Your Frozen Yogurt
Today??

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

K-State Union Bookstore

Holiday Book Sale

Tuesday, November 27 through
Saturday, December 1
Both Levels of the K-State Union Bookstore!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the Union
sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union
Bookstore

THE SHOW THAT WAS BANNED BY THE KGB!!!
LOADED WITH OFFBEAT HUMOR—SOPHISTICATED SATIRE
AND TONS OF BAD PUNS!!!

A Salute to Rocky and Bullwinkle

*SEE CLASSIC TV CEREAL SPOTS • FRACTURED FAIRY TALES •
*MR. KNOW-IT-ALL • BULLWINKLE'S CORNER • DUDLEY DO-RIGHT •
*COMPLETE MULTI-PART EPISODE WITH BORIS & NASTASHA •
*RARE ORIGINAL MR. PEABODY EPISODE • RESOP & SON •
AND MUCH MORE FROM JAY WARD'S CHARACTERS.

Kansas State University
Durland Hall #173

(West side of campus—Across from Ahearn Fieldhouse)

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
NOVEMBER 30 & DECEMBER 1
SHOWS 7 & 9 PM

TICKETS @ DOOR: $3.00 KSU STUDENTS / $5.00 GENERAL PUBLIC
*SPONSORED BY PI SIGMA EPSILON MARKETING FRATERNITY.

Hardee's

DELIVERS

537-2526

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

EDITORIALS

World AIDS Day calls for action, not silence

Saturday is World AIDS Day.

About 1.3 million people have AIDS, according to statistics from the World Health Organization.

Between 9 and 11 million people now carry the HIV virus. WHO estimates that by the end of the decade, 25 to 30 million people will be HIV carriers.

The number of people who develop AIDS continues to grow exponentially. AIDS is rapidly becoming a leading cause of death in several demographic groups, including young men and women.

Preventing the spread of AIDS and finding effective treatments, if not a cure, should be a world priority.

Tragically, the world largely ignored AIDS during the early stages of the epidemic because AIDS first affected segments of the population some political leaders thought should be invisible — homosexual men and intravenous drug users.

For this reason, AIDS research and education received minimal funding. Even now — even though AIDS has proven to be a disease that, unlike society, doesn't pick its victims based on a stereotype — research and education continue to be underfunded. And AIDS continues to spread.

Because college-age people are among the most at-risk, we should be among the most vocal in demanding more funding for research and education — at both national and state levels.

As an at-risk group, we should also make the prevention of AIDS a personal priority. Using condoms is one of the simplest ways to prevent sexual transmission of AIDS. "Safe sex" should be more than just a catchword — it should be a common practice for all sexually active individuals.

AIDS is a tragedy, but we are only helpless against it if we try to ignore it instead of fight it. Borrowing from the slogan of the AIDS Coalition to Unleash Power, "Silence equals death."

Engineering fee sets University precedent

The engineering fee is a campus-wide issue that will be decided by only one college, the College of Engineering.

While it is right for this issue to be decided by the College of Engineering, because the engineering students will be immediately affected by its outcome, engineering students need to realize this is a campus-wide issue.

Any restricted fee will set a precedent for other restricted fees on campus. This one fee could start a slew of other colleges trying to subsidize their equipment budgets with money from restricted fees.

For those who may scoff at this idea, in the early 1980s, K-State and the other Board of Regents schools had many different restricted fees. The regents decided to eliminate all of the fees and raise tuition instead.

But last year, because of this same engineering fee, the regents created criteria to allow restricted fees at regent schools again.

These criteria were originally intended to be hard for any college, school or program to meet. Some people say these criteria are so hard that no program will be able to justify a new fee. Others say that every program in Kansas could meet these criteria.

A precedent is a real concern. It could happen; it could happen very easily.

On the flip side of the precedent is the concern for the quality of K-State's engineering program. The engineering students should realize this not just a vote for their college though, but a vote for the entire University.

Another subject needs to be made clear. This is not a referendum. One more time, this is not a referendum. This vote is nothing more than an opinion poll.

The Board of Regents wants to know what the students of K-State, WSU and KU are thinking and their opinions about the fee. They are not bound by the decision of the vote.

It is logical though — the bigger the turnout, the more accurate this poll will be.

We encourage a strong turnout of engineering students for this vote. If all the engineering students vote, then the Board of Regents must look at the results and take them seriously. Make sure there is no indecision or speculation on the part of regents.

By that same token, our own Student Senate should respect the outcome of the vote.

Agreed, they should do everything they can to educate the engineering students to make an informed decision, whether it be for or against. But once that decision is made, Senate should follow the will of the engineering students.

The engineering students can be trusted. Their opinions should not be thrown out as just the impulse vote of an uneducated, ignorant hoard.

Senate should unbiasedly report the results of this poll to the regents, no matter if they agree or disagree with the outcome.

Engineering students, one command: vote. Student Senate, one command: respect the outcome.

Lost lives not worth war

The stage is set for another horrendous act of genocide. The United States and Iraq square off in the Persian Gulf, on the brink of a war that promises to make the two world wars look like grisly stage rehearsals in a trail of death. What sequence of events has culminated in this most unhappy situation?

A History Lesson: Upon the fall of the Ottoman empire in 1914, Britain and France in a typically opportunistic fashion carved up the Arab nation into the myriad fragments that exist today as Iraq, Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and so on. With an eye on retaining their parasitic clutches on the vast oil reserves of the region, they created the feudal sheikdoms of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, secure in the knowledge that the petty despots they installed in power would be more than willing to dole out their oil in generous quantities to their former colonial rulers.

On the other side of these artificially erected borders, an inequity on the scale of the Berlin wall that divided Germany, stood millions of Arabs in over eight countries, doomed forever to the privations of poverty by the artifices wrought by their erstwhile colonial rulers. Little wonder then, that the callous meddlings of the British in the region created a long simmering discontent that eventually took physical form in the shape of a sadistic dictator, Saddam Hussein. Brute, yes, but hero to the Arab masses of the region.

Iraq's historical claim on Kuwait notwithstanding, Hussein committed a terrible act in annexing it in an act of violence. Though we must stand fast in our condemnation of the man, what moral license permits us to reply with an equally unjustified and inhuman use of arms? The Iraqi people should not be made to suffer for the misdeeds of their unelected ruler. American and Iraqi soldiers must not pay with their lives.

Contrary to popular opinion, the sheiks of Kuwait and Saudi Arabia are not innocent lambs to an Iraqi slaughter. Last year, a London court found two Kuwaiti princesses guilty of horse-whipping and torturing their Indian house maid. Millions of poor Arabs

Krishnan Shankar

GUEST COLUMNIST

and Asians working in Kuwait are treated in a most humiliating fashion by the arrogant sheiks. They are denied driving licenses, often paid less than a third of what citizens are paid for identical jobs, and unbelievably, are not even allowed the "privilege" of having their wives and children over for a visit. Not for a moment should one believe the lie that America is going to war to protect innocent Kuwaiti sheiks.

A Discourse on Death: As night must exist to give definition to day, so is death a necessary and integral part of life. Despite the inevitability of death, who but the most hard-hearted of humans, does not grieve the passing of loved ones? Why is it, then, that our hearts turn into stone and our protests are muffled at the news that hundreds of thousands of soldiers, and millions of civilians will die in a convulsive war fought for reasons of arrogance, false pride and mainly, unsurpassed greed for oil?

Have we as humans reached such a state of apathy and cynicism that we find the little numbers denoting gas prices at the street corner more unsettling than the gigantic figures that measure the casualties of war?

A student at our K-State is shown on the evening news scoffing at peace protesters, claiming that they are an inconsequential minority. Is he right? I hope not. Why is it that people whom I held in high esteem for their intellect and moral courage are afraid to attend a peace demonstration for fear of being branded reactionaries? Is it possible that in their eyes, the deaths of half a million soldiers and the gruesome carnage that will be unleashed on the peoples of Arabia are nought in comparison to the terrible privations they will undergo if they are rejected by their peer group for taking an unfashionable stand? Anyway, since when did concern for human life, especially on such a magnitude, become unfashionable?

I have friends who serve in the American armed forces, a private, a sergeant, a tank captain, a major. They are among the most simple and sincere friends I have. They are ready to die for their country should it face a genuine threat. They, however, should not have to die for another big lie.

Hussein has promised to release all hostages by April. Why does the west view as cynical a gesture it had earlier demanded of him as a step towards peace? Who is more cynical, the dictator who sets free his hostages, whatever his reason, or the respected world leader who insists on a belligerent posture, rejecting any positive overtures?

The American way of life will be blitzed to pieces in the event of war. Make no mistake about it — we will not be flooded with cheap oil. Are you so naive as to think the oil companies are going to say, "Well, we got back Kuwait and Hussein is destroyed, so we feel really benevolent and are going to sell gas at 90 cents per gallon again?" War would make it most opportune for them to shrug, "Well with all the damage to the oil wells and machinery in the gulf, we are unable to sell oil for less than $2.50 per gallon." And what would you do then? Undo the war?

A war will claim not thousands, but hundreds of thousands of soldiers plus millions of civilians. If you doubt that claim, remember that 450,000 American troops will be facing one million Iraqis in a region populated by 40 million people altogether. The only winners will be King George and his coterie of oil barons.

Hostages, Kuwaitis, oil — this war will be fought for none of these reasons. The sordid fruits of a war are feudal sheiks, oil men and arms dealers dancing blithely on the tombstones of death.

LETTERS

Morse had option

Editor,

I have waited for a letter to the editor to appear reflecting my feelings about Sgt. George Morse. None have so, although I am not an eloquent writer, I am compelled to share my feelings.

Has Morse been confused for the last seven years? It seems so. Anyone who conscientiously objects to "having any part of the senseless killing of war" would not join the Army, would he? But if he or she makes that dreadful mistake once, who would repeat it a second time?

There are very few people who "enjoy" killing in a senseless war. However, the Army's mission, as I understand it, is to protect the peace of America. Evidently, Morse was absent the day Army officials explained that "sometimes" soldiers have to go to war. When the draft was the law of the land it was my understanding that conscientious objectors could serve in a non-combat role (tending the wounded, playing trumpet, etc.). Is this an option for Morse?

I am not eager to see anyone go to war. My brother was killed in Vietnam while serving as an American soldier. I'm proud of his service and sad every day that he is not here. I do not want Morse, or anyone else for that matter, to be a wartime casualty, but men and women who join the armed services explicitly accept that risk.

Oh, and perhaps if Morse paid back all of the money and benefits he's received in wages, educational training, the birth of his baby, etc., perhaps the Army (and the public) would release him from his obligation.

Jeannie Skolaut

junior in business administration

Cheating real issue

Editor,

I believe Eric Lynum is terribly confused if he thinks cheating has anything to do with race. The good and the bad of Martin Luther King Jr. has nothing to do with his race. Lynum says the Collegian is too eager to discredit King, and yet he is equally quick to discredit the forefathers of this country, or as he so eloquently puts it: "the white man." So Lynum, O great critic of the dead, just as the race of the founding fathers does not automatically condemn them without trial for their sins, neither does the race of King automatically make him exempt from his own.

As for Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week, it is an attempt to cultivate equality and understanding. That is to say: an attempt to help people stop writing editorials such as the one on King and letters such as Lynum's.

When I was in the first grade, I looked at someone else's paper during a spelling test. I confess, I cheated. But I believe it was not because of my race. Any statement to the contrary is irrefutably racist, and in even poorer taste than the Collegian's editorial. It isn't a matter of black or white, it's a matter of principle. I think King would have supported that statement, Lynum.

Sarah-Bryn Greenwood
senior in modern languages

Wrong message sent

Editor,

This is my second year at K-State. During the past two years, I have heard so much about the problem of diversity on this campus. With so much interest being expressed, I would think that the incident that occurred at Bushwackers would have students in an uproar.

This situation provides the students an opportunity to express their disgust and to do something about it. By frequenting Bushwackers, students send a message to the management and the community that we condone Bushwacker's actions. Is this the message that we want to send?

Bart Spachek
sophomore in marketing

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN IN FOCUS

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Photos by Mike Venso and story by David Frese

Curt Kastner, professor in animal science, stops to answer a student's question while cutting a side of pork in his meat selection and utilization course. The course teaches proper cutting and selection of meats and meat processing.

Agriculture students get hands-on experience in Weber Hall meat laboratories

"Ever seen hangin' beef?" asked Ryan Michaelis, meat lab employee and sophomore in animal sciences and industry, as he walked toward the massive Weber Hall meat lockers. The fluorescent lights flickered through the spotless hallways of the meat science labs. "They look a little different dead."

He was right. Inside the big white cooler behind large steel doors, fleshy carcasses of freshly slaughtered animals hung on silver meat rails. The larger beef carcasses were split in the middle for a good cross-section view. The smaller ones were left whole except for a slit down the bellies of the animals. On a smaller meat rack in the corner hung hearts, livers and tails. Four cold, gray beef tongues the size of basketball shoes hung on the top rung.

"We just killed this morning," Michaelis said, pointing to the different meats hanging there. It was Tuesday, and next week would be the meat science class's final lab session. "We killed four beef, and these are lambs, and those are pigs. These'll be used for three or four classes. It's hard to have enough animals for every class."

"A class will grade them live, then my class kills them," said Lyell Nelson, manager of the meat plant. "The class that grades them live comes back and grades them on the rail. Then the professors take them for their classes — like the meat cutting classes we'll see later. So you've got to realize that we utilize as much as we can out of one animal."

After all the classes have inspected the animals, the meat is sold to the public from 2 to 6 p.m. Fridays in Weber Hall. Michaelis continued to the slaughter floor. It was a sterile place full of pulleys and chains, with a big electric saw hanging like a pendulum from the middle of the ceiling. In the corner were doors that led to the live animals.

"They run the beef behind that big door, and then you put this chain around their legs, and then we raise them up," Michaelis said. "And then you just follow the process all the way around, and then by the time they make it to the end, they're all eviscerated and their hide is taken off."

Different means were used to kill each animal. The pigs were killed by electricity, while the cattle were rendered unconscious and then had a gun called a "live bolt" driven through their heads.

One would expect a place where so much death occurred to be a dark, blood-filled, smelly place, but it wasn't. It was cleaner than many college apartments.

"This ain't as big as like a big plant or anything," Michaelis said. "We kill every Tuesday, and the class actually kills the animals. We started at 5:30 this morning, and we were done by 11:00.

"Well, we were supposed to start at 5:30," he added rather sheepishly. "I was late."

"We're state and federally funded, and I think we're much more regulated than other plants," Nelson said. "We are fully USDA inspected here. I can guarantee you every room that we use every day is cleaned every night, sanitized. I think I spend 35 to 40 percent of my time cleaning. We've got the cleanest packing plant and processing plant in the state of Kansas."

Michaelis walked on to the processed meats lab, where agriculture students were milling around in their aprons, hairnets and dairy hats while listening to their instructors. It was another clean room. The walls, the floors and the stainless steel machines were, in fact, stainless. They were getting ready to make meat patties, sausage, liver, wieners and bologna — all of which would be sold during the meat sale today. One student joked that he thought meat-sellers just scraped up whatever was on the floor to make bologna.

"Not here," said Michaelis. "You get good bologna here."

The students proceeded to make their different meats. There were several "cews" and "yucks" as the students making the bologna were asked to put the ground beef and pork and other assorted ingredients into the blend. They were crossing the fine line between flesh and food.

Across the room, startled students stepped back from an open-view electronic mixer that sounded like an outboard motor as it churned and chopped the liver they had thrown in it. Melvin Hunt, professor of animal sciences and industry and the course's instructor, smiled. They were having a good time.

"I just had a blast in my labs," Nelson said. "I hated chemistry labs where you just sit. Here you get hands-on experience."

There is a price to all the fun. Although the labs are a tremendous opportunity for students to get the experience they need for the agricultural industry, the sheer cost of operating the labs is immense. The economics of it all requires students and faculty to work in concert to allow maximum use of a limited number of livestock.

Meanwhile, another group of experimenting students was cooking meat patties that filled the room with a rich, mouth-watering barbecue smell. Students gathered around and ate their cooked experiments. It didn't taste bad for something that walked into the building on its own.

Kastner's meat selection and utilization lab class meets in a Weber Hall meat laboratory.

Melvin Hunt, professor in animal science, gives instructions for making liver sausage to his science students. The student-produced meat products are sold Fridays in the lab.

Melvin Hunt, left, and Nancy Helmle, junior in pre-veterinary medicine, help David Welch, junior in food science, fill a sausage bag with liver sausage in the meat process lab.

Ryan Michaelis, meat lab employee, hoses down the meat process lab after the lab class.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SPORTS

'Cats to battle talented Hogs

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

Leaving home can be a scary feeling.

It can be especially so for basketball players heading to one of the nation's toughest places to win for a matchup with one of the nation's top teams.

K-State gets that challenge Saturday, as the Wildcats travel to Barnhill Arena in Fayetteville, Ark., to play No. 3 Arkansas. The game will be televised on KSNT (cable channel 7), beginning at 8:05 p.m.

The 'Cats, 2-0, are coming off a pair of home wins, including a 93-48

“When they get up and start pressuring, the crowd gets crazy, the gym gets loud, and you feel like you're losing something. You've got to go in like a tiger ready to play against it.”

—Keith Amerson
K-State forward

“ route of Florida A & M on Tuesday. K-State featured its up-tempo style, as five players scored in double figures.

But on deck is Arkansas, a Final Four team last year.

“We're going to have to play doubly hard,” senior guard Jean Derouillere said. “But we're looking forward to it.”

Positive thinking certainly won't hurt. The Razorbacks have established a tradition of making life rough on opponents in Barnhill. Since Eddie Sutton (former Arkansas coach now at Oklahoma State) took over the program in 1974-75, the Razorbacks have posted an eye-popping 168-16 record in the 9,000-seat facility.

The Razorbacks' only blemish at home last season was an 89-88 loss to Missouri.

“It's going to be hard to keep that mental concentration down there,” senior forward Keith Amerson said. “But we're going to have to do it.”

A boisterous crowd and the gymnasium will be secondary worries for the 'Cats. Arkansas, coached by Nolan Richardson, returns a wealth of talent from last year's Midwest Regional championship team.

“There's little question that Arkansas, UNLV and Arizona have the best talent in the country,” K-State coach Dana Altman said. “What order you place them in really doesn't matter.”

The Hogs' talent pool is led by juniors Todd Day, Lee Mayberry and Oliver Miller. Day and Mayberry have been rated by many publications as the nation's top backcourt, and are averaging 19.6 and 15 points per game, respectively.

Miller, a 6-foot-9 center, has given Arkansas an inside-outside combination with 13 points and 8.6 rebounds per game.

“His big body doesn't allow you to get close to him,” Altman said. “With Miller and the two guards, they've got players who will be awfully solid game in and game out.”

Arkansas, like last year's 30-5 team, relies on full-court pressure defense to create offense. The Razorbacks have forced 114 turnovers in five games, and are averaging 97.6 points.

“I don't think we'll face another team this season that pressures as well as Arkansas,” Altman said. “Everyone's going to have to handle the ball.”

“When they get up and start pressuring, the crowd gets crazy, the gym gets loud, and you feel like you're losing something,” Amerson said. “You've got to go in like a tiger ready to play against it.”

The Hogs used their pressure effectively in Big Apple National Invitational Tournament wins over Vanderbilt, Oklahoma and Duke. In the championship game, Arkansas led No. 2 Arizona by nine points in the second half before losing 89-77.

“Personally, I thought they had the best team,” Altman said. “I thought

The play of forward Keith Amerson has been a pleasant surprise for Coach Dana Altman in the team's first two games. Amerson and his teammates face national power Arkansas Saturday night.

their quickness would beat Arizona's size. That shows you how much I know.”

If history means anything, K-State will be in good shape Saturday. The 'Cats have a 7-1 lead in the series with Arkansas, are 42-8 against Southwest Conference teams, and won three games against nationally ranked teams last season.

“A couple of articles I read last year called us giant killers,” Amerson said. “Hopefully, we can be that against them.”

K-STATE NOTES: Altman told reporters at his weekly press conference Wednesday that injured center Maurice Brittian has begun practicing with the team. Altman said he hopes to use Brittian in next Wednesday's game with Wyoming.

NCAA reverses ruling

By The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — The NCAA and UNLV coach Jerry Tarkanian settled a 13-year battle Thursday with a compromise that allows the Runnin' Rebels to defend their national basketball title.

“Historically, we ended today the 13 years of litigation between Jerry Tarkanian and the NCAA,” UNLV president Robert Maxson told a jammed news conference. “All court rulings are history.”

Maxson's comments came as he announced the university would accept a penalty offered by the NCAA that will ban the Runnin' Rebels from postseason play in 1991-92 and keep them off of live television that season.

In exchange, the NCAA agreed to overturn its ban on UNLV.

The penalty accepted by UNLV was one of two offered by the NCAA. The other alternative was that Tarkanian would sit out this season's playoffs and his team would sit out the 1991-92 playoffs.

“We thought both proposals were very fair,” Maxson said.

PROBABLE STARTERS

VS.

Arkansas
Razorbacks

Keith
Amerson
6-3 Sr. F
15.5 ppg
7.0 rpg

Wylie
Howard
6-8 Jr. F
11.5 ppg
6.0 rpg

John
Rettiger
6-10 Jr. C
9.0 ppg
5.5 rpg

Jeff
Wires
6-0 Sr. G
7.0 ppg
3.0 rpg

Jean
Derouillere
6-5 Sr. G
17.0 ppg
7.0 rpg

Chiefs face stiff challenge in taking 3rd big step

David
Svoboda

SPORTS EDITOR

Over the next five weekends, we'll find out if the Kansas City Chiefs are the Super Bowl contending team they looked like last Sunday in defeating division-rival Los Angeles to move into first place in the AFC West.

But to get to weekends Nos. 2 through 5, the Chiefs must earn a victory in the one December contest that they should win hands down.

This Sunday's matchup with the New England Patriots in Foxboro, Mass., pits the 7-4 Chiefs against the worst team in pro football. New England is 1-10 and at the bottom of the AFC East.

Cake walk time, right? It better be.

The victory over the hated Raiders was one of the biggest in the recent history of the franchise. Since Carl Peterson took over as president and general manager of the club and Marty Schottenheimer became coach, the team has taken several small steps forward that indicated good things were just around the bend.

Sunday's victory was a giant leap. But it was only such a leap if the Chiefs don't display their recurring pattern of recent years and negate the value of that leap by losing in Foxboro this weekend.

The Chiefs opened the season with a win against Minnesota, a team picked by many to challenge San Francisco for the NFC championship.

But then, in the very next game, the Chiefs fell to a Denver team that is now 3-8 in a Monday night heart-breaker as John Elway took the Broncos the length of the field for the win on the game's final play.

A step forward, a step back.

Then, the Chiefs went to Green Bay and grabbed a win, and returned home to thrash Cleveland, a team that foolishly let Schottenheimer get away after the 1988 season.

But then came a ridiculous loss at Indianapolis.

Two steps forward, a step back.

The Chiefs then mounted the roller coaster. A win at home against Detroit was followed by a loss at Seattle. A win against the Raiders in K.C. was followed by a loss to Seattle at home.

Two steps forward, two steps back.

The Jekyll and Hyde team then, with just a 5-4 record and its playoff hopes on the line, ripped off wins over division rival San Diego and front-runner Los Angeles to take the lead in the West.

Two steps forward.

Now, the task is to make it three, four, etc.

New England is step three. The Chiefs will go into the game with quarterback Steve DeBerg nursing a pulled calf muscle he sustained on a scramble against the Raiders.

On the defensive side of the ball, linebacker Derrick Thomas may not play because of an ankle sprain he sustained while returning a Raider fumble.

If DeBerg is available — and he likely will be — the Chiefs should have no trouble adding loss No. 11 to the Patriot slate. But “should have” and “will have” are two entirely different things, as K.C. has found out far too many times in the past.

The Chiefs must regain their focus immediately. Even writers are hungover from the Raider win. But Schottenheimer will give us a peek at how good this team can and will be this Sunday.

If the Chiefs can win — and win convincingly — they'll have taken a strong step three. This team needs a mini-run right now.

If the Chiefs lose, however, a 7-5 record with four tough remaining games will be a harsh reality for Schottenheimer and his players to face.

Following the New England game, Kansas City is at home to face Denver and Houston, and then goes on the road for the final two games against San Diego and Chicago.

That slate would indicate that the Chiefs are likely to finish somewhere around 10-6. But if they don't beat New England this weekend, that will be an incredibly tough chore.

BLACK BRAS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

Tri-County
Property Management
Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie
1, 2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available
1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

LETTERS
TO THE EDITOR

Your views are important. The COLLEGIAN editorial page is an open forum for our readers' ideas. Please bring your letters to the editor to Kedzie Hall 116. Letters must be signed, and the author must show an ID.

Pizza Hut
DELIVERY
Makin' it great!
CALL THE LOCATION
NEAREST YOU.
•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 539-7447
•3RD & MORO 776-4334

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1983
PRESENT THE BARN
BURNERS
SCORCHIN' ROCK N' ROLL
Fri. and Sat.
50¢ Draws Sat.
Come and watch all the sports on our big Screen T.V.
“GO CATS” shirts on Sale
FirstBank Center 776-4111

SHARE THE WARMTH OF Christmas
Our DIRECT buying makes our prices BELOW our competition's sale prices!!!
LARGE inventory to choose from OR restyle, remount and repair your existing jewelry household jewelry
Layaway and payment plans available
K-STATE STUDENT DISCOUNT OFFERED with ID
Receive FREE—lovely strand of fresh water pearls with purchase of $100 or more.
Diamond Connection
QUALITY TELLS—PRICE SELLS
Effective Dec. 3rd
Open evenings till 8:30 p.m.
Sunday 1:00-5:00
417 Poyntz Avenue
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
(913) 539-3225

Justin Ropers and cowhides.
One pair leads to another.
Between the Original Ropers and Justin cowhides, you've got a pair of boots for every occasion. And each pair is handcrafted from the finest materials for comfort, quality and durability. Justin. The boots for all walks of life.
Justin
Since 1879.
100% American made.
Great boots with personal service at
Now open Sunday, 1-5
Regularly 139⁸⁸
LEE'S
PRICE 84⁸⁸
8426 E. Hwy 24
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Mon-Sat 9:00-5:30

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS 532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES
One day: 15 words or fewer, $3.00, 20 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 30 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.25, 35 cents per word over 15; Six consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.50, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper. Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ATTENTION: WOMEN students and faculty. Participants needed for survey. Complete a questionnaire (30 minutes) and receive $2. Contact Agustina, Justin Hall room 139 A.

BE IMPULSIVE, be romantic. The Osage House! Tonight! 2605 Stag Hill Road, 776-1234.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! You receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881, 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Kripp, 539-6193 after 5:30 p.m.

Kansas State Collegian

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!
DAYTONA BEACH from $119*
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129*
STEAMBOAT from $96*
FORT LAUDERDALE from $137*
PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124*
CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND from $108*
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112*
CALL TOLL FREE TODAY 1-800-321-5911

*Depending on break dates and length of stay

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

Don't Forget FRIDAY LADIES IN FREE SATURDAY No Cover with Student ID Only At BAYSTREET

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

Bobby T's
Weekends at Bobby T's
Fridays Enjoy Shrimp and Beer
2 doz shrimp & pitcher of beer $4.99
DJ 8-12
Saturday Enjoy Live Entertainment
John Woolfer
The Singing Stockbroker

Saturday at Snookies Corona Promo $1.75 Corona Bottles Free Giveaways 776-7726 1122 Moro, Uptairs

STRIPPERS ARE at Baystreet Monday, Dec. 3 and Tuesday, Dec. 4.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW, one-, two-bedroom, furnished, located on Denison, no pets, $245/$380 a month. 539-5697.

(Continued on page 8)

Mayor's Holiday Tree 1990 and the Flint Hills Breadbasket

Dear Kansas State University Community:
We would like to urge you this holiday season to give food or funds to the Mayor's Holiday Tree. This tree serves as a symbol for the collection of food which is used in our community to fill holiday baskets and to help stock pantries throughout the coming months through the Flint Hills Breadbasket. This year the goal is to gather 100,000 pounds of food for use in this community. Donations of canned goods and other non-perishables may be dropped off into the boxes in the foyer of Farrell Library. If you wish to donate cash, please mail a check to Kansas State Bank, with the check made out to the Mayor's Holiday Tree. If you would like further information regarding the types of food needed or collection points around town, please contact Atina Hanna of the Breadbasket at 537-0730, or Calista McBride at 532-7453. We urge you or your department to become involved by donating at the above mentioned location or by contacting us at the numbers listed above.

Mayor Dick Hayter
Ruth Ann Wefald
Atina Hanna
Calista McBride
Todd Heitschmidt
Barbara Robel

Foods which are needed: Sweet Potatoes, Potatoes, Canned Pumpkin, Fresh and Canned Fruit, Canned Cranberry Sauce, Canned Peas, Canned Beans, Canned Corn, Canned Soup, Canned Pork and Beans, Bread & Turkey.

Religious Directory

The End of Your Search For a Friendly Church
First Congregational Church
Juliette & Poyntz
Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Rev. Jerry Deffenbaugh
537-7006

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE
College Class 9:30 a.m.
Worship Services 10:50 a.m. & 6 p.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
1000 Fremont *Nursery Available 539-2851

Valleyview Community Church
Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m.
Ramada Inn, lower level
17th and Anderson
For more information call Dan Walter 776-0112

First Baptist Church
Sunday Worship 11 a.m.
Church School 9:45 a.m.
2121 Blue Hills Rd.
539-8691

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
Worship at 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m. (for all ages)
10th & Poyntz 537-8532

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Worship 8 and 10:30 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays
CARE CELLS (Small Groups)
6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP OF MANHATTAN
10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School
Nursery provided, everyone welcome
481 Zaandale Rd.
On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Worship Saturday 6 p.m.
Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m.
—Bible Class—
Sun. 9:30 a.m.—Thurs. 7-8:30 p.m.

Peace Lutheran Church
2500 Kimball Ave.
Worship at 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m.

St. Isidore's University Chapel
Catholic Student Center
Sunday Masses 9:30, 11 a.m., 5 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.
Daily Mass-M, Tu, Th, F 4:30 p.m.
Wed. 11 a.m. at St. Mary Hospital
Wed. 10 p.m. evening prayer
Confessions—1/2 hr. before daily mass.
Rev. Norbert Diab, Chaplain
Sister Rose Walters, C.S.A.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Christian Campus Ministry
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Class-Money, Sex & Power: A Biblical Perspective
Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m.
2510 Dickens Ave. 539-6581

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH
2901 Dickens Ave.
Don Pahl, Pastor
Mike Tuley, Pastor
776-0424

Anglican/Episcopal Community in Manhattan
St. Paul's Episcopal Church
& St. Francis/Canterbury Episcopal Fellowship at KSU

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Church School—9:45 a.m.
Worship—8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.
Disciples of Christ
5th and Humboldt 776-8790

CRESTVIEW CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6:30 p.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
4761 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 776-3798
(2 miles north of Marlett and Tuttle Creek Blvd.)

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH
9:15 a.m. Sunday School
10:30 a.m. Sunday Service
6 p.m. Training Hour
7 p.m. Worship Service
2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

Sixth & Poyntz 776-9427 or 537-0593
— Sunday Services —
8 A.M. Holy Eucharist I
9:30 Christian Education Classes (for all ages)
10:30 A.M. Choral Eucharist Rite II (Nursery available at 10:30 service)

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month)
9:45 College Church School
8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship
Nursery provided for all services
John D. Stoneking, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan
MOC Chapel S.W. corner 14th & Anderson
Steve Rattliff, Pastor
Worship 9:30 a.m.
Sunday School 11 a.m.
776-2086
Nursery Provided

— Sunday Services —
8 A.M. Holy Eucharist I
9:30 Christian Education Classes (for all ages)
10:30 A.M. Choral Eucharist Rite II (Nursery available at 10:30 service)

Send your friends a Ho! Ho! Ho! lot of love in one of these little packages...

Wish someone a Merry Christmas or congratulate a friend who is graduating in December with a Personal Package in the Kansas State Collegian.

You may choose from the three styles below and print a special message for only $7. Just fill out the form and bring it to the Collegian Advertising Office, Kedzie 101, by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11. Then enjoy watching your friends open the Collegian to their "package" on Friday, Dec. 14.

Collegian Holiday Message

Name _____ Phone _____

Address _____

Message (25 words or less) _____

Style A B C (circle one)

Samples shown below are reduced. Actual size of ad is 2-1/16 x 2 inches.

Style A Style B Style C

(Continued from page 7)

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartment, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8 a.m.—8 p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Reasonable rent. Serious inquiries call collect (316)321-5810.

FIRST MONTH free! Available spring semester, roomy apartment for two. One and one-half blocks south of campus, water, trash, deposit already paid. Call Carina 537-0772.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now, 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, heat, water trash included. No pets, $220/month. 539-3821.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Bluemont. Available mid-December. $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to college. All utilities paid except personal electricity. Air conditioning, no pets. $175 a month. Available Jan. 1. 1840 Elaine Drive.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMMATE NEEDED Jan. 1, three-bedroom apartment, $175/month plus one-third utilities, own room, close to Aggieville and campus. 537-3386.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage, $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement, Gas/ water included, lease December—May, 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Unfurnished two-bedroom with washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. 776-7950.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Spacious two-bedroom, one bathroom, dishwasher, central air. Call after 6 p.m. 776-0269.

IDEAL ARRANGEMENT for three compatible students, three-bedroom, two-bath, loft with kitchen, off-street parking, laundry. Available Jan. 1. $190 month each, bills paid. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment for rent from January—August. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143 evenings.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE- OR two-bedroom with living, dining, kitchen, hardwood floors, storage, laundry, off-street parking. Ideal for married couple. 537-2266.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM, ONE-FOURTH block from campus. One and one-half bath, water and trash paid. Available Jan. 1. $540 per month plus utilities. 539-6878 or 537-1746.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 814 Thurston, gas/ water included. No pets, start Jan. 1, $375/month. 537-9336.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

PARK PLACE APARTMENTS

1408 Cambridge Place • 539-2951

•1, 2 and 3 bedroom

•2 swimming pools and a heated spa

•Some utilities paid

•Across the street from Westloop Shopping Center

•Campus shuttle leaving every hour

Pre-leasing for Jan.-May

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment, Across street from campus and Aggieville, $175 month, very low utilities. 776-0115.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM one block from campus. Available in January. 537-8986.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valtier, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE January. Four bedrooms, house near campus. Laundry and parking facilities. $600 plus utilities. 537-5134.

5 Automobile for Sale

1978 CHEVY 4x4 350. New paint, no rust, clean. 776-4387.

1979 COROLLA, clean, red with black custom rims. $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1979 TOYOTA Corolla, good tires, 88K miles, runs excellent, $595 or offer. 539-7491.

1982 BLACK two-door, velour interior, Saab Good condition. 776-8759 or 537-2642.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AMFM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1985 FIREBIRD, T-tops, V-6, five-speed, Kenwood stereo system. Excellent condition. $5,000. Ask for Duane 539-6644.

1988 HONDA Civic, three-door hatchback, deluxe, five-speed, power steering, power brakes, air. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AMFM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

1988 RANGER GT, red with yellow graphics. Custom tarp. $6,500. 776-3703.

1990 TOYOTA Terrell, automatic, air, excellent condition, 9,600 miles. 537-0597.

PAYDAY SPECIALS: 1977 Pontiac Trans Am, T-tops, $2,100; 1983 Olds Cutlass Supreme V8, $2,795; 1984 Chevy Caprice, four-door, $2,000; 1981 Mercury Lynx wagon, $995; 1980 Camaro, new 350 motor, $1,695. Ace Auto Sales, Ogden, Kansas. 537-8880 or 537-0870.

6 Child Care

NANNIES: COME experience life in the east while doing something you enjoy—caring for kids. Call now for application. Nannie Network Inc. 1-800-US-NANNY.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-013-491 4565.

COMPUTER RIBBONS and supplies, Hull Business Supplies, Aggieville, 714 N. 12th. 539-1413.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

ASSISTANT TEACHER, part-time in an established early childhood program. Must be available to work from 11 a.m.—12:30 p.m. daily plus an additional 1½-2 hours two afternoons per week. Must have experience with groups of young children and hours in ECE, EI Ed or related field. Apply at Seven Dolors Childcare Pre-school, 220 S. Juliette, by Dec. 7. Position available spring semester. EOE.

CHILD CARE IN our home, Mondays 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for girls ages 1, 5 and 7. Must be reliable, non-smoker, have own transportation and references. 537-1558.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed, $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed, $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

RESIDENTIAL ASSISTANT: Part-time position during evening and weekends available immediately. Responsible for being on-site at a five bed male residential facility for the mentally impaired. Duties include monitoring and supervision of daily living skills and planning/ supervising recreational and leisure skill activities. Must be available to attend a weekly team staff meeting. Contact the Community Support Program Supervisor at Pawnee Mental Health Services, 539-7426.

JOBS! JOBS!

Positions available nationwide and overseas. All occupations with competitive salaries and benefits. 15-80K+.

Free Information
Call
Corporate Careers
(913) 539-1144

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

PIANIST WANTED for Unity Church. Musical variety. Sunday mornings and/or Wednesday evenings. 539-8416, 537-6120.

SPRING SEMESTER employment. Student secretary/ receptionist: Telephone, typing and organizational skills required. Computer experience helpful. Need help Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings, Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and mid-day on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Applications are available at the Recreational Services office Monday through Friday from 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Application deadline is Monday, Dec. 3. Position begins Jan. 7.

EARN & LEARN

Work with an international computer company, Zenith Data Systems, on your campus as part of a student sales and marketing team. Guaranteed consulting fee plus commission, flexible hours, build resume, gain experience. Fax resume to: 212-675-1732 or mail to CTI, 5 West 19th St., 10th Fl., New York, NY 10011 or call 1-800-827-8440.

VAN DRIVER: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for transporting clients and assisting in providing activity therapies with the Community Support Program. Class B driver's license required. Contact Patrice Murphy at Pawnee Mental Health Services. Phone 539-7426.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.s, drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206. 303-377-3616.

9 Food Specials

SUNDAY LUNCH

Pan Fried Chicken and other daily specials. Specials include free dessert.

ONLY $4.25

Serving Breakfast till 1 p.m.

Open Every Sunday

7 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

CHEF
The 111 S. 4th Cafe

10% off with this ad

(Continued on page 9)

SUNDAY NIGHT

Buffet

4-8 p.m.
All the pizza and salad you can eat—
ONLY $3.50 + tax

Also available for lunch
Monday through Friday
from 11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Children 11 years and under 30¢ X age

519 Richards Drive
Manhattan, KS
(913) 776-1170

SHOWBIZ PIZZA PLACE

Showbiz is the PERFECT place for all of your group gatherings!
CALL FOR MORE INFORMATION.

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F
1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

Applications are Being Taken for

SGA Positions

Applications and job descriptions for Student Body President Cabinet are available in the Student Government Services Office located on the ground floor of the K-State Union.

Due TODAY

SNOOKIES

presents

THE Romanatics

Thursday, Dec. 6
Opening Act TBA

Tickets: $8 in advance, $10 at the door 18 to enter, 21 to drink

Tonight—50¢ Kamis

776-7726 • 1122 Moro • Upstairs • Aggieville

Christmas Holiday

•SALE•

Saturday & Sunday, Dec. 1 & 2

20% OFF

Reg. Prices

Christmas decorations and accessories including

- *Byers' Choice Carolers
- *Aromatic and Seasons Potpourri
- *Holiday Linens
- *Dickens, New England and Snow Villages
- *Cotton Throws
- *Holiday Dinnerware

Annual Collectibles, not included

AND OTHER IN STOCK GIFT IDEAS

5th & Poyntz
Downtown

Sun. 1:00-5:00
Mon.-Tues. 9:00-8:00
Fri.-Sat. 9:00-6:00

Downtown

"A Special Store For Special Gifts"

Capture the Christmas Spirit with the enchanting one act opera for the whole family

Amahl & The Night Visitors

by Gian-Carlo Menotti

Wareham Opera House

Sunday Dec. 9 & 16
2:00 p.m.

Deluxe Christmas Buffet & Theater *17
Children *10
Show Only Tickets: *8.50/*4.50
Buffet Opens 12:30-1:45 p.m.

Skyler Hawk & Jennifer Edwards as Amahl & his mother

A presentation of Opening Night Theater
Linda Haynes Uthoff, Director

Reservations: 537-0380
Group Christmas Parties Welcome!

THE CLAY CELLAR

HOLIDAY SHOW AND SALE

Nov. 30th 7-10 p.m.
Dec. 1st 10-6 p.m.
Dec. 2nd 1-5 p.m.

OPEN STUDIO

FEATURING POTTERS:
JOYCE E. FURNEY
RONNA BOOKS ROUNDS
GARY D. TYSON

INVITED GUEST ARTISTS:
ANN TALARICO, Silversmith
JAN NEAL, Watercolorist
JUDY WILLINGHAM, Jeweler

THE CLAY CELLAR 539-4064
572 Pillsbury Dr. Manhattan, KS

McCain

Chanticleer

Thursday, December 6, 8 p.m.

Welcome the holiday season with a Christmas concert by America's premiere a cappella vocal ensemble! Chanticleer's 12 singers perform works that span five centuries and include liturgical music, traditional carols, and gospel hymns. Their voices range from countertenor to bass and their remarkable vocal precision has won Chanticleer worldwide acclaim as "an orchestra of voices."

"One of the most beautiful musical experiences in my life. The audience was mesmerized." (Robert Shaw, dean of American choral conductors)

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

Presented in part with support from the Fine Arts fee and from the Friends of McCain.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) To charge tickets by phone, call (913) 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

(Continued from page 8)

Every Friday
ALL YOU CAN EAT!

•Spaghetti
& meat sauce
•Salad Bar
•Texas Toast

$4.95

CHEF
1118 4th
Fridays
5-8 p.m.

Announcements-Apartments-Automobiles-Child Care
Classified Ads
Let them work for you.
Tickets-Travel-Volunteers Needed-Wanted to Buy or Sell

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM house in Riley, $150. Available Dec. 1. Call 1-485-2204.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ROLL of film, 1600 professional color near Waters. Claim in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m.

LOST: ENGAGEMENT Ring—Eleven small diamonds with one larger diamond. If found, please call 537-5129.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

1983 SCHULT 14x64, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, central air, dishwasher, washer/dryer hookups. Good condition. $300. 539-1041.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x50 MOBILE home, washer and dryer, shed, furnished, $5,000. Call 537-3909.

SALE: TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 SUZUKI to sell, 450ccs. $250 or best. Call Mau at 537-3585.

1986 XR200, great shape, best offer over $700. 776-0535.

BRAND NEW Schwinn 21-speed, cross bike and cable lock. $210. Tony 776-0861.

HONDA CL100 1971. Only two owners. Lots of fun! Call Tracy 539-7734.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, pump, toe clips, water bottles, bag and rack. $375. 776-1638 leave message.

Motorcycle Supply
TNT Off-road Helmets

snell approved

$115

1221 Moro • 776-6177

19 Music/ Musicians

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

AX—MICHELLE: Your 20th B-Day is finally here, but beware a surprise is in the air! Love Ya, Katherine, Susie.

CALVIN: WE'VE got the music if you've got the oil. (Ha! Ha!) Love, Honey, Sugar and Sweetness.

CAROLYN: WELCOME to campus and enjoy your stay. Love, Chris.

DAVE—I will follow you with utter devotion and love, your pal Jack.

ERIC, ERIC, Bill, Sam. Partying in an unusual place, cruising Manhattan with the utmost grace. Dinner for eight will not be served on a plate. Dress up right and don't be late! Love, your AX dates: Darla, Dawnia, Kayla, Kim.

FUJI DATES Greg K., Eric B., Serg. Jim M. & Michi. Moonlight and Mistletoe is here. So party up and grab a liquid. We'll have so much fun. And when we're all done, we'll all know that once again Thelma and Fija are #1! Love your Theta dates, Sara, Melissa, Christina, Jennifer and Shannon.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY (yesterday) Elias Marial See you at Last Chance to celebrate. Your friends at Holton.

HEY GUYS! Remember, "Too bad we can't split our squad." 77 You showed them then and you can do it again! The NWU weaver is ours! So, Dave, AX and Smash, Estel, Matt, The Barbi Twins (Sia and Shane), Jason, Tom, Pells, Shilyn, Amy and Amy, Grr Lay, Tanya (Stupid), Jana and Crystal (at a dollar every five seconds...), eat babies! The Coaches.

H.M. THANKS for two fantastic months. I Love You. S.R.

HONEYBUNS, TONIGHT will be a blast! Thanks for not going Deer Hunting! I love you—Your Triamp.

JULES: TOMORROW makes eleven. Here's to a hoppin' good time under the Mistletoe tonight. Love Ya, Chaz.

KEV—I have a proposition for you... If you'll be ready at 6, I'll pick you up for a romantic birthday celebration. Sound fair enough? I love you!

MW: HAVE the clues been helpful? Hope so! Look for the final clue tomorrow—You'll know, Mystery.

RICHARD C.—Thank you for making this past year the happiest year ever! Even though we're apart, I love you more every day—you're the best! Love, Susan.

S.S.—HAPPY Anniversary! There's been so many good times: Vail, couch dancing, Chicago, racketball court #4, St. Louis, golfing, the sport omni, and most of all good ole Wichita. I hope there's many more to come. Love always, L.J.

TO OUR Lambda Chis: Pete, Greg & John—By the moonlight tonight. We'll be a sight to be ready to go! We just wanted to let you know to meet us under the mistletoe! Our love, your 3 KATS.

TRI SIGMA CYNDI, missing and loving you from St. Louis. Can't wait until X-mas. Love, Brant.

Z—SURPRISE, Honey! I bet you didn't know that you're my friend. A.

It's semi-formal time with the A-Chi-O's

So get out your dress & some party hose.

You asked your man, and he said yes

We'll have an awesome time—won't settle for less.

Fledges have been planning so you can have fun

From decorating to invites—everything's done.

The house will be toured by you & your date

He'll be so impressed & think everything's great.

Next comes the fun part, break out the "kiss-a-did"

Our mission is clear—the U. Inn we'll invade.

The mistletoe's been hung with special care

With hopes that a kiss will soon be there.

It's all for you, this Saturday night

We'll see you at THE STROKE OF MIDNIGHT.

—AXO PLEDGES

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm raised Dalmatian pups. $125. 539-6596 or 537-8427.

MISC. AFRICAN Cichlids 1"-5" ($1-$5). Call 776-6922. Karen or Chris or leave message.

PUREBRED CHOW puppies. They have shots and are wormed. Price negotiable. 776-2497. Ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone?

The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years.

We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clafin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

PAPERS, RESUMES, letters, theses and dissertations. Stored and completed to your satisfaction. Fast turn around. Ross Secretarial Service, 614 N. 12th. 539-5147. Across from Kite's.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, Tally Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

Typing USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $160 plus utilities, after 5:30p.m. 537-8288.

CLOSE TO campus, own room, $120/ month, one-third utilities. 539-1161.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/ month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE—NON-SMOKER, to share house, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 537-0081.

FEMALE OR male. Own room. Extremely cheap! Pets allowed. 539-6703.

FEMALE, OWN bedroom, $148 plus utilities. 537-4510.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half block from campus, Aggieville, $200, water, trash paid. One-third others. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment, own room, close to campus. 537-0706.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house, own room, $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2668.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, close to campus, fully remodeled, laundry facilities, extra nice. 776-9124.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, own bedroom, across from campus, $150/ month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1st. 537-6823.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/ month. 539-2919. Ask for Debra or Kristie.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE NON-SMOKER wanted to share two-bedroom home, washer/ dryer, $135/ month plus one-half utilities. 537-4369.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment. Own room. Close to campus. $182.50, one-half utilities. Ask for Matt, 539-8200.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice four-bedroom house. Own room. Close to campus and Aggieville. $125/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-1562.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/ month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring/ summer to share two-bedroom, own room, washer/ dryer, fireplace, pool, furnished, $200 plus half electric. 539-5508.

NO DEPOSIT necessary for female roommate, one-half utilities, $182.50, own room. Ask for Jill, 539-8882.

NON-SMOKER FEMALE, clean and neat. Own bedroom. Woodway Apartments, $175 monthly plus one-third utilities. Call 537-3233.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE OR two roommates for spring semester, available Jan. 1. Large, nice house very close to campus. Own bedrooms. $183/ month. 537-6853.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three roommates. Own room. Has everything. $195 negotiable. 776-2497.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/ month plus utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, female for two-story apartment. Furnished bedroom, laundry. $140. Call 539-1582. Leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $140 and one-fourth utilities. Washer and dryer. 1635 Laramie. 776-5265.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Female to share new two-bedroom apartment with pool. Westloop location, $180 month plus utilities from January to August or May. Call 537-2445 after 7p.m. or leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED—One block from campus, $130 plus utilities. Call Amy 537-4510, 776-1195.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed immediately. December rent free. Own room, nice house, one block from campus. $118.75, one-fourth utilities. 537-2412 or 537-0350.

TWO MALE roommates for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $160 month plus utilities. 537-2366.

TWO ROOMMATES. One block from campus, $143.75, plus one-fourth utilities. 539-4189 or 537-3782.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2822. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

Sports injury?

Call today for an appointment

537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

26 Stereo Equipment

JVC CAR stereo for sale. AM/FM, 15 presets, seek, scan, cassette with auto rewind. $100. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

TWO PIONEER surface mount speakers, good condition. $75. Two portable car speakers, good condition. $50. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

SOLOFLEX FOR sale! Two months old. Leg attachment and Butterfly included! $300 or best offer. Call Mau at 537-3585.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, spacious one-bedroom apartment, balcony, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Brand new one-bedroom apartment. Rent plus utilities. Washer/dryer, garage, etc. 776-9875 ask for Mark.

AVAILABLE JANUARY 1, one-bedroom, nicely furnished, near campus, air, low utilities. 776-7083 evenings.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house. Own room. $175/ month, one-half utilities. Lease ends May. Close to campus. 776-0595.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, nicely furnished, near campus, air, low utilities. 776-7083 evenings.

FEMALE, SPRING semester. Furnished, quiet house. Washer/ dryer. Rent negotiable. Lease ends in May. Amy 539-3886.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/ month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

MALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Mile from campus. 539-1503.

NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment across the street from Aggieville and campus. Available Dec. 21st. 1212 Blumont. 776-2436.

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/ or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

TUTORING IN Modern and Classic Greek, emphasizes the more formal language (Katharevousa) used in official documents and in the conservative press. Open to anyone, call Aki Barnish, phone 776-6128.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

25" RCA Console color TV, $200. 19" Hitachi color TV, $100 or make offer. Call 776-4213.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two by ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Instruction books for Casio FX-7000G calculator. Call Sandra at 532-3341 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons only.

FOR SALE: Pentax ME Super w/50 and 135mm lenses and bag; Vivitar 70-205mm zoom Inland Ml Carbine, collectible. 539-5368 ask for Bob.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

FOR SALE: Wooden bookshelf $10; and queen-size foam core Futon mattress $150. 537-4093.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

LEATHER BOMBER jacket, worn only few times. Also assorted name brand clothing, rarely worn. All in great condition. Call Julie 539-4868.

QUEEN-SIZE DOWN comforter, nine-drawer dresser with round mirror. Quasar stereo and speakers. 776-0730.

SMITH CORONA word processor—auto spell, disk drive, display screen, $450 or best. 776-2018.

SOLOVOX: IF familiar write: B.J., RR 44, Box 424, Junction City, KS 66441.

TANNING FACIAL Lamp—Brand new! Woolf system—Bought for $225—$125 or make offer. 539-2009.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola photograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WATERBED QUEEN-SIZE, padded rails and headboard. $150 negotiable. 776-0535.

EUROPA
SKI PANTS

1/2 PRICE

with any jacket purchaseSATURDAY DEC. 1 &
SUNDAY DEC. 2 ONLY

Aggie Ski & Sport
1118 4th St., Aggieville
539-1118

34 Room Exchange for Duties

CHRISTIAN FAMILY wants college girl to live in for second semester, non-smoker, food and private room in exchange for duties. P.O. Box 652, Manhattan, Kansas 66502.

35 Acreage

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres—Pottawatomie County—Fenced—extremely low taxes—New High School District. 776-6970.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE SECOND Day of Christmas—25% off cookbooks and 25% off backpacks, Nov. 30th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

1 Salary	41 Just out	57 Tired-looking	17 "Egad!"
6 Nehru jackets, e.g.	43 "Cook-a-doodle—!"	DOWN	19 Like some index cards

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7 a.m. - Midnight

Cappuccinos Royales
$1.12

Valid with this coupon. Today only.
Expires 11/30/90

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—

Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DVC REAL ESTATE

2001 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66202
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-3405

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz

537-2480

Free Estimates

WIKI/LITE
BATTERIES

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577

1800 Clarlin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

On the fifth day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me:

25% off

of any Classic Sundae!
Strawberry Shortcake sundae, Hot Fudge
Brownie sundae, Triple Whammy sundae,
Banana Split sundae.

at

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE. NATURAL.

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

offer expires 12/5/90

537-1616

KRYSTALLOS

for Unique Jewelry—

just arrived:

Sterling Silver
ANKHS

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

For your holiday parties you need:

- ✓ mistletoe
- ✓ garland
- ✓ Christmas tree
- ✓ Christmas lights
- ✓ extra bulbs
- ✓ ribbons
- ✓ bells
- ✓ ornaments
- ✓ tinsel

From

Christmas at

1105 Waters

539-4751

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

6th Day-Buy any 6" Sub and get a small drink
FREE.

Offer good Nov. 30 thru Dec. 2
Must present ad-not good in combination
with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

The Nantucket Briar Fragrance Collection
by Scarborough

You'll find a lovely assortment of soaps, toiletries, and fragrance products by Scarborough & Co. including the NEW Southampton Rose Series.
Custom gift baskets available.

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville-539-7654

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Enjoy

25% off Perms &
Relaxers

$5 off Facials

Happy Holidays

Crimpers
HAIR DESIGN STUDIO
AGGIEVILLE, USA
613 N. Manhattan
539-7621

w/this ad
Exp. 12/15/90

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS-P

All topcoats & Raincoats

Gordon Thomas
Oleg Cassini

Great looks for cold weather at great savings.
Special orders welcome.

Reg. $150-$295. NOW $20 off

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

We Make Your Shopping Fun & Easy!

- Free gift wrap
- Extended Holiday hours
- Gift Certificates

Holiday Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Monday, November 3, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 66

Hussein says chances of war '50-50'

CRISIS IN THE MIDDLE EAST

By The Associated Press

Saddam Hussein's armies rattled nerves around the Persian Gulf Sunday with the first test of surface-to-surface missiles since the invasion of Kuwait. The Iraqi president said the chances of war in the region stand at fifty-fifty.

In Washington, Secretary of State James Baker III said the United States would not attack Iraq — provided Iraqi troops are withdrawn from Kuwait and foreign hostages are freed.

Iraq, which has been sporadically releasing captives, let more go on Sunday. Fifteen freed Americans flew out of Iraq with former world heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, who secured their release in talks with Hussein.

A spokesman for the boxer said he planned to return to Baghdad at Christmas to try to bring out more of the hundreds of remaining captives, who were stranded when Iraq invaded small, oil-rich Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Iraq, meanwhile, told the Soviet Union that it could lose its influence in the Arab world if it sent troops to the Persian Gulf. That was apparently in response to a warning from Soviet Foreign Minister Edward Shevardnadze, who said last week Moscow would send in soldiers if Soviet citizens trapped in Iraq were harmed.

The official Iraqi News agency quoted an Iraqi Foreign Ministry spokesman as saying Shevardnadze seems to be looking for a pretext to send troops to the region.

More than 350,000 troops are in the Persian Gulf as part of the U.S.-led multinational force. American troops, now numbering more than 400,000, are expected to swell to around 400,000 by next month.

The U.S. military refused to say whether the American forces went on alert Sunday when Iraq launched surface-to-surface missiles in what appeared to be test launches.

The missiles were fired — and landed — in Iraqi territory, U.S. military officials in Saudi Arabia said in a statement. Officials refused to say how the missiles were detected.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, interviewed in Washington by ABC-TV, said they were SCUD missiles or SCUD variants. He said it was the first such firing since April.

The forces in Saudi Arabia were reported to have been put on yellow alert — one category below full combat alert — last week, after the U.N. Security Council approved a resolution authorizing use of force against Iraq if it does not withdraw from Kuwait by Jan. 15.

Hussein, in an interview aired Sunday by the French television network Antenne 2, repeatedly refused to answer questions about the possibility of a pullout.

In the interview, the first granted to a foreign television network since the U.N. resolution was passed, he was asked the chances of war breaking out. "Fifty-fifty," he replied.

But he said he was ready to talk with U.S. officials if they came to Baghdad in a spirit of dialogue. That was in apparent reference to an offer by President Bush last week to send Baker to Iraq for talks.

Iraq accepted, but said it wanted to talk about the Arab-Israeli conflict, too. The United States has refused to link any resolution of the gulf crisis with the Palestinian question.

Baker said Sunday that if Hussein complied with U.N. resolutions passed since the crisis erupted four months ago, he would have no reason to fear attack.

The 15 Americans freed Sunday were among 47 foreigners, including Belgians, Britons and Canadians freed separately by Iraq, who arrived in Amman, Jordan aboard an Iraqi Airways flight.

Mike Vanzo/Staff

O holy night

ABOVE: Marie Osmond, center, sings Christmas carols with the Riley County Junior High School Choir Sunday night at an Osmond and Oak Ridge Boys Christmas concert in Bramlage Coliseum. FAR LEFT: The Oak Ridge Boys, led by Joe Bonsall, left, sing some of their early hits before breaking into the Christmas spirit. LEFT: Osmond brought Victor Olson of Olsburg on stage to sing 'Crazy' with her for the audience.

Gas tax added over weekend Station workers report differing opinions to 5-cent price hike

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

Employees of Manhattan gas stations and convenience stores said Sunday the addition of a federal 5-cent-per-gallon gasoline tax during the weekend seemed to go unnoticed by their customers, apparently lost in the fluctuation of prices since the start of the Persian Gulf crisis.

But at stations where customers commented about the price hike, they made their opinions known loud and clear.

"A lot of them complained that we've got gas in the tank that we didn't buy at this tax," said Patrick Carter, part-time employee at Jerry's Phillips 66 station, 2000 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

"We're selling it a little higher than at convenience stores because that's how we make our money, selling gas," Carter said. He added that convenience stores can sell gasoline at a lower price because they sell other products as well.

The new federal gasoline tax is part of a deficit-reduction agreement worked out between President

George Bush and Congress earlier this year.

Carter said about half of his customers knew that the increase in price Saturday was due to a tax hike.

"I don't think (business has) really cut down a lot," he said. "Most of our business is through the Phillips 66 cards."

A check of prices Sunday for a gallon of unleaded gasoline found the price fluctuating between $1.28.9 and $1.31.9.

Prior to the tax taking effect, prices ranged from $1.23.9 to $1.27.9 per gallon of unleaded gasoline.

Jennifer Lovenstein, manager of the Kwik Shop at 14th and Anderson, said the store had increased gasoline sales the day before the tax increase.

"It was a busy day," she said. "I haven't had anybody complain." Darin Grimes, attendant at Rex's Tire Co., 2829 Anderson Ave., a Texaco station, said most of the complaints about the tax were made Saturday.

"You do have a lot of complaints,"

■ See GAS, Page 10

Proposal initiated; offices to merge

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

Although the administration has tabled the discussion draft of the reorganization plan it released in October, one proposal outlined in the draft is being implemented.

Tom Rawson, vice president of administration and finance, said the merger of the offices of Facilities Planning and Facilities Engineering is proceeding as outlined in the discussion draft.

Rawson said the two departments will be merged into an Office of Architecture and Engineering Services. Lee McQueen, currently the assistant director of facilities engineering and a licensed engineer, will be the director of the merged offices, Rawson said.

Thomas Schellhardt, assistant vice president of planning, said the position of director of facilities planning has been to supervise a staff consisting partially of architects. The director and that staff coordinate the planning and management of new construction and renovation projects on campus.

The director of facilities engineering supervises utilities distribution on campus, he said.

Larry Garvin, current director of the facilities planning office, will be reassigned to an instructional position in the College of Architecture and Design, Rawson said. The change will become official on Dec. 18.

The changes will be reviewed on a yearly basis, and if the workload of the merged position is

■ See MERGER, Page 10

Engineering students to have say on new fee

By Gregory A. Branson
Government/City Editor

Engineering students will have the opportunity to vote Tuesday and Wednesday on the proposed engineering fee.

A bill was approved early Friday morning by Student Senate that provides for the opinion poll, but only under protest.

The voting will take place Tuesday and Wednesday by the information booth on the main floor of Durland Hall. Polling hours will be between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., and only students enrolled in the College of Engineering will be allowed to vote.

The actual question that will be on the ballot will read: "The following question be presented to all engineering students for their opinion: Kansas State University, the University of Kansas and Wichita State University propose spring 1991 implementation of a $15 per credit hour fee to be paid by all students enrolled in engineering courses. The fee would be assessed in undergraduate and graduate engineering courses at all three schools."

The students are then asked to

■ See FEE, Page 10

BRIEFLY

World

Employees heed Israeli strike

JERUSALEM (AP) — A general strike on Sunday idled Israel's airports, curtailed radio broadcasts and shut schools, offices and clinics in a dispute over tax increases and the minimum wage.

More than 500,000 Israeli government employees heeded the strike call by the Histadrut Labor Federation after the Cabinet added a 5-percent levy to income taxes to finance Soviet immigration. The levy was part of a broader package of austerity measures.

Flights carrying immigrants were to be diverted to military airfields, said Israel army radio, which was not affected by the walkout. Workers in essential services heeded government back-to-work orders.

Officials of the Jewish Agency, which sees to bringing the immigrants to Israel, stayed on the job saying they did not want to add to the newcomers' difficulties.

Kohl wins Germany's election

BONN, Germany (AP) — The coalition led by Chancellor Helmut Kohl, whose deft maneuvering paved the way for German unity, on Sunday overwhelmingly won the first free all-German elections since 1932, computer projections indicated.

The balloting capped a breathtaking transformation that began with a revolt last year against East Germany's Communist government and led to the merging of East and West Germany on Oct. 3.

Kohl's center-right coalition was winning 55 percent of the vote to 33 percent for the opposition Social Democrats of his chief rival, Oskar Lafontaine, the ARD television network said.

Germany's other main television network, ZDF, put the percentage for Kohl's coalition even higher, at 56 percent.

Prime minister backs Walesa

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Prime Minister Tadeusz Mazowiecki on Sunday urged supporters of his failed presidential bid to vote for Lech Walesa, but called for creation of a new political party to oppose the Solidarity leader in the future.

"In the face of the irresponsibility that may endanger Poland and everything we have been struggling for 10 years, we should cast our ballots in favor of Mr. Walesa," said Mazowiecki at the founding of the new Union of Polish Democracy.

The prime minister referred to the campaign of Stanislaw Tyminski, the wealthy emigre who came from obscurity to reach the presidential runoff election on Sunday, Dec. 9.

Nation

Draft possible in gulf crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventeen years after the government's authority for a military draft expired, the Selective Service System is alive and well — and on standby.

But if President Bush and Congress gave the order, the Selective Service could start issuing draft notices within days and supply up to 100,000 young men within a month.

Bush has said as recently as last week that he doesn't want to see the draft reactivated, but it's the job of the Selective Service to be ready, just in case.

The agency has 270 fulltime employees, 2,000 local draft boards and an entire system for resuming the draft if ordered to do so.

"It's business as usual because that is our mission — to be ready," Selective Service spokeswoman Barbi Richardson said. "We were ready a year ago, and we'd be ready tomorrow."

Media swarm to New Madrid

NEW MADRID, Mo. (AP) — Residents of this southeast Missouri town made famous by a controversial earthquake projection went to church Sunday and then went to Main Street to watch the media circus.

"I knew there would be a lot of press here, but I never had a clue it would be like this. It's just amazing," said Virginia Carlson, director of the New Madrid Historical Museum, where reporters, photographers and the curious traipsed in and out.

Outside the museum, onlookers took pictures of photographers taking pictures of them. Traffic moved slowly through jam-packed streets as reporters and spectators continued to arrive.

Columbia in orbit of Earth

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's astronauts, thrilled to finally be orbiting Earth, activated telescopes inside the space shuttle Sunday for more than a week of probing galaxies, quasars and other hot turbulent objects.

The shuttle roared to life Sunday morning and streaked through a moonlit sky after six months of trying to get off the ground. Three hours later, the seven-man crew began the day-long process of getting the $150 million Astro observatory ready for operation.

"It's like an early Christmas present," NASA launch director Bob Sieck said at a post-launch news conference.

It was the fifth launch attempt for the mission, first scheduled for 1986 but postponed by the Challenger accident. Fuel leaks halted three countdowns including the first one in May, and telescope problems ended another.

Region

Woman will lead Kansas SRS

TOPEKA (AP) — The next permanent head of the state's largest agency will be a woman, Governor-elect Joan Finney says.

Finney picked a receptive audience for her announcement Saturday — the 1991 Women's Agenda conference at Washburn University School of Law. Her statement was met with cheers and applause.

"I intend to appoint a woman secretary of SRS," she announced. She did not specify who the woman would be.

Finney, the first woman to be elected Kansas governor, promised that the head of the Kansas Department of Social and Rehabilitation Services will not be her only female appointee.

"I am searching for women to place in high-level positions in state government," she said.

Campus

Student commits suicide

Riley County Police reported that a K-State student committed suicide over the weekend.

A report was filed with the department at about 1:30 p.m. Saturday after a student was found in the Continental Inn at 100 Bluemont Avenue.

Police said an interpreter was called to translate a note written in Chinese left by the student.

Riley County Police turned the case over to the Pottawatomie Sheriff's Department for further investigation.

The victim was a graduate student in physics and a member of the Chinese Student Association.

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, said the student's name would be released after the family was contacted.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

3 Monday

■ Accounting Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Calvin 217. New members and all majors are welcome.

■ Voices for Choice will have a sign-making session for a march at 7 p.m. in Union 209.

■ KSU Friends of Big Brothers/Big Sisters will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 213.

■ Public Relations Student Society of America will have office elections and a speaker at 7 p.m. in the Kedzie Hall Library.

■ Advertising Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 206.

■ Ag Communicators of Tomorrow will meet at 5 p.m. in Waters 135. Dinner will follow the meeting.

■ Spanish Club Round Table will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Alpha Zeta officers will meet at 7 p.m. in the Weber Hall Block and Bridle Lounge.

■ Chimes Junior Honorary will meet at 9 p.m. in Union 207.

■ Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Durland 173. Dean Rathbone will speak on the engineering fee.

■ Interdisciplinary Social Science Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Eisenhower 12.

■ Phi Upsilon Omicron will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Justin 149.

■ Business Council will meet at 4 p.m. in Union 209.

■ French Table will meet from 12:05 a.m. from 1:30 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ Collegiate FFA will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 204.

■ KSU Marketing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 212.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Winter weather advisory tonight, a chance for light snow in the morning with up to an inch of additional snow possible. Partial clearing in the afternoon. Windy and cold. High around 30. Northwest winds 20 to 30 mph and gusty. Tonight, clearing and cold with diminishing winds. Low 15 to 20. Tuesday, mostly sunny but chilly. High 35 to 40.

Super Deals Menu

59¢ EACH

Bean Tostada
Crisp Pinto Burrito
Refritos

Amigos

WE PROVIDE SERVICES TO KEEP YOU
WELL —

YOU ARE WELL
WORTH IT.

Lafene
Health Center

Two Great Christmas Gifts

Gift Certificates good at ANY Dairy Queen and Coke glasses for 89¢, filled with your favorite soft drink.

Dairy
Queen

1015 N. 3rd
Manhattan

THIS SUNDAY NIGHT

ALDO

RATORS LEDGES

WITH SPECIAL GUEST
LOVE/HATE

SUNDAY • DECEMBER 9 • 8:00 PM

BRAMLAGE COLISEUM

ALL SEATS RESERVED $18.00

Tickets available at Bramlage Coliseum Ticket Office,
Manhattan Town Center Information Booth, K-State Union Bookstore,
McCain Auditorium Ticket Office, Uptown Entertainment in Topeka,
I.T.R. at Ft. Riley, Uptown Tapes & CD's in Junction City, House of Sight & Sound in Salina, Bicentennial Center
in Salina or charge by phone (913) 532-7606

Tickets may be subject to a service charge.

A CONTEMPORARY PRESENTATION

Need money for college?

ASK
ABOUT
STUDENT LOANS

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.

Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502

776-9400

Lender Code
*R045R1
EMPIRE BANK
Originator

Member FDIC

FREE PIZZA!
BUY ONE & GET ONE FREE

Specify Original "Golden Braided" or new "Thin Style" Crust

SPECIAL COUPON

PYRAMID PIZZA
MONDAY MANIA

Buy Any PYRAMID PIZZA & Get
The Second Pizza (of equal value)

FREE!

Good Mondays Only

Delivery—
Fast, Friendly & Free!
539-4888

12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

We Pile It On!

© 1987 Pyramid Piza, Inc.

2 Good To Be True
2 of VISTA'S Corndogs/Reg. Fry
$2.00

Two of Vista's famous homemade corndogs and a regular fry — only $2.00

Vista
DRIVE IN 1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

Vista
EXPRESS
Village Plaza Shopping Center

Music labs to perform all styles of jazz

By Mary Skinner
Collegian Reporter

The KSU Jazz Labs B and C will perform their only concert of the semester 8 p.m. Tuesday in All Faiths Chapel. There is no admission charge.

Ben Rohrer, instructor of music and director of Jazz Lab B, said it will be a well-balanced concert with different styles of jazz represented, including slow and fast swing, funk and bossa nova.

"The band deals with different stylistic elements such as hard swing and laid-back swing," said Scott Freeby, graduate student in music and Jazz Lab C director. "Laid-back is when you smile while listening to it."

Jazz Lab B will perform six pieces during the program, Paul Clark's "Chuckles," Dave Black's "Singin' Samba," Lennie Niehaus' "Ease On Down," Pete Jackson's "Awright, Awright," Mike Barone's "Legs and Thighs" and Gordon Goodwin's "Omaha."

Jazz Lab C will perform five pieces, including Niehaus' "True Blue" and "Contessa," Sammy Nestico's "Travelin' Home," and Paul Clark's "Nightfall."

The program will conclude with Jazz Lab C's performance of Nick Ayoub's "Pomod." The piece deals with a more free jazz sound, challenging the listeners and players by using tension and release throughout the piece.

The concert provides an opportunity for the audience to hear jazz and for everyone to have a good time, Freeby said.

"I hope the audience will enjoy it," said Kathy Wogan, senior in music education.

"The composer of the piece has one message to be conveyed, and the performers convey that to the audience while also being able to have fun with it," she said.

Freeby said that there will be

■ See JAZZ, Page 10

Lafene doctor visits Romania, helps orphanages

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

One Lafene Health Center doctor is helping to improve Romania's orphanages that have been run with more control than compassion for 40 years.

A country that had been deprived of practicing religious beliefs for 40 years, a president that allowed only 25-watt light bulbs and children who were required to publicly praise that president were all aspects of one Eastern Bloc country.

That was Romania until the revolution one year ago.

Conditions are improving, but the country is still in poor economical shape. Westerners are helping in many different ways.

Dr. Charles Bascom and his wife, Kay, traveled to Romania last summer to join a group called Ogape Austria. Their goal was to help improve the orphanages in Romania. The group focused on two ideas for the orphanages' improvement.

The first was to repair and make additions to the plumbing.

"This consisted of a semitruck of supplies from Germany to repair and add to the facilities," Charles Bascom said.

The equipment in one orphanage had been in use since the building was built in 1937, Kay Bascom said.

Second, the group visited the children for two hours in the morning and two hours in the afternoon to give them personal attention.

"The orphanages are run with control instead of compassion. The whole nation has been under control — a country where compassion is a luxury, where it is a non-essential. Orphanages know part of what happened," Charles Bascom said.

Stefan Toma, head of an international aid society called World Vision, addressed the problem of Romania's unwanted orphans in a USA Today article titled "Maryland doctor gives 'irrecoverables' a chance."

"In Africa, children might be starving for food, but never starving for love," Toma said.

The small amount of interaction between staff and the children creates a sense of control, unlike what American children are used to, Charles Bascom said.

"We walked in, and there was silence. A very startling sense of control," he said.

The orphanages are separated into three age groups: birth to three years, three to six years and then six years and up.

Bascom said one orphanage director told him that the average vocabulary at the end of three years was five to 20 words.

The orphanages were in need of even the simplest things, like soap, Kay Bascom said.

Bascom also served as medical director on the trip.

As a group, they were in charge of the distribution of medical supplies, which were in short supply.

"The physicians were in place, but medicine was in short supply. So we were in charge of distribution of sample medicine from Germany and Austria to the professionals for further distribution," Charles Bascom said.

The Bascoms said this was not an easy task, because of the economy's poor shape and a large black market. Bascom said it was challenging for him and his co-workers to find reliable professionals to distribute the supplies.

"There was a problem trying to find reliable professionals that would not abuse the supplies for personal profit," Charles Bascom said.

Another problem was that AIDS and hepatitis had spread throughout Romania's orphanages. Charles Bascom said this began with the Romanian president's program to increase the population. He explained that the doctors were held responsible and penalized for the deaths of children under the age of one year.

This resulted in the doctors giving sick infants mini-transfusions. These were thought to increase survival chances by Romanians, Charles Bascom said.

Romania also didn't admit to the presence of AIDS in the country, Charles Bascom said. And the problem increased as the blood came from ports where AIDS was present.

Nondisposable syringes also increased the spreading rate of hepatitis B and AIDS through the infant population. Because of the absence of oral penicillin, shots were given several times daily to sick children, far more than in the United States.

A central planning system in Romania was set by the government on

J. Matthew Rhea/Collegian

Dr. Charles Bascom, student health physician at Lafene Student Health Center, has spent time in many east African countries as a volunteer physician. He spent last summer in Romania where he picked up a beret.

its basis of what supplies were needed. Medical supplies such as oral penicillin and disposable syringes were not included.

"The needs in that society are like a dresser drawer; socks in one, shirts in another. If you go to the dresser for socks, nothing will be there; and it won't come," Charles Bascom said.

His brother, Dr. James Bascom, a K-State graduate, and his wife, Dr. Barbara Bascom, are both in Romania for two years helping in the orphanages.

"There is a integrated system being set up with the medical schools and the orphanages," Kay Bascom said. "There will be four cities involved to start with."

Charles Bascom has been involved with helping needy groups for several years. Since 1981 he has taken leave from his job at Lafene for five summers.

He has traveled abroad to help in Somalia and Sudan to help with Ethiopian refugees, and he also has worked in hunger camps in Ethiopia.

His wife has joined him on two trips, the last one to Ethiopia in 1988 and to Romania in 1990.

"Why do I do this? My answer lies in part in the fact that our doing and being are reflections of the people we spend time with. Having a friendship

■ See BASCOM, Page 10

Winter Coats
30% Off

The feeling is casual - The look is sophisticated

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO HRS Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 9:00
539-1319 Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

PREGNANT?
NEED HELP?

For confidential
help call

Birthright
FREE Pregnancy Tests

523 S. 17th Old Town Mall
537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

Super Deals Menu

49¢ EACH

Taco
Bean Taco
Soft Pinto Burrito

Amigos

BLACK BRAS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

Tri-County
Property Management

Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie

1,2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available

1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

Christmas Gifts
for a serious work-out!

Air Trainer SC High for the ultimate body workout

- for weight training
- for court sports
- for light running
- for aerobic activities
- for men & women

reg. $104
$89.98

When the work-out is over . . .

Save $5 on Baggies!

Present this ad to obtain these savings.

SPORTS PAGE★

Limited to stock-on-hand.

Manhattan Town Center
776-1919

Offer ends
12/9/90

BAYSTREET AND THE PIT— Elite Strippers

Female Mon. Dec. 3

$4 in advance

Male Tues. Dec. 4

Shows start at 9:30 p.m.

$5 at the door

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Life fulfillment often obscured by choices

Every possible thing about being human is so permanent and temporary. It's like a ghost in marble, erased but unforgotten. Life ends individually and some soul disappears, yet every moment was lived and has happened. Choosing the vehicle of living, one that would make our own experience that of human fullness, often becomes obscured by the misleading allowances those different vehicles grant us. I understand that I should act as if now I make the final movement. This final motion should be the most perfect possible.

What causes a gnawing uncertainty for me is the conviction that I should become an active part of the alleviating of suffering and the creation of opportunities for those less fortunate, yet at the same time to be a single human being realizing many of the privileged opportunities I'm allowed.

I'm American and have the common

American opportunity to enjoy a somewhat luxuriant existence compared to so many others in this world. The awareness. Many people are starving. Many people live their lives full of suffering. People live without the same opportunities available to me right now. People that have no chance of acquiring an education, landing a nice job, getting married, buying a house, having two cars, two kids and living forgetfully and comfortably.

The problem. How can I allow myself the fulfillment of some of these privileged opportunities while there exists people in circumstances of total unfairness? How do I allow myself these privileges and deal with the guilt I feel for experiencing these privileges? How can I allow myself the simple joys of privacy, comfort, and forgetfulness?

There seem to be two possible ways for me to deal with this. One approach would be for me to deny myself all of these privileges and dedicate myself entirely and altruistically to the world. To become an ascetic of a sort and only allow myself those things that every soul in the world is able to experience. That is, to not allow myself any of those characteristic American self-absorbed pleasures. The house, kids, etc.

Kevin
Zwink

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Some might say that by approaching it this way, I might not be in the best possible position to contribute to the solutions in this world. Also, if I believe that these realized opportunities have meaning, then I should allow them in my life and then work to contribute to the solutions in the world.

This leads us to the second approach. I should allow myself the fulfillment of these opportunities and at the same time contribute altruistically to the world. But what of the guilt I feel when I experience joy and happiness? A guilt evoked by the feeling that I don't deserve the joy and happiness because of the very fact that there is always someone in the world experiencing pain and suffering.

This makes me think of two situations. One is the person who has allowed their American opportunities to be realized. This person holds a prestigious position in society. This person has the kids, cars, house and, at the least, lives comfortably. When can we point to this person and say that certain realized privileges they are experiencing are selfish and totally inconsiderate? Can we justify comfortable living because that person is at the same time contributing to charity or humanitarian causes?

The other situation is the person that deny themselves all these privileges. Their ascetic approach may not allow them to have the resources to contribute significantly to the alleviation of the suffering in the world. It may be true that the ascetic benevolent soul would use realized privileges to the advantage of all that lack. But still could this soul justify his privileges by his contributions?

I suppose either approach is fine and that the all-important thing is the way one deals with the guilt associated with joy and happiness. A friend of mine read me a passage from a book on purpose in life in which the only great matter of consequence was the spirit behind each individual action. A common, yet often overlooked, bit of wisdom.

EDITORIALS

Former University president forgotten

One of the most important presidents to lead K-State was Thomas Will. He served for about two years. From 1897 to 1899, he started what was then Kansas State Agricultural College on the road to becoming Kansas State University.

There is no building named for President Will. There probably won't be. He's part of the Populist past that Republican Kansas would like to remain dead and forgotten.

In the late 1890s, Kansas, like the rest of the nation, was swept by the Populist movement, a reaction, especially in agricultural states, to the Industrial Revolution.

Unlike in the rest of the nation, however, in Kansas the Populists gained political power, capturing the governor's office and the Legislature.

As vacancies opened on the board of trustees overseeing the college, Populists were appointed to replace Republicans. Pretty soon, George T. Fairchild (sound familiar?) was demoted to professor, and Will, an economics professor, was promoted to president.

But the Republican Party in Kansas recovered quickly, regaining control of state government in two years.

Again, and quickly, board vacancies opened and Republicans were appointed. Will was out as president and professor.

Ernest R. Nichols (also sound familiar?) was appointed president.

Populism was embarrassing to Kansans. As a matter of fact, William Allen White's most famous editorial, "What's the matter with Kansas?" is an attack on the Populists.

And so, Will's contributions go unacknowledged. During his presidency, Will divided the college's single curriculum into four separate ones, eventually leading to the eight colleges that make K-State a university.

In the current Long-Range Development Plan for the University, there are sites for an art museum, an enrollment center, multilevel and underground garages. There are also those spots labeled things like "Building Site 4."

None of them will be named for Thomas Will because he was a Populist. And the Populists of that day thought the power of the state, embodying the sovereign will of the people, especially the "little people," should be used to protect those people from the abuses of big industry and business. For a while, they were in charge. Politicians, professional and academic, don't like to remind outsiders that they can win. That's why they don't want to remember Thomas Will.

Engineering fee explained

I first want to thank the Collegian for allowing me to be a guest columnist and to have the opportunity to present my ideas on the engineering equipment fee.

I also want to clarify the issue on which the engineering students will be voting. It is for a $15 per-credit-hour fee for engineering courses, starting in either spring 1991 or fall 1991. The engineering deans in Kansas are recommending a fall starting date. If the vote is positive, I will be meeting with the Engineering Student Council to develop a position paper for the Board of Regents requesting a flat $100 per-semester fee per student.

The obvious questions are, "Why? Isn't the College of Engineering at K-State an outstanding college today?"

The College of Engineering at K-State is an outstanding college today. It does have an excellent undergraduate program, although it is now starting to show a little wear and tear around the edges. And this is the bottom line: it will not be able to maintain the quality of its programs or its competitive position among other colleges of engineering if it doesn't get the fee or its equivalent. The programs in the college will have great difficulty with the accreditation issue if they do not have an ongoing support base for equipment and related maintenance.

The colleges of engineering in Kansas are becoming "islands of poverty" in the region and in the country. We are the only engineering colleges in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Colorado, Oklahoma and Arkansas that do not have a fee or budget line for equipment. All but Nebraska have some kind of fee. Missouri, for example, charges a $23.50 per-credit-hour fee.

I also want to emphasize that the only issue before the regents in December is the engineering equipment fee. There is no other. A letter from the executive director of the regents, Stanley Koplik, states this very clearly. "I agree with Don's (Rathbone) assertion, but would urge you to make the following statement to your engineering students. The alternative $2 per credit hour fee throughout the system has not yet received the formality of first reading by the Kansas Board of Regents. In my judgment, this particular alternative is no more valid than any other discussion topic at this time. Whether it is likely to be voted favorably by the regents invites a guess that I would not attempt to offer. The proposal before the regents consists of an engineering fee at the University of Kansas, K-State and Wichita State University to be implemented spring 1991. Your students should be advised that to guess on any other outcome beyond a vote on the proposed engineering fee is to en-

Donald Rathbone

GUEST COLUMNIST

gage in risky business."

If the engineering fee is defeated, it will be one full year before fees can be discussed again. On our campus, we will have a different student body president and a different Student Senate. It should also be noted that the last four student body presidents and their student senators have been strictly reactionary and negative towards the engineering-equipment fee issue. I sometimes had the impression that it was one of their oaths of office. They had not proposed anything in its place until a week or two ago when it appeared that the engineering fee may pass. When I go back in history even further, I know that we have never received any ongoing base support for equipment during my time as dean, 17 years, nor has the college had these kinds of funds in its 92-year history.

This tells me that the probability of sufficient funding from the Legislature is literally zero in the near future. If and when the state has a good fiscal year, they almost always concentrate on salaries (and should) with occasional allocations for the library, campus-wide computing, etc. Any equipment monies from the state have been very modest and are totally insufficient for all the colleges. Unfortunately, the 1990s do not bode well for us in higher education for state funding.

The good news relative to student inputs is that the engineering Student Council for the past two years has endorsed and supported the engineering and equipment fee. In 1987-88, when I first proposed the fee, I talked to more than 14 different engineering student groups. Those students voted 80 percent in favor of the fee.

The college annually spends more than $1 million per year for equipment and equipment maintenance. This number has grown considerably over the past 10 years. The fee that is being requested would supply roughly one-half of the annual costs for the college's equipment needs. The other half would still have to be found through outside sources such as federal agency equipment grants, sponsored-research overhead and private industry. It should be noted that private industry has been our major source of support over the past 10 years. With the increasing equipment costs and the quick turn-around times for obsolescence of high-tech equipment, our equipment problems are accelerating. We also do not have the monies to add new laboratories which are needed, e.g., fiber optics, composite materials, HVAC systems, process control, surveying and thermal hydraulics. I have a list from the department heads of over 50 requests for major renovations or new laboratories in emerging technologies.

The college currently has more than 50 major laboratories plus many small individual laboratories. Engineering is an extremely laboratory-intensive program. In some other academic fields, you can have an outstanding department and faculty and the usual support resources such as classrooms, overhead projectors, etc. Most disciplines need some computer equipment as well. In engineering, this is not the case. We need outstanding faculty and outstanding laboratories and computer facilities.

Finally, some have suggested the College of Engineering is being selfish and encouraging elitism. I don't deny that we are trying to improve the College of Engineering. I don't deny that we are trying to maintain our quality and our accreditation. I do, however, disagree that we are doing it at the expense of others. If engineering gets an equipment fee, it is conceivable that others could get a fee as well, if they also meet the regents' criteria for the same. That's a big if, I might add. Also, the very modest amounts that engineering has received in the past from Anderson Hall, granted they are minimum, could be used for other programs at the University. I don't believe that moving one unit forward impedes the others. In fact, this approach is one way to achieve excellence. First, work on one program, then, concentrate on another.

Finally, a word about process. The regents have clearly stated the process that must be followed by a university to receive a special academic restricted use fee (the engineering fee). Their criteria reads as follows: "Before any proposed special academic fee is considered by the board, it shall be reviewed by the Council of Chief Academic Officers, the Council of Presidents and the Student Advisory Committee." Thus, the student input comes from the Student Advisory Committee. The campus student input comes from the Student Advisory Committee the campus student body presidents, and not through an individual campus' student senate.

Don Rathbone is the dean of the College of Engineering.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Kuger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Veno
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
REVIEWERS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Walz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimosheas, Elynn Jones, Erik Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seaborn, Kevin Zwink
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
STAFF CARTOONISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Kuger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Veno

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Punnett
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Deanna Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minida Dowdy, John Fulkerson, Norm LeComte, James Seymour

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7107.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6561. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Diploma final step in grad process

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Graduation means many things to different students. Some just want to get out, while others want to enjoy the ceremony they've worked so hard to get to. Faculty and staff have their own duties for graduation. Students first must apply for graduation. This should be done within the first four weeks of regular semesters and during the first two weeks of summer courses, said Janie Kidd, transcript analyst for the College of Business Administration. This is best so that if there is a problem, students can add a course, Kidd said. If students do not meet the deadline, they should still try to apply as soon as possible. "If they don't meet the deadline, it doesn't shut them out," said Bill Feyerharm, assistant dean of the College of Arts and Sciences. "But we like to get the ball rolling early to get their requirements worked out." Processing graduation forms is slow because analysts must check for at least a 2.0 grade point average, class substitutions, transferred and failed classes as well as un-planned for or untaken electives. Kidd is in charge of evaluating graduation applications within the College of Business Administration.

"I approve or disapprove," Kidd said. She usually works directly with the students on problems with their transfer work or graduation requirements. The number of students graduating in each college compared with the number of people working on the graduation forms also slows the process. "In this college, in December we may have 300 graduating students, and in May, 600 students, with one person doing it," Feyerharm said. "Secondly, for some students it takes a long time because we think they are on the right track and then they'll change courses." Required hours for graduation vary for each college and major. Feyerharm said that usually 120 credit hours are needed to graduate from the College of Arts and Sciences. Those who fail a required class during their last semester can still attend graduation. Those students are allowed to go through the ceremony, and they will receive a blank diploma cover. "We aren't there with a great big hook pulling them off," Feyerharm said. Other people besides students and transcript analysts work on graduation behind the scenes. ■ See GRADUATION, Page 10

Christmas Golf Sale!!

Entire Inventory 10-50% OFF

- Golf Clubs Men's & Ladies
- Sweaters
- Wood Headcovers
- Golf socks
- Golf Shirts

- Windbreaker Jackets
- Shoes
- Golf Bags
- Golf Balls

- Golf gloves
- Umbrellas
- Putters & Wedges
- Pull Carts

STAGG HILL GOLF CLUB PRO SHOP 539-1041

We have what you need to make
Your Gift Special!!

Gift Certificates Available

8am-6pm Seven Days A Week

1 Mile East of Manhattan Airport on K-18

* Lessons For Spring

SHARE THE WARMTH OF Christmas

Our DIRECT buying makes our prices BELOW our competition's sale prices!!!
LARGE inventory to choose from OR restyle, remount and repair your existing jewelry
rhinestone jeweler
Layaway and payment plans available

K-STATE STUDENT DISCOUNT OFFERED with ID

Receive FREE—lovely strand of fresh water pearls with purchase of $100 or more.

Diamond Connection
QUALITY TELLS—PRICE SELLS

Effective Dec. 3rd
Open evenings till 8:30 p.m.
Sunday 1:00-5:00

417 Poyntz Avenue
(913) 539-3225
Manhattan, Kansas 66502

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at
the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

TECHNOLOGY
MAJORS—
COMPUTE
A BIGGER FUTURE.

Add up the advantages of Air Force ROTC
as you prepare to study science or engineering
—and you'll discover careers in laser, satellite or other technologies.
You'll also discover how to achieve leadership skills. Call now.

DEPT OF
AEROSPACE STUDIES
(913)532-6600

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

SKIERS!

See us for all your ski needs!

Downhill Equipment Rental
X-C Sales and Rental

Jackets

Underwear

Socks

Fanny Packs

T-Necks

Pants/Bibs

Pullovers

Sunglasses

Gloves

Sweaters

OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

1111 Moro

Aggieville

539-5639

Dec. Hrs: M-Th 9-8, Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5

Just Do It

Have a PURPLE & WHITE CHRISTMAS!

- KSU Tees & Crews
- KSU Sweaters
- Infant Wear
- Gift Items
- Greek Gifts
- Jewelry
- Bart Simpson Tees
- Russell Sportswear

"WILDCAT SPIRIT"

716 N. Manhattan
in Aggieville
776-5461

X-MAS HOURS:
Mon—Thurs 9:30-8:00
Fri—Sat 9:30-5:30
Sun 1:00-5:00

KSU Marketing Club
PRESENTS:

VOLUME SHOE

Monday, Dec. 3, 7 p.m.
Union 212

All Majors Welcome

CONDE'S Audio & Video HOLIDAY PRICE

150 DAYS • NO PAYMENT/NO INTEREST*
FREE DELIVERY • FREE INSTALLATION
EVERYTHING IS ON SALE!

ONKYO

TA-2000

Cassette Deck

- Full logic transport
- Dolby B & C
- HX PRO
- Remote interactive

$199

ONKYO

TXSV90 PRO
Receiver

Features like:

- Pro logic surround sound
- 110 watts/channel
- Programmable remote
- Dynamic bass expander

YOU MUST SEE THIS RECEIVER!

SONY

KV-13TR24
Trinitron
Monitor/Receiver

- Trinitron Mirrorblack picture tube
- A/V Window on-screen control
- Cable Compatible express tuning
- RM-781 Remote Commander remote control and much more!

$299

*13" screen

ONKYO

DX-1400

Compact Disc Player

- 8 times oversampling
- 18 Bit D/A Converters
- 20 track programming
- Time edit functions

$179

SONY

KV-19TR20
Trinitron
Monitor/Receiver

- Mirrorblack Picture Tube
- Sleep Timer • 19" screen
- Jump Channel remote control
- A/V Window on-screen control
- Cable compatible express tuning

$399

SONY

KV-27TS30
Trinitron Stereo
Monitor/Receiver

- Trinitron Microblack Picture Tube
- Direct Video/Stereo Audio Input
- S-Video(Y/C)Input • 27" screen
- Auto Timer/Channel Block remote control

$699

RCA Model VR671HF

- Hi-Fi Stereo VCR w/ 4-Head Video System
- Built-in TV Broadcast Stereo Tuner
- Double-azimuth 4-head video system
- Field still special effects

$399

TX822

Receiver

- 50 watts/channel
- 2 mode APR Tuning
- 30 AM/FM Presets
- Loudness Control
- Full Remote Control

$229

ONKYO

TX-844 Receiver

- 60 watts/channel
- 3 mode APR Tuning
- Selective tone control
- Sleep timer
- 40 AM/FM Presets
- Room to room remote capability

$299

- Fusion Rack System
- 100 watt amplifier
- AM/FM tuner
- Double Cassette Deck
- 5 Disc CD Changer
- 2 way 12" tower speakers
- Oak Rack
- Full Remote Control

ONKYO Fusion A/V 900 $999

McCain

Chanticleer

Thursday, December 6, 8 p.m.
Welcome the holiday season with a Christmas concert by America's premiere a cappella vocal ensemble!
Chanticleer's 12 singers perform works that span five centuries and include liturgical music, traditional carols, and gospel hymns. Their voices range from countertenor to bass and their remarkable vocal precision has won Chanti-cleer worldwide acclaim as "an orchestra of voices."

"One of the most beautiful musical experiences in my life. The audience was mesmerized." (Robert Shaw, dean of American choral conductors)

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

Presented in part with support from the Fine Arts fund and from the Friends of McCain.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) To charge tickets by phone, call (913) 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
10 AM-8 PM MONDAY-SATURDAY
SUNDAY 1-5 PM

776-4703
307 Poyntz
Downtown Manhattan

It's a Whole New World at
CONDES
QUALITY PLUGGED IN...
AUDIO • VIDEO • TV

*No payments are required during promotion period. Finance Charges and Insurance
Charges will accrue on the account.
However if the purchase is paid in full within the promotional period, all accrued charges will be waived. (On approved credit.)

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS MONDAY

Arkansas delivers knockout

Razorbacks run up 112 points in dropping Wildcats to 2-1

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

It happens in boxing. The champion lands a flurry of punches to the challenger. The challenger stumbles, recovers and connects with a couple of his own. But in the end, the champ delivers too many mighty blows.

K-State discovered it can happen in a basketball game, too.

No. 3 Arkansas supplied the flurries, the Wildcats responded occasionally, but the Razorbacks used their clout to win 112-88 Saturday in Fayetteville, Ark.

It was the Hogs' heavyweight, junior Oliver Miller, who packed the biggest punch. The 6-foot-9, 275-pound center posted career highs with 22 points and 16 rebounds.

"We didn't have a very good answer for him," K-State coach Dana Altman said.

Miller used his bulky frame to give Arkansas several second-shot opportunities, positioning himself underneath the basket for offensive rebounds and layups.

"Oliver Miller had a sensational game," Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said. "He did everything well. He scored, blocked shots and had a career high in rebounds ... and he wasn't feeling good."

Miller scored 10 points during the Hogs' first big run late in the opening half to help Arkansas stretch a six-point margin into a 54-38 lead at intermission. Forward Ron Huery hit consecutive three-pointers, and Miller added a layup off a feed from Lee Mayberry just before the buzzer to cap the rally.

The irony to the big deficit was that it came in perhaps K-State's best half of the early season. The 'Cats shot 51 percent, scored on seven of their first nine possessions, and were able to create easy shots against Arkansas' tenacious full-court pressure. On the flip side, the Razorbacks beat the 'Cats down the court on several occasions and converted high-percentage shots before K-State could set up its 3-2 zone defense. After Arkansas hit its first three shots to take a 7-2 lead, the 'Cats pulled within two points on four occasions. Junior guard Todd Day, one of five Razorbacks in double figures with 20 points, stopped the first threat with a three-pointer.

Turnovers by John Rettiger and Marcus Zeigler ended the next two, and a three-pointer by Eddie Murry gave the Hogs a 34-30 lead with just under seven minutes remaining in the first half.

K-State never got closer.

Arkansas, which shot 55 percent for the game, took advantage of four straight turnovers by the 'Cats to put the game out of reach. After Jeff Wires cut the lead to 63-51 with 15:50 remaining, the Hogs went on a 15-3 run, led by Miller's six points, to build a 78-54 margin.

The Hogs topped the 100-point mark with four minutes remaining on a follow-up by Day. Arkansas' biggest lead was 108-79 on two free throws by Roosevelt Wallace.

"This early in the season, our basketball team just wasn't ready for a game like that," Altman said. "We didn't handle their pressure very well, and at times we didn't rebound very well."

Jean Derouillere scored a game-high 27 points for K-State, with 19 coming in the second half. Wires added a career-high 17, and Rettiger had 12.

The Hogs' offensive output tied the highest ever achieved against K-State, matching Oklahoma in a 112-95 win over the 'Cats in 1988.

K-State, 2-1, will play four of its five remaining games before Christmas at home. The 'Cats meet the Wyoming Cowboys at Bramlage Coliseum on Wednesday in a 7:35 p.m. contest.

K-STATE (88)

Amerson 4-7-0-8, Howard 3-4-2-28, Rettiger 4-8-4-12, Wires 7-12-3-4-17, Derouillere 1-1-18 4-6-27, Shadd 0-1-1-2-1, King 2-5-1-2-5, Zeigler 1-2-0-0-2, Sams 2-7-1-2-5, Fritz 1-1-1-2-3. Totals 35-65 17-25 88.

ARKANSAS (112)

Day 7-16-3-4-20, Morris 5-8-5-8-15, Miller 9-12 4-4-22, Huery 6-12-0-0-14, Mayberry 3-8-0-0-7, Wallace 6-12-2-2-15, Fletcher 1-1-1-1-3, Murry 2-4-0-0-6, Biley 3-4-2-2-8, Davis 0-0-2-2-2. Totals 42-77 19-23 112.

Halftime — Arkansas 54, K-State 38. Three-point goals — K-State 1-3 (Derouillere 1-1, Sams 0-1, Zeigler 0-1), Arkansas 9-24 (Day 3-9, Huery 2-5, Mayberry 1-3, Wallace 1-3, Murry 2-4). Rebounds — K-State 34 (Wires 6), Arkansas 38 (Miller 16). Assists — K-State 16 (Amerson 5), Arkansas 23 (Mayberry 7). Total fouls — K-State 19, Arkansas 20. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none. A — 9,368.

Chiefs score early, often in rout; DeBerg still on impressive streak

By The Associated Press

FOXBORO, Mass. — It took Steve DeBerg a long time to establish himself as a full-time starting NFL quarterback, but almost no time to destroy the New England Patriots.

The 14-year veteran threw an 86-yard touchdown on his first pass, a 61-yard completion on his second and piled up 212 passing yards in the first 10 minutes as the Kansas City Chiefs rolled to a 37-7 win on Sunday.

"In the first half," DeBerg said, "that's as well as I've ever seen an offense function for a full half."

DeBerg, playing on his fifth NFL team, threw for 312 yards in the first half, highlighted by touchdowns of 86 yards to Stephane Paige and 11 yards to Robb Thomas. The Chiefs scored on their first five possessions and led 23-0 at halftime.

"We just wanted to back them off early in the game with long passes," said DeBerg, who began the day as the AFC's third-ranked passer after spending his career alternating between being a starter and a backup. "We came into the game with the full intention to run the football."

"It just so happened that the pass plays we were calling ended up as big plays, so we stuck with it."

The Chiefs (8-4), who began the day tied with the Los Angeles Raiders for the AFC West lead, are seeking their first division title in 19 years.

"The only team that can keep us from going to the championship is ourselves," said Barry Word, who led all rushers with 112 yards on 19 carries.

The Patriots (1-11) set a team record with their 10th consecutive loss.

Asked if his team had reached its low-water mark of the season, New England coach Rod Rust said, "I hope it is. I thought we hit it a long time ago."

Kansas City also was dominant on defense, adding six sacks to its league-leading total of 42 and intercepting two passes.

"It's a lot easier when the quarterback has some more time but you keep trying," Patriots rookie quarterback Tommy Hodson said.

DeBerg had plenty of time. He was sacked just once and set a team record with his seventh straight game without an interception.

On DeBerg's first pass, Paige said,

"I got a step on (cornerback Ronnie Lippett) and just ran away. I don't believe I have ever scored on a first play of a game."

After punting on their first series of the third quarter, the first time they had failed to score, the Chiefs got their league-record sixth blocked punt and made the score 30-0 two plays later on Christian Okoye's 1-yard run. Okoye scored on another 1-yard run with 7:29 left.

The attendance of 26,280 was the smallest in the league this season. The previous low was 28,924 for Indianapolis' game at New England Nov. 11.

DeBerg completed 15 of 21 passes for 331 yards as the Chiefs piled up 471 yards compared to 231 for the Patriots. Kansas City scored on drives of 86, 80, 70, 60 and 59 yards.

Three ended in field goals of 45, 32 and 19 yards by Nick Lowery, who tied his previous best streak of 13 successful field goals.

Deron Cherry's first interception of the year, in the end zone, sparked an 80-yard march capped by Thomas' touchdown 30 seconds before halftime. DeBerg completed four passes for 41 yards on the last four plays.

The Patriots avoided their second shutout in three weeks on Hodson's 2-yard scoring pass to Marv Cook with 25 seconds left in the third quarter.

The blocked punt with 10:34 left in the third quarter was the fourth of the year by Albert Lewis. On the next play, DeBerg threw a 13-yard completion to Alfredo Roberts before Okoye powered in for the Chiefs' sixth score in seven possessions.

New England, which failed to score on its first series in 11 of its 12 games, has given up points on nine of its opponents' 12 opening possessions.

Kansas City, winner of three consecutive games and four of its last five, had clear sailing from the second play of the game.

On the first, Todd McNair returned the opening kickoff 15 yards. Then DeBerg faked a handoff to Okoye, freezing Lippett. Paige ran by him, caught the ball at about mid-field and raced in for the longest reception of his eight-year career. DeBerg also has a 90-yard scoring pass this season.

David Mayes/Staff

Sophomore Jason Meredith jumps on his second attempt in the long jump at Saturday's indoor meet in Ahearn Field House. Meredith placed third with a jump of 22 feet, 5 1/4 inches.

Track meet provides chance to show skill

By Todd Fertig
Sports Reporter

The track team received a taste of things to come at the KSU All-Comers track meet in Ahearn Field House Saturday.

Encouraging performances by newcomers and improvements by returnees gave the team an optimistic outlook on the upcoming season.

"This was just a great test of our advancement during the fall," K-State assistant coach Cliff Rovelto said following the meet. "We are in a great position for this early in the season. We put up some marks today that would be good in the Big Eight and even nationally, and we're still three, four months away."

Both the men and the women gave Rovelto reasons for such optimism. Competing against themselves and representatives of several community colleges, the team impressed Rovelto with its performance in various running and field events.

For many of the participants, it was the first opportunity of the season to compete. Most of the distance runners rested Saturday from the cross country season.

The performances of the day were turned in by high jumpers Connie Teaberry and Gwen Wentland. Both Teaberry, who scored a fourth-place finish in the national meet last season, and Wentland, a freshman from Michigan, cleared 6-0, marks good enough to qualify both jumpers for the national meet next spring.

"That kind of performance this early in the season — what can you say," Rovelto said. "Connie at this meet last year only jumped 5-8, and she went on to jump 6-2 at nationals. To be doing this well so early in the season is pretty unbelievable."

Two of the top performances on the men's side came from to members who have been with the team for just a couple of weeks. Following the football season, Wildcat running back Antoine Dulan and defensive back Thomas Randolph joined the squad in time to record victories, including Randolph's meet record in the 55-meter dash with a time of 6.28 seconds.

Though national-caliber shot putter Angie Miller and several more of the team's top returners did not participate, newcomers took up the slack.

For several members of the team, getting a taste of regular-season competition was a welcome change from the regular fall workouts.

"Being in a meet is just different than in practice," Teaberry said. "You really get the adrenaline flowing in a meet, and you're able to push yourself a little harder. In practice, it's just you against yourself most of the time, and you have to stay really focused to see personal improvement."

"I think a lot of us are really ready to get on with the spring season, but I don't think we've ever let up or gotten a bad attitude at any time during the fall."

The All-Comers meet gauges the improvement of the team during the fall and wraps up much of the team's work for the semester. Rovelto called the next month, the period in which many of the athletes will be on their own to continue training until they return from Christmas break, a critical time for the team.

"Some of the team will be gone for only two weeks or so, but some will be gone for almost a month," Rovelto said. "The ones who are really going to be the best will be the ones dedicated enough to keep working, even if they are on their own."

Dettmer's 1st game after winning award less than impressive

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU — This wasn't the way Ty Detmer had imagined it.

He had hoped to follow up his Heisman Trophy victory by leading No. 4 Brigham Young over Hawaii in a victory that could help propel the Cougars to a national championship. Instead, he threw four interceptions as the Rainbows toppled BYU 59-28 Saturday night.

"I can't enjoy it," Detmer said. Detmer was taunted by Hawaii fans yelling, "The Rocket should have got it," referring to his closest Heisman challenger, Raghib "Rocket" Ismail of Notre Dame.

Hawaii receiver Jeff Snyder celebrated a 17-yard touchdown reception by assuming the Heisman Trophy stance for a television camera.

"I don't know of anyone in the country that's more deserving," BYU coach LaVell Edwards said. "He not only put up the numbers and had a great year that way, but he's won a conference championship, and he's got his team ranked very high nationally."

Detmer received 316 first-place votes and 1,482 points in nationwide voting by 917 sports journalists. Notre Dame's all-purpose star, Ismail, was second with 237 first-place votes and 1,177 points.

Colorado running back Eric Bieniemy (114 and 798), Virginia quarterback Shawn Moore (46 and 465) and Houston quarterback David Klingler (7 and 125) followed.

Rounding out the Top 10 finishers were Virginia wide receiver Herman Moore, Washington running back Greg Lewis, Miami quarterback

Craig Erickson, Texas A&M running back Darren Lewis and Army's Mike Mayweather.

Players receive three points for a first-place vote, two for second and one for third.

Detmer has set or tied 25 NCAA passing and total offense records and, if he plays another year, could break virtually every NCAA career-passing record.

Despite his shaky performance against Hawaii, Detmer's 319 yards allowed him to set the NCAA single-season passing yardage record. His 5,187 yards were 47 more than Klingler, who passed for a single-game record of 716 yards in his final game against Arizona State.

Detmer threw for three touchdowns against Hawaii, giving him 85, passing former BYU star Jim McMahon's career mark of 84.

Detmer has put up big numbers in his three years of collegiate football. He is already second on the NCAA's career-yardage list with 11,000 — 425 behind all-time leader Todd Santos of San Diego State. He has thrown for more than 300 yards in 24 consecutive games.

Detmer, a 6-foot, 175-pound junior from San Antonio, is the 10th underclassman to win the Heisman and the third junior in a row to claim the award. Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State won in 1988, and Houston's Andre Ware won in 1989.

Detmer says he'll be back to try it again in 1991.

The Heisman "is just an extra benefit to this season," he said. "It shouldn't change whether I'm coming back or not."

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Football awards presented

Awards for the past season were presented to members of the K-State football team at the annual football banquet Saturday evening in the Union Ballroom.

Big Eight Coach of the Year Bill Snyder presented the awards to members of the team based on their performance during the season.

Senior quarterback Carl Straw, who moved into second place on the all-time K-State passing charts, was named the offensive MVP. Straw was also honored for the second-consecutive season by receiving the Ken Ochs Pride Award.

Senior linebacker James Enin-Okut and senior defensive back Danny Needham were selected co-defensive MVP's. The outstanding scholar-athlete award was given to tight end Russ Campbell. Long snapper Jon Krull was named the team's outstanding special teams performer.

Center Quentin Neujahr was awarded the outstanding offensive lineman honor, and the outstanding defensive performer award for linemen and linebackers was given to Brooks Barta.

The Purple Pride honor for the walk-on player displaying leadership on and off the field went to defensive end John Butler, and the Red Raider award for the top contributor to the scout team was given to Wayne Krause.

The overachiever award, given to the true freshman with exemplary dedication and work ethic in strength and conditioning training was awarded to tight end Brian Rees.

Jays, Angels make trade

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — The California Angels and Toronto Blue Jays got baseball's winter meetings off to a hot start Sunday, exchanging outfielders Devon White and Junior Felix in a six-player trade, while Terry Pendleton and the Atlanta Braves moved closer to their own big deal.

In a week that could see Bill Doran, Vince Coleman and maybe even Bob Welch on the move, the Angels and Blue Jays began briskly. While it was snowing hard outside at night, California and Toronto were inside announcing the first swap of the season, and the first ever between the clubs.

The Angels sent White, who has been in a three-year hitting slump, and reliever Willie Fraser to Toronto for Felix and young infielder Luis Sojo. Each team will also get a minor leaguer.

White hit .263 with 24 home runs and 87 RBIs in 1987, but has not come close to duplicating those numbers since then. He hit .217 with 11 homers, 44 RBIs and 21 stolen bases last season, and was sent briefly to the minors.

White, however, is a two-time Gold Glove winner, both for his arm and range. And that's why Toronto wanted him, especially after watching George Bell, Mookie Wilson, Felix and others scramble on the artificial-turf at the SkyDome.

KC signs Gibson to 2-year pact

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Kansas City Royals, who appeared to lack clubhouse leadership last season while sinking to sixth place, are hoping high-spirited Kirk Gibson can light their motivational fires.

And Gibson, a 33-year-old outfielder and former National League MVP, is ready to strike the match.

"I play very hard and with a lot of emotion," Gibson said Saturday in a telephone interview after signing a two-year free-agent contract with the Royals. "You've got to stay focused on some of the days when things aren't going so good. All I can say is, I promise you I will play as hard as I can and do everything I can to win ballgames. I'm not a vocal, lecture person. I'm just a leader by example with a lot of desire. And that can be contagious."

Gibson received a thorough physical examination Friday by team physician Dr. Steve Joyce. After earning National League MVP honors with the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1988, the Michigan native was plagued by injuries. He began the 1990 season on the disabled list with a torn left hamstring.

"I think he's going to go to spring training next year in the best physical condition he's had in years," said general manager Herk Robinson.

According to the Kansas City Star, Gibson will receive $3.3 million from the two-year contract.

"If they didn't think I was healthy, the offer wouldn't have stayed on the table," Gibson said. "For the past two springs, I've been in rehab. The rehab is done. I'm excited about being able to go to spring training on the same level as everybody else. In 1989, my manager came to me and said, 'I know you're hurt, but will you play for me?' So I played for him, but it didn't work out. This year, it's going to be different. I feel healthy. My legs are strong."

The Milwaukee Brewers finished second to the Royals, Gibson said. "I broke it down to Milwaukee and Kansas City," he said. "It was hard to call the other people and tell them they finished second."

Royals' manager John Wathan plans to use Gibson primarily as a left-handed designated hitter while occasionally putting him in the outfield.

"What I told the Royals and John is if I'm used properly, I'll have better overall production," Gibson said. "Being a DH on a sometime-basis is appealing to me. I think I'll see a lot of outfield play, though. I think I can be a great asset in the outfield. Some will say I'm not a good outfielder, but I'm a damn good outfielder. I don't think I'm over the hill and a terrible outfielder. After people see me play out there, they'll know."

Gibson rebounded from knee and hamstring injuries to hit .260 in 89 games for the Dodgers last season. Although he was not activated until June 2, he stole 26 bases in 28 attempts.

In his 11-year career, Gibson has a .272 batting average with 192 home runs and 235 stolen bases. His most dramatic hit came in the first game of the 1988 World Series. Gibson limped off the bench with two outs in the ninth inning and hit a two-run, game-winning homer against Oakland.

Gibson's first full season in the big leagues was 1980. He emerged as a star in 1984, when the Detroit Tigers won the World Series.

"He was a great football player at Michigan State, and he brings that intensity level to the baseball field," said Royals' first baseman George Brett, who the day before was named the Royals' 1990 player of the year. "And I think that's one thing that this team lacked, the intensity level day to day. We need some serious faces, especially after the year we had."

Mike Vanzo/Staff

ABOVE: Chong Gi Kim, senior in accounting, returns a volley in a first round-robin match at the City of Manhattan 1-Star Table Tennis Tournament Saturday. Chong Gi lost in the quarterfinals of the under-1400 rated division. BELOW: The K-State Table Tennis Club sponsored the event at City Auditorium and drew its largest field in three years, 67 participants, who competed all day on nine tables.

Table tennis tournament attracts 67 participants

By The Collegian Staff

Manhattan's City Auditorium was filled with table tennis players Saturday, as 67 participants took part in the City of Manhattan 1-Star Table Tennis Tournament.

The open competition was won by Bernie Braun of Kansas City, Mo., who defeated Tre Dinh of Kansas City, Mo., in the final match. Braun won $100, Dinh $50.

Cash purses increased over last year's total for this tourney.

"We increased the purse, and the turnout reflected that increase," said tournament director David Surowski.

Surowski said players from Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma competed in the tourney, which was contested on nine tables in the auditorium.

Agassi hurt in last match, but U.S. takes Davis Cup

By The Associated Press

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Andre Agassi really was injured, even if Darren Cahill didn't think so.

Agassi, whose first-day victory had helped the United States lock up the Davis Cup finals against Australia prior to Sunday's final two singles matches, pulled out of his contest with Cahill after Agassi rallied to win the second set of their match, then abruptly quit with the score 6-4, 4-6.

However, Agassi was later diagnosed at Bayfront Medical Center as having a torn muscle under his breast bone — an injury described by attending Dr. Steve Epstein as very painful.

"I don't know if it was a mockery or not, but if he wasn't injured, it was a disgrace," Cahill said. "It's always good to win, but it's also good to lose with a little guts."

The United States won both of Friday's singles matches and clinched the best-of-five final on Saturday when the doubles team of Rick Leach and Jim Pugh pulled out a four-set victory over the Aussie tandem of Pat Cash and John Fitzgerald. Agassi and Michael Chang gave the Americans the early lead with singles victories on Friday.

It was the United States' 29th Davis Cup title since the international competition began at the turn

"We worked hard for this cup, and we'll treat it with all the dignity it deserves."

—Tom Gorman
U.S. team captain of the century and its first since taking back-to-back cups in 1981-82.

"We worked hard for this cup, and we'll treat it with all the dignity it deserves," U.S. team captain Tom Gorman said during the closing ceremonies.

The U.S. victory meant Sunday's reverse singles pairings on the slow, red clay of the Florida Suncoast Dome were for nothing more than pride.

Cahill's default win and Richard Fromberg's 7-5, 2-6, 6-3, triumph over Chang made the U.S. victory look officially like a squeaker at 3-2.

Agassi, who blamed a previously undisclosed flu for a five-set struggle over Fromberg in his opening match, displayed flashes of baseline brilliance mixed with wild inconsistency against Cahill.

Stymied by Cahill's serve-and-volley tactics, Agassi lost the first set 6-4 and was down 3-2 in the second when he gave the first hint something was wrong.

Agassi removed his neon-yellow shirt and was taped around the ribs. He went on to break Cahill's serve for the first time and then hold his own to win the set. That's when he turned to Gorman and said he was unable to continue.

"It's very difficult to play someone when they're walking around as if they're injured," Cahill said sarcastically. "You never know with Andre."

U.S. team trainer Bob Russo said Agassi apparently strained the chest muscle while serving in the first set, and it continued to hamper him whenever he had to raise his arms.

In the second match, Fromberg and Chang were content to hang back on the baseline and trade ground strokes.

But Fromberg, a 20-year-old making his Davis Cup debut, appeared to pick up his serve and booming forehand in the third set.

After blowing four match points in the ninth game of the third set, he blasted an ace to close out the match.

"I know we're not taking home the trophy," Australian team captain Neale Fraser said, "but I know I have a championship team."

Randall leads 'Hawks

Big 8 teams — except for ISU — impressive in victories

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Anybody who thinks basketball is a "sissy sport" should take a look at the big guy at Kansas with the fresh surgical scars.

After Mark Randall's deep leg bruise required surgery last Tuesday, doctors said the valuable 6-9 senior would be lost for 10 days or a month. The indefinite nature of the prognosis worried Jayhawk fans as much as anything. Kansas without Randall might become a mediocre basketball team.

With those worries hanging in the air, the usual sellout packed Allen Fieldhouse on Saturday night for the Jayhawks' home opener and were shocked — pleasantly shocked — when Randall came off the bench to score 11 points in the Jayhawks' 108-71 rout of Marquette.

Besides Randall, the game also featured a team-record 22 steals by the Jayhawks. Randall came into the game off the bench early in the first half. The incision was closed with staples.

"The reason the doctors gave such a big window is because it's all up to the pain threshold of the athlete," said Kansas coach Roy Williams. "I've never seen a young man want to play like Mark Randall wanted to play."

Elsewhere in a full weekend of Big Eight action, it was No. 23 Missouri 65, Oregon State 58 at Missouri; No. 18 Oklahoma 162, Angelo State 99 at Oklahoma; No. 4 North Carolina 118, Iowa State 93 at North Carolina; Colorado 78, Southwest Missouri

State 60 at Southwest Missouri, and Oklahoma State 75, Tulsa 73 at Oklahoma State.

Randall had two slam dunks off steals as Kansas put on an eight-point run at the start of the second half. Kansas (2-1) got a team-high 19 points from Terry Brown, including five 3-pointers, and a career-high 17 points from Alonzo Jamison.

Marquette dropped to 0-2. Kansas' 22 steals broke the record of 20 set in 1980 against Wisconsin-Oshkosh.

Williams said he was as surprised as anybody at the return of Randall, who refused to speak with the media.

"I shared the surprise because I was in the operating room," he said.

As bad a night as Marquette had protecting the ball, it was even worse for Division II Angelo State. The Rams committed 45 turnovers, setting up 71 Oklahoma points as newcomer Brent Price scored 35 points and the Sooners sank a school-record 49 free throws and tied a school record with their 48th-straight home victory. They moved to 4-1.

"We went into the game trying to go 40 minutes up and down the floor as hard as we can because conditioning is a factor," coach Billy Tubbs said. "The only way you get in condition is to play 40 minutes of hard basketball, and I thought Angelo State actually took it to us pretty good."

At Springfield, Mo., Colorado's Shaun Vandiver, the Big Eight's scoring and rebounding champion last season, tallied 27 points and grabbed 17 rebounds to lead the Buffalo past Southwest Missouri State. Colorado (3-1) trailed 26-15 with 9:26 left in the first half before coming back to tie the game 39-39 at halftime.

Stevie Wise scored the first six points of the second half for Colorado and the Buffaloes never trailed thereafter. Wise scored 17 points on the night.

At Charlotte, N.C., George Lynch scored 20 points as North Carolina crushed Iowa State (1-4) in the consolation game of the Tournament of Champions. It was the Cyclones' misfortune to catch the Tar Heels following their Friday night loss to South Carolina.

Victor Alexander led Iowa State with 22 points and Brian Pearson finished with 18, including a 3-pointer with 11:53 left that cut the gap to 78-65.

"We have been trying to get him to shoot more, and tonight I think you saw what a great shooter he can be," Iowa State coach Johnny Orr said. Oklahoma State went to 3-0 under coach Eddie Sutton. John Potter scored 28 points and collected five rebounds and Byron Houston added 22 points for the Cowboys.

Potter's 10-foot jumper with 27 seconds left forged a 37-37 halftime tie. Then the Cowboys went on a 13-4 run to seize a 60-51 advantage with 10:59 to play. Houston was nine of 12 from the floor.

No. 23 Missouri shot poorly in the first half before taking command of Oregon in the second half. Senior center Doug Smith had 20 points as the Tigers went to 2-1.

Weekend full of high school basketball enjoyable

David Svoboda

SPORTS EDITOR

Friday and Saturday nights — in Clay Center and Marysville, no less — I rediscovered why I want to teach and coach at the high school level.

When my boss at the Topeka Capital-Journal, Pete Goering, gave me my assignments earlier in the week, I noticed that they included covering Topeka Hayden in a pair of early-season games at the aforementioned towns. I was less than enthusiastic.

What a way to spend a pair of weekend nights on one of the last free weekends of the semester.

Ho hum. Yawn.

Boy, was I ever wrong.

Maybe I've been away from the high school scene for too long, but I don't remember being so caught up in the emotion of an athletic event when I was back at Salina Central.

And, even when K-State fans rocked Ahearn Field House during the final two seasons of the building's existence as the home to Wildcat men's basketball, the feeling just wasn't the same as the one I had a couple of times last weekend.

It was a sensory treat of the first order.

There was the smell of burnt popcorn in the air at Clay Center. There were the taunts back and forth between the fans at Marysville. There were the colors — worn proudly by the fans — of each school battling it out.

Oh, how I miss those days.

Topeka Hayden, for those of you who don't follow high school athletics closely, has the No. 1-ranked team in boys' basketball in Kansas' Class 4A, the third-largest classification in the state.

The Wildcats are coached by Ben Meseke, one of the most straightforward, up-front guys you'd ever want to meet. And his team reflects its coach.

Those teams Hayden faced Friday and Saturday — hosts Clay Center and Marysville — were filled with good athletes with fiercely competitive drives.

Any time you face the top-ranked team in any sport, you want to battle to prove you belong. Both teams — the Tigers and the Bulldogs — did just that before falling.

But the action on the floor was only a part of what made the weekend so special.

Upon arrival in Clay Center, a friend and I went to the Sonic drive-in for a quick pregame burger. Faster and better than ever? Not exactly faster, but the food was pretty good.

We watched the final portion of the girls' game, which was enjoyable, and then settled in for the boys' contest.

I noticed that the Clay Center coach had each of his players come over to shake hands with Meseke as they were introduced. It was a nice touch.

Once the game got underway, the niceties were over. Clay Center was clearly overmatched, but it was a good game.

Sportsmanship was demonstrated by both squads, and there was the rhythmic pounding on the bleachers as each team mounted scoring runs.

There was even the customary "We've got spirit, yes we do" cheer that every high school since the dawn of time has done — and done pretty poorly in most cases.

And as enjoyable as the first leg of the journey was, the second leg may have been even better.

Marysville, you see, had uncereemoniously dumped Hayden from the 4A football playoffs, and the tension was high before this meeting.

That was evident from the beginning of the contest. During the girls' game, Hayden fell behind, and as they tried in vain to come back, fans pounded the bleachers and stomped their feet, filling the fairly silent gym with noise, noise, noise.

But before the boys' game, a single public-address announcement brought a cheer from the Marysville fans and a laugh and a groan the Hayden fans.

"Please do not stomp on the bleachers during the game," the announcement said.

A bit of one-upsmanship? Perhaps, but Marysville was the home team. The guests don't need clean towels, do they? Just get 'em something to dry off with.

Marysville got the early lead as Hayden struggled to find the range shooting.

In fact, Hayden guard Matt Henry failed to hit a shot in the first half on eight attempts. He was pressing, feeling the heat from the loud Marysville students. Henry was the quarterback of the Hayden team that fell to the Bulldogs to end their season, and he was likely pressing to make up for what he thought was a personal failure.

It was that kind of genuine emotion that made the game so great.

And who do you think hit the shot that gave Hayden a 31-27 lead at the end of a 12-2 run that erased a half-time deficit? Yep, it was Henry.

From fans removing their glasses and gesturing to the referees that they might use them, to students and parents yelling various versions of "we was robbed" in unison, it was a great evening of entertainment.

And even though I had a job to do both nights, it was a job I thoroughly enjoyed. One night in the near future, I'll be the coach down there, shaking hands with the opposing players.

I'll be the coach down there, smelling the burnt popcorn, listening to the pep band, and trying to convince my guard that what happened during football season doesn't matter when he's playing basketball.

Check out a high school basketball game or wrestling tournament during the Christmas break, and you'll know what I mean when I say that this is athletics in its purest — and most fun — form.

J. Matthew Rhea/Collegian

Rene Spurlock, junior in pre-nursing, Glenda Miller, sophomore in arts and sciences undecided, Kelly Peterson, freshman in arts and sciences undecided, and Brenda Miller, freshman in theater, perform "Do Your Thing" at a rehearsal Sunday in Nichols Theatre for "An Intimate Evening of Dance."

Dance to be shown as multifaceted art

By Jerry Sapp
Collegian Reporter

Tradition continues as the K-State Dance Program presents its annual winter program, "An Intimate Evening of Dance." The program is at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday in Nichols Theatre.

"Some of the pieces are deep and express mega-statement; some are for pure enjoyment," said Judith Quirk Chitwood, director of dance. "All pieces are designed to show the audience that dance is multifaceted."

Normally, such big events are performed in McCain Auditorium, Chitwood said. This will be the first time the annual program will be in Nichols. The smaller theater will lend an intimacy to the program, but it will be more difficult for the performers.

"This is going to be a little harder," Chitwood said. "McCain has a traditional proscenium stage where the audience watches from the front. Nichols has a 'thrust' stage which is open on three sides and projects out in the audience. You have to please all three sides."

Dina McDermott, associate professor of speech, said the program will feature ballet, modern and jazz dance styles and a variety of music.

"The music is just as wide as the dance," McDermott said. "We have something for everyone. We are using a Gershwin 1920s and 1930s piece, three contemporary Christmas carols, a Bobby McFerrin piece and many others. We even have a country piece by k.d. lang."

The winter program will be slightly different than the spring program, said Laura Callahan, sophomore in dance and business.

"This one has a lot of pieces that are choreographed by students as well as faculty," Callahan said. "I have a piece that I choreographed, by Yaz."

"I love it," Callahan said. "It's hard to describe, but it's a very fun piece."

Callahan said she is excited about the performance and is interested to see the audience's reactions.

"They should really enjoy this," she said. "Some pieces they will like, some pieces will leave them stressed out and some will leave them questioning what the symbolism was."

"We want to communicate to our audience," McDermott said. "We try

■ See DANCE, Page 10

2nd Annual

FREE

2nd Annual

CLINIC DAY

Thursday, Dec. 6, 9 a.m.—7 p.m.

Help the Flinthills Bread Basket when you help yourself...
Bring in a can of food and receive your first appointment

FREE

1st Appointment includes Consultation, Physical, Orthopedic, Neurological Exams and one X-ray. All At No Cost To You!

MANHATTAN
CHIROPRACTIC

539-5622
1127 Westloop Shopping Center

VERY MERRY SPECIALS From THE TRAVEL STORE

Money Belts
$10.95

PARK VISTA
5 Piece Set
$89.95

Just some of our Travel
Accessories that are available...

Ask about our Leather Attaches

on Sale

Select Group of Briefcases
$99.95

Alarm
Clocks
$14.95

Converters
$27.95

SAMSONITE

"Our Strengths Are Legendary"

Ask About Our
In-Store Specials

Carriers
$21.95

Ask About Other Store Specials

TRAVEL STORE and creative

TRAVEL

957 Seth Child • Village Plaza Shopping Center
539-0531

See The TRAVEL STORE
Also Located in
Manhattan Town Center

Let's Share

During November and December 1990, for every canned good you bring to Kedzie 103, we'll give you 50 cents off a COLLEGIAN Classified Ad. (Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

1 can	50 cents
2 cans	$1.00
3 cans	$1.50
4 cans	$2.00
5 cans	$2.50
6 cans	$3.00

Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint
Hills Breadbasket.

Offer expires 12/13/90

Send your friends a

Ho! Ho! Ho!

lot of love in one of these little packages...

Wish someone a Merry Christmas or congratulate a friend who is graduating in December with a Personal Package in the Kansas State Collegian.

You may choose from the three styles below and print a special message for only $7. Just fill out the form and bring it to the Collegian Advertising Office, Kedzie 101, by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11. Then enjoy watching your friends open the Collegian to their "package" on Friday, Dec. 14.

Collegian Holiday Message

Name _____ Phone _____

Address _____

Message (25 words or less) _____

Style A B C (circle one)

Samples shown below are reduced. Actual size of ad is 2-1/16 x 2 inches.

Style A

Style B

Style C

Tax-form assistance provided

Nationwide program gives free aid to foreign students

By Erika Parker
Staff Reporter

Foreign students will be able to receive free assistance on their U.S. tax-return forms at K-State.

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program is a nationwide service that the Internal Revenue Service has offered for 20 years. "It offers free tax help to people who cannot afford professional assistance," said Valoie Nelson, district coordinator of VITA.

Manhattan will become part of this program Jan. 28, when volunteers will begin the service, said Bryan Coffey, senior in accounting and Manhattan coordinator of VITA.

Until April 15, volunteers will be available 11½ hours a week to help fill out tax-return forms. Coffey said such individuals may include students, low-income individuals, the elderly, the disabled and non-resident aliens.

Thirty-two volunteers from the College of Human Ecology and the College of Business Administration have been recruited so far, and Coffey said he plans to recruit about 30 more by speaking to business classes.

Volunteers will be trained in January. They will receive three hours of training if they are familiar with tax laws and 12 if they are not, Coffey said.

Volunteers who wish to help foreign non-residents with their tax returns are required to fulfill an additional four to eight hours of training, said Lynda Bachelor, student coordinator of the Community Service Program Clearinghouse, a sponsor of the project.

"The training is very extensive," Bachelor said.

The tax-return form for non-residents, the 1040NR, is complicated, said Mike Olivier, a local public accountant.

"We only do one or two a year. Depending on how long it takes, they are substantially more expensive," Olivier said.

Nelson said there is a great need for assistance for international students.

She said that 1,136 K-State students, 5.6 percent of the student body, are foreign students. She also emphasized that the VITA service is confidential.

"No records or names are kept," Nelson said.

In previous years, Beta Alpha Psi, an accounting society, has offered a similar service to Manhattan residents. In 1989, more than 250 people were assisted through Beta Alpha Psi's program, Coffey said.

"This year, we're expecting a three-fold increase," Coffey said.

U-Learn is also sponsoring the Manhattan VITA program and is providing office space, Coffey said.

"I thought I would just be a volunteer, putting in a few hours a week, but it's turned into much more than that," he said.

He said he asked for information about volunteering to gain tax experience and to help people. He was told that volunteer service was no longer being offered in Manhattan.

Then he was contacted by Nelson, who asked if he would like to coordinate a local VITA program, and he accepted.

Student to feature 3-language recital

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

Amy Kickhafer will sing in three languages at 8 p.m. today in All Faiths Chapel.

Kickhafer, senior in music education, is performing as part of the music department's Student Recital Series. She will be accompanied by Jason Schafer, senior in applied music, on piano and harpsichord; Sara Houk, graduate in music, and Neta Stanley, junior in music education, on violin.

The 25-minute concert will include French, Italian and English compositions, including George Fredrick Handel's "Italian Cantata: Tu Fedel, Tu Constante?," Henri Duparc's "Chanson Triste," Jules Massenet's "Premiere Danse," Gabriel Faure's "Les Berceux" and Seymour Barab's "Songs of Perfect Propriety."

Kickhafer said it is difficult to sing in foreign languages. "French is the hardest, and Italian is the easiest to sing," she said. "French is a nasal type of language, making it very unnatural to perform."

Kickhafer's vocal coach, Jean Sloop, professor in music, said she agrees with Kickhafer.

"Italian can be picked up and learned easier because the language is made up of mostly vowels," Sloop said. "This makes it easier to pronounce and sing. French is difficult because it is a very intellectual language. It is visually hard to comprehend."

Sloop said that by the time voice majors reach their senior year, they will have sung in Italian, French, German and English.

Voice majors must also take diction lessons. The lessons familiarize the student with the language through instruction in the pronunciation and interpretation of the language and its style.

Kickhafer said that although

See RECITAL, Page 10

WOW — FOR $3, you can run 15 words for one day in the COLLEGIAN ClassAds.

Super Deals Menu

79¢ EACH

Crisp Meat Burrito
Homestyle Soft Taco
Chips 'N Salsa
Taco-Rito
Rice

Amigos

FORMAL HOSIERY

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Monro Aggieville

Treat Yourself To A "Triple Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams • Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

Comprehensive Health for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400
Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

You're Invited!

"First annual financial assistance workshop for undergrad students of color"

Dec. 4, 1990

7-8:30 p.m.

Seaton Hall Room 63

Questions or concerns contact Andrea Shelton

532-6250

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER
539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

BUSHWACKER'S
THE FUNDRUNKY

Comedy Invasion
Mon., Tues., Wednesday
9 p.m.

The Amazing Johnathon

- Late Night w/ David Letterman
- Showtime w/ Jimmy Walker
- HBO Young Comedian Special
- Comic Strip Live
- Evening at The Improv
- 18 to enter, 21 to drink

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

Call for Reservations
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

THE RIDE

KSU STUDENT TRIPS TO ART MUSEUMS

THE K. S. U. ART DEPARTMENT IS OFFERING
A DAY TRIP TO KANSAS CITY
DECEMBER 7

THE RIDE will take in:
LETTERS/LINES/IMAGES:

International Contemporary Calligraphy Exhibition
at THE KANSAS CITY ART INSTITUTE
COLOR IN AMERICAN PRINTMAKING, ORGANIC
ABSTRACTION AND AN ASIAN TEXTILES EXHIBITION
at THE NELSON GALLERY

We will also visit the JOHNSON COUNTY COMMUNITY
COLLEGE GALLERY and PAINTING EXHIBITION

There will be a lunch break.
Students.....$6.00 Faculty & Friends.....$10.00

The bus will leave the south side of the Union at 8:00 AM, with return planned for 5:30 PM.

For information and reservations call or come to the
Art Department, K.S.U., 532-6605, by December 5.

Made Possible Through The FINE ARTS FEE

Radio Shack®

AMERICA'S TECHNOLOGY STORE™

CHRISTMAS GIFT SALE!

PLUS REGULAR AND SPECIAL PURCHASE ITEMS

Handy Cordless Telephone Cut 25% 59.95 Reg. 79.95 Tone/pulse dialing, #43-554	Compact Two-Way Speaker HALF PRICE! 39.95 Reg. 79.95 Bookshelf-size, #40-4036	3-Channel Walkie Talkie 40% Off 29.95 Reg. 49.95 2-watt power! #21-1638	Dual-Alarm Clock Radio 38% Off 29.95 Reg. 47.95 Blue fluorescent display, #12-1578
Personal Telephone Cut 25% 14.88 Reg. 19.95 Tone/pulse, #43-500	Spell Checker 40% Off 29.95 Reg. 49.95 Pocket-size! #63-676	Stereo Headset 45% Off 21.95 Reg. 39.95 Lightweight, AM/FM, #12-125	Pocket Calc Cut 41% 8.88 Reg. 14.95 Adjustable display, #65-564
Electronic Spell 'n Math Cut 19% 21.95 Reg. 26.95 Fun way to learn! Teaches ABCs and 123s, #60-1093	Radio-Controlled 4 x 4 Trucks SUPER VALUE! 47.95 Reg. 59.95 Tackles Tough Terrain High-traction 4-wheel drive. Two gears—high for speed, low for power. 12 1/2" long, 27 MHz, #60-4057, 49 MHz, #60-4067	Robie® Bank—A Safe Investment SUPER VALUE! 9.95 Teaches kids to save. Pop a coin in Robie's mouth, he licks his lips & rolls his eyes. #60-2261	Pencil Sharpener SPECIAL PURCHASE! 3.99 Cordless! Ideal gift, #61-2795

Computer Savings to Make the Season Brighter

Compact Home PC Compatible HALF PRICE! 499.50 Low As $20 Per Month Reg. Separate Items 998.95 Easy-to-use Personal DeskMate 2™ for writing, filing, music, #25-1053/1043 PC Software Compatible	Family PC Compatible Save $100 799.90 Low As $25 Per Month Reg. Separate Items 899.90 $200 Off, Tandy 1000 RL with 20MB Drive, Monitor and 24 Applications. Reg. separate items $1299.90. #25-1451/1043, Sale 1999.90.	Take the Office With You! Laptop PC Compatible Save $100 $699 Low As $25 Per Month 3 1/2" floppy drive, #25-3530	Dot-Matrix Printer Save 269.95 $90 Low As $15 Per Month Reg. 359.95 #26-2040
Joystick 27% Off 21.95 Reg. 29.95 #26-3123		Diskette Box SPECIAL PURCHASE! 4.88 3 1/2", #26-293 Each 5 1/4", #26-295

Shop Radio Shack, Your Software Headquarters!

New Holiday Hours
Mon.-Fri., 9-8
Sat., 9-5, Sun., 1-5

2609 Anderson
in Anderson Square
539-6151

Most Major Credit
Cards Welcome

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
check a box saying whether they support the fee or do not support the fee. Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt said another question may be added to the ballot. This question would be worded the same as the first, but would substitute "fall 1991" for "spring 1991."

The Board of Regents requested the student governments of the schools, which might be affected by the fee, to conduct a referendum of engineering students. Senate changed the word "referendum" to "opinion poll" because the regents have made it clear that the vote will not be binding.

Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, said the regents wanted to get as many inputs about the fee as possible. The opinion poll is just one input.

The regents have also heard opinions about the engineering fee from the Council of Presidents, made up of all the presidents and chancellors from the regent schools; the Student Advisory Committee, which includes all the student body presidents; and faculty senate presidents. Rathbone said he agrees with the approach they have taken. He also said no one input should be given precedent over the others.

"It all should be a balanced input," he said. "The students are here to learn, but the regents should also get input from the faculty and administration."

Heitschmidt said Senate tacked on a section that said they were conducting the poll under protest. He said Senate has in the past protested all restricted fees and the regents had been notified of their position.

The first reading of a bill that proposes a campus-wide equipment fee was read at the meeting. This bill would take the place of the engineering fee and any other restricted fees for equipment that may be proposed in the future.

Although Heitschmidt was originally an author of the bill, he withdrew his name from it.

"It's not ready," Heitschmidt said about the bill. "There hasn't been enough research done yet."

He said he still agrees with the idea of the proposal, but there needs to be more research done to decide how much money is actually needed.

"We need to get some actual dollar amounts from the deans," Heitschmidt said, "but right now we need to wait and find out the results of the engineering fee poll."

Jazz

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3
a number of soloists who will improvise.

"The neat thing about jazz education at K-State is we allow for improvisation from many people," he said.

For Wogan, the jazz-lab experience is an opportunity to become more eclectic as a musician.

"I'm a music education major, and I think that it is important to be well-rounded in music," Wogan said. "Jazz is my weakness, and this group gave me an environment for improvisation while it was also less high-pressure," she said.

The Jazz Labs concert is part of the 1990-91 Concert Series sponsored by the Department of Music. Rohrer said the concert was possible due to additional music purchased with funds from the fine arts fee.

Bascom

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3
by faith with the Lord Jesus and taking his word seriously has meant for me heightened interest in all people and a desire to serve them even as Christ, the good shepherd, has and is serving, loving and caring for me," Charles Bascom said.

"My major interest, primary health care, is to have people learn to take care of themselves and from their own resources," he said.

The Bascoms said it will take many people to put Romania back on its feet, and that Westerners can help by adopting children and sending needed money and supplies.

"It is like chain links. Each one helps and then tells someone else who helps in a little different way," Kay Bascom said. "In the end, you just hope it has helped."

Graduation

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5
Vice Provost Robert Kruh is the chairman of the University Commencement Committee. The Registrar's Office used to coordinate graduation but now the Provost's Office handles it, he said.

The commencement committee consists of about 25 people from different departments on campus.

"They represent all the colleges, the Registrar, the K-State Union, and the physical plant," Kruh said. "It also contains some people from the Bramlage Coliseum staff."

Kruh said that due to the large number of people who will go through the ceremony, the procession will start at 8:50 a.m. on Dec. 15 so that the ceremonies can begin on time.

Gas

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
Grimes said. "Being in my position, you get tired of hearing it because I'm not responsible. It'd be nice if I got a raise every time it went up. 'Somebody also commented, 'It's just like a yo-yo. It's up and down,'" he said.

Michelle Bush, cashier at Shop Quik No. 7 in the Candlewood Shopping Center, said she received no complaints Saturday or Sunday about the increase.

"No. Nothing. Nothing was really said," Bush said.

"I think it's just the fluctuation," she said. "The price has been this high before. They just seem to think, 'Oh well, it's gone up again.'"

Tim Hanson, cashier at Shop Quik No. 12, 430 Ft. Riley Blvd., said customers seemed to be taking the increase in stride.

"What most people seem to say is, 'Gas is going up again, huh?'" Hanson said.

"Just about half of the people asked me if the price of gas just went up, and about half of those knew there was a tax," he said.

Dance

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8
to entertain as well as offer provocative scenes. We want to let people know we are active and productive. Our goal is to give as much as we can to the community."

Merger

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
creases because of additional construction, it will be reconsidered, he said.

"The merger is merely an administrative matter," Rawson said. "Existing guidelines and procedures for University planning will continue to be followed."

Laverne Lindsey, associate provost and chairwoman of the Advisory Committee on Campus Development, said she has been assured the committee will continue its function.

The committee — consisting of 15 administrators, faculty members and students — reviews architectural plans for the campus buildings and projects and makes suggestions to enhance the beauty, function and handicapped accessibility of those plans, she said.

Lindsey said she has a meeting scheduled this week with Rawson to discuss the change.

"Whenever a change takes place, there is concern," she said. "With the change in the planning office, we want to establish the lines of communication between the committee."

This year's guest choreographer will be Rosalind Newmark.

Tickets are available at McCain Auditorium or at Nichols before the performances. Admission is $4 for students and senior citizens and $6 for the general public.

Recital

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9
singing in foreign languages is a hard transition to make, the voice lessons and diction courses have improved her vocal capabilities.

"The breathing techniques have helped me no matter what style of music I sing," she said. "My vocal range is wider and much clearer now."

Kickhafer said she is nervous about the recital because performing solo for almost 30 minutes requires a

IMPRESSIONS
Hair Design & Body Toning

Can Dress You Up For

Christmas in Style

It's Christmas— your favorite time to shine! Schedule an appointment with the professionals at Impressions and let them create the holiday image you've always wanted.

10% off perm or highlight with this ad
112 S. Moro • Aggieville • 532-1332

Snookies

Tonight, Dec. 3

New Age Rock 'n' Roll
"Ed Hall" from Texas
1 Tequila Shots

Thurs., Dec. 6

THE Romantics

Tickets on Sale Now

$8 in advance, $10 at the door

18 to enter, 21 to drink

1122 Moro • Upstairs • Aggieville • 776-7726

Best Prices with Local Support

Connecting Point offers IBM® and Apple® computers at below Bookstore prices - with the support you deserve. Compare both name brands. Talk to the computer professionals.

IBM® PS/2® Model 25
PS/2 in full color with 640 by 480 dot resolution. Includes 2 720K drives, 640K memory, keyboard, mouse & DOS 4.0. $1187

IBM® PS/2® Model 55SX
For the real power user, this 16MHz PS/2 has 2Mb memory, a 30Mb hard drive, VGA color screen, Windows 3.0, SoftType, DOS 4.0, Word, and more. $2349.

Macintosh® Classic®
The power to be your best at a price you can afford. The Classic has a 3.5" SuperDrive™, a SCSI port, 40Mb hard drive, and Microsoft Works. $1449.

Macintosh® IIfx®
Apple's newest power computer uses the fast 68030 processor, has 2Mb of memory, and comes equipped with a 40Mb drive. $2779. (monitor not included)

Connecting Point
COMPUTER CENTERS

1115 Westloop • 539-0801

Authorized Dealer

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation. Apple, the Apple logo, Macintosh, Macintosh Classic, and Macintosh IIfx are registered trademarks of Apple, Inc.

Prices may change. Fulltime students, faculty & staff only.

* Macintosh Classic and Macintosh IIfx only

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

PICTURES WITH SANTA

FEATURING: "THE ONE, THE ONLY"

WILLIE WILDCAT

Dec. 4
11a.m.-1p.m.
Dec. 5
11:30a.m. to 1 p.m.
Union Courtyard Only $1.50 per picture-what a deal!

Do it fast, Do it quick, come get your picture taken with ol' St. Nick.

THE MERRY CHRISTMAS MOVIE IS BACK.

Remember... It is better to give than to receive.

Humorist Jean Shepherd's 1940's America is portrayed in "A Christmas Story," a nostalgic and witty remembrance of times gone-by. It's a truly wonderful period film for children and grown-ups alike! Rated PG. SATURDAY and SUNDAY, 2 p.m., Forum Hall, $1.50

Bring Joy and Christmas spirit to friends and family this season.

Rent a Santa Suit from the UPC Office

Call 532-6571 Monday - Friday

8 am - 4pm for reservations!

November 26 through December 21

SANTA SUIT RENTAL

"WARM, ECCENTRIC HEART"

Bagdad Cafe

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall & THURSDAY, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre

★★★★ "One of THE MOST ORIGINAL, EXHILARATING AMERICAN COMEDIES IN AGES... It's likely to be the feel-good movie of the year."

art rental RETURNS

December 10 and 11
Art Rental Returns, Union Courtyard
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Some lines shouldn't be crossed.

FLATLINERS

R

KIEFER SUTHERLAND JULIA ROBERTS KEVIN BACON
WILLIAM BALDWIN OLIVER PLATT

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m. & SUNDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75 with KSU ID.

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schlobe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Purchase one double coffee for the price of a single coffee.
Coupon good today only.
Expires 12/3/90

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—

Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE

2001 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66501
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-5805

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

COOPER TIRE
BATTERIES

Free Estimates

- | | | |
|-------------|--------|-----------------|
| Alternators | Brakes | Exhaust Repairs |
| Batteries | Shocks | Oil Change |
| Starters | Tires | Tune up |
| Winterizing | | Transmission |

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS

NEW ARRIVALS
for Christmas

GUATEMALAN
CLOTHING, BAGS,
BACKPACKS, BELTS,
& MORE.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

A Real Christmas Tree
Brings Out the Real
Beauty of The Holidays

$19.00—$48.00
(Up to 9 ft.)

Kansas Grown Fresh cut trees have arrived.
Choose yours while selection is at its best.

Christmas at

1105 Waters

539-4751

On the fifth day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me:

25% off

of any Classic Sundae!

Strawberry Shortcake sundae, Hot Fudge
Brownie sundae, Triple Whammy sundae,
Banana Split sundae.

at

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE. NATURAL.

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

offer expires 12/5/90

537-1616

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

7th Day-Buy any 6" and get a
Large drink for 70¢ more.

Offer good Dec. 3 & 4

Must present ad-not good in combination with any offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS?

Select Group Dress Shirts

Nicola Mancini & Gordon Thomas. Sizes 14 1/2 - 18.

Reg. $32-$40. NOW 20% off

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan

(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

Beat the rush—
Select your cards early this year!

You'll find a great selection of boxed and individual Christmas and Hanukkah cards from Hallmark. Recycled paper and more! Shop early while selection is good!

704 N. Manhattan Ave.-in Aggieville-539-7654
Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m./Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m./Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Students' attention turning to hunting

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

As the weather gets cooler and the last of the autumn leaves are raked up, many K-State students' attention turns to hunting.

Mark Laverentz, senior in park-resource management, has been hunting since he was 10 years old. He said he enjoys hunting because it helps him to relax and spend time outdoors.

Laverentz, who has hunted around Bendena and Lin, said he prefers to hunt around Lin.

"It's different, new. The people I went with knew where they were going. They knew where the birds would probably be," he said.

Although he hunts for both pheasant and quail, Laverentz said he prefers to hunt for pheasant because they are bigger and are therefore easier to shoot.

Laverentz said birds prefer in certain areas according to the terrain. "They (pheasants) usually like milo fields — they like to eat that," he said.

Laverentz said that although he enjoys hunting, he does not love the early mornings.

"It wasn't getting up at 5:30, that's for sure," he said.

Kevin Bostick, senior in community health and nutrition, remembers his first hunting experience — he was in the sixth grade. Since Bostick wasn't allowed to carry a gun, he helped flush out the birds.

"The first time I went hunting, I actually didn't hunt. I was kind of like a bird dog," he said.

Bostick said he was allowed to have his first gun when he reached the eighth grade.

"It was my brother's old gun, so it was just kind of passed down through the family," Bostick said.

Bostick hunts around Dodge City and Louisburg. He said he prefers to hunt around Louisburg because it's his hometown and he doesn't have to travel far to reach a good hunting spot.

Bostick said he enjoys pheasant hunting.

"Usually when we go pheasant hunting, the whole family goes," he said.

To get a hunting license, potential hunters must pass a course on safety. This course usually consists of two evenings of training and one evening of written testing. The course's hours vary from state to state. People who pass the test may buy an $11 hunting license.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ATTENTION: WOMEN students and faculty. Participants needed for survey. Complete a questionnaire (30 minutes) and receive $2. Contact Agustina, Justin Hall room 139 A.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! You receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Kripp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

DONATE FOOD or money for Christmas. See Santa and Christmas Clown. Bring to Military Science Building 101.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

NEED EXTRA cash for the holidays? Immediate job openings. Elisu Corporation will be conducting interviews Wednesday, Dec. 5th, room 205, Student Union, 4p.m. till whenever.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OSAGE House has Indian cuisine. Carryout for under $4! 776-1234, 2605 Stagg Hill Road.

Every Monday
1/2 Price Nite
Order any dinner or sandwich and receive the 2nd at 1/2 price
Evenings 5-8:30 p.m.

CHEF Cafe
111 S. 4th

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW, one-, two-bedroom, furnished, located on Denison, no pets, $245/$380 a month. 539-5697.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Reasonable rent. Serious inquiries call collect (316)321-5810.

JANUARY FREE! Jan. 1—Aug. 1. Roomy apartment for two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. 537-0772.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, heat, water trash included. No pets, $220/ month. 539-3821.

ONE-BEDROOM SIXTH and Bluemont. Available mid-December. $260, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to college. All utilities paid except personal electricity. Air conditioning, no pets, $175 a month. Available Jan. 1. 1840 Elaine Drive.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMMATE NEEDED Jan. 1, three-bedroom apartment, $175/ month plus one-third utilities, own room, close to Aggieville and campus. 537-3366.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage, $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Unfurnished two-bedroom with washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. 776-7950.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1— Spacious two-bedroom, one bathroom, dishwasher, central air. Call after 6p.m. 776-0269.

BASEMENT APARTMENT. $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking. No pets. 539-3409.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer, hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM. fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment for rent from January—August. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143 evenings.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 814 Thurston, gas/ water included. No pets, start Jan. 1, $375/ month. 537-9336.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Close to campus, rent $175. Call Molly, Julie, Lisa 537-1380.

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment. Across street from campus and Aggieville, $175 month, very low utilities. 776-0115.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

5 Automobile for Sale

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

(Continued on page 13)

SUPER VALUE MENU

Jr. Bacon Cheeseburger

Biggie Fries

Biggie Drink

16 oz. Frosty Dairy Dessert

8 oz. Chili

Garden Salad

Baked Potato w/sour cream

NOW

99¢

EACH

Both Manhattan locations:
3006 Anderson 421 North Third

The best hamburgers and a whole lot more.
© 1990 Wendy's. All Rights Reserved.

Welcome to

Collage

the uptown salon

Alicia & Verna Lee

Ph. 776-2225 110 N. 3rd

Tues.—Thurs.—Sat.

Three new ways to survive college.

With Apple's introduction of three new Macintosh® computers, meeting the challenges of college life just got a whole lot easier. Because now, everybody can afford a Macintosh.

The Macintosh Classic is our most affordable model, yet it comes with everything you need—including a hard disk drive. The Macintosh LC combines color capabilities with affordability. And the Macintosh IIfx is perfect for students who need a computer with extra power and expandability.

No matter which Macintosh you choose, you'll have a computer that lightens your work load without giving you another tough subject to learn. Every Macintosh computer is easy to set up and even easier to master. And when you've learned one program, you're well on your way to learning them all. That's because thousands of available programs all work in the same, consistent manner. You can even share information with someone who uses a different type of computer—thanks to Apple's versatile SuperDrive™, which reads from and writes to Macintosh, MS-DOS, OS/2, and Apple II floppy disks.

See the new Macintosh computers for yourself, and find out how surviving college just got a whole lot easier.

Available at the K-State Union Bookstore.
Call 532-6583 for more information.

 K-State Union Bookstore

The power to be your best.™

(Continued from page 12)

1979 TOYOTA Corolla, good tires, 88K miles, runs excellent. $595 or offer. 539-7491.

1983 OLDS Firenza LX, loaded, automatic, air, AM/FM cassette. Going to Saudi, must sell soon! Sacrifice for best offer. 1-239-4060 leave message.

1985 FIREBIRD, T-tops, V-6, five-speed, Kenwood stereo system. Excellent condition. $5,000. Ask for Duane 539-8644.

1988 HONDA Civic, three-door hatchback, deluxe, five-speed, power steering, power brakes, air. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AM/FM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

1990 TOYOTA Tercel, automatic, air, excellent condition, 9,600 miles. 537-0597.

6 Child Care

NANNIES: COME experience life in the east while doing something you enjoy—caring for kids. Call now for application. Nannie Network Inc. 1-800-US-NANNY.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

VAN DRIVER: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for transporting clients and assisting in providing activity therapies with the Community Support Program. Class B driver's license required. Contact Patricia Murphy at Pawnee Mental Health Services. Phone 539-7426.

WANTED: PERSON experienced in RBase computer program to finalize report and act as a consultant for future work. Call 539-5208 after 1p.m.

ACCOUNTING INSTRUCTOR, 9-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 credit hours per academic year in accounting, lead instructor for accounting program and banking management. Qualifications: Working knowledge of MS DOS; bachelor's degree in accounting, practical accounting experience required; master's degree, college level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a community college preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to: Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67905-1137. Starting date: Jan. 2. AAEOE.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.s, drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts, counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 8719610 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Sleeper sofa in great shape, baby bed, child's car seat and other baby goods. Call 776-3850 after 6p.m.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM house in Riley, $150. Available Dec. 1. Call 1-485-2204.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM farm house, $300, 30 minutes out of town. Possible facilities for horses. 1-913-499-6661.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ESU Men's class ring. To claim. Call 539-2334. Ask for Jenny M.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

1983 SCHULT 14x64, three-bedroom, one and one-half bath, central air, dishwasher, washer/dryer hookups. Good condition. $300. 539-1041.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x50 MOBILE home, washer and dryer, shed, furnished, $5,000. Call 537-3909.

SALE: TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1982 SUZUKI to sell, 450ccs. $250 or best. Call Mau at 537-3585.

1986 XR200, great shape, best offer over $700. 776-0535.

BRAND NEW Schwinn 21-speed, cross bike and cable lock. $210. Tony 776-0861.

FOR SALE: Extremely nice 12-speed Detel bicycle, $150. Call Lasha at 537-7278.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, pump, toe clips, water bottles, bag and rack. $375. 776-1638 leave message.

19 Music/ Musicians

TWO ELECTRIC bass guitars with cases. Foundation. 130 watt amp. Peavey TNT. Work 1-456-2284. Home 539-0157.

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

JILL D. This birthday wish goes out to you. You're now the ripe old age of 22. Hope it's great! Vickie.

LAEL—HAPPY Birthday, sweetheart! Remember—age is only a number. Thinking of you—Your older woman—Michelle.

PHI KAP Sam—Congratulations on being elected Vice President. I'm sure you will do a wonderful job. I guess that means you can't disappear for long weekend vacations anymore. I love you and appreciate everything you do for me. —Sheri. P.S. Are you psyched for Chicago?

SIGMA ELLEN, Happy Birthday! You're finally 21! So get your Grapenuts and run!... Run Where? 1 to Auntie Mae! you smuck! Only 2 more and the tums will be complete! Sigma love, Renee, Diane and Michelle.

SPEECH UNLIMITED! Great finish to a great semester! We're halfway to Tacomal Big and Hairy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm raised Dalmation pups. $125. 539-6596 or 537-6427.

PUREBRED CHOW puppies. They have shots and are wormed. Price negotiable. 776-2497. Ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clatin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0678.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING The best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $160 plus utilities, after 5:30p.m. 537-8288.

CLOSE TO campus, own room, $120/ month, one-third utilities. 539-1161.

FEMALE: CLOSE to campus, and very close to Aggieville... $150 month... utilities average $10-15 month. 537-4144.

FEMALE—NON-SMOKER, to share house, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE, OWN bedroom, $148 plus utilities. 537-4510.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment, own room, close to campus. 537-0706.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house, own room. $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2668.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, close to campus, fully remodeled, laundry facilities, extra nice. 776-9124.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, own bedroom, across from campus, $150/ month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1st. 537-6823.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/ month. 539-2919. Ask for Debra or Kristie.

FEMALE ROOMMATE. Own room, pool, laundry, $150/ month plus deposit and one-third utilities. Call Lasha at 537-7278.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE NON-SMOKER wanted to share two-bedroom house, washer/dryer, $135/ month plus one-half utilities. 537-4369.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice four-bedroom house. Own room. Close to campus and Aggieville. $125/ month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-1562.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. $153.33/ month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring/summer to share two-bedroom, own room, washer/dryer, fireplace, pool, furnished. $200 plus half electric. 539-5508.

NON-SMOKER FEMALE, clean and neat. Own bedroom. Woodway Apartments, $175 monthly plus one-third utilities. Call 537-3233.

NON-SMOKER FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three roommates. Own room. Has everything. $195 negotiable. 776-2497.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/ month plus utilities. Call Eric 537-8677.

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, female for two-story apartment. Furnished bedroom, laundry. $140. Call 539-1582. Leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Female to share new two-bedroom apartment with pool. Westloop location, $180 month plus utilities from January to August or May. Call 537-2445 after 7p.m. or leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED—One block from campus, $130 plus utilities. Call Amy 537-4510, 776-1195.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $150/ month plus one-third utilities. Park Place. Call 776-1956 leave message.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

ACROSS gold Durango swiny

1 Social 44 One of 3 Taunt 26 Bacchainsect twenty- 4 OPEC concern al's cry

4 Baseball's 46 NL pitcher 5 "The Ten-

Mel 50 Small 6 VCR der —

7 Does a 53 Treasure (movie) 27 Anagram household 55 Brilliant 28 Find fault

chore hunter's 7 Carnival attraction

11 Peter need 8 Be in debt 29 Ancient

Benchley 56 Burden 9 Small Greek hit 57 Eggs 10 The enclosure lead-in 13 Author 58 Low, 11 Concorde, 31 Call at

Levin 59 The — for one 35 Greek

14 Cote 60 Barber or race 38 letter

dwellers 61 They loop 19 Soap 40 Table

15 Mine sturdy cart 21 DDE's command 42 Mill entrance 22 Private — 23 Lodge brother 45 Rant

16 Infant's perch 24 Surgeon's probe 25 Light, 47 French

17 Lease 28 Forces 32 Gothic arch 48 Egg-

18 Badger's 33 First shepherd 49 Bolger cousin 34 Hebrew measure and 20 Nobleman 36 Swan genus 50 Green-

22 Private — 37 Mudd or 51 Baby-

24 Surgeon's 39 Take up the 52 Chicago probe 41 Kind of 54 Legal —

28 Forces 43 Spanish

Solution time: 24 min.

Yesterday's answer 12-1

Stress getting you down?

Call today for an appointment

537-8305

20% OFF ALL SERVICES with this coupon. Expires 12-31-90Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center26 Stereo Equipment

JVC CAR stereo for sale. AM/FM, 15 presets, seek, scan, cassette with auto rewind. $100. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

NEW PIONEER KE-2022 car stereo with auto-reverse, 15 station presets, and digital display. $150. New Pioneer BP-450 graphic equalizer amplifier. 25w+25w $75. Call Ken 537-8313.

TWO PIONEER surface mount speakers, good condition, $75. Two portable car speakers, good condition, $50. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

SOLOFLEX FOR sale! Two months old. Leg attachment and Butterfly included! $900 or best offer. Call Mau at 537-3585.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY. Brand new one-bedroom apartment. Rent plus utilities. Washer/dryer, garage, etc. 776-9875 ask for Mark.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, nicely furnished, near campus, air, low utilities. 776-7083 evenings.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Nice one-bedroom apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus, three blocks from Aggieville. $230/ month negotiable. 776-8704, Alan.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house. Own room $175/ month, one-third utilities. Lease ends May. Close to campus. 776-0595.

FEMALE, SPRING semester. Furnished, quiet house. Washer/dryer. Rent negotiable. Lease ends in May. Amy 539-3886.

FURNISHED TWO-BEDROOM January—August. Fireplace, washer/dryer, air conditioning, dishwasher, double bath, garage. $395 plus utilities. 776-8384.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/ month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

MALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Mile from campus. 539-1503.

NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment across the street from Aggieville and campus. Available Dec. 21st, 1212 Blumont. 776-2436.

SUBLEASE. STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

ROUND-TRIP LA. Leave 12-26-90. Return 1-2-91. $350. 537-4907 or 532-6630. Ask for Pam. Leave message.

30 TravelSPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119

7 NIGHTS

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129

5 AND 7 NIGHTS

STEAMBOAT from $96

5 AND 7 NIGHTS

FORT LAUDERDALE from $137

7 NIGHTS

PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124

7 NIGHTS

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND from $108

5 AND 7 NIGHTS

HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112

5 AND 7 NIGHTS

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY

1-800-321-5911

*depending on break dates and length of stay

SKI REPORTLatest Colorado Ski Conditions
Call 537-SKI'N
sponsored by:
Classic ToursSKI

Breckenridge

Jan. 2-6 $299

Winter Park

Jan. 7-13 $249

Packages include lodging, transportation & lift tickets.

Classic

Travel & Tours
1212 Moro • 537-754631 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

25" RCA Console color TV. $200. 19" Hitachi color TV. $100 or make offer. Call 776-4213.

4.1 CUBIC Foot refrigerator, like new. Need to sell. Mike, 532-5168.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103 $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Instruction books for Casio FX-7000G calculator. Call Sandra at 532-3341 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons only.

FOR SALE—Pentax ME Super w/50 and 135mm lenses and bag; Vivitar 70-205mm zoom Inland MI Carbine, collectible. 539-5368 ask for Bob.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 6p.m.

FOR SALE: Wooden bookshelf $10; and queen-size foam core Futon mattress $150. 537-4093.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

QUEST, 1200, Spirit, Foreman and many other assorted name brand clothing, rarely worn. All in great condition. Call Julie 539-4868.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

SMITH CORONA word processor—auto spell, disk drive, display screen. $450 or best. 776-2018.

SOLOVOX: IF familiar write: B.J., RR #4, Box 42A, Junction City, KS 66441.

TANNING FACIAL Lamp—Brand new! Wool system—Bought for $225—$125 or make offer. 539-2009.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75. portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 6p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WATERBED QUEEN-SIZE, padded rails and headboard, $150 negotiable. 776-0535.

WHITE GE refrigerator, excellent condition, 5-7 years old, must sell. $200/ best offer. 537-9387.

35 Acreage

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres—Portawatomie County—Fenced—extremely low taxes—New High School District. 776-6970.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE THIRD Day of Christmas—25% off Hazel portfolios and padfolios. 25% off cookbooks and 25% off backpacks, Dec. 3rd at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

ALCO

yes

It's Our Birthday
and
We're Giving You
a Card!

SIGN UP FOR YOUR "FREQUENT SHOPPER" CARD DURING OUR BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION AND WE'LL GIVE YOU 3 FREE STICKERS.

TRUCKLOAD SALE

488

BAG
REG. 7.79

HAVE YOU TRIED
ALCO'S DIAPERS YET?

ONE STEP
REFASTENABLE TAPES
ELASTIC LEG BANDS
CONTOUR SHAPE
BLUE WAIST
GUARD

REGULAR - SUPER ABSORBENCY
SMALL - MEDIUM - LARGE

77¢

EACH

KLEENEX
FACIAL TISSUE OR BATHROOM TISSUE

175 count facial tissue.
300 sheets - 1 ply bathroom tissue, 165 sq. ft.

• Prints
• White
• Pastels

• White
• Pastels

COKE OR SPRITE

4.99

LIMIT 2 CASES

12 oz. cans of Coke or Sprite in special 24 can case.

DORITOS

2 $3

BAGS

• Nacho
• Cool Ranch

RUFFLES

1.89

15 OZ. BAG
• Regular
• Cheddar
• Ranch Mesquite

Come Join the Fun! November 30th thru December 9th

- Register for FREE Prizes
 1. 13" Color TV
 2. Goldstar Telephone/Answering Machine
 3. Singer Upright Vacuum
 4. Video Rocker Chair
 5. Westbend 4 Qt. Cooker

Drawing Sunday, December 9th at 5 PM

- FREE yellow ribbon for your car antenna. Show your support for the troops in Saudi Arabia.

- Refreshments Saturday Morning
Birthday Cake served with coffee or apple juices

- Shopping Cart Bingo! Saturday & Sunday

LOOK OVER OUR ALL NEW ELECTRONICS DEPARTMENT

YOU'LL LIKE WHAT YOU SEE...
AND WHAT YOU SAVE!

Sorry, No Rainchecks

BOOM BOX WITH CD PLAYER

99.00

SAVE $9.86!
REG. 108.86

3 band graphic equalizer, 16 random program memory. AC or battery operation. No. CD300.
Batteries Not Incl.

12" BLACK & WHITE TV

49.00

SAVE 30.00!
REG. 79.00

3-way power. AC adapter, 12 volt DC car/boat cord or optional DC power pack. Sharp picture.

NO. TV985

3007 ANDERSON - MANHATTAN

ALCO

DAILY: 9 AM - 10 PM SUNDAY: 11 AM - 7 PM

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, December 4, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 67

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

Foreign students' families face obstacles

Spouses adapt to culture while learning new language

By Cindy Jeffrey
Collegian Reporter

Everything is different. The food, the weather, the signs, the money and — most of all — the language is different.

The only person you know, the only person who speaks your language — your spouse — is gone all day to classes.

"I was very lonely at first. I cried," said Bang Truong, who is from Vietnam and is married to a K-State student. This is the first time Truong has lived where no one but her husband speaks Vietnamese.

Spouses of foreign students have two things in common when they first come to the United States. They are geographically isolated from their family and culture, and they are often isolated from those around them by a language barrier. It is a barrier that must be overcome before differences in cultures can be explored and shared and friendships formed.

"At first, I was not so homesick. I wanted to know all about this new place. I was excited," said Kazue Tachiyama from Japan. "But about two or three months later, I wanted to go back home, especially because my grandfather was sick."

Thousands of miles and several time zones make communication with home difficult.

"Our parents call and talk with the children, but, after they hang up, we are all a little sad," Tachiyama said. "The children say, 'Let's go to grandma's,' but we cannot go to grandma's."

Several organizations try to help those from foreign countries learn the English language and make friends.

"I know how lonely it can be," said Christina van Swaay, who is originally from Holland. From her own need to make friends, van Swaay started World Friendship, a group to help the spouses of foreign students, 27 years ago.

The organization is still going strong. It meets twice a week at the First Presbyterian Church and provides transportation and a nursery.

"In my country, we have a subway or buses. Here, (public transportation) is a big problem," said Hye Kyung Jo, who is from Korea. "We have a car, but my husband to school" because it is too far to walk.

"We are devoted to friendship and learning about other countries," said Florence Schwab, a volunteer and former president of World Friendship. One meeting is devoted to sharing things about their homelands.

"I taught the group how to make Japanese paper dolls," Tachiyama said.

She said the dolls are made by the ancient art of carefully folding different colored papers together.

A flyer about World Friendship was distributed in the Jardine housing area at the beginning of the semester.

"I got the flyer and thought this might help me," Truong said. "So I went. I can't speak Chinese, and they can't speak Vietnamese, but everyone is learning English, so we communicate."

Many foreign students or their spouses find out about World Friendship, the Adult Learning Center and other international groups through other students or the International Student Center.

"I was afraid to speak English at first, but the Adult Learning Center has a good method, and the teachers are very friendly," Jo said.

The Adult Learning Center's primary mission is to help people become better and more productive citizens, said Joseph Hebert, coordinator of Adult Education. The program, financed by federal, state and local funds, accepts foreign students and their family members on a space-available basis only.

"At the present time, approximately half of the 125 people enrolled in the English classes are foreign students," he said.

The Adult Learning Center, World Friendship and the International Student Center's conversational English program are not active during the summer.

"The summer is long, and I speak mostly Japanese," Tachiyama said. "It is very hard to start again — to listen and speak."

But she did. Nothing can take the place of family and home, but Manhattan is a little less lonely for those who have found a way to make friends and communicate.

Kazue Tachiyama and her son Shoichi, 3, and daughter Shiori, 5, are coping with life away from their home in Japan. Kazue's husband, Akihiko, is a K-State student and the only other family member living in the United States.

Transition not as hard for children

By Cindy Jeffrey
Collegian Reporter

Children usually go where their parents go. For the children of foreign students, that may mean going halfway around the world.

Depending on the age of the child, the experience of living in a foreign country may seem natural or strange.

"When we first came, two of our children were so young they just did what children do — play," said Emazli Ismail, mother of Dina, Dian and Dani, from Jakarta, Indonesia.

The Ismails live in Jardine Terrace, and most of children in the neighborhood are from a variety of countries and speak different languages. But children of preschool age speak a universal language.

"They use sign language and mix the languages since they are all learning English," Emazli Ismail said.

Dina Ismail is now 12 years old. Four years ago she and her brother, Dani, now eight, entered Marlatt Elementary School. Several things were difficult for the children.

"I was afraid I wouldn't get home," Dani Ismail said.

School days in Indonesia are only four hours long.

"I kept looking at the clock — it just kept going and going," she said, "and the food was weird stuff, especially cheese, but I can eat it on pizza now."

For school-age children, the biggest problem is not the food, but rather the language. It was the same for their parents, said Ridjal Ismail, graduate student in sociology and the children's father.

Children learn quickly and normally within a semester do not need any extra help, said Vivian Ross, who teaches English as a second language at Marlatt.

"The first person to talk to me the first day was Katie. She asked me my name, but I didn't understand her, so I said nothing," Dina said. But Katie Morris didn't give up, and now Katie and Dina are best friends and often stay at each other's homes and talk on the phone.

There are 95 students from 30 countries attending Marlatt, said
■ See CHILDREN, Page 10

Airplanes collide on runway

DC-10 apparently lost in fog; wing clips jet before takeoff

By The Associated Press

ROMULUS, Mich. — A jetliner apparently clipped another while taking off from the Detroit airport in heavy fog Monday, igniting a fire that killed at least 19 people and left one plane in smoking ruins.

At least a dozen people were injured in the collision between a DC-9 and a Boeing 727-200, both operated by Northwest Airlines. Although it was not immediately clear how the collision occurred, a spokesman for air traffic controllers said the DC-9 appeared to have become lost on a slick, foggy taxiway and strayed into the 727's path.

For nearly an hour after the accident, smoke billowed out of the fuselage of the DC-9, where passengers apparently became trapped by the fast-moving fire. By the time the fire was extinguished, much of the plane's roof was open to the overcast sky.

The DC-9, Flight 1482 to Pittsburgh, was carrying 39 passengers and four crew members, according to the airline. The 727, Flight 299 to Memphis, was carrying 146 passengers.

Both flights had originated in Detroit, according to Patrick McCann, a Northwest spokesman at its headquarters in Egan, Minn.

"Apparently the right wing of the 727 hit the aft section, the engine, of the DC9, taking the engine off," said Alan Muncaster, another Northwest spokesman. "That resulted in the fire. That, at this point, is all we know."

At the time of the crash, visibility was poor and the ground was wet from a morning snow and sleet storm that delayed flights at Detroit Metropolitan Airport. Muncaster said the airport had been closed to inbound traffic but that planes were being allowed to take off.

Tony Dresden, a spokesman for the National Air Traffic Controllers

Association, said there was about a quarter-mile visibility in the air, but only about 800 feet on the ground.

"We've had some discussions with our people out there," Dresden said. "The DC-9 pilot became lost on the runways. The pilot gave the ground controller erroneous information about his position and turned right onto the runway where the 727 was taxiing."

"The DC-9 pilot discovered at the very last moment where he was, and so the ground controller told him to immediately get off that runway, but it was too late."

Weekend suicide victim identified as graduate student from Beijing

By Shannon Heim
Staff Reporter

A K-State graduate student who committed suicide this past weekend has been identified as 25-year-old Yuan Bo Zha, of Beijing, China.

A Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Department dispatcher said a coroner ruled Zha's death a suicide by asphyxiation.

According to police reports, Zha was found dead at the Continental Inn on 100 Bluemont Avenue. The Riley County Police Department was called at about 1:30 p.m. Saturday and later turned the case over to the Pottawatomie County Sheriff's Department.

An interpreter was also contacted to translate a note written in Chinese

“It is a tragedy. It leaves us feeling very inadequate.”

—James Legg
head of the physics department left by Zha. Details of the note have not been released.

Zha graduated from Beijing University and left the city after the Tie-nanmen Square massacre in the summer of 1989, said Shangzhi Ren, graduate student in physics. As a student in Beijing, Zha experienced the controversy in Tiananmen Square and then came to K-State to work toward a doctorate degree in physics, Ren said.

James Legg, head of the physics department, said Zha worked on special projects in the development of equipment used in physics and was involved with the physics help center.

"It is a tragedy," Legg said. "It leaves us feeling very inadequate." Ren said Zha's family in China has been contacted and are making arrangements to come to Manhattan. Memorial services will be delayed until family members arrive, he said.

"Zha's family has little financial resources to pay for airplane tickets or to pay for memorial services," Ren said.

The International Student Center is helping the family make arrangements.

Anyone interested in donating assistance may contact Donna Davis at the student center.

Engineering fee subject of poll in Durland Hall

By Dan Scott
Collegian Reporter

Engineering students will have two opinion polls concerning the engineering fee when they go to vote in Durland Hall today and Wednesday.

One poll is being conducted at the request of the Kansas Board of Regents in order to gauge students' feelings regarding the fee. The University of Kansas and Wichita State University will conduct similar polls.

The poll will be taken near the information booth in Durland Hall from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Only undergraduate and graduate students in the College of Engineering who have a student ID may vote.

The second poll is being conducted at the request of Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt. He said he thought the first poll would not give the board an accurate reflection of the engineering students' feelings.

"I think these are more appropriate questions," Heitschmidt said.

Don Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, said he was afraid the added poll would confuse the issue.

"To the best of our knowledge, (the board-requested poll) is the only one that has been requested and is the only one being laid on the table in front of the board," Rathbone said. "We must vote on the original one."

Rathbone said the second poll could be looked at as an alternative, although there are no assurances that the Board will treat it as such.

The first question of the formal poll will read: "The following question be presented to all engineering students for their opinion: Kansas State University, the University of Kansas and Wichita State University propose spring 1991 implementation of a $15 per-credit-hour fee to be paid by all students enrolled in engineering courses. The fee would be assessed in undergraduate and graduate engineering courses at all three schools."

Students are then asked to check either "I support paying this fee," or "I do not support paying this fee."

The second question on the same ballot reads the same except that it calls for the fee to be implemented in fall 1991.

Heitschmidt's poll contains three questions:

■ "Do you support an engineering fee?"
■ See VOTE, Page 10

BRIEFLY

World

Russian farmers to own land

MOSCOW (AP) — Farmers in the Russian republic may own land for the first time in more than 60 years but must wait a decade to sell it under a measure passed Monday by the Russian parliament.

"Farmers will be free now. They will be free in choosing the ways and methods of their work and property," Russian President Boris Yeltsin told a news conference after what he called an historic vote.

Yeltsin said farmers told him that allowing private ownership would boost production in a year or two.

This winter, however, the Soviet Union must rely in part on food purchased or donated from abroad.

Lawmakers voted 863-90, with 40 abstentions, to reverse a land policy in effect since dictator Josef Stalin carried out a bloody collectivization of land between 1929 and 1932.

Kohl begins talks with allies

BONN, Germany (AP) — One day after triumphing in all-German elections, Chancellor Helmut Kohl on Monday began talks with coalition allies on forming a new government and prepared to tackle enormous problems facing the new Germany.

His center-right coalition swept to victory in Sunday's parliamentary balloting, the first in a united Germany since 1932, but Kohl had little time to bask in the glory.

On Monday, the chancellor began talks with his Christian Democratic Union's current governing partners.

He was hit by an ultimatum from the Free Democrats, which made more gains in the elections than any other party. They said they would re-enter the coalition only if Kohl agreed that companies in former East Germany should pay lower taxes than those in former West Germany.

Scandals rock French officials

PARIS (AP) — Accusations that intelligence officers murdered a homosexual pastor and recruited male prostitutes to entrap public figures are the latest problems for Premier Michel Rocard's troubled Socialist government.

The scandals, and allegations that Justice Minister Henri Nallet broke fund-raising laws in running President Francois Mitterrand's 1988 re-election campaign, add to other recent woes: student protests, ghetto riots and Rocard's narrow defeat — by only five votes — of a no-confidence vote introduced by the opposition.

Fighting mandates curfew

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Soldiers and heavily armed police moved into black townships Monday and more than a half-million blacks were under curfew after at least 78 people died in factional fighting over the weekend.

The worst violence was in Tokoza outside Johannesburg, where bodies lay in the mud outside burned-out homes. Police Capt. Ida van Zweek said 52 victims had been found there by Monday afternoon.

The leader of the South African Communist Party, Joe Slovo, said Monday that if President F.W. de Klerk did not act to stop the violence, talks between the government and ANC could be ruined. He accused government security forces of instigating the unrest to disrupt the talks.

"There's no way we can talk peace if people continue to be killed," Slovo said in an interview. The Communist Party, which is allied with the ANC, demanded the resignation of Law and Order Minister Adriaan Vlok and Defense Minister Magnus Malan.

Nation

Youths protest acquittal

MIAMI (AP) — Several hundred youths set fires and threw rocks and bottles at police Monday night after six police officers were acquitted of most federal civil rights charges in the beating death of a small-time drug dealer.

Police said hundreds of people, some with paper bags over their heads, chased after police, looted a store and set fires to a car, an abandoned home and several trash bins in the Hispanic neighborhood where Leonardo Mercado was fatally beaten by police in 1988.

There were no immediate reports of injuries, although several news photographers said they were roughed up and had their cameras stolen by bands of youths.

Students survive cave flooding

NEW SCOTLAND, N.Y. (AP) — Five college students were surprised, shivering and shaking when they emerged unscathed after being trapped by a flash flood for more than seven hours in the depths of a mile-long cave.

"We were all very scared," Scott Baisch, a senior at Syracuse University, said Sunday. "We thought we would die there."

Baisch and four companions had entered Onesquethaw Cave, located in an isolated area about 10 miles southwest of Albany, about 2 p.m. Saturday.

Region

Bomb threats continue at KU

LAWRENCE (AP) — For the 24th time in less than three months, a bomb threat was made at the University of Kansas on Monday, and school authorities say students and faculty are fed up with the disruptions.

"This ceased being a joke about a month ago," said Lt. John Mullens of the campus police department.

Mullens said he had some leads in his investigation but has been unable to make an arrest.

"It's probably more than one person, and there's usually some kind of major test going on at the time of the call," he said.

Campus

Students win Marshall honors

Two K-State students have won Marshall scholarships worth more than $43,000 per student to pay for graduate study in England next year.

Luis Montaner, fourth-year student in veterinary medicine and veterinary pathology from Santurce, Puerto Rico, will go to Oxford.

Julie Tarara, senior in horticulture and social sciences from Bradford, Mass., will study at Reading University.

The official announcement will be Dec. 10.

Both students were selected to participate in interviews for the Rhodes scholarship, but after learning of the Marshall wins, they have withdrawn from that competition.

K-State has had only one other Marshall scholar. Dan Robison received the award in 1984 to study at Reading University. According to a news release, he is now working in Latin America on world-hunger projects.

The Marshall scholarship was established in 1953 as an expression of gratitude from the British government for U.S. economic assistance instituted by Gen. George Marshall after World War II.

CAMPUS BULLETIN
Announcements

■ Center for Basic Cancer Research deadline for research award applications is Dec. 10. Applications are available in Ackert 234.

■ K-State Community Service Program International Teams deadline for applications for work on teams in Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic are due Dec. 12. They are available in EH 14-A.

4 Tuesday

■ Mortar Board will meet at 9:30 p.m. in the Union Big 8 Room.

■ The Department of Geology will present "Stabilization and Incipient Lithification and Dolomitization of Recent Peritidal HI-MG Calcite Muds, Belize" at 4 p.m. in Thompson 101.

■ Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union Station.

■ Phi Kappa Phi will meet at 4 p.m. in the Union Flint Hills Room.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 213.

■ Society for Creative Anachronism will have a general populace meeting at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ Society of Women Engineers will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 152.

■ FENIX Adult Student Program/OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ Society of Automotive Engineers will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 129.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the dissertation of Barton L. Goering at 1 p.m. in Bluemont 368. The topic is "Identification of Organizational Stress Exhibited by Public School Principals and Its Relationship to School Enrollment and Health Manifestations."

■ Hispanic American Leadership Organization will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 205. Bring money or canned item for the Breadbasket.

■ Society for the Advancement of Management will have a Christmas meeting and election of officers at 7 p.m. at Rusty's Outback behind Last Chance.

■ K-State Amateur Radio Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 213.

■ KSU Karate Club will have an organizational meeting at 6 p.m. in Union 205.

■ Alpha Chi Sigma will nominate officers at 7 p.m. in Willard 218.

5 Wednesday

■ Small Business Development Center and Division of Continuing Education will present "Dealing with Difficult People: Me or Them?" by Bernard Franklin from 11:30 a.m. to 1:15 p.m. Ramada Inn.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly sunny. Not as cold. High 40 to 45. Variable winds 5 to 10 mph. Tonight and Wednesday, mostly clear. Low tonight in the upper 20s. Mild on Wednesday with a high in the mid-50s.

SNOOKIES PRESENTS

THE Romantics

Thursday, Dec. 6, 9 p.m.

Tickets: $8 in advance, $10 at the Door
18 to enter, 21 to drink.

1122 Moro

UPSTAIRS

776-7726

Ben Franklin
Better quality for less

Crafts

Christmas Gift & Decor

SALE!

Thru Sunday

$3⁹⁷

Magnetic Photo Albums

Perfect for Padded Photo Albums

$2⁷⁹

Iron On Transfer

Great for Sweatshirts, full color

$1⁷⁹

Felt

36 inch wide, Christmas colors

Westloop Shopping Center

Manhattan

776-4910

Mon.-Fri. 9-9, Sat. 9-7, Sun 1-6

Need money for college?

ASK
ABOUT STUDENT
LOANS

CITIZENS BANK
& TRUST CO.
Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
776-9400

Lender Code
*804581
EMPRISE BANK
Originator

Member FDIC

2nd Annual

FREE

2nd Annual

CLINIC DAY

Thursday, Dec. 6, 9 a.m.—7 p.m.

Help the Flinthills Bread Basket when you help yourself...
Bring in a can of food and receive your first appointment

FREE

1st Appointment includes Consultation, Physical, Orthopedic, Neurological Exams and one X-ray. All At No Cost To You!

MANHATTAN
CHIROPRACTIC

539-5622

1127 Westloop Shopping Center

Pre-Finals Stress?

Champale

$2⁹⁹ 4 pk.

Wine Coolers

$10 Case

Keystone
Suitcases

Reg.
&
Light

$5⁹⁹

We accept:

Gasoline Alley
Conoco

We sell:
Regular & Unleaded

A Dancer's Life

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

The Department of Dance used to be part of the physical education department until it moved to the Department of Theater in fall 1986.

"It has really been a good move for the dance department," said Judith Quirk Chitwood, director of the dance department.

Chitwood said the move has created a better understanding because theater, like dance, is a performing art, and the production, backstage work, lighting and preliminary work for both are similar.

"The move has created a better overall situation for the work that is involved in the production of a concert," Chitwood said.

"We have more technical help now with a costumer, a lighting designer, and we are a part of theater. Those things are provided instead of the dance department having to hire those services out," Chitwood said.

As is the case in any smart merger, both sides receive benefits.

"The proximity makes it a lot easier for our theater students to take dance courses, which is very important and helpful to them," said Lew Shelton, director of the Department of Theater.

"We have always encouraged them to take dance courses, but with the closer affiliation, students are taking better advantage of the classes," Shelton said.

He said with the merger, it is much easier for the theater department to work with the dance department.

"They get more support for their dances from our technical staff, and we get help with our choreography for our musicals," Shelton said.

"I really like working with the theater department because there is a lot of support, and I find the students in both programs to be really wonderful," Chitwood said.

Recently, the dance department has had a high turnover rate of staff members. This is the main problem that Chitwood is addressing.

"I feel a strong commitment to K-State, and there's a lot to do here," Chitwood said. "I would like to maintain a staff that will be committed to K-State and our system."

"I think that people will find that they would work a lot better if they would work with the system and learn where they can make their own path without bumping into walls all of the time," Chitwood said.

Gary Lytle/Staff

Director of K-State's dance department, Judith Quirk Chitwood, has a full schedule with teaching dance classes, directing the department and coordinating the dance concert "An Intimate Evening of Dance." She choreographs two pieces in the production and dances in another.

Dance department assists, benefits from merger with theater program

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

Judith Quirk Chitwood, professor of dance and director of K-State's dance department, has had to make some changes in her lifestyle since coming to Manhattan in 1985. One thing that remains the same, however, is her lack of free time.

In addition to teaching dance classes, directing the dance department and coordinating the dance concert "An Intimate Evening of Dance," Chitwood is also choreographing two pieces and dancing in another. Chitwood said she is a firm believer that hard work will pay off later.

After transferring to the University of Cincinnati from the University of Loyola-Chicago in 1980, Chitwood made some drastic changes in her life.

Chitwood said she transferred to Cincinnati because of its dance program. While at Loyola, she majored in business.

"I really don't know why I changed my major and made the drastic change," Chitwood said. "I went into dance with the idea that if I didn't like it, I could change back."

She said she started dancing when she was 17 years old. She was asked to dance with the Cincinnati Ballet Company after one year of classes at the University of Cincinnati.

"Performing for the Cincinnati Ballet Company was an opportunity I never thought I was going to get," Chitwood said. "Getting a late start, I didn't think I was going to be up to that level."

Chitwood started her hard work shortly after accepting the offer of the ballet company.

"I'd be in class all morning and with the company all afternoon, and then I taught classes at night for the university," Chitwood said.

The company's dance rehearsals ran for seven hours a day, six days a week. Chitwood said she maintained this hectic schedule for almost three years.

"There was always a lot of things to do," she said. "We had to rehearse the things we already knew, and then start on new pieces."

She graduated from the University of Cincinnati with a bachelor of fine arts in 1982. Chitwood received her master of arts from Cincinnati in 1984.

Upon graduation, her job search led her to K-State, where she took over the duties as director of the dance program in 1985.

"I loved living in Chicago and Cincinnati," Chitwood said. "When I came to Manhattan for my interview, it was very hot, and I remember telling myself, 'No way, it's too far.'"

"The next day or two, K-State called back, and I decided it was a great opportunity," she said.

Chitwood said she anticipated having a hard time adjusting to life in Manhattan as opposed to living in the bigger cities of Cincinnati and Chicago.

"The hardest thing I had to adjust to was running into everybody all the time," Chitwood said.

She met her husband, John, of Manhattan, and is now faced with a different kind of adjustment.

"If I were to do anything right now, I would like to be more balanced," Chitwood said. "I live in this building (Ahearn Field House) and in dance, and I would like to be able to have a little time for my own personal growth."

"For me, I'd just like to calm down," she said.

BUSHWACKER'S
THE FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion
Mon., Tues., Wednesday
9 p.m.

The Amazing Johnathon

• Late Night w/ David Letterman • Showtime w/ Jimmy Walker
• HBO Young Comedian Special • Comic Strip Live

• Evening at The Improv
18 to enter, 21 to drink

Before 5 p.m. Call for Reservations After 5 p.m.
539-4321 531 N. Manhattan 539-9727

Thanks to all S.A.V.E. participants for a great semester!! and...

Winchester

Pam Ouellette
Garry Harter
Gene Harris

Xin Yu Zhang
Jenny Nickels
Jennifer Shank

Alden

David Ball
Andrea Gans

Community Service Program
Eisenhower 14A, 532-5701

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

What Can Make ACUVUE®
Disposable Contact Lenses
Even Better?

A Free Trial Pair!

We want to open your eyes to the convenience and comfort of ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses.

Come in for an eye exam.

If ACUVUE is right for you, we'll give you a free trial pair.*

ACUVUE® The First Disposable Contact Lens Johnson & Johnson

Dr. Paul E. Bullock
Optometrist

See your eyecare professional annually

New Location: 555 Poyntz Suite 151 Colony Square

776-9461 Toll Free 1-800-432-0035

*Examination and other professional service fees are not included in this free trial pair offer.

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

DECEMBER 5, 1990
Noon-4 p.m.
Shellenberger 220

We will be selling Christmas packs at this flour sale.
Christmas packs contain:

5 lbs. of White Flour
5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
2 lbs. of Bran
2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6

Packs will also be available Dec. 12, 1990.
Last Flour Sale before Christmas Break

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's
12 Days of K-State Christmas
Sale Items in the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

Phi Kappa Phi

An Honor Society Across All Academic Areas
Kansas State University Chapter
Celebrating 75 Years at KSU

Congratulations to our new initiates

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE

Jim Bethwell
Troy M. Bourbon
Daniel W. Hayes
Jennifer S. Jones
Mario Antonio Mayes
Bret Rudder
Todd W. Strickler

COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE & DESIGN

Thomas W. Hanson
Richard R. Keist
Randy Lee Bahr
Signe Gyrite Balch
Laura Beals

COLLEGE OF ARTS & SCIENCES

John C. Brosa
Scott M. Carlson
David A. Cole
Michelle R. Cordill
Jeffery C. Couchman
Jane Ann Davis
Jennifer L. Dickinson
Laena Christine Ellsworth
Bettina M. Garner Earl
Steven D. Glover
Daria K. Goodman
Mark A. Hager
Scott M. Hane
Anissa M. Holm
Naomi Howard
Larry Huber
Kimberly A. Jones
Dawn Michelle Kaufman
Jill Kelpin
Cynthia Faye Knauff-Santiago
Kate Koelliker
Yuki Komagata
Lisa Kuntz
Katy Lyon
Michelle Y. Moon
Daryl D. Riley
Terri S. Roberts
Jason B. Rogers
Shawn Michelle Schnabel
Shelly S. Scooby
Michelle Slavik
Matt J. Sylte
Ann E. Tao
Christine Tucker
Elyn A. Willy
Tong Zou

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Artzye Hedrick
Susan E. Higham
Homa Hooshmand
Staci D. Hytrek
Young Sun Kang
Josephine M. Kiser
Rachel M. Kimeck
Richard D. Lettler
Susan C. Long
Ba L. Madhus
Margaret S. Martin
Susan Stacey Hall Millichap
Beverly Mortimer
John Edward Phillips
Jean Dillon Reiter
Marco A. Rodriguez
Robert L. Seymour
Michael Solomonsen
Anita Specht
Vernon L. Stiefel
Hagen Suh
Susan Krivshiel Taylor
Thippareddi Harshavardhan
Chris A. Trumble
Muralidhar Venkatrao
Mark B. White
Robert W. Winter
Yiming Zhang
Lori S. Zoll

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

Kurt Barrow
Christian M. Blackwell
Ronald Brockhoff
James A. Butel
Scott D. Hammers
David M. Hammers
Glen L. Hordke
Chad L. Hartman
Keith G. Jacobs
Jeff Kimbell
Michelle R. Kraft
David K. Lee
Brian Douglas Mauer
Juan Carlos Morales A.
Jon Kyle Murdock
Grant E. Nurnberg
James C. Saunders
Joel Scott Sommer
Mark H. Stedry
Mark A. Stenberg
Ross Sitter
Benjamin K. Sweet
James L. Winter

COLLEGE OF HUMAN ECOLOGY

Leslie Ann Beckstrom
Ann Butler
Gail Edson
Karla Frezor
Julianne Lonergan
Daria R. McIntosh
Laura E. Mustered
Diana Ott
Tanny A. Trout
Tresa F. Walters
Curtis Wilite

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

Ingrid Langsetmo

GRADUATE SCHOOL

Loita Karen Anderson
Dorothy Marie (Guilliams) Arensman
Sue Ann Banker
Timothy J. Beck
Malika Bose
Janell R. Brauer
Margaret Ellen Brockson
David L. Bullock
Kimberly Cargas
Susan E. Childs
Jane Elizabeth Knall Clark
Annalisa M. Cleveland
Dale Coffin
V. Renae Colle
Susan Vomhof Courtney
Wei Dong
Mark William Endicott
Irwin Endsley
Joanne Gunn
Artzye Hedrick
Susan E. Higham
Homa Hooshmand
Staci D. Hytrek
Young Sun Kang
Josephine M. Kiser
Rachel M. Kimeck
Richard D. Lettler
Susan C. Long
Ba L. Madhus
Margaret S. Martin
Susan Stacey Hall Millichap
Beverly Mortimer
John Edward Phillips
Jean Dillon Reiter
Marco A. Rodriguez
Robert L. Seymour
Michael Solomonsen
Anita Specht
Vernon L. Stiefel
Hagen Suh
Susan Krivshiel Taylor
Thippareddi Harshavardhan
Chris A. Trumble
Muralidhar Venkatrao
Mark B. White
Robert W. Winter
Yiming Zhang
Lori S. Zoll

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Will power needed in consumer society

It was a Wal-Mart weekend. Three trips to that shopping and saving mecca and a grand total I'm embarrassed to mention. I said last week that I was the ultimate consumer. This week, I proved it.

I have a wonderful, terrible time at Wal-Mart. In spite of a variety of marketing classes and a thorough knowledge of all the tricks that retailers and producers use to urge me to buy, I buy anyway.

I first went to Wal-Mart on Friday. I was down, I wasn't feeling good about myself. I'd had distressing news and a mean teacher, and a weekend full of homework was planned. I was weak and vulnerable. Wal-Mart sucked me in.

My problem is that I'm a gullible consumer. I'll believe anything they print on the back of a package. When I hear all the glorious attributes of a product being advertised on television, I catch myself thinking "Cool, I should have that." In other words, I'm the kind of person who shouldn't go to the store without a list, limited funds and a strong-minded friend. Usually, I can restrain myself. Friday, I was alone and with a credit card.

I told you I was feeling vulnerable. I did what any woman in my mood would do. I went and bought a new face. Here is just a sampling of the fabulous products I bought to change my life:

An apricot-scrub cleanser that promised to "Unclog pores, remove blackheads and complexion-dulling dead cells." I needed that. My life was a blackhead, my mind clogged, my outlook dulled, no doubt, by dead cells. "Exceptionally clean, healthy skin is visible immediately." Who could resist that? I need to be clean and healthy.

I also bought an astringent that promised to "leave skin immaculately clean ... cool, soft, refreshed." It was magic on a cotton ball. I was tense. I needed to be cool, soft and refreshed. This product also suggested that it would be best used with matching products. Do they expect me to believe them on that subject? They're hardly disinterested. Besides, I think that's for the unimaginative. I need a variety of cures for what ails me.

I also bought an "acne night watch" product that promised to "work while I sleep." This worries me, now that I've looked at it closely. It doesn't promise to cure acne. It doesn't even promise to help it. It promises to

Karin Dell'Antonia
COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

"work while you sleep." Doing what? Cleaning? Aerobics? No wonder it irritates my skin. Who knows what it's working to do? This isn't what I had in mind. It doesn't even promise to be cool, soft or refreshing.

The silliest thing that I bought promised to "retexurize, minimize dry lines" around my eyes. Those late nights have been taking their toll. I find it intensely depressing that I'm trying to prevent both wrinkles and acne. I always thought they were mutually exclusive. Not for me. I'll be buying "Clearasil adult-strength" and denture cream. I just know it.

My unluckiest purchase promised to "dissolve even mascara on contact ... leave skin baby-soft and feeling better than you ever imagined. It did what it promised, I have to admit — unfortunately, it was the equivalent of rubbing Crisco on my face. And no matter how many times I apricot-scrubbed it and astringented it, it just wouldn't come off. I guess that's why it didn't say I'd feel immaculately clean. That was the cause of my second trip to Wal-Mart. I took it back.

I felt a little guilty taking it back after I'd already used it. I had a big story ready about how it wasn't really a "cleanser," but the guy at the counter just wrote "didn't need" on the form without asking. He didn't open the container, either. I replaced it with a product that said it would both "leave skin soft and smooth" and "control oil." I guess I learned my lesson.

Maybe it was the guilt over returning the other stuff that made me so weak in the checkout line. I actually fell for some of those little tempting things they have sitting there by the register, saying, "Buy me, buy me, I'll come in handy." I bought some superglue to fix a vase I broke last month and some Blistex. I stopped myself just before I picked up the new Bic Razors for Ladies. I don't use disposable razors. The hardest part was ig-norning the overpriced candy bars.

The third trip was entirely Christmas-related. The shiny, red nine-foot garland we bought goes around our six-foot tree about once. It looks like a belt. Nine feet sounded like a lot at the time. I also wanted wrapping paper, but that was before I realized that to buy it at Wal-Mart, you have to buy four rolls, three of which are ugly. I bought cookie cutters. I really needed them. Really.

I'm a consumer in a consumer society. I could have bought dozens of other products making slightly different claims, and eventually I probably will. I'm a sucker.

The sad thing is, I used all my new stuff. I look just the same. My skin isn't blackhead free, my pores are still clogged, I'm not cool, soft and refreshed. I still have zits. My hair isn't any softer or more manageable, I don't glow with vitality, and I'll probably still get cavities and gum disease. I'm still me. Oh, well, maybe it takes a while to work. Or maybe I bought the wrong stuff. But I am consumer-woman (target market group aged 18-24), and I believe.

EDITORIALS

Congress needs to call special session early

It's time for the full Congress to get in on the debate about the U.S. role in the Persian Gulf conflict.

Up to now, President George Bush and his administration have been calling the shots for the United States. But Thursday, the U.N. Security Council, acting on Bush's lead, set a Jan. 15 deadline for Saddam Hussein to withdraw his troops from Kuwait or risk battle with the multinational forces in the region.

The imminence of war should be enough to prompt Congress back into session.

The Senate Armed Services Committee is already hearing testimony on Bush's Persian Gulf policy — and questioning whether the economic sanctions have had enough time to work.

Although this time of year is traditionally reserved for desk-clearing and holiday appearances in their home districts, members of Congress should be forming some sort of consensus of the U.S. role in Iraq. Even though the new Congress does not take office until Jan. 3, there are enough incumbents to form a quorum and get a debate going that would carry over into the next term. Rather than waiting until the session begins, 12 days before the expiration date set by the U.N., and scrambling for a cohesive policy, Congress should get its act together early. The legislators' tendency to procrastinate should not force the United States into a situation similar to the one a few months ago during the budget crisis.

The Constitution states that only Congress has the power to declare war. And because war seems to be at the forefront of Bush's plan to resolve the Persian Gulf crisis, Congress — the governmental body that is supposed to represent the best interests of the American people — should be called back into session to prepare its answer in the eventuality that Bush asks for its opinion.

Reorganization needs logic

The period of four decades in which I have had the opportunity to observe happenings at K-State (happenings defined as growth, retrenchment, regrowth, and lately, unraveling) has been a fascinating experience. The University has grown in enrollment from about 6,000 to about 20,000. The faculty has increased proportionately in numbers and, I think, greatly in stature. The administrative area has grown more rapidly in numbers and cost.

My purpose in writing this essay is to air some personal views. My credentials include having had or performed a respectable research program, adequate teaching, 15 years service on the Faculty Senate and 12 years service on the committee that oversees the Faculty Handbook, including 6 years as chairman. My continuing service on the handbook committee has been especially instructive on matters of University structure and operations.

The University needs to plan carefully to adjust its programs to match its resources. It is poised to do this, following the recent attempt to trim its functions by major surgery when structural and programmatic reorganization is needed.

K-State is organized in the typical American fashion. It surprises students and some faculty members to learn that European universities operate differently. A colleague of mine who has had experience with both styles describes European universities as operating efficiently with much smaller administrative structures.

Given the American pattern to work with, it would seem that a logical approach to our present problems might include:

- Reduction of administrative and student services
- Consolidation of departments and programs
- Assumption of most advising and counseling duties by faculty members
- Rededication to the primary mission of the University, which is teaching.

Each administrator and faculty member will seek to protect his turf.

For openers, let's discuss some possibilities. Each college and school requires the services of a dean and an associate or assistant

Jack Lambert
GUEST COLUMNIST

ered. If the University is required by the state to accept all graduates of Kansas high schools, and if the state doesn't provide sufficient funds to operate the University, our recourse would not be a happy one. In better times, this problem may be resolved at the high school level, and the University could resume commitment of some of its resources to a problem which is not one of its own making.

Part of the problem of over-administration lies in student services, an area in which advising and counseling play a large part. These are functions which the faculty should provide, except for specialized advising of students who wish to qualify for scholarships and for other special purposes. Advising and counseling should be recognized activities on which faculty members are evaluated for salary increases, promotions, and tenure.

One former department head used to remind his faculty that they would not be here if it weren't for teaching students. Research and scholarly activity, important as they are to a university and to the faculty, are made possible because we teach the children of taxpayers. A recent effort to discontinue non-tenure-track faculty positions in order to increase the numbers of graduate students for research-oriented faculty affects this important function of the University. English composition, beginning language, and some science laboratory classes, to name a few, would be weakened by this practice. Some of our best teachers are in non-tenure-track positions.

One quick solution to the dollar shortfall the University faces would be to increase student fees. Permission to do this would require approval by the Board of Regents. Another solution, and the most desirable, would be increased funding by the Legislature. Both would take time and, considering the possibility of economic recession, may not be possible in the short term. It is essential that the University take carefully considered action to solve its problems as best it can under the present circumstances.

Jack Lambert is a professor emeritus of chemistry.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Verno
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITOR	Steve Franzén, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hajjimoheeds, Evelyn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel, Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lemz, Rebecca Sack, Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
COLUMNISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
REVIEWERS	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Greg Branson, Steve Franzén, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tommy Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Verno
STRIP CARTOONISTS
EDITORIAL BOARD

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEARSHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayne Wall, Allison Schaff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind, Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd
GRAPHIC ARTIST
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Pomeroy
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Deanna Adams, Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa Smith, Joe Cook, Minida Dowdy, John Fulkerson, Norm LeComte, James Seymore
OFFICE STAFF
CARRIERS

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications, Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Group to perform carols

Chanticleer to sing French, Spanish Christmas songs

By Danette King
Collegian Reporter

An "Orchestra of Voices" will fill McCain Auditorium with Christmas carols from all eras at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Chanticleer, a 12-piece a cappella vocal ensemble, will perform carols ranging from the medieval and renaissance eras to traditional and spiritual hymns. The group's voices range from countertenor to bass.

More than 900 tickets have been sold for the concert. McCain director Richard Martin said the group's sound is unique.

"They achieve effects with their voices that make it sound fuller than 12 people," Martin said. "It's gutsy singing, with lots of spirit."

Smaller than a chamber group and larger than a barbershop quartet, Chanticleer has been described by the New York Times as an ensemble with first-class technical security, persuasive stylistic command and a charming on-stage demeanor.

Martin said the group will perform French and Spanish songs as well as traditional Christmas carols.

After attending one of Chanticleer's concerts, Robert Shaw, the dean of American choral conductors, said the group had mesmerized the audience.

"It was one of the most beautiful musical experiences of my life," Shaw said.

Chanticleer, the only full-time professional a cappella vocal ensemble in the United States, was founded in 1978 by Louis Botto in San Francisco. Since then, it has become internationally known.

The group, whose name comes from the comic rooster in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," now performs 75 concerts each year throughout the United States and Europe. This year's tour stops in 21 states, with highlighted performances in New York City, Washington, D.C., and Atlanta.

Their European tour will include stops in Germany and Luxembourg.

Chanticleer has performed at the 18th International Fortnight of Music Festival in Bruges, Belgium; the International Josquin Symposium in Cologne, Germany; the Voices Festival in Holland and the Salzburg Festival in Austria.

Tickets for the performance are on sale at the McCain box office. Admission is $12 for adults, $10 for senior citizens and $6 for students and children. Tickets are also available at Bramlage Coliseum, the K-State Union Bookstore and the Manhattan Town Center customer-service desk.

The performance is sponsored by the fine arts fee and by the Friends of McCain.

Style mixture makes album 'unlistenable'

COLLEGIAN Report Card "INVISIBLE MEANS"

D-

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reviewer

There is a point where music is so eclectic that it is almost unlistenable.

John French, Fred Frith, Henry Kaiser and Richard Thompson have reached this point with one of Windham Hill's most, umm, innovative records, "Invisible Means." Their music is folk-rock, art-rock, noise-rock, avant-garde, new acoustic music, American vernacular music. Theirs is a format without format. It is difficult to classify and even more difficult to listen to.

"Invisible Means" is the second album to combine the proven talents of these four improvisational musicians. Their first recording effort was "Live, Love, Larf & Loaf," released on Rhino Records.

There is no gut-level music on "Invisible Means." The artists employ their talent and creativity to produce music which takes chances both acoustically and rhythmically. It is exclusive and daring music which can communicate only intellectually.

Music, like food, does not require much explanation for its appeal or offense. It is also possible to acquire a taste for food or music, even if a particular sort isn't appealing at first. And somehow if you never quite appreciate the sophisticated taste of Camembert, the decaying taste of beer, the classic sound of opera, or the decibel level of heavy metal, you've failed to become and experience all that other people do.

What I'm saying is that I tried hard to like this album — this entire genre of music, in fact — but as much as I wanted to, as much as I wanted to belong to the elite group for whom it was recorded, the entire album overwhelmed me with an uncomfortable impatience.

I just kept wishing that the sounds would resolve. The erratic drumming, spontaneous melody lines, clashing sounds and rhythms, and the dissonance, the never-ending dissonance, became a burden to hear and a chore to sort through.

A plunky piano and a squeaky horn juxtaposed on creaky, non-harmonious vocals may be innovative, but it is still ineffective as musical communication. Sporadic beats and monotonous pinging characterize the song "Hunting Sunsets." The song is over before it begins because it sounds like an orchestra warming up.

I know that this style of music completely eluded me because my compact disc player got stuck on the last song, "Killing Jar," and I didn't even notice. "Killing Jar" was one of the only songs on the album with real rock 'n' roll guitar sounds — that was far, however, from its redemption.

A few of the songs, "Lizard's Tail," "Quick Sign" and "The Near-sighted Heron," sound jazzy — saturated with cymbals and soothing guitar melodies. Others, like the title track and "Now That I Am Dead," have a country/western flair. The rest of the songs — if they can be classified at all — are marches, masses, folk, cheap rock, funk, and far-eastern melodies.

I didn't appreciate it.

That is an indication that at least someone cannot benefit from this music. If it is any help to you at all, any comfort to realize that not understanding something doesn't mean you're dumb, then I am glad.

I am glad to be so bold that I can say, without embarrassment, "I hated this album." If it didn't communicate with me, it was not worth the creative limb upon which it was extended. By my definition, creativity must have purpose, and music must still be burdened with soul communication.

Computers teach students animal-breeding techniques

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

An imaginary herd of 50 cows and at least two bulls, a computer disk and an IBM PC give students the ingredients for playing the Cowgame.

Students in the Animal Breeding class are playing the computer-simulated Cowgame as a project to give them experience in breeding.

The Cowgame was written as a teaching tool to show the progress possible in a beef-cattle herd through genetic selection, said Linda Martin, assistant professor in animal science and industry.

"The game has no magic formula.

Each group is given the genetically equal computer herd," Martin said. "It is then up to the group what the herd turns into after six generations, but it isn't cut and dried."

Students are asked to maximize each trait of the herd. They do this by determining and controlling growth and weight.

Built-in variables of the project complicate the outcome of the herd, Martin said. For example, bad weather, death, eating habits, health care and overall management of the herd take their toll.

She said most students get frustrated at first, but they realize that this will help them to use principles they learn now and to apply them to their own particular production system later in life.

Eric Schwantz, senior in animal science and industry, said he worked on the project for five weeks. Schwantz said it helped him learn the causes and effects of decisions.

"The project creates competition in a good way," he said. "By learning from my own and others' mistakes, I think I learned the trade-offs involved in the theory behind lectures and textbooks."

Martin said many of her students ■ See COWGAME, Page 10

BLACK BRAS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

UNITED ARTISTS
Theatres
$3.00 ALL SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 P.M.
SETH CHILDS 6 776-9886
Seth Childs at Farm Bureau Rd.
Tuesday Bargain Day
All Seats All Day
All Movies $3.00
Admission

Misery (R)
7:05 & 9:30
Ghost (PG-13)
6:50 & 9:25
Rescuers Down Under (G)
w/ Prince & Pauper 7:00 & 9:20
Rocky V (PG-13)
7:05 & 9:35
Home Alone (PG)
7:10 & 9:25
Dances with Wolves (PG-13)
8:30 only

Best Prices with Local Support

Connecting Point offers IBM® and Apple® computers at below Bookstore prices - with the support you deserve.

Compare both name brands.

Talk to the computer professionals.

IBM® PS/2® Model 25
PS/2 in full color with 640 by 480 dot resolution. Includes 2 720K drives, 640K memory, keyboard, mouse & DOS 4.0. $1187

IBM® PS/2® Model 55SX
For the real power user, this 16MHz PS/2 has 2Mb memory, a 30Mb hard drive, VGA color screen, Windows 3.0, SoftType, DOS 4.0, Word, and more. $2349.

Macintosh® Classic®
The power to be your best at a price you can afford. The Classic has a 3.5" SuperDrive™, a SCSI port, 40Mb hard drive, and Microsoft Works. $1449.

Macintosh® IIx®
Apple's newest power computer uses the fast 68030 processor, has 2Mb of memory, and comes equipped with a 40Mb drive. $2779.
monitor not included

Connecting Point COMPUTER CENTERS

1115 Westloop • 539-0801

Authorized Dealer

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation. Apple, the Apple logo, Macintosh, Macintosh Classic, and Macintosh IIx are registered trademarks of Apple, Inc.

Prices may change. Fulltime students, faculty & staff only.

* Macintosh Classic and Macintosh IIx only

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe. You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.®

Use as directed. Contains caffeine equivalent of two cups of coffee. © 1990 SouthStar Systems

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $10.00

On Christmas Trees, Ornaments, Lights, Garland, and Tree Toppers When You Buy $30.00 or More Of These Christmas Items

Expires 12/9/90

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $5.00

On Your Purchase Of $25.00 or More. Good On Regular Priced Merchandise Only.

Expires 12/9/90

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

537-4046
1110 Westloop

Group to perform carols

Chanticleer to sing French, Spanish Christmas songs

By Danette King
Collegian Reporter

An "Orchestra of Voices" will fill McCain Auditorium with Christmas carols from all eras at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Chanticleer, a 12-piece a cappella vocal ensemble, will perform carols ranging from the medieval and renaissance eras to traditional and spiritual hymns. The group's voices range from countertenor to bass.

More than 900 tickets have been sold for the concert. McCain director Richard Martin said the group's sound is unique.

"They achieve effects with their voices that make it sound fuller than 12 people," Martin said. "It's gutsy singing, with lots of spirit."

Smaller than a chamber group and larger than a barbershop quartet, Chanticleer has been described by the New York Times as an ensemble with first-class technical security, persuasive stylistic command and a charming on-stage demeanor.

Martin said the group will perform French and Spanish songs as well as traditional Christmas carols.

After attending one of Chanticleer's concerts, Robert Shaw, the dean of American choral conductors, said the group had mesmerized the audience.

"It was one of the most beautiful musical experiences of my life," Shaw said.

Chanticleer, the only full-time professional a cappella vocal ensemble in the United States, was founded in 1978 by Louis Botto in San Francisco. Since then, it has become internationally known.

The group, whose name comes from the comic rooster in Chaucer's "Canterbury Tales," now performs 75 concerts each year throughout the United States and Europe. This year's tour stops in 21 states, with highlighted performances in New York City, Washington, D.C., and Atlanta.

Their European tour will include stops in Germany and Luxembourg.

Chanticleer has performed at the 18th International Fortnight of Music Festival in Bruges, Belgium; the International Josquin Symposium in Cologne, Germany; the Voices Festival in Holland and the Salzburg Festival in Austria. Tickets for the performance are on sale at the McCain box office. Admission is $12 for adults, $10 for senior citizens and $6 for students and children. Tickets are also available at Bramlage Coliseum, the K-State Union Bookstore and the Manhattan Town Center customer-service desk.

The performance is sponsored by the fine arts fee and by the Friends of McCain.

Style mixture makes album 'unlistenable'

COLLEGIAN
Report Card
"INVISIBLE MEANS"
D-

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reviewer

There is a point where music is so eclectic that it is almost unlistenable.

John French, Fred Frith, Henry Kaiser and Richard Thompson have reached this point with one of Windham Hill's most, umm, innovative records, "Invisible Means." Their music is folk-rock, art-rock, noise-rock, avant-garde, new acoustic music, American vernacular music. Theirs is a format without format. It is difficult to classify and even more difficult to listen to.

"Invisible Means" is the second album to combine the proven talents of these four improvisational musicians. Their first recording effort was "Live, Love, Larf & Loaf," released on Rhino Records.

There is no gut-level music on "Invisible Means." The artists employ their talent and creativity to produce music which takes chances both acoustically and rhythmically. It is exclusive and daring music which can communicate only intellectually.

Music, like food, does not require much explanation for its appeal or offense. It is also possible to acquire a taste for food or music, even if a particular sort isn't appealing at first. And somehow if you never quite appreciate the sophisticated taste of Camembert, the decaying taste of beer, the classic sound of opera, or the decibel level of heavy metal, you've failed to become and experience all that other people do.

What I'm saying is that I tried hard to like this album — this entire genre of music, in fact — but as much as I wanted to, as much as I wanted to belong to the elite group for whom it was recorded, the entire album overwhelmed me with an uncomfortable impatience.

I just kept wishing that the sounds would resolve. The erratic drumming, spontaneous melody lines, clashing sounds and rhythms, and the dissonance, the never-ending dissonance, became a burden to hear and a chore to sort through.

A plunky piano and a squeaky horn juxtaposed on creaky, non-harmonious vocals may be innovative, but it is still ineffective as musical communication. Sporadic beats and monotonous pinging characterize the song "Hunting Sunsets." The song is over before it begins because it sounds like an orchestra warming up.

I know that this style of music completely eluded me because my compact disc player got stuck on the last song, "Killing Jar," and I didn't even notice. "Killing Jar" was one of the only songs on the album with real rock 'n' roll guitar sounds — that was far, however, from its redemption.

A few of the songs, "Lizard's Tail," "Quick Sign" and "The Near-sighted Heron," sound jazzy — saturated with cymbals and soothing guitar melodies. Others, like the title track and "Now That I Am Dead," have a country/western flair. The rest of the songs — if they can be classified at all — are marches, masses, folk, cheap rock, funk, and far-eastern melodies.

I didn't appreciate it.

That is an indication that at least someone cannot benefit from this music. If it is any help to you at all, any comfort to realize that not understanding something doesn't mean you're dumb, then I am glad.

I am glad to be so bold that I can say, without embarrassment, "I hated this album." If it didn't communicate with me, it was not worth the creative limb upon which it was extended. By my definition, creativity must have purpose, and music must still be burdened with soul communication.

Computers teach students animal-breeding techniques

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

An imaginary herd of 50 cows and at least two bulls, a computer disk and an IBM PC give students the ingredients for playing the Cowgame.

Students in the Animal Breeding class are playing the computer-simulated Cowgame as a project to give them experience in breeding.

The Cowgame was written as a teaching tool to show the progress possible in a beef-cattle herd through genetic selection, said Linda Martin, assistant professor in animal science and industry.

"The game has no magic formula.

Each group is given the genetically equal computer herd," Martin said. "It is then up to the group what the herd turns into after six generations, but it isn't cut and dried."

Students are asked to maximize each trait of the herd. They do this by determining and controlling growth and weight.

Built-in variables of the project complicate the outcome of the herd, Martin said. For example, bad weather, death, eating habits, health care and overall management of the herd take their toll.

She said most students get frustrated at first, but they realize that this will help them to use principles they learn now and to apply them to their own particular production system later in life.

Eric Schwantz, senior in animal science and industry, said he worked on the project for five weeks. Schwantz said it helped him learn the causes and effects of decisions.

"The project creates competition in a good way," he said. "By learning from my own and others' mistakes, I think I learned the trade-offs involved in the theory behind lectures and textbooks."

Martin said many of her students

■ See COWGAME, Page 10

BLACK BRAS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

UNITED ARTISTS
Theatres
"3.50 ALL SHOWS BEFORE 6:00 P.M."
SETH CHILDS 6 776-9886
Seth Childs at Farm Bureau Rd.
Tuesday Bargain Day
All Seats All Day
All Movies $3.00
Admission

Misery (R)
7:05 & 9:30
Ghost (PG-13)
6:50 & 9:25
Rescuers Down Under (G)
w/ Prince & Pauper 7:00 & 9:20
Rocky V (PG-13)
7:05 & 9:35
Home Alone (PG)
7:10 & 9:25
Dances with Wolves (PG-13)
8:30 only

Best Prices with Local Support

Connecting Point offers IBM® and Apple® computers at below Bookstore prices - with the support you deserve.

Compare both name brands.

Talk to the computer professionals.

IBM® PS/2® Model 25
PS/2 in full color with 640 by 480 dot resolution. Includes 2 720K drives, 640K memory, keyboard, mouse & DOS 4.0. $1187

IBM® PS/2® Model 55SX
For the real power user, this 16MHz PS/2 has 2Mb memory, a 30Mb hard drive, VGA color screen, Windows 3.0, SoftType, DOS 4.0, Word, and more. $2349.

Macintosh® Classic®
The power to be your best at a price you can afford. The Classic has a 3.5" SuperDrive™, a SCSI port, 40Mb hard drive, and Microsoft Works. $1449.

Macintosh® IIfx®
Apple's newest power computer uses the fast 68030 processor, has 2Mb of memory, and comes equipped with a 40Mb drive. $2779.
monitor not included

Connecting Point COMPUTER CENTERS

1115 Westloop • 539-0801

Authorized Dealer

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation. Apple, the Apple logo, Macintosh, Macintosh Classic, and Macintosh IIfx are registered trademarks of Apple, Inc.

Prices may change
Fulltime students, faculty & staff only.

* Macintosh Classic and Macintosh IIfx only

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe.
You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN®

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $10.00

On Christmas Trees, Ornaments, Lights, Garland, and Tree Toppers When You Buy $30.00 or More Of These Christmas Items

Expires 12/9/90

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $5.00

On Your Purchase Of $25.00 or More. Good On Regular Priced Merchandise Only.

Expires 12/9/90

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

537-4046
1110 Westloop

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Lady Cats to face Bears on road

Coach Susan Yow hopes a simplification of the team's offensive approach will help the Lady Cats in their first road contest tonight against Southwest Missouri State in Springfield, Mo.

David Mayes/Phi

Time off leads to adjustments

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

A six-day layoff from game competition is just what the doctor ordered for the Lady Cats, Coach Susan Yow said late last week.

That's just what the team got, but it ends tonight with a road test against Southwest Missouri State at 7:05 in the Hammons Center in Springfield, Mo.

K-State is 2-1, but Yow said she was very dissatisfied with the team's offensive execution in its lone loss to nationally ranked Clemson. That execution was better in a win over UMKC on Nov. 27, but adaptations were made in the offense last week.

"One thing about us as a staff, it's that we're not afraid to make changes," Yow said. "One of the biggest problems we're having at the offensive end is with chemistry."

"And so, again, we're going to re-vamp what we do offensively to install things that suit the individual skills of the senior leaders we need good things from to be successful."

Yow has been pleased with the team's execution in its "No. 3" offense, and that will be a look various foes see a great deal more of, she said.

"I think that offense has some continuity to it, and it doesn't place as many quick decisions on the players," she said. "It's a great deal more structured, and players know where they have to be to make sure it works."

Yow said that solid execution will be pivotal against the Bears, who have received votes in the women's Top 25 poll, though failing to crack the list.

"We're going to have a good test at Southwest Missouri State," she said. "That team will be in the NCAAs. A win over them could really help us down the road — confidence-wise and as far as getting a possible tournament bid."

Southwest Missouri State is coached by former KU standout Cheryl Burnett, who led the Bears to a 19-8 record and a share of the Gateway Conference regular-season title last season.

The Bears are led on the floor by senior forward LaWaynta Dawson and sophomore guard Cecilia Winkfield. Dawson had 25 points in a win over Florida State earlier this season.

K-State won the meeting between the two schools last season, 69-48 in Manhattan. In that contest, guard Nadira Hazim had 23 points, including 15 in the first half.

Yow is 4-4 lifetime as a coach against the Bears. Her Drake team was swept by Southwest Missouri State in a pair of contests last season.

PROBABLE STARTERS

vs.
Southwest Mo.
State Bears

Diana Miller
5-10 Sr. F
15.5 ppg
7.0 rpg

Leah Honeycutt
5-9 So. F
2.0 ppg
7.5 rpg

Kristie Bahner
5-11 Sr. C
16.0 ppg
10.5 rpg

Nadira Hazim
5-7 Sr. G
14.5 ppg
4.0 rpg

Mary Jo Miller
5-5 Jr. G
6.0 ppg
2.5 rpg

49ers down Giants in 'Super Bowl XXIV½'

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — The NFL's most awaited game in years turned out to have little worth waiting for. Unless you like defense.

With Charles Haley, Ronnie Lott and Darryl Pollard making big defensive plays and Joe Montana orchestrating one quick touchdown drive, the San Francisco 49ers beat the Giants 7-3 Monday night in the NFL's lowest-scoring game this season.

The only touchdown came with 1:30 left in the first half, on a 23-yard pass from Montana to John Taylor. That was 1:56 after Matt Bahr's 20-yard field goal had given the Giants a 3-0 lead.

Then Montana turned it over to Haley and his friends as the 49ers bounced back from last week's loss to the Rams to go to 11-1. The loss was the second straight for the Giants, dropped them to 10-2 and prevented them from clinching the NFC East title that's almost inevitable.

Lott and Pollard were the heroes of a stand made by the 49ers after New York had reached their 9-yard-line with 4:30 left, helped by a 19-yard run by Ottis Anderson after picking up a fumble by Phil Simms on a bounce.

Simms, who finished 14-for-31 for 153 yards, then threw three incomplete passes — Lott hitting Mark Bavaro to break up one play and Pollard deflecting a fourth-down pass for Lionel Manuel.

The Giants had one final chance at the 49ers 26 with three seconds left, but Simms was sacked by Kevin Fagan before he could off a pass into the end zone.

The 10 points were the fewest in a game this season — the previous low was 14 in a shutout win by Buffalo over New England two weeks ago. Montana was 12-for-29 for 152 yards.

Both teams started sluggishly like boxers wary of dangerous opponents as the defenses seemed to anticipate every offensive move.

Each team threatened once in the first 22 minutes, the Giants reaching the San Francisco 30 before Haley dumped Meggett for a 4-yard loss; the 49ers missing when Mike Cofer's 43-yard field goal attempt was wide left.

Then the Giants got a couple of breaks — a 21-yard pass from Simms to Bavaro on which Haley fell down and an 11-yard pass deflected off Rodney Hampton to Stephen Baker at the San Francisco 3. But Anderson was stuffed on two running plays and a Simms-to-Bavaro pass missed and the Giants had to settle for a 3-0 lead on Bahr's field goal with 3:26 left in the half.

Robinson playing with gun

Royals' signing of Boddicker, Gibson reoccurrence of earlier Russian Roulette

Scott Paske

SPORTS REPORTER

Does it make sense to reload the gun that just shot you in the head?

Maybe the Kansas City Royals' front-office people can answer that question. If not, perhaps some Royals' fans can remind them of last season's botched attempt at free-agent Russian Roulette.

Most of those chambers were loaded. In fact, any blanks that were fired were probably pitches thrown by free-agent acquisitions Mark Davis, Storm Davis and Rich Dotson.

And now, it appears that a new dog has been taught old tricks.

I'm referring to Herk Robinson, KC's new general manager, who replaced John Schuerholz, a finder of greener pastures in Atlanta.

Robinson's first two major moves as the Royals' personnel boss were the signings of Mike Boddicker and Kirk Gibson to free-agent contracts.

Quick, picture a group of Royals embracing each other in the winner's locker room following the 1991 World Series. Can you see Kevin Appier or Bo Jackson telling reporters that the Royals never would have done it without Boddicker and Gibson?

Kinda tough, isn't it?

There's little question that the pair have been standouts during their major-league careers. Boddicker is coming off one of his best seasons on the mound, winning 17 games to help Boston to the American League East title.

He stood in the shadow of fireballer Roger Clemens and quietly prevented the Red Sox from having to rely on the Rocket's one-man show.

Gibson, who is best remembered for his two-out ninth inning home run off Oakland's Dennis Eckersley in the first game of the 1988 World Series, built an impressive resume playing for Los Angeles and Detroit.

He played a big part in the Tigers' 1984 World Series win, and was a consistent offensive performer through the Dodgers' championship run three seasons ago.

But the last couple years haven't been pleasant ones for the 33-year-old, who has been hampered by various injuries. After batting .290 with 25 home runs in 1988, Gibson fell to .213 and .260 over the next two seasons.

And Gibson is supposed to lead Kansas City back from the depths of the American League West? And Boddicker, another 33-year-old, is expected to aid the Royals' ailing arms of this past season?

There has to be a better way to empty a team's checkbook than on a pair of players in the twilight of their careers.

As crazy as it may be, it seems the Royals are following the lead of the New York Yankees. Remember when George Steinbrenner was signing every star whose name was as closely associated with a price tag as home runs or earned run average?

Mentioning those two organizations in the same breath never used to seem possible.

When the Royals were loading up on free agents prior to last season, it appeared that KC was tying up the loose ends it needed to catch Oakland in the AL West. Injuries to pitchers

Mark Gubicza and Bret Saberhagen, coupled with a dismal performance by 1989 National League Cy Young Award winner Mark Davis, helped doom the Royals from the start.

The destruction of last season can probably also be attributed to when KC management let go of players like David Cone, Danny Jackson and Cecil Fielder. Free agency had nothing to do with any of those miscues.

The formula for a winning baseball team is extremely complex, and one aspect usually can't be blamed for total failure. Free-agent blunders weren't the only reason Kansas City finished sixth in the AL West. One look at the Royals' seemingly endless disabled list of last season confirms that.

Still, unsuccessful gambles in the free-agent market can have a long-term effect. When a team throws away a wad of bills on a pitcher like Dotson, there may not be anything left when the bidding wars start for guys like Barry Bonds, Ken Griffey Jr. and Chris Sabo.

More power to the Royals if Boddicker and Gibson supply the chemistry that puts KC back on top of its division.

DeBerg's play should be silencing critics

By Todd Fertig
Sports Reporter

Even Rodney Dangerfield gets more respect.

Every week, no matter what the outcome, it seems that Steve DeBerg didn't throw long enough, scramble well enough or look good enough on the sideline to suit most Chiefs "fans."

ANALYSIS

But it didn't take long for DeBerg to earn the respect of the New England Patriots Sunday. It took just one play, to be exact.

DeBerg burned the Patriots with an 86-yard scoring strike to open the game and never let up, throwing for 331 yards and two touchdowns on only 15 completions.

DeBerg, who practiced only sparingly during the week because of a strained calf muscle, completed a 61-yarder to J.J. Birden on the next series. Of the NFL's six longest-scoring pass plays of the season, DeBerg owns three.

Will this textbook performance earn DeBerg much grace from the jury which calls for his hanging after every incompletion? Probably not. But DeBerg will let the Chiefs' 8-4 record be his defense.

At 34 years old, DeBerg's mobility and arm strength are admittedly limited. But anyone who watched New England's rookie quarterback Tommy Hodson panic under pressure and throw floundering ducks in the general direction of receivers knows that it isn't just nimble legs and a strong arm that make a successful quarterback.

While DeBerg took advantage of the porous New England secondary to throw long, he is generally content to pick apart defenses on short-range passes, prompting his detractors to pin the "can't throw long" label on him.

This conservative strategy, however, has still racked up more than 2,400 yards this season and has kept DeBerg the least-intercepted quarterback in the NFL.

DeBerg extended his club record of games without an interception to seven against the Patriots. Only three AFC quarterbacks have more touchdown passes than DeBerg, and his three-interception total is beyond comparison.

Boomer Esiason of Cincinnati has just two more touchdowns than DeBerg, yet he has had 15 passes picked off.

Because he doesn't have the arm of an Elway or make the athletic plays of a Randall Cunningham, DeBerg's performance goes generally unrecognized. His steady influence and grasp of the game make him invaluable to the Chiefs' offense.

Watching DeBerg playfake the Patriots into disarray and frustrate the Raiders into repeated offside penalties was as impressive as any long pass completion.

A middle-aged version of Carl Straw, DeBerg takes hit after hit from opposing pass rushers, yet has bounced back for nearly every play this season. With quarterbacks dropping like flies the past few seasons, DeBerg's durability has been his greatest attribute.

The Chiefs are 8-4 and would be 10-2 had lightning not struck them twice on last-second plays. DeBerg is the third-rated quarterback in the AFC and coming off a 300-yard passing day.

Though he isn't prominent on highlight films and TV commercial makers aren't pounding down his door, DeBerg has the Chiefs rolling. Maybe it's time that the Rodney Dangerfield of the NFL got some of the respect he deserves.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

All-American golfer signs

Wade White, a senior at North Lamar High School in Paris, Texas, has signed a national letter of intent with the K-State men's golf team, Coach Russ Bunker announced Monday.

White was recently named a high school All-American and posted a 73.6 stroke average as a junior. He was named first-team all-district, all-region and all-state.

He captured four tournament crowns and came away with a third-place finish at state.

Last summer, White won the Texas-Oklahoma tournament. He chose K-State over Arizona State, UNLV, Texas A&M, Texas Tech and Texas Christian.

"He had offers from several outstanding golf schools," Bunker said. "These are the kind of golfers we've got to have to get our program to where it needs to be."

Texas jumps to No. 3

The Texas Longhorns leaped from fifth to third in the Associated Press college football poll on Monday, improving their chances of winning their first national title since 1969.

Texas, which beat Texas A&M 28-27 on Saturday, jumped over Miami and Brigham Young in the final regular-season poll. Miami edged San Diego State 30-28, while BYU was demolished by Hawaii 59-28.

The Hurricanes (9-2) fell from third to fourth, the second straight week they've dropped a notch in the poll following a victory. BYU (10-2) plunged from fourth to 13th.

Colorado, which completed its regular season two weeks ago, remained No. 1 for the third straight week. The Buffaloes (10-1-1) received 42 first-place votes and 1,476 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Georgia Tech stayed second after beating Georgia 40-23, but closed the gap on Colorado. The Yellow Jackets (10-0-1), the only major team without a loss, got 16 first-place votes and 1,397 points. They trailed Colorado by 130 points last week; now they are only 79 points behind.

Texas (10-1) got the other two first-place votes and 1,338 points, 35 more than Miami. Notre Dame (9-2), which was idle, moved from seventh to fifth with 1,252 points.

Rounding out the Top 10 are Florida State (9-2), Penn State (9-2), Washington (9-2), Houston (10-1) and Tennessee (8-2-2).

Knicks fire Jackson

NEW YORK (AP) — The struggling New York Knicks fired coach Stu Jackson Monday and replaced him with former Phoenix and Dallas coach John MacLeod.

"This decision was made in the best interests of the New York Knickerbockers," vice president and general manager Al Bianchi said.

The Knicks finished third in the Atlantic Division last season with a 45-37 record and upset the Boston Celtics in the first round of the playoffs before being eliminated by the Chicago Bulls. But they were off to a slow start this year with a 7-8 record, including five losses in their last six games.

MacLeod, 53, ranks fifth among active NBA coaches with 675 victories. Terms of his contract were not disclosed.

MacLeod has coached 17 seasons in the NBA, 14 with Phoenix and three with Dallas. His teams won 50 or more games five times and went to the conference finals four times.

Jackson was in his second season as the Knicks' head coach. He replaced Rick Pitino, who left to take the job at Kentucky.

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO ROYALE CAFFE
CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—
Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
 - All appliances provided
 - Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
 - Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
 - Bus service to campus
 - Rent as low as $195 a month
- Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAVE WEIR COMPANY DVC REAL ESTATE
2041 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-5862

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480
Free Estimates

QUICK LUBE
BATTERIES

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. 776-5577
First Bank Center

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

On the fifth day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me:

25% off
of any Classic Sundae!
Strawberry Shortcake sundae, Hot Fudge
Brownie sundae, Triple Whammy sundae,
Banana Split sundae.
at

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville offer expires 12/5/90

537-1616

POINSETTIA CARE

1. Like sunny windows
(Don't let them touch cold window panes)
2. Likes temperatures between 65°-75°
(anything above 75° will shorten bloom life)
3. Water with lukewarm water
(after examining soil for moisture daily)
4. Does not like "wet feet"
(so discard water in saucer)

Choose your BEAUTIFUL Poinsettias
Christmas at
Bloomer's DALE'S
GARDEN CENTER
1105 Waters 539-4751

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

8th Day—8 items for $8 (plus tax)
2 6" subs
2 small drinks
2 chips & 2 cookies
Offer good Dec. 4 & 5
Must present ad—not good in combination with another offer or coupon
620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa KISS-P

Early Fall
Ladies Sportswear
Entire Stock

Now up to 50% off

Early Fall Ladies
Suits & Dresses
Entire stock

Now up to 50% off

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours Mon.-Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

The Gift That Lasts
All Year Long!

Don't miss a date in 1991. You're sure to find the perfect calendar with over 100 styles to choose from! Wall, desk, & pocket sizes available from Landmark, Portal, Hallmark, The Far Side, Blue Mountain and more!

704 N. Manhattan Ave.-in Aggieville-539-7854
Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Faculty quartet provides variety

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

When the K-State Faculty Brass Quartet performs at 8 p.m. Wednesday in All Faiths Chapel, the concert will serve a dual purpose — entertainment and education.

Craig Parker, associate professor of music, said the concert is one of the services the music department provides for the University every semester.

The K-State Faculty Brass Quartet usually presents one concert every semester, Parker said.

"Virtually all of the music faculty members perform in some kind of small ensemble," Parker said.

The faculty quartet members include trumpet players Parker, Gary Mortenson, assistant professor of music, French horn player Bernard Buster, faculty emeritus from Manhattan, and trombonist Jack Flouer, chairman of the department of music.

Accompanying the quartet will be organist Mary Ellen Sutton, professor of music and trumpet player Lisa Leuthold, sophomore in music education.

Flouer said the group has been rehearsing for three hours a week since the start of the semester in preparation for the performance.

"This concert definitely has a vast variety of music," Parker said. "There's bound to be a piece in the concert that everyone will like."

Parker said that this is the busy part of the season for the music department, with a concert virtually every night. As a result, the performers rarely see a packed house.

"We don't really care that much about the size of the audience," Parker said. "We would rather have the audience that came to enjoy the concert."

The concert will open with "Galliard and Fugue," composed by Girolamo Frescobaldi, Italy's most prominent 17th-century composer. It will be followed by a contemporary composition, "Quartet for Brass" by Arthur Frackenpohl.

Leuthold will then join the ensemble to perform "The Quintet for Brass" by the 19th-century Russian composer Alexander Aliabiev.

After a brief intermission, Sutton will join the quartet to perform Johann Pezel's "Sonata No. 2 for Brass and Organ."

According to Parker, the ensemble's most challenging selection will follow — Vivian Fine's "The 1978 Quartet for Brass."

Scott Joplin's arrangement of "Nonpareil" will conclude the program.

The concert is open to the public and is free of charge.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $3.00, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.25, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.50, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex or ancestry.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

BEST FUNDRAISER on campus! Looking for a fraternity, sorority or student organization that would like to earn $500 to $1,000 dollars for a one week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hard working. Call Jeanie or Ashley, 1-800-592-2121.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

A LOT CAN BE SAID ABOUT A LITTLE BIT OF SPACE:

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
ClassADS They Work

SPORTS • SPORTS

99¢ Margaritas
50¢ Tacos

BoWinkle's
A Sports Bar

776-1022
3043 Anderson

SPORTS • SPORTS

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

TONIGHT
25¢
DRAWS
ONLY AT
BAYSTREET

Tuesday Special

RIB-IT NIGHT

All the BBQ
Ribs,
Fries and Salad Bar
you can eat!

$4.95

Every Tuesday 5-8 p.m.

The CHEF Cafe

111 S. 4th
Downtown

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ bag huge. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

DONATE FOOD or money for Christmas. See Santa and Christmas Clown. Bring to Military Science Building 101.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

NEED EXTRA cash for the holidays? Immediate job openings. Esu Corporation will be conducting interviews Wednesday, Dec. 5th, room 205, Student Union, 4p.m. till whenever.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

START YOUR own home business—One day seminar, Tuesday, Dec. 11, KSU— SBDC, $20 including book. 532-5529.

THE OSAGE House has Indian cuisine. Carryout for under $4! 776-1234, 2605 Stag Hill Road.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE NOW, one-, two-bedroom, furnished, located on Denison, no pets. $245/$380 a month. 539-5697.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments. $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111. 8a.m.— 8p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Reasonable rent. Serious inquiries call collect (316)321-5810.

JANUARY FREE! Jan. 1—Aug. 1. Roomy apartment for two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. 537-0772.

NICE FURNISHED apartment in lake home 10 minutes from campus. $250 including utilities for single person. Available January—May. 539-3078.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus. $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, heat, water trash included. No pets. $220/ month. 539-3821.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets. Lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMMATE NEEDED Jan. 1, three-bedroom apartment. $175/ month plus one-third utilities, own room, close to Aggieville and campus. 537-3386.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January. 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May. $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Unfurnished two-bedroom with washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. 776-7950.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1— Spacious two-bedroom, one bathroom, dishwasher, central air. Call after 6p.m. 776-0269.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, large, one-bedroom near campus. $325. 537-3160.

BASEMENT APARTMENT. $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking. No pets. 539-3409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, room cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westport, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment for rent from January—August. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143 evenings.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. 814 Thurston, gas/ water included. No pets, start Jan. 1. $375/ month. 537-9336.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1. Three blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5079.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus. City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st: Close to campus, rent $175. Call Molly, Julie, Lisa 537-1380.

AVAILABLE NOW! One-bedroom apartment. $200/ month. Furnished/ unfurnished. 537-1538 or 776-8725.

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment. Across street from campus and Aggieville. $175 month, very low utilities. 776-0115.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM for one or two people available January. $240. 776-8535.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valtier, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1982 AUDI 4000s. Excellent body condition. Must see. Call for offer. 539-3370/ 537-1395.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,600. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1983 OLDS Firenza LX, loaded, automatic, air, AM/FM cassette. Going to Saudi, must sell soon! Sacrifice for best offer. 1-239-4060 leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded. Velour interior. Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1985 FIREBIRD, T-tops, V-6, five-speed, Kenwood stereo system. Excellent condition. $5,000. Ask for Duane 539-6444.

1988 HONDA Civic, three-door hatchback, deluxe, five-speed, power steering, power brakes, air. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AM/FM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

1990 TOYOTA Tercel, automatic, air, excellent condition, 9,600 miles. 537-0597.

6 Child Care

NANNIES COME experience life in the east while doing something you enjoy—caring for kids. Call now for application. Nannie Network Inc. 1-800-US-NANNY.

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system. 1 MB RAM. 1.2 & 1.44 FD. 44 MBHD. VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial position of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 87196

ACCOUNTING INSTRUCTOR, 8-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 credit hours per academic year in accounting, lead instructor for accounting program and banking management. Qualifications: Working knowledge of MS DOS; bachelor's degree in accounting, practical accounting experience required; master's degree, college level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a community college preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to: Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67805-1137. Starting date: Jan. 2. AAEOE.

ADDITIONAL WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

EARIN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

NANNIES NEEDED. Wonderful Massachusetts families. Great agency provides guidance and networking. One year commitment. One on One, Inc., 93 Main St., Andover, MA 01810. 1-800-688-NANNY.

SUBSTITUTE RESIDENTIAL ADVISOR: A private not-for-profit corporation serving persons with developmental disabilities has an opening for an on-call substitute in a men's group home. Responsible for supervision, record keeping, and household maintenance. Weekend and evening hours. $4.80 per hour. Two letters of reference required upon hire. High school diploma required. Good driving record required. Applications accepted at Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502, through Dec. 6, 1990. EOE.

VAN DRIVER: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for transporting clients and assisting in providing activity therapies with the Community Support Program. Class B driver's license required. Contact Patricia Murphy at Pawnee Mental Health Services. Phone 539-7425.

(Continued on page 9)

Kidney Stones Can Be A Real Pain .

Treating them doesn't have to be!

If you're suffering from a kidney stone, you're willing to accept whatever it takes to stop the pain. Even surgery. But with Memorial Hospital's lithotripsy service, we can treat your kidney stones without taking a single stitch!

Our lithotripter shatters kidney stones with sound waves. It's safer, faster, and less painful than surgery. We've been treating most of our kidney stone patients with lithotripsy since 1988 and we're proud of our success.

If your kidney stones are getting to be a real pain, consult with John Devine, M.D. or Fred Freeman, M.D. of Associated Urologists at 537-8710, and clip the coupon below for a free brochure.

Please send the lithotripsy brochure to:

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Address to: Julie Davenport
Memorial Hospital
1105 Sunset, Manhattan, KS 66502

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Yesterday's values, Tomorrow's technology

1105 Sunset/P.O. Box 1208 • Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3300

BABY SAFETY

The Saint Mary Hospital is concerned about the safety of you and your baby. That's why The Saint Mary Hospital offers maternity fairs dealing with safety, individualized care concerning safety and now we're giving our new mothers a Century® 560 car seat-carrier.

We're committed to your baby's safety both before it's born and after you leave our safe environment. A Century® 560 car seat-carrier. . . Just The Saint Mary Hospital's way of saying thank you.

Call 776-2822
for further information.

the saint mary hospital

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita

1823 College Avenue • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 776-3322

(Continued from page 8)

WANTED: PERSON experienced in RBase computer program to finalize report and act as a consultant for future work. Call 539-5208 after 1p.m.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer at Cheley Colorado Camps summer program. R.N.s, drivers, office, wranglers, nanny, kitchen, song leaders, riding, hiking, backpacking, sports, crafts counselors. Campers age 9-17. Room and board, cash salary, travel allowance. Our 71st summer! Must be at least 19 to apply. Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, 303-377-3616.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Sleeper sofa in great shape, baby bed, child's car seat and other baby goods. Call 776-3850 after 6p.m.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM house in Riley, $150. Available Dec. 1. Call 1-485-2204.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM farm house, $300, 30 minutes out of town. Possible facilities for horses. 1-913-499-6661.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ESU Men's class ring. To claim, Call 539-2334. Ask for Jenny M.

FOUND LADIES' watch. To claim, call Mike at 776-7434.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x50 MOBILE home, washer and dryer, shed, furnished, $5,000. Call 537-3909.

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1986 XR200, great shape, best offer over $700. 776-0535.

1990 TREY 800 21-speed, toe clips, cage and bottle. Kryptonite lock, $300 or best offer. Also cycle shuttle carrier, $40. 539-4059 after 6p.m.

BRAND NEW Schwinn 21-speed, cross bike and cable lock. $210. Tony 776-0861.

FOR SALE: Extremely nice 12-speed Detel bicycle, $150. Call Lesha at 537-7278.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER— Shimano components, pump, toe clips, water bottles, bag and rack. $375. 776-1638 leave message.

19 Music/ Musicians

FOR SALE, One hundred watt Cerwin-Vega amp, $250, Marshall cabinet, $375. 776-1691.

TWO ELECTRIC bass guitars with cases. Foundation. 130 watt amp. Peavey TNT. Work 1-456-2264. Home 539-0157.

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

AXO WENDI L., Best wishes to you and all that you do on your birthday today.

AXO WENDY— Only one more year as a "wanna-be" 21 starts in "The Ville"—What are you waiting for? Happy 20th. Swede.

DELTA SIG Door: Happy Birthday Mr. 21. Don't worry on Friday you'll have some fun. —Love, Spook.

DOCTOR DAN: Happy Birthday to our favorite upstairs man. From your friends in low places. Have a great week in Gallery 6.

IT'S KIT L.'s Birthday! Take care of you today, Kit! Boop! Boop! Boop!

K.P., A long distance Congratulations on at least one degree! Just think to graduate you had to eat Mac and cheese, leave the door open, skip Marketing, Tan at Tuttle, Tune my car, run into a pole at D-Maid, and just put up with me! Good Luck in Grad School. The little Redhead Who Survived the C-Ville flood.

MYSTERY(KH)— The roses were gorgeous. Thanks for all the time and money you've spent, but I'm not available. MW.

PRIDEETTES, The 20 most gorgeous, fun-loving ladies at K-State. Rock and roll at B-Ball (Dec. 8) like you did this fall. David C. Manager.

SNUGGLERUNNY: THANKS for the last two years. You're the Greatest! I Love You. Your Tangerine.

S.P.K.— Seductive, Pleasing, Kinky. —Definitely!! Different? Indeed, and I'm looking forward to taking another trip to the top of the world. Who knows, this trip could take us straight to the top of "the moon"! Pillars.

SUZUKI SLUT— Your birthday is finally here, so get ready and we'll drink a few beers! Get your dollar bills out, we'll have fun without a doubt. Are you sure that you can handle it? Say goodbye to those teenage years! —Loser.

TRISHA B.— Yes, it's you, the one from Alton. Have a happy 19th B-Day. —Joe L.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC REGISTERED buff color Cocker Spaniel puppies. Reserve yours now for Christmas. 1-494-2838.

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm raised Dalmatian pups. $125. 539-6596 or 537-8427.

FREE— 85 lbs., male Great Dane needs home. Neutered, friendly, house-broken. Call Brian 776-8499.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS

PETS N' STUFF

1108 Waters, 539-0494

OPEN: Mon. 10-8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clifton.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING the best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $160 plus utilities, after 5:30p.m. 537-8288.

FEMALE: CLOSE to campus, and very close to Aggieville... $150 month... utilities average $10-15 month. 537-4144.

FEMALE—NON-SMOKER, to share house, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/ month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE ROOMMATE to share three-bedroom house, own room. $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2668.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, close to campus, fully remodeled, laundry facilities, extra nice. 776-9124.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, own bedroom, across from campus, $150/ month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1st. 537-6823.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/ month. 539-2919. Ask for Debra or Kristie.

FEMALE ROOMMATE, own room, pool, laundry. $150/ month plus deposit and one-third utilities. Call Lesha at 537-7278.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-6391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE— Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE— SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE NON-SMOKER wanted to share two-bedroom house, own room, washer/ dryer, fireplace, $125/ month plus one-half utilities. 537-4369.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice four-bedroom house, own room. Close to campus and Aggieville. $125/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 776-1562.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/ month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted for spring/ summer to share two-bedroom, own room, washer/ dryer, fireplace, pool, furnished, $200 plus half electric. 539-5508.

MALE ROOMMATE— $150/ month, one-third utilities, private bedroom, close to campus, by City Park. 776-3797.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $175 month plus one-third utilities, own room, available Jan. 1. Mark 776-8875.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1296.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three bedrooms. Own room. Has everything. $195 negotiable. 776-2497.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/ month plus utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, female for two-story apartment. Furnished bedroom, laundry. $140. Call 539-1582. Leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Female to share new two-bedroom apartment with pool. Westport location, $180 month plus utilities from January to August or May. Call 537-2445 after 7p.m. or leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED— One block from campus, $130 plus utilities. Call Amy 537-4510, 776-1195.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $150/ month plus one-third utilities. Park Place. Call 776-1956 leave message.

ROOMMATE— GRADUATE or older student to share three-bedroom house with two others. 539-7232.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: Own room, water and heat paid. $150 month plus one-half electric. One and one-half blocks from campus. 776-5526.

25 Services

Chiropractors add years to your life and life to your years!

Call today for an appointment.

537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl

3252 Kimball Avenue

Candlewood Shopping Center

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

26 Stereo Equipment

JVC CAR stereo for sale. AM/FM. 15 presets, seek, scan, cassette with auto rewind. $100. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

NEW PIONEER KE-2022 car stereo with auto-reverse, 15 station presets, and digital display. $150. New Pioneer BP-450 graphic equalizer amplifier. 20w-25w $75. Call Ken 537-8313.

TWO PIONEER surface mount speakers, good condition, $75. Two portable car speakers, good condition, $50. Call 539-7414 after 6p.m.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

SOLOFLEX FOR sale! Two months old. Leg attachment and butterfly included! $900 or best offer. Call Mai at 537-3585.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, nicely furnished, near campus, air, low utilities. 776-7083 evenings.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1— Nice one-bedroom apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus, three blocks from Aggieville. $230/ month negotiable. 776-8704, Alan.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus, Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, furnished, spacious one-bedroom apartment, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Female wanted to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, less than a block from campus and down the street from Aggieville. Half rent and utilities, total less than dorms. 539-9535.

FEMALE, SPRING semester. Furnished, quiet house. Washer/ dryer. Rent negotiable. Lease ends in May. Amy 539-3886.

FEMALE— WANTED to share apartment in house, close to campus, own room, $190 plus one-half utilities. Call Susan at 776-3218.

FURNISHED TWO-BEDROOM. January— August. Fireplace, washer/ dryer, air conditioning, dishwasher, double bath, garage. $395 plus utilities. 776-8384.

GREAT APARTMENT— Spring semester, two or three bedrooms— $300/ month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

MALE ROOMMATE for spring semester. $187.50 plus one-half utilities. Mile from campus. 539-1503.

NEW THREE-BEDROOM, one and one-half bath, close to campus. Available Jan. 1st— July 30th. $540. 539-3638.

NICE, TWO-BEDROOM apartment across the street from Aggieville and campus. Available Dec. 21st, 1212 Blumont. 776-2436.

SUBLEASE. STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

$63, round-trip plane ticket from KCI to Chicago Midway. Dec. 7-9. Call Erika 539-0396.

ROUND-TRIP LA, leave 12-26-90, Return 1-4-91. $350. 537-4907 or 532-6630. Ask for Pam. Leave message.

30 Travel

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH 7 NIGHTS $119

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS $129

STEAMBOAT 2, 5 AND 7 NIGHTS $96

FORT LAUDERDALE 7 NIGHTS $137

PANAMA CITY BEACH 7 NIGHTS $124

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS $108

HILTON HEAD ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS $112

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY

1-800-321-5911

Depending on break dates and length of stay*

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/ or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

25" RCA Console color TV, $200 or make offer. Call 776-4213.

4.1 CUBIC Foot refrigerator, like new. Need to sell. Mike, 532-5168.

CAMPUS DIRECTORY are here. Available in Kadzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kadzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Instruction books for Casio FX-7000G calculator. Call Sandra at 532-3341 Tuesday and Thursday afternoons only.

FOR SALE— Pentax ME Super w/50 and 135mm lenses and bag; Vivitar 70-205mm zoom Inland MI Carbine, collectible. 539-5368 ask for Bob.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

FOR SALE: Wooden bookshelf $10; and queen-size foam core Futon mattress $150. 537-4093.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS— Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday— Saturday 9a.m.— 5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon— 4p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

GUESS, ZOD, Esprit, Forenza and many other assorted name brand clothing, rarely worn. All in great condition. Call Julie 539-4868.

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxes, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

SMITH CORONA word processor— auto spell, disk drive, display screen, $450 or best. 776-2018.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels, $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WATERBED QUEEN-SIZE, padded rails and head-board, $150 negotiable. 776-0535.

WHITE GE refrigerator, excellent condition, 5-7 years old, must sell $200/ best offer. 537-9378.

35 Acreage

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres— Pottawatomie County— Fenced— extremely low taxes— New High School District. 776-6970.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE FOURTH Day of Christmas— 25% off select apparel, 25% off Hazel portfolios and postcards, 25% off cookbooks and 25% off backpacks, Dec. 4th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Entertainment

MIKIE'S BAR AND GRILLE

TUESDAY

COUNTRY NIGHT

$1.99

MASON JARS (keep the jar)

99¢ Refills

Free country music on our CD juke box

Dance music in the back starts at 9 p.m.

619 N. 12th • Aggieville

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Rass Loom is a senator who represents labor unions. He's proposing a law that says lumberjacks can fly.

©1990 Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

HEY JIM LOOK AT WHAT I JUST BOUGHT.

MORE TENNIS SHOES?

"NIKE AIR CRUNCH-MONKEYS THE NEWEST IN VOLLEYBALL FOOTWEAR. GUARANTEED TO MAKE YOU JUMP HIGHER, MOVE FASTER AND SPIKE HARDER. THEY'RE USUALLY $95.99 BUT I GOT 'EM FOR 25% OFF!"

SO WADDAYA THINK? DOES "BO KNOW VOLLEYBALL" OR WHAT?

UH OH... BRACE YOURSELF JOE.

WHAT'S THAT FILBERT?

Jim's Journal

By Jim

When I came home from the veterinarian yesterday, I ran into Tony.

Tony said, "Hey, how's it goin', cat?"

I told him Mr. Peterson just got some medication from the vet for having a virus.

Tony said his dog back home had heartworm or something and had to eat a huge pill every day.

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

WHEN I GROW UP, I'M GOING TO BE PHENOMENALLY RICH! I'M GOING TO BE THE RICHEST MAN ALIVE!

BUT I WON'T LET WEALTH CHANGE ME!

RATS. THAT WAS OUR LAST HOPE.

YOU'RE GOING TO BE PRETTY LONELY IN THE NURSING HOME.

MAYBE THEN I CAN FINISH THIS BOOK.

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

YOU KNOW WHY I WANT TO BUY PEGGY JEAN THOSE GLOVES FOR CHRISTMAS?

WHEN I FIRST MET HER THIS SUMMER AT CAMP, I NOTICED WHAT PRETTY HANDS SHE HAD... I WANT THOSE PRETTY HANDS TO BE WARM...

BUT I DON'T HAVE TWENTY-FIVE DOLLARS TO BUY THE GLOVES...

SEND HER A NICE CARD, AND TELL HER TO KEEP HER HANDS IN HER POCKETS!

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

Soldier files suit, refuses to deploy

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — A soldier from Fort Riley has filed a federal lawsuit challenging the U.S. Army's regulations on conscientious-objector claims.

Sgt. John Pruner is asking a federal judge to issue a restraining order to stop the Army from sending him to Saudi Arabia. Pruner filed the suit Friday in federal court in Kansas City, Kan., and a hearing was scheduled for Wednesday.

Pruner's lawyer, Chris Hodge of Knob Noster, Mo., said Pruner wants to file a conscientious-objector claim while he is in the United States. But the Army is contending that Pruner must go to Saudi Arabia and file his claim from there, Hodge said.

The director of a national conscientious-objector organization said it was the first lawsuit of its type filed in the country.

Hodge contends that the Army improperly changed the way soldiers can file such claims because of the Persian Gulf crisis. In the past, he said, soldiers were allowed to file conscientious-objector claims until their units received their deployment orders.

But Hodge said the Army changed the regulations in October so that soldiers who were only under alert status could not file conscientious-objector claims until they reached their new duty stations.

"Our contention is that this is a substantial change in the regulations," Hodge said. "We consider it a violation of soldiers' First Amendment rights. This also is a violation of the Freedom of Information Act."

Hodge contended that the Army did not do enough to make sure soldiers knew about the change in regulations. He said Pruner was using the old regulations when he filed his conscientious-objector claim and didn't know about the new rule until afterward.

"There were probably only a couple of copies of the message about the change on the entire base," Hodge said. "When he went to apply, it wasn't until that time that his commanding officer tells him he can't apply."

Pruner, 24, is originally from Lebanon, Va. He could not be reached for comment Monday night.

He is a sergeant with Headquarters Company of the 1st Infantry Division.

The Rev. L. William Yoltan, director of the National Inter-Religious Service Board on Conscientious Objectors, said Pruner was the first soldier to challenge the Army with this type of lawsuit.

Vote

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

■ "If a fee is implemented, which form would you prefer: $15 per credit hour or $100 per semester per engineering student? Minimum amounts as stated by the engineering department."

■ "If a fee is implemented, when should it take effect: spring 1991 or fall 1991?"

Neither of the polls binds the Board of Regents to act one way or another, Heitschmidt said. Both are to be considered opinion polls.

Only members of the election committee will work the polls, said Doug McIver, freshman in electrical engineering and chairman of the 10-member committee. This is to ensure the integrity of the election, he said.

"SGA wanted to be sure a fair election was run," McIver said. "We were afraid if the engineering department ran the election, it could be biased."

Another measure to keep the election unbiased is the forbidding any material that concerns the poll within 50 feet of the poll site, Heitschmidt said. He said this was put into effect for all elections a few years ago to keep voters from being swayed once they reached the voting area.

McIver said he would like to see at least 1,000 of the more than 2,000 eligible engineering students turn out for the vote.

Children

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Ray Woods, Marlatt's principal.

"We feel they are a valuable resource, that we can learn from each other," he said.

For several years, the school and PTA sponsored an International Bazaar. Because of the success of the bazaar, an International Week was organized about three years ago, Woods said.

"Parents from other countries are asked to come to the school and present something about their culture to the students," said Diane Glenn, a volunteer organizer for the week.

"By and large, parents are very open to their children experiencing American ways," Woods said.

Adjusting to living in America, going to American schools and becoming assimilated to American culture may mean these children will have another adjustment when they move back home.

"My children cannot speak Indonesian. We do not have private telephones in my country, and children are not expected to express themselves like here," Ridjal Ismail said. "They will have a more difficult time adjusting there than when they came here."

Dina Ismail agreed with her father. "I don't want to leave — I like it here," she said.

Cowgame

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

tell her that they would have done things differently at the beginning if they had known what they know now.

Martin said many students ask to start the project over after they have completed it once so that they can work on new and better strategies.

Bush calls for hope

By The Associated Press

BRASILIA, Brazil — President Bush shrugged off a military revolt in Argentina and proclaimed a new era of hope in newly democratic South America as he opened a five-nation tour Monday. Bush vowed not to skip a visit to Buenos Aires.

The administration expressed confidence the uprising would be quelled quickly, but Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleburger said: "If the situation became such that there was a real danger to his security, I'm sure we'd take another look at it."

The Argentine crisis threw a cloud over Bush's week-long mission, intended to celebrate the sweep of

Martin said other land-grant universities use a simulation similar to this one, but they may use other herds like swine and sheep.

In the past, the project was on large mainframe computers, but to gain the most understanding of the selection process, the project was made compatible with the IBM PC so students could work on them at home, Martin said.

Francisco Rezek, foreign minister of Brazil, called the revolt in Argentina "a step backward for democracy in Latin America."

White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater told reporters Monday evening that the situation in Buenos Aires "does appear to be improving" and that Argentine President Carlos Menem was in control.

"It is not a large-scale uprising," Fitzwater said.

SWEETIE — I'd love a Personal in the COLLEGIAN. Only $3, for 15 words, one day.

NOMINATIONS
for
COLLEGE OF
EDUCATION
OUTSTANDING
UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AWARD

Due by
December 7, 1990
Dean's Office
Blumont Hall 006

Have "You"
Had Your Frozen Yogurt
Today??

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

BACKLESS BRAS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro Aggieville

Sanchos & Burritos 98¢ each
(reg. $1.50)

Taco Dinner $1.77
(reg. $2.50)

Good through 12-8-90

TACO HUT
"Where Good Friends Get Together"
2809 Claflin
On the hill overlooking Westloop, 539 2091

Open Sun. 11 am-11 pm
Fri. & Sat. 11 am-12 midnight

THE RIDE

KSU STUDENT TRIPS TO ART MUSEUMS

THE K. S. U. ART DEPARTMENT IS OFFERING
A DAY TRIP TO KANSAS CITY
DECEMBER 7

THE RIDE will take in:

LETTERS/LINES/IMAGES:

International Contemporary Calligraphy Exhibition
at THE KANSAS CITY ART INSTITUTE
COLOR IN AMERICAN PRINTMAKING, ORGANIC
ABSTRACTION AND AN ASIAN TEXTILES EXHIBITION
at THE NELSON GALLERY

We will also visit the JOHNSON COUNTY COMMUNITY
COLLEGE GALLERY and PAINTING EXHIBITION

There will be a lunch break.

Students.....$6.00 Faculty & Friends.....$10.00

The bus will leave the south side of the Union at

8:00 AM, with return planned for 5:30 PM.

For information and reservations call or come to the
Art Department, K.S.U., 532-6605, by December 5.

Made Possible Through The FINE ARTS FEE

Let's Share

During November and December 1990, for every canned good you bring to Kedzie 103, we'll give you 50 cents off a COLLEGIAN Classified Ad. (Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

1 can	50 cents
2 cans	$1.00
3 cans	$1.50
4 cans	$2.00
5 cans	$2.50
6 cans	$3.00

Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint
Hills Breadbasket.

Offer expires 12/13/90

Buy One Get One Free

• • Limited Time Only • •
Buy Any Medium or Large
Pizza At Regular Price
And Receive A 2nd One
Of Equal or Less Value

FREE

(with the coupon below)

539-5303
1118 Laramie

FREE PIZZA

Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.

Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

Godfather's
Pizza's
CODE 30

$4 OFF / $3 OFF

Any Large

Any Medium

Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks, Big Value
Dessert Pizza or any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

Godfather's
Pizza's
CODE 30

FREE PIZZA

Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.

Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

Godfather's
Pizza's
CODE 30

LUNCH BUFFET $2.69

PIZZA • PASTA • BREADSTICKS • DESSERT

Valid for up to 3 people at $2.69 each

Dine-in only, weekdays 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.

EXPIRES: 12/31/90

Godfather's
Pizza's
CODE 45

Boston Acoustics Sale

Boston Acoustics separate series are designed to give you the ultimate sound quality in any application. The component system includes a woofer, varimount dome tweeter, and matching crossover. There is a system to fit your car!

The Boston Acoustics 761 with 6" woofer Reg. $249 pr.	$169
The Boston Acoustics 751 with 5" woofer Reg. $239 pr.	$159
The Boston Acoustics 741 with 4" woofer Reg. $229 pr.	$149

All other Boston Acoustics car speakers sale priced, too!

AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.

630 Grant Ave.

HI FI-Car Stereo-Video

Car Stereo Installation

Stereo and Video Repair

1-762-4447

Mon.-Fri. 10-7, Sat. 10-5

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, December 5, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 68

Plans to merge K-State, college continue slowly

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

An interim committee of the Kansas Legislature approved a bill which would merge the Kansas College of Technology in Salina with K-State.

In the Nov. 29 meeting, the Legislative Educational Planning Committee approved a draft of a bill presented by the Board of Regents asking for the authority to merge the two institutions, Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, said.

The board recommended the merger of K-State and KCT in June. The next step for the merger will come when the bill is introduced to the Legislature in January, she said.

Bob Krause, vice-president of institutional advancement, said the planned merger would create the option of a four-year baccalaureate in engineering technology at KCT by moving degree programs at K-State in that discipline to the Salina school.

The merger is expected to double the enrollment of KCT from the present 393 full-time students.

K-State would take over such administrative duties at KCT as enrollment and admissions, he said. Some administrators at KCT would be reassigned to instructional duties at the school.

"It has been generally recognized they are top heavy in administration," Krause said. "K-State gets by with three vice-presidents while they have four, for example."

Students at KCT who hope to complete a baccalaureate option will complete course work at Kansas Wesleyan College in Salina.

Krause said K-State would gain by reassigning faculty and resources from engineering technology to other programs.

A total of $12.1 million will be needed to complete the merger, Krause said. In October, Salina voters approved a two-year sales tax, which will raise $4.5 million of that total.

Krause said sources for the rest of the revenue are as follows:

- $1 million from the sale of property owned by KCT.
- $2.6 million by the sale of revenue bonds. The bonds will be used to build residence halls and will be paid off by user fees.

■ The KSU Foundation will raise $2 million over a four-year period for scholarships at KCT.

■ $2 million dollars by the state of Kansas to expand the Aeronautical Center at KCT.

Krause said it was made clear from the start the proposed expansion of the Aeronautical Center would not take priority over established capital improvement needs at K-State. This led to the development of an alternative funding source for the expansion.

Krause said present plans call for KCT to enter into a lease-purchase agreement with the Salina Airport Authority, which will fund the Aeronautical Center expansion. The Kansas Legislature can then fund KCT's occupancy of the building with an annual line-item appropriation.

Krause said he did not think the Legislature would balk at approving this alternative funding source for the building.

Hochhauser said the source of funding for the Aeronautical Center was not made clear to the committee. She said the alternative was important, because she doubted the Legislature could find $2 million to fund the construction in the 1991 session.

Krause said although the general mood of the merger is positive, nothing is assured until the merger becomes law.

"I'm anxious for the Legislative session to start," he said. "Our time line is to have all appropriation items in place in January (for the Legislature's consideration).

"Everybody assumed once the sales tax passed in Salina there would be a merger. Until we have a merger in law, not in name, there is a need to be cautious," he said.

Cat in the holiday hat

Becky Brown, junior in business administration, smiles for the camera as she gets her picture taken with Santa Claus, a.k.a. Willie the Wildcat in the K-State Union Courtyard Tuesday morning. A picture session with Willie, sponsored by Union Program Council, will also take place from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. today.

Mike Vento/Staff

KU, WSU voting on fee issue

By Dan Scott
Collegian Reporter

Wichita State University and the University of Kansas are conducting similar elections concerning the proposed engineering fee on their respective campuses.

At KU, the fee is one of the hottest topics on campus, said Carl Locke, dean of the College of Engineering at KU.

"We've got a frenzy going on here," Locke said.

The opinion polls were given Tuesday and today at both universities. The student senates of the universities sponsored the polls.

The poll at KU is being run strictly according to the guidelines given by the Kansas Board of Regents, said KU Student Body President Mike Schreiner. The poll will contain two questions: one asking about support of the fee and another asking when students would want the fee implemented if the board adopts it.

The poll at WSU is actually the second concerning the engineering fee conducted within the last two weeks, said Larry Easley, election committee member at WSU. The previous poll was given in conjunction with the student senate elections.

In the first poll, Easley said about 250 engineering students voted. The results showed the engineering students were against the fee.

"I expect a much smaller turnout," Easley said. "The first one was much higher than normal."

The poll currently being given has one question which is worded exactly as the board requested.

Easley said there are about 700 undergraduate engineering students at WSU and more than 1,000 total.

Schreiner said the KU Student Senate is opposed to the engineering fee for several reasons. First, the KU Senate is opposed to differential tuition rates, which would happen if the fee is implemented.

William Wilhelm, dean of the College of Engineering at WSU, said the student senate is uncomfortable with that aspect of the fee as well.

No guarantees have been given to the KU Senate that the fee will generate $450,000 as proponents have said it will, Schreiner said. The state legislature could drop whatever funds the fee generates from the yearly budget, leaving the university with net gain of zero.

Dealing with the legislature is a legitimate concern, Locke said. He said he has talked with several legislators about the possibility and said further discussions will be needed.

"It would be grossly unfair if that happened," Locke said. "I would work to remove the fee."

Easley said the WSU Student Senate is on record as being opposed to the engineering fee.

"We're opposed to any additional fee," Easley said. "They're afraid it would start a trend and then all the colleges would start asking for a fee."

The WSU Senate, however, voted in support of the fee last spring, Wilhelm said. The engineering students also gave indications they would support the fee.

WSU Student Body President Ajay Bajaj is out of the student government office until Thursday and could not be reached for comment.

Wilhelm said he is a staunch supporter of the per credit-hour fee rather than the flat fee.

"We have many part-time students so our students tend to take longer to finish their education," he said. "The fairest approach for our students is a credit-hour fee."

Church asks public for prayers in crisis

No bloodshed wanted in Middle East

By The Associated Press

MANHATTAN — A group of Manhattan churches and laymen are urging President Bush to declare Dec. 15 as a national day of prayer and fasting as a means of resolving the Middle East confrontation between the United Nations and Iraq.

"Our goals are threefold," said Randy Sly, pastor of Westview Community Church.

"First, to seek God's divine intervention in the Persian Gulf crisis. Secondly, to urge people everywhere to pray earnestly that not one drop of blood will be shed and no shots fired in anger. Thirdly, we believe — and our prayers will ask — all hostages and other people held against their will in Kuwait and Iraq to be released immediately."

Joining in the request, which was mailed to the president on Monday, is the Manhattan chapter of the Full Gospel Businessmen's Fellowship International.

"The group is growing and actively seeking additional churches and groups to join in this time of intercession that we believe is necessary for the Middle East Crisis," said Gene Schneider, president of the chapter.

The groups are urging people throughout the U.S. to pray all day on Dec. 15, but especially between noon and 1 p.m.

They also are asking businesses to close for that hour.

"This country should stand still before the Lord for at least one hour that day," Schneider said.

Dec. 15 was selected, Sly said, because it is one month before the deadline a U.N. resolution sets for Iraq to withdraw its troops from Kuwait.

College of Ag unaltered

Dean remains positive amid recent changes

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Walter Woods, dean of the College of Agriculture, addressed reorganization and its effect on the college during a horticulture seminar at 4 p.m. Tuesday in Waters Hall.

Woods said he foresees no changes in the Department of Horticulture or the College of Agriculture in the reorganization and strategic planning process, which is currently tabled.

"Horticulture has not been in the discussion phase relative to any reorganization, as far as I am aware of at this time," Woods said.

Woods was introduced by Karen Gast, assistant professor in horticulture. She said that at the time the seminar was set up, the full effect of reorganization was not known.

"When it was set up, back in August, we didn't know what would be happening," Gast said. "We wanted to know how it would impact the college and department."

The library, computing services, salaries and a need to strengthen the College of Arts and Sciences, were some of the needs cited by Woods.

"Any proposal by the president or

J. Matthew Rhea/Collegian

Walter Woods, dean of the College of Agriculture, right, speaks to faculty members about reorganization and how it may affect the horticulture department Tuesday at a horticulture seminar in Waters Hall.

provost has been taken off the table," Woods said.

Although all department revenues have not been fulfilled completely, there is an ongoing attempt to organize the revisions, Woods said. He said three areas are already moving ahead.

"We have a good picture of what we are doing. Resident Instruction, Ag Experiment Station and the Extension Services have moved forward and are in a very positive position for the number of changes that have been made," Woods said. "Those programs have really responded and are at the cutting edge of where they need to be."

He said despite a short supply of resources on the University as well as the college level, the College of Agriculture knows where it's resources are.

■ See WOODS, Page 9

Tribunal permits McIntyre to remain

By Alan Wilds
Staff Reporter

David McIntyre, senior in electrical engineering, will be able to retain his position on the Athletic Ticket Sales Committee.

The seven-member Student Senate Tribunal determined in a late meeting last Wednesday there was not enough evidence to impeach McIntyre for violation of the committee's policy.

McIntyre was accused of misusing his position on the committee to bypass the group verification process and purchase seven extra basketball tickets during the campout this fall.

"We did not find a preponderance of evidence that would have been necessary to impeach Mr. McIntyre," said Curtis Munk, tribunal chancellor and junior in business administration.

Munk would not elaborate on exactly what the tribunal was looking for during the proceedings or what circumstances would have been necessary for impeachment.

"Those charging Mr. McIntyre have the burden of proof," Munk said. "We did not think there was enough evidence to prove he did anything wrong."

Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt said the procedure for impeachment must first be approved by the Senate Operations Committee, and if there is enough evidence, it will be sent to tribunal.

"Senate does not impeach him," he said. "However, they felt there was enough evidence to send it to tribunal."

Since the convening of impeachment hearings on Oct. 29, McIntyre has claimed he did not break the rules by verifying his own tickets earlier in the day.

McIntyre

"I believe the tribunal handled the situation fairly," he said. "I want people to know exactly what happened."

Bill Nelson, senior in political science and chairman of the Athletic Ticket Sales Committee, said he is willing to accept the tribunal's ruling.

"To me, everything went according to the process," he said. "I've never really said what should have happened. I've just tried to remain impartial."

Although pleased with the outcome, McIntyre said the process was somewhat

■ See MCINTYRE, Page 9

BRIEFLY

World

Czech soldiers steal explosives

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — A group of Czechoslovak soldiers mailed themselves packages of explosives they stole from a military warehouse, apparently to make fireworks for New Year's Eve, a newspaper said Tuesday.

The contents of the packages were discovered when one parcel was accidentally damaged by the post office, the newspaper said.

It quoted police as saying that three soldiers broke into an army ammunition warehouse last week. They shared the munitions they stole with four other soldiers, the report said.

The seven were soon to finish their military service and mailed the ammunition to their home addresses in five packages, apparently to make fireworks out of them for New Year's Eve.

"Because grenades were packaged next to detonators, which can explode on a small impulse, there was certainly a danger of explosion," the daily quoted police Capt. Emil Holub as saying.

Lawyers see Marcos' palace

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Imelda Marcos' lawyers got a look Tuesday at their client's possessions, including the lavish collection of shoes she left behind when her husband was ousted in a popular uprising four years ago.

"I was impressed by what I saw," lawyer Drew Neville told reporters after touring Malacanang Palace, where Imelda Marcos' late husband, Ferdinand, ruled for 20 years.

"Extravagance is your word," he added. "I said I was impressed by what I saw."

Neville and colleague Conner Helms arrived Sunday for talks in a multimillion-dollar lawsuit against Imelda Marcos. A hearing is scheduled next Monday in federal court in Los Angeles.

The tour included a look at more than 1,000 pairs of shoes Imelda Marcos collected during her husband's years in power.

Nation

Rivals plan to please public

ATLANTA (AP) — Soft drink rivals Coca-Cola and Pepsi Cola made almost simultaneous announcements that they plan to sell their products in recycled plastic bottles.

The cola makers became the latest companies to join the corporate race to please an increasingly environmentally conscious market. If approved by the Food and Drug Administration, soft drink bottles would become one of the first cases in which recycled plastic is used in direct contact with food.

Admirals fired in Navy scandal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy said Tuesday it is firing out the three top overseers of its classified A-12 stealth bomber program, including two admirals, for their failure to disclose serious flaws in the aircraft's development.

The extraordinary action by Navy Secretary H. Lawrence Garrett III was announced by the service as the Pentagon released an internal Navy report that outlined a startling breakdown in government and Navy supervision of the six-year-old bomber program.

The A-12 "Avenger" is the Navy's top aircraft priority. The carrier-based aircraft is scheduled to begin replacing the Navy's aging fleet of A-6 Intruder attack planes in 1995 and to serve as a mainstay well into the 21st century.

Region

Hunter shot near Welda

GARNETT (AP) — A 21-year-old Chanute man remained in serious condition Tuesday after being shot in the chest while hunting in rural Anderson County.

A Welda landowner, John Walter, was charged Monday with four felony counts of aggravated assault, aggravated battery and criminal damage to property, county attorney Craig Cole said.

Cole said Jeffrey A. Anderson and another 21-year-old man were driving along a public road near Walter's property on Sunday when they stopped to shoot a pheasant in the road.

Cole said Walter heard the shot and fired at them with a rifle, striking Anderson in the chest.

Anderson was taken to a Garnett hospital and transferred to Shawnee Mission Medical Center.

Cole said Anderson and his companion had been given permission to hunt from at least one area landowner. Cole would not discuss a motive in the shooting.

Walter has been released on a $12,500 cash surety bond and was scheduled for a preliminary hearing before Judge Phillip Fromme on Dec. 11, Cole said.

Kansan faces murder charge

SAPULPA, Okla. (AP) — A Kansas man accused in the shooting death of a University of Tulsa law student has been ordered to stand trial for first-degree murder.

Robert Newman, 20, of Wichita pleaded innocent Monday in the death of Ronald Brochstein, 23, of Houston, who allegedly was robbed because three men didn't have enough toll money to return to Kansas.

A preliminary hearing for Gene Scott, who also is charged with first-degree murder in the case, has been set for Dec. 20. Newman's 17-year-old brother was charged with armed robbery in Creek County.

Brochstein's body was found near railroad tracks in Creek County in September. A medical examiner ruled he had been shot once in the back of the head.

Newman and Scott were arrested a week later in Wichita driving Brochstein's car.

Campus

Pre-enrollment extended

Pre-enrollment for spring semester has been extended until 4:45 p.m. today, said Registrar Donald Foster. Pre-enrollment was extended because it was not possible to enroll all of the freshmen by the scheduled end of pre-enrollment last Friday.

The extended pre-enrollment is open to all students, Foster said.

"Courses freshmen take have a lot of sections," he said. "To get a complete, conflict-free schedule takes a lot of time."

Foster said he thought most of the freshmen who were turned away last week could have been enrolled on Monday, but he decided to add the two extra days so those who were turned away would have some flexibility in their schedules.

The three days were also added so students who have not been able to pre-enroll at all would be able to do so, he said.

Foster's office staff will examine the addition of a week to the pre-enrollment period next spring.

Foster said the only limitation to upperclassmen pre-enrolling at this time would be the ability of the various colleges to advise them.

Foster said he did not think the pre-enrollment center in Wildard Hall had been too busy since the reopening of pre-enrollment because of the limited publicity it has received.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

5 Wednesday

■ Small Business Development Center and Division of Continuing Education will present "Dealing with Difficult People: Me or Them?" by Bernard Franklin from 11:30 a.m. 1:15 p.m. Ramada Inn.

■ KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

6 Thursday

■ WICI will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

■ American Nuclear Society will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Ward 135.

■ ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 217.

■ Department of Psychology will sponsor "Significance of Freud" by John Burnham at 3:30 p.m. in Union 212.

■ General Union of Palestine Students will present a lecture about the Gulf crisis at 7:30 p.m. at the K-State International Student Center.

■ Engineering Ambassadors will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173.

■ German Club will meet to watch "Bagdad Cafe" at 6:50 p.m. in the lobby of the Union Forum Hall.

■ Finance Club/FMA meeting has been cancelled.

■ Talking Hands will meet at 4 p.m. in Holton 3.

■ KSU Dance Program will present "An Intimate Evening of Dance" at 8 p.m. in Nichols Theatre.

7 Friday

■ KSU Dance Program will present "An Intimate Evening of Dance" at 8 p.m. in Nichols Theatre.

■ General Union of Palestine Students will present a lecture and dances on the uprising at noon in the Union Courtyard.

CLARIFICATION

In paraphrasing comments by Shangzhi Ren in Tuesday's Collegian, the Collegian did not mean to imply that Yuan Bo Zha participated in the student demonstrations at Tiananmen Square or that Zha's suicide was related to the student demonstrations at Tiananmen Square. The Collegian regrets any misunderstanding as a result of the story.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, becoming partly cloudy. High in the middle 50s. Gusty south winds 15 to 25 mph becoming northwest 10 to 20 mph late in the day. Tonight, mostly cloudy. Low in the upper 20s. Thursday, decreasing clouds and cooler. High in the middle 40s.

SNOOKIES presents

Thursday, Dec. 6 Opening Act: "In/Out"

Tickets: $8 in advance, $10 at the door 18 to enter, 21 to drink
776-7726 1122 Moro Upstairs • Aggieville

Heading off War In The Gulf

Sponsored
by:
ICC
GUPS

Sponsored
by:
ASA
MACA

Presentation by Phillis Bennis

She is a journalist and author assigned to the United Nations.
She also writes for the Guardian.

Thurs., Dec. 6, 7:30 p.m. International Student Center

BUSHWACKER'S
• THE FUNDRINKERY

Comedy Invasion
Mon., Tues., Wednesday
9 p.m.

The Amazing Johnathon

• Late Night w/ David Letterman • Showtime w/ Jimmy Walker
• HBO Young Comedian Special • Comic Strip Live

• Evening at The Improv

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

Call for Reservations
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

the Loft
Women's Casualwear In Aggieville

Fashion Watches
(selected)
50% off

The feeling is casual - The look is sophisticated

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO
539-1319

HRS Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 9:00
Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

K-State Union
Holiday Buffet

Sunday, December 9, 1990
11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

and

5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.
K-State Union Main Ballroom

Tickets are $10 per person,
$5 for children 10 years and younger

Tickets are by reservation only
Purchase your tickets now through December 7, 1990
at the Director's Office
2nd Floor of the K-State Union

K-State Union
Home to Kansas State University

TENANTS AND LANDLORDS DO HAVE RIGHTS
IN MANHATTAN!

As a tenant, you do have a right to safe housing. However, you also have a responsibility to yourself and to your landlord to maintain a clean sanitary rental unit. If you have questions regarding your rights and responsibilities as a tenant or as a landlord, contact the City of Manhattan at 537-0056. If you have a landlord/tenant dispute, contact the Department of Human Resources. If the concern is with the physical condition of the unit, contact the Department of Community Development, Code Inspection Division.

Personnel Services evaluate, discuss employee concerns

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

The Kansas Division of Personnel Services and all interested K-State employees met to discuss employee benefits and procedures at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday in the K-State Union.

Joe Younger, manager of training and development for personnel services at K-State, said representatives of the Division of Personnel Services travel to 107 state agencies in Kansas each year to hear state employees' concerns.

The main goal of the meeting was to differentiate between employees' concerns that can be handled on campus and those which will require legislative action. Concerns unique to K-State can be dealt with on the local level, Younger said.

About 45 people attended the meeting, which was held in Union room 212. The formal meeting, which lasted 10 minutes, was followed by a 20-minute question-and-answer session.

During the meeting, "Kanelect" was discussed. With this new option, which goes into effect Feb. 1, employees can have money deducted from their paycheck and put into a savings account.

This program allows state employees, who are saving, to attain a specific goal such as to put children through college. Job rate studies and the health check program were also discussed.

K-State's personnel services office, which will work with the state employees on campus to implement the programs, serves many functions.

"It provides services for all the employees on campus, the faculty and the administration. There's about 8,000 (employees)," said Reba Snively, manager for position management service.

"We provide a variety of benefits. We do a lot of employee services such as staff training and development," Snively said.

Personnel services also offers retirement counseling, classification and wage administration.

The retirement counseling can be used by employees of any age or position.

"At any point in time any employees can come into our office and find out what kind of opportunities they will have when they reach retirement age," Snively said.

Snively said that staff training and development helps K-State employees who are interested in learning skills for a job they want to obtain.

For example, a custodian may want to change jobs and become a secretary. If this is the case and the custodian is unqualified for the secretarial position, the custodian can go to the personnel service office where they will be enrolled in a class that teaches them secretarial skills. After completing this class, the person is in a situation where they are qualified to be considered for employment.

Professor writes about Kansas

Author of 6 books also teaching, serving as historian

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

A native Kansan, Homer Socolofsky has taught at K-State since 1947. Both his master's thesis and doctoral dissertation dealt with the history of Kansas.

Socolofsky, professor of history, is currently teaching a course titled the Great Plains, which is offered every other year. Other courses he has taught include the American West, Kansas History and Seminar on the American West.

Socolofsky has written six books and has been the co-author of two others. His first book, Arthur Capper, was published in 1962.

Capper, a Kansas journalist, was a governor and a five-term senator.

Socolofsky also wrote Land Lord William Scully, which dealt mostly with the land. While writing the book, he traveled to Ireland.

"It's important to see the lay of the land as well as the written resources that are available," Socolofsky said.

Socolofsky also co-authored The Historical Atlas of Kansas and The Presidency of Benjamin Harrison.

All of Socolofsky's works required archival material — interviews gathered over a long period of time and a lot of travel, he said.

Socolofsky became interested in writing while working on his master's thesis, he said. Writing about a topic helps the writer to have a better understanding of the topic.

Socolofsky has written about 100 separate works that have been published in a variety of journals and encyclopedias.

He said it is hard to say how long it takes to write a book.

"It takes longer than it takes to have a baby," he said.

Socolofsky said he writes for many different target audiences. The Historical Atlas of Kansas was written for elementary-school aged children and older. His biographies require a more sophisticated reader with a high school education or higher.

Socolofsky said none of his books stands out as a favorite.

"The one that's just completed is the favorite for a while," Socolofsky said, "and then you start on something else."

John McCulloh, head of the history department, has worked with Socolofsky since 1973.

"He is honest, concerned about the students. He is reliable," McCulloh said. "I think he's a very good teacher — he's one of the winners of the William L. Stamey Teaching Award."

In addition to teaching, Socolofsky is also the official University historian, which requires him to help out the University when historical inquiries arise.

Socolofsky also holds the office of secretary/treasurer of the K-State Historical Society. He is a member of the State of Kansas Historical Society and an editor of the American Presidential Series published by the University Press of Kansas.

Margaret Clark/Staff

Homer Socolofsky, professor in history, has authored or co-authored eight books. Many of his books deal with Kansas history. He is currently teaching a class about Kansas called The Great Plains.

International trade talks threaten to collapse

Europeans still resisting compromise on subsidies

By The Associated Press

BRUSSELS, Belgium — An ambitious effort to overhaul the world trading system appeared on the verge of collapse Tuesday as pressure built on European countries to compromise in their fight against major farm subsidy cuts.

Some European officials indicated they were willing to offer more agriculture subsidy cuts, although it was uncertain whether any new offer would be enough to satisfy U.S. negotiators.

The 12-nation European Community had staunchly resisted a U.S.-backed proposal to slash export subsidies by 90 percent and reduce internal support payments and market barriers by 75 percent over the next decade.

The talks, known as the Uruguay Round since they began in 1986 in the South American nation, seek to dismantle barriers to trade in agricultural products, manufactured goods and the fast-growing area of services, such as banking and insurance.

"We have a very large stalemate in agriculture and that is unfortunate," said a disappointed U.S. Trade Representative Carla Hills.

Rufus Yerxa, one of Hills' top aides, said that the negotiations are very close to collapse.

A U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said even if the farm issue is resolved, it was unlikely a final trade agreement could be completed on schedule this week.

He suggested another meeting would be necessary, possibly in January with lower-level negotiators involved.

A total of 107 nations are participating in the discussions, which had been scheduled to wrap up with five days of marathon bargaining this week at the Heysel Palaces, a vast exhibition complex on the outskirts of Brussels.

Facing the prospect that these talks could fail, officials from Germany said Tuesday they were now campaigning with EC members for more flexibility on agriculture subsidies.

Germany's change of position, just two days after national elections, could represent a significant breakthrough. The Germans had been one of the major opponents of farm subsidy cuts.

But there was no indication that France and Ireland, two other strong supporters of the subsidies, had softened their position.

Live Tonight:
THE TWISTERS

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, U.S.A.

Bravo! Encore!

You'll be the main attraction wearing a show-stopping gown from our exciting collection of holidaywear. After all, you deserve a gown from ...

CHRISTINE'S
THE
WEDDING COMPANY

1223 Moro 776-7387

Open Thursdays 'til 8 p.m.

Member National Bridal Service

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

DECEMBER 5, 1990

Noon-4 p.m.

Shellenberger 220

We will be selling (while supplies last)

Christmas packs at this flour sale.

Christmas packs contain:

- 5 lbs. of White Flour
- 5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
- 2 lbs. of Bran
- 2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6

Packs will also be available Dec. 12, 1990.

General Public: $6

Students/Senior Citizens: $4

Tickets/Reservations Contact:
McCain Box Office, 532-6428

An Intimate
Evening of December 7 and 8

8 p.m.
Nichols Theatre

DANCE

Preview Performance Added
December 6, 8 p.m.

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's
12 Days of K-State Christmas
Sale Items in Section 38 of the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1984

DOLLAR PITCHERS

LUDDERLY COOL

M00

CHARLIE'S NEIGHBORHOOD BAR

Wear your "GO CATS" shirt and get
$1 off cover

Friday night only: Alternative Rock Band
First Bank Center 776-4111

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Federal funding for artists should stop

Jesse Helms is OK. I'm glad he was re-elected.

By defeating Democrat Harvey Gantt in the North Carolina senatorial race by a margin of 53 percent, Helms made fools out of Dan Rather and the rest of the people who expected Helms to crash and burn into his tobacco fields. Besides, I won 10 bucks out of the deal.

Al, an artist buddy of mine from back home, took Gantt with points, following the conventional wisdom chart in Newsweek. But with all the pressure from outside North Carolina to beat Helms, I was sure he would only become even more entrenched in the hearts of his North Carolinians. Out of indignation they would have to vote him back in—overwhelmingly, I figured. And they did.

Al, however, was underwhelmed by the voter reaction. He has promised to float me a sawbuck just as soon as his grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities comes through.

But he's not sure if it's coming, he says. He keeps his eye on the mailbox, waiting either for The Check or a form letter from Helms saying, "No Dice" (Al paints pictures of nekkid wimmen).

"Censorship!" Al cries, and then he proceeds to hold forth on First Amendment rights and his definition of "true art," which seems merely to shock the people who aren't "true artists."

"Nonsense," I tell him. Even if he doesn't get The Check, there won't be any prohibition of his paintings. He will still be able to paint and exhibit, but he might have to assume the responsibility of paying for it himself or finding a private means of patronage as opposed to relying on the federal government to subsidize him like a tobacco farmer or Third World nation. An artist needs income, but that doesn't keep him or her from creating/committing art. Large-scale public subsidies in any arena are doomed to bloated failure.

Keats didn't have government subsidies. Neither Rodin nor Christopher Wren received government grants. Goya painted the portraits of Spanish royalty, but on his own time created such anti-government classics as "The Colossus." What special quality makes late 20th century American artists so dependent on their government? And why are they surprised when they find themselves under the thumb (in some form) of the federal government?

Ed Skoog

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

I can understand why Al might be concerned about Helms returning to the Hill. Helms seems preoccupied lately with filth and obscenity after he saw some of the stimulating pieces of art that the NEA has recently financed.

But Al needs to remember that Helms is very old school. Thomas Hart Benton is about as modern or wild as his tastes run. Benton may have painted surreal farm scenes with ambiguous messages, but at least they have horses and men in overalls. Nothing could have prepared Helms for Mapplethorpe's photograph of a bullwhip bluntly sticking out of his own rectum or for Holly Hughes' sculpture of a giant vagina made out of quartz and silver, like a watch from Walgreen's.

I told Al that he shouldn't be surprised when Helms gets that constipated look on his face and starts yelling about Jesus. He does that every few years to remind America that he's a bastard at heart. But he does have a few good things to say.

I found a 1976 book by Helms in the basement of my parents' house. It's called When Free Men Shall Stand. One passage in the chapter titled "The Roots of Freedom" makes sense.

"The right to free expression should not be taken to mean that a person has the right to free forum. The government is under no obligation to provide persons with a way to express themselves. A right is also a responsibility. The First Amendment ensures merely that the government will not restrict free speech," he says.

Alexander Hamilton argues along these lines in Federalist Paper No. 76 when he says that the Bill of Rights should not be a part of the Constitution. Why should the federal government promise not to restrict citizens' rights in areas where the Constitution has provided no government power to do so?

But the amendments made their way in, and they may be responsible for the current misunderstanding of the nature of rights, such as Al's belief in his right to public monies for his artwork.

The NEA was established in 1965 during the Johnson administration. Since then, it has given about 90,000 grants, amounting to more than $3 billion. Many of these grants have been entirely wonderful. Some have been entirely lousy. But whether or not the cash has been used wisely should not be the issue. The crux of the biscuit is that federal money always has strings. As Milton Friedman said, "There is no such thing as a free lunch."

The result of all this is that Al shouldn't get his NEA grant. Even if it means I don't get my ten-spot. In fact, no one should get a NEA grant.

The NEA should be disbanded and sent down the Potomac like the Comstock Postal Act, the Articles of Confederation and FDR's NRA. Helms' complaint about obscenity in federally financed art only shows that art should not be federally financed.

And if you're reading this, Al, I want my $10.

EDITORIALS

Distasteful capitalism spawned by prediction

Commercialism has hit bottom. Just when you thought it had sunk to the depths of the irretrievable, it has fallen another notch.

But I guess it just goes to show you what some people will do to earn an honest greenback.

It seems all the hubbub surrounding the predicted earthquake along the New Madrid fault has spawned gross commercialism. Ah, America at its best.

A man named Iben Browning predicted a massive earthquake will rock the Midwest sometime this week. Browning, however, failed to predict the side effects that this prophecy might produce.

T-shirts claiming "It's our fault" are for sale, and a regional tavern, called "FaultLine," features a faultline running across its dance floor.

Although these are only two examples, they easily portray the skewed outlook some "entrepreneurs" have on the situation. They are profiting from what could easily claim hundreds or thousands of lives and probably change many more. The bottom line is that they are looking to make money from someone else's misfortune.

Heaven only knows what would have been up for sale if some entrepreneur knew about the Kennedy assassination or the Space Shuttle Challenger explosion beforehand.

Although capitalism and a good idea are the basis for our economy, there is the possibility that good taste should override the almighty quick deal.

In a world where there are winners and losers, there should still be room not to add insult to injury.

James Baker arrives in Baghdad.

LETTERS

Respect Morse's view

Editor,

In a letter to the Collegian (Nov. 30), Jeanie Skolaut asked if non-combatant status is an option for Sgt. George Morse. I do not speak for Morse, but I believe his position on non-combatant status is the same as mine was when I took a stand as a conscientious objector during World War II. With possibly a few exceptions, those who have requested non-combatant status are sincere and should be respected as individuals. Nevertheless, others of us are not willing to have any part in the conduct of war because we believe modern war can not work for the common good. We will not help others do the dirty work of killing. If we thought it was necessary, we would be willing to do it ourselves. In short, I doubt that non-combatant status is an option that Morse's conscious would permit.

I have listened to Morse. As I understand him, he admits to having been uninformed and confused. Is this a crime? I think it is better described as the human condition. People change their minds about many things as they gain more information and insight. Personal intellectual growth often occurs when difficult decisions that we might not wish to have to make are forced upon us. It is natural for persons to think more about the effects of war when they may be asked to participate in it. Let's not try to inhibit intellectual growth, even if it leads others to come to conclusions with which we may not agree.

It is generally accepted that people who find their marriage has become unworkable should be allowed to dissolve the marriage, even if they made a vow, "till death do us part." I cannot see any reason marriage vows should be considered less binding than enlistment in the armed forces.

Most of us hate war and are afraid of what war might do to our civilization. A few of us believe that the best way to eliminate war is for citizens to refuse to participate. We read history as showing that people in positions of political power are too constrained by what they believe expediency demands to refuse to use military methods. We believe that to eliminate war, common people will have to refuse to participate in the military. Please give our views serious consideration. As members of a democratic society, we demand that you respect our views whether or not you agree with them.

Charles C. Perkins professor emeritus of psychology

Soldiers courageous

Editor,

I am responding to a letter that was published in the Nov. 27 issue of the Collegian entitled, "Don't give in to war." I am a second lieutenant assigned to an infantry battalion at Fort Riley and enroute to the Middle East. The letter states, "It is important to separate the soldiers from the foreign policy of the Bush administration." How can we, as Americans, separate our soldiers from the policies of our own administration? Our great nation was formed, molded and shaped from the close union between freedom, individual soldiers and democracy. When you raise your right hand to repeat the oath and swear into the military, you give away a little freedom. You swear to defend, support and gallantly execute any mission that is handed to you.

The letter also states "I do not buy the argument that soldiers should quietly follow through on their contract to kill or be killed, or that the American public should allow them to do so."

First, soldiers do not have a contract to kill another human being. Human life is extremely sacred and valued to any soldier. Conflict, however, and loss of human life has shaped every nation in this world. I am not condoning killing, but merely stating that sometimes conflict is a necessity to oust and defeat a potential threat to our way of life. Yes, our way of life is threatened by Saddam Hussein and his million-man army. With his possible nuclear capabilities and his chemical attack on his own people, he has proven to be a fanatic out of control.

The letter goes on, "I consider those who filed for conscientious objector status to be worthy, not of condemnation, but of admiration; they have had the courage to refuse to kill another human being for something that they do not believe in." Those persons who filed for conscientious objector status should not be admired, but shunned and banished. When enlisting in the U.S. military, you sign a contract stating you are not a conscientious objector. These individuals are taking a ride on you and me, the taxpayers. They seek the benefits and possible college money the military offers, and then when the time comes, they stick their tail between their legs and run. The only word that comes to mind is coward. They breached their contract and obviously will be punished accordingly.

On the last note and rebuttal the letter states: "The Bush administration, however, continues to provoke one (shooting war) by furthering the build-up of troops in Saudi Arabia. In doing so, it is not only acting against the will of the American people, but also against the wishes of our closest allies." Let me see the data. As for the American people, I cannot comment. Our closest allies, however, have adopted a resolution in the U.N. that supports any means available to get Iraqi troops out of Kuwait.

Of course I am only one person. The writer of the letter obviously has not spent any time around the military. Most soldiers are willing and courageous enough to deploy to the Middle East and ready to stand by any decision the Bush administration makes. They are also ready to kill and possibly die to support our president and country. Some people will never understand.

Terry A. Guild second lieutenant, infantry battalion at Fort Riley

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Venso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tommy Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Walz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hajitimotheadis, Elvyn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Livley, Brad Seaborn, Kevin Zwinik
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lenz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry
	Tommy Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer
	Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Venso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Jones
	Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allison Schaff
	Amy Sall, Karen Lind
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Angie Humphrey
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER	Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Punney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker
	Britt Owen, Deanna Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minida Dowdy, John Fulkerson
	Norm LeComte, James Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

One Semester (Fall or Spring)	$30
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)	$54
Summer Session	$10
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer)	$60

Historic Christmas presented

Public welcome to enjoy celebration at Goodnow House

By Jerry Sapp
Collegian Reporter

Holiday revellers can enjoy the "Ghosts of Christmas Past" at the Goodnow House this weekend.

Dramatic readings of historical Christmas authors and the joyous sounds of Christmas will be highlighted at 2 p.m. Sunday at the historic Goodnow House celebration "Christmas 1890."

The Goodnow House, 2301 Clafin Road, was built by the father of K-State, Isaac T. Goodnow. Goodnow House curator Kathleen Brown said the celebration will be true to the house's rich history.

"We want to celebrate Christmas in an old-fashioned way to give people a taste of how it was done in the past," Brown said. "It's sort of like handing down tradition."

The program of "Christmas 1890" reads like a holiday who's who list.

"We're going to read some Charles Dickens, a story from O. Henry called 'A Chaparral Christmas Gift' and some Wilder along with several others," Brown said.

Music will be performed to enhance the holiday mood.

"Basically there will be musicians playing Celtic music," she said. "The instruments used are the fiddle, mandolin, guitar and others. Along with the readings, we will sing Christmas carols as well."

"Christmas 1890" will be held inside the Goodnow House, which will be decorated in 1890s fashion.

"We hope to preserve tradition and history for the residents of Manhattan," Brown said.

Kathleen Brown said the main objective for "Christmas 1890" is to provide a fun history lesson for the residents of Manhattan and the surrounding area.

"It is our way of celebrating the Christmas season with the community," Brown said. "We would like to provide a nice break for students who are studying or residents who are shopping. We want to see everybody enjoy the season."

The Goodnow House, a living history lesson, is important to Manhattan's future as well.

"We teach history to our residents in a way that actually gives an understanding of how things used to be," Brown said.

The teaching technique Kathleen Brown uses is a form of living history — a unique but very effective method for teaching people about the past.

"Living history seeks to teach by putting the emphasis on action rather than on an object or a theory," Brown said. "Living historians, dressed in appropriate reproduction clothing, often portray an event or a skill from the past which people may no longer be familiar with. For example, Civil War re-enactors were used in the movie 'Glory' to portray the soldiers."

Brown said there is no admission charge for "Christmas 1890" despite a limited budget. Drastic cuts in state funding have severely hampered the Goodnow House's history lessons.

"The event is free to the public, but we will be accepting donations to help do some desperately needed work on the house," Brown said.

Marta Haut, senior in marketing, said she is volunteering for "Christmas 1890" because it is a great service to the community.

"I feel that this is my way of giving something back to the community I have lived in since starting school at K-State," Haut said. "Kathleen Brown and the rest of the people involved have really worked hard to put the event together and I think the community should get into the Christmas spirit and come down and have some fun."

UPC helps Santas appear on campus

By Erika Parker
Staff Reporter

Santa Claus isn't just coming to town. He's also coming to parties and classrooms at K-State.

Santa Claus suits are being rented from the Union Program Council Special Events Committee until Dec. 21.

The UPC office at the K-State Union has two suits available for rental. The older suit, purchased in 1978 when the service started, costs $10 a day, and the newer one, purchased in 1988, costs $15, said Amy Hoch, junior in business administration and chairwoman of the committee.

Mike Penner, committee adviser, said, "We have a mix of people rent the Santa suit, from student organizations or living groups to staff people for Christmas parties. On occasion, we'll have instructors rent the suit and wear them to class."

The suit-rental program is not for profit, Penner said.

"We do make some money on it," he said. "We put most of that back into equipment and making repairs. You have to have it dry-cleaned."

"Whatever's left goes back to the committee budget to be used for future programs," he said.

One of the party-givers that rented a suit was the University's personnel department.

The 28-member department is having a luncheon party at the Ramada Inn Dec. 21, said Mary Pasley, personnel office assistant, who made the arrangements to rent the Santa Claus suit.

It's a secret who's going to actually wear the costume at the party. But the department's Santa Claus said he enjoys playing the

■ See SUITES, Page 9

MANY HAPPY RETURNS

The one gift everyone loves to bring back. Our gift certificate. Available at the Customer Service Center and redeemable at any of our stores, restaurants, and services.

MANHATTAN
TOWN CENTER

Ask About Extended Holiday Hours

Dillard's JCPenney Sears Specialty Shops Picnic Place
539-9207

3RD AND POYNTZ

McCain

Chanticleer

Thursday, December 6, 8 p.m.
Welcome the holiday season with a Christmas concert by America's premiere cappella vocal ensemble! Chanticleer's 12 singers perform works that span five centuries and include liturgical music, traditional carols, and gospel hymns. Their voices range from countertenor to bass and their remarkable vocal precision has won Chanticleer worldwide acclaim as "an orchestra of voices."

"One of the most beautiful musical experiences in my life. The audience was mesmerized." (Robert Shaw, dean of American choral conductors)

Students/Children: $6
General Public: $12
Senior Citizens: $10

Presented in part with support from the Fine Arts fee and from the Friends of McCain.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University

Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) To charge tickets by phone, call (913) 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and FTR (Fort Riley).

McCain Auditorium is accessible to the physically impaired. Call the box office before performance dates to secure appropriate seating or to arrange for a sign language interpreter.

WRAP UP YOUR HOLIDAYS THIS FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7 WITH THESE SPECIALS AT THE K-STATE UNION'S WILDCAT FRIDAY

BUY ONE TACO GET ONE FREE
AT THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM MEXICAN EXPRESS
LINE WHEN YOU USE YOUR
WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

50 CENTS OFF MOVIE
"FLATLINERS" STARRING KIEFER
SUTHERLAND, JULIA ROBERTS AND
KEVIN BACON - FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7
AT 7 & 9:30 P.M., AT K-STATE UNION
FORUM HALL WHEN YOU USE YOUR
WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

30% OFF STUFFED ANIMALS
WHEN YOU PURCHASE $5 OR MORE
USING YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT AT THE
K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE
YOU CAN GET EITHER REESE'S PEANUT
BUTTER CUP OR REESE'S PIECES PEANUT
NEON ORANGE REESE'S BASEBALL CAP
FOR JUST 99 CENTS!

FREE REFILL FOR 12 OZ. WILLIE MUG
12 OZ. SIZE ONLY - LIMIT
ONE PER CUSTOMER AT
UNION STATION WHEN YOU
USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT!

20% OFF BULK CANDY
AT THE K-STATE UNION
INFORMATION COUNTER
WHEN YOU USE YOUR
WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

30% OFF BLANK BOOKS
WHEN YOU PURCHASE $5 OR MORE
USING YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT AT
THE K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE
YOU CAN GET EITHER REESE'S PEANUT
BUTTER CUP OR REESE'S PIECES AND A
NEON ORANGE REESE'S BASEBALL CAP
FOR JUST 99 CENTS!

50 CENTS OFF SMALL SWEDISH TEA RING
AT THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM BAKERY SHOWCASE
WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT!

HALF PRICE HOT CHOCOLATE
FROM THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM ICE CREAM STATION
WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT

GET THESE SPECIAL PRICES WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT THIS FRIDAY ONLY!

WE APPRECIATE YOUR SUPPORT! THE DOLLARS YOU SPEND IN THE K-STATE UNION HELP TO SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES!

K-State Union
Host to the Campus

is now open to serve you!

Monday thru Wednesday
11 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Thursday thru Saturday
11 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Sunday
12 noon to 10 p.m.

Featuring large screen tv, snacks and deli sandwiches, large dance floor, beverages, entertainment and more!

See you at
Union Station!

K-State Union
Union Station

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

PROBABLE STARTERS

vs.
Wyoming
Cowboys

Keith Amerson
6-3 Sr. F
13.0 ppg
5.7 rpg

Wylie Howard
6-8 Jr. F
10.3 ppg
6.7 rpg

John Rettiger
6-10 Jr. C
10.0 ppg
5.3 rpg

Jeff Wires
6-0 Sr. G
10.3 ppg
4.0 rpg

Jean Derouillere
6-5 Sr. G
20.3 ppg
5.7 rpg

Wyoming faces first road test

'Cats, 2-1, await

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

K-State took its basketball show on the road Dec. 1, being rudely baptized by the third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks in Fayetteville, Ark.

Now it's time for the Wyoming Cowboys, the preseason favorites in the Western Athletic Conference, to do the same thing.

Coach Benny Dees and Co. come into their game with the Wildcats at 7:35 tonight in Bramlage Coliseum with a record of 3-0. But the Cowboys have yet to venture from the friendly confines of the Wyoming Arena-Auditorium in Laramie.

Toss in the loss of starting forward Quein Higgins to a knee injury, and Dees is understandably a bit concerned about what lies in store tonight.

"The loss of Quein is going to hurt us," Dees said of Higgins, who will be replaced in the lineup by Paris Bryant, who selected Wyoming over K-State during last season's recruiting battles. "We're hopeful he can return soon."

"This is going to be a very difficult week for us. I'm not sure we are ready to go on the road yet."

Dees also wasn't pleased with his team's effort against Metro State University of Denver in an 86-75 win Saturday. Slow starts have him worried.

"You can't do that with good ball clubs," he said. "The good ball clubs won't let you get back into it."

Dees, however, has a few weapons that he can fire at the 'Cats.

"They are very athletic," K-State coach Dana Altman said. "They have got a group of juniors that started playing together as freshmen and have moved up together."

Three members of the group Altman spoke of are forward Reggie Slater, swingman Tim Breaux and swingman Travis Butler.

Slater leads Wyoming in scoring average and rebounds per game with marks of 20.7 and 16.3 respectively. Breaux averages 13.7 points a game, and Butler averages 8.0 points and 5.3 rebounds an outing.

"They have a great player in Reggie Slater," Altman said of the 6-foot-7, first-team All-WAC selection. "He's very, very good."

Dees said K-State poses several problems of its own, in that Altman's system is a departure from that the Wildcats have used in recent years. He is aware, however, of the up-tempo style the team now employs.

"We talked to Arkansas, and they think they're (K-State) a pretty good basketball team," Dees said. "As for the defensive pressure we'll see and how successful we'll be, I have no idea until we go and experience it."

Dees is hoping the road can be a bit of a calming factor for his team. Wyoming averaged 21 turnovers in its first three games, and Dees thinks that may have been a result of increased self-imposed pressure that the players felt while performing in front of home fans.

"I don't think we've played really, really sharp the past two basketball games. I don't think we've played as good as we can," he said. "I think the caliber of the opponent is going to make us a little more focused."

On the K-State side, despite the 24-point loss at Fayetteville, Altman and guard Jean Derouillere were encouraged by some aspects of the team's play.

"I thought it was real positive because when the game was over, we left wanting to play them again," said Derouillere, who had 27 points against the Hogs.

Altman liked the poise K-State showed from the start.

"First of all, we didn't walk in there intimidated, and I liked that about our club," Altman said.

Derouillere said rebounding continues to be a concern, and that intensity will be a key against Wyoming.

"We need to rebound, play hard, box out — those are things you can control," he said.

The Associated Press contributed to this story.

Wildcat coach Dana Altman and freshman forward Hamilton Strickland work on post moves at practice Tuesday in Bramlage Coliseum. The 2-1 'Cats host the Wyoming Cowboys, 3-0, at 7:35 tonight in Bramlage.

Hazim scores 31 in Lady Cat loss

By The Collegian Staff

Nadira Hazim scored a career-high 31 points, but a Southwest Missouri State run at the end of the first half was the difference as the Bears downed Hazim and the Lady Cats 87-76 Tuesday night in Springfield, Mo.

The 31-point effort was six points better than Hazim's previous career best of 25, posted on Dec. 12, 1987, against Pan American and equalled on Jan. 13 of this year against Colorado. LeAnn Wilcox holds the single game school record with 38 points against Pfeiffer in 1978.

The Lady Cats, now 2-2, struggled most of the contest, with only Diana Miller joining Hazim in double figures. Miller had 18 points.

Fellow starters Mary Jo Miller, Kristie Bahner and Leah Honeycutt combined for but 14 points as the Bear defense kept the Lady Cat offensive woes mounting.

Bahner scored four points and all of them came in a short span early in the contest. A late Southwest Missouri State run at the end of the first half made a fairly tight game a 14-point, 46-32 Bear lead at the intermission.

The poor showing for Bahner marked the second straight outing against the Bears in which the senior center has struggled. She scored but five points in a 21-point, 69-48 Lady Cat win in Manhattan last season.

Only Hazim's personal exploits kept the game from getting totally out of hand in the second 20 minutes.

After scoring 12 points in the first half, she exploded for 19 in the second. Jennifer Jones holds the school record for points in a half with 26 against Missouri in 1984.

Hazim had 23 points in last season's victory over the Bears.

K-State returns to action Friday, in the first round of the Long Beach State Dial Classic in Long Beach, Calif. The Lady Cats will face San Diego State in the tourney's opening game.

Wildcat showing not all that bad

Dan Wicker
SPORTS REPORTER

OK, we'll take the loss, but K-State basketball fans shouldn't get overly disappointed about the large margin of victory the third-ranked Arkansas Razorbacks posted against the 'Cats.

If you are a 'Cats fan at all, then I know you had high hopes — hovering somewhere about cloud level — that K-State would create the largest upset of this basketball season.

Although the crew did not produce a victory or even beat the spread, which was 23, do not let those hopes drop into the cellar.

The season is very young, and most sports fans know K-State was simply overmatched heading into the contest against the Hogs. Jean Derouillere and John Rettiger are the only K-State returning starters from last year and the only players that have competed solidly against a team similar to Arkansas.

The other three starters for K-State — Keith Amerson, Jeff Wires and Wylie Howard — have been backups for most of their careers, and now they are forced to move into the starting role.

These three only saw limited time last season and have never had a more important role than they sport this year with K-State.

Arkansas used its experience and the size of Oliver Miller to control the lane and a full-court press from the opening tipoff to establish the tempo. In all actuality, K-State fared pretty well for a team that has not had much experience against a team that concluded its 1989-90 campaign as the No. 7 team in the nation.

Just as a point of information, Oklahoma also faced the Hogs this season, and faced the same reality as K-State. The run-and-gun style of Billy Tubbs could not keep up with Arkansas, and the Sooners suffered a 22-point defeat.

K-State is holding up some pretty impressive statistics for the early season. The up-tempo offense is leading to K-State's average of 80.7 points per game, which is already eight points above the average of last year's team.

Another impressive stat leading to K-State's two victories is the starting five players are all averaging in double figures. Derouillere leads the way with 20.3 points per game, and reserve Darryl King throws in another six points off the bench.

Maurice Brittian could have added some of the bulk needed on the inside against Arkansas, but he is still on the comeback trail after an injury. There is a chance that he may play for a limited time in tonight's matchup with Wyoming. At Hutchinson, Brittian was regarded as one of the top five junior college centers in the country.

The results are obvious. K-State basketball games are simply going to be more exciting from a spectator's standpoint than last year's games, when only 60 points were put on the board.

The talent and promise of this team also has the potential to have a better record than Lon Kruger's 17-15 record posted last season.

At Monday's press conference, Derouillere said the team is excited about being at home and playing in front of a home crowd. He said the team is ready to get back on the court to prove themselves after the loss.

Listen to Derouillere and support the 'Cats. Tonight's game will not let you down. Wyoming has a 3-0 record, likes to run the court and will not be afraid to put the ball in the air.

Let's make it known that students are proud of K-State basketball and force the Cowboys of Wyoming to tremble in front of a terrifying home crowd.

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Advance purchase encouraged

Unusually large walk-up crowds at K-State's men's basketball games have created congestion at the Bramlage Coliseum ticket windows. In an effort to alleviate the congestion, the athletic department is encouraging patrons to purchase tickets in advance.

Advance tickets can be purchased from the Ahearn Field House ticket office, the Bramlage Coliseum ticket office, the K-State Union bookstore, the Manhattan Town Center customer service desk and the McCain Auditorium ticket office.

Tickets purchased at locations other than Ahearn or Bramlage will be subject to a 50-cent service charge. Tickets remain for all remaining home contests.

Sports hall to Abilene

LAWRENCE (AP) — The Kansas Sports Hall of Fame will move from Lawrence, where it has been located since 1972, to Abilene.

The hall of fame board of directors chose Abilene over Emporia during a meeting Tuesday in Lawrence.

"We're excited about the prospect of exposing the rich history of Kansas athletics in a community which is noted for its development of tourism," said Max Falkenstein of Lawrence, board chairman.

Abilene's location near Interstate 70 and the fact it is home to the Eisenhower Museum and the National Greyhound Hall of Fame weighed in its favor, said board member Dev Nelson, Manhattan.

Williams wins Butkus Award

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Colorado linebacker Alfred Williams went from best in the Big Eight to best in the country in one season.

On Tuesday, Williams was named winner of the Butkus Award for his play in No. 1 Colorado's 10-1-1 season. The outside linebacker had 88 tackles and 12½ sacks.

"It was a surprise to see myself as the winner with so many great names and universities on the list," said Williams, a senior from Houston. "I'm accepting this award with great appreciation for the committee for recognizing me."

Williams edged Illinois' Darrick Brownlow for the award, in balloting by a panel of sports journalists and football experts. Both players received six first-place votes.

Cunningham to have surgery

K-State forward Deryl Cunningham will miss at least three months of practice following oral surgery Thursday in Topeka, head coach Dana Altman said.

A cyst had formed on Cunningham's jaw, causing damage to his wisdom teeth, Altman said Tuesday. Those teeth will be removed, he said.

Cunningham is sitting out this season after transferring from DePaul last summer.

Gleason signs with K-State

Donita Gleason, a high school senior from Larned, has signed a letter of intent to play for the women's golf team, Coach Russ Bunker announced Tuesday.

Gleason placed fifth at the Class 4A-3A-2A-1A state meet earlier this year. She also won the KGA state junior tourney this year with personal-best rounds of 79 and 78.

"She'll play for us immediately," Bunker said. "She's had enough tournament experience that she will come in here without the jitters. She has a good golf background."

Royals sign Schatzeder

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Royals have signed free agent reliever Dan Schatzeder to a one-year contract in hopes the left-hander can fill a role as middle relief.

Schatzeder, 36, was 1-3 with the Houston Astros in 45 games last season before being traded to the New York Mets on Sept. 10. He appeared in six games for the Mets.

"One of our objectives was to obtain a left-hander who can work in middle relief, and we believe he can be successful in that role," said Herk Robinson, executive vice president and general manager of the Royals.

Schatzeder is 69-68 lifetime in 14 seasons with Montreal, Detroit, Philadelphia, Minnesota, Cleveland, Houston and New York. He spent part of his career as a starter.

Meanwhile, Robinson also is seeking free agent relievers Steve Crawford and Andy McGaffigan. The two combined for 70 appearances, just more than 158 innings and nine victories last season.

The Royals' roster now stands at 40. On Monday, the team requested waivers to give outfielder Jeff Schulz his unconditional release.

Hussein pledges to release Soviet hostages

By The Associated Press

Saddam Hussein on Tuesday backed away from his confrontation with the Kremlin, promising to release the 3,300 Soviets he was holding. Moscow had warned it would use military force against Iraq if Soviets there were harmed.

Meanwhile, according to a British news report late Tuesday, Iraq may be ready to withdraw from most of Kuwait as long as it is allowed to keep the disputed Rumailah oil field that crosses two miles into Kuwaiti territory.

In New York, a late burst of buying sparked by the Sky television report that the Iraqi president was considering withdrawing his occupying forces from Kuwait lifted the stock market from a 25-point decline a half-hour before closing to a 14.11-point Dow Jones gain, closing at 2,579.70.

The rumors fanned speculation the gulf crisis could be resolved without bloodshed.

The news report said Hussein has been detailing his negotiating position on the gulf dispute in private meetings with mediators that include Soviet envoy Yevgeny Primakov.

In exchange for a guarantee against any Western attack on Iraq, the report said he would pull out of all of Kuwait except for the oil field in southern Iraq.

Hussein also would give back the strategically important islands of Bubiyan and Warba, as long as Kuwait would discuss leasing them, and he would accept the return of the Kuwaiti royal family, which fled when Iraq invaded Aug. 2, according to the report.

“There can be no question of negotiations, concessions, partial solutions or linkage to other issues.”

—John Major
British prime minister

Speaking in Montevideo, Uruguay, earlier Tuesday on his second stop on a South American tour, President Bush said Hussein has not gotten the message that he must get out of Kuwait.

Britain's prime minister, John Major, ruled out negotiations with Iraq or any partial solutions or linkages to other issues.

The Soviets will be allowed to leave Baghdad beginning Wednesday, the official Iraqi News Agency said. It reported, however, that Moscow would have to pay compensation for broken contracts.

In Moscow, presidential spokesman Vitaly Ignatenko said 3,232 Soviets remained in Iraq.

Moscow adopted a harder line against Iraq last week when it accused Hussein of breaking a promise to allow Soviets to leave.

Hussein has said he would free all hostages between Christmas and March 25 provided Washington and its allies do not take military action.

In Washington, congressional hearings continued on the Bush administration's gulf policy.

Senate Democrats have repeatedly urged Bush to stick with the economic embargo against Iraq, rather than rush into a war. White House officials, however, have said the sanctions aren't working.

“I've not been one whose been convinced that sanctions alone will bring him to his senses,” Bush said Tuesday.

Of Hussein, the president said: “I am convinced that up until now, at least, he has not gotten the message” that he must withdraw from Kuwait.

Major addressed his first Conservative Party rally as prime minister and said he supported President Bush's recent offer to send Secretary of State James A. Baker III to Iraq.

But he said there should be no compromises.

“There can be no question of negotiations, concessions, partial solutions or linkage to other issues,” he said.

Earlier, Gen. Colin L. Powell, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, conferred with British Defense Secretary Tom King and met with Major for the first time at the start of a two-day visit to London.

Hussein met Tuesday with Jordan's King Hussein, PLO Chairman Yasser Arafat and Yemen's vice president in advance of the U.S.-Iraqi talks on the crisis, a PLO official said.

No reason to fear Japan's investing

Businessmen primarily putting money into already well-established companies

By Jerry Sapp
Collegian Reporter

Japanese are rapidly purchasing American real estate companies, but Ali Fatemi, associate professor of finance, said there is no need to panic at this point.

“We should not be worried about the Japanese or anyone else investing in the U.S.,” Fatemi said. “As long as they stay out of our defense industry, I don't think there is anything to get excited about.”

Fatemi said the Japanese are buying well-established businesses that have a positive image worldwide.

“This is the place where their money is working the best,” he said. “There are good values in the U.S. and it is a wonderful place to invest. Japan is making a worldwide statement of confidence by investing here.”

Japanese investors are long-term, goal-oriented and their aim is to penetrate new markets they don't already possess, Fatemi said.

“The Japanese are penetrating markets they don't already have a beachhead in,” he said. “They are buying businesses such as movie-making and production companies. They are long-term performers who are looking for new products and services they don't already have. They don't want to buy U.S. computer or electronic companies, they already have those. Their whole strategy is to save money by not starting their own.”

Fatemi said Japan's presence in our economy is helpful to its growth in the future.

“Japanese investing in our economy is very healthy in every way,” he said. “The money invested is going to be freed up in our economy and it is going to create more jobs in the U.S. and abroad.”

If the United States took steps to prevent the Japanese from investing here, we would only be hurting ourselves, Fatemi said.

“Anytime we choose to restrict the investments of foreigners in the U.S., it is bad for the economy,” said Peter Ekman, assistant professor of finance. “There aren't any good offsetting benefits to trade restrictions, although there may be some I don't know about. I personally think we would want other people to invest in our economy.”

Fatemi said the foreign trade imbalance is one of the main causes for foreign investment in this country.

“The trade imbalance causes more buying than selling,” he said. “Foreigners have to finance some of their debt by buying some of our assets in this country.”

Fatemi said we should be more concerned about the British, rather than Japanese ownership of American assets.

“The British own twice as many businesses in the U.S.,” Fatemi said.

But, despite this fact, the awareness of the Japanese presence is more identified. The Japanese names are more easily recognized compared to the common British-named companies.

Just recently, Columbia Pictures, MCA/Universal Studios and CBS Records were bought by Japanese companies, Fatemi said such companies as the Rockefeller Foundation are 49 percent Japanese owned.

We Take Tips!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

FORMAL HOSIERY

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 More Aggieville

Many professors find satisfaction, profit writing textbooks for college

Work, research needed to succeed

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

To many students, textbooks are little more than something to buy at the beginning of the semester. To the writers however, the books mean a lot more.

Writing a textbook requires time, research and effort from the authors, and several professors at K-State have given their time to produce text books for their classes.

Most professors choose to write a textbook to fulfill a need for a specific class they teach.

“Basically, out of a need for a course I teach, intermediate algebra, I had to write my own book,” said Dale Hawkinson, educational programmer assistant specialist.

“There was a gap between the books used for my class and the college algebra class. So I wrote the book as a transition for my course,” he said.

Time and effort put into the research are essential to writing a good textbook.

“I certainly did additional research. One doesn't write a textbook off the top of one's head,” said Dean Zollman, physics professor.

Zollman co-wrote “The Fascination of Physics” with his wife. He said it took about five years to write.

“It was written with my wife. She was at another school but we were teaching similar materials and had talked about it for some time,” Zollman said.

Wayne Norvell, marketing professor, said that co-writing “Basic Marketing: A Situational Approach,” took lots of research and years to do.

Writing textbooks did not change his process of teaching because he had been teaching that way beforehand, Norvell said.

“I like both — writing articles, teaching and writing books. It is not usually exclusive, one kind of helps the other,” he said.

After the book is written, publishing is the next step. Contracts must be signed and there are a variety of contracts to consider. Norvell explained two oppositions.

The most common book contract involves the writer receiving 10 to 15 percent of the wholesale price, Norvell said.

Another, but rare, contract states that after the publishing company has recovered its cost, the profits will be split between the publisher and the writer, Norvell said.

Contracts include different items to protect the writer, but the contract is basically for the publisher, Norvell said.

Items to help the writer that could be included in the contract are the number of free copies the writer receives, royalties, how much money the publisher will spend on advertising the book and how often the book is to be revised, Norvell said.

“Unless these are stated, the contract basically serves the publisher,” Norvell said.

GERI

Haircut $10 (reg. $18)
Perm $45 (reg. $55)
(special offer expires Dec. 22)

TINA/
Studio 32
FOR HAIR

776-8830 Candlewood

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Perspectives
Optical Dispensary & Lab

Lenses and Frames Complete
(Includes scratch resistant coating, photo gray & UV protection)
Thru Dec. 24

Presents
People
Pleasing
Prices

Single Vision $79.00
Bifocals $109.00
No-Line Progressive $149.00

300 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan 539-5105
Open Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00; Thursday till 8:00; Sat. 9:30-4:30

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY (C)

INTRODUCING THE SUNGLASSES FOR ALL OCCASIONS

JT THREDS
A NEW CONCEPT IN EYEWEAR

- LIGHTWEIGHT
- LIFETIME WARRANTY
- AFFORDABLE

Drs. Price, Young, & Odle, P.A. and Associates, Optometrists
3012 Anderson, Manhattan, KS
913-537-1118

THE BEST IN SIGHT

FOR YOUR GOOD HEALTH

REGULAR CLINIC HOURS

Monday-Friday
8-11:30 a.m.
1-4:30 p.m.

AFTER HOURS SERVICE

Monday-Friday
4:30 p.m. - 12 midnight

Sat. Sun.: Holidays
8:00 a.m. - 12 midnight

FOR APPOINTMENT CALL
532-6544

Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University

K-State Fans!!

You "Win" When The Wildcats Win!

When K-State beats the Wyoming Cowboys on Wednesday
The Point Spread Is Your Discount
At Our Post-Game

Victory Party!!

If the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount, if they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

Did you get your 45% discount after the 93-48 victory over Florida A&M?

SEE YOU AFTER THE GAME!

OPEN
11 A.M. - 11 P.M.
Daily; Noon to 11 P.M. Sundays

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

Nautilus Towers in Aggieville
MANHATTAN
Phone 537-1616

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Double Mochas
$1.50
Expires 12/5/90

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—
Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEBB COMPANY DVC REAL ESTATE

2801 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66507
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3865

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

Free Estimates

OWIK/LITE
BATTERIES

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

On the fifth day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me:

25% off

of any Classic Sundae!

Strawberry Shortcake sundae, Hot Fudge
Brownie sundae, Triple Whammy sundae,
Banana Split sundae.

at

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

offer expires 12/6/90

537-1616

KRYSTALLOS

NEW ARRIVALS
for Christmas

GUATEMALAN
CLOTHING, BAGS,
BACKPACKS, BELTS,
& MORE.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

Gifts for the

WILD BIRD ENTHUSIASTS

- 1) Bird Baths
(ceramic and cement) $24.95 up
- 2) Bird Bath Heaters
(3 yr. guarantee) $54.95
(automatically shuts off when dry)
- 3) Feeders
Finch, Humming bird, Chickadee, Oriole, Cardinal, Blue Jay, etc.
- 4) Seed
Popular Mix—20 lbs. reg. $6.99 Sale $5.99
10 lbs. reg. $3.99 Sale $2.99

Christmas at

DALE'S
GARDEN CENTER
539-4751

1105 Waters

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

9th Day—9" sub x 2, 2 bags of chips & a 2 ltr. of Pepsi or Diet Pepsi for $9.

Offer good Dec. 5 & 6

Must present ad—not good in combination
with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa KISS?

Early Fall Ladies
Sportswear
Entire stock Now up to 50% off

nautica.
BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

*Gift Certificates *Extended hours *Free gift wrap

Our Gift Certificate for You.

$20 OFF
Expires 12/10/90
Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

on your purchase
of $100 or more.

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours: Mon.-Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

CARR... It's worth it.

704 N. Manhattan Ave.-In Aggieville-539-7654
Mon.-Thurs. 2:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

'Mango Groove' captivating

Rhythm, jazz sound make group's new album a winner

COLLEGIAN Report Card "MANGO GROOVE"

A+

By Stacy Lentz
Collegian Reviewer

From the diverse cultures of South Africa comes Mango Groove — a band with a new, distinct sound. Its second album, aptly titled "Mango Groove," leaves the listener captivated with the innovative dance grooves.

Mango Groove combines contemporary pop and big-band swing to come up with dance beats guaranteed to make anyone tap their feet along with the beat. The music is described as Marabi—Kwela. Not unlike the rhythm and blues of post-war America, the soulful urban strains of this music emerged from the communities of newly-citified blacks in South Africa.

It's a sound that combines the traditional music of their ancestors with the bustle of modern living. It's also a very brassy, jazzy sound that draws heavily from swing music.

Mango Groove's varied influences aren't a surprise, since its members vary in race, generation and sex. The band's inter-racial lineup and anti-apartheid stance have prevented it from gaining the recognition they deserve in their homeland. In spite of this, their debut album has passed the double platinum mark and is still selling at a steady rate in South Africa.

The songs on the album reflect the diversity and uniqueness of the group's members. "Mango Groove" combines soulful lyrics with what could be called feel-good party music.

The band features many talented musicians in its 11-piece lineup. Sipho Bhengu's tenor sax lays down a solid platform for Claire Johnston to launch her stunning vocals. Johnston has incredible range — her voice is light at times and emotionally stirring at others.

Some of the songs on the album could easily be mistaken for corner jam sessions. Drummer Gavin Stevens, guitarist George Lewis and trumpeter Banza Kgasane seem to be on the same wavelength as they lay down moving rhythms.

"Mango Groove" is an album that has music for everyone. The album is sure to put you in a better mood with its predominantly happy vibes.

McIntyre

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
biased and overblown due to the 1990 Student Governing Association elections.

"I had some problems with the Senate Operations Committee because four out of the six members were working on other people's campaigns at the time," he said. "When the impeachment proposal was sent to Senate, I never got a chance to speak."

McIntyre said he believes the impeachment proposal would have never come about if he was not a candidate for student body president at the time.

Nelson said he agreed with McIntyre to an extent after sitting in on the operations committee hearings.

"If I had it to do over again I would have had someone else in my group get the tickets," McIntyre said. "I just wanted to get it done correctly."

Suits

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5

The mystery Santa Claus said he has dressed up for his niece before.

"It's kind of fun," he said. "After the little kids realize what Santa's doing — handing out presents — they don't get quite as scared of him."

"They (personnel department employees) don't know who Santa Claus is going to be, which will be kind of fun. What the heck, I get a free meal out of the deal," he said.

Students in Ford Hall also used a Santa suit Dec. 2 at their Christmas decorating party, said Teanne Hackney, freshman in elementary education and Association of Residence Halls representative.

"Santa went floor to floor with the photographer," she said.

Woods

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Resources are critical. We have not had to cancel classes or terminate people," Woods said.

Resources, excellence in teaching, research, extension and a wide range of programs for the state are needed to keep the college going, he said.

Programs for the state include research and extension, value-added products, water quality and development of human resources.

"We are not and can not be all things to all people. There must be some priority," he said.

Woods said that he did not see a decrease or increase in the growth pattern of the horticulture department.

"I see horticulture at this moment in time in a very positive relationship to the College of Ag," he said. "Hor-

Travelute Western Store

Big Savings for your Christmas needs.

- Levis, Lee, & Wrangler jeans starting at $16.98 and up
- Rocky Mountain, P.S., and Roper jeans for ladies
- Goose down coats—Tempco and Comfy, $85 and up
- 20% off felt hats
- Big boot selection at big savings—Justin, Tony Lama, Acme, Panhandle Slim, etc...

Open Mon.-Sat. 9-noon and 1-5, Sunday 1-5
1 mile south of Waterville, Kansas on Hwy 77
(913) 785-2136

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

Pizza Hut

DELIVERY

Makin' it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

- AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
- WESTLOOP 539-7447
- 3RD & MORO 776-4334

Tri-County Property Management

Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie

1, 2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available

1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

Treat Yourself
To A "Triple Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

Need money for college?

ASK
ABOUT
STUDENT LOANS

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.

Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
776-9400

Lender Code
*804581
EMPIRE BANK
Originator

Member FDIC

2nd Annual

FREE

2nd Annual

CLINIC DAY

Thursday, Dec. 6, 9 a.m.—7 p.m.

Help the Flinthills Bread Basket when you help yourself...
Bring in a can of food and receive your first appointment

FREE

1st Appointment includes Consultation, Physical, Orthopedic, Neurological Exams and one X-ray. All At No Cost To You!

MANHATTAN
CHIROPRACTIC

539-5622

1127 Westloop Shopping Center

PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET

WARNS YOU....
IF YOU ARE PAYING MORE THAN

$2495* COMPLETE - OR - $3495 COMPLETE BIFOCAL

SINGLE VISION
FOR YOUR EYEGLASSES, INCLUDING FRAME — YOU ARE OVERPAYING!

AT PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET YOU GET....

- UNLIMITED SELECTION - YOUR CHOICE OF OVER 1,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
- NO CHARGE FOR SUN OR FASHION TINTED LENSES!
- NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR OVERSIZED OR PLASTIC LENSES!
- HIGHEST QUALITY FRAMES AND LENSES!
- HIGHEST PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS!
- SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!

* All normal prescriptions - distance, reading, or flat to 25 and 28mm, round or executive bifocals, in Rx's no higher than (+) or (-) 8.00 diopter sphere, with up to -2.00 cylinder. Adds no higher than (+) $3.00.
Photogrey Extra, Scratch and Ultra-Violet Coat - each $10 additional.

1210 MORO
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
537-1574

NEVER A SALE, ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICE!

Winter Intersession

January 2-15, 1991

Intersession registration is December 11 in the Enrollment Center, 217 Willard Hall and December 12 at 131 College Court from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. both days. Beginning December 13 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and audit registrations will be accepted beginning December 13, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506-6015.

Tuition for on-campus coursework will be $51 per undergraduate resident credit; $61 per graduate resident credit; $145 per undergraduate nonresident credit; $156 per graduate nonresident credit; plus $3.45 per day for student services. Off-campus coursework will be $55 per undergraduate credit and $76 per graduate credit.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court.

Ref. #	Course #	Course Title	Credit	Dates	Times
94100	GRSCI 790	Problem: AIB Production Seminar	1 UG/G	Jan. 7-11	8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94135	ARCH 566	Competition Studio	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 4-14	1:00-5:00 p.m.
94101	IAR 406	Problems: Delineation Techniques	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:30-4:30 p.m.
94102	IAR 406	Problems: Airbrush Drawing	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94103	LAR 741	Problems: Golf Course Design	2 UG/G	Jan. 3-12	9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
94134	LAR 741	Landscape of London, Bath & Surroundings — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m. - 10:00 p.m.
94104	DAS 500	African-American Women Playwrights	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94105	ANTH 522	Topics: Cultural Diversity in America	2-3 UG	Jan. 2-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94106	BIOL 495	Topics: Eugenics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94107	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
94108	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-5:30 p.m.
94109	HIST 563	Topics: Modern Central & Eastern Europe	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-10:00 p.m.
94110	JMC 500	Topics: Computerized Publication Design and Production	2 UG	Jan. 2-5	8:00 a.m.-8:00 p.m.
94111	JMC 740	Colloquium: Propaganda & the Mass Media	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	2:00-5:00 p.m.
94112	MATH 381	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94113	MATH 581	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94114	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94115	MUSIC 425	Topics: Jazz in the Jerry Wexler Collection	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-4:00 p.m.
94116	PHYS 281	Space Missions and Astronomy	2 UG	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 7	8:30-11:20 a.m. & 6:00-9:00 p.m.
94117	SOCWK 495	Chemical Depend./Codependency: Intervention	3 UG	Jan. 8-12	8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
94118	SPCH 433	The Language of War	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94119	MANGT 498	Computer Concepts and Applications	3 UG	Jan. 5-15	M-Th 5:15-9:15 p.m. & Sat 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94120	EDAF 511	Career Life Planning	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94121	EDAF 786	Stress Management for Teachers, Counselors and Administrators	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	4:30-7:30 p.m.
94122	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Elementary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94123	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Secondary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94124	EDCI 786	Teaching in the Multi-Level Classroom	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	M-Th 4:30-7:30 p.m. Sat. by appt.
94125	ARE 620	Problems: Building Energy Audits & Analysis	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-Noon
94126	CE 570	Transportation Planning	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	M-F 8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. & Jan. 5 Sat 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94127	CE 790	Problems: Global Environmental Changes and Challenges	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94128	CNS 544	CAD Apps. in Engin. Arch. & Constr.	2 UG	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 5	M-F 8:00 a.m.-Noon Sat 8:00 a.m.-Noon
94129	ID 499	Presentations for Interior Designers	1-2 UG	Jan. 7-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94130	ID 782	Decorative Arts & Arch. — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94131	HRIMD 499	Hotel & Restaurant Mgmt. in London & Paris	2 UG	Jan. 1-13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94132	HRIMD 499	Travel Issues for Professionals — Chicago	1 UG	Jan. 11-14	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94133	AP 533	Topics in the Human-Animal Bond	1 UG	Jan. 7-11	9:00 a.m.-Noon

Division of Continuing Education

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

Hardee's
DELIVERS
537-2526

SKI REPORT

Latest Colorado
Ski Conditions
Call 537-SKI'N
sponsored by:
Classic Tours

Bobby J's
WEDNESDAYS:
STEAK NIGHT

$4.49 Filet Mignon
$4.99 K.C. Strip
$5.49 T-Bone
with drink order, baked potato and salad
539-1571

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs—skincare—glamor—nails—gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.
CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!
COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.
COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Kripp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

TONIGHT
$1
LONGNECKS
25¢
KAMIS
BAYSTREET

Yellow Bows—
Show Your Care.
Westloop Floral
537-2845

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

DONATE FOOD or money for Christmas. See Santa and Christmas Clown. Bring to Military Science Building 101.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OSAGE House has Indian cuisine. Carryout for under $4! 776-1234, 2605 Stag Hill Road.

TO ALL German students and faculty—Don't forget to sign up for the Christmas Party (Dec. 9—5:30p.m.) by today—Dec. 5, in the modern language office—Eisenhower 107. Osage House is located at 2605 Stag Hill Road. See you there!

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111. 8a.m.—8p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment. Close to campus. Reasonable rent. Serious inquiries call collect (316)321-5810.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

JANUARY FREE! Jan. 1—Aug. 1. Roomy apartment for two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. 537-0772.

NICE FURNISHED apartment in lake home 10 minutes from campus. $250 including utilities for single person. Available January—May. 539-3078.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundromat, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMMATE NEEDED Jan. 1, three-bedroom apartment, $175/ month plus one-third utilities, own room, close to Aggieville and campus. 537-3386.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

614 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st. Unfurnished two-bedroom with washer/ dryer. Water/ trash paid. 776-7950.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Spacious two-bedroom, one bathroom, dishwasher, central air. Call after 6p.m. 537-0269.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, large, one-bedroom near campus, $325. 537-3160.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, spacious, clean two-bedroom, one and one-half bath basement apartment. $375/ month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, pool, water and trash paid, very nice, no deposit. $275. 776-9624.

BASEMENT APARTMENT. $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking. No pets. 539-3409.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, room cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment for rent from January—August. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143 evenings.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, 814 Thurston, gas/ water included. No pets, start Jan. 1. $375/ month. 537-9336.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8600.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8600.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1. Three blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5079.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st: Close to campus, rent $175. Call Molly, Julie, Lisa 537-1380.

AVAILABLE NOW! One-bedroom apartment. $200/ month. Furnished/ unfurnished. 537-1538 or 776-8725.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 537-1730.

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment. Across street from campus and Aggieville, $175 month, very low utilities. 776-0115.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM for one or two people available January. $240. 776-8535.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles. $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1983 OLDS Firenza LX, loaded, automatic, air, AM/FM cassette. Going to Saudi, must sell soon! Sacrifice for best offer. 1-239-4060 leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior. Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1988 HONDA Civic, three-door hatchback, deluxe, five-speed, power steering, power brakes, air. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AM/FM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

1988 OLDS CUTLAS Supreme, power steering, power brakes, air, cruise, tilt, AM/FM, digital, low mileage. 532-6274.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

8 Employment

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

(Continued on page 11)

BOOKS &

BRICKS

THE STUDENT FOUNDATION
LIBRARY CAMPAIGN

thank you!

The KSU Student Foundation and Farrell Library would like to thank our sponsors and the many people that pledged money to the Books & Bricks campaign. And a special thanks to the members of the Student Governing Association that took the time to help make our first campaign a success.

A TOTAL OF $18,745 WAS PLEDGED,
WELL OVER THE $10,000 GOAL!

Books & Bricks sponsored by:

DOW

FirstBank
First Savings Bank, F.S.B.

Pizza Hut.

Makin' it great!

KSU Student Foundation

KSU STUDENT SPECIAL!
$1 OFF
COUPON

World's Greatest Haircut
Reg. $7 BUT WITH COUPON

ONLY $6

Also on SALE
HIS or HER
PERM $23

snip n' clip

MIDWEST'S FAVORITE HAIRCUTTERS

OPEN NIGHTS & SUNDAYS, JUST DROP IN

3035 ANDERSON
V.P. - 539-4043
431 POYNTZ - BY K-MART
776-6410
Expires 12-31-90

ARTS & SCIENCES COLLEGE COUNCIL

Apply now for open positions

- ▲ Allocate money to clubs in Arts & Sciences
 - ▲ Select the Student of the Semester
 - ▲ Concerned about reorganization?
- Council gives you a voice in the University's changes.

Get involved in your college now!

Applications are available at the Dean's Office in Eisenhower Hall.
Return them by attending council meeting
Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205
Contact the Dean's office if unable to attend.

KSU Bakery Science Club
Please pick up your fruitcake
& coffeecake orders today from 3 to 5 p.m. in
Shellenberger 105

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

Do it fast, do it quick,
Come get your picture taken with ol' St. Nick!

K-State Union Courtyard
Dec. 4, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Dec. 5, 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.
Featuring guest—Santa Willie the Wildcat

Only $1.50 per picture!!

AND

CALL 532-6571 MON.-FRI.
TO RESERVE YOUR SANTA SUIT!
Rent from December 1 through December 21—Only $15 per day

k-state union
special events

GET THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT!

Some lines
shouldn't be crossed.
FLATLINERS
k-state union
upc feature films

Five arrogant medical students who are curious about the afterlife pay a fearful price when they participate in a reckless experiment that allows them to experience death, and come back to life. December 7, 8 & 9. $1.75 with KSU I.D.
FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m. & SUNDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall

Humorist Jean Shepherd's 1940s America is portrayed in "A Christmas Story," a nostalgic and witty remembrance of times gone-by. It's a truly wonderful period film for children and grown-ups alike!
December 8 & 9. $1.50 SATURDAY
and SUNDAY, 2 p.m., Forum Hall

THE MERRY CHRISTMAS
MOVIE IS BACK.

k-state union
upc feature films

Remember...
It is better to give than to receive.

A CHRISTMAS STORY

DON'T FORGET!

DEC. 10 & 11
ART RENTAL RETURNS
UNION COURTYARD
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Bagdad is a desolate desert truck stop, suspended in a dusty limbo somewhere between those two quintessential cities of dreams, Hollywood and Las Vegas. Then, out of the desert, comes a mysterious stranger, a Bavarian tourist named Jasmine. Jasmine brings magic with her both literally and figuratively, rejuvenating the truck stop into a premier roadside attraction and imparting a sense of community to its collection of oddly assorted inhabitants. $1.75 with KSU I.D. Dec. 5th and 6th.
WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, 7 p.m., Forum
Hall & THURSDAY, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre

(Continued from page 10)

ACCOUNTING INSTRUCTOR, 9-month position; responsibilities: teaching 32 credit hours per academic year in accounting, lead instructor for accounting program and banking management. Qualifications: Working knowledge of MS DOS; bachelor's degree in accounting, practical accounting experience required; master's degree, college level teaching experience, attendance or graduation from a community college preferred. Send letter of application, resume, transcripts, three references to: Don Guild, dean of instruction, Seward County Community College, Box 1137, Liberal, KS 67905-1137. Starting date: Jan. 2. AA/ECE.

STUDENT TYPIST wanted to begin Dec. 13. Must type 75-80 words per minute and be able to work approximately 20 per week. Call Pam Fulmer for interview, International Trade Institute, 532-6799.

SUBSTITUTE RESIDENTIAL ADVISOR: A private not-for-profit corporation serving persons with developmental disabilities has an opening for an on-call substitute in a men's group home. Responsible for supervision, record keeping, and household maintenance. Weekend and evening hours. $4.80 per hour. Two letters of reference required upon hire. High school diploma required. Good driving record required. Applications accepted at Big Lakes Developmental Center, Inc., 1500 Hayes Drive, Manhattan, KS 66502, through Dec. 6, 1990. EOE.

VAN DRIVER: Part-time position available immediately. Responsible for transporting clients and assisting in providing activity therapies with the Community Support Program. Class B driver's license required. Contact Patricia Murphy at Pawnee Mental Health Services. Phone 539-7426.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 87196

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Templeton Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)642-4443.

WANTED: PERSON experienced in RBase computer program to finalize report and act as a consultant for future work. Call 539-5208 after 1p.m.

YOUTH LEADER/ New membership coordinator for College Avenue United Methodist Church's active youth program and growing congregation. Requires out-going, organized, excellent communication with experience in working with youth. Bachelor's degree preferred. 25 hours per week. Starting date negotiable. For further information, call 539-4191. Application deadline: Jan. 4, 1991.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM house in Riley, $150. Available Dec. 1. Call 1-485-2204.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM farm house, $300, 30 minutes out of town. Possible facilities for horses. 1-913-499-0661.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1048.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: ESU Men's class ring. To claim, call 539-2334. Ask for Jenny M.

FOUND LADIES' watch. To claim, call Mike at 776-7434.

FOUND: PRESCRIPTION eyeglasses in maroon carry case at Ninth and Moro on Dec. 3 (Monday). Call 539-8205 to claim.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x50 MOBILE home, washer and dryer, shed, furnished, $5,000. Call 537-3909.

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 TREK 800 21-speed, toe clips, cage and bottle, Kryptonite lock, $300 or best offer. Also cycle shuttle carrier, $40. 539-4059 after 6p.m.

BRAND NEW Schwinn 21-speed, cross bike and cable lock. $210. 776-0861.

19 Music/Musicians

FOR SALE: One hundred watt Cerwin-Vega amp, $250, Marshall cabinet, $375. 776-1691.

TAKAMINE STRAT-STYLE guitar with Dimarzio Humbucker, Peavey amp, Pedals. $200 or best offer. 537-8288.

TWO ELECTRIC bass guitars with cases. Foundation. 130 watt amp. Peavey TNT. Work 1-456-2264. Home 539-0157.

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

CHRIS—Acacia—Damon with you Saturday night was stimulating, but if you give me a call, we can explore our deeper shades of soul—Blue Eyes.

COMEDIAN—YOU know what I can't believe? Not props, Dan and the minivan or that other thing, but that you qualified for Forensics Nationals! Congratulations! Love, Jana.

I HAVE a little pledge, his birthday is today. I asked to see him tonight, but his brothers said—No Way! Happy Birthday, Howie! I love you a lot!

MATT—YOU'VE made my days brighter and my nights special. Here's to one year of great memories and to your 21st birthday. Have fun at Chance. Love, KD Chelle.

JOBS! JOBS!

Positions available nationwide and overseas. All occupations with competitive salaries and benefits.

Free Information
Call
Corporate Careers
(913) 539-1144

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Gact Hapland is scared to death. He just got amnesia, so he doesn't remember why he decided to stand on 2 potatoes and paint a live falcon blue.

12-5
©1990 Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

PRIDETTES, THE 20 most gorgeous, love-loving ladies at K-State. Rock and roll at B-Ball (Dec. 8) like you did this fall. David C. Managar.

S.P.K.—Seductive, Pleasing, Kinky. —Definitely!! Different? Indeed, and I'm looking forward to taking another trip to the top of the world. Who knows, this trip could take us straight to the top of the moon! Pillars.

TASHYA—THE day has finally come. You're 21! Have a great day... and night. You're a great roommate —Cathy. P.S. Watch out. Vile, here she comes.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

ADULT PERSIANS for sale, $75 each or best offer. Free female puppies. Canin Terrier, Cocker mix. 1-765-3873 days, 1-765-2239 evenings.

AKC REGISTERED buff color Cocker Spaniel puppies. Reserve yours now for Christmas. 1-494-2838.

FREE—85 lbs., male Great Dane needs home. Neutered, friendly, house-broken. Call Brian 776-8499.

ONE PUREBRED Chow puppy left. Wormed and has shots. Best reasonable offer. 776-2497 ask for Jim.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS
PETS N' STUFF
1015 W. 12th St. 539-4101
OPEN Thurs. 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years.

We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Callin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson. 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, nice new room at Woodway Apartments. $160 plus utilities, after 5:30p.m. 537-8288.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house to share with female roommate. Spring semester. Own room. $175/month plus utilities. 776-0595.

FEMALE: CLOSE to campus, and very close to Aggieville... $150/month... utilities average $10-15/month. 537-4144.

FEMALE—NON-SMOKER, to share house, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/month and one-half utilities 539-7382.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate wanted, close to campus and Aggieville. $143 plus one-fourth utilities, available immediately. Call 539-4851.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, own bedroom, across from campus, $150/month plus utilities. Available Jan. 1st. 537-8823.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted Jan. 1 to May 31. Close to campus. $138.75/month. 539-2919. Ask for Debra or Kristie.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice, furnished apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus. Available Jan. 1, $131.25 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8983.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $150 per month, own room, newly remodeled. 776-3835.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment. 1825 College Heights. 776-7227.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student. Own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE, CHRISTIAN, Roommate to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private room, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $195. 537-8048.

MALE NON-SMOKER wanted to share two-bedroom home, washer/dryer, $135/month plus one-half utilities. 537-4369.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice four-bedroom house. Own room, close to campus and Aggieville. $125/month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 776-1562.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE—$150/month, one-third utilities, private bedroom, close to campus, by City Park. 776-7397.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $175/month plus one-third utilities, own room, available Jan. 1. Mark 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130/month, one-third utilities, no deposit, own room, close to campus. 539-5309.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE. House with all the extras. Few hours babysitting in exchange for partial rent. 776-3860.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE ROOMMATE to fill luxury townhome, three bedrooms. Own room. House everything. $195 negotiable. 776-2497.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING, female for two-story apartment. Furnished bedroom, laundry. $140. Call 539-1592. Leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Female to share new two-bedroom apartment with pool. Westloop location, $180/month plus utilities from January to August or May. Call 537-2445 after 7p.m. or leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED—One block from campus, $130 plus utilities. Call Amy 537-4510, 776-1195.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $150/month plus one-third utilities. Park Place. Call 776-1956 leave message.

ROOMMATE—GRADUATE or older student to share three-bedroom house with two others. 539-7232.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: Own room, water and heat paid, $150/month plus one-half electric. One and one-half blocks from campus. 776-5526.

ROOMMATE FOR a large two-bedroom apartment, $200/month. Call Tony 776-8749.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester, $187.50/month plus one-half utilities. Own room in furnished apartment. No deposit. 10 minute walk from campus. 5 minute walk from Aggieville. Call Scott or Julie, 539-3277.

THREE MATES to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private rooms, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $200. 537-0472.

TWO ROOMMATES. One block from campus, $143.75, plus one-fourth utilities. 539-4189 or 537-3782.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL, FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special: $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

Stress getting you down?

Call today for an appointment
537-8305

20% OFF ALL SERVICES
with this coupon.
Expires 12-31-90

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

26 Stereo Equipment

NEW PIONEER KE-2022 car stereo with auto-reverse, 15 station presets, and digital display. $150. New Pioneer BP-450 graphic equalizer amplifier. 25w-25w $75. Call Ken 537-8313.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

SOLOFLEX FOR sale! Two months old. Leg attachment and Butterfly included! $900 or best offer. Call Mau at 537-3585.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, nicely furnished, near campus, air, low utilities. 776-7083 evenings.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Nice one-bedroom apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus, three blocks from Aggieville. $230/month negotiable. 776-8704, Alan.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, campus and Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, furnished, spacious one-bedroom apartment, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Female wanted to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, less than a block from campus and down the street from Aggieville. Half rent and utilities, total less than dorms. 539-9535.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

FEMALE SPRING semester. Furnished, quiet house. Washer/dryer. Rent negotiable. Lease ends in May. Amy 539-3886.

FEMALE—WANTED to share apartment in house, close to campus, own room, $190 plus one-half utilities. Call Susan at 776-3218.

FURNISHED TWO-BEDROOM. January—August. Fireplace, washer/dryer, air conditioning, dishwasher, double bath, garage. $395 plus utilities. 776-8384.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

NEW THREE-BEDROOM, one and one-half bath, close to campus. Available Jan. 1st—July 30th. $540, 539-3638.

SUBLEASE: STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

CHIEFS VS. Broncos. $25 includes bus ride, game ticket and refreshments. Classic Tours. 537-7546.

FOR SALE: AC/DC ticket, 12th row, $15. 776-3491 leave message.

ROUND-TRIP LA. Leave 12-26-90. Return 1-4-91. $350. 537-4907 or 532-6630. Ask for Pam. Leave message.

ROUND-TRIP AIRLINE ticket for sale, KC to Philadelphia, PA. Dec. 16-23. $150. Call 539-6289.

ROUND-TRIP FLIGHT ticket to Florida, leaving Dec. 19, returning Jan. 21. $120. 537-1781.

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH 7 NIGHTS from $119*

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $129*

STEAMBOAT 2, 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $96*

FORT LAUDERDALE 7 NIGHTS from $137*

PANAMA CITY BEACH 7 NIGHTS from $124*

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $108*

HILTON HEAD ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $112*

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY
1-800-321-5911

*Depending on break dates and length of stay

31 Tutor

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your term paper, thesis, or dissertation. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

25" RCA Console color TV, $200 or make offer. Call 776-4213.

4.1 CUBIC Foot refrigerator, like new. Need to sell. Mike, 532-5168.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: HP 485X with equation library, couch, bed, mattress and frame, cedar chest, small desk. Westminster chime mantle clock. Call Ron at 539-2813.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 6p.m.

FOR SALE: Wooden bookshelf $10; and queen-size foam core Futon mattress $150. 537-4093.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53599 or call (808)655-4248.

SALE: LIKE new computer desk—$40. Kristi at 776-2433.

SMITH CORONA word processor—auto spell, disk drive, display screen, $450 or best. 776-2018.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels, $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before

All You Need To Know About Pizza!

PIZZA SHUTTLE

776-5577

Limited Delivery Area

1800 Claflin Road - FirstBank Center

MENU

Standard Cheese

A hand fashioned crust with generous toppings of spicy tomato sauce and cheeses. The starting point for your favorite combination.

Express Shuttle

The standard cheese with additional toppings of pepperoni, ham, mushrooms, onions & green peppers.

Farm Shuttle

The standard cheese topped for the vegetarian with mushrooms, onion, green peppers, black olives, sliced tomatoes and extra cheese.

SUPER Shuttle

The standard with pepperoni, ground beef, italian sausage, onions, black olives, mushrooms and extra cheese. Jalapenos optional at no extra charge.

1 Pizza

2 Pizzas

3 Pizzas

$4.50

$7.50

$9.75

All Toppings 50¢ per topping per pizza

$6.00

$10.50

$14.25

$6.50

$11.50

$15.75

$7.00

$12.50

$17.25

TOPPINGS

Pepperoni
Italian Sausage
Ground Beef
Ham
Mushrooms
Onions
Green Peppers
Green Olives
Black Olives
Pineapple
Jalapenos
Anchovies
Sliced Tomatoes
Extra Cheese

HOURS

Mon-Thur 11am-2am
Fri-Sat 11am-3am
Sunday 11am-1am

No substitutions on Shuttles. All prices include sales taxes.

50¢
16oz. Coke or Diet Coke
(with ice)

NO COUPON SPECIALS

No coupon needed, none accepted

Everyday Two-fers
$8.50

Two Pizzas with 2 toppings each plus two 16oz. Cokes

Primetime Special
$10.50

Three Pizzas with 1 topping each plus four 16oz. Cokes

Sunday Super Special
$10.50

Two Super Shuttle Pizzas
plus two 16oz. Cokes

Party "10"
$27.50

Ten 10" Pizzas
with one topping

We Deliver During Lunch!

$1.00 OFF
Any Two Pizzas

776-5577

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____

Expires 12-1-91

$2.00 OFF
Any Three
Pizzas

776-5577

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____

Expires 12-1-91

$1.00 OFF
Any Pizza
Ordered
11am-4pm

776-5577

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____

Expires 12-1-91

50¢ OFF
Any Pizza

776-5577

NAME _____
ADDRESS _____

Expires 12-1-91

COUPONS NOT VALID WITH SPECIALS OR OTHER DISCOUNTS

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, December 6, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

Fort Riley soldiers begin deployment

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

FORT RILEY — Fourteen reporters, photographers and cameramen watched 10 soldiers, the first from the 1st Infantry Division, depart Wednesday for Saudi Arabia as part of an advance team to prepare for the division's deployment in Operation Desert Shield.

Ten more soldiers, also part of Division Support Command Forward which will prepare for the division's Middle Eastern arrival, are scheduled to leave Fort Riley today, and 10 more are to leave Friday.

Lt. Col. Vernon Johnson, officer in charge of Division Support Command Forward, said the 10 soldiers who left today should arrive in Saudi Arabia about 36 hours after their plane leaves Forbes Field in Topeka.

Their flight was scheduled to leave Forbes Wednesday afternoon.

Prior to boarding a bus for Forbes, the soldiers and their equipment were weighed-in on scales placed along one side of the basketball court of Craig Gymnasium, which has been converted into a temporary departure center. The weighing let the Air Force know the exact weight of people and equipment being placed on aircraft.

Soldiers' identification was also checked and their weapons' serial numbers were registered. At work stations around the gym floor, soldiers could complete necessary paperwork, such as designating insurance beneficiaries, if they had not already done so.

For Capt. Wes Anderson, assistant division engineer, saying goodbye to his wife, Maj. Pat Anderson, was a prelude to a possible reunion in Saudi Arabia.

Pat Anderson, chief nurse for the 410th Evac Hospital, will be deployed in Saudi Arabia later with the 1st Infantry Division.

Reporters asked them if they will be able to see each other.

"It depends on where everything is located," Pat Anderson said.

■ See DEPLOY, Page 12

Capt. Wes Anderson, assistant division engineer, gets his baggage weight checked by Spc. Tony McCoy in Fort Riley's Craig Gymnasium Wednesday. Anderson and nine other soldiers were the first from the 1st Infantry Division to depart for Saudi Arabia as part of an advance team for the division's deployment.

Mike Venso/Staff

Baker appeals for public support of policy

By The Associated Press

Secretary of State James Baker III appealed Wednesday for broad support of the administration's Persian Gulf policy so he can credibly tell Saddam Hussein when they meet: "Get out of Kuwait or risk all."

He said he would not negotiate with Hussein on the visit, which the State Department said had been formally accepted by Baghdad. And he added a new warning: "If force must be used, it will be used suddenly, massively and decisively."

The State Department said Joseph Wilson, the charge d'affaires at the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad, had been informed of Iraq's acceptance of the Baker trip, which President Bush proposed last week.

"When naked aggression takes place, it's not a question of finding face for the aggressor," Bush said during questioning on his South American trip. He added, "When a country is literally raped and pillaged, should the world go out and try to find a way to save face for he who has raped and pillaged that country."

He said he was not optimistic

Hussein would leave Kuwait without a fight.

Baker, laying out a hard U.S. line before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said international sanctions against Iraq have not worked. He added that he was "very pessimistic" they would if given more time, as some congressional Democrats have strongly recommended, and said the threat of attack now holds the best chance for peace.

He said a formal congressional statement of support for using force if necessary would reduce the risk of war. But a congressional debate that led to an equivocal message would be counterproductive, he added.

"Congress and the American people must tell Saddam Hussein in unmistakable actions and words: 'Get out of Kuwait now or risk all,'" Baker said.

Baker said.

"Put bluntly, this is the last best chance for a peaceful solution," Baker said of his upcoming trip to Iraq, on which dates and arrangements were being worked out.

"If (Hussein) is not stopped now, if his aggressive designs are not frustrated, we will all pay a much higher price later on," Baker said.

■ See GULF, Page 12

Engineering students approve fee

By Alan Wilds
Staff Reporter

Engineering students at K-State are willing to pay a $15 per-credit-hour fee while the University of Kansas' engineering students believe another alternative should be sought.

About 1,800 students at both schools voiced their opinions on the fee through an opinion poll, along with students from Wichita State University, at the request of the Kansas Board of Regents.

The poll is designed to determine engineering students' interest in supporting an engineering fee, which would be used to purchase new equipment for the colleges.

The results of Wichita State's poll will not be released until later today.

Donald Rathbone, K-State dean of engineering, said he was very pleased with the results and what he called commitment of the students to a quality education.

"I think the results are very good, and I would like to congratulate the students on their effort and support," he said. "The intelligence of engineering students at K-State has shown through — despite a lot of devious maneuvers at the last minute and a lot of things that could have been confusing."

The poll attracted more than 1,000 students to Durland Hall. The fee was approved across the board with the exception of graduate students. The final tally was 730 in favor and 380 against the fee.

Rathbone said the College of Engineering must now go forward to the regents and seek fee approval.

"I'm hopeful now that the engineering students and the Student Governing Association can go forward together," he said.

At KU, Engineering dean Carl Locke said having the students vote against the fee was not the outcome

■ See FEE, Page 12

Engineering Fee Opinion Poll Results

Source: Elections Committee

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

Students to receive Marshall awards for academic efforts

By Lajean Rau
Collegian Reporter

Two recent Marshall wins puts K-State in front of all other Big Eight schools in Marshall scholarship awards in the past 10 years.

The winners are Luis Montaner, fourth-year student in veterinary medicine and veterinary pathology, and Julie Tarara, senior in horticulture and social sciences. Montaner, who is from Santurce, Puerto Rico, will study at Oxford University. Tarara, who is from Bradford, Mass., will study at Reading University.

Montaner said he will work on AIDS-virus research at the pathology school. Tarara said she will study the effects of water stress on vegetable crops in drought conditions and would like to use her findings to address world hunger.

"I was totally delighted to hear about the two K-State students winning the Marshall," said President Jon Wefald. "K-State is compiling an incredibly impressive record of producing first-rate student scholars."

K-State is also making a name for itself in several other scholarship competitions.

Seven Rhodes scholars in the past 15 years puts K-State in the top 1 percent of the more than 2,000 colleges in the country for producing Rhodes scholars.

K-State, by having 14 Truman scholars in the same time period, is tied with Michigan State for first place among public universities.

Only Yale, Stanford, Radcliff and Harvard have had more Truman scholars.

Cheryl May, director of News Services, said she was elated to hear about the Marshall wins.

"It is usually the big schools — or the Ivy League schools — that do well in these competitions," May said. "But the number of winners we have had in the past shows that K-State ranks right up there with them.

"What's neat is that these students could have gone to one of those other schools, but they want to be here," she said. "People always think of K-State students as being friendly and outgoing, which they are. But what they seem to forget is a campus can be full of friendly students and brilliant students at the same time."

Montaner and Tarara both said the reality of the awards was still sinking in.

"It still amazes me when I think that there are only 40 Marshall scholars in the whole United States," Tarara said. "Luis and I are two of them, and we are both from K-State."

Montaner said that when he first learned he was eligible for the Marshall, he thought it was something to dream about, but he never thought it would happen.

"Had you asked me even a month ago, I would not have believed you," he said.

Nancy Twiss, special assistant to the provost for scholarships, heads the Marshall scholarship committee at K-State. She is called "the students' coach" by many who are familiar with the Marshall program.

"It is a real pleasure to get to work with exceptional students like Luis and Julie," Twiss said. "They are fine scholars and people of principle who have shown greatness not only in this accomplishment, but also for the promise of it in the future."

Twiss aids the students who apply for the Marshall, as well as several other scholarships, with the application and interviewing processes, Montaner said.

"Nancy does a great job working with the students," May said. "I would attribute K-State's success in this area to outstanding preparation. We have great faculty and a great academic program."

Garage sale to fund scholarship

By Susan Boos
Collegian Reporter

Music faculty will be cleaning out their closets for a garage sale today from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the McCain Courtyard.

Pi Kappa Lambda, a music honorary, sponsors the musical garage sale to raise money for scholarships.

"Every year, we raise money for a scholarship to be given to the outstanding graduating senior in music, which is elected by the faculty," said Craig Parker, associate professor in music and member of Pi Kappa Lambda.

Parker said most of what is sold is donated by the music faculty.

"We sell records, books, compact discs, cassettes and anything that someone wants to get rid of," Parker said. "One year, we even sold some hubcaps."

Parker said one of the garage sale's biggest donors is Ralph Titus, manager of KKSU-AM 580.

"Most of the music I donate comes to our radio station," Titus said. "We don't use it, and it's free. So I just put it in a corner until it's time for the garage sale."

Titus said that KKSU receives about 200 CDs in a year and that the station used to just give them away or take them to KSDB.

"The number of CDs we've been receiving has been increasing because the cost to produce them is decreasing considerably," Titus said.

Parker said most of the CDs sell for about $4. Records usually cost about $1, and books range from a quarter to $5.

Department receives federal grant

Money to let professors visit, study businesses, develop teaching methods

By Christy Gritton
Collegian Reporter

On Sept. 30, the K-State agricultural economics department received a $44,000 grant to elevate the teaching quality of agribusiness.

The department received the grant from the United States Department of Agriculture as part of a higher-education program. Arlo Biere, professor of agricultural economics, the travel of agricultural economics faculty who will spend time in agribusiness firms observing and learning how agribusiness works.

Six faculty members of the agricultural economics department have already expressed an interest in participating in the exchange with other agribusinesses, Biere said.

Gary Brester, assistant professor of agricultural economics, said he will be going this summer on one such exchange. Brester will be working and observing for about two months at an as-yet-undetermined agribusiness firm.

"I hope that I will have both projects, that I will work on there and general observing," said Brester.

Biere said that over the next three years, two faculty members will be sent each year to spend two months in different agribusiness firms with the hope of receiving a variety of experiences.

The second part of the grant will fund support personnel who will aid the returning faculty in developing teaching materials.

BRIEFLY

World

Soviets want emergency state

MOSCOW (AP) — A group of conservative and liberal legislators demanded Wednesday that President Mikhail Gorbachev impose a state of emergency to pull the nation out of its political and economic crisis.

It also demanded that Gorbachev suspend the activities of political parties and the parliaments of four republics.

The group, called the National Salvation Committee, demanded that the armed forces be asked to help halt the nation's slide into chaos. But Gorbachev's main rival, Boris Yeltsin, said he was opposed to using the military to resolve the crisis.

The Salvation Committee's members included the hard-line Soyuz group of parliamentarians as well as the reformist Liberal-Democratic Party.

Haiti rally ends in violence

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Five people were shot to death and at least 43 wounded Wednesday night by unknown assailants following a campaign rally in a suburb of this Haitian capital, Radio Metropole reported.

The violence in Petionville, seven miles outside Port-au-Prince, occurred during a 10-minute blackout at about 7:30 p.m., a few minutes after a rally had ended for the Rev. Jean-Bertrand Aristide, the radio station and witnesses said.

Aristide is the frontrunner in the Dec. 16 presidential elections in this violence-prone Caribbean country, the poorest in the Western Hemisphere. He is considered a hero of the young and poor in Haiti, which has six million residents.

Witnesses said men in a jeep drove by in the darkness moments after the blackout, there was a big explosion followed by gunfire, and scores fell to the ground wounded and dead.

Nation

Hearing delayed in murder

McCOOK, Neb. (AP) — A hearing on a defense request to keep some evidence out of the trial of two men accused of killing Kansas twin brothers was postponed Wednesday because some of the evidence has not been returned.

Dustin Belmarez, 20, and Clyde Wagner, 51, are charged with murder in the May 18 bludgeoning deaths of 59-year-olds Chester and Lester Tucker of Winchester.

The twins were found dead in Karrer Park in McCook, one with a pick hammer lodged in his skull.

The hearing on the requests to suppress evidence was continued until Jan. 15 because the evidence in question has not been returned from an FBI laboratory.

Columbia problems continue

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Columbia's astronauts got in twice as much star-gazing Wednesday, but remained far behind and nowhere near full speed because of problems with the shuttle's $150 million observatory.

"We're trying as hard as we can," astronaut-astronomer Ron Parise told ground controllers at the end of his 12-hour shift.

Parise and astronaut Robert Parker, hampered by a jittery instrument pointing system, got in 35 percent of the observation time planned for their shift. Seventeen percent was accomplished in the crew's previous work period and none before that, said mission scientist Ted Gull.

Detroit airport gets fog radar

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Improved ground radar designed to prevent planes from straying onto the wrong runway was on order at Detroit's airport, where two jets crashed on a fog-shrouded runway this week, investigators said Wednesday.

It was not certain the new equipment, which tracks vehicle and aircraft movement on runways, would have prevented the accident Monday that killed eight people, said Fred Farrar, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration.

The equipment, ordered before the collision, is to replace existing ground radar at 29 airports, including Detroit, over a three-year period beginning in 1991, he said.

Farrar said the new equipment will eliminate a rather serious flaw with (the existing equipment), which cannot see through heavy rain.

Region

Priddle plans to remain active

TOPEKA (AP) — Harland Priddle, secretary of the State Department of Commerce under Gov. Mike Hayden, said Wednesday that while he will be leaving state government on Jan. 14, he plans to remain active.

"I'm not going to just fade away. I'll be around somewhere," Priddle said in an interview.

He said Gov.-elect Joan Finney sought and received his resignation, so he will depart state government when she is inaugurated on Jan. 14.

He said he has no prospects for other work, but wants to remain in Kansas.

"I've enjoyed it immensely," Priddle said. "I'm not ready to get out of everything just yet."

Priddle was state agriculture secretary before resigning in 1986 to run for lieutenant governor as the running mate of former Secretary of State Jack Brier.

Campus

Parker named Rhodes finalist

Kristy Parker, senior in political science, was chosen as a finalist in the Rhodes scholarship competition after interviews in Topeka Wednesday.

"The decision came so quickly," Parker said. "It's one of those things where I had no idea one way or the other — I was surprised."

Parker was one of three K-State students selected as Rhodes semi-finalists. The other two students withdrew from the Rhodes competition to accept Marshall scholarships earlier this week.

"With two Marshall scholars selected earlier this week, this accomplishment by Kristy Parker is a further confirmation of the excellence of K-State's faculty and its academic programs," said President Jon Wefald, in a news release.

Parker leaves Friday for the final interview process Dec. 7-8 in Minnesota. She will be one of 12 students from the United States competing for the four Rhodes scholarships, which provide more than $40,000 for two years of study at Oxford University in England.

Although Parker is looking forward to the final decision, she said the competition itself has been fun.

"I didn't realize that meeting the people who are judges would be so interesting," she said. "They are all former Rhodes scholars and are doing really important things now."

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

■ Center for Basic Cancer Research deadline for research award applications is Dec. 10. Applications are available in Ackert 234.

■ K-State Community Service Program International Teams applications are available for work on teams in Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic from Nov. 30 until Dec. 12 in Eisenhower 14-A.

6 Thursday

■ WICI has rescheduled today's meeting to January.

■ Ag Student Council will have a Christmas party at 6 p.m. in Waters 137.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

■ We Are More Than 14, a commemorative vigil for the 14 women killed at the University of Montreal on Dec. 6, 1989, will be from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. between the Union and Seaton Hall.

■ Sailing Club will have an end-of-the-semester party at 6 p.m. at Egege's.

■ The Kansas State Table Tennis Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Ecumenical Campus Ministry building.

■ Pre-Vet Club will have a Christmas party followed by carolling and bowling at 7:15 p.m. in Trotter 201.

■ American Nuclear Society will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Ward 135.

■ ICHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Teachers of Tomorrow will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Blumont 217.

■ Psychology department will sponsor "Significance of Freud" by John Burnham at 3:30 p.m. in Union 212.

■ General Union of Palestine Students will present a lecture about the Gulf crisis at 7:30 p.m. at the K-State International Student Center.

■ Engineering Ambassadors will meet at 7 p.m. in Durland 173.

■ German Club will meet to watch "Bagdad Cafe" at 6:50 p.m. in the lobby of the Union Forum Hall.

■ Finance Club/FMA meeting has been cancelled.

■ Talking Hands will meet at 4 p.m. in Holton 3.

■ KSU Dance Program will present "An Intimate Evening of Dance" at 8 p.m. in Nichols Theatre.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, partly cloudy and colder. High in the mid-40s. Northerly winds 15 to 25 mph. Tonight, mostly clear and colder with the low 20 to 25. Friday, mostly sunny with the high around 50.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

HUNAM
EXPRESS1116 MORO
537-0886

This coupon good for

Spicy Tangy Beef $2.50

not good with any other special, promo, delivery
Free Delivery with min. $9 order

Open 11 a.m.-1 a.m.

Expires 12/12/90

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.Confidential pregnancy testing-Safe, affordable abortion services-Birth control-Tubal ligation-Gyn examsTesting and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases.Providing quality health care to women since 1974.Insurance, VISA &
Mastercard accepted.Comprehensive Health for Women4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND
THRIFTY THURSDAY

PYRAMID PIZZA rolls back the prices

Only $3.49 for a small pizza (one topping)
(additional toppings are 75¢ each)

Carryout/Dine In Only

539-4888

12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

COUPON

"THRIFTY THURSDAY"

$3.49 for a Small
One-topping Pizza

Good Every Thursday

"We Pile It On!"

COUPON
$5 OFF Reg. price
$14.99 & up.ANY KANSAS GROWN
SCOTCH PINE
CHRISTMAS TREELimit one coupon per tree. Expires 12-24-90.
EASTSIDE & WESTSIDE MARKETS

NOW SHIPPING!

Kansas Deluxe Gift Box
Includes: $19.992-8oz Bars Alma Cheese
1-7oz. Jar Briarwood Farms Jelly
1 packet Kaw Valley Farms' Crispy Corn
1-7.5oz. jar Briarwood Gourmet Mustard
1-10 oz. bag Gary Schlaegel's Popcorn
1-1lb. jar Sperry Apiaries Honey
1-8cup packet Riffel's Flavored Coffee
Recipe Booklet from Ks. Wheat Comm.VISA-Mastercard accepted! PHONES:
776-9331
AKO FRUIT BASKETS for ~ 776-1579

DAILY LOCAL DELIVERIES 9am-9pm daily

Eastside Westside Market
East Hwy. 24 or West K-18, Manhattan

Cruise Ship Jobs

HIRING Men - Women, Summer/
Year Round. PHOTOGRAPHERS,
TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL
Excellent pay plus FREE travel. Caribbean,
Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico.
CALL NOW! Call refundable.
1-206-736-0775, Ext. 600N

BACKLESS BRAS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie

1224 Moro Aggieville

EXPERT
EMERGENCY
CARE

Emergencies come in all shapes and sizes. And though a lot of them are nothing a hug and a band-aid won't cure, others need special care. Professional care. As soon as they happen.

Memorial Hospital's emergency room is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. We're right here for you and your family — whenever you might need us — because we all know emergencies don't keep regular hours.

So if you need expert emergency care, come see the experts who care at Memorial Hospital.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Yesterday's values, Tomorrow's technology

1105 Sunset P.O. Box 1208 • Manhattan, KS 66502

Joyce Allen and Dawn Reid, stylists at Joyce's Hair Tamers, have a large crowd cheering them to cut the hair on Charlie Champion's head Wednesday at Rusty's Last Chance. Champion was trying to win tickets and backstage passes to Sunday's AC/DC concert at Bramlage Coliseum.

THE RAZOR'S EDGE

By David Frese
Staff Reporter

Karen Singletary leaned towards the live microphone Wednesday evening to announce to the bellowing crowd at Rusty's Last Chance and radio listeners across northeast Kansas what she would shave to meet the band AC/DC.

"I'll shave everything above my knees and I don't want any bulls---hit," she said, and then turned to her friends and said, "I'm going to need another beer."

Singletary was one of 20 people from around the state gathered in the Aggieville bar for a bargain of a haircut as part of a local radio station's promotion to send the winners to the AC/DC concert Sunday evening in Bramlage Coliseum. The band will perform at 8 p.m.

Scott Kraus, of White City, and Charles Champion, of Riley, joined Singletary as finalists chosen by the crowd to participate in the shave-what-you-dare contest. The three laid their hair on the line to jockey for four tickets, four backstage passes and a limousine ride to the Sunday evening show, said KMKF-FM program director Jason Whisnand.

"We've been promoting it for the past two weeks," Whisnand said before the shaving began. "They'll get to meet the band and all that good stuff."

But Whisnand said second and third places would not go away empty-handed, in addition to being bald-headed, as they would receive two tickets and two backstage passes to the show each.

Kraus and Champion also said they would shave it all to meet the band, but stylist Joyce Allen of Joyce's Hair Tamers laid down the law.

"We don't do pubic hair, and we don't do underarms," she said of the contestants' shave dares.

"I'm pumped. I'm pumped," Kraus said, and whooped loudly. "We're gonna party with Angus and the boys! We're going backstage!"

But Singletary looked the crowd favorite at presstime.

"Everybody's freakin' out but I don't understand. It'll all grow back," Singletary said.

"My girlfriends said they would buy me a wig if I shaved it all," she said. "I work at the Outer Limits in Topeka, and I might lose some of my big tippers — but it'll be worth it."

Commencement exercises mark full-scale ceremony

By Erika Parker
Staff Reporter

Students graduating this semester will be recognized during commencement ceremonies Dec. 15 in Bramlage Coliseum.

"We're expecting 6,000 to 7,000 people to attend this exercise for about 1,000 students, so it's a pretty full-scale ceremony," said Robert Kruh, vice provost of academic affairs and chairman of the commencement committee.

The exercise will begin with the processional march at 8:30 a.m. and is expected to end by 11 a.m., Kruh said.

Graduates are not restricted to the number of guests they can invite, he said.

During the ceremony, President Jon Wefald and Provost James Coffman will present the awards. President's awards will be given to K-State alumni Fred Merrill Sr., of Mission Hills, and Robert Hagans, of Overland Park, Wefald said.

The Minority Education Award will be presented to Barbara Baker, who is receiving her master's degree in student counseling/personal services. Kruh said this will be followed by comments from Charles Hostetler, member of the Kansas Board of Regents.

Todd Johnson, senior in agronomy and former student body president, will graduate.

"He will make remarks on behalf of the students," Kruh said.

Students will then be recognized and given their degrees, Kruh said. Doctoral graduates will be recognized first, followed by master's degree recipients.

Honor graduates receiving bachelor's degrees will then be recognized, starting with summa cum laude and followed by magna cum laude and cum laude students, Kruh said.

Bachelor's degrees will then be presented for the seven colleges. ■ See CEREMONY, Page 12

Opera showcases local talents

By Susan Boos
Collegian Reporter

Three kings bearing licorice? In the Opening Night Theatre Company's production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," the three kings have gifts of candy for a boy who aids their journey to Bethlehem.

Two matinee performances will be held at 2 p.m., Dec. 9 and 16 at the Wareham Opera House. A holiday buffet dinner will be catered by Midwest Family Dining for dinner-theatre patrons.

The one-act opera by Gian-Carlo Menotti tells the story of Amahl, a crippled and impoverished shepherd boy who meets the three wise men as they make their quest in search of the baby Jesus.

The cast includes members of the community as well as K-State students and faculty.

Director Linda Haynes Uthoff said the production is a perfect opportunity for the University and community to work together.

"K-State has a real wealth of talent, and it's been real nice to tie all that talent together with the talent from the community," Uthoff said.

Jennifer Edwards, music instructor, and Jerry Langenkamp, head of K-State's Opera Theatre program, will play the roles of Amahl's mother and King Kaspar, respectively.

Edwards appeared in the leading role in K-State's production of "Carmen" in 1989 and has toured with Opening Night Theatre's production of "Quilters" during the past year.

As Amahl's mother, Edwards plays a poor widow who gives the three kings shelter for the night as they journey in search of the Christ child.

The kings' visit forever changes the lives and dreams of Amahl and his mother, providing a beautiful evening of music and drama.

"I like this opera because it's based on a true story that has to do with the composer himself," said Andy Stuckey, junior in music. Stuckey plays the role of King

■ See OPERA, Page 12

KRAZY KRIS
NOVELTIES & GIFTS
Christmas Box Gag Gifts
Great for an exciting Christmas Party
Also Paint Ball Supplies
1128 Moro (913) 539-4567
Aggieville, USA Manhattan, KS 66502

Joyce's Hair Tamers

WARM & GENTLE PERM.....$38
regular $42
ATTRACTIVE PERM.....$32
regular $42
MEN'S PERMS.....$30
All perms include cut & style.

Haircuts

Gals $12 Guys $8.50 Kids $6.50
All cuts include shampoo and style
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Call 539-TAME

Jungle Talk
If foundation is too oily, add a drop of skin toner or witch hazel to it and mix well.
Loveliest trend in haircoloring is warming your own hair color with highlight. Change looks natural and flatters your skin.
Let us brighten your tresses.

Home For The Holidays

SCHEDULE

Depart MKK Airport	Depart Town East	Arrive KCI	Depart KCI	Arrive Town East	Arrive MKK Airport
3:30 am	3:45 am	6:00 am	7:00 am	9:30 am	9:45 am
5:30 am	5:45 am	8:15 am	9:30 am	12:00 pm	12:15 pm
7:45 am	8:00 am	10:30 am	11:30 am	2:00 pm	2:15 pm
9:45 am	10:00 am	12:30 pm	2:00 pm	4:30 pm	4:45 pm
12:15 pm	12:30 pm	3:00 pm	4:00 pm	6:30 pm	6:45 pm
2:15 pm	2:30 pm	5:00 pm	6:00 pm	8:30 pm	8:45 pm
4:15 pm	4:30 pm	7:00 pm	7:30 pm	10:00 pm	10:15 am
			10:30 pm	1:00 am	1:15 am

FARES

ADULT
MILITARY
SENIORS (62 yrs +)
STUDENT (WID)
CHILDREN (2-12)
Children under 2

One Way Round Trip
$29.00 $50.00
25.00 45.00
25.00 45.00
25.00 45.00
14.00 24.00
FREE FREE

Reservations required
Front Door Pick Up Available.
Topeka Pick-Up Also Available
New Pick-Up Gate
In Terminal A—Gate 19

539-2284
OR
1-800-383-2817
or contact your travel agent

TRAVELERS EXPRESS
Owners: John & Susan Furney
Town East Shopping Center
463 East Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502

LOWMAN'S IN - AGGIEVILLE

For the Holidays.

Only the best...

Classics by Ralph Lauren.

1215 Moro 776-7304

Open 10 to 8 Mon. through Fri. Sat. 10-6. Sun 1-5.

SNOOKIES presents

Tonight Opening Act: "In/Out"
Tickets: $8 in advance, $10 at the door 1122 Moro
18 to enter, 21 to drink
Upstairs • Aggieville

IMPRESSIONS
Hair Design & Body Toning
introduces Karin Toliver
as a new member of our design team.
Karin has 20 years experience.
$5 off
Haircut with style.
537-1332 1129 Moro

CPI photo finish
one hour photo
Save 50%
on color processing & 4x6 prints
Each picture is the best it can be
or we reprint it free... now!

Film Developing 50% off
regular one-hour price
No limit on number of rolls discounted.
Offer applies to first set of color prints only.
Print length varies with film size. C41 in lab process, not combinable with other processing and print offers.
Coupon good through Feb. 2, 1991
CPI photo finish

Christmas CPI Film Sale!
SAVE 25%
when you buy 3 or more rolls
Example Prices: (35mm - 24 exp.)
3 100 ASA $6.95 (reg. $9.37)
3 200 ASA $7.85 (reg. $10.47)
Rolls 400 ASA $8.75 (reg. $11.67)
Buy 3 or more rolls of 35mm CPI color print film (24 or 36 exposures) and get 25% off the regular price. Choose from 100, 200 and 400 ASA mix or match. Not combinable with other film offers.
Sale ends Dec. 24, 1990

one hour services: photo finishing • enlargements • reprints • double prints
also available: water photo • instant color pinpoint photos • video transfer • copies from prints • cameras and accessories • film

Manhattan Town Center
main entrance by food court

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Prediction proves faulty, disappoints media

"My gran'ther's rule was safer'n 'tis to crow: Don't never prophesy — unless ye know." J. R. Lowell (1819-1891) American poet.

Only in America.

Only in the great U.S. of A. could you find thousands of people flocking to an area of the country like sheep. And for what?

To have ringside seats at an earthquake. Go anywhere else in the world, and you will find that people flee in stark-raving, bug-eyed terror at the suggestion of an earthquake. But not in the United States. In the United States, it's an event. It's a "happening."

The source for all the brouhaha about earthquakes is a prediction made by a 72-year-old New Mexico business consultant, Iben Browning, described in "Who's Who in America" as a biophysicist, climatologist and inventor. Browning does have a doctorate in zoology from the University of Texas, but the credibility of the other credentials is anyone's guess.

The controversial prediction made by Browning was based upon the fact that tidal forces would be at a 60-year high, making conditions ripe for an earthquake along a broad swath between the 30-degree and 60-degree north latitudes, an area that is well-known to contain regions of high earthquake activity.

Browning predicted that on Monday, Dec. 3, 1990, or 48 hours either side of that date, there would be a 50-50 chance for a quake of 6.5 to 7.5 magnitude along the New Madrid fault that cuts across the Missouri Bootheel. Monday came and went, and no earthquake — much to the disappointment of the hundreds of TV personnel on-site for the fulfilled event, and to the great relief of the people of New Madrid County.

Most seismologists were at odds with Browning's prediction, however, citing the fact that on the average, a major earthquake strikes somewhere on the planet every three days. Because he predicted only even odds for the New Madrid Fault, and because he included such a wide band of earthquake-prone zones over a stretch of five days, odds were that an earthquake somewhere in the world would occur.

And it did. A quake of magnitude 5.9 did occur on December 3 — in New Caledonia, east of Australia.

Browning's prediction, given the facts, had about as much prophetic capacity as predicting that tomorrow, somewhere in the world, it will rain or snow.

Browning's prediction did not go unheeded, though. Many people in the New

Brad Seabourn

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Madrid region took Browning seriously enough to close schools and nail furniture to the walls. Many people left their homes and communities for safer areas of the country.

Members of the clergy preached the quake would be another sign of the "end time," the last days prior to the return of Jesus. Animals were seen doing strange things, a sure sign of impending doom and destruction.

On "Q-Day," as it came to be known, while the earthquake panic was at fever pitch, I called a friend of mine, Uben Doinit, who lives a few miles on the other side of New Madrid.

So, Uben, what do you make of all the talk of an earthquake?

"I ain't never seen nothin' like it. Television people ever dang place. Town-folk in the streets millin' aroun' and sweatn' like turkeys on Thanksgiving Day. Beats the time Pastor Bill preached a sermon on fornication with his fly open. Dangdest thing I ever did see."

I'll bet. What's it like being inundated with all the news coverage?

"Them people are as goofy as lovesick cows. Why, they interviewed ever'one in town, then went to interviewin' each other. They even interviewed my mangy critter, Butch. Butch don't talk too much to strangers though."

What about Browning's prediction concerning the earthquake? Do you think it is going to happen?

"Sure do."

What makes you say that?

"Cain't put my finger on it exactly. Just a feelin'. But I seen some strange things happenin' the last day or two that's a sure sign of somethin'. If we ain't goin' to have a earthquake, then the devil's hoodoo is surely on us."

What do you mean, Uben?

"Well, yesterday I seen a rabbit runnin' backwards."

What exactly were the circumstances?

"I was out huntin' with Butch, an' he caught a rabbit."

I thought you said you saw a rabbit running backwards?

"I did. Butch had that rabbit's head in his mouth, and he was runnin' with it. All the while, that rabbit was a peddlin' and kickin' backwards for all he was worth."

I see. I suppose I would do the same under similar circumstances. What else happened that concerned today's dire prediction?

"Well sir, I seen Butch scratchin' his ear, and barkin', and runnin' aroun' in circles chasing his tail."

I thought that was a fairly common behavior of all dogs.

"It is, but Butch ain't a dog. He's a python."

Oh, well, that certainly is strange. As a matter of fact, that is about the strangest thing I have ever heard.

"See what I mean? Somethin' sinister is bound to happen when your pet python starts actin' like a dog."

So what did you do?

"I told Pastor Bill about it, and he wanted to bring the church elders over to document the goofy critter as being evidence of the 'end time.' He said since it was December and gettin' close to Christmas, we could maybe even classify it as a miracle, sort of like the Virgin Birth." Tell Pastor Bill that I think he is on to something.

EDITORIALS

Scholarship recipients uphold K-State quality

Last year, everyone was practically running into each other applauding when two K-State students were awarded Rhodes scholarships.

It's time again.

Luis Montaner, fourth year student in veterinary medicine and veterinary pathology, and Julie Tarara, senior in horticulture and social sciences, were recently named recipients of the Marshall scholarship, which is just as prestigious as the Rhodes scholarship.

It is apparent by Montaner's and Tarara's lists of accomplishments and organizations they are involved in that they are active in and out of the classroom. It is also apparent that they did not allow extracurricular activities to detract from their studies.

The past few years has shown K-State can compete with the larger schools across the country. The University has had more Marshall scholarship recipients in the past ten years than all other Big Eight schools and has had seven Rhodes scholars in the past 15 years, putting K-State in the top one percent of Rhodes scholars in the country. The University has also had 14 Truman scholars.

Such signs of high academic achievement prove that K-State is a contender among other universities in the nation, regardless of size, location or status.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Vensio
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Mark Schweitzer
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schweitzer
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hajjithothadiss, Elvyn Jones, Enika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
COLUMNISTS	Karin Delf'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seabourn, Kevin Zwick
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Krutner
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Weichans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind, David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Vensio

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allison Schaff
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Amy Sall, Karen Lind
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER	Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Pantney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Deanna Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minnie Dowdy, John Fulkerson, Norm LeComte, James Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates

One Semester (Fall or Spring)	$30
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring)	$54
Summer Session	$10
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer)	$60

To charge by VISA or MasterCard, call (913) 532-6555

Send orders and address changes to Student Publications, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506.

LETTERS

Vigil to take place

Editor,

One year ago, Dec. 6, a man entered the engineering school at the University of Montreal. He arrived with a hunting rifle and an explicit motivation: to murder women who had entered the male territory of the engineering program. He killed 14 women, separating them from the male students, and wounded several others, then killed himself. The three-page note he carried revealed the misogyny of his motivation: he felt humiliated by women and he believed his actions were justified. These murders were political, sexual terrorism. These murders represent the worst fears of women, that we will be harmed because we are women.

One year later, Dec. 6, commemorative vigils will take place around the United States and Canada. At K-State, a vigil, "We Are More Than 14," will begin at 4:30 p.m. between Seaton Hall and the K-State Union. We will mourn the women who were killed in Montreal, and viscerally connect these political murders to the murders and deaths of everyone who is oppressed and exploited.

Unspeakable violence is committed against children, women and men in El Salvador, South Africa and here in the United States. The violence that we suffer throughout the world cannot be dismissed as isolated incidents. These acts of violence are politically rooted in poverty, racism, sexism, heterosexism and all violations of human dignity.

Anyone wanting to participate in the vigil may bring a candle or a poem to read. For more information, contact Judy Davis at the Women's Resource Center or Margaret Mara in Women's Studies.

Margaret Mara instructor of women's studies

NEA funds necessary

Editor,

I would like to comment in response to Ed

Skoog's column "Federal funding for artists should stop" in the Dec. 5 Collegian.

First, it is common knowledge that the NEA funds not only paintings but all forms of the arts, including theatre, music, dance and the many areas of fine arts. Why Jesse Helms dislikes Robert Mapplethorpe's photographs is obvious: he found the subject matter immoral. But has it ever occurred to Helms or Skoog the reasons artists create go far beyond subject matter?

Mapplethorpe's photographs illustrate, as the history of artists illustrates, society as we know it today. We tend to mask the mad practices of our society instead of confronting them. AIDS, the homeless, child abuse and substance abuse, among others, have been quietly tucked away as someone else's problems. Many of us don't want to be bothered with confronting these issues within the scope of our own lives.

Secondly, art is subject to personal interpretation. This is where the problem begins. I sincerely believe that Mapplethorpe's intentions of depicting homoerotic sexual activities were to reinforce the beliefs of our own consciences. By displaying his works in the public forum, Mapplethorpe's success has escalated due to the public's inability to accept such a revealing graphic display of life in America today. This is simply due to the fact that it invades moral character of our society, in which we are all a part of. By defending our beliefs, we are reinforcing the morals of our culture. This is the message Mapplethorpe was illustrating. I applaud your outcries, Helms and Skoog, for your efforts in publicizing his cause, because without your support against his art, his message would not have reached the millions that it has.

Finally, if we are to address the issue of morality, why don't we concentrate on Helms's? The savings and loan crisis would be considered an immoral act to the American public and, to add insult to injury, we have to pay for it with billions of taxpayer dollars. We can allow federal funding to cover the costs of greedy finance officials, but there are some who feel the whole art community must suffer by eliminating the NEA because of the controversy over one single photographer. When it comes right down to it, the question arises: Is the quality of life based on the cultural aspects of our society or on the financial atrocities it succumbs to? At this point in our society, art has a low priority in comparison to the almighty dollar, but maybe the United States would not have to handle its current financial strains if management within the government itself was not so immoral.

Lisa Tomlin
senior in fine arts

Cartoon offensive

Editor,

The "Glimpses" cartoon by Jeff Gabel in the Nov. 27 Collegian was in very poor taste. Blindness and guide dogs are not subjects to be made fun of, nor is any other disability. I have no sympathy for a struggling newspaper that wastes money printing items that are offensive to its readers. It goes against what we are trying to accomplish here at K-State. How are we ever going to do away with prejudice in this country when we continue to disregard the feelings of others?

Jan Hedrick
office specialist in K-State news services

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Recital to feature aria, art, folk songs

By The Collegian Staff

Steven Glover wants to demonstrate the vocal skills he's refined at K-State.

"I will perform because I want to," Glover said. "I figure I've been taking lessons for three and a half years and want to demonstrate what I've learned."

Glover, senior in music education, will get his chance when he performs 8 p.m. Friday in All Faiths Auditorium. He will be accompanied by pianist Amy Kickhafer, senior in music education.

There will be a reception in the Leavengood Courtyard immediately following the recital.

Glover, a baritone, has performed at K-State before. He gave a joint recital last spring and has also performed in the K-State choir.

"My vocal recital will contain aria and art songs. There will also be a set of folk songs," he said.

Glover's songs for the evening include G.F. Handel's "Si, tra i ceppi" and "Ah, tu non sai," Benjamin Britten's "The Ash Grove" and "Oliver Cromwell," Johannes Brahms' "Vom Verwundeten Knaben" and "Trennung," Aaron Copeland's "The Boatmen's Dance" and "I Bought Me a Cat."

He will also sing selections from W.A. Mozart's "Die Zauberflöte," including "Der Vogelfänger bin ich ja" and "Ein Mädchen oder Weibchen." The selections "Lord, Thou Art my Refuge," "Hear My Prayer," "I Will Sing New Songs" and "Sing Ye a Joyful Song" from Antonin Dvorak's Biblical Songs are also included on the program.

Glover's vocal coach, Jennifer Edwards, assistant music instructor, said music students study in classical style.

"Music students study a classical style of singing, and music they sing is composed by classical composers," Edwards said.

She said classical artists perform the music precisely as it is written with no improvisation. Popular artists have more freedom to improvise.

Some of Glover's selections will be performed in Mozart's opera "The Magic Flute" next spring.

As a coach, Edwards helps Glover select the recital pieces and polish his recital skills as well as giving general help with vocal training.

There is no admission charge for the event, which is part of the Student Recital Series.

Romantics to play in Aggieville

Recording artists at Snookies tonight

By Dana Thomson
Staff Reporter

The Romantics — whose early-1980s hit "What I Like About You" is still prominently featured in a Budweiser advertising campaign — play in Manhattan tonight.

The band will play at 10 p.m. at Snookies, 1112 Moro in Aggieville. The bar will open at 6 p.m. In/Out, a band from Kansas City, will open for the Romantics at 9 p.m.

The Romantics may top the bill, but In/Out has quite a following.

"They are one of the hottest bands from Kansas City," Snookies co-owner Ken Snook said.

The Romantics have had numerous hits, including "What I Like About You" and "One in a Million."

"The group has had at least five top-40 hits," Snook said.

Snook, a 1988 K-State graduate, has wanted to book a popular group for some time. He said it is difficult when working with a small facility.

"I've been wanting to get in major acts for a while," he said. "But they're really hard to book — especially in smaller bars."

Booking a band like The Romantics to a club in Manhattan is a coup.

"I wanted a good one to start with," Snook said.

The Romantics' popularity while Snook was attending K-State played a role in his booking them. Snook said that the students relate to the band well and that they play good music.

Snook said the group is preparing for recording of a new album by doing a small tour.

The Romantics have not played in Manhattan before, but Snook said, "Everything about this is very positive."

Snookies is preparing to accommodate a crowd. Snookies manager Troy Warnken said they anticipate reaching maximum capacity.

"The maximum is 500 people. That is what we would like to sell," Warnken said.

To make room, the dance floor and other areas have been reorganized.

"We are making arrangements for the maximum seating and standing room available," Warnken said.

Groups to perform Christmas songs

By Rob Batchman
Collegian Reporter

More than 140 voices will ring out in celebration of the birth of Christ in "A Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols" 4 p.m. Sunday at the First Methodist Church of Manhattan.

The hour-long festival is an account of the events leading up to and including the birth of Christ. Readings from the books of Genesis, Isaiah, Luke, Matthew and John will compose the program. Traditional Christmas music follows each reading.

Performing at the festival will be the 72-voice Kansas State Choir, conducted by Rod Walker, professor of music; the 68-voice Kansas State Chorale, conducted by Nicki Kiner, graduate in music; and the University Brass Ensemble, conducted by Gary Mortenson, assistant professor in music. Mary Ellen Sutton, professor of music, will play the organ at the festival.

"It is exactly a festival of nine lessons and carols," Walker said. "The format is the Christmas story read by selected readers interspersed with music sung by the choirs. There are nine sections of text that are read. The audience also participates with carol singing."

Narrators of this year's festival are Ralph Titus, professor in the department of extension communications, and the Rev. John Stoneking, Manhattan.

The festival is free to the public.

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT COLLEGIAN

ARTS & SCIENCES COLLEGE COUNCIL

Apply now for open positions

▲ Allocate money to clubs in Arts & Sciences

▲ Select the Student of the Semester

▲ Concerned about reorganization?

Council gives you a voice in the University's changes.

Get involved in your college now!

Applications are available at the Dean's Office in Eisenhower Hall.

Return them by attending council meeting

Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205

Contact the Dean's office if unable to attend.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

PHOTOJOURNALISM

Apply now for spring 1991

Staff and Freelance Photographer positions for the Kansas State Collegian and Royal Purple.

Pick up application and sign up for an interview in Kedzie 103.

Deadline for returning applications Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Bring portfolio to your scheduled interview on Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Questions: Contact Margaret Clarkin, 532-6556

The Palestinian Uprising

presentation and dances at the Union Courtyard.

Sponsored by:
ASA
GUPS

Sponsored by:
ICC
Friday,
Dec. 7, 12 p.m.

Presentation by: Phyllis Bennis

She is the author of many books about the Middle East, including her latest:

From Stones to Statehood: The Palestinian Uprising

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR FALL
LUBE, OIL (UP TO 5 QTS.), FILTER
MOST POPULAR BRANDS

$15.95

by appointment only

537-1201
1026 Poyntz

Parkside

CONOCO

& U-Haul

KSU GOSPEL SERVICE

Christmas Carol and Candlelighting
Service speaker: Rev. Marion Scott

ALL FAITHS CHAPEL

This Sunday, Dec. 9—11:15 a.m.

WRAP UP YOUR HOLIDAYS THIS FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7
WITH THESE SPECIALS AT THE K-STATE UNION'S

WILDCAT FRIDAY

BUY ONE TACO
GET ONE FREE
AT THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM MEXICAN EXPRESS
LINE WHEN YOU USE YOUR
WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

50 CENTS OFF MOVIE
"FLATLINERS" STARRING KIEFER
SUTHERLAND, JULIA ROBERTS AND
KEVIN BACON - FRIDAY, DECEMBER 7
AT 7 & 9:30 P.M., AT K-STATE UNION
FORUM HALL WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

30% OFF
STUFFED ANIMALS

WHEN YOU PURCHASE $5 OR MORE
USING YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT AT THE
K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE
YOU CAN GET EITHER REESE'S PEANUT
BUTTER CUP OR REESE'S PEANUT
NEON ORANGE REESE'S PEANUTS AND A
FOR JUST 99 CENTS!

FREE REFILL
FOR 12 OZ.
WILLIE MUG
ONE PER CUSTOMER AT
UNION STATION WHEN YOU
USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT!

20% OFF
BULK CANDY
AT THE K-STATE UNION
INFORMATION COUNTER
WHEN YOU USE YOUR
WILDCAT ACCOUNT!

30% OFF
BLANK BOOKS

WHEN YOU PURCHASE $5 OR MORE
USING YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT AT
THE K-STATE UNION BOOKSTORE
THE K-STATE UNION MEXICAN EXPRESS
YOU CAN GET EITHER REESE'S PEANUT
BUTTER CUP OR REESE'S PEANUT
NEON ORANGE REESE'S PEANUTS
FOR JUST 99 CENTS!

50 CENTS OFF SMALL
SWEDISH TEA RING
AT THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM BAKERY SHOWCASE
WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT!

HALF PRICE
HOT CHOCOLATE
FROM THE K-STATE UNION
STATEROOM ICE CREAM STATION
WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT
ACCOUNT

K-State Union
Host to the Campus

GET THESE SPECIAL PRICES WHEN YOU USE YOUR WILDCAT ACCOUNT THIS FRIDAY ONLY!
WE APPRECIATE YOUR SUPPORT! THE DOLLARS YOU SPEND IN THE K-STATE UNION HELP TO SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES!

is now open to serve you!

Monday thru Wednesday
11 a.m. to 10 p.m.
Thursday thru Saturday
11 a.m. to 1 a.m.
Sunday
12 noon to 10 p.m.

Featuring large screen tv, snacks
and deli sandwiches, large
dance floor, beverages,
entertainment and more!

See you at
Union Station!

K-State Union
Union Station

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

'D-fence' spurs 'Cat win over Wyoming

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

Every now and then, Willie the Wildcat will come up with a new way to lead the K-State crowd in a cheer.

Wednesday night in Bramlage Coliseum, Willie was using a cardboard cut-out of a capital "D" and one of a picket fence to send the 10,056 in attendance into a d-fence-frenzy.

It seemed he brought the team right along with him.

The Wildcats, using a defensive run which saw Wyoming have just one field goal in 35 possessions as K-State erased an early 27-17 deficit, handed the baffled visitors an 81-68 defeat that left both teams at 3-1 on the young season.

"I know for a while there that our defense really turned it up a notch," said K-State coach Dana Altman of the 5:21 that began right before the halfway point in the first 20 minutes.

Altman was likely being modest. K-State turned it up more than a single notch. After going to a man-toman, the Wildcats made a 27-17 deficit a 35-31 lead with an 18-4 run that was arguably the best the team has had all year.

"When they went to a zone and we went to man-to-man, I thought we covered better defensively," Altman said.

Guard Jeff Wires said the run was mainly the result of a realization he and his teammates had just before the run started.

"We realized that we were at home, and if we didn't wake up we were going to get blown out," said the point guard, who keyed the run along with reserve Marcus Zeigler.

Jean Derouillere had 21 points to lead K-State, and Zeigler had 20.

During the spurt, the trio of guards — Zeigler, Wires and Derouillere — scored 16 of the 18 points, while the Wyoming guards began a nightmarish period.

"Our two junior college guards thought if you shot it from half court, it counted as five (points)," said Wyoming coach Benny Dees in bemoaning his team's shooting woes.

Dees may have hit the nail right on the head. Paris Bryant, after hitting three shots in the initial Wyoming spurt, including the one that took the score to 27-17, went deathly cold. He finished the night 3-of-15 from the floor, and was 0-of-7 from three-point range.

Meanwhile, the K-State guards were lighting it up like the child who flips the switch to turn on the Christmas lights of Kansas City, Mo.'s Plaza shopping district each Thanksgiving night.

"If they shoot the ball like that all year long, they're going to be very, very tough," Dees said of the Wildcat exploits during the spurt. K-State ended the night shooting a somewhat deceiving 42 percent.

For quite a while during the run, K-State had both of its point guards — Wires and Zeigler — on the floor at the same time. It was a combination that clicked.

"We had a pretty good stretch there with those two guys playing together," Altman said.

"That happens very rarely," Wires said of his pairing on the floor with the 5-foot-11 Zeigler, who was at the off-guard slot usually occupied by Derouillere. "But we got a couple of steals between us and a couple more big plays, and we were off."

After K-State grabbed its first lead at 29-27 when Wires hit an 18-footer with 6:54 left in the first half, the Wildcats never looked back. They stretched the advantage to 11, 43-32, when Wylie Howard hit a shot under the basket, and led by nine at the half, 44-35.

Another defensive spurt, this one at the start of the second half, put the game on ice.

K-State scored the first nine points of the half to make a nine-point lead an 18-point cushion. The breathing room was all the Wildcats needed.

"We didn't want to come out for the second half like we started the game," Wires said.

By the time Wyoming hit its first field goal of the second half with 15:19 left to cut the K-State lead to 16 at 55-39, it was all over but the shouting.

K-STATE (81)

Amerson 1-8 0-0 2, Howard 6-7 0-0 12, Rettiger 1-5 0-0 2, Wires 4-10 4-6 13, Derouillere 9-23 2-4 21, Shadd 1-2 0-0 2, King 1-3 0-2 2, Brittan 3-10 1-2 7, Zeigler 6-6 4-4 20, Sams 0-1 0-0 0, Fritz 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 32-75 11-18 81.

WYOMING (68)

Breaux 2-10 2-4 6, Slater 3-6 5-8 11, Page 4-7 1-2 9, Alexander 4-10 4-15, Bryant 3-15 9-15, Riewers 0-1 1-2 1, Butler 3-5 0-0 6, Henry 1-2 0-0 3, Barnett 0-1 0-0 0, McIntyre 0-0 2-2 2. Totals 20-57 24-31 68.

Halftime — K-State 44, Wyoming 35. Three-point goals — K-State 6-14 (Amerson 0-1, Wires 1-3, Derouillere 1-6, Zeigler 4-4), Wyoming 4-17 (Breaux 0-1, Alexander 3-6, Bryant 0-7, Butler 0-2, Henry 1-1). Rebounds — K-State 45 (Howard 12), Wyoming 38 (Slater, Page 8). Assists — K-State 21 (Wires, Derouillere 4), Wyoming 11 (Alexander, Bryant 4). Total fouls — K-State 23, Wyoming 22. Fouled out — Rettiger. Technicals — none. A — 10,056.

A tenacious K-State defense — demonstrated here near the basket by reserve center Darryl King (center) and Maurice Brittian (left) — sparked an 81-68 win by the Wildcats over Wyoming Wednesday night.

Brittian makes debut

By Russ Ewy
Sports Reporter

Despite sitting out last year at Marshall University and then suffering a knee injury four weeks ago, K-State center Maurice Brittian showed few signs of being on the shelf in helping the 'Cats to a 81-68 win over Wyoming Wednesday night.

The Atlanta native stepped right in for the 'Cats, finishing the night with seven points, eight rebounds, three assists, a block and a steal, after playing a total of 26 minutes.

"It felt pretty good to come back with a win," Brittian said. "I've been sitting out for as year and a half, and it felt good. The guys helped me out, we played together as a team, and we were victorious."

After transferring to K-State last summer, the 6-9 senior's return to action was even further delayed with a slight ligament tear in his left knee, and the layoff became apparent in the second half.

"His conditioning isn't very good and his knee isn't fully recovered," Coach Dana Altman said. "It's been four weeks since he's been out and he really didn't start running until a week ago, so there's three weeks of inactivity."

"I really hoped to play him 16 minutes. We really didn't plan on playing him that long, and he looked a little stronger than what he has in practice. It looked like he was handling it pretty well, played pretty well, got a little tired at the end."

After hitting 3-of-6 shots from the field and grabbing five rebounds in “My knee is almost fully healed, but I need to give it some more time. It's up to Coach, but I think I could play a lot more.”

—Maurice Brittian
Wildcat center

Center Maurice Brittian (52) returned to action after a four-week layoff with a knee injury by scoring seven points in his K-State debut.

Opposing coach watches 'No. 5' bomb for career-high 20 points

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

Wyoming coach Benny Dees didn't get the name of the little guard that kept firing long jump shots over his team's defense Wednesday night.

"Some guy, No. 5, came off the bench and just killed us," Dees said.

That guy, Coach, was Marcus Zeigler.

Zeigler, a self-proclaimed ball handler and passer, turned into a scoring machine against the Cowboys. The junior point guard netted 20 points on 6-of-6 field goals and 4-of-4 free throws to spark K-State to an 81-68 win.

"Marcus was raining them in tonight," senior guard Jeff Wires said.

Zeigler's barrage of long jumpers, which started during a 26-5 run by the 'Cats in the first half, wasn't planned by the Independence Community College transfer. But ...

"The goal gets a lot bigger when you hit that first one," Zeigler said.

The initial bomb, a 22-footer from the top of the circle, helped K-State steal momentum from Wyoming, which had built a 27-17 lead at the 10:30 mark of the first half. Zeigler's second field goal just inside the three-point line tied the game at 27-27.

The third, a driving layup, capped a 14-0 run by the 'Cats as they took the lead for good.

"I just felt more relaxed today," Zeigler said. "As I was playing, I wasn't really thinking about how well things were going."

Zeigler's lack of attention for his hot shooting didn't stop it from continuing. He nailed consecutive three-pointers during a 17-4 run by K-State at the start of the second half. The second one gave the 'Cats their biggest lead of the night at 63-39.

"I can't really remember the last time it felt this good, maybe because I don't think I've ever shot this well," Zeigler said. "I might have once or twice at Indy."

'Cat coach Dana Altman had different thoughts.

"We know he's capable of shooting like that," Altman said. "To ask him to go 6-for-6 and 4-for-4 every night might be a little much, though."

A perfect shooting night by a 'Cat guard certainly wasn't on Dees' pregame agenda. The Wyoming coach wanted K-State's perimeter players shooting the ball.

"We watched a couple of films on K-State, and they didn't shoot

Marcus Zeigler had 20 points Wednesday night.

the ball very well," Dees said. "That's why we played so much zone."

Did the plan work into K-State's favor?

"The zone has been our downfall in the early games," Zeigler said. "We've been working on it really hard in practice, and it paid off tonight."

SPORTS BRIEFLY

Wright signs with golf team

Jacqueline Wright, a senior from DeSoto (Mo.) High School, has signed a letter of intent to play for the women's golf team, Coach Russ Bunker announced Wednesday morning.

Wright, who chose K-State over Purdue, Vanderbilt and Missouri, is a multisport athlete. She was an outside hitter on DeSoto's volleyball team and a forward on the basketball team which won back-to-back state titles.

She had a seventh-place showing at the Missouri state high school golf championships, and owns a career-low round of 38 for nine holes.

"They didn't have a women's team at her high school, so she played on the men's team," Bunker said.

Twynier, Hedrick to depart

Two would-be seniors — outfielder L.J. Twynier and pitcher Mike Hedrick — will not be returning for the 1991 baseball season, Coach Mike Clark announced Wednesday.

Twynier will transfer to Northeastern Oklahoma State at the semester to complete his career. Hedrick will complete his degree later this month and will begin to explore several career opportunities.

Twynier started 52 of 57 games a year ago for K-State, hitting .287 with a homer and 12 doubles. Hedrick was 1-0 with two saves in 12 appearances.

Big deal made

ROSEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Tony Fernandez, Joe Carter, Fred McGriff and Roberto Alomar got traded on Wednesday in baseball's biggest deal in years.

The Toronto Blue Jays sent Fernandez and McGriff to the San Diego Padres for Carter and Alomar in a deal for four of baseball's best players.

The move was one of many player transactions on the final day of baseball's annual Winter Meetings.

Carter, who has averaged more than 100 RBIs for five years, will move into an outfield. Alomar, 22, will fill Toronto's search for an all-around second baseman.

McGriff, with 105 home runs in the last three seasons, will take over first base and Fernandez, 28, will play shortstop.

12 DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe
WORKOUT CENTERS
3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO ROYALE CAFFE
CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Lattes $1.31
Expires 12/6/90

Frank's "66" Auto Service
17th & Poyntz
537-2480
Free Estimates

Cooper Tires
Alternators Batteries Starters Winterizing
Brakes Shocks Tires
Exhaust Repairs Oil Change Tune up Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted
Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

You deserve a special Holiday gift.
You deserve the
Brittnay Ridge Lifestyle!
Units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Computer, phone, cable TV pre-wired
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIN COMPANY DVC REAL ESTATE
2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 64502
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-3885

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Phillips 66

Frank's "66" Auto Service
17th & Poyntz
537-2480
Free Estimates

Cooper Tires
Alternators Batteries Starters Winterizing
Brakes Shocks Tires
Exhaust Repairs Oil Change Tune up Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted
Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE
"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS
NEW ARRIVALS
for Christmas

WOOL HATS, SHAWLS,
FEDORAS, SCARVES,
GLOVES & MORE
FROM ECUADOR.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

TropiQuarium
Newest aquarium on the market! Now you can have a 10 gallon salt tank. Built-in complete life support system (with enclosed hood)
PERFECT for desk, dorm, or small apartment.
Just add water and fish and Enjoy!

Reg. $150 Christmas Special $135

Christmas at PETS N STUFF
1105 Waters 539-4751

*On the Tenth Day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me*

Free Frozen Yogurt Cookiewich
with purchase of a pint or quart.

Offer valid 12/10/90

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville offer expires 12/6/90

537-1616

25% off

Perms & Relaxers
$5 off Facials
Happy Holidays

Crimpers
HAIR DESIGN STUDIO
AGGIEVILLE USA
613 N. Manhattan
539-7621

w/this ad
Exp. 12/15/90

THE TWELVE DAYS OF SUBWAY

10th Day—Buy any footlong and any drink and get a Chocolate Chip Cookie for 10¢ more.

Offer good Dec. 6 & 7
Must present ad—not good in combination with another offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa KISS?

Early Fall Ladies Sportswear
Entire stock Now up to 50% off

nautica BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Gift Certificates • Extended hours • Free gift wrap

Our KISS? Gift Certificate for You.
on your purchase of $100 or more.

$20 OFF BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Expires 12/10/90
Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Holiday Hours Mon-Fri 10-8 Sat 10-6 Sun 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

Fun Feet Slippers

A warm and comfy gift for those big kids on your list!
Available in a variety of styles.

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville-539-7554
Mon-Thurs. 9:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Fri-Sat. 9:30 a.m.-9:30 p.m. Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Noriega associate holds hostages

By The Associated Press

PANAMA CITY, Panama — A former senior police official who escaped by helicopter from an island prison seized national police headquarters today and authorities said he was holding hostages.

U.S. troops and Panamanian police surrounded the headquarters near the Panama Canal, stationing themselves 300 yards away.

But both sides held their fire. The escapee, retired Col. Eduardo Herrera Hassan, met with U.S. and Panamanian officials, but it was not immediately known what they discussed.

The U.S. Embassy issued a statement that said: "In answer to a request from the government of Panama, the United States has provided military support to the National Police to help in the protection of the area around the National Police headquarters."

The United States maintains about 12,000 troops in Panama to protect the canal until Panama takes it over at the end of the century.

The standoff was the first challenge to the nearly year-old government of President Guillermo Endara. Herrera said he was not trying to overthrow the government but gain more respect for the police.

The National Police force was created after U.S. forces invaded last December and toppled Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, who is jailed in Miami awaiting trial on drug-trafficking and money-laundering charges.

Herrera, a former Noriega associate, was fired as deputy national police chief in August and jailed in October on charges of conspiring against the new government.

He escaped Tuesday afternoon from prison on the Pacific island of Nao aboard a private helicopter. Prison guards fired at the departing helicopter, but there were no reports of injuries.

Herrera claimed to have control of Panama's police force, but it was not known how much support Herrera had among police officers.

Officials said he tried to take over a police station on the outskirts of the city Tuesday night but failed. He managed to take over police headquarters early today.

Endara said his government had the support of the majority of the country's police and accused Herrera of trying to stage a coup.

Herrera allowed reporters into the police headquarters for a news conference and said: "This is a movement that is not a military coup."

Students juggle weddings, school

By Kelly Berg
Staff Reporter

Students can be faced with the challenge of juggling a class schedule, homework, extracurricular activities, social lives and, in many cases, a job.

Now, add planning a wedding to the list.

Every year, some students take on the responsibility of planning a wedding while still in college.

"Seventy-five to 80 percent of our business comes from students," said Shelly Holle, manager of Christine's — The Wedding Co. in Manhattan.

Jon Esau, senior in park resource management, and Kirstin Wood, senior in elementary education are a couple who fall into that percentage.

"We just felt like we didn't want to wait until we got out of school," Esau said. "It just feels like the right thing to do now."

Wood said she felt it might even be easier to get married now rather than waiting until after graduation.

"When we finish school we'll be getting new jobs, moving out of town and getting out of school all at once," Wood said. "If we waited to get married until then, we'd be adding that change at the same time too. That's a lot of changes to deal with all at one time."

Both Esau and Wood said there's a lot of work involved with planning a wedding while still in college, and both said it takes juggling time.

"Our wedding planning fits around our school schedule," Wood said. "School is our priority right now."

But the couple has already booked the church and photographer; they've made arrangements with the minister for pre-marriage counseling; and after several shopping trips, Wood has ordered her wedding dress.

"And we're probably only a quarter of the way done," Wood said. Esau added with a smile, "And the hardest stuff is yet to come."

Esau said he and his fiancée are thinking about the wedding all the time.

"It's a continuous thought process," Esau said. "And you have to start planning early."

They started planning 11 months before their planned wedding date —

the day Esau proposed.

Holle, a bridal consultant who helps couples plan their weddings, said she advises couples to start planning their weddings six months to a year before the wedding date.

"A bridal planner becomes the couples' Bible," Holle said. "They carry it with them everywhere and consult it for just about everything."

There is probably one of those planners in Cathy Barnes' backpack. Barnes is a senior in political science and is in the process of planning her wedding.

Her wedding is scheduled for May 26, Memorial Day Weekend.

Although she will be graduating from K-State before the wedding, her fiancée, Rick Porterfield, will still have four years of college ahead of him after they are married.

Porterfield, who will start his first semester of college in the spring semester, was honorably discharged from the Army in August after serving a four-year term. He joined the Army after his high school graduation.

While Porterfield was recently discharged from the U.S. military, Barnes will be commissioned as an officer in the U.S. Air Force upon her graduation from K-State in May 1990.

It is because of their military careers that the couple is having what Barnes calls a semi-military wedding.

Although neither she nor her fiancée will be in their formal military uniforms — as is traditional in military weddings — they will have the traditional military saber squad as part of the ceremony.

"I'm the only woman in my class of 19 in ROTC, so it's like I have 18 big brothers, and I'd like to involve as many of them as I can in the wedding."

Because many of the couple's friends are either in the military or entering it, Barnes said there have

■ See WEDDINGS, Page 12

FREE SPEECH

Six persuasive speeches on KSU issues.

1. "Hot off the presses: Increase fee for Student Publications." by David Duntz
2. "Going up in smoke: KSU campus safety budgets woefully inadequate" by Kim Sell
3. "The parking score: Faculty 94, Student 34" by Ken Rich
4. "Unfair Lafene fees for military personnel" by Lynn McCluskey
5. "Bikes a danger at KSU" by Scott Black
6. "Combine football and basketball tickets for a winning season" by Greta Wiechman

Friday, Dec. 7, 1-2 p.m., Nichols Hall Theatre

BLACK BRAS

UNDERCOVER

1224 Moro Aggieville

THURSDAY

99¢ Pitchers

99¢ Wells

Christian Dior

The Double-Breasted

Black peak lapel.

A distinguished alternative.

CHRISTINE'S

THE WEDDING COMPANY

1223 Moro 776-7387
Open Thursdays 'til 8 p.m.

Christian Dior

PREGNANCY

TESTING

CENTER

539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

SHARE THE WARMTH OF Christmas

Our DIRECT buying makes our prices BELOW our competition's sale prices!!!
LARGE inventory to choose from OR restyle, re-mount and repair your existing jewelry house jeweler
Layaway and payment plans available

K-STATE STUDENT DISCOUNT OFFERED with ID
Receive FREE—lovely strand of fresh water pearls with purchase of $100 or more.

Diamond Connection
QUALITY TELLS—PRICE SELLS

Effective Dec. 3rd
Open evenings 11:30-8:30 p.m.
Sunday 1:00-5:00

417 Poyntz Avenue Manhattan, Kansas 66508
(913) 539-3225

Send your friends a

Ho! Ho! Ho!

lot of love in one of these little packages...

Wish someone a Merry Christmas or congratulate a friend who is graduating in December with a Personal Package in the Kansas State Collegian.

You may choose from the three styles below and print a special message for only $7. Just fill out the form and bring it to the Collegian Advertising Office, Kedzie 101, by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11. Then enjoy watching your friends open the Collegian to their "package" on Friday, Dec. 14.

Collegian Holiday Message

Name _____ Phone _____

Address _____

Message (25 words or less) _____

Style A B C (circle one)

Samples shown below are reduced. Actual size of ad is 2-1/16 x 2 inches.

Style A

Style B

Style C

Fashion Company

THE BEST OF THE MALL

SAVE 40-65% OFF MALL STORE PRICES!

VALUES $30-38 • SAVE OVER 50%!

$14.99 COTTON SWEATER BUYOUT!

VALUES $30 • SAVE OVER 40%!

$17.99 BEAUTIFUL HAND KNIT SWEATERS
Thru Sunday ONLY!

VALUES $20-28 • SAVE OVER 35%!

$12.99 D.B. SPORT EXCITING FLEECE SEPARATES

VALUES $32 • SAVE OVER 65%!

$9.99 CHEROKEE WOVEN SHIRTS

PLUS Hundreds More Values During Our Pre-Christmas Sale!

THE BEST OF THE MALL
Prices so low we can't advertise the brand names. Labels torn the stores at the mall... for a lot less!

THRU SUNDAY ONLY!
$14.99 SAVE 65% BIG-BUTTON CARDIGANS
Popular cropped sweaters feature big buttons and shoulder pads.
MALL STORE PRICE $44

EAST MANHATTAN
(1/4 Mile East of mall next to K-Mart)
OPEN HOURS:
Mon.-Fri. 10 am - 9 pm
Sat. 10 am - 6:30 pm
Sun. Noon - 5:30 pm

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

Professor's novel to be published

Book details haunting at Fort Riley

By Lajean Rau
Collegian Reporter

A K-State English instructor has written a book based on a belief that several military bases around the country may be haunted.

"Entity," Nina Hajda's ninth book, is scheduled to be released in June 1991. It is a fictional story of two high school boys, sons of colonels, who live on-post at Fort Riley.

Although she has completed eight other novels, this is the first one to be published.

She said the keys to getting a book published are determination and perseverance.

"This one was really special," she said. "I came to see that all the clichés you hear about writing — about things that are close to home and that you know about — are true."

In the 1860's, a priest from Junction City performed an exorcism to rid Quarters 124 at Fort Riley of a menacing spirit, Hajda said. The quarters were later torn down.

While researching the book, Hajda talked to officers' wives and found that at least seven quarters on Fort Riley were still believed to be haunted. Hajda said she also found that the probability of a quarters being haunted often depended on who was living there.

The characters in "Entity," Michael and his best friend Tim, live in haunted quarters.

"Michael's little sister, who is 13, starts playing with a Ouija Board," Hajda said. "After a while, she finds that she no longer needs two people to communicate.

"Before long, things get out of control, and soon all three are caught up in an invisible net of increasingly malicious events," she said.

Many of the events in the novel are graphic and scary. Hajda described it as a strong book, but said most of the events were based on actual happenings described to her.

"I'm fascinated by any type of extra-sensory phenomena," she said. "There is no longer any doubt that it exists, and telepathy and precognition exist as well."

Telepathy is silent communication between minds, and precognition is the ability to see the future.

"Most people have had, or know someone who has had, a psychic experience," she said.

Hajda said belief in spirits is consistent with the Christian belief in the afterlife.

"It might not be surprising to assume that different spiritual planes exist," she said. "Spirits, those considered saints as well as those considered evil on earth, may be all around us."

"Some people believe in guardian angels or believe that their relatives, the people who loved them that have died, are still out there somewhere looking out for them," she said.

"It is reasonable to suppose that just because a person has died does not mean that his personality has altered."

Mike Welchans/Staff

Nina Hajda, English instructor, is also an author of a book on ghosts of Fort Riley. Hajda is expecting her book to be in publication by June.

Prepsters, collegians paired in program

By Liz Anne McElhaney
Collegian Reporter

When Rosemarie Deering began teaching at K-State three years ago, she had a vision that diverse populations, higher education and public schools would work together to strengthen programs.

"National laws and mandates will not bring together diverse groups," said Deering, curriculum coordinator for the program of secondary education and an assistant professor.

The Teachers of Tomorrow Partnership Collaboration is a College of Education-sponsored program that unites college students with minority high school students.

The program gives K-State students the opportunity to become better teachers, allows high schools students to develop friendships with K-State students and enhances the idea of high school students attending college and becoming teachers, she said.

Deering said that the minority-student population is growing at an increasing rate and that the minority-teacher population is not growing as fast.

"We learn best when teachers and models are as much like us as possible."

ble. Then there is a closer identification," she said. "Teachers of different cultures can enhance American education in its entirety."

K-State students are first paired with a high school student, Deering said. After being introduced at the program's kick-off conference, the students receive a contract. In it, the two partners agree to encourage each other academically, promise to share successes and agree to make an attempt to meet each others' families, she said.

The partners then meet biweekly for tutoring, mentoring, sharing and small-group sessions.

Deering said the goal of the program is to teach students how to access resources in order for them to make desirable decisions for their futures.

Educators in Texas, Missouri and Arkansas have asked for a copy of the model program, Deering said.

"School is more than just hitting the books," said Devin McBlair, coordinator for the Junction City program and senior in biological-science education. "The students are more comfortable about going to college."

Student visits to Lafene increase

By Shannon Meyers
Collegian Reporter

Visits to Lafene Student Health Center have been increasing for several years, and this semester has been no different.

Lannie Zweimiller, director of Lafene, said that over the past year the center has had more than 65,000 office visits — an increase of 5 percent.

"The increase is a combination of increased awareness and a natural consequence of the larger number of students attending K-State," Zweimiller said.

A study conducted by Lafene shows freshmen had the smallest percentage of office visits.

"This is because they are not aware of the services Lafene has to offer. We have worked very hard to raise the awareness of students to the services Lafene offers and to increase the quality of those services," Zweimiller said.

Cindy Burke, Lafene's health educator and a registered nurse, said, "The health-education department has had a 60-percent increase in requests for presentations and group facilitators. The presentations increase our exposure in the community and in turn help increase the number of client visits."

Full-time students pay an $80-per-semester health fee, while part-time students pay $25 per semester, he said.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY, Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

50' Tacos
99' Margaritas
105 N. 3rd • 776-9879

(Continued on page 10)

Radio Shack AMERICA'S TECHNOLOGY STORE

SMART SHOPPERS CHRISTMAS SALE!

Your Center for Holiday Gifts Most Stores Open Late Nights Until Christmas

Easy-to-Use Family PC With Software
Save $100
799.90
Reg. Separate Items $899.90
Low As $25 Per Month
So Easy, It Guarantees Success!
DeskMate and DeskMate Home Organizer with 24 applications. #25-1450/1043

With 20MB Drive and Monitor
Save $200
1099.90
Low As $34 Per Month
Reg. Separate Items $1299.90

286-Based PC With 20MB Drive & Color Monitor
Save $300
1399.85
Reg. Separate Items $1699.85
Low As $43 Per Month
PC Compatible
10-in-1 DeskMate Software. #25-1602/1043/1045

With 20MB Drive & Monitor
Save $300
1499.85
Reg. Separate Items $1799.85

With Monitor Only
Save $200
1099.90
Reg. Separate Items $1299.90

Versatile Text/Graphics Printer
Save $90
269.95
Reg. $359.95
Low As $15 Per Month
Prints up to 240 cps. Push tractor. #26-2848

GIANT SAVINGS!
High-Performance Laptop Computers
Priced From $399 To $1699
Small on size, big on performance! Hurry in and see!

Hands-Free AM/FM Stereo Headset
Cut 45%
2195
Reg. $39.95
Stereo on-the-go! 6 oz. Rotary controls. #12-125

Dual-Alarm AM/FM Clock Radio
Cut 38%
2995
Reg. $47.95
Wake to music or alarm. #12-1578

12x Power Zoom VHS Camcorder
Save $100
$899
Reg. $999.00
Low As $30 Per Month
Continuous zoom with macro. #16-826

CD/AM/FM Stereo Rack System
Save $100
399.95
Reg. $499.95
Low As $15 Per Month
Complete! High-speed dubbing. #13-1238

Floor/Shelf Speaker System
HALF PRICE!
3995
Reg. $79.95
8" woofer, 18 1/2" high. #40-4036

Pocket-Size Spell Checker
Cut 40%
2995
Reg. $49.95
Checks 88,000 spellings. #63-676

VCR With On-Screen Programming
Save $40
279.95
Reg. $319.95
Low As $15 Per Month
179-channel tuner, 1-year/6-event timer. #16-520

Portable CD Player With Program Memory
Save $40
159.95
Low As $15 Per Month
Reg. $199.95
Superb digital stereo to go. #42-5017 Headphones extra

Cellular Phone
Save $100
$199
Reg. $299.00
Low As $15 Per Month
#17-1076
Handsfree speakerphone.

"Phone-tastic" Cordless Phone
Cut 25%
59.95
Reg. $79.95
Base-to-handset paging. #43-554

Personal Phone For Desk or Wall
25% Off
14.88
Reg. $18.95
Easy one-touch redial. #43-500

Digital-Voice Phone Answerer
Cut 17%
49.95
Reg. $59.95
Choose male or female voice. #43-393

Now Open! Huge Electronic Toyland!

Fun Gifts Low As $2.59

Includes images of a car, a dinosaur, a camera, and a Mickey Mouse plush toy.

ROSEWOOD DESIGNS
THE COIN COLLECTION

The newest idea in class jewelry combines the distinctive look of your college seal with a variety of beautiful coin mountings.

14 Karat Gold Rings start at just $250
Two Week Delivery. Order now for Christmas!
See our collection of attractive and affordable jewelry at

Wildcat Spirit
716 North Manhattan
776-5461

Old Fashioned Savings Days

GIFT IDEAS FROM MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR

25% OFF LEATHER GOODS
Except hand crafted items

- Purses
- Belts
- Billfolds
- Trucker Wallets
- Travel Totes
- Shaving Kits
- Fanny Packs

20% Off Women's Isotoner Gloves

Kiwi Shine Valet
Reg. $35.95 $29.99

Men's Full Cedar Shoe Trees
Reg. $16.99 $12.99

Complete Shoe and Boot Repair door-front parking

MANHATTAN SHOE REPAIR
401 Humboldt • 776-1193
Open Weekdays 8-5:30
Thur. 11 8 p.m. Sat. 8-4:30
Closed Sundays & Mondays

Radio Shack
"Radio Shack ValuePlan" financing available
Payment may vary depending on your purchase

2609 Anderson
in Anderson Square
539-6151

New Holiday Hours
Mon.-Fri. 9-8
Sat., 9-5, Sun., 1-5

Most Major Credit Cards Welcome

(Continued from page 9)

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Krupp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

DONATE FOOD or money for Christmas. See Santa and Christmas Clown. Bring to Military Science Building 101.

INVESTMENT PROPERTY
2 BR, central A.C.,
Fireplace, excellent condition!! 40's
Call Marlene Irvine
Century 21
Town & Country
539-2356

Don't Forget
99¢
Pitchers
Tonight
only at
Baystreet

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OUTING Club is going backpacking Dec. 26-30 (also canoeing, sailing, biking, etc.) 539-0216.

Christmas Past-Rediscovered

Sunday, December 9
2-5 p.m.

at the Riley County Museum
2309 Claflin

Goodnow Museum

2301 Claflin

Wolf-Butterfield
630 Fremont

Victorian Crafts, Home-baked Goods, Dramatic Readings,
Kansas Gifts, Seasonal Music,
Christmas Ornaments.

Admission Free

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

JANUARY FREE! Jan. 1—Aug. 1. Roomy apartment for two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. 537-0772.

NICE FURNISHED apartment in lake home 10 minutes from campus. $250 including utilities for single person. Available January—May. 539-3078.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundromat, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location, $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking. $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMMATE NEEDED Jan. 1, three-bedroom apartment, $175/month plus one-third utilities, own room, close to Aggieville and campus. 537-3386.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carpet, patio, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1— Spacious two-bedroom, one bathroom, dishwasher, central air. Call after 6p.m. 776-0269.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, large, one-bedroom near campus, $325. 537-3160.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, spacious, clean two-bedroom, one and one-half bath basement apartment. $375/ month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, pool, water and trash paid, very nice, no deposit, $275. 776-9624.

BASEMENT APARTMENT. $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking. No pets. 539-3409.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, room cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1, 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Town-house near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9084 weekdays.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, flexible lease, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid, $395. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available Jan. 1. Call 537-2096 for info.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1, 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1. Three blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5079.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, POOL, fireplace, water and trash paid for $350 for the first six months. Must rent. 776-5330.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st: Close to campus, rent $175. Call Molly, Julie, Lisa 537-1380.

AVAILABLE NOW! One-bedroom apartment, $200/ month. Furnished/ unfurnished. 537-1538 or 776-8725.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

BASEMENT STUDIO apartment. Across street from campus and Aggieville. $175 month, very low utilities. 776-0115.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM for one or two people available January, $240. 776-8535.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valtier, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORVOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT, 539-0216.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,800. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8297.

1983 OLDS Firenza LX, loaded, automatic, air, AM/FM cassette. Going to Saudi, must sell soon! Sacrifice for best offer. 1-239-4050 leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

6 Child Care

FACULTY COUPLE seeks nanny for our 3-year-old son, 8:30a.m.—noon Monday, Wednesday, Friday and 8:30a.m.—4p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, Begin Jan. 7. Must provide own transportation to our home four blocks south of campus. $75 per week. 776-6396.

(Continued on page 11)

TONIGHT!
.99
PITCHERS
.75
LONGNECKS
.50
WELLS
.25
KAMIS

BAYSTREET
AND
THE PIT

Need Money?

MANHATTAN FEDERAL Savings and Loan Association

See Manhattan Federal Savings & Loan
for all your student needs!

Let Nancy Hammerschmidt in the Student
Loan Department help you make the right choice by assisting you with a Student
Loan from Manhattan Federal Savings.
The professional staff are also your local experts for all financial needs!

FDIC Insured 537-2298 800 Poyntz
Lender Code 820334 Manhattan, Kansas 66502

Live Tonight:
Step Child
formally Crystal Cobra
with
One Trick Pony

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Winter Intersession

January 2-15, 1991

Intersession registration is December 11 in the Enrollment Center, 217 Willard Hall and December 12 at 131 College Court from 8:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., both days. Beginning December 13 through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and audit registrations will be accepted beginning December 13, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506-6015.

Tuition for on-campus coursework will be $51 per undergraduate resident credit; $61 per graduate resident credit; $145 per undergraduate nonresident credit; $156 per graduate nonresident credit; plus $3.45 per day for student services. Off-campus coursework will be $55 per undergraduate credit and $76 per graduate credit.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete course descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court.

Ref. #	Course #	Course Title	Credit	Dates	Times
94100	GRSCI 790	Problem: AIB Production Seminar	1 UG/G	Jan. 7-11	8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94135	ARCH 566	Competition Studio	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 4-14	1:00-5:00 p.m.
94101	IAR 406	Problems: Delineation Techniques	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:30-4:30 p.m.
94102	IAR 406	Problems: Airbrush Drawing	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94103	LAR 741	Problems: Golf Course Design	2 UG/G	Jan. 3-12	9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
94134	LAR 741	Landscape of London, Bath & Surroundings — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94104	DAS 500	African-American Women Playwrights	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94105	ANTH 522	Topics: Cultural Diversity in America	2-3 UG	Jan. 2-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94106	BIOL 495	Topics: Eugenics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94107	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
94108	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-5:30 p.m.
94109	HIST 563	Topics: Modern Central & Eastern Europe	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-10:00 p.m.
94110	JMC 500	Topics: Computerized Publication Design and Production	2 UG	Jan. 2-5	8:00 a.m.-8:00 p.m.
94111	JMC 740	Colloquium: Propaganda & the Mass Media	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	2:00-5:00 p.m.
94112	MATH 381	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94113	MATH 581	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94114	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94115	MUSIC 425	Topics: Jazz in the Jerry Wexler Collection	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-4:00 p.m.
94116	PHYS 281	Space Missions and Astronomy	2 UG	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 7	8:30-11:20 a.m. & 6:00-9:00 p.m.
94117	SOCWK 495	Chemical Depend./Codependency: Intervention	3 UG	Jan. 8-12	8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
94118	SPCH 433	The Language of War	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94119	MANGT 498	Computer Concepts and Applications	3 UG	Jan. 5-15	M-Th 5:15-9:15 p.m. & Sat 8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94120	EDAF 511	Career Life Planning	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94121	EDAF 786	Stress Management for Teachers, Counselors and Administrators	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	4:30-7:30 p.m.
94122	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Elementary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94123	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Secondary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94124	EDCI 786	Teaching in the Multi-Level Classroom	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	M-Th 4:30-7:30 p.m. & Sat. by appt.
94125	ARE 620	Problems: Building Energy Audits & Analysis	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-Noon
94126	CE 570	Transportation Planning	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 5	M-F 8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. & Sat 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94127	CE 790	Problems: Global Environmental Changes and Challenges	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94128	CNS 544	CAD Apps. in Engin. Arch. & Constr.	2 UG	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 5	M-F 8:00 a.m.-Noon & Sat 8:00 a.m.-Noon
94129	ID 499	Presentations for Interior Designers	1-2 UG	Jan. 7-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94130	ID 782	Decorative Arts & Arch. — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94131	HRIMD 499	Hotel & Restaurant Mgmt. in London & Paris	2 UG	Jan. 1-13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94132	HRIMD 499	Travel Issues for Professionals — Chicago	1 UG	Jan. 11-14	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94133	AP 533	Topics in the Human-Animal Bond	1 UG	Jan. 7-11	9:00 a.m.-Noon

Division of Continuing Education

HOLIDAY SAVINGS.....
JUST IN THE NICK OF TIME!!
SUPER SPECIAL SAVINGS ON ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS'
PORTABLE COMPUTERS!!

ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS IS OFFERING PORTABLE COMPUTERS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED!

And to top it off, when you purchase a SupersPort 286e or a SupersPort SX portable computer you have your choice of taking an additional $150.00 off or receive a 5 1/4" floppy drive, a 300/1200 baud internal modem and a great carrying case!

SupersPort 286e

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 12 Mhz speed, one 3.5" 1.44 MB floppy drive, choice of 20 MB or 40 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version MS-DOS.

SupersPort SX

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80386 SX processor, 16 Mhz speed, one 3.5" 1.44 MB floppy drive, choice of 40 MB or 150 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version MS-DOS.

SlingsPort 286 (NEW!)

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 16 Mhz speed, 20 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version of MS-DOS.

Supersport 286

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 12 Mhz speed, choice of 20 or 40 MB hard drive, CGA video and latest version of MS-DOS.

ZENITH
data systems
Groupe Bull

For more information on where you can purchase an affordable portable computer from Zenith Data Systems call:
Kansas State Bookstore
532-6583
But hurry! Special $150.00 savings effective through
December 31, 1990.

(Continued from page 10)

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system. 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 87196

NANNIES, LIVE-IN positions—East Coast. Airfare, great salaries. Fun social activities. Carefully screened families. Individualized attention. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison, Princeton, N.J. 08540. (609)497-1195.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Temptation Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

STUDENT TYPIST wanted to begin Dec. 13. Must type 75-80 words per minute and be able to work approximately 20 per week. Call Pam Fulmer for interview, International Trade Institute, 532-6799.

WANTED: PERSON experienced in RBase computer program to finalize report and act as a consultant for future work. Call 539-5208 after 1p.m.

9 Food Specials

Thursdays
Booga Booga Night
Any Burger and Fries Only
$1.99 + drink specials for the ladies
16 oz. Mason Jar of draft $1.25
539-1571

11 Garage and Yard Sales

MOVING SALE, misc. items, furnishings and bed—like new. Call 539-0361. Prices are negotiable.

12 Houses for Rent

NICE THREE-BEDROOM farm house, $300, 30 minutes out of town. Possible facilities for horses. 1-913-499-6661.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BART Simpson keys. Claim in room 123, Umlinger.

FOUND LADIES' watch. To claim, call Mike at 776-7434.

FOUND: PRESCRIPTION eyeglasses in maroon carry case at Ninth and More on Dec. 3 (Monday). Call 539-8205 to claim.

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8a.m.—5p.m. Ask for Jackie, 532-6555.

LOST: LARGE oval purple brooch in Farrell Library. Sentimental value—reward. Call Becca 539-1846.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 TREK 800 21-speed, toe clips, cage and bottle. Kryptonite lock, $300 or best offer. Also cycle shuttle carrier, $40. 539-4059 after 6p.m.

BRAND NEW Schwinn 21-speed, cross bike and cable lock. $210. Tony 776-0861.

PEUGEOT 15-SPEED mountain bicycle. Used less than two months, $200. 776-3844 evenings.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, lots of accessories. $375. 776-1638.

19 Music/Musicians

FOR SALE: One hundred watt Cerwin-Vega amp, $250. Marshall cabinet, $375. 776-1691.

FOR SALE: Yamaha wood clarinet, great condition, $150. Call Kim at 539-2456.

TAKAMINE STRAT-STYLE guitar with Dimarzio Humbucker, Peavey amp, Pedals. $200 or best offer. 537-8288.

TWO ELECTRIC bass guitars with cases. Foundation. 130 watt amp. Peavey TNT. Work 1-456-2264. Home 539-0157.

YAMAHA DRUMSET for sale, stage series five-piece, Zildjian A Crash, Ride, Hi-hat $1,100. Call James at 532-5166.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

BILLY K—It's been six months, already. Can you believe it? Happy Anniversary, again. Karin.

BRANDON P—Not your type? Give me a chance. I think you'd be pleasantly surprised. —Andrea (Michelle's friend).

CATHY: I wish you could see that you're special to me. And I care about thee. Even though I've only known you three weeks. Love, Ron.

CHRIS—Acacia—Dancin' with you Saturday night was stimulating, but if you give me a call, we can explore our deeper shades of soul —Blue Eyes.

JULES—CAN you believe it's almost over? It has been a fun semester—putt-putt, tie-dying, Last Chance (next day hangovers), roadtrips to Wichita, Chateau Kramer (no more hamburgers—please) and seeing Ghost with 7. Good luck in KC! Thanks for being such a great friend and roommate. Kim.

TOMMY only struggle in the world. Thanks for being there, even when I'm scared; for time warping and making food taste so good. Most importantly thanks for sharing everything. ABCute.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

ADULT PERSIANS for sale, $75 each or best offer. Free female puppies. Carrin Terrier, Cocker mix. 1-765-3873 days, 1-765-2239 evenings.

AKC REGISTERED buff color Cocker Spaniel puppies. Reserve yours now for Christmas. 1-494-2838.

AKC REGISTERED Male Rottweiler puppy needs loving home, 8 weeks old, $400. 1-456-8259 after 6p.m.

FREE—85 lbs., male Great Dane needs home. Neutered, friendly, house-broken. Call Brian 776-8499.

ONE PUREBRED Chow puppy left. Wormed and has shots. Best reasonable offer. 776-2497 ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clafin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan 539-6851.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING The best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house to share with female roommate. Spring semester. Own room. $175/month plus utilities. 776-0595.

FEMALE: CLOSE to campus, and very close to Aggieville... $150/month... utilities average $10-15/month. 537-4144.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE—NON-SMOKER, to share house, own room, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate wanted, close to campus and Aggieville. $143 plus one-fourth utilities, available immediately. Call 539-4051.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice, furnished apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus. Available Jan. 1, $131.25 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8983.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $150 per month, own room, newly remodeled. 776-3855.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment. $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

HELP! I'm going home next semester and am looking for a female roommate to share apartment with two great roommates! Own bedroom, $150/month. Call Dawn at 539-5855.

JAN. 1, own room, $148 plus utilities, near campus. 537-4510 Carlos.

MALE CHRISTIAN, Roommate to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private room, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $195. 537-8048.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE—$150/month, one-third utilities, private bedroom, close to campus, by City Park. 776-7397.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $175/month plus one-third utilities, own room, available Jan. 1. Mark 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130/month, one-third utilities, no deposit, own room, close to campus. 539-5309.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted; Share three-bedroom apartment, own room. $149/month, one-third utilities. Close to campus and Aggieville. No deposit necessary. Call 539-0928.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE. House with all the extras. Few hours babysitting in exchange for partial rent. 776-3860.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

RESPONSIBLE, NON-SMOKING female for two-story apartment. Furnished bedroom, laundry. $140. Call 539-1582. Leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Female to share new two-bedroom apartment with pool. Westloop location. $180/month plus utilities from January to August or May. Call 537-2445 after 7p.m. or leave message.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One block from campus. $130 plus utilities. Call Amy 537-4510, 776-1195.

ROOMMATE WANTED: Own room, $150/month plus one-third utilities. Park Place. Call 776-1955 leave message.

ROOMMATE—GRADUATE or older student to share three-bedroom house with two others. 539-7232.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: Own room, water and heat paid, $150/month plus one-half electric. One and one-half blocks from campus. 776-5526.

ROOMMATE FOR a large two-bedroom apartment, $200/month. Call Tony 776-8749.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester, $187.50/month plus one-half utilities. Own room in furnished apartment. No deposit. 10 minute walk from campus. 5 minute walk from Aggieville. Call Scott or Julie, 539-3277.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-6886.

SPRING SEMESTER roommate wanted, four-bedroom house, own room, next to KSU. $135/month. 776-1252.

THREE MATES to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private rooms, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $200. 537-0472.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed for spring semester. Own rooms. One block from campus, washer/dryer. $125 per month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

TWO ROOMMATES. One block from campus, $143.75, plus one-fourth utilities. 539-4189 or 537-3782.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Available January—May. Close to campus. $185/each plus utilities. Call 776-6349.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, in/outdoor pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

25 Services

Headaches? Neck pain? Back pain?
Call today for an appointment
537-8305
Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, oil, style). For appointment call John Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: Heart's Restored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

26 Stereo Equipment

NEW PIONEER KE-2022 car stereo with auto-reverse, 15 station presets, and digital display. $150. New Pioneer BP-450 graphic equalizer amplifier. 25w+25w $75. Call Ken 537-8313.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Nice one-bedroom apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus, three blocks from Aggieville. $230/month negotiable. 776-8704. Alan.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus. Aggieville. 776-6915, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, furnished, spacious one-bedroom apartment, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Female wanted to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, less than a block from campus and down the street from Aggieville. Half rent and utilities, total less than dorms. 539-9535.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Bluemont Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st, one bedroom of three-bedroom house. Washer, dryer. $130 plus utilities. 776-0535.

FEMALE—WANTED to share apartment in house, close to campus, own room, $150 plus one-half utilities. Call Susan at 776-3218.

FURNISHED TWO-BEDROOM. January—August. Fireplace, washer/dryer, air conditioning, dishwasher, double bath, garage. $395 plus utilities. 776-8384.

GREAT APARTMENT—Spring semester, two or three bedrooms—$300/month total, no utilities. 539-3123.

NEW THREE-BEDROOM, one and one-half bath, close to campus. Available Jan. 1st—July 30th. $540. 539-3638.

SUBLEASE, STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

$60, PLANE ticket from KCI to New York City, Dec. 28. Call 776-9728 after 6p.m.

CHIEFS VS. Broncos. $25 includes bus ride, game ticket and refreshments. Classic Tours, 537-7546.

FOR SALE: AC/DC ticket. 12th row, $15. 776-3491 leave message.

ROUND-TRIP LA. Leave 12-26-90. Return 1-4-91. $350. 537-4907 or 532-6630. Ask for Pam. Leave message.

ROUND-TRIP AIRLINE ticket for sale, KC to Philadelphia, PA. Dec. 16-23. $150. Call 539-6289.

ROUND-TRIP FLIGHT ticket to Florida, leaving Dec. 19, returning Jan. 21. $120. 537-1781.

30 Travel/Car Pool

NEEDED: DRIVING companion(s) to share expenses to Florida (Sarasota). Leave Dec. 22nd. Return time flexible. Call 776-0961. Ask for Mark or leave message.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

25" RCA console color TV, $200 or make offer. Call 776-4213.

4.1 CUBIC foot refrigerator, like new. Need to sell. Mka. 532-5168.

5HP 3-PHASE motors 15' boat motor trailer, $500. Model A, Austin America, Civic parts. 539-0216.

CAMPUS DIRECTORY are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: HP 485X with equation library, couch, bed, mattress and frame, cedar chest, small desk, Westminster chime mantle clock. Call Ron at 539-2813.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

SMITH CORONA word processor—auto spell, disk drive, display screen, $450 or best. 776-2018.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels, $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WHITE GE refrigerator, excellent condition, 5-7 years old, must sell. $200/ best offer. 537-9387.

SOUTHERN SUN
Christmas Gift Pack
10 Tans & Bottle of Accelerator
$32
(while supplies last)
519 N. 12th • 776-8060

35 Acreage

PLAN NOW for spring construction. Corner 10 acres—Pottawatomie County—Fenced—extremely low taxes—New High School District. 776-6970.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE SIXTH DAY of Christmas—20% off boxed pen and pencil sets, 50% off 3M mousepads, 25% off select apparel. 25% off Hazel portfolios and portfolios. 25% off cookbooks and 25% off backpacks. Dec. 6th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Fort Riley soldiers join troops in gulf Deploy

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"It'll be good, at least, knowing she'll be close where I can find out (how she is)," Wes Anderson said.

Pat Anderson said she thought the stress placed on their relationship by the deployment would be less than that placed on a soldier and a civilian spouse.

"It's easier to share experiences and to understand what we're going through," she said.

The Andersons do not have children, which eases the difficulty of the deployment.

"It's made it a little easier for us," Pat Anderson said.

Wes Anderson said the debate between President Bush and Congress about Operation Desert Shield would not affect his job.

"I let the politicians handle that part," he said. "I go where the Army tells me to go."

Maj. David Osterberg, G-3 for plans on the division headquarters staff, echoed Wes Anderson's feelings about the debate.

"Our soldiers realize we don't establish policy. I don't waste a lot of time worrying about policies," Osterberg said.

Neither did Osterberg think the debate might cause soldiers to believe that they were not supported by the American people.

Osterberg said his job is in the planning of the "employment" of the division after it has been deployed to Saudi Arabia.

Johnson said the soldiers would spend their first day "getting over jet lag. We'll be occupying a huge warehouse facility. We'll be finding out where things are — where our bunks are, where to park our vehicles, where the latrines are. It takes about a day to get that sorted out."

And like his fellow officers, Johnson thought the debate was not major concern for the soldiers he is leading.

"Many soldiers may not understand why they're there at the cosmic levels of the Pentagon or the White House, but they know why they are doing their jobs," Johnson said.

Gulf

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"Nobody can ever tell you that sanctions alone can force Saddam Hussein out of Kuwait. I am personally very pessimistic that they will," he said.

Citing intelligence assessments, Baker said four months of a well-enforced embargo have so far produced no glimmer of change in Hussein's position. "Instead, he seems to be doubling his bets," Baker told the committee.

CIA Director William Webster delivered a similar message to the House Armed Services Committee.

Weddings

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

One is that two of the five grooms-men in the wedding have been called up to go to Saudi Arabia in support of Operation Desert Shield.

Barnes said there were several reasons for having a long engagement.

One was that she didn't want to get married until after she graduated.

"I'm so busy now, I don't know how I could be married too, on top of everything else," Barnes said.

Another reason was she said it was too expensive to try to have two people in college at the same time.

"This way, I'll be working and getting a salary, and I can help pay for Rick's school," she said.

"We've been engaged so long, it already feels like we're married," Barnes said. "Now it's really just a matter of changing names and having a really big party."

Barnes and Porterfield have made good use of the two-year engagement. They have already booked the church and the place where they want to have their reception. Barnes — who is making her wedding dress and all five of her bridesmaids' dresses with the help of her mother — has completed two of them and begun work on her wedding dress.

"I figure you only do it once," Barnes said, "so you need to put in the time to do it right."

All the students said the key is time. As long as enough time is allowed, most problems that might come up can be solved in one way or another.

"So far, so good, no problems have turned out to be life-threatening anyway," Esau said, smiling. "The wedding's still on."

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

he had hoped for but had expected after talking to some of the students.

KU had two questions on its ballot. A spring 1991 fee failed 586 to 198, and the fall 1991 fee failed 531 to 247.

Locke said it is impossible to tell how the regents will react to the mixed signals from K-State's approval and KU's disapproval.

"The regents said the reason for this poll was to get a feel for what the students want," he said. "However, they will have the final say, so I don't know how it will turn out."

Dave Suroff, KU engineering senator and senior in architectural engineering, said he was not surprised the students voted against the fee.

Ceremony

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Kruh said.

A buffet in the K-State Union Bluemont Room will be offered following the ceremony by prepaid reservation only, said Malley Sisson, food service director for the K-State Union.

Tickets are $7.95 for adults, and $4.50 for children ages 10 and under, Sisson said.

The College of Veterinary Medicine will not participate in commencement, as it only graduates students in the spring semesters, Kruh said.

"Only in recent years have we had a mid-year commencement," Kruh said. "There used to be a reception in the Union. The attendance was much more limited. In the last several years, we've had the mid-year ceremony at Bramlage. It works out very well," Kruh said.

"Now, our efforts will be concentrated against the fee because it is the wrong idea," Suroff said. "We are going to have to go to the regents and explain the situation because they never came to us."

He said he disagreed with statements Locke had apparently made to the KU student governing association, saying opinion was swayed at KU more so than at K-State.

"I totally disagree with that. It's not a matter of swaying opinion," Suroff said.

The outcome at K-State, he said, may have been due to a greater amount of pressure from the administration.

"One thing we will let the regents know is that the administration and faculty have been pressuring students with loss of accreditation if the fee is not passed," Suroff said. "When you are a student, it is like being a child under a parent's supervision."

Student government at KU plans to seek out other methods, such as tuition increases, as an alternative to the proposed fee.

Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt said K-State engineering students did receive more information in favor of supporting the fee than students at KU or WSU, but would not comment on whether or not the information presented was accurate.

"Dean Rathbone is a good salesman," he said. "There may be some points that need to be cleared up later. I just hope he tells the regents what he told the students."

Opera

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Melchior.

The opera was written from Menotti's own childhood experiences. He has written that "in Italy, we had no Santa Claus. Our gifts were brought to us by the Three Kings instead."

Menotti's vivid images of King Kaspar, Melchior and Balthazar bring the opera many humorous and poignant moments as the 12-year-old boy Amahl and his mother come to understand the journey of faith.

The part of Amahl is played by 12-year-old Skyler Hawk of Manhattan.

"I like performing," Hawk said. "I think it's fun, and usually I don't have anything better to do."

Tickets for "Amahl and the Night Visitors" are available by calling 539-9431 or 537-0380.

2nd Annual

FREE

CLINIC DAY

Thursday, Dec. 6, 9 a.m.—7 p.m.

Help the Flinthills Bread Basket when you help yourself...
Bring in a can of food and receive your first appointment

FREE

1st Appointment includes Consultation, Physical, Orthopedic, Neurological Exams and one X-ray. All At No Cost To You!

MANHATTAN CHIROPRACTIC

539-5622
1127 Westloop Shopping Center

FREE SHUTTLE

▲ shuttle stops

K-State Union Bookstore

BUS STOP

We really move our bus for you!!

December 12, 13 & 14, 1990

Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the Bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each half hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windssock!

Support the K-State Union! Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student activities, programs and services

UPC

Arts

Lectures

Movies

Outdoors

Performances

Travel

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

JUST A REMINDER

Art Rental Returns in the Union Courtyard Dec. 10-11 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

★★★★★ "One of THE MOST ORIGINAL, EXHILARATING AMERICAN COMEDIES IN AGES... It's likely to be the best-good movie of the year!" —Los Angeles Times

"WARM, ECCENTRIC HEART... Its sweetness lingers like a desert sunset." —Los Angeles Times

Thursday, Dec. 6
Bagdad Cafe (West Germany)
Bagdad is a desolate desert truck stop, suspended in a dusty limbo somewhere between those two quintessential cities of dreams, Hollywood and Las Vegas. Then, out of the desert, comes a mysterious stranger, a Bavarian tourist named Jasmine. Jasmine brings magic with her both literally and figuratively, rejuvenating the truck stop into a premier roadside attraction and imparting a sense of community to its collection of oddly assorted inhabitants. (In English) Unrated (91 min.) Thursday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall & 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre $1.75 with KSU I.D.

Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 7, 8 & 9
Flatliners
Five arrogant medical students who are curious about the afterlife pay a fearful price when they participate in a reckless experiment that allows them to experience death, and then come back to life. Rated R (111 min.) Friday and Saturday, 7 & 9:30 p.m. & Sunday, 7 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75 with KSU I.D.

THE MERRY CHRISTMAS MOVIE IS BACK.

Remember... It is better to give than to receive.

Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 8 & 9
A Christmas Story
Humorist Jean Shepherd's 1940's America is portrayed in "A Christmas Story," a nostalgic and witty remembrance of times gone-by. It's a truly wonderful period film for children and grown-ups alike! Rated PG (93 min.) Saturday and Sunday, 2 p.m., Forum Hall $1.50

Rent a Santa Suit

UPC Office, 3rd floor of the K-State Union $15 for one day Through Dec. 23

K-state union upc arts

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, December 7, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 70

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

Soldiers in the 1st Infantry Division are apparently training with Soviet-made helicopters like this MIL Mi-24 Hind seen Wednesday circling over the Custer Hill area at Fort Riley.

Fort uses foreign choppers

1st Infantry Division trains with Soviet-made helicopters

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

Soldiers of the 1st Infantry Division are apparently training with Soviet-made helicopters, like those used by Iraq, as they prepare to deploy for Operation Desert Shield.

The helicopters were seen Wednesday circling over the Custer Hill area of the fort by several reporters covering the departure of 10 soldiers from the division for Saudi Arabia.

One of the helicopters appeared to be a MIL Mi-24 assault helicopter, which NATO forces have named the "Hind."

A spokesman for the division and the fort said foreign-made equipment was at the fort for familiarization by the troops.

"All we can say is there is some foreign-made military equipment here at Fort Riley, and it is here to familiarize soldiers with it," said Mike Zucca of the Fort Riley public affairs office.

"If they see these in Saudi Arabia, possibly they'll know what it is," Zucca said, explaining the purpose of familiarization training.

John C.K. Daly, assistant professor of history and a specialist in Soviet military history, said familiarization may mean the division's soldiers are learning to differentiate the Soviet-made helicopters from U.S. or U.S.-allied aircraft.

"For identification, it's so they don't, in a moment of panic, blow down one of ours," Daly said. "Fratricide, or rather, friendly fire, has been a problem with U.S. forces."

Because the Hind has been used as a tank-killer, the familiarization may be to train the soldiers how to shoot such helicopters down "before they start chewing up our armor," he said. Jane's All The World's Aircraft identifies the Hind as an armed assault helicopter.

"Today, the Mi-24 is regarded as not only an anti-tank weapon, but capable itself of functioning as a high-speed, nap-of-the-earth tank and of destroying opposing helicopters in air-to-air combat," according to Jane's.

The helicopter seen at Fort Riley appears to be the Hind-D. The Hind-D carries pods underneath its weapons pylons, which look like stubby wings, for firing anti-tank missiles. It also has a four-barrel, 12.7 millimeter Gatling-type machine gun mounted in a turret under the nose of the helicopter. The nose turret weapon provides "air-to-air as well as air-to-surface capability," according to Jane's.

The Hind is capable of carrying eight fully-equipped soldiers inside its cabin and often serves an escort to the MIL Mi-8, a Soviet-made transport helicopter.

The Mi-8, called the "Hip" by NATO, appeared to be the helicopter seen following the Hind over Fort Ri-

■ See CHOPPERS, Page 10

Hussein declares foreign hostages will be released

Bush still orders removal of Iraqi troops

By The Associated Press

Iraq told the world Thursday that all foreign hostages would be freed, but President Bush said release of the thousands of hostages would not weaken American resolve to get Iraqi troops out of Kuwait.

Saddam Hussein's dramatic announcement signaled the removal of one obstacle to resolving the 4-month-old Persian Gulf crisis.

But Bush said Hussein should not have taken people hostage in the first place and must leave Kuwait without reservation before the standoff can end.

The State Department, in a message for broadcast by the Voice of America, advised U.S. citizens in Iraq and Kuwait it was making preparations for their evacuation as soon as they are permitted to leave.

The news of Hussein's announcement sent oil prices plunging to their lowest level since August, when Iraq invaded its oil-rich neighbor.

Several governments and relatives of hostages quickly welcomed Hussein's announcement, which the Iraqi leader called a response to the positive changes of recent diplomatic moves.

"It's an answer to our prayers," said Rande Vallekoop, whose husband has been stranded at the U.S. Embassy in Baghdad.

"We have been praying him home for Christmas ... and it looks like our answer is coming," she said from Minneapolis.

One American detained in Baghdad said he was absolutely elated at Hussein's decision; a British hostage popped open a can of imported beer in celebration.

"I feel delirious that I can leave," said David Farington, a British worker stranded in Baghdad by the Iraqi invasion. He became one of the foreigners Hussein kept captive to deter an attack on Iraq. Some were kept at strategic sites to serve as human shields against attack.

There are an estimated 950,000 foreigners in Iraq and occupied Kuwait, but Hussein earlier said most Asians and Arabs were free to leave.

Baker said the United States had received official notification in Baghdad that the thousands of foreigners would be set free. It was unclear when.

Hussein's announcement was made by the official Iraqi News Agency, which published a letter from him instructing the National Assembly to approve the release.

"I invite you to take a just decision to end the travel ban imposed on foreigners and restore to all of them the freedom to travel. We apologize to those who may have been harmed, and from God we seek forgiveness," the letter said.

Hussein also said Iraq had completed its deployment in Kuwait, and therefore the hostages were no longer needed to prevent an attack. Pentagon spokesman Bob Hall estimated Thursday that more than 480,000 Iraqi troops are now in and around the conquered emirate, facing a nearly 400,000-strong multinational force in the gulf that includes 250,000

■ See GULF, Page 10

Colleges report need for resources

By Dan Scott
Staff Reporter

The K-State Student Senate quickly approved Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt's appointments for chief of staff and attorney general at the Senate meeting Thursday night.

Senate also approved the members of Heitschmidt's cabinet.

Darin Batchman, junior in accounting, was given the nod as the chief of staff.

Batchman's duties will include representing the student body president at functions when Heitschmidt is unable to attend and organizing the cabinet, Heitschmidt said.

Curtis Munk, junior in business, received the attorney general appointment.

Heitschmidt said the cabinet's role will be to support his duties and to keep him on his toes throughout his term.

The 1991 Student Senate Cabinet are as follows: Trisha Perrigo, college council coordinator; Srinivasan Sundhararajan, international affairs director; Wendell Edwards, minority affairs director; Dennis O'Keefe, public relations director; and Kevin Graham, state and community affairs director.

A bill that requests the implementation of a campus-wide equipment fee was postponed until the second Senate meeting next semester.

Student keeps active lifestyle

Chair doesn't change attitude

By Danette King
Collegian Reporter

Jeff Peterson and another student discussed general chemistry as they came into the lobby of Moore Hall. Peterson told his friend how he had opted to not take the last quiz because one could be dropped. Instead, he said, he had been working on his portfolio for his English class.

A few minutes later Peterson came down the hallway from his room discussing the days activities with his roommate Derek Schrader.

Both are broad shouldered, both are freshmen in animal sciences and industry, and both are involved in several extracurricular activities.

Schrader said he and Peterson have a good roommate relationship. They've enjoyed the good times and helped each other deal with the bad times.

What sets the roommates apart is Peterson's expertise at maneuvering around campus in his wheelchair.

From the list of Peterson's campus activities, it is obvious he doesn't let being in a chair slow him down.

Peterson is a senator for the College of Agriculture. He was elected by the college's student council in September to fill a vacant position. In November, he received the second highest number of votes from agriculture students to serve as an agricultural senator.

In addition to Senate, Peterson is active in Block & Bridle, the animal sciences departmental club, Ag REPS and Ag Council.

Peterson said he realized this summer that he really wanted to be involved on campus.

"I knew I wanted to be involved, and I talked to the student body president," he said. "He suggested I get involved with student government — so when the senate position was open I decided to run."

He serves on a committee dealing with the accessibility of Fairchild Hall.

Peterson said he is on the committee to give insight into how to make the hall more accessible. This includes advising architects as to how low water fountains need to be so that he and others in wheelchairs can use them.

In high school, Peterson was involved in FFA, student council and sports. He played football and ran track during his freshman year.

One spring evening during his freshman year of high school, Peterson's life took an unsuspected turn. Just three miles from home, Peterson lost control of his sister's Ford Fiesta on a gravel road and rolled the car.

Peterson, who grew up on a farm near the small town of Burdick, said friends and family got him going again after his accident.

Help through donations and work from the community made Peterson's home accessible.

"Our family is a lot closer," Peterson said about the accident that left him paralyzed from the waist down. "It brought our community together. Our Co-op donated an old lumber yard that was not in use, and our neighbors used the lumber to add a bedroom and accessible bathroom to our house."

Peterson said that during his month and a half stay at Wesley Hospital in Wichita, he set a record for the most cards received.

The thought of the record brought a grin to Peterson's face as he leaned over, picked up one of his legs and crossed it over the other at the ankle.

Peterson said it was his friends who gave him his good attitude.

"It was the community folks that really helped my attitude," Peterson said. "They believed in me so much — I couldn't let them down."

Peterson said the accident taught him to be thankful for little things.

"I think more so now than before

Jeff Peterson, freshman in animal sciences and industry, right, helps Melanie Hundley, sophomore in agricultural journalism, put decorations on a Christmas tree following the conclusion of the Agricultural Senate meeting in Waters Hall Thursday evening.

I appreciate what I have," Peterson said. "I don't let the little things bother me, and I'm not one to let the big things get to me."

The quiet and reserved freshman said his decision to come to K-State was an easy one.

Peterson and his dad, Dan Peterson, came for a campus visit last spring.

"I was really worried about housing, but after the meeting with Jim Gewecke, the director of Moore Hall, and with Dave, I had such a great feeling when I left," Peterson said.

Dave is Dave Nichols, professor in animal sciences and industry, who talked about the department with Peterson and his father.

"Every time I came up here everyone was so friendly," Peterson said.

Peterson's desire to major in animal sciences comes from his background in swine.

"My dad raised hogs for almost 20 years," Peterson said.

Peterson has taken over his dad's hog operation. He has a 30-sow commercial operation.

"The day I came home from the hospital, I bought a four-wheeler," Peterson said.

He used the four-wheeler to get around on the farm and kept an extra wheelchair in the farrow house.

"The aisles are big enough between the pens in the house for me to go down," Peterson said. "I can get the pigs out of the pen and work them without any help."

Nichols remembers the day

Peterson came to visit.

"He seemed very sure of himself and what he wanted to do," Nichols said.

Nichols, who is Peterson's adviser, said he thinks Peterson adds a dimension to the animal sciences and industry program.

"I'm really impressed with Peterson. He doesn't expect special treatment," Nichols said. "And I'm amazed at how he's taken a hold of leadership."

Peterson said he does not want special treatment.

"People don't need to go out of their way to help me," Peterson said. "Sometimes it would be easier and quicker for me to do certain things myself, but I won't criticize someone for trying to help."

Peterson said getting around campus is not difficult.

"I really haven't had any trouble getting to all of the buildings," Peterson said.

Peterson's 1987 Pontiac Grand Am has made getting around town easier.

"You pull down to accelerate and push forward to brake with your left hand," Peterson said as he explained the device while pretending to grip the steering wheel.

Peterson said he does not feel sorry for himself because of the accident.

"I don't remember saying this, but Dad says I told him 'Let's not think about the things I can't do, let's think about the things I can do,'" Peterson said. "I don't sit here and worry about it — maybe if I did, I would feel sorry for myself."

BRIEFLY

World

Agency offers Soviet brides

MOSCOW (AP) — The lure of love in a land of prosperity has hooked many Soviet women this year. More than 1,500 have paid 50 rubles (about $80) apiece to join Nakhodka, or God Send, the first mail-order bride service matching Soviet women with North American men.

The company is part of a new Soviet bride industry that includes an Italian marriage service, an international video introduction firm and half-a-dozen magazines packed with personal ads.

"Soviet women have a lot more respect for American men than for Soviet men," said Sergei Kurochkin, 39, a former computer software designer who founded God Send last April. "They say Soviet men are lazy, unfaithful and rude. They want someone who will hold doors open for them."

For $25, an American man can receive a packet of a dozen such letters and photographs from a Los Angeles-based agency called American-Russian Matchmaking.

Nation

New contraceptive possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is expected to give American women their first new birth control option in three decades when it approves a hormonal implant that prevents pregnancy for up to five years, officials said Thursday.

The implant, called Norplant, was expected to win government approval within days, according to government and industry sources who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The method involves implanting in a woman's upper arm six silicone rubber capsules, each about the size of an inch-and-a-half-long wooden matchstick. The procedure is done with local anesthesia and the implant is not noticeable.

Shuttle faces more setbacks

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Space shuttle Columbia's star-gazing mission suffered yet another major setback Thursday when astronauts lost their only working computer terminal for operating a $150 million observatory.

Observations, already lagging far behind, were halted as a frustrated NASA scrambled to devise a plan to control three of the telescopes from the ground.

The four astronomers aboard Columbia were forced to halt observations Thursday morning when the flight deck computer overheated and automatically turned off.

The astronauts had been managing the Astro observatory's three ultraviolet telescopes with the one remaining terminal.

Citizen faces felony charges

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A former U.S. military man who has family in Kuwait and Iraq was indicted Thursday on charges he plotted to kill President Bush and other government officials and attack military installations in at least three states.

Jamal Mohamed Warrayat, a naturalized U.S. citizen who was born in Kuwait, faces three felony charges and could be sentenced to 15 years and fined $750,000 if convicted of all counts.

Warrayat, 32, was arrested Nov. 27, and has been held without bail. He is expected to be arraigned within the next two weeks.

Region

Man charged with slayings

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — A man charged with bludgeoning two women to death and burying the bodies has a long history of abuse against women, acquaintances and police said.

Marvin Irvin, 41, is charged in Buchanan County (Mo.) with killing Crystal Lynn Simmons, 33, and Patricia Diane Rose, 31, both of St. Joseph, Mo. Their bodies were unearthed in a farm field in rural Kansas.

Irvin served time in prison for attacking a girlfriend in Iowa and once was arrested for having sex with a 15-year-old girl in Kansas. Records also show he fathered at least three children out of wedlock, was sued twice for child support and had at least three wives, according to the Kansas City Star.

Irvin also is a suspect in the unsolved 1979 disappearance of Micki Jo West, 19, a friend of one of Irvin's first wives. He has not been charged in the West case. Her body has never been found.

Missouri Guard on active duty

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri National Guard's 35th Rear Area Operations Center in Kansas City, Mo., went on active duty Thursday as part of Operation Desert Shield, Guard officials said.

The 80-member unit is scheduled to leave Sunday for Fort Leonard Wood and is expected to go the Middle East as part of its six months of active duty, said Guard spokesman Maj. Ken MacNevin.

A departure ceremony is scheduled for Sunday afternoon on the south lawn of the Missouri Capitol for the soldiers and their families. From there, they will go to Fort Leonard Wood for final preparations.

It is the sixth Missouri Guard unit activated since Iraq invaded Kuwait in August, triggering the Desert Shield multinational military buildup in Saudi Arabia.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

7 Friday

■ KSU Dance Program will present "An Intimate Evening of Dance" at 8 p.m. in Nichols Theatre.

■ General Union of Palestine Students will present a lecture and dances on the uprising at noon in the Union Courtyard.

■ Campus Faith Fellowship will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Union 202.

■ University Lectures in the Humanities, sponsored by the humanities department, will present "The Case of Spivak and the Practice of Cultural Studies" by Robert Davis at 4 p.m. in Eisenhower 15.

■ InterVarsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 212.

■ Journalism and Mass Communications Research Symposium will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union 206. A question-and-answer session will follow. Bring your lunch.

8 Saturday

■ KSU Dance Program will present "An Intimate Evening of Dance" at 8 p.m. in Nichols Theatre.

10 Monday

■ Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 205.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, a little warmer and mostly sunny. High around 50. Northwest winds 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, clear. Low in the upper 20s. Saturday, sunny and mild. High around 55.

Ad It Up! in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Party Coming Up?

Call the

MOBILE MUSIC MACHINE

Professional Mobile DJ Service
featuring local radio personalities

•Light Show •Fog Machine •Variety of Music

Keep Your Party Pumpin'! 776-7240

GRAND RE-OPENING

Sat., Dec. 8 • 2-6 p.m.

- Free carnations (while they last)
- Free refreshments
- Lots of door prizes (2-4)
- Vote for our new logo

Retail shop is re-opened

Come in and see our poinsettias, dried and silk flower arrangements, crafts and house plants!

Wamego Floral Company

Hours
Mon.-Sat. 8-6
Sunday 12-6

West HWY 24 456-7640

New owners:
Dan Plummer
Linda Calmes
Sally Schorey

KANSAS STATE Orchestra

David Littrell, conductor

Bach Orchestral Suite No. 1 in C Major
Mozart "Vedrai, carino" from Don Giovanni
Milhaud Dayna Snook, mezzo-soprano
Scaramouche Suite
Bellini Christopher Goins, alto saxophone
"Son vergin vezzosa" from I Puritani
Shostakovich Ai-ze Wang, soprano
Symphony No. 1 in F Minor

Tuesday, 11 December 1990 8:00 p.m.

McCain Auditorium

This KSU Orchestra concert is supported in part by the Fine Arts Fee.

Travelute Western Store

Big Savings for your Christmas needs.

- Levis, Lee, & Wrangler jeans starting at $16.98 and up
- Rocky Mountain, P.S., and Roper jeans for ladies
- Goose down coats—Tempco and Comfy, $85 and up
- 20% off felt hats
- Big boot selection at big savings—Justin, Tony Lama, Acme, Panhandle Slim, etc...

Open Mon.-Sat. 9-noon and 1-5, Sunday 1-5
1 mile south of Waterville, Kansas on Hwy 77
(913) 785-2136

The Justy®
just got better

Four Wheel Drive
5 speed—air
with rebate
$8,991

How do you improve on a car known for its economy, quality and value? Meet the new 1991 Subaru Justy GL 5-Door.

- "On Demand"™ 4-wheel-drive system and optional Electronic Continuously Variable Transmission (ECVT) give you extra traction and the ease of an automatic with the performance of a stick
- Multi-point fuel injection with 73-horsepower engine for exciting performance
- Comfortable interior features low-back fully reclining front bucket seats and cloth upholstery

And the new Justy 5-Door is easier to load and unload. See it today!

THE 1991 SUBARU.®

We built our reputation by building a better car.

4th & Leavenworth
Downtown, Manhattan
776-4875

GOETSCH & IRVINE
CHRYSLER PLYMOUTH SUBARU

Perspectives

Optical Dispensary & Lab

Lenses and Frames Complete

(Includes scratch resistant coating, photo gray & UV protection)

Thru Dec. 24

Presents Single Vision
People $79.00

Pleasing Bifocals
Prices $109.00

No-Line Progressive
$149.00

300 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan 539-5105
Open Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00; Thursday till 8:00; Sat. 9:30-4:30

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY (C)

Tonite only Kill Whitey and 75¢ Draws

Come down and pre-party
before the home game Saturday night.

WITH DOLLAR PITCHERS
SATURDAY!!

"GO CATS" Shirts on Sale
FirstBank Center 776-4111

A Matter of Choice

- Air Conditioning & Refrigeration
- Automotive Collision Repair
- Automotive Technology
- Building Trades
- Computer Operations
- Computer Programming
- Computer Repair
- Drafting Technology
- Electrical Power & Distribution
- Graphic Arts Technology
- Marketing Education
- Office Technology
- Practical Nursing
- Welding

Call Today for
Fall Enrollment
913-539-7431
or 1-800-358-3079
extension 373

MANHATTAN VO-TECH

Choral group sings centuries-old songs

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reviewer

Twelve men from San Francisco sang at McCain Auditorium Thursday, spreading Christmas cheer from decades of music.

The men of Chanticleer proved themselves great musicians and vocal orchestrators at the holiday program, which included selections from 13th- to 20th-century music.

Most of the program was a product of the ensemble's extensive research into early choral music and its traditional performance. The execution of delicate musical passages was astonishing. The countertenors were a marvel for the ears and even more so for the eyes. They made it look so simple.

Nothing was deceiving about the pure tone and tightness of the group's unified voice. The notes seemed to float around together and completely satisfy the appetite of the auditorium.

Chanticleer is a tradition of careful and exact singing — which made the concert worthwhile, like eating a well-balanced and nutritious meal.

During the first half of the concert, the group performed in black tuxedos with tails. When the second half of the program began with the group returning in Christmas sweaters and singing 20th-century tunes, it was just like dessert.

Songs like, "I Wonder As I Wander," and "Il est ne, le divin enfant," were refreshingly familiar.

From the first English 13th-century "Plainsong" chant, through Biehl's "Ave Maria" and on to music director Joseph Jennings' own arrangement of a "Christmas Spiritual Medley," Chanticleer's performance encompassed a broad selection of Christmas traditions, acknowledging cultural diversity.

The crowd seemed eager and grateful for the quality of the music being presented, as well as the tradition of the Christmas selections.

Members of the Chanticleer men's a capella choir warm up during rehearsals Thursday before their performance in McCain Auditorium.

Romantics perform hits at area bar

By Lajean Rau
Collegian Reporter

Although their last album came out more than four years ago, the Romantics have been productive since they reorganized in 1988.

"The band has been touring quite extensively this year," said road manager Mark Lily. "We've been really busy."

Just this week, Epic Records released a compilation of greatest hits titled "The Romantics: What I Like About You and Other Romantic Hits."

They are presently completing a four-song album for release exclusively in Europe, which features two original Romantic's tunes and renditions of two George Clinton songs.

Work is also continuing on their next American release that will be a result of nearly three years of work. Lead singer and guitarist Wally Palmar said he was hoping for a spring release.

The Romantics have been together since 1977. But the current lineup, which includes newcomer Clem Burke, has been intact for just two years. Palmar and Burke are joined on stage by Coz Canler and Mike Skill.

The band's biggest hit was "Talking in Your Sleep," which peaked at No. 3 in 1983, but they are perhaps best remembered for "What I Like About You," which came out in 1980 and has become a standby at clubs and parties.

The appearance at Snookies in Manhattan is one stop on a two-week tour that will take the band through five states on its way to Seattle, where it will finish up with three shows before it breaks for Christmas.

"We enjoy performing in college towns," Palmar said. "College radio stations have proven themselves to be very important for new bands breaking in. It was no different for us."

Palmar said the release of the greatest hits album was due to a demand for hard-to-find Romantics' albums.

"We have five albums out

■ See CONCERT, Page 10

Center aids students in job search

Director reports 70 percent of students with bachelor degrees use its service

By Kimis Timotheadis
Staff Reporter

Every year, students begin the search for employment. The Career Planning and Placement Center helps a large number of those students to find jobs.

James Akin, director of the center, said about 70 percent of the students who have completed a bachelor's degree have used the services of the center.

"The job market was very good across all the fields," he said.

Akin said that from December 1989 to August 1990, there were 20,000 available jobs reported to the center, and there were a large number of companies interested in K-State graduates.

During the same period, 427 companies visited campus to conduct interviews, he said.

There were 8,420 interviews, plus 1,576 in the area of education.

Akin said the job market for technical and professional fields was very strong, as well as for other fields.

Seniors are not the only students who take advantage of the center. Akin said students who have not yet enrolled at K-State seek information as well.

Akin said the center helps students meet their career goals and finalize their decisions about what they want to do. It is important they begin the decision process early, he said.

"Seniors should get involved at least at the beginning of their senior year, right at the beginning of the semester," he said.

In the later part of August, the center organizes orientations and encourages students to register with the center.

"At that time we also help students to make direct contact with the employers," Akin said.

Companies throughout the Midwest are usually interested in K-State graduates, but, Akin said, there is a large number of national companies who come to interview students.

The most important thing is that students must learn how to market themselves, Akin said.

"They should feel comfortable talking about themselves."

He said employers tend to look for five things when they hire people:

- Relevant quality education.
- Work experience, particularly experience related to their field.

■ Involvement in activities, specifically in leadership situations.

■ Oral and written communication skills.

■ The ability to work with different people, including people from different age groups, different cultures or who speak different languages.

Akin said University faculty play an important role in letting students know about the center's services.

Advisers usually inform seniors about the center.

Tom Korte, senior in agronomy, is graduating in December. He said he first went to the center at the beginning of this semester and was amazed with the services it provides.

"They have all kinds of information," Korte said. "How to research a company, make your resumes and many others."

He said people save time in the job-search process by using the center's services.

"It is a lot more difficult to find a job by yourself," Korte said. "People at the center can give you important information and bring you in direct contact with the companies. Your chances are better finding a job through the center."

The only weak point of the center, he said, is the way they advertise orientation information at the beginning of the semester.

"Orientation is very important. If you miss it, you miss a lot of important information about the process of interview," Korte said.

He said he believes the center should advertise the orientation a little more, so more people will be aware and have the opportunity to attend the orientation sessions.

Ad It Up!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

Display Advertising

532-6560

will connect you with one of our sales representatives.

Bennis accuses Bush administration of double standard in foreign policy

By The Collegian Staff

The invasion and occupation of Kuwait are wrong in principle, according to Phyllis Bennis, journalist, author and peace activist.

Bennis was the guest speaker at a meeting at the International Center Thursday.

Bennis cited two reasons for Saddam Hussein's invasion of Kuwait.

"The political atmosphere in the Middle East of alliance between Israel, Egypt and the United States (as a result of the Camp David Accords) left the Arab world without a leader," she said. "In the context of lack of leadership, Saddam Hussein viewed himself as the new leader of the Arab World."

The second reason was economic, she said.

"Kuwait was violating prices and quota agreements set by OPEC.

There has not been significant denial from the exiled Kuwait government," she said.

President George Bush took the first hostage of the Persian Gulf Crisis, Bennis said. Bush gave King Hussein of Jordan 48 hours to get Iraq out of Kuwait.

This was premature, she said. Bush did not give the Arab nations enough time to work out the problem themselves.

Linda McMillan, a Manhattan resident, said, "I think that she's right. There were more events leading to the Middle East crisis than most Americans are aware of. The military build-up has more to do with our need of control. I believe that there is always a better way than war."

Bennis said, "There are two factors affecting U.S. foreign policy. One is how the United States is going to dominate the Middle East in the post-Cold War era and to put in place a new strategic order in the Persian Gulf, beginning with a new line of alliances."

The Persian Gulf crisis is an example of the United States' double standards.

"George Bush was thundering 'Occupation will not stand' after Iraq had occupied Kuwait for three days," she said. "Where has he been for the last 23 years during the Israeli occupation of Palestine?"

The U.N. Security Council vote to use force to end the occupation of Kuwait is an incredible display of bribery and threats, Bennis said.

"I think there is a 50-50 chance of there not being a war," she said. "I see some possibilities, however, these talks could just be a show for the domestic audience, since Bush is facing increasing opposition."

"The military people know the drastic price that we will pay if there is a war," she said. "They are the ones who are leaking information to the press about the number of caskets and body bags being ordered because they know who will pay that price."

Bennis said, "The public has learned lessons from Vietnam. People like us can make a difference. We want to create a movement that will make it domestically impossible for the United States to go to war. We have to support the World Peace Council to address all issues in the Persian Gulf."

McMillan said, "After Vietnam, people learned that what the public is told is not necessarily true, so we are more skeptical about getting into a war."

WOW — FOR $3, you can run 15 words for one day in the COLLEGIAN ClassAds.

BAYSTREET
—AND—
THE PIT—
FRI.

No Cover For LADIES TONIGHT
$2 Daiquiris

SAT.
No Cover With
Student I.D.
$1 Tequila Shooters

Credit, Where Credit is Due
CLOUD COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
INTERTERM CLASSES
(Beginning January 2, 1991)

Three 3-Hour Credit Courses:

Course	Time	Dates
U.S. History II	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Computer Appl.	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Sociology	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19

Assertive Training 1-Hr Credit, 9-11 a.m., Jan. 2-4; 7-12
Human Relations 2-Hr Credit, 8 a.m.-3 p.m., Jan. 7-11

REGISTER Now through Dec. 21 or the First Day of Class, which is January 2, at 7:30AM

Call or Write:

Cloud County Community College
2221 Campus Drive, Box 1002
Concordia Kansas, 66901
(913) 243-1435 or 1-800-729-5101

First In Service To North Central Kansas

Deck Your Halls With . . .

Fresh Cut Christmas Trees of Kansas-grown Scotch Pine, Douglas Fir and Grand Fir. Sized 3½' to 9'. From $12.95. Free tree removal bag with each Christmas tree purchase.

Boughs of Holly, Pine, Mistletoe, Fir, Juniper and roping of White Pine.

Bows in a rainbow of ribbon and sizes.

Austrian Pine Living Christmas Trees freshly dug from our field for Christmas memories in years to come.

Wreaths and Swags assembled from our fine assortment of fresh greens and decorated to order.

Living Arrangements in colorful containers for giving or keeping.

Poinsettias add the crowning touch to your Holiday Home. Choose from Red, Pink, White, Marble and "Jingle Bells" varieties priced from $3.29.

2 mi. east of Manhattan on U.S. 24 Monday-Saturday 9-6 Sunday 12-6

776-5764

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

'Cheaters' prominent on every campus

I was standing in the Union bookstore looking through a thick book about how to study for the Graduate Record Exam, when Bart Bryce came running up to me. His eyes were wild. "D.L.," he said, pointing at the book. "Unhand that unholy abomination lest it damn your soul to eternal hell for eternity."

I looked at the book. It seemed normal enough. "What's wrong with it?" "It is an unclean thing. A pit of slime. It will leave a blot on your soul that may the strongest detergent will burn off."

I carefully set the book aside, using only two fingers, and then wiped off my hands. "What's wrong, Bart?" "That book is a tome of the devil. It is a CHEATER's bible."

"How do you figure?" I asked. "The sole purpose of that book is to help you pass an important test without having to really study for it. That's CHEATING," he hissed.

"But, Bart, it's just a study guide." "It is a CHEATER's bible."

"Why are you suddenly on this cheating kick?"

Bart took out a copy of an article he'd clipped from the Kansas City Star. "It says here that this guy did this survey at Rutgers University and discovered more than 75 percent of all its students CHEATED."

"What kind of things did they do?" Bart shuddered like a frigid wind had suddenly shot up his back. "They did horrors too horrible to be named. They also looked at old tests their professors had given and used them as study guides."

"What's wrong with that? I mean, in the English master's program, they give us copies of past exams to study with."

Bart threw his hands up in the air and huffed. "Horror of horrors, D.L.," he said. "I can only hope you will change majors or leave the school. It is better to drop out of school than to get kicked into the fires of hell."

"I just don't see the problem with using copies of past tests if they're available."

"Don't you see it, D.L.? If the professor is using the same test every year, you're getting to see the answers in advance. That's cheating."

"But if professors are so unimaginative as to use the same tests from year to year to year, don't they deserve to have their students be unimaginative, especially when copies of the tests are usually on file in the library?"

Dwayne Lively

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Bart guffawed. "Who cares what the student's motives are? What kind of an excuse is that? Motives are not taken into account on Judgment Day, D.L. If you philander in the files of the Hall of Babylon, you will burn, burn, burn. The same goes for reading those CHEATER's bibles."

"Are all of these cheater's bibles?" I asked, gesturing to the rack beside me which contained a number of books on how to study for the ACT, SAT, GRE, GED, PSAT, PPST and the Advanced Placement tests in math, chemistry and English.

Bart nodded. "It's our own little occult bookstore."

I frowned. "But, Bart, everybody knows that these tests don't really test anything except your ability to take tests. In fact, they're even racially and economically biased. Why does it matter if we do what we can to keep from being ruined by them?"

"It's the idea of the thing, D.L.," Bart said. "Once you begin CHEATING, you never stop. Next thing you know, you're smoking heroin and bad-mouthing the president."

I tried to imagine that progression in my head. I couldn't quite make the connections.

"But what about university administrators?" I said. "Aren't THEY cheating by using these standardized tests in lieu of real entry criteria?"

Bart shook his head. "Administrators make the rules. It is our duty to obey them. Administrators are all-powerful and all-knowing."

It was my turn to laugh.

"Oh sure, you laugh now, D.L., but the administrators will get you if you CHEAT. Administrators finally caught up with Martin Luther King Jr., didn't they? Ha, ha. Preaching non-violence, fighting for civil rights, helping avert a race war in this country, being murdered for his efforts, all that was just an act to cover the fact that he CHEATED on his dissertation. If he wasn't covering up, why would he have done all that stuff? What kind of a man does that make him?"

"I don't know," I said. "I understand he may have had some plagiarized sections in his dissertation, but does that put him in the same class as a Michael Milken or an Ivan Boesky?"

Bart winced and was quiet for several seconds.

"What's wrong now?" I asked.

"Alas, D.L., you have revealed my secret shame."

"Which is?"

Bart held up the article. "It says here that my brother business majors are the biggest cheaters of all. The man says he believed this is a form of socialization for our future careers. Perhaps Brother Milken and Brother Boesky are evidence of this."

"You're not going to change majors, are you?" I asked. "I mean, it's taken you six years to get this far in the one you're in."

Bart shook his head and then held it up proudly. "I have no need to quit. I shall be a light unto the crowd. A shoulder unto the grindstone. A nose unto the wheel. I am and shall be an honest businessman."

That's an oxymoron, isn't it?

EDITORIALS

Madonna undresses MTV's rebel image

Iggy Pop quotes the First Amendment while being wrapped in tape, including a piece of tape across his mouth.

A camera pans members of the heavy metal group Megadeth. There is no sound — the members have been silenced by electrical tape.

MTV is famous for its Rock the Vote campaign for the November elections. In the Rock the Vote commercials, celebrities said we have the freedom to say what we want to say. They said we need to make our voices heard while it's still legal.

Then came Madonna. Then came her controversial video "Justify My Love."

But it didn't come to MTV.

This move is a little hypocritical coming from the network that said art shouldn't be banned. The people from the rock'n'roll television network apparently decided the MTV queen's "art" was just too hot for them this time around.

The video, described by some critics as a journey to the S&M hotel, has been a boon to Madonna's air time everywhere else. In fact, her video was shown in its entirety Tuesday night on a delayed telecast of "Nightline," and parts of it have been shown on other network news shows, including CNN.

So what's the big deal, MTV? For a station that touts its no-censorship message daily, MTV is being made a fool by the public stations that have had no qualms about airing the video.

Or did MTV make a deal with the blond Madonna? An uncut version of "Justify My Love" will be on sale in record stores as a video single for Christmas. People will be so curious to see the controversial film that they may shell out their hard-earned dough for it, which will give Madonna something to smile about. Will MTV get a percentage of the money she earned, giving it something to smile about as well?

Madonna seems to be taking the news very well. She said MTV knows its audience. If "Justify My Love" wasn't for MTV, that was OK with her.

But it's odd that with all the steamy videos already on MTV, the network chose to say no to the one woman its has devoted more air time to than the Jackson family.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Venso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimotheadis, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel, Karin Delf'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seaborn, Kevin Zwick, Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Letitz, Rebecca Sack, Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer
COLUMNISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchham, J. Kyle Wyatt
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind
STRIP CARTOONISTS	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry
EDITORIAL BOARD	Tomari Quinn, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Venso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Kool
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allyson Schaff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind, Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Keadzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Keadzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Keadzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

IN FOCUS

ABOVE: Bear, of Bear's Tattoos, has been operating a tattoo shop in Manhattan since late summer. BELOW: After applying a temporary pattern, Bear begins the process of tattooing a customers family crest.

Bear's Skin

The cardboard sign in the lower window of the white apartment house at 529 Pierre read "Bear's Tattoos." Inside the apartment, a short woman introduced herself as the proprietor.

"Hi," she said. "I'm Bear." She reached up to shake hands. Between the first and second knuckles on her outstretched right hand were tattoos of claws. That was only the beginning.

On her right arm was a large green bird that flew amidst a flurry of other multicolored designs. Bear's left arm was what tattooists call "sleeved out" with stark black and white tattoos of warrior women from Norse mythology. She did the tattoos on her legs by herself, and they varied from elegant women to a knife on her right ankle. On the top of her left foot was a tiny teddy bear.

"That little teddy bear was the worst one on my whole body," she said. "And it only took about 10 minutes, but I was begging the woman to stop."

Yes, some tattoos hurt, which is usually one of the first things Bear tells potential customers. It's not a great deal of pain, she said, but a scratchy pinprick-like pain that's enough to make even a strong person wince.

"It's not going to hurt as much as you think it's going to," Bear said. "But you have to expect it to hurt because you're cutting the skin."

"I've never had anybody cry," she said. "There are a few guys who, once they're prepped and everything, decide they can't take it, but that's very few."

"I feel like it's worth this little bit of pain for an hour or however long it takes, and then you have a lifetime of what you want," she said.

Bear began her life of tattooing at 18, when she got her first tattoo. She didn't get another for about 12 years. Then, after looking around in tattoo shops across the country, she decided she could do just as well, if not better, at skin art.

She spent about a year as an apprentice to another tattooist, which is the only way to learn. There are no tattooing schools. There are no tattooing workshops. One must learn from another.

"I spent about a year doing my own legs," she said. "And then my teacher said if I could do a woman's face upside down on my own legs, then I could probably do it on someone else right side up."

She opened her first shop in North Dakota, and through her doors came people from all walks of life.

"Everybody thinks if you've got a tattoo you're a biker or you've been in prison," Bear said. "Some are, and some have been. But I've tattooed 50-year-old women, college kids, soldiers, — you name it. It's not a badge to prove you've been locked up or that you're a big bad biker or anything like that."

Bear said many women come into the shop wanting a tattoo on their ankles. She tries to talk them out of it because there is little padding between skin and bone and because people who experience pain with their first tattoo might not be back for another.

"I'd like to see people with more than one," she said. "I believe tattoos make you look better. But I'm not going around asking people why they don't have tattoos."

Bear stumbled upon Manhattan on her way to Texas. Her car broke down, and she found herself stuck in Kansas.

"I had enough money to either get to Texas and be broke or rent a place here and get a shop going," she said. "I started walking around town, and I didn't see anyone with tattoos — not even in the bars. And I said to myself, 'I guess I'm not in North Dakota anymore.'"

But after distributing fliers and putting up posters, Bear has carved her niche in the Manhattan community. Students, University employees, bikers, executives, hippies, whole fraternities and soldiers have all found their way to Bear's door.

"Right now, I have a lot of soldiers who are going to Saudi Arabia. So on the weekend, from the minute I wake up to the minute I go to bed, I'm tattooing those guys," she said.

Business is good because there are so many bad tattooists in town, and Bear said she seems to be making a living from covering up bad work.

"I've seen a lot of work where I can't believe that they were charged as much as they were and I can't believe people pay it," she said.

Bear said she didn't get into art in high school or anything like that. In fact, she's trained to be a typesetter. But you couldn't tell from a look at her scrapbooks of tattoos she's done — or from the work on her legs.

"If you came in here and said, 'I want a unicorn standing on a cloud with the sun behind him,' I'd say, 'Well, sorry. Find someone to draw it,'" she said. "I can hardly draw a heart. But if you have a drawing of it, then I can tattoo it."

Photos by Gary Lytle

Story by David Freese

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SPORTS

Wildcats ready for Bearcats

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

Need something to make the matchup between K-State and NCAA Division II foe Northwest Missouri State interesting?

Try this: The Bearcats won the only meeting between the two schools, a 28-23 decision at Maryville, Mo., in 1932.

The Wildcats, 3-1, will try to even the series at 7:35 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Like many of the teams K-State has faced early in the season, Northwest Missouri State is a mystery to 'Cats coach Dana Altman.

"I know they're 4-2, and they've played Pitt," Altman said. "I've seen a couple of films, but I really don't have that much on them."

So why play the Bearcats, a member of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Conference that plays the likes of Washburn and Pittsburg State during the regular season?

"We needed a home game, and we were having a hard time finding a Division I opponent," Altman said. "You take the last third of Division I and compare it with Division II schools, and there's really not much difference."

The only potential drawback is that the game will not figure into K-State's record when NCAA Tournament berths are handed out in March. Still, the game provides a good opportunity to build momentum before Christmas.

"I don't think you're ever where you want to be," Altman said. "We're not finding exactly what we want, but we're making progress."

Some of the strides forward have been taken by reserves. Senior center

■ See GAME, Page 10

David Mayes/Staff

Wildcat guard Jeff Wires attempts to beat Wyoming guard Maurice Alexander to a loose ball during the second half of the 'Cat victory Wednesday night at Bramlage Coliseum. Wires and his teammates will face Northwest Missouri State at 7:35 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage. K-State moved to 3-1 with the 81-68 win over Wyoming.

Rettiger doesn't need boos

Basketball fans should refrain from blasting hard-working junior center

Scott Paske

SPORTS REPORTER

First, let me admit that I'm not a model citizen. I have bad breath most mornings, occasionally sleep through a class and am inconsistent in helping old ladies across the street.

Now, nobody can refute all this griping I'm about to do by saying that I think I'm perfect.

I'm not a big believer in fan criticism. In fact, I support the theory that the money spent on a ticket to a sporting event only strengthens a fan's First Amendment right to free speech. That includes cheering, booing, taunting and any other actions that don't violate house rules.

Even "The Wave," that worthless cheer that frequently surfaces during the latter stages of a game, is acceptable.

For those who attended K-State's 81-68 win over Wyoming on Wednesday, I'm not talking about the naughty name that students presented to Cowboy guard Maurice Alexander late in the first half. Name-calling and taunting opposing players are only a sample of the reasons why few teams that come to Manhattan leave with a win.

But booing K-State players — namely, junior center John Rettiger — is not.

This might be the point where you toss your sports page in the trash can and get back to your Wheaties. Be my guest. I don't claim to be Mom or Dad.

But good Lord, have a little compassion for somebody who's trying to make you a happy camper on game night.

It would be safe to say that Rettiger didn't provide a lot of fan ecstasy Wednesday. He finished with two points on 1-of-5 shooting, failed to convert on consecutive lob plays to start the game and committed two of his five fouls positioning himself for offensive rebounds — all in 15 minutes of playing time.

Rettiger probably won't laminate press clippings from Wednesday's game to his bulletin board. But his struggling performance wasn't caused by nose-picking at mid-court the whole game. He was hustling, and it just wasn't his night.

It's a shame that some of the fan reaction to Rettiger's effort had to cast a dark shadow on a night when several 'Cats shined. Maurice Brittan entered the game for Rettiger in the first half and played a big part in a 26-5 run that gave K-State control of the game.

Junior guard Marcus Zeigler came off the bench and scored 20 points, including four three-pointers. He didn't miss a shot, and teamed with Jeff Wires to harass Wyoming's guards.

When Zeigler wasn't playing, he came from the end of the bench to console a frustrated Rettiger, who left the game to a small chorus of boos.

The fact that Zeigler and Rettiger were in that position is a bunch of crap.

Wednesday's game wasn't the first time Rettiger has heard the boo-birds at Bramlage Coliseum. It happened last year, much to the dismay of former coach Lon Kruger. As long as Rettiger puts on a K-

State uniform, they'll probably be present.

It's little wonder why Rettiger's best game of his college career came at Vanderbilt last year, when he scored 19 points.

If Rettiger was loafing on defense, purposely heaving the ball into the stands, or not passing to a wide-open man under the basket, boos would be justifiable. Even Michael Jordan would deserve it under those circumstances.

But he's not. Rettiger is on the floor for loose balls, battling for rebounds and doing the necessary things to earn playing time. If he wasn't, K-State coach Dana Altman would probably tell Rettiger to watch the rest of the 1990-91 season in the stands with his strongest critics.

This isn't a case that calls for the Golden Rule, but a little consistency. If you boo for the bad, cheer for the good.

John Rettiger may be the difference in a K-State win in the future.

Lady Cats to participate in Dial Soap tournament

From Staff and Wire Reports

After losing to Southwest Missouri State Tuesday night in Springfield, Mo., the Lady Cats will look to post their first road win of the season in California this weekend.

K-State, 2-2, travels to Long Beach to face the San Diego State Aztecs in the first game of the Dial Soap Basketball Classic. Host school Long Beach State will play Southern Utah State in the other first-round game.

San Diego State, 2-2, also lost on the road Tuesday when USC beat the Aztecs 68-54 in Los Angeles. The Aztecs have been paced by junior guard Crystal Lee and junior transfer center Kieishsha Barnes, both averaging 19.5 points a game.

Barnes, a 6-3 Kodak all-American junior college player, has stepped right in for second-year coach Beth Burns' squad in an effort to improve on the Aztecs' dismal 7-23 record last year.

"We have a lot of potential. We need to continue to improve our perimeter game," Burns said. "We've made big strides in our decision making. The difference is our ability to execute and not make the turnovers."

The Lady Cats will try to match up with power of their own. Forward Diana Miller, center Kristie Bahner and guard Nadira Hazim have combined for 46 points per contest, with Hazim coming off an explosive night against SMSU where she scored 31 points.

Despite giving up the height advantage to most of the opposition, Miller and Bahner have also done the rebounding for the Lady Cats. The two seniors have combined for 17.5 boards a game.

"We would love to have a 6-3 or 6-4 post player, but the talent we have fits into the style of offense I like to run," K-State coach Susan Yow said. "We like to look for the transition basket, but you can't do that without a big rebounder and the thing I like about Kristie is that she goes to the boards. She's been overlooked by a lot of the coaches, but she is going to be a big, big key for us this season."

EARLY BIRD SALE

45% OFF
ENTIRE STORE*

1/2 HOUR SALES
EARLY SATURDAY ONLY

*6:00 a.m. to 6:30 a.m.—Entire store is 45% OFF original price.

6:30 a.m. to 7:00 a.m.—Entire store is 40% OFF original price.

7:00 a.m. to 7:30 a.m.—Entire store is 35% OFF original price.

7:30 a.m. to 8:00 a.m.—Entire store is 30% OFF original price.

8:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m.—Entire store is 25% OFF original price.

9:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m.—Entire store is 20% OFF regular and clearance price.

FREE Coffee!—FREE Gift Wrap! FREE Limited Alterations! HURRY SATURDAY!

BRENTWOOD
• FOR MEN & WOMEN •

HOLIDAY HOURS: Mon.—Fri. 10-8, Sat. 10-6, Sun. 1-5
700 N. Manhattan Ave. • Manhattan, KS • (913) 539-1414

Need Money?

MANHATTAN FEDERAL
Savings and Loan Association

See Manhattan Federal Savings & Loan
for all your student needs!

Let Nancy Hammerschmidt in the Student
Loan Department help you make the right
choice by assisting you with a Student
Loan from Manhattan Federal Savings.
The professional staff are also your local experts for all financial needs!

FDIC Insured

537-2298 800 Poyntz

Lender Code 820334 Manhattan, Kansas 66502

VS.

N.W. Missouri State

Sat. Dec. 8, Tipoff 7:35 p.m.
Bramlage Coliseum

Tickets: 532-6920

FREE Team Photo
for

* A can of Food
or

* $1 donation to the Flint Hills Bread Basket
Sponsored by

TRAVELERS
EXPRESS

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1 Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT" (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE, CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan/Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Christmas is right around the corner
And so is second semester!

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

Has units available for you and your friends
for the spring 1991 semester.

Come See Them Today
776-5599

DAN WEIS COMPANY DWG REAL ESTATE
2001 Anderson Way, Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-1905

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz

537-2480

Free Estimates

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS BEADS BEADS

Make your own
Christmas gifts...
Thousands of beads,
crystals and all the
supplies you need.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

Complete Cockatiel Starter Kit
includes cage, treats, seed, etc.

$72.99

with purchase of kit or any cage in stock

Grey Cockatiel Special $24.99
reg. $49.95

Christmas at

PETS 'N' STUFF

1105 Waters

539-4751

On the Tenth Day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me
Free Frozen Yogurt Cookiewich
with purchase of a pint or quart.

Offer valid 12/10/90

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

offer expires 12/6/90

537-1616

HOLIDAY SPECIALS

Men's Haircut &
Style reg. $12 Now $9
Women's Haircut &
Style reg. $15 Now $12
Children Welcome
Tanning Special 10 sessions
for $20

Gift Certificates Available

LORDS 'N' LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

218 S. 4 (V.F.W. Plaza)

776-5651

Offer Expires Dec. 31, 1990
With this Ad

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

11th Day—Buy any footlong and get a small drink for 11¢ more.

Offer good Dec. 7 thru Dec. 9.

Must present ad—not good in combination
with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan Ave.
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa
KISS-P

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Select Group Sport Shirts
Twills, Blends & Flannels
Choice from Nautica
Gordon Thomas & Nicola Mancini.
Now 20% off

nautica

We make your shopping fun & easy
•Free gift wrap
•Extended holiday hours
•Gift certificates

Holiday Hours: Mon-Fri 10-8 Sat 10-6 Sun 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

WRAP IT UP!

For all your wrapping needs...

Gift Sacks Tissue Gift Wrap Bows Ribbon Mini Bags

704 N. Manhattan Ave. in Aggieville 530-7054

Mon-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m. Fri-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan—K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

DONATE FOOD or money for Christmas. See Santa and Christmas Clown. Bring to Military Science Building 101.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OUTING Club is going backpacking Dec. 26-30 (also canoeing, sailing, biking, etc.) 539-0216.

Weekends at Bobby T's

Fridays Enjoy Shrimp and Beer
2 doz shrimp & pitcher of beer $4.99
DJ 8-12

Saturday Enjoy Live Entertainment
John Woolter
The Singing Stockbroker

Snookies

Tonight
& Saturday

50¢ Kamis

776-7726 1122 Moro. Upstairs

Every Friday

ALL YOU CAN EAT!

•Spaghetti
& meat sauce
•Salad Bar
•Texas Toast

$4.95

1115.4th

Fridays

5-8 p.m.

SUNDAY LUNCH

Pan Fried Chicken and other daily specials.

Specials include free dessert.

ONLY $4.25

Serving Breakfast till 1 p.m.

Open Every Sunday

7 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

1115.4th

10% off with this ad

FREE BBQ BURGERS 4-7 ONLY AT BAYSTREET

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111. 8a.m.—8p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom in complex, $330. Cat OK. Call 776-6697.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

NICE FURNISHED apartment in lake home 10 minutes from campus. $250 including utilities for single person. Available January—May. 539-3078.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundry, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus. $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking. $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, Three blocks west of campus. Available Jan. 12. Utilities paid. No lease required. No pets. Non-smoker. Private parking. $275. References required. 539-5117.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carport, patio, laundry. $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May. $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, large, one-bedroom near campus. $325. 537-3160.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, spacious, clean two-bedroom, one and one-half bath basement apartment. $375/ month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom, pool, water and trash paid, very nice, no deposit. $275. 776-9624.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking. No pets. 539-3409.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, room cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, flexible lease, all bills paid, available Jan. 1. $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment available Jan. 1. New carpet, separate vanity and bath, breakfast bar. Some utilities paid. $395. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available Jan. 1. Call 537-2096 for info.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont. $420. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL, air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1. Three blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5079.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth. $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Bluemont. $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, POOL, fireplace, water and trash paid for $350 for the first six months. Must rent. 776-5330.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1st: Close to campus, rent $175. Call Molly, Julie, Lisa 537-1380.

AVAILABLE NOW! One-bedroom apartment, $200/ month. Furnished/ unfurnished. 537-1538 or 776-8725.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM for one or two people available January, $240. 776-8535.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Valtier, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1968 VW Bug, great condition, must see! Will take best offer. Call 1-494-8319 anytime.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT, 539-0216.

Mothers Against Drunk Driving
Riley County Chapter
presents

Candlelight Vigil of Remembrance and Hope

Manhattan
Town Center Mall
December 9, 1990
2:30 pm
Center Court

featuring:

The Charades.....A Barbershop Quartet
Law Enforcement Appreciation.....An Award Presentation
Reverend Susan Sawyer.....Invocations
Lighting of Candles.....A Dedication
Leslie Bennett.....Soloist
Pastor David Perkins.....Benediction

The Candlelight Vigil is sponsored by Mothers Against Drunk Driving in memory of those killed, injured, or are victims of an alcohol/drug related crash, and in hope of a less violent Holiday Season for all of us.

Free red ribbons will be available to the public to tie to the door handle, mirror or antenna of their car as a reminder not to drink and drive.

Remembering Those Killed and Injured
by Drunk Drivers

For more information please call:
Luis at 776-9033, Jean at 776-8915, Shirla at 436-8429, or Lynn at 776-9141.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to:
P.O. box 4645, Dept.
P102, Albuquerque,
NM 87196

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles. AMFM, air. $1,800. Call Arora 532-4429/ 539-8257.

1983 OLDS Firenza LX, loaded, automatic, air, AMFM cassette. Going to Saudi, must sell soon! Sacrifice for best offer. 1-239-4060 leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior. Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

FOR SALE by sealed bid. Two each, remanufactured Chevrolet V-8 cylinder heads; four each, Monroe gas-matic struts for 1981, 82, '83 Ford Fairmonts; two sets, Campbell tire chains—fits 13" and 14" radial tires; two sets, car chains—fits 14" and 15" tires. Items may be inspected at the Kansas State University Physical Facilities Garage, 17th and Claflin. Contact John Edwards 532-6382. Bids close Dec. 14, 1990 at 1p.m. Kansas State University reserves the right to accept or reject all bids.

6 Child Care

FACULTY COUPLE seeks nanny for our 3-year old son, 8:30a.m.—noon Monday, Wednesday, Friday and 8:30a.m.—4p.m. Tuesday, Thursday. Begin Jan. 7. Must provide own transportation to our home four blocks south of campus. $75 per week. 776-6396.

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195, 386SX $1,495, 386-25 $1,795. New complete system: 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1984.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM AT compatible,

(Continued from page 9)

YOUTH LEADER/ New membership coordinator for College Avenue United Methodist Church's active youth program and growing congregation. Requires out-going, organized, excellent communication skills, experience in working with youth. Bachelor's degree preferred. 25 hours per week. Starting date negotiable. For further information, call 539-4191. Application deadline: Jan. 4, 1991.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Queen-sized waterbed, padded rails, headboard, $150 or best offer. 776-0535.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

APARTMENT SALE: Saturday, 12/8/90, 9a.m. Honda 250cc scooter, king-sized waterbed with captains pedestal, other furniture, kitchen stuff, decor. 776-7155, 3116 Winston Place Apt. 9.

MOVING SALE: misc. items, furnishings and bed—like new. Call 539-0361. Prices are negotiable.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

NICE THREE-BEDROOM farm house, $300, 30 minutes out of town. Possible facilities for horses. 1-913-499-6661.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE, 1121 Clatlin, stove and refrigerator, off-street parking. 539-4154.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BART Simpson keys. Claim in room 123, Umberger.

FOUND: PRESCRIPTION eyeglasses in maroon carry case at Ninth and Moro on Dec. 3 (Monday). Call 539-8205 to claim.

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8a.m.—5p.m. Ask for Jackie. 532-6555.

LOST: HEAVY blue gray coat in Seaton Hall. Reward. 537-2968 or Seaton 204.

LOST: LARGE oval purple brooch in Farrell Library. Sentimental value—reward. Call Becca 539-1846.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

NICE 12x80 mobile home, some pets allowed, water, trash, lot rent paid. $225. 776-2130 after 5p.m.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

12x80 VERY nice, two sheds, large deck, fenced yard, low lot rent/taxes. Negotiable. 776-2130 after 5p.m.

SALE, TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 TREK 800 21-speed, toe clips, cage and bottle. Kryptonite lock, $300 or best offer. Also cycle shuttle carrier, $40. 539-4059 after 6p.m.

FOR SALE: 12-speed Detel bicycle. Extremely nice. 537-7278.

PEUGEOT 15-SPEED mountain bicycle. Used less than two months. $200. 776-3844 evenings.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER— Shimano components, lots of accessories. $375. 776-1638.

19 Music/Musicians

FOR SALE: One hundred watt Cerwin-Vega amp, $250. Marshall cabinet, $375. 776-1691.

FOR SALE: Yamaha wood clarinet, great condition, $150. Call Kim at 539-2456.

TAKAMINE STRAT-STYLE guitar with Dimarzio Humbucker. Peavey amp, Pedals. $200 or best offer. 537-8288.

TWO ELECTRIC bass guitars with cases. Foundation. 130 watt amp. Peavey TNT. Work 1-456-2264. Home 539-0157.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

ADRI CHRIE, it's a Christmas semi-formal. A time to wine and dine. I'll pick you up at six, and all night long you're mine. We'll party with Brad & Gail and dance the night away. We can't sleep late. We have a date to do it again on Saturday. Wes.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
ADRI LIS—Oh the memories of the past two years! I'm ready to give it another try, how about you? Weiner. P.S. Grab your semi-formal, dancing shoes and snuggly clothes, because we're partying all weekend long.

BILLY K—It's been six months, already. Can you believe it? Happy Anniversary, again. Karin.

CHARLIE: THANK YOU for six of the best months of my life, many more are sure to follow. Love, Sarah.

CHOIRMASTER STEVE G. Good luck tonight! Your fans from SNT.

DANNY B—Roses are peach, iris are blue, you're the sweetest, that's why I love you. Thanks for three wonderful years and our enduring love in Christ. Laura.

DICK ROD & Hawk: Word to your mother! The ADPIs are ready to rage, so c'mon, wild boys, get out of your cage. We'll warm you up with ice, ice, baby. At the ski lodge where we'll party like crazy. We'll get the drinks (you don't have to pay!) So, talk to ya' on Saturday. Show-n-Tell & Chiv.

HEY, PI Beta Phi Activists, your pledges can't wait! Throw on some black and white, and grab your date. We're excited to have a party for you, just meet at the Pi Phi house to get your first clue. What? Where's the party you say? Well! Sorry, can't tell ya' until Saturday. I may be generic, but we think it will be great! We pledges will look forward to seeing all of you—that is if you are capable of figuring out the first clue! See you there! Pi Phi love—pledges.

JEK—ALWAYS remember, "Wonderful Tonight," 4:30a.m., "I'm really going home now!" Most important, remember that I love you... forever! Jess.

OGNIB—MANDATORY meeting, topic: responsible drinking. 6:00 at OGNIB Headquarters. OGNIB love, Your President.

PAUL, ROSEY, Andy—Roses are red, Violets are blue, three hot Sigma Kappas are waiting for you! Madeline madress, champagne on ice, better be ready early, or we won't be nice! Joy, Beth, Liz.

SCOTT—THANKS for giving... and giving. It means more than you know. Teresa.

SIGMA MICHELLE—Happy 21st Birthday! Oh no, she's legal—so watch out all you 18-year-olds... for Michelle is on a manhunt! Sigma Love, Renee, Diane & Ellen.

SLY, IT'll be two and one-half years on X-mas day, we're the perfect couple what can I say. We'll journey to K.C. to be all alone. The ballet, shopping and the Elmes as our home. You make me so happy and treat me just right. Our weekend will be magical starting tonight. Beth.

SNOT—CAN you believe it? Three months ago tonight, put-put and then from now on—everything! (And lots more to come!) I love you, your Brat.

SUGAR—HAPPY B-Day. You finally made it! Thanks for a great year (almost), see you Saturday. Love, Mr. Fudd.

KAPPA TWINS—Glory Days will be a bliss, those high school years we'll reminisce. We'll have a hoot (and drink a few) at this late nite rendezvous. —Your Chopper Dates.

WORD TO OUR FATHERS—Dashing to the snow, Two actives we did take, Riding in the vans. Up to Iowa State. Sunday we'll be home, To make the house shine bright. Oh what fun it is to sneak in the middle of the night —See ya! AKL Pledges.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

ADULT PERSIANS for sale, $75 each or best offer. Free female puppies. Carin Turner, Cocker mix. 1-765-3873 days, 1-765-2239 evenings.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS
PETS N' STUFF
1000 W. 12th St. 539-9294
OPEN: Mon. 10-6 p.m.

AKC REGISTERED buff color Cocker Spaniel puppies. Reserve yours now for Christmas. 1-494-2838.

AKC REGISTERED Male Rottweiler puppy needs loving home, 8 weeks old, $400. 1-456-8259 after 6p.m.

ONE PUREBRED Chow puppy left. Wormed and has shots. Best reasonable offer. 776-2497 ask for Jim.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters. $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851. Clatin.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawton. 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

WRITING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

ONE FEMALE, non-smoking roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus, $132/month plus one-third utilities. First month free. 537-4634.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house to share with female roommate. Spring semester. Own room. $175/month plus utilities. 776-0595.

FEMALE: CLOSE to campus, and very close to Aggieville... $150/month... utilities average $10-15/month. 537-4144.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share a nice two-story, two-bedroom duplex, fully furnished, quiet neighborhood, $200/month and one-half utilities. 539-7382.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate wanted, close to campus and Aggieville. $143 plus one-fourth utilities, available immediately. Call 539-4851.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $140/month, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice, furnished apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus. Available Jan. 1, $131.25 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8983.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment, $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for January—July. Own room. No deposit. Rent $165 plus one-third utilities. 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130 per month, own room, newly remodeled. 776-3835.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, quiet neighborhood. $190/month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room, $160/month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 539-8766 after 5p.m., Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upper-classman or graduate student, own bedroom. $150 a month. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

HELP! I'm going home next semester and am looking for a female roommate to share apartment with two great roommates! Own bedroom, $150/month. Call Dawn at 539-5855.

JAN. 1, own room, $148 plus utilities, near campus. 537-4510 Carlos.

MALE, CHRISTIAN, roommate to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private room, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $195. 537-8048.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $153.33/month, one-third utilities, own room, close campus. 539-1415.

MALE ROOMMATE—$150/month, one-third utilities, private bedroom, close to campus, by City Park. 776-3797.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $175/month plus one-third utilities, own room, available Jan. 1. Mark 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130/month, one-third utilities, no deposit, own room, close to campus. 539-5309.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share three-bedroom apartment, own room. $140/month, one-third utilities. Close to campus and Aggieville. No deposit necessary. Call 539-0928.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $150 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/month. Own room, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1661.

MATURE MALE roommate(s) wanted. Now or Jan. 1. Off-street parking, washer/dryer. Two blocks from campus. $125 plus utilities and deposit. 539-5727.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE House with all the extras. Few hours babysitting in exchange for partial rent. 776-3860.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog, P.O. Box 1211.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus $175/month plus one-third utilities. Park Place. Call 776-1956 leave message.

ROOMMATE—GRADUATE or older student to share three-bedroom house with two others. 539-7232.

ROOMMATE NEEDED: Own room, water and heat paid, $150/month plus one-half electric. One and one-half blocks from campus. 776-5526.

ROOMMATE FOR a large two-bedroom apartment, $200/month. Call Tony 776-8749.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester, $187.50/month plus one-half utilities. Own room in furnished apartment. No deposit. 10 minute walk from campus. 5 minute walk from Aggieville. Call Scott or Julie. 539-3277.

ROOMMATE—PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-6886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

SPRING SEMESTER roommate wanted, four-bedroom house, own room, next to KSU, $135/month. 776-1252.

THREE MALES to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private rooms, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $200. 537-0472.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed for spring semester. Own rooms. One block from campus, washer/dryer. $125 per month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8094.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Available January—May. Close to campus. $185/each plus utilities. Call 776-6349.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

WASHBURN nursing student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, in/outdoor pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Matching almond Kenmore washer and dryer. Large capacity. 539-7961.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, G.I. boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Mary's Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIMS JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Amerprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4244.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola phonograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. In no answer, leave message.

WANTED: SANTA for small Christmas party. Must supply outfit. Pay negotiable. Contact Linda P. at 532-6555 days, 539-6600 evenings.

WHITE GE refrigerator, excellent condition, 5-7 years old, must sell. $200/ best offer. 537-9387.

26 Stereo Equipment

NEW PIONEER KE-2022 car stereo with auto-reverse, 15 station presets, and digital display. $150. New Pioneer BP-450 graphic equalizer amplifier. 25w+25w $75. Call Ken 537-8313.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Nice one-bedroom apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus, three blocks from Aggieville. $230/month negotiable. 776-8704, Alan.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus. Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JANUARY, furnished, spacious one-bedroom apartment, next to campus, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Female wanted to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, less than a block from campus and down the street from Aggieville. Half rent and utilities, total less than dorms. 539-9535.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment. Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom

Gulf

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
American troops.

Hussein did not say when the foreigners would be freed, but the Iraqi parliament routinely accepts his recommendations, and the release was expected soon after the vote.

Hussein's announcement appeared to be an attempt to influence the direct U.S.-Iraq talks scheduled in Washington and Baghdad for later this month.

"The release of all hostages would be a very good thing, but the problem is the aggression against Kuwait, and the man must leave Kuwait without condition," Bush said of Hussein.

"No single hostage should have been taken in the first place, and I hope ... Hussein understands that his hostage policy has incurred the hostility of the whole world," Bush said at a news conference in Santiago, Chile, his latest stop on a South American tour.

He said there is no linkage between an Iraqi pullout from Kuwait and an Israeli withdrawal from Palestinian territories, which Hussein has demanded as a condition for leaving Kuwait.

The United States will not give Hussein some face-saving way out of something he shouldn't have gotten into in the first place, Bush said.

In Washington, Baker told Congress that releasing the hostages "does not lessen, nor should it, our determination that Iraq's aggression against Kuwait should be reversed."

Britain, Spain and Ireland welcomed Hussein's move.

The wife of one detained American said her husband in Baghdad was absolutely elated and thrilled at Hussein's decision. "I feel a little free now for the first time in months," said Doris Whatley of Shreveport, La., whose husband, Donald, called her from Baghdad after the announcement.

Concert

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

there," he said, "but apparently you can't find them just anywhere."

He said the main reason for the long delay since the last album was a difficult period of adjustment starting soon after its release.

The band went through a lot of changes with its manager, agent and record label.

"We went, in a very short period of time, from being just fine to having some major problems," Palmar said. "It took us a good year to regroup, and that's when Clem came along."

"We've just had a lot of things hanging over us, holding us back, but I see a light at the end of the tunnel," he said laughing.

On the current tour, the band plays a mixture of old and new songs.

"The mix is about 50-50," Palmar said. "We use these shows to test out our new music. We combine in the new songs with the older ones and look for audience reaction."

Choppers

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ley. The Hip is capable of seating up to 32 people and can also be heavily armed.

"With Mi-24s, Mi-8s form the standard equipment of Soviet tactical helicopter regiments ...," according to Jane's.

The Soviet Union has supplied Iraq with Hips and Hinds.

Jane's quotes the Red Star, the newspaper of the Soviet Defense Ministry, as stating about the Hind, "the correlation between tank and helicopter losses is 12:1 or even 19:1 in the helicopter's favor."

The Hind was used in Afghanistan against the Afghan resistance, primarily in its gunship role, Daly said.

"You had no tank-killing role in Afghanistan," he said. "On the other hand, one of the primary interests of the Iraqi armed forces would be to chew up any tanks we send up the Basra-Kuwait road."

Daly said the role of a helicopter like the Hind would be important because of the differences between desert warfare and other types of land warfare.

"Desert warfare is the closest approximation land warfare has to war at sea," he said. "You're not moving in and occupying large areas in force. You're occupying lines of communication and cities."

The United States may have obtained the helicopters from Eastern European nations or through the People's Republic of China, which has low-level military contacts with the United States, Daly said.

"We certainly didn't get it crated and ready to go from the U.S.S.R.," he said.

Game

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

Maurice Brittan and junior guard Marcus Zeigler grabbed the spotlight in Wednesday's 81-68 win over Wyoming. The pair was on the court when K-State took control of the game with a 26-5 in the first half.

It was Brittan's K-State debut after missing the first three games with a knee injury.

"Their performances weren't really a surprise to me," Altman said. "I knew they were both capable of doing what they did. Maurice has messed up our practices because our second team has been beating our first team lately."

The first teamers took care of business against the Cowboys. Jean Derouillere led the 'Cats with 21 points, Jeff Wires had 13, and Wylie Howard added a career-high 12.

K-STATE NOTES: Transfer forward Deryl Cunningham underwent nearly two hours of oral surgery Thursday morning in Topeka. Altman said a cyst, measuring 3 inches in length by 1 inch in width, and six teeth were removed.

Cunningham, who is sitting out this season under NCAA transfer rules after coming to K-State from DePaul, is expected to be unable to practice for three months.

Amigos

Holiday Glasses

59¢

with any Drink Purchase

Buy 5 and Get 6th Glass FREE

See Store for Details

MEN'S SILK BOXERS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro Lingerie AGGIEVILLE

Happy Hanukkah
From The K-State Union

25% Off Hanukkah Cards
30% Off Jewish Calendars and Select Books

Now thru December 12 at the K-State Union Bookstore

K-State Union Bookstore
We appreciate your support! Your dollars help us to sponsor student services, programs and activities.

Pizza Hut
DELIVERY

Makin' it great!

CALL THE LOCATION NEAREST YOU.

•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 539-7447
•3RD & MORO 776-4334

WE'RE GIVING AWAY

FREE POPCORN

and FREE SKI BUCKS

DECEMBER 8, 1990
AGGIE SKI & SPORT

ALL YOU NEED TO DO IS BRING A CAN OF FOOD OR A DONATION TO AGGIE SKI & SPORT AND YOU'LL RECEIVE A FREE BAG OF POPCORN AND A $5.00 SKI BUCK. ALL DONATIONS GO TO THE MAYOR'S HOLIDAY TREE IN SUPPORT OF THE FLINT HILLS BREADBASKET.

LIVE MODELS
IN THE WINDOW FROM 12-4

Treat Yourself To A "Triple Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

STRECKER GALLERY

unique gifts
in all price ranges

332 Poyntz

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

PHOTOJOURNALISM

Apply now for spring 1991

Staff and Freelance Photographer positions for the Kansas State Collegian and Royal Purple.

Pick up application and sign up for an interview in Kedzie 103.

Deadline for returning applications Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Bring portfolio to your scheduled interview on Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Questions: Contact Margaret Clarkin, 532-6556

YOU'RE INVITED

to a

PJ PARTY

TOMORROW SAT., DEC. 8

•PJs & Gowns will be presented by live models Noon-4 p.m.

•10% of any warm PJ or gown purchase will be donated to the Flinthills Bread Basket.

•Enjoy the Aggieville Street Carolers.

Patricia's UNDERCOVER Lingerie
1224 MORO AGGIEVILLE

GIFTS WRAPPED FREE

The End of Your Search For a Friendly Church
First Congregational Church

Juliette & Poyntz

Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m.

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Rev. Jerry Deffenbaugh
537-7006

FIRST CHURCH of the NAZARENE
College Class 9:30 a.m.
Worship Services 10:50 a.m. & 6 p.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m.
1000 Fremont *Nursery Available 539-2851

CHURCH OF CHRIST
Christian Campus Ministry
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
College Class-Money, Sex & Power: A Biblical Perspective
Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m.
2510 Dickens Ave. 539-6581

St. Isidore's University Chapel
Catholic Student Center

Sunday Masses 9:30, 11 a.m., 5 p.m.
Saturday 5 p.m.

Daily Mass-M, Tu, Th, F 4:30 p.m.
Wed. 11 a.m. at St. Mary Hospital
Wed. 10 p.m. evening prayer

Confessions-1/2 hr. before daily mass.
Rev. Norbert Diab, Chaplain
Sister Rose Walters, C.S.A.

Peace Lutheran Church
2500 Kimball Ave.
Worship at 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m.

Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan
MCC Chapel S.W. corner 14th & Anderson
Steve Ratliff, Pastor
Worship 9:30 a.m.
Sunday School 11 a.m.
776-2086
Nursery Provided

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH
2901 Dickens Ave. 776-0424
Pastor Don Pahl & Mike Tukey
Worship 8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m.
Fellowship Hour Sun. 6 p.m.
Family Night Wed. 7 p.m.

Trinity Presbyterian Church
1110 College Ave.
Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m.
Young Adult Class 9:30 a.m.
539-3921

First Baptist Church

Sunday Worship 11 a.m.

Church School 9:45 a.m.

2121 Blue Hills Rd.

539-8691

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH

Worship 8 and 10:30 a.m.

Sunday School 9:30 a.m.

Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.

1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays

CARE CELLS (Small Groups)

6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays

3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

Anglican/Episcopal Community in Manhattan
St. Paul's Episcopal Church
& St. Francis/Canterbury Episcopal Fellowship at KSU

Sixth & Poyntz
776-9427 or 537-0593

Sunday Services -

8 A.M. Holy Eucharist I

9:30 Christian Education Classes (for all ages)

10:30 A.M. Choral Eucharist Rite II (Nursery available at 10:30 service)

Especially for KSU Students & Faculty

5 P.M. Sunday, Informal Eucharist followed by light supper and fellowship.

7:10 A.M. Tuesday & Thursday, Morning Prayer, Danforth Chapel, KSU

Valleyview Community Church
Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m.
Ramada Inn, lower level 17th and Anderson
For more information call Dan Walter 776-0112

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
Worship at 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m. (for all ages)
10th & Poyntz 537-8532

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP OF MANHATTAN
10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School
Nursery provided, everyone welcome
481 Zeandale Rd.
On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Church School-9:45 a.m.
Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.
Disciples of Christ
5th and Humboldt 776-8790

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Worship Saturday 6 p.m.
Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m.
-Bible Class-
Sun. 9:30 a.m.-Thurs. 7-8:30 p.m.

539-2604 330 N. Sunset

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH
9:15 a.m. Sunday School
10:30 a.m. Worship Service
6 p.m. Training Hour
7 p.m. Worship Service
2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month)
9:45 College Church School
8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship
Nursery provided for all services
John D. Stoneking, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821

GLASS IMPRESSIONS
1128 Laramie Aggieville
Mon.-Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

IMAGINATIVE & WELL DESIGNED GIFT SOLUTIONS

Handmade marbles • Lead crystal prisms
Fun designer clocks • A wide variety of hand blown glass • And much more...

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Monday, December 10, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 71

Thunderstruck

Mike Welchans/Staff

RIGHT: AC/DC lead guitar player Angus Young plays to the crowd in its opening song, Thunderstruck, Sunday evening in Bramlage Coliseum. ABOVE: Lead vocalist Brian Johnson and the rest of AC/DC played a two-hour show to an eager crowd in the nearly sold-out arena. See related story on page 3A.

Hostages on their way home

By The Associated Press

BAGHDAD, Iraq — The first Americans to be freed under an Iraqi decree releasing all foreign hostages left Baghdad Sunday on a U.S.-chartered flight for Frankfurt, Germany, ending a four-month ordeal.

"I am stunned and still cannot believe it, it seems like a miracle," said Lyonell Hoffman, 51, of Melbourne, Fla., who had worked as a contractor in Kuwait before Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion.

About 175 Americans were among an estimated 325 people aboard the jumbo jet. The Americans were expected to spend the night in Frankfurt and travel on to the United States on Monday.

U.S. officials said they planned to charter another flight in three or four days to evacuate the rest of the estimated 750 Americans in Iraq and Kuwait.

The first foreigners to leave Baghdad under the decree issued by Saddam Hussein were a group of 240 hostages, mostly Italians, who left aboard an Italian-chartered jumbo jet for Rome earlier Sunday.

However, Western diplomats complained that Iraqi authorities had thrown up some last-minute bureaucratic roadblocks to the exodus.

Foreigners in cities other than Baghdad were told they must obtain exit visas from those cities. Those who had been under work contracts were told that Iraqi law requires them to present a letter releasing them from their obligations.

Iraq has refused U.S. requests to waive visa requirements for freed hostages, and the processing of the visas alone had been expected to delay some departures for days.

However, diplomats said Iraqi officials were working quickly Sunday, processing an estimated 80 exit visas an hour. One diplomat said it normally takes up to half an hour to process a single exit visa.

"They clearly have a different set of instructions now," said the diplomat.

In addition to the Americans aboard the Frankfurt-bound jet, airport sources said passengers included 93 Britons, 31 Canadians, 12 Irish, five Greeks, three Austrians and one each from Argentina, Denmark, Italy, the Netherlands and Switzerland.

About 20 former American hostages landed in Houston early Sunday after flying out of Baghdad a day earlier aboard a jet chartered by former Treasury Secretary John Connally, who was in Iraq on a private hostage-freeing mission.

Their release was arranged prior to Iraq's decree freeing all foreigners.

"God bless America!" said one of the arriving Americans, Bill Nelson of Los Angeles. He said he was held at a munitions plant about 35 miles south of Baghdad.

Three U.S. Embassy employees in Iraq also were on the flight, along with relatives of the former hostages.

About 8,000 Westerners had been detained since Iraq's invasion of Kuwait, including about 600 who were held at strategic sites in an effort to deter any U.S. attack. The hostages included about 900 Americans as well as other Westerners, Eastern Europeans and Japanese.

Voice of America broadcasts advised Americans in Kuwait, including those who have been in hiding since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of the emirate, that they could leave on Sunday's charter flights.

But diplomats said it was not immediately clear if Americans who had taken refuge in the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait would be allowed to leave the mission. Iraqi troops have sealed off the embassy since it refused to close in August.

Hussein said Thursday that all foreigners could leave, including those held as human shields at military targets and those in hiding. Iraq's parliament endorsed the proposal on Friday.

Team wins 1st place in judging

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

K-State's meat-judging team captured the 1990 National Judging Title at the International Meat Judging Contest in Dakota City, Neb.

The national title is the sixth in school history. The last one was 1986.

K-State has been competing in the international contest for 63 years.

Fifteen teams competed this year, all major agriculture schools or institutions with an animal sciences and industry department.

"The key to their success is that they started out with a base and they continued to improve contest after contest, and it all came together at the national meet," said John Unruh, team coach and assistant professor of animal sciences and industry.

President Jon Wefald said, "This first-place finish in national competition is a tribute to the hard work put in by these students and professor John Unruh throughout the entire year."

The teams competed for top honors in beef, lamb- and pork-judging, as well as meat-cut specifications and beef-carass grading on Nov. 18.

To earn first place, the K-State team placed first in pork-judging, meat-cut specifications and total reasons. Reasons are written explanations of why the team placed the cuts they way they did in five classes.

The K-State team also placed second in beef-judging; fourth in beef-grading; fifth in total placings and sixth in lamb-judging.

Paul Ritter, sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine, finished as high individual overall. Ritter tied for fourth in lamb-judging and tied for fifth in pork-judging.

"Being part of a team is one of the greatest feelings you could ever have," Ritter said. "All the hard work that the team has put in for preparation finally paid off."

Other team members that placed were: Ryan Michaelis, sophomore in animal sciences and industry, ninth overall; Stacy Stuewe, junior in animal sciences and industry, first in total reasons, second in specifications and beef-judging and 11th overall; Julie Bartlett, senior in animal sciences and industry, tied for fifth in total placings and 16th overall.

Parker awarded Rhodes scholar

By Shannon Heim
Staff Reporter

For some students, dreams do come true.

Kristy Parker, senior in history, was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship after final competition in Minnesota over the weekend.

"It all still seems kind of imaginary — sort of like one long extended fantasy," she said.

Parker was one of four winners selected from 12 finalists in the Midwestern region. The scholarship is awarded to 32 students in the United States and provides more than $40,000 for two years of study at Oxford University in England.

Parker said she hopes to get a master's degree in social and women's history at Oxford, but she isn't sure if she'll be involved in any special projects.

Parker returned from Minnesota Sunday after a lengthy interview process Saturday.

"Friday is a 'getting-to-know-you' day, and then on Saturday, everyone has a 20-minute interview in the morning," she said.

Parker said she and four other applicants were called back for more interviews with the judges Saturday afternoon.

Parker said the interviews in the afternoon were much more rigorous than those in the morning.

"The second time was much different," she said. "They really went after me and challenged everything I said."

Parker said her second interviews lasted 45 minutes — much longer than anyone else's.

"I don't know if they were trying to see if I could stand the pressure or if I would withstand my position on issues, but after that, I sort of figured I'd shot myself in the foot," she said.

The follow-up interviews, however, proved beneficial.

Parker said four of the five students called back for a second interview were chosen to receive the scholarships.

Parker is not the only Rhodes Scholar K-State has produced.

Last year, K-State was the only public university to have two Rhodes scholars, and in the past 16 years, it has produced eight of the nine Rhodes Scholars from Kansas.

"K-State is known as a powerhouse in prestigious scholarship competition," President Jon Wefald said in a news release, "and for a university whose purpose is academic excellence, this is a position to be coveted."

Foundation awards grant

Researchers design education model for science-teaching

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

The National Science Foundation has awarded a $1.67 million grant to K-State researchers to design a new model of elementary-level science-teaching.

"NSF is really funding us to create and solidate the model, to be sure it works and why it works, and then spread it to other schools for their use," said Emmett Wright, associate dean of the College of Education and project director.

Most grants are usually given to a specific college within the University, and the work is done mainly through that college. But NSF has given K-State colleges an unique chance to work together on this project, Wright said.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM — An Israeli soldier was killed and two were wounded when bombs exploded outside military headquarters in the occupied town of Bethlehem on Sunday, the third anniversary of the Palestinian uprising.

In other violence, an Arab was fatally shot as he tried to strangle an Israeli policeman and grab his rifle Sunday, the army said. Relatives said he was shot while standing at the door of his home.

Soldiers also clashed with masked youths in the West Bank village of Bani Naim, shooting one protester in the leg, the army said.

Two homemade bombs went off in the West Bank town of Bethlehem at about 6:15 p.m. as an army patrol passed the gate of the military base along the Jerusalem-Bethlehem highway, the army said. There were no immediate further details.

Curfews confined more than a million Arabs to their homes in the occupied territories, some for the third straight day, in an army effort to quell violence on the anniversary of the in-science and tech is applied in the environment," Wright said.

Visits are planned for the hospital, animal sciences and industry units and the sewage-breakdown plant, Wright said.

K-State and the Manhattan/Ogden school district are working on the project together.

The planning committee contains people from the College of Education, other colleges, clinical instructors, master teachers and area principals. These representatives will decide how courses should be designed and taught, Wright said.

The selection committee first consisted of the district principals who chose the appropriate elementary schools to best benefit the grant's

■ See GRANT, Page 3A

Exploding bomb injures soldiers

tefاده, or uprising.

"At the moment, we have beefed up forces, and increased patrols, lookouts and roadblocks," said a lieutenant enforcing the curfew on the Dheisheh refugee camp in the occupied West Bank.

Soldiers fired at stone-throwers breaking the curfew in the Gaza Strip village of Beni Suhaila, wounding 25-year-old Muhammad Mardi al-Madani in the right thigh, Arab reports said.

BRIEFLY

World

Lithuanian party renamed

MOSCOW (AP) — The Independent Communist Party of Lithuania, which broke ranks with the Kremlin last year, has renamed itself the Democratic Labor Party, the official Tass news agency reported Sunday.

The party was formed in December 1989 after a split in the 200,000-member Lithuanian Communist Party, with one side remaining loyal to Moscow and the other reorganizing along social democratic lines.

Lithuania declared its independence from the Soviet Union in March.

Scarlett O'Hara's hat to be sold

LONDON (AP) — The black bonnet worn by Vivien Leigh as the tempestuous Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With The Wind" will be auctioned this week.

The actress wore the Christian Dior creation in the box office blockbuster and for publicity stills with co-star Clark Gable, who played Rhett Butler.

When filming finished, Leigh gave the hat to London theater critic Alan Dent, her close friend and biographer, a spokesman for Phillips auctioneers said.

When Dent died in 1978, Scarlett's bonnet passed to an elderly couple in Cumbria county, northern England, who had given Dent a home after he retired.

Phillips will auction it on Friday in Chester, 180 miles northwest of London, with some of Dent's letters and theater memorabilia, said the spokesman.

Defending champ wins game

LYON, France (AP) — Garry Kasparov won the 18th game Sunday in the world chess championship, moving into the lead as rival Anatoly Karpov abandoned the game in the second day of play.

The victory gave Kasparov, the defending champion, 9.5 points against Karpov's 8.5 points.

The first player to gain 12.5 points wins the championship and $1.7 million of a $3 million purse. In the event of a tie, Kasparov retains his title.

Experts said that Kasparov, playing white, was in the more advantageous position when the game was adjourned Saturday night.

Nation

Soviet rocket causes light

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The body of a Soviet rocket created a brilliant flash of light as it fell toward Earth early Sunday, officials and witnesses said.

People in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas, Kansas and Colorado reported seeing the light at about 12:45 a.m. Witnesses described the sighting as a bright, reddish object with a long tail. Some said they could make out its cylinderlike shape.

It was the second unusual sky sighting since Friday, when residents in Illinois, Michigan, Kentucky and Ohio saw a dazzling blue-green light that scientists later identified as a fireball — an object similar to a meteor.

U.S. Air Force Maj. David Griffard of the North American Aerospace Defense Command identified Sunday's sighting as a Soviet rocket body. The agency is tracking about 6,500 objects in space through the U.S. Space Command's worldwide network of radar and electrical sensors, he said.

Griffard said the rocket body disintegrated shortly after it entered the Earth's atmosphere. He said he didn't have any further information about the rocket.

Baker wants meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State James Baker III said Sunday that if Saddam Hussein does not agree to hold a meeting with him by Jan. 3, it will show that the Iraqi leader is not serious about averting a war in the Persian Gulf.

The Iraqi ambassador to the United Nations, Abdul Amir Al-Anbari, would not rule out scheduling the meeting for that date. But he predicted that if war does come, the United States could suffer in a single day the number of casualties it bore during the entire Vietnam War. More than 55,000 Americans died in the conflict in Southeast Asia.

Baker and national security adviser Brent Scowcroft said that once Iraq leaves Kuwait, the United States will seek to create an international system of monitoring Iraq's advanced-weapons programs.

Baker said his anticipated session in Baghdad with Saddam should not occur after Jan. 3 because if it did, it would not give Iraq enough time to withdraw from its oil-rich neighbor before the United Nation's Jan. 15 deadline.

Region

Group protests gulf presence

WICHITA (AP) — About a dozen members of area peace groups protested the U.S. presence in the Persian Gulf this weekend outside an oil refinery.

Protesters gathered across the street Saturday from a Derby oil refinery, holding signs reading "27 Lives Per Gallon of Crude" and waving U.S. flags.

"Until we come up with a decent energy policy in this country, we'll all be held hostage to oil," said Michael Sprong of the Newton Area Peace Center.

The Derby refinery was not the target of the demonstration, said Mary Harren, a member of Kansans for Peace and Justice. "It just reminds people of the real reason we're in the Gulf," she said.

"There's a small group here today, but there's a growing contingent of people all over the country who want the administration to know we aren't willing to kill over $20-a-barrel oil," she said.

Shooting under investigation

HAYSVILLE (AP) — Police say they are still trying to determine how a traffic argument escalated into a shooting death this weekend.

A police officer who had arrived to investigate a traffic complaint shot a Haysville man to death in the front yard of his home Friday night.

Police Capt. Mike McElroy said Saturday that the officer, who has not been identified, was sent to the home of Datton Wilson, 44, after a motorist flagged down an officer and complained that Wilson was trying to run someone off the road.

The officer talked with with Wilson, who was holding a gun, before firing his gun twice about 8 p.m., police said. Wilson was pronounced dead about an hour later.

Woman dies in house fire

DEVON (AP) — A 50-year-old woman died early Sunday after a fire at her rural home.

Authorities were withholding the woman's name until relatives could be notified. She apparently was the only person in the house when it caught fire.

Officials with the Devon Fire Department said the house was engulfed in flames when they arrived about 6 a.m.

An official from the state fire marshal's office had arrived at the scene to determine a cause.

Devon is northwest of Fort Scott in Bourbon County.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

10 Monday

■ Alpha Zeta will meet at 7 p.m. in Call 205.

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ French Table will meet from 12:05 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in Union Stateroom 2.

■ Water Ski Team will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 208.

■ International Club will meet at 12:30 a.m. in the International Student Center.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Yuanguai Li at 3:30 p.m. in Throckmorton 124. The dissertation topic is "Measurement and Modeling of Vegetative Canopy Spectral Reflectance."

■ Kappa Delta Pi will meet at 8 p.m. in Bluemont 217/225.

■ Students from Out-of-State will meet at 7 p.m. at the Union information desk to discuss a trip to Kansas City.

■ Center for Basic Cancer Research deadline for research award applications is Dec. 10. Applications are available in Ackert 234.

■ Pi Sigma Epsilon will have an executive board meeting at 6 p.m. at BoWinkle's.

■ Chimes Junior Honorary will meet at 8 p.m. at 1409 McCain Lane. Bring snacks.

■ Triangles will have elections at 9 p.m. at the Triangle fraternity.

■ Spanish Club will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

11 Tuesday

■ Society of Creative Anachronism will have a Chatelaine's meeting at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

■ FENIX Adult Student Program/OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 213.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, sunny. Very mild. High around 60. Variable winds 5 to 10 mph. Tonight, clear. Low in the low 30s. Tuesday, sunny and warm. High 60 to 65.

BUSHWACKER'S

Comedy Invasion

Mon., Tues., & Wednesday
9 p.m.

Jerry Dye

Before 5 p.m. 539-4321
18 to enter, 21 to drink
Call for Reservations 531 N. Manhattan
After 5 p.m. 539-9727

FREE PIZZA!
BUY ONE & GET ONE FREE
Specify Original "Golden Braided" or new "Thin Style" Crust

SPECIAL COUPON

PYRAMID PIZZA

MONDAY MANIA

Buy Any PYRAMID PIZZA & Get
The Second Pizza (of equal value)
FREE!
Good Mondays Only

Delivery—
Fast, Friendly & Free!
539-4888

12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

We Pile It On!

Experience
The
New Vision

A Matter of Choice

- Air Conditioning & Refrigeration
- Automotive Collision Repair
- Automotive Technology
- Building Trades
- Computer Operations
- Computer Programming
- Computer Repair
- Drafting Technology
- Electrical Power & Distribution
- Graphic Arts Technology
- Marketing Education
- Office Technology
- Practical Nursing
- Welding

Call Today for
Fall Enrollment
913-539-7431
or 1-800-358-3079
extension 373

MANHATTAN VO-TECH

L.I.F.E.

Kansas State University
LIFESTYLE IMPROVEMENT
THROUGH FITNESS ENHANCEMENT

SPRING
SCHEDULE
1991

The L.I.F.E. PLUS Program

Hydrobics	M-F	7:30 a.m.
	T-Th	2:30 p.m.
		Pools
Aerobic/Flex & Tone	M-W-F	12:1 p.m.
		Nat. 004
Flex & Tone	T-Th	12:12:45 p.m.
		Nat. 004
Walk/Jog Program	M-F	Noontime

The L.I.F.E. Program

Early Bird - 6-7:30 a.m.

Noontime - 11:30-1 p.m.

Evening - 6 p.m.-9:30 p.m.

Also included in the L.I.F.E. program fee are free weekly noontime blood pressure checks, a monthly newsletter, free cholesterol screening and fitness seminars. In addition, the L.I.F.E. program offers a variety of health and fitness assessments. Showers, lockers and towels are available. Class registration at Ahearn Equipment Cage. Call 532-6765 for more information.  Sponsored by the Center for Exercise Research in the P.E.L.S. Department.

Baker to retire after long career

By Candace Plett
Collegian Reporter

Although she may consider cakes and cookies more fun, Evelyn Daniels loves the challenge of making bread.

"I like working with the yeast bread. It's like an art, I think. Not everyone can do it," she said. "It's a nice product, and it's something you can be proud of."

Daniels, an employee of the K-State Union bakery for more than 25 years, will retire in January.

"I liked making biscuits, too. I was a good biscuit-maker," she said.

"You have to have a love for that stuff. It's like anything," said Daniels, a tall, slender woman with silver highlights in her dark, curly hair.

When asked about the recipes she has seen ruined in her years at the bakery, a far-away look enters her light-blue eyes.

"I could probably write a book," Daniels said. "I had a lot of laughs and memories."

She started in 1957 before the facilities were remodeled. At that time, all the cooking was done by hand.

"I was one of the old-timers," she said. "I saw a lot of new supervisors come and go. I was like one of the fixtures there."

Her years of experience and her knack for responsibility made her a leader among other workers, said Barb Depew, food-services production manager.

"She was very conscientious of the work she did," Depew said. "She took a lot of the workload on herself. She put personal pride into every item that left the bakery."

Depew said she will be missed at the bakery.

"The bakery is an area where there really is an art to it," she said, echoing Daniels' own philosophy. "Those skills are hard to replace."

Along with training student workers and making sure everything got done, Daniels baked a lot of the popular crown rolls.

"They were automatically served at banquets," Daniels said. "They went over big. We had crowns go all over the United States."

Over the years, the bakery has been modernized and more varieties of food have been offered. Daniels said, however, that the bakery's busy and demanding work environment has not changed. She said the kitchen uses an average of 300 pounds of flour a day during the winter months.

"The more hectic it is, the more I get into it. I need that," she said. "Time went by so fast when I was at the Union."

Despite the rigors of her job, Daniels said her family always had homemade breads.

J. Matthew Rhea/Collegian

Evelyn Daniels has been cooking cakes, cookies and breads like this Swedish tea ring in the K-State Union bakery for 25 years. Daniels is planning to retire following this semester.

"I still baked a lot on weekends and for holidays," she said.

She explained that her daughter — the youngest of four children — recently asked her to prepare a special bread for Thanksgiving.

"I guess (cooking is) just not in the genes," Daniels said.

Originally from Kentucky, she now lives with her husband in rural Manhattan near the Deep Creek community. In a valley surrounded by rolling hills, she seems content.

"I never get tired of looking at it. When I look out in the spring, the hills are so pretty and green," she said, "and then when they turn brown in the fall — they're still kind of pretty."

Crown roll becomes tradition

By Candace Plett
Collegian Reporter

Among recognized traditions at the University are mouth-watering classics made by the K-State Union Food Services Bakery. One such item is a crown roll — a tall, pull-apart crown of golden-brown cinnamon bread topped with maraschino cherries.

About 80 percent of catered meals include the rolls, said Malley Sisson, director of food services.

She calls them the signature bread of the Union, and that people often remember K-State for its crown rolls.

"Nobody else can make them like we can. They just don't turn out like ours," she said. "In many people's minds, they associate those rolls with K-State."

One person who makes many of the rolls, along with other foods, is Joy Berry, of Manhattan. One of five full-time employees, she arrives at the bakery each day at 5 a.m.

"Sometimes, it seems like I've worked here my whole life," said Berry, describing the hectic days before Thanksgiving. She said 70 rolls had to be prepared for the Tuesday before the holiday.

Still, Berry seems at ease amid large pans of unbaked cookies and breads, rolling out sourdough buns for sandwiches in the newly opened

Union Station with the smell of sugar cookies in the air.

She said three students work during the morning, and three others replace them in the afternoon. Their duties include frying twist doughnuts, working with the bread and cookies and making crisped-rice treats.

Nothing remains in the kitchen for long unless it is being frozen to be sold later. Baked goods will be distributed to the cafeteria, Union Station, catered meals on campus and the Bluemont Room buffet. In addition, refreshment orders for the home or office and orders of specialty items are filled daily.

Sisson leafed through a book of items that can be ordered from the bakery — everything from boxed lunches to butterscotch topping.

"We're unique because we're so diverse," she said, adding that the Union cafeteria is the largest made-from-scratch bakery in Manhattan.

Frances Posch adds another unique dimension to bakery services. While she may not turn out pans of biscuits, she finds a creative outlet in making and decorating cakes.

Posch, who has been at the bakery for 10 years, usually does two to 10 cakes each week, mostly for birthdays.

"Ninja turtles have been big, and I do a lot of balloons on birthday cakes," she said.

Angus Young gives intense rock show at AC/DC concert

By Rod Gillespie
Arts & Entertainment Editor

The people handing out anti-AC/DC flyers outside Bramlage Coliseum last night don't know what they missed.

Fans who do know paid little attention to the flyers — which urged concertgoers not to take the "Highway to Hell" — and saw one of the most intense performances to hit Manhattan for quite a while.

The Manhattan stop of AC/DC's "The Razor's Edge" tour gave Flint Hills Heschers all they could ask for and more, combining electrifying performances with a spectacular stage show.

The band played a broad cross-section of music from their 14-year career, mixing early titles like "High Voltage," "TNT" and "Dirty Deeds Done Dirt Cheap" with recent tunes from their latest album, "The Razor's Edge."

The toughest job in Bramlage Sunday night probably belonged to the spotlight operators, who tried futilely to track the movements of frenetic lead guitarist Angus Young.

The diminutive guitarist raced back and forth across the stage, defying attempts to illuminate him. During a stirring, set-ending version of "Rocker," Young even ran to the back of the Coliseum for a spasmodic solo on a rising platform.

AC/DC's singer, Brian Johnson, made a valiant effort to cut through Bramlage's barn-like acoustics with his ragged voice. Unfortunately, his words were all but indecipherable in the reverberating wall of sound.

Bassist Cliff Williams and rhythm guitarist Malcolm Young hardly strayed beyond five feet of the drum kit. In the end, it was a little man in the private school uniform that saved the day.

It has often been said that Angus Young is AC/DC.

This audience-performer relationship was evident on several occasions. A specially-designed stage, with ramps extending into the audience on either side, afforded Angus Young the opportunity to display his prodigious fretboard mastery to either side of the Bramlage crowd.

The seeming climax to this performance was his extended striptease and ceremonial mooning of the audience. Sorry, no Jim Morrison-esque arrest material here — he was wearing star-spangled boxers.

The incredible performances were nearly matched by an incredible stage show. For example, the hit single "Thunderstruck" kicked off the show with recorded thunder rolls and sonic booms accompanied by flashes from specially installed light emplacements, play money rained from the ceiling after "Money Talks," a gigantic bell suspended from the Coliseum ceiling pealed before "Hell's Bells" and huge cannons flanking the stage fired during "For Those About to Rock (We Salute You)."

The gratuitous special effect to end all special effects came during the first song of the band's encore, "Highway to Hell." An enormous sneering horned Angus — clutching a tail — inflated behind the stage.

Like I said, those people don't know what they're missing.

Grant

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A expectations.

The NSF grant is renewable for up to five years if the group accomplishes what they are planning, Wright said.

"The district works well together. They know which schools would work best, and that was how the three elementary schools were chosen," said Gail Shroyer, instructor in secondary education and co-director of the project.

The three schools, Lee, Amanda Arnold and Woodrow Wilson, selected a clinical instructor for each school.

"They are co-developers and work with K-State. They take on leadership roles within their school," Shroyer said. "They also help to implement the project."

Clinical instructors, principals and district administrators then set the criteria for the master teachers. Master teachers will have a student teacher working with the grant in their classroom.

"Their major responsibility is in their classrooms where the student teachers will be placed. They will supervise the students and offer ad-

Party Coming Up?
Call the
MOBILE MUSIC MACHINE
Professional Mobile DJ Service
featuring local radio personalities

- Light Show
- Fog Machine
- Variety of Music

Keep Your Party Pumpin'! 776-7240

Claflin Books & Copies
FirstBank Center 1814 Claflin

- 5¢ copies
- 3 self-service copy machines
- Resume & Typing Service Available

Come See Our Selection of Holiday Gift Books!

Open: M-F 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sat. 9-6 Sun 12-9 776-3771

WE WANT YOU
TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!
Donate your life-saving plasma at
the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F
1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

Need Money?
MANHATTAN FEDERAL
Savings and Loan Association

See Manhattan Federal Savings & Loan
for all your student needs!

Let Nancy Hammerschmidt in the Student
Loan Department help you make the right
choice by assisting you with a Student
Loan from Manhattan Federal Savings.
The professional staff are also your local experts for all financial needs!

FDIC Insured 537-2298 800 Poyntz
Lender Code 820334 Manhattan, Kansas 66502

SHARE THE WARMTH OF Christmas

Our DIRECT buying makes our prices BELOW our
competition's sale prices!!
LARGE inventory to choose from OR restyle, re-
mount and repair your existing jewelry
inhouse jeweler
Layaway and payment plans available

K-STATE STUDENT DISCOUNT OFFERED with ID
Receive FREE—lovely strand of fresh water
pearls with purchase of $100 or more.

Diamond Connection
QUALITY TELLS—PRICE SELLS

Effective Dec. 3rd
Open evenings till 8:30 p.m.
Sunday 1:00-5:00

417 Poyntz Avenue Manhattan, Kansas 66502
(913) 539-3225

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS?

MANHATTAN'S
New Year's Eve

$15 per person or $25 per couple
Champagne Toast • Party Favors
Hors d'oeuvres from 6:30-11 p.m.

MANHATTAN'S
Ramada Hotel & Suites
1-35 & 87th St.
Overland Park • 888-8440

Credit, Where Credit is Due
CLOUD COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
INTERTERM CLASSES
(Beginning January 2, 1991)

Course	Time	Dates
U.S. History II	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Computer Appl.	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Sociology	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19

Assertive Training 1-Hr Credit, 9-11 a.m., Jan. 2-4; 7-12
Human Relations 2-Hr Credit, 8 a.m.-3 p.m., Jan. 7-11

REGISTER Now through Dec. 21 or the First Day of Class, which is January 2, at 7:30AM

Call or Write: Cloud County Community College
2221 Campus Drive, Box 1002
Concordia Kansas, 66901
(913) 243-1435 or 1-800-729-5101

First In Service To North Central Kansas

Home For The Holidays

SCHEDULE

Depart MKH Airport	Depart Town East	Arrive KCI	Depart KCI	Arrive Town East	Arrive MKH Airport
3:30 am	3:45 am	6:00 am	7:00 am	9:30 am	9:45 am
5:30 am	5:45 am	8:15 am	9:30 am	12:00 pm	12:15 pm
7:45 am	8:00 am	10:30 am	11:30 am	2:00 pm	2:15 pm
9:45 am	10:00 am	12:30 pm	2:00 pm	4:30 pm	4:45 pm
12:15 pm	12:30 pm	3:00 pm	4:00 pm	6:30 pm	6:45 pm
2:15 pm	2:30 pm	5:00 pm	6:00 pm	8:30 pm	8:45 pm
4:15 pm	4:30 pm	7:00 pm	7:30 pm	10:00 pm	10:15 pm
			10:30 pm	1:00 am	1:15 am

FARES

	One Way	Round Trip
ADULT	$25.00	$50.00
MILITARY	25.00	45.00
SENIORS (62 yrs +)	25.00	45.00
STUDENT (with ID)	25.00	45.00
CHILDREN (5-12)	14.00	24.00
Children under 2	FREE	FREE

539-2284
or 1-800-383-2817
or contact your travel agent

TRAVELERS EXPRESS
Owners: John & Susan Furney
Town East Shopping Center
463 East Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN EDITORIAL

Celebration of love overpowers loss, death

All that there is love and death; forget all the rest. These two dance, blades of grass intertwined, and the music is breath, and chance, and every subtle, supple turn and touch. The sensuous intensity of every brush with love, with death, with every regret, reminds me of my only debt to life. All there is to owe is love, and even the cancerous sorrow of impermanence eventually culminates into memories, songs, and dithyrambic throngs of flickering celebrations of existence. But how to love and forget all the rest, and remember death, and still sing with belief that the fleeting celebrations mean more than the fading shadow, the human dissolve, the crying of loss that life seems to only offer?

I remember a young boy running barefoot down an alley towards an object of love. This object would be a source of joy if the boy could reach it, touch it, embrace it, breathe it in, enclose it within the glove of his existence. Running barefoot through sand and sandburs, slivers between the toes, small sources of pain. The boy can't move, the slivers have him balancing himself, waving his arms, crying, frozen because any move causes pain. The boy calls to the object of love. A call to pick him up, relieve the pain, cool him with some strange rain or caress.

I remember a boy a little older, a different alley, convulsions, involuntary muscle spasms. A boy looking in the mirror and experiencing the stranger glance of intimacy, that look at ourselves that leaves us bewildered. Puzzled because the look in the mirror doesn't always mean we know who we are looking at. The boy looking out the window, the highway, the different alley, no burrs, no slivers of pain, only objects of love offered at

Kevin
Zwick

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

a greater distance. And then the boy in a basketball game with the mentally retarded at the hospital. The boy looking in their eyes, the boy knowing that they never fall asleep with death or wake with life. Knowing they are unable to be aware of the source of their own pain. Knowing that they are incapable of being aware of their own existence and celebrate it.

I remember a young man hiding incomplete, in his underwear, on the porch with the washer and dryer, and the mousehole and the snap and their tiny little necks, I never heard them crack. In the other room, naked in the closet, a flower curious looking through the keyhole hoping no one will open the door. And Troubles the dog frozen under the porch, the flower's loss, not the young man's. And the young man passing on the information. I remember the young man's soliloquy. "It's her loss, not mine. How can I tell her? What do I know about love? I know nothing about love."

I remember a man learning to smell a candle and stimulate himself with fingers simply more confused. He gets tired, tired of the slow drain, the seemingly pointless transitions, people coming in and out of his life, exchanging words that are nothing more than verbal meanderings. Especially tired of being self-absorbed, self-concerned, and emotionally enclosed as if it were possible to be otherwise. Tired of slipping in and out of the celebration.

All that there is love and death, forget all the rest. These two dance, and chance limits the celebration. The boy in the alley, the sandburs. The boy at the game, the inability to celebrate consciously. The young man and the frozen dog, ignorance of love. The man and the candle, transitions, and confusing fingers of stimulation.

The music is breath and every subtle, supple turn and touch and brush with love, with death, with every regret continually reminds me that all I owe is love. The celebration means more than the human dissolve, the loss. It is the evening and then the morning and the chance to celebrate.

EDITORIALS

K-State boasts another prestigious scholarship

The awards just keep coming.

Saturday night Kristy Parker, senior in history, was notified she was one of 32 Rhodes scholarship winners. Parker will receive more than $40,000 in scholarship support for graduate study in England.

This announcement concluded a heady week in which two students were named the recipients of the prestigious Marshall scholarship. Both withdrew from the Rhodes competition when they became Marshall winners.

Parker continues a strong University tradition of producing Rhodes winners.

Last year, K-State was the only public university to produce two Rhodes winners when Mary Hale and Janelle Larson took home the honors.

K-State has now produced eight of the nine Rhodes winners from Kansas.

Parker said she will study women's history at Oxford before going to law school to become a civil-rights attorney and eventually a judge.

Her values are to be commended, and her dedication to her studies should be a lesson for others.

Anniversary of Lennon's death serves to remind

As the Beatles were breaking apart in 1969, John Lennon and his wife, Yoko Ono, began protesting for peace as part of, and separate from, their musical projects.

For instance, they began several "bed-ins" for peace, luring journalists who mistakenly believed that the couple was going to do "it" for peace.

Instead, they sat in bed as they discoursed on the need for peace in the world, especially by ending the war in Vietnam.

The refrain from one of Lennon's songs of that period said, "War is over/if you want it."

With the 10th anniversary of the singer's death just past, and the looming war in Persian Gulf just ahead, we could do worse than not to remember that simple idea.

Lennon, who was hounded by the U.S. government for years because of his opposition to America's foreign policy, was clever.

Seen as a dangerous radical for the avant-garde artwork he engaged in with Ono, Lennon was reminding Americans of the power they possessed over their government.

Maybe we need to remember Lennon's music now more than ever.

LETTERS

Local crises still exist

Editor,

Even with the time of crisis in Kuwait, I believe that the public needs to be reminded of two crises that affect us locally. The public needs to keep these in mind even if the United States would go to war:

■ The reorganization of K-State is still a possibility.

■ The expansion of Fort Riley is still a possibility if the Big Red One returns to the base.

Even though I am personally opposed to both situations, I ask the public to keep an open view and to keep informed on what is happening.

Jerold W. Spohn, Jr.
junior in agronomy

Irony in reference

Editor,

I find it ironic that Ed Skoog in his column in the Dec. 5 Collegian appears to support both the overturning of the Comstock Postal Act and the attempts of Senator Jesse Helms to prevent funding of "obscene" art by the NEA. The Comstock Law of 1873 was federal legislation pushed through a busy Congress by Anthony Comstock and his Society for the Suppression of Vice. This legislation prohibited the mailing, transport or import of "obscene, lewd, or lascivious" materials, including all information and devices pertaining to birth control.

According to the Comstock Law, the U.S. Postal Office was given authority to decide what might be called lewd, lascivious, indecent or obscene. Comstock himself was granted the extraordinary power to open any letter, package, pamphlet or book passing through the mail, and if he wished, to complain about an item to the post office. He held such power for 40 years. Many states passed their own Comstock laws, especially with regard to limiting birth control. It took a U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1965 to overturn the last of the Comstock laws: a Connecticut law which prohibited the use of birth control, even by married couples in the privacy of their own homes.

In time, the word "comstocker" has come to mean a prude, especially with regard to art. I agree with Skoog that the Comstock Postal Act needed to be overturned. I feel strongly, however, that federal funding for the NEA must continue; what needs to be "disbanded and sent down the Potomac" is the attempted censorship activity by present-day comstockers, including Senator Helms.

E. Dale Kennedy
instructor of biology

Quote appropriate

Editor,

I have read with interest the many articles and editorials concerning the reorganization plan. In my office, I have a quote posted on the wall that I feel is appropriate to this situation.

"We trained hard ... but it seemed that every time we were beginning to form up into teams, we would be reorganized."

I was to learn later in life that we tend to meet any new situation by reorganizing; and a wonderful method it can be for creating the illusion of progress while producing confusion, inefficiency and demoralization." — Pertronus Arbiter, Greek navy, 210 B.C. How history repeats itself.

William J. Lamont Jr.
associate professor of horticulture

Crisis questioned

Editor,

The following is a list of questions overheard in the course of the last three months, together with their answers. The answers were obtained through an agonizing process of soul-searching and deliberation.

Q: Wasn't the invasion of Panama just as bad?

A: No. Next question, please.

Q: Why must we always behave like the world's policeman?

A: We are the world's policeman. It's a dirty job, but somebody has to do it.

Q: Why don't we just wait for the economic sanctions to work?

A: It's inhumane to starve 16 million people.

Q: Isn't it all just a cheap shot at cheap oil, launched by blood-sucking, fat-cat, profiteering oil companies?

A: No.

Q: What about the Palestinians? Why doesn't anyone tell Israel to get out of their occupied territories?

A: If we all just had more love in our hearts, there wouldn't be any Israel or Lebanon or anything.

Q: Isn't it unjust to fight a war using a volunteer army made up of the economically disadvantaged?

A: Yes, but it's the only army we've got.

Q: Isn't the resort to war simply an atavistic throw-back to an unenlightened state of primitive brutishness, unworthy of the higher ideals of our civilization?

A: Absolutely.

Q: What gives us the right to take such a holier-than-thou attitude?

A: Being holier.

I hope this clears things up.

Andy Chermak
associate professor of math

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tommi Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Vesso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tommi Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimotheidis, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seaborn, Kevin Zwick
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson, Eric Lind
EDITORIAL BOARD	David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tommi Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Vesso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	John Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allyson Schaff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind, Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd
GRAPHIC ARTIST
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167. News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Kedzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably under 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submitting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. Students will be asked to show their I.D. card upon submission when done in Kedzie 116.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

OP-ED

Staff improves Jim Protesters opposed

Editor,

I would like to thank the Collegian staff for doing the impossible; dramatically improving the relative quality of the Jim's Journal "comic" strip. Not that they have influenced Jim in any way, or that Jim has discovered humor, but they have reminded us that everything is relative. Yes indeed, relative to Glimpses, Jim's Journal is a barrel of laughs, a side-splitting, uproariously funny work of comic art.

I'm sure there are some valuable lessons to be learned from the Collegian's brilliantly successful attitude towards quality. In much the same way I'm sure we can improve the quality of many of our politicians, universities or hospitals. Thanks for giving new meaning to the phrase "no pain — no gain."

Kevin Boyd
graduate student in economics

Bush breaks promise

Editor,

President Bush has enforced strong sanctions against South Africa and he is using a strong embargo in sapping Iraqi strength and domestic support for Hussein.

Nevertheless, last year Bush broke a half-century promise to support the restoration of independence for Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia. The U.S. citizens of the Baltic background are outraged that Bush has failed to recognize the governments of the Baltic States and to impose a strong embargo and sanctions against the evil empire of Soviet Russia. Therefore, those Baltic voters are determined to go fishing during the Presidential election of 1992 or to vote for a conservative southern democrat. They realize that in close elections, they are able to cause the defeat of Bush in Pennsylvania, Illinois and also in Florida, thus making him a one-term President.

Alexander V. Berkins
Gulfport, Florida

Editor,

I would like to take this opportunity to address the students and those non-patriotic radicals who oppose the U.S. involvement in the Persian Gulf.

To begin, I'm disgusted with these protesters who oppose the American involvement in the Persian Gulf. The main reason I'm repulsed by these protesters can be summarized in one word, that word is "repugnance." Also, I'm sick and tired of individuals making a mockery out of Operation Desert Shield. These protesters are constantly suggesting that the inevitable war in the Persian Gulf is a war over oil. However, being an individual who calls it as he sees it, I'm going to present the flip side of the issue.

First of all, I would like to bring to the attention of students and protesters a series of analogies which are related to the Persian Gulf crisis. In 1941 the United States declared war on Japan when the kamikazes attacked Pearl Harbor. However, the real reason the U.S. opposed the Japanese occupation of Korea. Basically, the U.S. was intimidated by Japan. As a result, when the Japanese surrendered they had to comply with one of the several stipulations. The stipulation I'm talking about still exists today between Japan and the United Nations. The stipulation is Japan will not have a military. However, I would like to address this question to the protesters. What if the United States didn't intervene and stop Japan? I can only speculate, but you probably wouldn't enjoy the freedoms and luxuries of being an American.

Also, I would like to address another question to the protesters. What if the United States didn't intervene in the Korean conflict? Again, I can only speculate but it's safe to say if we didn't stop the Chinese when we did there is no telling how far communism might have spread. How would you like to be singing "let communism ring?" as a result of the previously mentioned facts, I feel it is in the United State's best interest to intervene. I would like to remind people "ignorance breeds ignorance."

Therefore, it behooves individuals who decide to protest against something to get their facts straight and think about the reverberations of their actions. For example, imagine the impact the protest had on troops' morale. However, I wonder if they would change their tune if one of their family members were held hostage?

To conclude, I would like a peaceful solution to the "crisis," but the reality is war is inevitable. As a result, we must realize war is hell and people die. On the contrary, one must remember the "needs of many outweigh the needs of a few." Hopefully, those individuals who die in the line of duty, wishfully a few, are reminded that they died for the majority — their fellow man. When I enlisted 2 1/2 years ago and signed my name on the dotted line I fully understood the ramifications of being a soldier. However, I sacrificed my health for my country. I was medically discharged, but if the need arose that my services needed to be rendered once again, I'd gladly sign my name.

Although this may never happen I urge you as Americans to unite and support your country and the soldiers that defend it and remember "if it happened to Kuwait it could easily happen to us."

Alvin Burzynski
sophomore in business

PREGNANT?
NEED HELP?
For confidential
help call

Birthingright
FREE Pregnancy Tests
523 S. 17th Old Town Mall
537-9180 1-800-848-LOVE

Have "You"
Had Your
Frozen Yogurt
Today??

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

E=mc²

(Extra edition equals many coupons, too!)

Here's a formula for success during finals
week.

Finals Survival Kit

produced by the Kansas State Collegian staff
will be filled with

- * Money-saving coupons
- * Christmas gift ideas
- * Crossword puzzles
- * Cartoons
- * Interesting feature articles

Pick up your
Finals Survival Kit
from Collegian racks
beginning Dec. 17.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

Radio Shack AMERICA'S TECHNOLOGY STORE

SMART SHOPPERS CHRISTMAS SALE!

Your Center for Holiday Gifts Most Stores Open Late Nights Until Christmas

Easy-to-Use
Family PC
With Software
Save $100
799.90
Reg. Separate Items $89.90
Low As $25 Per Month
So Easy, It
Guarantees
Success!
With 20MB Drive and Monitor
Save $200 1099.90
Low As $34 Per Month • #25-1451/1043
Reg. Separate
Items $299.90
DeskMate and
DeskMate+ Home
Organizer with 24
applications.
#25-1450/1043

286-Based PC With 20MB Drive & Color Monitor
Save $300
1399.85
Reg. Separate Items $699.85
Low As $43 Per Month
PC Compatible
10-in-1 DeskMate
Software.
#25-1602/1043/1045
With 40MB Drive & Monitor
Save $300 1499.85
Reg. Separate
Items $799.85
#25-1602/1043/1046
With Monitor Only
Save $200 1099.90
Reg. Separate
Items $299.90
#25-1602/1043

Versatile Text/Graphics Printer
Save $90
269.95 Reg. 359.95
Low As $15 Per Month
Prints up to 240 cps. Push tractor. #26-2848

GIANT SAVINGS!
High-Performance
Laptop Computers
Priced From $399 To $1699
Small on size, big on performance! Hurry in and see!

Hands-Free AM/FM
Stereo Headset
Cut 45%
2195 Reg. 39.95
Stereo on-the-go! 6 oz.
Rotary controls. #12-125

Dual-Alarm AM/FM Clock Radio
Cut 38%
2995 Reg. 47.95
Wake to music or alarm.
#12-1578

12x Power Zoom
VHS Camcorder
Save $100
$899 Reg. 999.00
Low As $30 Per Month
Continuous zoom with macro. #16-826

CD/AM/FM Stereo Rack System
Save $100
399.95 Reg. 499.95
Low As $15 Per Month
Complete! High-speed
dubbing. #13-1238

Floor/Shelf
Speaker System
HALF PRICE!
3995 Reg. 79.95
8" woofer, 18 1/2" high.
#40-4036

Pocket-Size Spell Checker
Cut 40%
2995 Reg. 49.95
Checks 88,000 spellings.
#63-676

VCR With On-Screen Programming
Save $40 279.95 Reg. 319.95
Low As $15 Per Month
179-channel tuner, 1-year/6-event timer. #16-520

Portable CD Player
With Program Memory
Save $40 159.95
Low As $15 Per Month • Reg. 199.95
Superb digital stereo to go.
#42-5017 Headphones extra

Cellular Phone
Save $100
$199 Reg. 299.00
Low As $15 Per Month • #17-1076
Handsfree speakerphone.

"Phone-tastic"
Cordless Phone
Cut 25%
5995 Reg. 79.95
Base-to-handset paging.
#43-554

Personal Phone
For Desk or Wall
25% Off
1488 Reg. 19.95
Easy one-touch redial.
#43-500

Digital-Voice
Phone Answerer
Cut 17%
4995 Reg. 59.95
Choose male or female voice. #43-393

Now Open! Huge Electronic Toyland!
Fun Gifts
Low As $259

2609 Anderson
in Anderson Square
539-6151

New Holiday Hours
Mon.-Fri. 9-8
Sat., 9-5, Sun., 1-5

Most Major Credit
Cards Welcome

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS MONDAY

'Cats destroy Bearcats, 98-44

Unlikely stars step up for team in win over Division II opponent

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

There probably won't be many more occasions when K-State coach Dana Altman laughs at Maurice Brittan after he shoots an air-ball free throw.

Then again, there weren't a lot of ordinary happenings in Saturday's game with Northwest Missouri State.

All 11 Wildcats scored as K-State crushed the Division II foe 98-44 in Bramlage Coliseum. It was the 'Cats' second-largest margin of victory in school history, behind a 75-17 thrashing of Texas Christian in 1947.

"It was really fun," said junior forward Wylie Howard, who tied guard Steve Fritz for high-scoring honors with 14 points. "The crowd was into the game. It was like I told the other guys, 'We wouldn't have scored over 70 without the crowd.'"

Howard's point was arguable, as K-State crossed the 70-point barrier on a follow shot by Brittan with 9:47 remaining. But what the crowd of 10,126 wanted was 100 points, as chants of "100, 100," and "yogurt, yogurt," started in the closing minutes.

Fans get a discount at a local yogurt shop according to the margin of victory.

"We kind of drifted away in the second half," Howard said. "The fans brought us back."

What K-State did to the Bearcats in the first half would put most people to sleep. The 'Cats forced 18 turnovers, held Northwest Missouri State to 22-percent shooting and built a 52-18 lead at intermission.

"I was worried about us coming out and going through the motions," Altman said. "We wanted to come out with the press to avoid a slow start."

The full-court pressure fueled a 24-2 run by K-State midway through the opening half. Howard scored eight points during the stretch, as the 'Cats played without leading scorer Jean Derouillere.

Derouillere picked up his third foul nine minutes into the game and spent the rest of the half on the bench.

That was about the only bright spot for Bearcat coach Steve Tappmeyer.

"We played a little intimidated and scared early," Tappmeyer said. "We knew the press was coming, and we just didn't execute."

Northwest Missouri State's troubles allowed K-State to score 15 unanswered points, and let Altman clear the bench. Each player played at least 12 minutes, with center John Rettiger on the floor longest with 22 minutes.

Only Marcus Zeigler, who scored 20 points against Wyoming on Wednesday, failed to score in the first half.

The equal distribution of playing time allowed 'Cat reserves to combine for 54 points. Fritz, an all-America decathlon performer who joined the basketball team Nov. 14, led the way, hitting 5-of-7 field goals, including two three-pointers.

"I had a lot of fun tonight," Fritz said. "I've been trying to do the things in practice that allow Coach to put confidence in me, and tonight, he gave me the chance."

Fritz and Howard were joined in double figures by Brittan, who finished with 12 points.

Larry Brown led Northwest Missouri State with 16.

"We were directly focused on this one," Howard said. "Coach Altman came into the locker room and wrote a big '18' on the board before the game. We were ready."

Howard said Altman's pregame message referred to the number of Division II teams to post wins over Division I teams in 1989-90.

K-STATE (81)

Amerson 2-4-4-8, Howard 3-5-8-11 14, Rettiger 3-4-3-4-9, Wires 2-6-0-2-2, Derouillere 1-5-7-8 9, Shadd 4-5-0-0-9, King 0-0-5-10-5, Brittan 6-7 0-1 12, Zeigler 2-4-1-2-5, Sams 4-10-0-2-9, Fritz 5-7 2-2 14, Totals 32-57 30-48 98.

NW MO. (68)

Brown 7-17 1-2 16, Barker 0-0-0-0-0, Wilson 1-5 2-4 4, Shelvin 2-7 0-2 4, Jackson 1-2 0-1 3, Harrell 1-4 2-2 4, J. Johnson 3-9 3-8 9, Gloston 0-2 0-0-0, Wilborn 0-9 1-2 1, C. Johnson 1-3 0-0 3, Deahl 0-3 0-2 0, Roells 0-0 0-0-0, Owens 0-0 0-0 0, Wing 0-1 0-0 0, Totals 16-62 6-13 44.

Halftime — K-State 52, NW Mo. 18. Three-point goals — K-State 4-15 (Amerson 0-1, Wires 0-2, Derouillere 0-1, Zeigler 0-1, Shadd 1-1, Sams 1-6, Fritz 2-3), NW Mo. 6-23 (Brown 1-6, Shelvin 0-2, C. Johnson 1-2, J. Johnson 3-8, Wilborn 0-2, C. Johnson 1-2, Wing 0-1). Rebounds — K-State 53 (Brittan 11), NW Mo. 28 (Brown 6). Assists — K-State 21 (Wires, Zeigler, Fritz 3), NW Mo. 9 (Shelvin, Jackson 2). Total fouls — K-State 14, NW Mo. 28. Fouled out — Harrell. Technicals — none. A — 10,056.

Brad Camp/Staff

K-State forward Wylie Howard and Northwest Missouri State forward Larry Brown wrestle on the floor for a loose ball in the first half of the game in Bramlage Coliseum Saturday. The Wildcats beat the Bearcats 98-44. K-State is now 4-1 on the year and will play at Tulsa Wednesday.

Margaret Clarkin and J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

ABOVE: Jean Derouillere makes a quick pass under the basket. RIGHT: John Rettiger goes up for two against Leonard Wilson.

MU, KU both fall in big matchups

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Nolan Richardson said a one-point victory would have been enough. As it was, his third-ranked Arkansas basketball team beat Missouri 95-82 Saturday night, pulling away after the Tigers had tied the score at 67 with 10:25 to play.

The Razorbacks did it before a raucous sellout crowd of 13,300 at the Hearn Center in Columbia, ending Missouri's 34-game home-court winning streak.

"They could play with two girls and a cheerleader and have a chance to win in this building," Richardson said. "I'd be happy to get out of here with a one-point win."

"We've got great fans," the Arkansas coach said. "But these people are crazy. I've never seen anything like this in the country."

Missouri was among four Big Eight teams defeated in games Saturday night. Kansas, which embarrassed Kentucky 150-95 last season, lost 88-71 to the 25th-ranked Wildcats at Lexington.

Iowa State lost 75-73 to Iowa on a tip-in at the buzzer by Rodell Davis, and Oklahoma State fell to Wichita State 72-69.

On the winning side of the ledger, Oklahoma stormed past Virginia Commonwealth 141-105, Nebraska blasted Toledo 105-68, and Colorado beat Eastern Michigan 88-81.

Arkansas (7-1) was led by the 26-point showing of Todd Day, who had a pair of 3-pointers in a 15-4 run as the Razorbacks pulled away after Missouri's Jeff Warren tied the score on a 10-footer.

Missouri, which had dropped out of the national poll last Monday for the first time in 38 weeks, trailed 50-42 at the half.

Then the Tigers (2-3), scored six straight points when play resumed to pull within 50-48. After an Arkansas basket, Missouri center Doug Smith picked up his fourth foul with 18:04 to play, and the Razorbacks moved to a 66-54 lead.

But Jamaal Coleman and Jevon Cruup sparked a Missouri rally that enabled the Tigers to tie the score, before Arkansas pulled away to beat Missouri for the first time since 1980.

Sean Woods led Kentucky with 25 points in the victory over Kansas (3-2). That game, like Missouri's, was seen nationally on ESPN.

"We were very up for this game," Woods said. "We were very tense. Deep down in our minds, hey, you can't forget a loss like that."

The Wildcats (4-0) held a 46-34 halftime lead, but Kansas rallied to within 63-62 on a Mike Maddox lay-up with 10:46 to play.

After a timeout, Kentucky ticked off 19 straight points over the next 7:38.

Sixteenth-ranked Oklahoma (6-1) had seven players in double figures in the victory over Virginia Commonwealth at Norman. Brent Price had 22 and Terry Evans 21 to lead the Sooners. Chris Brower had 18 for the Rams.

Oklahoma held a 77-50 edge at the half, and the Sooners broke the 100-point mark with 11:51 to play on a layup by Terrance Mullins. The victory was Oklahoma's 49th in a row on its home court.

At Iowa City, the Hawkeyes came from behind for the victory over their intrastate rival Iowa State (1-7).

The winning tip-in by Davis came after a missed shot by Val Barnes, who led the Hawkeyes (6-1) with 31 points.

Lady Cats finish 2nd in Dial Classic

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State Lady Cats fell to the Long Beach State 49ers 90-64 in the championship game of the 1990 Long Beach State Dial Soap Classic Saturday night in the University Gym in Long Beach, Calif.

K-State, 3-3, stayed close to No. 11 Long Beach State, 4-1, until late in the first half, when the 49ers pulled away, scoring eight unanswered points to lead at the half, 43-33.

Due to a Long Beach defense that caused 20 turnovers and blocked seven shots, K-State never got closer than eight points in the second half, when the Lady Cats closed the gap to 47-39.

Long Beach State had four players in double figures, led by senior center Kari Parriott's 25 points. Tournament MVP Trise Jackson scored 13 and guard Dana Wilkerson added 14 for the 49ers.

Lady Cat forward Diana Miller scored a game-high 28 points to lead K-State, while guards Nadira Hazim and Mary Jo Miller added 15 and 10, respectively.

Long Beach State made use of their inside size advantage, doubling K-State's rebounds 64-32. At 6-2, Parriott grabbed a career-best 19 rebounds, 13 in the first half, while 6-1 forward Penny Moore brought down 10.

In their first-round game Friday night, the Lady Cats beat San Diego State 73-65 to advance to the championship game. K-State balanced its scoring, getting 16 points from Diana Miller, 14 points from both Hazim and forward Kristie Bahner, and 13 points from Mary Jo Miller.

The Lady Cats also outrebounded the Aztecs 42-36. San Diego State's top-gun Kieishsha Gaines threw in a game-high 22 points, while Crystal Lee scored 15.

Diana Miller and Mary Jo Miller joined Long Beach State's Wilkerson and Parriott, and San Diego State's Gaines on the all-tournament team.

LSU hands Arizona first defeat

By The Associated Press

The University of Nevada had this intriguing idea about how to handle its cross-state rival from Las Vegas, college basketball's defending national champion and the No. 1 team in the country.

It was, appropriately enough, a gamble.

"Our whole plan was to try to make them shoot the outside shot," Nevada coach Len Stevens said.

OK, said the Runnin' Rebels, always happy to oblige. We'll play it your way.

A school-record 21 3-pointers later, UNLV had a 131-81 rout Saturday night and another strategy had been shot to bits.

Reserve Travis Bice nailed six of the home-run shots. Anderson Hunt and Greg Anthony had four apiece as the Rebels shot 21-for-46 from long range. The 3-point assault broke the UNLV record of 17 set in the NCAA tournament semifinals against Indiana in 1987.

Actually, after 11 minutes, the Wolf Pack trailed by just 31-28. Then, UNLV went on a 34-10 run to decide the issue. Larry Johnson's 21 points led seven UNLV shooters in double figures.

No. 18 LSU's best weapon is 7-foot-1 Shaquille O'Neal and he destroyed No. 2 Arizona with a monster game, scoring 29 points, grabbing 14 rebounds and blocking six shots in a 92-82 victory at Baton Rouge.

Coach Dale Brown imported Bill

Walton and Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to give pivot lessons to the 18-year-old sophomore, and the youngster responded against the Wildcats, who lost for the first time after seven victories.

Sean Rooks led Arizona with 18 points.

In other afternoon games, it was No. 5 Duke 75, Michigan 68 and No. 13 Georgia 117, Mercer 50.

No. 4 Syracuse 113, NC-Charlotte 99.

Billy Owens scored 20 points in the first half, and Dave Johnson matched that production in the second half as the Orangemen won the Carrier Classic for the ninth-straight year.

Johnson finished with a career-high 27 points, and Syracuse coach Jim Boeheim won his 350th game, reaching that plateau faster than any other Division I coach.

Owens, the tournament MVP, finished with 24 points and 16 rebounds for Syracuse (7-0).

No. 5 Duke 75, Michigan 68

The Blue Devils (6-2) got 19 points from freshman Grant Hill to wear down the Wolverines.

Duke led by 17 points at halftime, converting Michigan mistakes into baskets. The Wolverines (3-1) committed 27 turnovers and Duke, which has won 61-straight home games against non-conference opponents, made 25.

KC beats Denver, ends frustration

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Marty Schottenheimer insists he feels no personal vindication in finally beating Denver, but his Kansas City players say different.

"There was nothing said, but you could sense all week that this was a special one, and you know why it was special," linebacker Dino Hackett said Sunday after Steve DeBerg threw three touchdown passes in leading the Chiefs to a 31-20 victory over the slumping Broncos.

"We've all grown very close to this coaching staff. We wanted it for ourselves and for our team, sure. But it was nice to get it for them, too. They had suffered some tough losses to those guys, some heart-breaking losses," Hackett said.

Schottenheimer and a number of his assistants came into the game 0-6 lifetime against Denver, including two last-minute losses in the AFC title game while he was in charge of the Cleveland Browns.

But he finally broke through in his 100th game as a head coach as the Chiefs (9-4) moved a half-game ahead of Los Angeles in the AFC West pending the Raiders' game Monday night at Detroit.

"It has nothing to do with the personal thing," Schottenheimer said. "Personal things don't mean a lot in this game."

The victory was the fourth in a row and fifth in six games for the Chiefs. The defending AFC champion Broncos dropped to 3-10 with their sixth consecutive defeat, their worst losing streak since a nine-game slide in 1967.

It was also the eighth time this year the Broncos lost after taking a half-time lead.

"It was typical of the things that seem to happen all year," Denver coach Dan Reeves said. "We are ahead at halftime, and we come out and lose the game. They did an excellent job of executing their game plan."

John Elway directed Denver to two straight touchdowns after the Chiefs seized a 7-0 lead on their first possession. But Hackett recovered Shannon Sharpe's fumble as the Broncos were driving in the third period, and eight plays later Barry Word scored on fourth-and-goal from the 1 to put the Chiefs on top 17-13, a lead they never gave up.

"As soon as I got the ball to secure it, I got hit and dropped the ball," Sharpe said.

The Chiefs wrapped it up in the final minutes when, clinging to a 24-20 lead, DeBerg threw a short pass to Robb Thomas, who turned it into a 27-yard scoring play.

"To tell you the truth, I was a little surprised on fourth-and-three that they went for it," Elway said. "It was a bold move and a great call. Steve put it on the button, and they were able to lock up the game."

DeBerg, a 15-year veteran, hit 18-of-27 passes for 254 yards and three touchdowns and was not intercepted for the eighth-straight game. He was not surprised Schottenheimer asked him to go for it on fourth-and-three from the 27 with a little more than 2:50 left.

"I think it showed confidence in our football team," DeBerg said. "To be honest, I thought we'd go for it. If I was the one making the call, I would have gone for it. If we make the first down, the game's over. If we make a touchdown, the game's really over."

The Chiefs began almost exactly as they did the week before at New England, with a long touchdown pass to Stephane Paige. Christian Okoye took a handoff and then flipped the ball back to DeBerg, who flung a 49-yard scoring pass to Paige on the fifth play of the game.

"I knew it was a touchdown coming out of the huddle," Paige said. "The play had been clicking so beautifully in practice, and then I saw we had exactly the kind of coverage we wanted."

Elway got the Broncos the lead when he hit Sharpe on a 5-yard touchdown pass and rifled a 16-yard strike to Michael Young in the corner of the end zone. When Nick Lowery kicked his 14th-straight field goal, a 33-yarder, the Broncos had a 13-10 halftime lead.

After the Chiefs had seized a 24-13 lead on DeBerg's 1-yard scoring pass to Danta Whitaker 23 seconds into the fourth period, the Broncos managed to throw one more scare into the sellout crowd of 74,347. Bobby Humphrey scored on a 2-yard run to make it 24-20 after Elway, scrambling and dancing away from trouble, connected with Steve Sewell on a 27-yard pass play.

"I'll tell you what, that guy is an unbelievable athlete," Schottenheimer said of Elway. "Everybody talks about John Elway and his great ability, but the one thing that people don't talk about is the single-most important thing — that he is as fine a competitor as I have ever seen play this game."

Okoye went out in the third period with an elbow injury.

"I don't think it's as bad as people might think," he said. "I suspect it's not that bad because it's not that painful."

Mike Welch/Staff

Study cycle

Kelly Farley, graduate student in elementary education, studies for a test in curriculum development while getting her exercise Sunday evening in the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex. The rec complex is a popular place for study breaks, but Farley gave the idea a different twist.

Cinderella enjoying dance at top

David Svoboda
SPORTS EDITOR

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The coming of age continues.

The National Football League's 1990 version of Cinderella — the Kansas City Chiefs — took to the dance floor for another waltz Sunday afternoon.

When the dance was complete, 77,000 screaming maniacs had the feeling that they just witnessed something big.

They had. Kansas City's 31-20 win over Denver won't raise too many eyebrows in cities around the league. After all, the Chiefs were the AFC West division leaders going into the game, with a record of 8-4.

And Denver was one of the worst teams in football, limping into Arrowhead Stadium with a 3-9 mark just short months after being routed by the San Francisco 49ers in the Super Bowl.

But the way Kansas City beat Denver Sunday — and that they were even able to beat them at all — says something about the job Coach Marty Schottenheimer and his players have done this season.

Schottenheimer was 0-6 lifetime against Denver heading into Sunday's contest. John Elway and Co. had victimized the head coach three times when Schottenheimer was in Cleveland, and three times since he moved to K.C.

The loss earlier this year in Mile High Stadium in Denver was particularly painful, in that it came on the final play of a game which the Chiefs seemingly had salted away.

That's why Sunday's game meant so much.

Sure, Schottenheimer and his players downplayed the significance. They've had a habit this year of taking one game at a time and not putting too much emphasis on any one of them.

But this win gave the Chiefs a 9-4 mark and left them all but assured of making the playoffs. It also left them in a great position to go on and win the division for the first time in 19 seasons.

Credit Schottenheimer for putting them there. On two separate occasions Sunday, Schottenheimer played against conventional wisdom and won. One other time, when he might have been a bit more gutsy, he was conservative, and yet still effective.

What a coaching combo.

With eight seconds left in the first half and K.C. down 13-7, Schottenheimer — with one timeout left — opted to go for the field goal instead of taking one more shot at the end zone. The moans throughout the stadium were very audible.

Nick Lowery connected, however, and the Chiefs trailed by three at the half.

In the second 30 minutes, Schottenheimer elected to go for it twice on fourth-down calls. The first wasn't too much of a gamble — it came from the Denver goal line. Barry Word made it pay off with a

TD.

The second gamble was huge. It came on a fourth-and-three call with just under three minutes left and Kansas City clinging to a 24-20 lead. That was plenty of time for Elway to take his troops on yet another heart-breaking drive, and everyone knew it.

That's when Schottenheimer, offensive coordinator Joe Pendry, and cool quarterback Steve DeBerg reached into the offensive bag of tricks and pulled out a safe play — a dump pass to Robb Thomas.

Somebody tell Denver it was supposed to be a dump pass for a first down. It ended up as a touchdown — 31-20.

Game over. Ghosts exorcised. By having faith in his players and saying "to hell with yesterday," Schottenheimer took a bold step Sunday. And his team followed him.

It was just another step in a pair of glass slippers this team appears to be wearing very comfortably.

Former Texas A&M leader back in college coaching

By The Associated Press

STARKVILLE, Miss. — Jackie Sherrill, who left Texas A&M two years ago with the Aggies on NCAA probation, returned to college football Sunday as coach at Mississippi State and said the job was like coming home.

"Coach (Paul) Bryant used to say if you don't get up in the morning and throw up because you miss it (coaching) so bad, you don't know what it is," Sherrill said, quoting the late University of Alabama coach. "I was looking for the right situation to get back. This is a pleasure for me."

Sherrill, who spent two years in private business after leaving Texas A&M, replaces Rockey Felker, who resigned under pressure two weeks ago after a 5-6 season, the Bulldogs' fourth-straight losing campaign.

The NCAA eventually cleared Texas A&M of allegations that former player George Smith received "hush" money, saying it could not distinguish fact from fiction. Smith had said Sherrill, then coach and athletic director, paid him for his silence about NCAA rules violations and that a university official later offered him $30,000 to recant his charges.

The NCAA said Sherrill was never implicated in any wrongdoing. But he resigned in December 1988, following an internal investigation by the school — three months after the Aggies were placed on probation for two years for recruiting violations.

Sherrill's teams at Texas A&M had a 52-28-1 record in seven seasons, won three consecutive Southwest Conference titles and played in the Cotton Bowl from 1985-87.

Sherrill, 47, had a 105-42-2 record in 13 seasons as a coach at Texas A&M, Pittsburgh and Washington State.

"We wanted an individual that could prove he was a winner ... not only on the field, but also by placing a demand on our student-athletes," Athletic Director Larry Templeton said. "Most importantly, we wanted a coach that could help Mississippi State win the Southeastern Conference championship."

"I don't have any magic. Nobody has it," Sherrill said. "I just felt this was an opportunity. I want what the people of Mississippi State want, and if we build that unity and team, we will have a chance to be successful."

Sherrill reportedly was among five candidates for the job.

Tyson mauls Stewart

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Promoter Don King said former heavyweight champion Mike Tyson is back, and "watch our smoke now."

Where there's smoke, there's fire — and that fire could be Donovan "Razor" Ruddock, who might fight Tyson in late March or early April.

Tyson's speed and power were awesome Saturday night as he knocked out Alex Stewart at 2:27 of the first round at the Convention Center, but the former champion was wide open in his attacks and, at times, was wild.

On one occasion, Tyson missed with a right hand and fell flat on his stomach.

Ruddock also appeared on the card against badly overmatched Mike Rouse.

The quality of opposition has nothing to do with a fighter's power, and Ruddock might have thrown the hardest punch of the night when he knocked Rouse down with a left hook. He then knocked him out in the first round with a right uppercut that traveled about eight inches.

Ruddock has had problems with his right hand and could barely use it when he knocked out former champion Michael Dokes last April 4.

Ruddock was on the card because his promoter, Murad Muhammad, has a deal with King for Ruddock to fight Tyson for the World Boxing Council heavyweight championship should the WBC strip Evander Holyfield of championship recognition for failing to make his first defense against Tyson.

King said Sunday that he hoped Tyson and Ruddock would fight for the WBC title. In the event that it's not for the WBC title, it will be a 12-round elimination, King said.

King and Muhammad are hoping the WBC will strip Holyfield for making his first defense against 42-year-old George Foreman on April 19 at Atlantic City.

Dan Duva, Holyfield's promoter, has gone to court and got the matter of stripping Holyfield put into arbitration.

WBC president Jose Sulaiman has said that he, too, wants an arbitrator to decide whether the WBC can strip.

Mike Verso/Staff

Wildcat forward Steve Fritz came off the bench Saturday to dump in 14 points as the 'Cats defeated the Northwest Missouri State Bearcats 98-44.

Fritz gives unexpected lift

Decathlete, now basketball player again, pours in career-best 14

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

Northwest Missouri State got burned by an unlikely source of firepower Saturday night.

The Bearcats fell victim to a decathlete.

Steve Fritz, a two-time All-American and two-time Big Eight champion in track and field's most grueling event, came off the bench to lead the basketball Wildcats in a convincing 98-44 win over the baffled visitors.

That Fritz is even in uniform now is a bit strange — even to him. That he scored a career-high 14 points Saturday night is even more difficult to fathom, even for Fritz.

"I'm so high right now, I could probably go out and run the fastest mile I've ever turned in," he said in the media room just after the game. "This is great."

Fritz was a member of the Wildcat hoop squad in 1988-89, after completing his eligibility at Hutchinson

Community College, where he hit the winning shot in Hutch's national juco title-winning game in 1988.

He scored just seven points during that entire 1988-89 season, however, and had added only five in four games this year.

Saturday night, he topped his career scoring totals.

All of this for a guy who was training for a shot at the 1992 Olympic Games and hadn't played much basketball during his year away.

Over the summer, K-State coach Dana Altman approached Fritz about the possibility of returning.

"He kind of mentioned it then," Fritz remembered. "I thought he was joking around."

When Askia Jones continued to be hampered by an ankle injury that would later require a second operation, Altman's inquiry was no joke.

Fritz was formally asked to rejoin the team just the day before the Nov. 14 matchup with the Czechoslovakian National Team and was in uniform that night.

"My attitude was simple," Fritz said. "If I can help this team out, I am going to do it. K-State has been very good to me."

Fritz was determined to give something back to a school that had

"I'm so high right now ... this is great."

—Steve Fritz
Wildcat forward

given him a track and field scholarship and had afforded him an opportunity for success and recognition in two different sports.

Just how he'd do it was one question. And whether he'd do it was another.

An experience he had in the months just prior to his decision to come back made the choice less painful.

"This summer, Coach Altman asked me to come play with them a bit," Fritz said. "That was a big key for me and my confidence."

With a renewed sense of confidence, that left only blending in with teammates who had been together — without Fritz — for most of the previous few months.

Only two players on the current squad were around when Fritz last took the court for K-State.

"I'm starting to get used to being around the guys," Fritz said. "They're getting to know me, and I'm getting to know them. It's been an adjustment."

As everyone gets closer, Fritz hopes he can use his past winning experiences — at Hutch and at K-State — in a positive way.

But can he be a leader?

"It's hard for me to do that right now," he said. "I'm not good at telling people to do things. I try to give as much as I can, and hope people notice."

They noticed Saturday night.

DAYS OF CHRISTMAS

Schliebe

WORKOUT CENTERS

3236 Kimball Ave. "GOOD FOR 1" Telephone
Manhattan, KS FREE VISIT (913) 776-1750

ESPRESSO
ROYALE
CAFFE

CLASSIC CAFE CLASSIC COFFEE
618 N. Manhattan-Aggieville
7a.m.-Midnight

Copies Are Only One Reason To Come To Kinko's Copy Center

- Convenient Location—
- Open 24 Hours Every Day
- Macintosh & LaserWriter Rental
- FAX Service 24 Hours A Day
- Full Or Self Service Copies
- Complete Binding Service
- Passport Photos

1329 Anderson
Manhattan, KS
(913) 537-7340
(FAX) 537-0967

kinko's
the copy center

Christmas is right around the corner
And so is second semester!

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

Has units available for you and your friends
for the spring 1991 semester.

Come See Them Today
776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY REAL ESTATE

2801 Andrew Boulevard, KS 66501
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-1885

Mechanic on Duty
8 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Monday - Friday

Full Service
Self Service
Gas

Frank's "66" Auto Service

17th & Poyntz
537-2480

Free Estimates

Alternators
Batteries
Starters
Winterizing

Brakes
Shocks
Tires

Exhaust Repairs
Oil Change
Tune up
Transmission

Credit Cards Accepted

Phillips 66 Visa Mastercard Discover American Express

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS BEADS BEADS

Make your own
Christmas gifts...
Thousands of beads,
crystals and all the
supplies you need.

1124 Moro Mon.-Sat. 11-6
Aggieville Thurs. 11-7:30
Sun. 1-5

S.A.M.

Small Animal Module
PERFECT HAMSTER HOME!!

Unique, New and Exciting!

*country clubhouse *bunk house
*guest house

*with loops and tubes from home to home

Priced to fit everyone's budget.
Accessories from $1.99 to $7.95.

Christmas at

PETS N' STUFF

1105 Waters

539-4751

On the Twelfth Day of Christmas,
my true love gave to me
Free Frozen Yogurt Cookiewich
with purchase of a pint or quart.

Offer valid 12/10/90

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY

705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

537-1616

25%
off

Perms &
Relaxers

$5 off Facials

Happy Holidays

Crimpers
HAIR DESIGN STUDIO
AGGIEVILLE USA

613 N. Manhattan
539-7621

w/this ad
Exp. 12/15/90

THE TWELVE DAYS OF

12th Day—Buy any 12" sub and get one for 99¢ with a medium drink purchase.

Offer good Dec. 10 & 11

Must present ad—not good in conjunction with any other offer or coupon.

620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

ENTER TO WIN A 6' PARTY SUB

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ St. _____ Phone # _____

Drawing to be held after Jan. 15, 1991.

Keep It Simple Santa KISS?

Men's
Selected Suits Reg. to 475⁰⁰
Hart, Doir, Gordon Thomas

Now
216-380⁰⁰

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

All Topcoats & Raincoats
Selected Shirts & Slacks

values to 295⁰⁰
values to 150⁰⁰

Now 20% off
Now 20% off

Women's

Early Fall Sportswear, Dresses & Suits — Now up to 50% off
BIS • NAUTICA • KASPER & More

We Make Your Shopping Fun & Easy!

- FREE GIFT WRAP WITH GREAT PAPER
- NO HASSLE EXCHANGE OR REFUNDS W/RECEIPT
- GIFT CERTIFICATES
- EXTENDED HOLIDAY HOURS

Our KISS?

Gift Certificate for You.
on your purchase
OFF of $100 more

$20

BRENTWOOD
For Men & Women

Expires 12/10/90

700 N. Manhattan
(913) 539-1414

Certificate valid on Reg. Price Merchandise

Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10-6, Thurs. 10-8, Sun. 1-5

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

The Christmas Idea Place!

CHRISTMAS CARDS
GIFTWRAP, SACKS, TINS
STUFFED ANIMALS, SLIPPERS,
1991 CALENDARS, DATEBOOKS, GAMES, T-SHIRTS, STICKERS,
PRECIOUS MOMENTS, MUSICALS,
STATIONERY, PICTURE FRAMES,
CRABTREE & EVELYN, POTPOURRI,
BALLOONS, CANDY.

704 N. Manhattan Ave.-in Aggieville-539-7654

Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m.-8:30 p.m.-Fri.-Sat. 8:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.-Sun. 12:00-5:00 p.m.

Shuttle problems solved; winds may shorten flight

By The Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Columbia's astronauts drained enough fluid from the shuttle's clogged plumbing Sunday to avoid an early return, but forecasts for bad weather at a landing site threatened to shorten the mission anyway.

NASA was going to bring Columbia back to Earth on Monday, a day ahead of schedule, if the constantly rising level of waste water could not be contained or the pipes unplugged.

The astronauts reduced the amount of waste water in the storage tank to slightly more than 3 percent by filling 15 urine-collection bags.

That gave the crew a green light for staying in space until Tuesday as far as the water system was concerned, NASA said Sunday. But meteorologists were predicting high winds and possible rain on Tuesday and even worse weather later in the week at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., said Mission Control spokesman James Hartsfield.

Flight directors wanted more updated forecasts before deciding whether to bring the crew back Monday night.

Columbia's waste-water output line clogged when the crew tried unsuccessfully to dump water overboard Saturday. It was the latest in a series of problems to befall the astronomy mission, already hampered by computer failures and pointing trouble with the on-board observatory.

The astronauts used hoses Sunday to suck waste water from a line beneath the crew-cabin floor into the urine-collection bags. Their initial efforts earlier in the day were unsuccessful.

Fluid splashed onto Guy Gardner's gloves during his first attempt to fill one of the small plastic bags, and astronomer Robert Parker helped him wipe up the mess. The water pressure was reduced for the next try, but the hose became clogged.

"It was kind of fun and exciting for a little bit," Gardner told Mission Control's James Voss.

"OK, we'll be able to get you a good job as a plumber when you get back," Voss replied.

The astronauts switched to larger hoses and completed the operation. Despite the men's success, NASA still was considering another try at purging the clogged water line.

Star-gazing by the telescopes in Columbia's open cargo bay continued uninterrupted during the water removal. Among the many targets observed Sunday were a quasar, a white dwarf star with a powerful magnetic field and numerous galaxies.

Parker and the three other astronauts aboard Columbia have been splitting 12-hour shifts to operate the $150 million Astro observatory.

Scientists and engineers on Earth 218 miles below have been helping the astronauts manage Astro's three ultraviolet telescopes since an on-board computer overheated and shut down Thursday. The shuttle's only other terminal for operating the instruments failed the day of the launch, Dec. 2.

"They've had a lot to contend with, but they (astronauts) have come back. The whole team has come back," said flight director Bob Castle.

Deputy mission scientist Gene Urban said the team was becoming increasingly adept at managing the telescopes.

At the rate the astronauts are going, as many as 160 sources of ultraviolet light and X-rays should be observed by the end of the mission, Urban said.

Programs recruit tutors

Volunteers assist in academic, social skills

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

K-State's tutoring programs have recruited an army of tutors ready to face elementary, middle, and high schoolers.

"Tutoring is like going off to war," said Lori Dreier, tutor and senior in family life and human development. "You don't know what to expect. You don't know if you're prepared, and you don't know if you'll ever survive."

Both Friendship Tutoring and the Student Literacy Core have learned to conquer the battles of low motivation, high energy, and the words "I don't know," Dreier said.

Friendship Tutoring works with children from first grade through 12th grade with a one-on-one philosophy. About 100 tutors and their students meet once a week for 1½ hours at different locations in Manhattan.

"It is like Big Brother, Big Sister programs, but they fulfill two needs — academics and social skills," said Julia Raehpour, Friendship Tutoring director and graduate student in human development and family studies.

When the program began in 1964, it was designed to integrate the black and white community. Now, the program is forced to turn away 30 to 40 students that it does not have space for, Raehpour said.

Many of the children at first feel embarrassed at first that they need help with school, she said. But, after a few sessions, they realize it is a special time just for them, and the two individuals may begin to build a friendship.

Unlike Friendship Tutoring, tutors in the Student Literacy Core receive three hours of credit for their work.

The Student Literacy Core, founded in December of 1989, will be federally funded through next December. Karen McCulloh, director of the program, said there are many differences between the two programs.

"We have one tutor to four students, twice a week after school from 3 to 5 p.m., and we try to do other things besides just homework according to the groups' needs," McCulloh said.

The 15 tutors are divided between elementary and middle school children. McCulloh said each group responds differently to the tutors.

"The elementary kids treat them like a teacher, whereas the middle-schoolers call them by their first names and treat them like a friend," she said.

Raehpour, also site supervisor for the Student Literacy Core, said, "I enjoy watching them learn about mutual respect. They have really learned that if you want it, you've got to give it."

Another skill tutors acquire through the programs is the ability to communicate better with teachers and parents, McCulloh said.

She said students in both programs vary from 'at-risk' to gifted. "If you are an education major, your experience with either program will give you more breadth. It could really make a difference to your future plans," Raehpour said.

ComputerLand

Business to business. Person to person.

Cumulus GLC/CO™

- ▼ 80386SX processor or 16 MHZ
- ▼ 14" VGA Color Monitor. 40MB harddrive
- ▼ Mouse
- ▼ Windows Version 3.0
- ▼ Dos 4.01
- ▼ Microsoft Works software

$19.95

HOLIDAY EXTENDED STORE HOURS

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-7 p.m.

Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Sunday 12 p.m.-4 p.m.

1306 WESTLOOP

776-0086

$5 OFF COUPON
Reg. price
$14.99 & up.

ANY KANSAS GROWN
SCOTCH PINE
CHRISTMAS TREE

Limit one coupon per tree. Expires 12-24-90.
EASTSIDE & WESTSIDE MARKETS

NOW SHIPPING!

Kansas Deluxe Gift Box

Includes: $19.99

- 2-8oz Bars Alma Cheese
- 1-7oz. Jar Briarwood Farms Jelly
- 1 packet Kaw Valley Farms' Crispy Corn
- 1-7.5oz. jar Briarwood Gourmet Mustard
- 1-10 oz. bag Gary Schlaegel's Popcorn
- 1-1lb. jar Sperry Apiaries Honey
- 1-8cup packet Riffel's Flavored Coffee
- Recipe Booklet from Ks. Wheat Comm.

VISA-Mastercard accepted! PHONES:
Also FRUIT BASKETS for ~ 776-9331
776-1579

DAILY LOCAL DELIVERIES 9am-4pm daily

Eastside Westside Market

East Hwy. 24 or West K-18, Manhattan

CONDE'S Audio & Video HOLIDAY PRICE

BASH!

150 DAYS • NO PAYMENT/NO INTEREST*
FREE DELIVERY • FREE INSTALLATION
EVERYTHING IS ON SALE!

ONKYO

TA-2000

Cassette Deck $199

- Full logic transport
- Dolby B & C
- HX PRO
- Remote interactive

ONKYO
TXSV90 PRO
Receiver

YOU NAME IT, IT'S GOT IT!

Features like:

- Pro logic surround sound
- 110 watts/channel
- Programmable remote
- Dynamic bass expander

YOU MUST SEE THIS RECEIVER!

SONY
KV-13TR24
Trinitron
Monitor/Receiver

$299

- Trinitron Mirrorblack picture tube
- A/V Window on-screen control
- Cable Compatible express tuning
- 13" screen
- RM-781 Remote Commander remote control and much more!

ONKYO

DX-1400
Compact Disc Player

$179

- 8 times oversampling
- 18 Bit D/A Converters
- 20 track programming
- Time edit functions

TX822

SONY

KV-19TR20
Trinitron
Monitor/Receiver

$399

- Mirrorblack Picture Tube
- Sleep Timer
- Jump Channel
- A/V Window on-screen control
- Cable compatible express tuning
- 19" screen
- remote control

SONY

KV-27TS30
Trinitron Stereo
Monitor/Receiver

- Trinitron Microblack Picture Tube
- Direct Video/Stereo Audio Input
- S-Video(Y/C) Input
- Auto Timer/Channel Block
- 27" screen
- remote control

$699

RCA Model VR671HF

Hi-Fi Stereo VCR w/ 4-Head Video System

$399

- Built-in TV Broadcast Stereo Tuner
- Double-azimuth 4-head video system
- Field still special effects

ONKYO

Receiver

- 50 watts/channel
- 2 mode APR Tuning
- 30 AM/FM Presets
- Loudness Control
- Full Remote Control

$229

ONKYO TX-844 Receiver

- 60 watts/channel
- 3 mode APR Tuning
- Selective tone control
- Sleep timer
- 40 AM/FM Presets
- Room to room remote capability

$299

ONKYO Fusion A/V 900
Fusion Rack System

- 100 watt amplifier
- AM/FM tuner
- Double Cassette Deck
- 5 Disc CD Change
- 2 way 12" tower speakers
- Oak Rack
- Full Remote Control

$999

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
10 AM-8 PM MONDAY-SATURDAY
SUNDAY 1-5 PM

It's a Whole New World at

CONDES

QUALITY PLUGGED IN...

AUDIO • VIDEO • TV

*No payments are required during promotion period. Finance Charges and Insurance Charges will accrue on the account. However if the purchase is paid in full within the promotional period, all accrued charges will be waived. (On approved credit.)

Ken Rich, senior in agricultural economics, gives a speech proposing a more fair and equitable distribution of parking spaces on campus for faculty, staff and students at a speech forum Friday afternoon in Nichols Theatre. The forum was presented by the Department of Speech.

COUNCIL ON TRAFFIC
PARK	3 FACULTY	U
K-STA	3 STAFF	0=8
3300	5 STUDENTS	0=7
3500	1 FULL-TIME
1600	1 NON-TRADITIONAL
4700	1 OFF-CAMPUS
	1 JARDINE
	1 RESIDENT HALL
	1 INST ADV
	1 COMMUNITY

J. Matthew Rhea/Collegian

Students speak out

Selected class members argue issues

By Shannon Meyers
Collegian Reporter

Speaking out at a public gathering and advocating peaceful change has long been one of America's basic freedoms and a cornerstone of the democratic process.

So on Friday afternoon, six K-State students climbed to the podium and expressed the views on how to better the University.

Phillip Anderson, instructor in the Department of Speech, said that speaking out is the best way to get things done and to create change.

Anderson teaches three advanced speech classes, and each semester two students from each class are chosen to present their campus-issue persuasive speeches to a public audience.

From 1 to 2 p.m. on Friday in Nichols Theatre those six students presented their persuasive speeches about current campus issues. The topics included campus parking, combining football and basketball tickets, increasing the student fee to support Student Publications Inc., campus-safety budgets, registration fees for bicyclists and unfair Lafene Student Health Center fees for military personnel.

Greta Wiechman, junior in accounting, said, "The part of this experience that I gained the most from was the research. We had to know a lot about our topic in order to interact in the question-and-answer period."

Anderson said the forum allows the students the opportunity to make things happen.

"This is a way to encourage student participation in the democratic process," Anderson said.

The Perfect Gift BEANBAGS

Order by Dec. 14

532-3442

LORDS'n LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

218 S. 4th (V.F.W. Plaza)
Manhattan, KS 66502

Introducing:

Tammy Gutierrez

Graduate of Crum's Beauty College

Professional Experience: Make-overs for the Manhattan Town Center (Trendsetters), and for JC Penney Department Store.

Men's Hair Cut reg. $12 Now $9

Women's Hair Cut reg. $15 Now $12

Makeover, Shampoo, Cut reg. $30 Now $20

Store Hours: Mon-Fri 8-8
Sat 8-5

776-5651

Expires 12-21-90

What can we get for our K-State alums?

Besides shirts, hats and socks in the color of plums?

A Royal Purple from days gone by!
"What a brilliant idea!" Santa said with a sigh.

We've made a list, you can check it twice.
How much do they cost?
$10 is the price.

Quantities are limited, so hurry up, please
To Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103.

1905-1	1924-5	1942-1	1961-1	1969-5
1906-2	1926-1	1943-1	1962-4	1971-1
1909-2	1929-1	1945-2	1963-4	1972-5
1910-1	1930-1	1952-4	1964-3	1973-4
1911-4	1930-1	1953-3	1965-4	1974-5
1912-2	1932-1	1956-3	1966-3	1976-2
1915-1	1936-4	1958-1	1967-5	1977-4
1921-1	1941-1	1960-2	1968-5	1978-3
				1979-2

Books may be mailed for $4.50 each

$p For more information, call 532-6555

WAL-MART

"Pictureland" Portrait Studio

Special Holiday Portrait Offer At A Special Location!

HARVEST INN

(East of Vietnam Memorial)

1006 E. 6th St., Junction City, KS

5 DAYS ONLY!

Tuesday, Dec. 11 through Saturday, Dec. 15

Studio Hours: Daily: 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.; Sunday (when scheduled): 11 a.m. - 6 p.m.

SAVE $5

on our 14-piece portrait package
2-8x10s, 2-5x7s* and 10 wallets on your choice of a traditional, nursery, spring or fall background

NOW ONLY $7.95 plus 95¢ sitting fee
(reg. $12.95)

Christmas Background Available

Plus, Get A
FREE
Key Ring

Last chance to get this offer in time for Christmas... at our special location only!

Bring in any lower-priced advertised offer and we'll match it!

We welcome everyone - babies, children, adults and family groups. No appointment is ever necessary. Satisfaction guaranteed! Poses our selection. White and Black Backgrounds, Double Exposure and other Special Effects Portraits not available in advertised package. Limit one special package per subject. $2.00 for each additional person in portrait. *Minors must be accompanied by an adult. *approximate size

This Week's Special...

Special
U.S.I.T.'s
only $1.25

Union Station
Presents:
"Alternative Music Night!"

Tuesday,
Dec. 11
7 p.m. to
10 p.m.

Join us for fun
and frolic!!

BONANZA.

Right Now, The Savings Are As Big As The Servings.

2 for $6.99 Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Freshtastiks for one $3.99 each with coupon. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA	2 for $8.79 Chicken Fried Steak Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA
Only $4.69 Ranch Steak Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA	Only $4.99 13 Piece Shrimp Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA
Only $4.89 Chopped Steak Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA	2 for $6.99 Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Freshtastiks for one $3.99 each with coupon. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA
Only $4.99 13 Piece Shrimp Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA	2 for $8.79 Chicken Fried Steak Dinner With Free Freshtastiks Food Bar And Soft Serve Dessert Offer includes entree, potato, hot breads and all you can eat from our fabulous Freshtastiks Food Bar. Not valid with any other coupon or discount. Coupon good for all members in party only at participating Bonanza Family Restaurants. Good all day, 7 days a week Offer expires 1/15/91 BONANZA

WICHITA 1210 W. Pawnee 2140 W. 21st Street EMPORIA Hwy. 50 & Industrial SALINA 527 S. Broadway MANHATTAN 622 Tuttle Creek Blvd. JUNCTION CITY 426 Golden Belt Drive HUTCHINSON 1528 E. 17th

Two Kids Eat Free Every Tuesday With the Purchase of Each Adult Meal

Cancer incidents increase

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Lung-cancer rates have climbed so sharply in the United States that the death rate from the disease among non-smoking women is now higher than the total lung-cancer death rate in women 30 years ago, a study shows.

"Cancer is increasing in industrial countries above and beyond that due to cigarette-smoking or aging alone," said Devra Lee Davis, an author of the study and one of the editors of a collection of studies exploring the recent increases in cancer.

The increased rate of lung cancer among women who don't smoke could reflect exposure to second-hand cigarette smoke as well as exposure to radon, asbestos and possibly air pollution, said Davis, a researcher at the National Academy of Sciences in Washington.

According to National Cancer Institute figures, the lung-cancer death rate among all women in 1955 was 5.1 deaths per 100,000 women. Davis and her collaborators calculated that the death rate in women non-smokers by 1985 was 6.1 per 100,000; the total reported lung-cancer death rate that year for women was 26.4.

Sharp increases are also occurring in brain cancer, a blood cancer called multiple myeloma and the dangerous skin cancer called melanoma, Davis said. The increases are occurring in many industrial countries, not just the United States.

"The changes are so great over such a short time in so many countries in men and women that we need to look carefully for their causes," she said. "These could be very important as clues for prevention. And it's better to prevent cancer than to cure it."

Although the studies emphasize occupational and environmental exposure, smoking remains one of the most important causes of cancer, Davis said. In many industrial countries, it is responsible for 40 percent of all cancer deaths in men and 30 percent in women.

Smoking kills an estimated 3 million people each year around the world, and if current trends continue, that will climb to more than 10 million per year by 2020, she said.

The new studies are collected in "Trends in Cancer Mortality in Industrial Countries," which will be released by the New York Academy of Sciences later this week. A copy was obtained by The Associated Press.

Brain cancer in men and women and breast cancer are also rising dramatically, Davis said.

The rise in the cancer rates and death rates is clear, Davis said.

Computers found in education, careers

Demand of skills causes intimidation; others enjoy challenge of learning

By Jennifer Scheibler
Collegian Reporter

Times have changed. Gone are the days of tedious entry of numbers and information by hand. The computer has arrived and found a place in society.

For some, the increasing demand for computers has brought a welcome challenge, but for others it means anxiety and intimidation.

Joseph Campbell, administrative assistant for computer science, said 75 to 80 percent of all people have had contact with computers.

Campbell said he agrees that computers can be intimidating.

He said that it is easy to blame mistakes on the machines but that only humans, not the machines, can make mistakes.

"Computers are only as accurate as the information people put in them," Campbell said.

Contrary to what many people believe, he said, the overall number of jobs available has increased because of computers.

"You can do things so much quicker and more accurately with computers," Campbell said. "This allows more time to do non-computer-related work."

He said computers have brought more convenience to society.

Campbell said computers have also been instrumental in organizing the increased amount of information available.

"There is so much information coming to us," he said. "It comes faster than the human mind can bring meaning to it."

The computer has had a noticeable effect on the workplace.

Many employees have had to learn computer skills for their jobs.

For some, this has led to anxiety, he said.

Campbell said computers are vital to businesses due to the need to organize information such as mailing lists and charge accounts.

"Neglecting to expose the students to computers is keeping them from learning what they need to know."

—Nancy Thompson

Director of elementary education for Manhattan schools

"The biggest asset companies have is their information base," Campbell said. "It is expensive to keep up, but they can't afford not to."

Due to the increase of computers in the workplace, students are being taught to use them as early as kindergarten.

Nancy Thompson, director of elementary education for Manhattan schools, said elementary school students are getting computer exposure and experience early in their education.

The computer curriculum for Manhattan elementary students includes keyboard skills, using computers as a tool and for math, reading and spelling enrichment.

Thompson said it is important for students to have knowledge of the computer because it is a modern-day tool.

"Neglecting to expose the students to computers is keeping them from learning what they need to know," Thompson said.

Campbell said he has noticed an increased number of students entering college with computer knowledge.

He said this change has come about during the last three to four years.

"In 1985 and 1986, it was practically unheard of for students to come to college with significant computer experience," Campbell said.

The increased need for computer experience in college is reflected in the number of students enrolled in Introduction to Personal Computing, Campbell said.

In the last five years, the enrollment in the class has increased from about 150 students per semester to 800 to 900, Campbell said.

"I think students want some kind of computer knowledge," he said. "Most of the students that come out of college now are going to have some sort of exposure to computers and be fairly computer literate."

June Ingram, assistant director of the FENIX Adult Student Program, said computer literacy means different things to different people.

For some, it means knowing how to turn the machine on and off and being able to work with a basic word-processing program. For others, it may mean understanding more about the computer and what it can do along with the ability to perform basic programming.

In a study of the amount of computing being taught to students at eight Kansas colleges, Ingram found that most of the colleges were teaching the basics.

Non-traditional students find frustration when being exposed to technology

By Jennifer Scheibler
Collegian Reporter

Sitting in front of a computer for the first time can be nerve-racking and intimidating.

Non-traditional students often encounter this when entering a University.

Cindy Doperalski, junior in elementary education, said she had had little experience with computers before entering K-State as a non-traditional student.

"I was nervous because I just didn't know enough about the computer," she said.

Doperalski said although she uses a computer to write her papers, she doesn't know everything the computer can do.

"I just do the basics," she said. "Whenever I have a problem or question about the computer, I ask my 11-year-old son."

June Ingram, assistant director of the FENIX Adult Student Program, said the typical non-traditional student comes from a home situation and has been out of the work force for some time. Therefore, they are not always familiar with the latest computer technology.

"At the time they were in the work force, computers were not in vogue," Ingram said.

Ingram said the majority are not computer-phobic even though they are not computer experts.

"They just haven't had the opportunity to work on a computer," she said.

"If adult students have not had the opportunity to be exposed to computers, they can be a stumbling block," said Suzanne Knorr, director of the FENIX Adult Student Program. "Some classes can be difficult for them."

Knorr said any computer anxiety faced by non-traditional students is similar to math anxiety faced by some who return to a math classroom after several years.

"The typical non-traditional student's math skills may be rusty," Knorr said. "This may cause them to be a little anxious."

Sometimes non-traditional students return to college specifically seeking the computer knowledge often required in the workplace, Knorr said.

Ingram said she recommends taking a computer class when she talks with non-traditional students in the FENIX program.

"Computers are helpful to a student," Ingram said. "Personally, I think they make college life easier."

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

BRYAN TRAVEL COLLEGES

Travel Agent • Corporate Travel Mgmt. • Tour Operator
Convention Planner • Hotel & Airline Industry • Car Rental Agent
• Cruise-Line Reservationists • Travel Promotions

24 Credit Hours • Travel Geography • Correspondence Classes
Computer Training • Financial Assistance • Placement Assistance

CALL TOLL FREE

1-800-255-3507

1527 Fairlawn
Topeka, KS
66604

MEN'S SILK BOXERS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro
Lingco AGGIEVILLE

Happy Hanukkah

From The K-State Union

25% Off
Hanukkah Cards
30% Off
Jewish Calendars
and Select Books

Now thru December 12
at the K-State Union
Bookstore

K-State Union
Bookstore
We appreciate your support. Your dollars help us to sponsor student services, programs and activities.

•Citywide Delivery
•537-2526
•Hours: 7 a.m.-1 a.m.
This Week:

Reg. Roast Beef—99¢
606 N. Manhattan

WOW — FOR $3, you can run
15 words for one day in the COLLEGIAN ClassAds.

Tri-County Property Management

Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie

1,2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available

1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

Send your friends a
Ho! Ho! Ho!
lot of love in one of these little packages...

Wish someone a Merry Christmas or congratulate a friend who is graduating in December with a Personal Package in the Kansas State Collegian.

You may choose from the three styles below and print a special message for only $7. Just fill out the form and bring it to the Collegian Advertising Office, Kedzie 101, by 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11. Then enjoy watching your friends open the Collegian to their "package" on Friday, Dec. 14.

Collegian Holiday Message

Name _____ Phone _____
Address _____
Message (25 words or less) _____
Style A B C (circle one)

Samples shown below are reduced. Actual size of ad is 2-1/16 x 2 inches.

Style A

Style B

Style C

PEOPLE STILL SEEK HIM, AS DID THE WISE MEN OF OLD!

Christmas is a time to share love with family and friends, a time to enjoy good things. But it's also a time to reflect and ask questions about one's values, goals, and purpose for existing. We are faculty, staff, and graduate students who are united by our common experience that Jesus Christ provides intellectually and spiritually satisfying answers to life's most important questions.

We sincerely believe that the most wonderful gift any person could receive this Christmas—or any time—is new life in Christ. It's available to all who seek and accept Him. We encourage you to consider His offer. And Merry Christmas.

Albert Adams
Dick Akins
Beth Alloway
Jay Alloway
Neil V. Anderson
Keith Beeman
Deborah D. Canter
Kevin Carnes
James W. Carpenter
Kenneth H. Carpenter
Stanley J. Clark
Charlotte Dahl
Stephen A. Dyer
Heather D. Fahnestock
Jace Fahnestock
Allen Featherstone
Don Fenton
Stephen D. Fisher
Brenda J. Gage
Wayne A. Geyer

Brock Griffin
Charles J. Griffin
Dorothy C. Griffin
Joe Harner
Beth Hartenstein Tolentino
David C. Hartnett
Dale P. Hawkinson
Reinee E. Hildebrandt
Gary Johnson
Mark S. Joy
Jim Kimble
Brad Kramer
Diane Laughlin
Jay Laughlin
Dave Laurie
Dennis L. Law
Garland Lewis
Leon Lyles
Keith D. Lynch
Dan McCanamey

Daniel C. Martin
Keith B. Miller
Ruth Miller
Medhat M. Morcos
Herb Moser
Dave Mugler
Paul Parsons
Kurt M. Pyle
Robert Reeves
Robert K. Ridley
John Schlender
Gene Schneider
Michael Solomonson
Mark Spinar
Vera Springer
Marjorie Stith
Mark Taussig
Rosemary Visser
Ian Welsh
Rhonda Wilson

Priests lead protest

Thousands march for human rights, Sakharov in Russia

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Religious chants echoed off the walls of KGB headquarters Sunday as thousands of human-rights demonstrators prayed and wept at a nearby monument to the victims of Soviet repression.

Led by three Russian Orthodox priests bearing icons, marchers carried wreaths, placards denouncing President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, and photographs of human-rights activist Andrei Sakharov, who died one year ago this week.

The 3,000 to 4,000 protesters came from near Red Square where they had rallied to mark Monday's International Human Rights Day. They shouted repeatedly for Gorbachev to resign and heard radical politicians deride him as "His Majesty, Mikhail the Bloody."

The five-hour demonstration reached a more somber climax across the street from the Lubyanka, the secret police headquarters and former prison, where a monument has been erected to the millions of innocents who perished under Communist rule.

More than 10 million people are believed to have been shot or died from hunger, cold or hard labor in labor camps under previous Soviet leaders.

"Lord, take the souls of these innocent victims under your protection," a small choir chanted as a priest clad in gold robes and carrying incense walked around the monument.

Their requiem, amplified through megaphones, reverberated off the pink, gray and yellow granite facade of the KGB building.

The 8-foot-long and 3-foot-wide rock monument, hewn from the Solovetsky Islands in the White Sea, the site of a famous labor camp, was dedicated in October.

Other marchers mourned the loss of Sakharov, the Nobel Peace Prize laureate and father of the Soviet Union's human-rights movement, who died on Dec. 14, 1989.

"Nobody can possibly replace Sakharov," said Lyudmila Kocheyeva when asked whether any current political figure can take up the late nuclear physicist's role as the nation's conscience.

"He has very many supporters and many who follow his path," she said, waiting to place her candle on the memorial stone.

Organizers of the rally sent a delegation of lawmakers to place a wreath on Sakharov's grave in a southwest Moscow cemetery.

Jazz class to play several styles

By The Collegian Staff

The K-State Jazz Lab A will perform their only concert of the semester tonight at 8 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel.

Jazz Lab A is a special class in that it requires an audition for enrollment.

"Auditions are held on the first day of classes each semester," said Ben Rohrer, instructor of music.

Rohrer said the concert will feature a variety of jazz styles.

The program will feature eight arrangements: John Berry's "Lift Off," Kenny Wheeler's "Country Road," Hank Levy's "A Smith named Greg," Bob Mintzer's "Brazilian Affair," Rob McConnell's "Things are Getting Better," Ian McDougall's "Dam that Dream," Jeff Jarvis' "Tiger Lady" and Don Rader's "Greasy Sack Blues."

"There will be a mixture of jazz styles that will be performed," said Justin Jackson, junior in nuclear engineering. "Everything from funk to a bassy style of jazz will be played."

This concert will feature a little more difficult literature, Rohrer said. Some tunes will be from the Woody Herman Big Band Era.

For Jackson, the lab provides an opportunity to practice his chops.

"The jazz lab helps with improvisational solos," Jackson said. "I've played the saxophone since I was in middle school. When I came to college, I wanted to keep going with it."

Jackson said the jazz lab is a relaxing class to have in his schedule and has helped with his improvisational skills.

"I can play more technically than I could in high school," he said.

"I hope everyone leaves the concert feeling good about it when they leave," he said.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

532-6555

Kedzie 103

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan-K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103 $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! You receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locators, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881, 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Krupp, 539-6193 after 5:30 p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka, 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OUTING Club is going backpacking Dec. 26-30 (also canoeing, sailing, biking, etc.) 539-0216.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111. 8 a.m.—8 p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. One-bedroom in complex, $330. Call OK. Call 776-6697.

BIG ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $250 a month plus electricity and gas. Call 776-4532, leave a message.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-6401.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

NICE FURNISHED apartment in lake home 10 minutes from campus. $250 including utilities for single person. Available January—May. 539-3078.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundromat, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4 p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location. $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking. $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, Three blocks west of campus. Available Jan. 12. Utilities paid. No lease required. No pets. Non-smoker. Private parking. $275. References required. 539-5117.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets. lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom in complex, northwest side. Available now for January. 776-8725.

QUIET SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30 p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January. 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carport, patio, laundry. $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May. $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, spacious, clean two-bedroom, one and one-half bath basement apartment. $375/ month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westport, garage, washer/dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9084 weekdays.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, flexible lease, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SOLDIER GOING to Saudi Arabia has to rent large one-bedroom close to campus. $325/ month. Please call 537-3160.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT available Jan. 1. Call 537-2096 for info.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville. Available December. $280 water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. East-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1. Three blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 537-5079.

(Continued on page 71)

Let's Share

During November and December 1990, for every canned good you bring to Kedzie 103, we'll give you 50 cents off a COLLEGIAN Classified Ad. (Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

1 can	50 cents
2 cans	$1.00
3 cans	$1.50
4 cans	$2.00
5 cans	$2.50
6 cans	$3.00

Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Offer expires 12/13/90

Welcome to

Collage
the uptown salon

Alicia & Verna Lee
Ph. 776-2225 110 N. 3rd
Tues.—Sat.

ALL ABOARD
WITH UPC!

Remember...
ART RENTAL RETURNS

Union Courtyard
December 10 & 11
10 a.m.-4 p.m.

MY BLUE HEAVEN
December 14, 15 & 16

Steve Martin's a mobster... Rick Moranis, the FBI agent assigned to protect him in this outrageous new comedy from writer Nora Ephron, Oscar-nominee for "When Harry Met Sally." Relocated by the government protection program, Martin uses his silver-tongued wit and atrocious charm to run rampant in suburbia turning the small community upside-down, making life a living nightmare for Moranis and for the tough assistant D.A. who wants him in jail. FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m., Forum Hall $1.75 with KSU ID.

Santa Suit Rental

$15 for one day
Call 532-6571
Monday-Friday
8 a.m.-4 p.m.
for reservations
now through Dec. 23

Frank Capra's personal favorite of all his movies, this is the beloved fable of a man who gets the chance to see what life would be like if he had never been born. Stars James Stewart and Donna Reed. WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall & THURSDAY, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre. $1.75 with KSU ID.

It's a
WONDERFUL Life
December 12 & 13

FREE SHUTTLE

K-State Union
Bookstore

We really move
our bus for you!

December 12, 13 & 14

Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the Bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windsock!

Spring Rush Shuttle will run January 14-18, January 21-25 and January 28-February 1.

Support the K-State Union!
Your dollars help the K-State
Union sponsor student activities, programs and services

SKIERS!

See us for all your ski needs!
Downhill Equipment Rental
X-C Sales and Rental

Jackets
Underwear
Socks
Fanny Packs
T-Necks

Pants/Bibs
Pullover
Sunglasses
Gloves
Sweaters

the PATHFINDER
OUTDOOR EQUIPMENT SPECIALISTS

1111 Moro Aggieville 539-5639
Dec. Hrs: M-Th 9-8, Fri. 9-6, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5

(Continued from page 6B)

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.
TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, POOL, fireplace, water and trash paid for $350 for the first six months. Must rent. 776-5330.

TWO, NICE large two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available December and January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON, one-bedroom studio close to City Park. No utilities except water and trash, $260. Available Jan. 1. 539-3703.

AVAILABLE NOW! One-bedroom apartment. $200/month. Fully furnished/unfurnished. 537-1538 or 776-8255.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

HUGE ONE-BEDROOM for one or two people available January, $240. 776-8535.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment available in January. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to Aggieville. Utilities paid except electricity, $420/month. 537-1673.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT. Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1968 VW Bug, great condition, must see! Will take best offer. Call 1-494-8319 anytime.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT, 539-0216.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,500, must sell. Call Arora 532-4425/539-8257.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded. Velour interior. Call after 10 a.m. 776-5389.

FOR SALE by sealed bid. Two each, remanufactured Chevrolet V-8 cylinder heads; four each, Monroe gas-matic struts for 1981, '82, '83 Ford Fairmonts; two sets, Campbell tire chains—fits 13" and 14" radial tires; two sets, car chairs—fits 14" and 15" tires. Items may be inspected at the Kansas State University Physical Facilities Garage, 17th and Clifton. Contact John Edwards 532-6382. Bids close Dec. 14, 1990 at 1 p.m. Kansas State University reserves the right to accept or reject all bids.

6 Child Care

FACULTY COUPLE seeks nanny for our 3-year-old son, 8:30a.m.—noon Monday, Wednesday, Friday and 8:30a.m.—4p.m. Tuesday, Thursday, Begin Jan. 7. Must provide own transportation to our home four blocks south of campus. $75 per week. 776-6396.

NANNIES. EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1964.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such "employment opportunity" with reasonable caution.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)954-2814.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000, Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

NANNIES. LIVE-IN positions—East Coast. Airfare, great salaries. Fun social activities. Carefully screened families. Individualized attention. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison, Princeton, N.J. 08540. (609)497-1195.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Templeton Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

PERMANENT PART-TIME person for childcare in our home. 16-23 hours per week. No evenings, Fridays or weekends. Non-smoker! references requested. Starting Jan. 14. Call 539-7360.

RADIO/TV Majors. If you would like radio experience, 1420 country, "KJCK in Junction City," has a part-time position open. Six board shift per week. Call 776-9494, 10a.m.—2p.m., ask for Mark. EOE.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6487 or 537-2667 for applications.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, menu dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B268.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 87196

9 Food Specials

Every Monday
1/2 Price
Nite
 Order any dinner or sandwich and receive the 2nd at 1/2 price
 Evenings 5-8:30 p.m.

The CHEF
 111 S. 4th

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Queen-sized waterbed, padded rails, headboard, $150 or best offer. 776-0535.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

MOVING SALE, misc. items, furnishings and bed—like new. Call 539-0361. Prices are negotiable.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE, 1121 Clifton, stove and refrigerator, off-street parking. 539-4154.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: BART Simpson keys. Claim in room 123, Umlinger.

LOST: GOLD colored watch, Stretch band. Call between 8a.m.—5p.m. Ask for Jackie, 532-6555.

LOST: HEAVY blue gray coat in Seaton Hall. Reward. 537-2968 or Seaton 204.

LOST: LARGE oval purple brooch in Farrell Library. Sentimental value—reward. Call Becca 539-1846.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

$130, 8x40, one-bedroom, large private lot one mile from Manhattan Mall. Pets upon approval. 776-5513.

17 Mobile Homes for Sale

SALE. TWO-BEDROOM, appliances, large awning. Cute home. Payments $139.64. Set up close to campus. Countryside, 539-2325.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, lots of accessories. $375. 776-1638.

19 Music/Musicians

FOR SALE: Yamaha wood clarinet, great condition, $150. Call Kim at 539-2456.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

ARRON: TWO years ago today, Tequila Sunrise, bowling and lots of fun. Our time together has been great! My Love always, Janis.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC REGISTERED buff color Cocker Spaniel puppies. Reserve yours now for Christmas. 1-494-2838.

AKC REGISTERED Male Rottweiler puppy needs loving home, 8 weeks old, $400. 1-456-8259 after 6p.m.

ONE PUREBRED Chow puppy left. Wormed and has shots. Best reasonable offer. 776-2497 ask for Jim.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS
PETS & STUFF
 1115 Wagon
 OPEN Mon. 10-6 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

COLLEGE PAPERS, resumes, letters, $1.25 double; $2.50 single. Quality work and print. Betty 539-6851, Clifton.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING the best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employees helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

ONE FEMALE, non-smoking roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus. $132/month plus one-third utilities. First month free. 537-4634.

A GREAT apartment. Only $130 monthly plus one-third utilities. One block from campus. Call Amy 537-4510.

AVAILABLE SPRING—Clean, cute apartment for one or two females. 776-0135 evenings or 539-2301 anytime.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, own new room, at Woodway Apartments, $135 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-2616.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house to share with female roommate. Spring semester. Own room. $175/month plus utilities. 776-0595.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate wanted, close to campus and Aggieville. $143 plus one-fourth utilities, available immediately. Call 539-4851.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $146/month, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE, OWN room in two-bedroom house two blocks to campus. $162.50 month plus one-half utilities. Prefer graduate student. 539-4069.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice, furnished apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus. Available Jan. 1, $131.25 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8983.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment. $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments. $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for January—July. Own room. No deposit. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130 per month, own room, newly remodeled. 776-3835.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, quiet neighborhood, $190/month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room, $160/month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville, Call 539-8766 after 5p.m., Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carport, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upperclassman or graduate student. Own bedroom, $150 a month, utilities paid, plus season basketball ticket. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

HELP! I'm going home next semester and am looking for a female roommate to share apartment with two great roommates! Own bedroom, $150/month. Call Dawn at 539-5855.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)954-2814.

JAN. 1, own room, $148 plus utilities, near campus. 537-4510 Carlos.

MALE, CHRISTIAN, Roommate to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private room, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $195. 537-8048.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE ROOMMATE—$150/month, one-third utilities, private bedroom, close to campus, by City Park. 776-3797.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $175 month plus one-third utilities, own room, available Jan. 1. Mark 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130/month, one-third utilities, no deposit, own room, close to campus. 539-5309.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share three-bedroom apartment, own room. $140/month, one-third utilities. Close to campus and Aggieville. No deposit necessary. Call 539-0928.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $159 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/month. Own room, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1661.

MALE ROOMMATE, share four-room house with laundry and kitchen, utilities paid. $175/month. 776-7369.

MATURE MALE roommate(s) wanted. Now or Jan. 1. Off-street parking, washer/dryer. Two blocks from campus. $125 plus utilities and deposit. 539-5727.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog, P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester, $187.50/month plus one-half utilities. Own room in furnished apartment. No deposit. 10 minute walk from campus. 5 minute walk from Aggieville. Call Scott or Julie, 539-3277.

ROOMMATE. PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-6886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

SPRING SEMESTER roommate wanted, four-bedroom house, own room, next to KSU, $135/month. 776-1252.

THREE MATES to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private rooms, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $200. 537-0472.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed for spring semester. Own rooms. One block from campus, washer/dryer. $125 per month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Available January—May. Close to campus. $185 each plus utilities. Call 776-6349.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, in/outdoor pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, cut, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care—Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SOUTHERN SUN
 Christmas Gift Pack
 10 Tans &
 Bottle of Accelerator
 $32
 (while supplies last)
 519 N. 12th • 776-8060

26 Stereo Equipment

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 54, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

TWO 15" subwoofers, new, still in box, $75 each. 537-0510.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

GUN & KNIFE show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport, Saturday, Dec. 15, 9a.m. to 5p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 9a.m. to 4p.m. Information (913)922-6979.

28 Sublease

APARTMENT AVAILABLE Jan. 1, two-bedroom, dishwasher, next to City Park. 539-1178, 537-4127 or 776-1745.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus, Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment, Blumont Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment. $130/month. One-third utilities. Call Susan at 776-3218.

FURNISHED ONE-BEDROOM, large, sunny, next to campus, available January, rent negotiable. Call 537-8647 after 6p.m.

GREAT SUBLEASE. Female for spring semester, furnished apartment. Low utilities. Next to campus. Call 539-3122.

NEW THREE-BEDROOM, one and one-half bath, close to campus. Available Jan. 1st—July 30th. $540. 539-3638.

SUBLEASE. STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

$120, PLANE ticket from KCI to San Diego, Dec. 18. Leave message for Michelle—532-5620.

$60, PLANE ticket from KCI to New York City, Dec. 28. Call 776-9728 after 6p.m.

ROUND-TRIP FLIGHT ticket to Florida, leaving Dec. 19, returning Jan. 21. $120. 537-1781.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

SHP 3-PHASE motors 15' boat motor trailer, $500. Model A, Austin America, Civic parts. 539-0216.

Forensics reaches mid-point

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

K-State's forensic team is at the halfway point of their season and plans to use the Christmas holiday to prepare for the second half.

"Some students write new speeches, some stay away from their topic so they don't become stale with it," said Craig Brown, coach of the forensic team and speech instructor. "Right now, we are going to try and work with the people who haven't qualified for nationals."

The forensic team has competed in nine tournaments and won first, second or third place in sweepstakes six times. Sweepstakes rates how the team does overall. Six students have qualified for nationals in seven events, and team members have received 90 individual trophies.

The team has already surpassed last year's results, winning more trophies and qualifying more people for nationals.

"I've been connected with the forensic team one way or another since 1978, and this is the best team since the 1982 team," Brown said.

"We have a lot of good students, and sometimes we find ourselves holding our own team members out to allow another member of the team to qualify for nationals," Brown said.

Jason Brown, senior in speech, has participated in impromptu speaking, after-dinner speaking, and communication analysis.

"For my communication-analysis speech, I talked about 2 Live Crew and how their lawyer used different methods to win their case and how the government was denying the band to do what they wanted," he said.

"Over the Christmas break I will work on my speeches by taking out old lines and replacing them with new lines until I get it exactly how I want it," Jason Brown said.

Mark Esfeld, sophomore in milling science and management, said team members bring their own ideas in and try them out on the coaches. This is good way to weed out the bad ideas, he said, because the coaches have already competed on the circuit.

Laura Camien, sophomore in arts and sciences undecided, said, "I went through a lot of topics and tried to get one that is controversial. I had a really good time researching my topic. You're not going to do well if you don't like your topic."

"My favorite thing about being on the squad is the people themselves. They are bunch of fun, intelligent people and it is fun to compete together," she said.

A miracle

King Melchior and King Balthazar, played by Andrew Stuckey, left, and Omar Auirre, right, listen to King Kaspar, played by Jerry Langenkamp, as he heralds the miracle recovery of the crippled child Amahl during the dinner-theater production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" at the Wareham Opera House Sunday afternoon. Another presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 16 at 2 p.m. For information or reservations call 537-0380.

Gary Lytle/Staff

Album mixes good, bad

'Explicit Rap' powerful, but inconsistent

COLLEGIAN Report Card "EXPLICIT RAP"

B

By Heather Anderson
Collegian Reviewer

They say you can't judge a book by its cover, but with Priority Records' release, "Explicit Rap," you get exactly that.

Not to say the album is all bad. For every mindless collection of meaningless nasty words is an equally powerful and painfully honest piece of work.

And, if you don't watch yourself, you might actually laugh at some extremely funny moments in the lyrics.

2 Live Crew's "Me So Horny" is an appropriate opening number for this album. I had never heard this song before. Having dismissed it as a passing adolescent-based controversy, I didn't deem it deserving of the effort it would take to find a copy.

When the opening tracks began to blast through my car speakers, however, I found myself bopping around the driver's seat like a 14-year-old with a learner's permit and Dad's Pioneer system.

Unfortunately, the lyrics were pointless.

It is true that 2 Live Crew front-man Luke Campbell is offensive to any woman with a conscience. But, ladies, can we be truly offended by a man who refers to himself as "a dog in heat?"

It's too bad Campbell comes off as a goofy kid. 2 Live Crew shows some legitimate talent and promise with this one.

In N.W.A.'s "A Bitch Iz a Bitch," rapper Ice Cube describes all the traits he hates in a woman — being stuck up, money hungry and a sex fiend.

He does make a (very) small point, and he does mention that this description doesn't apply to all women. He shows an embarrassing tendency, however, towards hypocrisy when he says that he's better than any woman, that he'll make all the money and that he'll use women only for sex.

"Cusswords" by Too Short is too stupid to even discuss. Simply fast forward past this one.

The same goes for "Girls ..." by Ice-T.

The release includes work by the controversial Gato Boys, Choice, Bobby Jimmy and Awesome Dre. Again, the rest of the album ranges from stark realism to just plain goofy — for instance, the last track is titled "Wienie Whistlers."

The best part of this release is an order form for all sorts of great merchandise, from N.W.A. garb to a prison-designed Compton County shirt.

If you're into controversy or simply honest-to-goodness rap, this album is a must.

Crisis center assists callers

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

Seventeen men and two women called 532-6565 last week seeking counseling, and the FONE Crisis Center picked up the receiver and complied.

With finals coming up, the holiday season in full swing and family members being deployed to the Middle East, FONE expects calls to increase dramatically within the next few weeks.

FONE is a volunteer center which supports its callers through traumatic experiences. They get phone calls dealing with anything from stress to suicide.

"We talk to anyone about anything," said Charlene Nichols, coordinator for FONE and senior in journalism.

Empathy versus sympathy, listening skills, understanding and said Andrea Chirafisi, co-assistant coordinator for FONE and junior in psychology.

This semester, FONE has 42 volunteers, one coordinator, and two co-assistants. FONE staffs two people from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m. to take calls. They also have people on-call.

All 42 volunteers are students and choose their own working hours.

"We have never had to turn people away that have wanted to help at FONE," Chirafisi said.

Many volunteers are social-work or psychology majors, but others majors represented include engineering and architecture.

KANSAS STATE Orchestra

David Littrell, conductor

Bach	Orchestral Suite No. 1 in C Major
Mozart	"Vedrai, carino" from Dog Giovanni
	Dayna Snook, mezzo-soprano
Milhaud	Scaramouche Suite
	Christopher Goins, alto saxophone
Bellini	"Son vergin vezzosa" from I Puritani
	Al-ze Wang, soprano
Shostakovich	Symphony No. 1 in F Minor

Tuesday, 11 December 1990 8:00 p.m.
McCain Auditorium

This KSU Orchestra concert is supported in part by the Fine Arts Fee.

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams • Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases. Providing quality health care to women since 1974. Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

Comprehensive
Health for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)
Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400
Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

GERI

Haircut $10 (reg. $18)

Perm $45 (reg. $55)

(special offer expires Dec. 22)

TINA'S
Studio 32
FOR HAIR

776-8830

Candlewood

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook
Items at

Varney's
BOOK STORE

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S

(regardless of where you bought them)

AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN

PLUS

A COUPON GOOD FOR
20% OFF

K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books on the dates listed. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Mon., Dec. 10, thru Sat., Dec. 15, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sun., Dec. 16, Noon-5 p.m.

Mon., Dec. 17 thru Thu., Dec. 20, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

Fri., Dec. 21 & Sat. Dec. 22, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sun., Dec. 23, Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
N AGGIEVILLE

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

PHOTOJOURNALISM

Apply now for spring 1991

Staff and Freelance Photographer positions for the Kansas State Collegian and Royal Purple.

Pick up application and sign up
for an interview in Kedzie 103.

Deadline for returning applications
Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Bring portfolio to your scheduled interview on Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Questions: Contact Margaret Clarkin, 532-6556

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, December 10, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 72

Amid homecomings, tough talk continues

CRISIS IN THE MIDDLE EAST

By The Associated Press

More than 150 freed American hostages on Monday returned to joyful homecomings, but hopes of peace raised by their release were dimmed by tough statements from both sides in the Persian Gulf crisis.

Despite its decision to free the thousands of foreign captives, the Baghdad government made its most bellicose statement in weeks on Kuwait, saying it would "not compromise one iota" in its claim to the emirate it seized on Aug. 2.

President Bush, in a Washington speech proclaiming Monday as Human Rights Day, denounced the Iraqi takeover of Kuwait as a "systematic assault on the soul of a nation."

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney, meanwhile, said Iraq's move to free the foreigners should not create unrealistic expectations about a resolution to the gulf crisis. He also said Iraqi President Saddam Hussein deserved no particular praise for deciding to end his "abhorrent" hostage holding.

France announced it would increase its troops by an unspecified number, and Cheney said Saddam had been sending in reinforcements in recent days.

A Pan American flight from Frankfurt,

Germany, arrived at Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington late Monday afternoon with 152 Americans and four Canadians.

Those aboard the military-chartered flight had flown out of Baghdad the day before, the first Americans to go free under an Iraqi decree releasing all foreign hostages. Some in that group were taking later flights home.

At the Frankfurt stopover, many appeared thin and tired after their 4½-month ordeal in captivity.

"It was like a gulag," said 58-year-old Robert Vinton of Santa Fe, N.M., who was held south of Baghdad at an oil refinery.

Provisions on board the U.S.-bound flight included Big Macs and champagne, U.S. officials said.

At Andrews, the former hostages appeared tired but most smiled as they left the plane.

Relatives in the crowd held up signs, including one that said, "Daddy, Daddy, I Need You."

The group got on three buses to be taken to a processing area and made no public comments.

Another 123 British, Australian and Irish citizens arrived in London aboard two flights from Rome and Frankfurt.

"I feel euphoric," said freed British hostage Harvey May.

Australian Steve Hicking proposed to his girlfriend when she met him at London's Heathrow Airport. She said yes.

Also, 384 Westerners, about 227 of them Britons, left Baghdad aboard a British-chartered flight on Monday. Diplomats said some Americans were aboard but were unable to give an immediate breakdown.

U.S. officials said they planned to charter another flight from Baghdad in three or four days to evacuate the rest of the estimated 750 Americans in Iraq and Kuwait. Britain said it hoped to fly out another 320 Britons and others on Tuesday.

Word of the French decision to send in more troops came from Defense Minister Jean-Pierre Chevenement, who said the size of the increase would be announced later. France currently has about 6,200 army and air force troops in Saudi Arabia, where most of the multinational force is deployed.

Iraq is building up its forces too, Cheney told a defense industry group in Washington. Even as Saddam freed hostages, Cheney said, "he has simultaneously continued to build up his deployments in Kuwait, to enhance his

■ See HOSTAGES, Page 10

Blank page task force presents report

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

The Riley, Geary and Pottawatomie county region must broaden its economic base beyond its present dependence on Fort Riley and K-State or face a worsening quality of life.

That is the conclusion of the final report Monday night of the Blank Page Economic Task Force to the Manhattan City Commission and the Riley County Commission.

Rich Mann, chairman of the task force, said the two local government agencies commissioned the study on economic development a year ago, and it was carried out by 47 volunteer citizens from Riley County.

Both the written report and Monday's oral presentation were divided into individual reports by the history committee, the resources committee, the measurement and model committee, the vision committee and the needs and strategies committee.

Starting with the history committee, each committee was given a specific mission and passed their findings on to the next committee, Mann said.

K-State Engineering Dean Don Rathbone, chair of the measurement and model committee, said 49.6 percent of the jobs in the three-county area are public-sector jobs. Another 38 percent are in the service-product sector and 12.4 percent are in manufacturing.

This compares to a state-wide average of 19 percent of jobs in the public sector, 26 percent in manufacturing and 55 percent in the service sector, he said.

"Predictions are growth of K-State and Fort Riley will stay level in the 90s," Rathbone said. "Service industry is close to its capacity in the region. We have to concentrate on manufacturing if indeed we want growth."

Rathbone said K-State and the American Institute of Baking provide existing strengths and activities for targeting industries in grain and flour milling.

John Walters, chair of the resources committee, said not enough was being done to attract spin-off industries from K-State and Fort Riley, the two major resources available to the region.

Bill Varney, chairman of the needs and strategies committee, said his committee recommended the creation of a Kaw Valley Development Authority to analyze the present situation and coordinate the efforts of all entities interested in economic development in the region.

The KVDA would also target industries which have the potential of moving to the region, he said.

To further attract industry, Varney's committee proposed an industrial park in Riley County, a research park on land currently owned by K-State and $40 million worth of improvements to the airport.

Varney said that cities and counties in the region that would benefit from the activities of the KVDA should contribute funding for the estimated $300,000 in salaries for its personnel. Additional revenue would come from the Manhattan, Junction City and Wamego Chambers of Commerce and the KSU Foundation.

The report listed the Riley County contribution at $25,000, the city of Manhattan's at $125,000 and the

■ See COMMISSION, Page 10

Mike Welchans/Staff

Brick by brick

Michael Reasoner, KSU grounds facilities employee lays bricks to complete a new bicycle parking area in front of Fairchild Hall Monday. The area is one of many new brick facelifts around campus.

Musical chairs annoying

Concert goers angered over rearranged seating for AC/DC

By Paul Noel
Staff Reporter

Some AC/DC fans were left "Thunderstruck" after Sunday's concert, but several others felt they were "Shot Down In Flames" by the box office.

Over 200 ticket holders had to be relocated due to the bulky stage arrangement, said Charles Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum.

Although specific measurements of Bramlage were sent to the people in charge of setting up the stage, several modifications had to be made before the stage would fit into the coliseum, Thomas said.

"Anytime we schedule a concert, we don't know what the stage is going to look like until it gets here," he said. "We were barely able to have the show."

Jim Roth, Emporia, said that when he purchased his ticket over the phone, there were seats available on the floor but was told the seats in section five were closer to the stage. When Roth arrived at the concert, he was moved to row 29 of section five because his seat in row five was cordoned off.

"I understand why the seats had to be changed, but I think they should have moved us to a better section than they did," he said. "I could have purchased seats on the floor, but because the people at the box office told me I could get better seats in the stands, I ended up in the nose-bleed section."

Becky Montoya, Bramlage box office manager, said many people expect the ticket sellers to be experts on the show. She said there's not much that can be done about the confusion with the tickets now that the concert is over.

Thomas said arranging seats in most cases becomes a battle between the building and the promoter.

"Bramlage Coliseum is ideal for basketball games, but it is not ideal for shows," he said.

Montoya said only one person asked for a refund because he found his seat unacceptable, but he will not be refunded because he asked for it after the show was over.

Richard Seaton, university attorney, said that he could sympathize with those who were moved but that no refunds could be made if they stayed for the concert.

"If you look at the ticket as a contract, it would have been a breach of location," Seaton said, "but by accepting or staying in a different location, they may have waived their right to object."

Several people were given new seats at the concert and some chose to sit in the section that was cordoned off rather than to sit in the seats provided for those who were moved. Montoya said there were a few seats in rows 8-11, but most were moved to row 24 or higher in sections five and 20.

Thomas said there are always seats set aside for situations like this, but there were too many people that had to be moved in this case. He said more people were relocated at the AC/DC concert than any other concert at Bramlage.

"We had no control over the people who set the stage up," Thomas said. "It was their house for the day."

People take the chance of being moved when they buy seats that close to the stage, he said. The ability to see the concert depends on how high speaker stacks or ledges are on the stage.

Former banker blames S&L crisis on human greed

By Mary Skinner
Collegian Reporter

Steve Church, junior in agriculture education and a former agri-business banker, admits that while he only speaks from his own experiences in the finance industry, he thinks that the savings-and-loan crisis stems from the human element of greed within the bankers and the legal profession.

Church spent much of his life in the finance industry, with the last four years in an agri-business savings and loan in St. Paul, Minn.

"My area of expertise was working in difficult situations that no one else could figure out," Church said. "I've found that you can solve almost anything if you deal with people honorably and fairly, and not always getting lawyers involved. Then it's not so hard to work out."

Church said the crisis has been going on for a while and that is the nature of Americans to stick their heads in the sand.

"Why aren't regulatory qualifications required of bankers like the certification of teachers," he said. "There needs to be standards that bankers need to meet."

The standards could be set by a banking commission, Church said. "People in finance know that things will change if those that are concerned about the situation stand up against those who are causing the problems," he said. "The answer is not printing more money or raising taxes."

Because of this, all publicity goes to those who get caught cheating and stealing from the banks and savings and loans they work with and to the financial ramifications on the industry and economy, he said.

When regulatory people come in to review a savings and loan's policies and procedures, they can make recommendations to the management team, but they cannot make actual changes, Church said. If the owners do not want to correct the problems, they sweep them under the rug.

"These are the types of procedures we need to stop," he said.

Church said that from what he has seen, Americans have glorified the Donald Trumps of the world but haven't addressed the idea that maybe not enough people understand finance to manage the industry.

"Many bankers talk smart but have no idea what they are saying," he said.

People think that the government can solve everything, but it is forgotten that the people are the government, Church said.

"To save it, we need to work with those in the communities and invest money back into the home communities," Church said. "We need to find the concerned people that care about the community."

The people running the banks need to be from the community instead of from Texas or other states, he said.

People brought in from other places will have a different frame of thinking than people living in the communities, he said.

"Bankers need to realize that they don't own the money, but that they are caretakers of the community," Church said.

Church said the problem started when bankers started loaning funds to only the upper- and middle-classes instead of to the farmers whose jobs may be more unstable.

"They forgot to realize that if the upper- and middle-classes lose their jobs, then they can't make payments either," he said.

Church said the well-managed savings and loans have an exceptional future.

"Those that will survive offer the personal touches," Church said. "The solution to some of the problems will be that many of them will go out of business. Anywhere there is mass corruption, that is the death penalty."

America needs to roll up its sleeves and go back to work, he said.

Eric Mann, vice president of Manhattan Federal Savings and Loan, said, "Within the next two to three years, they will enforce closer regulatory reviews. They are also trying to increase the capital for those savings and loan associations that are weak."

The regulatory agencies will look closely at the safety and soundness of the institutions, Mann said.

Dole requests money for hometown project

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The National Park Service will study whether Wilson Lake in central Kansas should become a national recreation area — although it had no intention of doing so.

Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole won $125,000 from the federal budget this fall for the study involving the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers project near his hometown of Russell. That was despite the fact the Park Service, which would oversee the area, had not sought the money.

"Wilson Lake was a surprise," said Alan Hutchings, chief of planning for the Park Service's regional office in Omaha, Neb. "But there may be something there."

Dole also helped secure

$590,000 for planning and study of a new visitors center at Fort Larned National Historic Site in Larned, Kan., ahead of Park Service approval. And he obtained $150,000 to study which of two northeast Kansas towns should be the site of a Pony Express visitors center, though Congress has not yet endorsed the trail.

"We're very proud of our historic heritage and our natural wonders," said Walt Riker, Dole's press secretary. "We think that Kansas has been short-changed far too long, and we have some historic sites that ought to be revitalized. If people in other parts of the U.S. or bureaucrats don't like it, well, that's too bad."

However, one Park Service of-

■ See DOLE, Page 10

BRIEFLY

World

Alia to meet with students

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Communist leader Ramiz Alia agreed on Monday to meet with striking students, a day after police engaged in fist fights with student demonstrators.

A diplomat in Tirana reached by telephone earlier in the day reported that some people were hurt there and that many were arrested in Sunday's rare show of public defiance against the Communist regime.

"The situation at Tirana University continues to be in disorder," the official ATA news agency said late Monday in reporting on what appeared a full-scale protest of university students in the Albanian capital.

It said most students boycotted classes, gathering instead at dormitories to draw up a demand for a meeting with Alia to express to him their problems and troubles. Alia is both head of state and chief of the Communist Party.

Communists beat opposition

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Opposition leaders conceded defeat Monday in their bid to unseat Serbia's ruling Communists in an election that threatened to split Yugoslavia. They also accused the Communists of widespread cheating.

"On Sunday, Serbia chose Bolshevism and darkness instead of democracy and light," said Vuk Draskovic, the main rival of hard-line Communist President Slobodan Milosevic.

"I don't want and I don't belong to that kind of Serbia," said Draskovic, a dissident novelist and leader of the nationalist Serbian Renewal Movement. He was visibly shaken by the defeat.

Nation

Soviets back Baker's stand

HOUSTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, which has stood with the United States in the five-month drive to get Iraq out of Kuwait, on Monday backed the tough stand taken by Secretary of State James Baker III on holding talks in Baghdad.

The endorsement came from Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze at a meeting in Houston with Baker on the Persian Gulf situation.

Baker has rejected an Iraqi proposal that he go to Baghdad on Jan. 12, only three days before the deadline set by the U.N. Security Council for Iraq to quit Kuwait or face a forcible eviction.

Baker said Sunday he "won't be a party to playing games that back us up to that deadline."

He proposed going to Baghdad to see President Saddam Hussein either Dec. 20, 21 or 22 or on Jan. 3.

FDA approves contraceptive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration on Monday approved the first major new method of birth control for American women in three decades — a long-acting contraceptive implant called Norplant.

Women's health groups said the approval gives Americans a contraceptive choice already available to women in 16 other countries. But, they said, it also highlights how few birth-control choices American women have.

"In many ways, this is good news, but it's only the first new method in 30 years, and we are going to have to see how it plays itself out," said Jeannie Rosoff, president of the Alan Guttmacher Institute, a group that researches contraceptive issues.

Pastor gets permission for dog

ELLENDALE, Del. (AP) — A blind clergyman can return to the pulpit after a 10-week absence now that he's won permission to have his guide dog in church.

The decision was announced at Sunday's service at Mount Zion AME church. The Rev. Le Roy Singleton, an associate pastor, was sitting in the fourth row with his wife, Emma, and his guide dog, Digby.

Singleton's vision had been failing for years because of glaucoma and diabetes.

He got the German shepherd-collie mixed breed in September, but he said the Rev. Ellsworth Coleman, the church's pastor, told him the dog was not welcome in the church.

Singleton, who had been sitting in the pulpit, moved to the back pews with the dog, saying he did not want to cause any problems in the church. He also stopped performing ministerial duties.

"I'm allowed to come in church, and I'm allowed to sit where I want to sit, and that's all I wanted from the beginning," Singleton, 62, told the congregation.

Pace of advertising slows

NEW YORK (AP) — Advertising spending this year is growing at the slowest pace since the mid-1970s and could slow even further in 1991, a prominent industry forecaster said.

Robert Coen, of the ad agency McCann-Erickson, said Monday he expects U.S. ad spending will rise 4.9 percent to $130.1 billion this year and 4.6 percent to $136 billion in 1991.

He blamed the slowdown on the economic downturn and worries created by the Persian Gulf standoff.

Region

Cadaver dogs resume search

HIGHLAND (AP) — Authorities have not given up their search for more bodies in a rural area where the remains of two women were unearthed.

Doniphan County Sheriff Mark Long said Monday that cadaver dogs would comb the northeast Kansas farm field again Tuesday morning.

After the first graves were found last month, the dogs continued to return to a well at the site, although nothing further was found, Long said.

Some officials have said the dogs could have been reacting to a scent that was "venting" or seeping through a crack in the soil.

"We have filled the well site back in and have had the weather changes," Long said. Another search should verify whether the dogs detected a legitimate scent, he said.

Lawrence site of peace vigils

LAWRENCE (AP) — A large turnout at a weekly peace vigil here reflects growing concern among local residents about the possibility of war in the Persian Gulf, vigil organizers say.

About 185 people attended Sunday's vigil, up from about 120 the previous week and 25 at the first vigil a month ago, said Allan Hanson, a member of the Lawrence Coalition for Peace and Justice and a Kansas University professor.

Hanson said Iraq's decision last week to release all foreign hostages did little to quell residents' concerns about a possible military conflict.

"I don't get any sense of 'Let's relax now because peace is in the offing.' People want to see this thing to an end and not get too complacent," he said. "The rhetoric from Bush remains very bellicose."

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

■ K-State Community Service Program International Teams applications are available for work on teams in Costa Rica and the Dominican Republic from Nov. 30 until Dec. 12 in Eisenhower 14-A.

11 Tuesday

■ Society of Creative Anachronism will have a Chatelaine's meeting at 7 p.m. in Union 205.

■ FENIX Adult Student Program/OWLS will meet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in Union Stateroom 1.

■ SAVE will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 213.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Joan E. Spiker at 10:00 a.m. in Bluemont 257. The dissertation topic is "A Survey of Teachers: The Use of Calculators in Kindergarten Through Fourth Grade Mathematics Programs."

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Muhammad Abdul Mannan at 2:30 p.m. in Justin 256. The dissertation topic is "Test Statistics for Contingency Tables."

■ PRIMO will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 202 to discuss spring semester events.

■ Department of Geology will sponsor "Rape of the Public" by Ernie Angino at 4 p.m. in Thompson 101.

■ Education Council will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Bluemont 106.

■ Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Organization (BAGAL) will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 208.

■ SADD will have a table in the Union supporting safe holiday driving from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

■ Social Work Organization will meet at 6 p.m. in Union 213.

■ Ag Education Club will have a gift exchange and meeting at 7 p.m. on the third floor of Bluemont Hall.

■ Ag Econ Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Valentino's Pizza.

12 Wednesday

■ SADD will have a table in the Union supporting safe holiday driving from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

CORRECTION

Rob George's name was inadvertently omitted from an ad thanking volunteers for their participation in the Winchester Community SAVE Project. The Collegian regrets the error.

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, warm and sunny again. High in the mid- to upper-60s. West to southwest winds 10 to 15 mph. Tonight, clear. Low around 30. Wednesday, partly cloudy and cooler. High 55 to 60.

LADY CATS
VS.
WICHITA STATE

Tues. Dec. 11
Tipoff: 7 p.m.

BRAMLAGE COLISEUM
Tickets Available at the Door

*Students Free with K-State I.D. *Adults $3 *Children $1

BUSHWACKER'S
Comedy Invasion

Mon., Tues., & Wednesday
9 p.m.

Jerry Dye

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

18 to enter, 21 to drink
Call for Reservations
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes

—Holiday Living All Year Long—

Affordable units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Pre-wired for computer, phone, cable TV
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus
- Rent as low as $195 a month

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIS COMPANY DWE REAL ESTATE
3001 Indiana Boulevard, E2 6000
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-5600

The Justy[®]
just got better

Four Wheel Drive
5 speed—air
with rebate
$8,991

How do you improve on a car known for its economy, quality and value? Meet the new 1991 Subaru Justy GL 5-Door.

- "On Demand"™ 4-wheel-drive system and optional Electronic Continuously Variable Transmission (ECVT) give you extra traction and the ease of an automatic with the performance of a stick
- Multi-point fuel injection with 73-horsepower engine for exciting performance
- Comfortable interior features low-back fully reclining front bucket seats and cloth upholstery

And the new Justy 5-Door is easier to load and unload. See it today!

THE 1991 SUBARU.®

We built our reputation by building a better car.

4th & Leavenworth
Downtown, Manhattan
776-4875

GOETSCH & IRVINE
CHRYSLER PLYMOUTH SUBARU

WE'RE PAYING CASH
FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook
Items at

SELL YOUR BOOKS
AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN
PLUS
A COUPON GOOD FOR
20% OFF
K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books on the dates listed. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE

Mon., Dec. 10, thru Sat., Dec. 15, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sun., Dec. 16, Noon-5 p.m.

Mon., Dec. 17 thru Thu., Dec. 20, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

Fri., Dec. 21 & Sat. Dec. 22, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.

Sun., Dec. 23, Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

K-State chemist hopes to reduce use of pesticides

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

A process that is predicted to reduce the use of pesticides is being developed by Cliff Meloan, professor of chemistry.

Meloan, an analytical chemist, received a $263,000 grant from the Environmental Protection Agency for a three-year study. He will test J.R. Wright's theory of olfaction which concerns the physical dynamics of smell.

"This could benefit us in a wide range of areas. It can work as a detector on how insects detect chemicals, it may have the ability to confuse or repel insects from food items and it could control them without the use of pesticides, but we are a long way from that," Meloan said.

Meloan and two graduate students will be replacing hydrogen in a molecule with an isotope of hydrogen called deuterium that is twice as heavy but about three-percent smaller. Meloan predicts that cockroaches, alfalfa weevils and root worms will ignore the deuterated hexenal.

"I have two students working with me right now. One student has been working on this for 18 months and ended up with just two drops. Now he is putting deuterium in the molecules and we hope he will end up with more than two drops," Meloan said.

Don Decou, graduate in chemistry, said, "I started on this project about a year ago, and I spend about 40 hours a week working on it, and to my knowledge we are the only people working on a project like this."

Decou said he has to synthesize some of the compounds, characterize them, and then test them on the insects.

"In the long run, this theory could benefit society. It will maybe give us some indication on how to make better pesticides than our present-day pesticides," he said.

"If we could eventually artificially stimulate insects, we wouldn't have to spray pesticides, but could instead lure them out of a field with a device," Meloan said.

Prisoners' release may come early

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA — The Kansas Sentencing Commission concluded Monday that any changes in criminal sentences should be applied retroactively, allowing inmates presently serving time to be released ahead of schedule.

However, the commission members were not sure how to do it. The Legislature has the power to decrease the amount of time a person serves in prison but cannot increase the sentences of inmates already serving time.

The commission is studying ways to prevent disparities in sentencing of criminals in different parts of the state and reduce prison overcrowding by changing the sentencing laws.

It is expected to present its final report to the Legislature in January. The commission will hold one last meeting Jan. 15.

At the urging of Attorney General Bob Stephan, the commission's chairman, the group will study a method to make the recommendations retroactive if the Legislature approves them.

That means the new sentencing guidelines would be applied to people sentenced under the old guidelines.

"The Legislature should say one way or another if it's going to be retroactive, and not let it be litigated in the courts," said Court of Appeals Judge Gary Rulon, a member of the commission.

If the Legislature passes new sentencing guidelines and decides to apply those new sentences to inmates already in prison, a good number could be released early.

Rulon suggested a judicial review panel go over each individual instance in which an inmate's time could be shortened, but he also warned that such a review would be expensive.

See SENTENCE, Page 10

J. Kyle Wyatt/Staff

Local businesses are likely to see a decrease in the number of shoppers this holiday season as the 1st Infantry Division leaves for Saudi Arabia. Manhattan Town Center and stores in Junction City are expected to be the hardest hit by the deployment.

Kansans to enjoy shopping

Emerson says residents not to be affected by recession

By Erwin Seba
Staff Reporter

As the U.S. economy enters a recession, the Kansas economy probably won't feel the effects of the economic downturn until after the first of the year, said M. Jarvin Emerson, professor of economics.

"Its downturn is probably just behind that of the national economy," Emerson said of the state economy. Emerson is a member of the Consensus Revenue Estimating Group. The group examines the state's economic conditions and estimates the expected revenues for the state each year. Emerson has been responsible for preparing the Governor's Economic Report since 1966.

This means that the Christmas-buying season in Kansas may not be affected much.

"Retail sales will stay up reasonably well, compared to several areas in the rest of the country," he said.

"The downtown is a place to make a statement of the vitality of the area."

—David Darling associate professor of agricultural economics

The fact that personal income in the state has not been affected by the recession explains the optimism about the holiday season in Kansas, although shopping will not be as robust as in years past, Emerson said.

The current national recession is consumer-driven, he said.

The state's continued economic strength is due to a good year in agriculture, strong performances by large industries like Boeing Aircraft and the improvement in the oil industry, Emerson said.

Rural retailers should also fare well during the holiday shopping season, said David Darling, associate professor of agricultural economics and an extension specialist.

This is due in part to a realization among rural shoppers that they need to support local businesses.

Darling said this realization is due in part to efforts by rural merchants to improve their ability to compete with urban shopping centers.

Darling has attempted to improve rural merchants' performances by studying successful urban shopping centers.

In working with chambers of commerce, Darling emphasizes the need to concentrate businesses in one area and to keep the downtown healthy.

"The downtown is a place to make a statement of the vitality of the area," Darling said.

In addition, he encourages the businesses to coordinate their efforts and make sure there is compatibility among the stores.

"This means there is some logical way the businesses are configured in an area," he said.

The most important ingredient, however, is creativity, he said.

GERI

Haircut $10 (reg. $18)
Perm $45 (reg. $55)
(special offer expires Dec. 22)

TINA'S
Studio 32
FOR HAIR

776-8830 Candlewood

Kistner's Flowers & Greenhouse
1 mile south of the mall on Hwy 177 South

Poinsettias
Norfolk Pines
$7.50, $15 & $20

Every Day Cash & Carry Specials
6 roses for $7.50
w/ greenery & baby's breath
Flower Bundles $5

Store Hours
Mon.-Sat. 8-6
776-7989
776-7044

Perspectives
Optical Dispensary & Lab
Lenses and Frames Complete
(Includes scratch resistant coating, photo gray & UV protection)
Thru Dec. 24

Presents
People
Pleasing
Prices

Single Vision $79.00
Bifocals $109.00
No-Line Progressive $149.00

300 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan 539-5105
Open Monday-Friday 9:30-6:00; Thursday till 8:00; Sat. 9:30-4:30

WITH THIS COUPON ONLY (C)

the Loft
Women's Casualwear In Aggieville

SWEATER DRESSING
(I.B. DIFFUSION - RICHARD & CO.)
$15 OFF

The feeling is casual - The look is sophisticated

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO HRS
539-1319 Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 8:00
Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

Need money for college?

ASK ABOUT STUDENT LOANS

CITIZENS BANK & TRUST CO.
Sixth & Humboldt
Manhattan, KS 66502
776-9400

Lender Code #804581
EMPIRE BANK Originator
Member FDIC

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS
PHOTOJOURNALISM

Apply now for spring 1991
Staff and Freelance Photographer positions for the Kansas State Collegian and Royal Purple.

Pick up application and sign up
for an interview in Kedzie 103.

Deadline for returning applications
Tuesday, Dec. 11.

Bring portfolio to your scheduled interview on Wednesday, Dec. 12.

Questions: Contact Margaret Clarkin, 532-6556

This Week's Special...

Special U.S.I.T.'s only $1.25

Union Station
Presents:
"Alternative Music Night!"

Tuesday, Dec. 11
7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Join us for fun and frolic!

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

EDITORIALS

Prank bomb threats costly to KU students

Pranksters at the University at Kansas have added another chapter to the "boy who cried wolf" book this semester.

KU officials have had enough, and the students probably have too. Numerous classes and tests have been missed just because certain individuals, who forgot to leave their adolescence at high school, picked up the phone.

The rash of this semester's bomb threats have cost the state money, the professors' classtime and the students an education. The state must pay its teachers and its electricity bills, even though the campus buildings are vacant as the police search the grounds.

The big losers seem to be the students, who are forced to miss the classes for which they have already paid. And the tests that may have prompted the prankster to call in the first place must still be made up at a later date.

This recurring action seems to go against the very idea of the university. Stop and think what would happen if the state wanted to stop classes for one day without reason. Although most students would gladly take the holiday, serious learners might ask for a refund or rain check on their education.

Simpsons too serious for nuclear industry

Everyone's favorite family, the Simpsons, has become the evil family to the nuclear power industry.

It appears that the men in blue suits who control that environmentally troubled source of energy have decided to spend their time battling it out with a cartoon rather than cleaning up their industry and assuring the public's safety.

That's right, Nuclear Power vs. The Simpsons.

The U.S. Council for Energy Awareness, an industry information group, wrote the producers of the show at the Fox Broadcasting Co. and complained about the portrayal of nuclear power workers as bungling idiots.

The council also voiced its opposition to the evil power-plant owner and Blinky, the three-eyed fish that swims in a pond near the plant.

Is it that unusual that a cartoon or even a television show portray something that might not be true?

For years, we all must have thought that coyotes have more than nine lives, bunny rabbits can sing and dance and such a wild and unimaginable creature as a Goofy exists.

Or perhaps Vincent, the lovable cat-man of "Beauty and the Beast," really lives in our sewer system.

It's unbelievable that an industry that prides itself on seriousness and professionalism would actually file complaints against a group of cartoon characters.

If people actually begin to take cartoons seriously, the entire world population would be in more danger than the reputation of the nuclear power industry.

The U.S. Council for Energy Awareness and the people they represent need to remember their childhood.

Evaluations not effective

Ah, the trials and tribulations of teacher evaluations. I love this time of year. I do have a question, though. I've filled these out for every single one of my teachers this semester — except for the one who really deserves it. Are these things optional or what?

This is an evaluation that I would love to do. This professor has given the worst lectures, worst tests and the worst and longest reading assignments of any professor that I've ever had at K-State. This person has by far the worst attitude of any professor I've ever had. This person is even worse than the statistics teacher I had years ago who couldn't speak English.

On top of all that, this professor has no experience in the subject. It's the equivalent of being taught nature study by someone who's never been outdoors, hates plants and animals and hates you, too. The instructor keeps talking about how we're all going to get drafted and die anyway. I think they're looking forward to it. I long to evaluate this person. It would be a pleasure. I'd actually need all that space they give us at the end for "comments."

Not that evaluating would do me one bit of good. You and I know and everybody knows that the "teacher evaluation" is a myth, given to students to promote our belief that the University really wants our input. How many instructors have you given lousy evaluations to, only to have them reappear again and again, giving your friends the same unfair tests with unclear questions and reading the same boring lectures from the same set of boring overheads.

Take the case of the statistics teacher I mentioned earlier. The whole class got together during evaluations and we all wrote "Fire this man, he does not understand anything we say" on our evaluations. We weren't talking the usual accent problem, either. We were talking about a man with whom we could not communicate. When we asked a question in class, he would repeat what he had just read out of the book, only louder. We didn't learn much. He's still teaching — and he still doesn't seem to understand anything anyone says to him.

Karin Dell'Antonia

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

Why do we go on with this farce? I can say anything I want about the professor that makes me so mad. I admit it's a good stress-buster, but what if the problem isn't just sour grapes? What if there's a real problem with a teacher? Nothing, that's what. Sure, maybe the powers that be will tell a teacher that something needs to change. But I know there's a professor here who's been getting reamed in evaluations for years and has been taken to task because in large lecture classes, no one gets As. That teacher hasn't changed. I've been hearing about it since I was a freshman.

I think the University needs a policy regarding evaluations. If a teacher gets more than 75 percent negative ones, his or her position at the University should be re-evaluated. Someone should sit in on his or her classes. Whatever the problem is, that area should be monitored. If students complain about unfair test questions, his or her tests should be reviewed before they are given. If students say that the teacher is insulting, maybe the teacher in question should have to take some kind of class in personal relations. I don't think that students' problems and suggestions should just be ignored. Whose University is this, anyway?

I can just imagine what the University's response to my suggestions would be. "We don't have the money to maintain a staff to monitor teacher evaluations." I have an answer to that. I'm sure we could get student tribunals to handle it for every college. They could review the evaluations and make suggestions, and they would have to be given some power to enforce those suggestions.

The real reason that the University doesn't read those evaluations is simple. It's called tenure. That means that a University can't fire a professor without creating a major stink. The easiest way to get tenure is to get published. The hardest way is by being a good teacher.

I'm not saying that we don't have plenty of really good teachers at K-State. What I am saying is that it really infuriates me that the University pretends to be giving students the opportunity to do something about the professors who aren't good teachers, and then they throw our input away. Actually, they give it to the professor in question, who laughs at it and files it. It amounts to the same thing in the end.

The end result of all this is that after the first semester, no one takes evaluations seriously. We know they don't matter. Some teachers give them at the end of class and let you leave when you're done. That's a really good way to make sure that very few people will write anything. Students don't offer any constructive criticism because they know that, with a few rare exceptions, it won't be taken. Some teachers do take evaluations seriously. I know. Unfortunately, they usually aren't the ones with the problem.

Well, because I live for lost causes (like finding a radio station that never, ever plays New Kids or "Grandma Got Run Over By A Reindeer"), I'll keep trying. My aggravating professor has announced that we will, in fact, be evaluating. I'll write something. I'll probably write a lot. (Imagine that.) And the next time they offer this class, you know who'll be teaching it. I know too, and so does my professor. That's the problem.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Veno
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schneider
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimotheas, Elvyn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel
COLUMNISTS	Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seaborn, Kevin Zwick
REVIEWERS	Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lemz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS	Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Krotzer
STRIP CARTOONISTS	Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD	Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind, David Svoboda, Greg Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Veno

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Latham, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allyson Schiff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind
GRAPHIC ARTIST	Angie Humphrey
GRAPHIC ARTIST/PHOTOGRAPHER	Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Puntney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Desona Adams
OFFICE STAFF	Shanta Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South
CARRIERS	Joe Cook, Minida Dowdy, John Fulkerson, Norm LeComte, James Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6856, or at the Collegian newsroom, K-State Hall 116.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6860. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

LETTERS

Group should wise up

Editor,

In Rod Gillespie's article on the AC/DC concert, he said that those people who were handing out fliers didn't know what they were missing. Maybe, but I do know what Bon Scott (the former lead singer who drowned in his own drunken vomit) is missing — now, tomorrow and forever.

Ironically, he was the singer on the original recording of "Highway to Hell" — he got his wish. I hope the rest of the group wises up.

Richard Andrade sophomore in journalism

Support basketball

Editor,

I am writing concerning the attendance of K-State basketball games at Bramlage Coliseum. I am not much concerned with the fact we haven't sold out a ball game yet. After all, it is still pre-season, although the University of Kansas sold out after their midnight practice. I am more concerned with the empty seats I've seen thus far in the chairback section.

It is my understanding that these seats are mainly for the alumni and political figures on campus, and that a large donation is in order to obtain these seats. Now, I know that some of the fans sitting across from me have grown up with K-State basketball, as I have, and attend every game whether it be KU or Florida A&M, but to see all those other empty seats is a discredit to K-State fans.

People have busy schedules, and I understand that. I also understand ball games aren't their first priority, but maybe the following alternative could be used. Surely there are friends who could use an extra ticket or a chance themselves to see a game. Maybe you could give it to a fellow co-worker who is free that evening. What I am trying to say is, if you can't make a game, maybe you can give up your seat to somebody who can.

When K-State was down early in the game against the University of Wyoming, Jeff Wires said the team realized they could get blown out at home. The players didn't want to let us, the fans, down. I think it is in our best interest, if we want this program to continue to excel, to not let the players down.

Mark Johnson
sophomore in education

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN OP-ED

Protesters not radical

Editor,

I would like to respond to some statements made by Alvin Burzynski in his letter to the editor in the Dec. 10 Collegian, "Protesters opposed." To begin with, Burzynski's reference to those of us who support a peaceful, negotiated settlement to the gulf crisis as "those non-patriotic radicals" is not only immature name-calling but is also inaccurate.

Many of us "non-patriotic radicals" consider ourselves to be patriotic. A war in the gulf would kill tens of thousands of Americans. So, do you consider it non-patriotic to act to save the lives of our fellow Americans? A war in the gulf would also kill hundreds and thousands of Arabs on all sides. A few rich sheiks might be thankful to get back their estates, but the average Arab citizens are not likely to be as appreciative. I think one could reasonably argue that this is not in the long-term interests of the American people. So, do you consider it non-patriotic to act to avoid the deaths of hundreds of thousands of people and to safeguard the long-term interest of the American people?

Also we "non-patriotic radicals" are all of the same ideology. We do have our share of progressives and leftists, but there are also many mainstream liberals and conservatives, and for that matter, I recently heard that the John Birch Society, an extreme right-wing group, is opposed to Bush's policy in the gulf. So do you consider this extremely wide spectrum of political beliefs to all be radical?

Moving on to the rest of the letter, I will follow Burzynski's lead and "call them as I see them." First, Burzynski continually refers to an "inevitable war in the Persian Gulf." Burzynski, however, gives no support to his claim that this war is inevitable. Many experts argue that the crisis would be over in a few weeks if Bush offered Hussein a face-saving way out. Incidentally, both American and Iraqi government officials have been quoting the possibility of war as being 50 percent. Does 50 percent mean inevitable?

Now on to Burzynski's analogies. To cite the obvious first, he says that "in 1941 the kamikazes attacked Pearl Harbor." There were no kamikazes at Pearl Harbor. Suicide attacks by kamikazes did not happen until late into World War II, as Japan was losing and getting desperate. Also, at the time the United States dropped the atomic bombs, Japan had already offered to surrender under the one condition that the emperor be maintained. After the bombs were dropped, thousands of people died, the Japanese surrendered unconditionally, but they still were allowed to maintain their emperor. So why did we drop the bombs, and what does any of this have to do with the gulf crisis? I guess you "can only speculate but ..." maybe a World War II history class is in order.

Next to the Korean "conflict"—that's war to you and me. Again, we wonder what this has to do with the Persian Gulf. But in this case, there is one potentially striking similarity. War was never declared in Korea, and recent statements by the Bush administration might lead one to believe that a war in the gulf might also be fought without declaration. But maybe supporting the U.S. Constitution ("The congress shall have the power ... to declare war" article I, section 8) is also radical and non-patriotic.

In closing, I think we should remember Burzynski's words. "I would like to remind people 'ignorance breeds ignorance.'" And thus "it behooves individuals who decide to protest" for or "against something to get their facts straight."

Matt Narramore
senior in economics and political science

Variety needed

Editor,

I'm writing to express my irritation with your policy on letters to the editor. I've written several letters and waited eagerly to see them in print in the Collegian. Well, I waited and waited. None of them were printed.

These letters were "of campus and/or public interest," as stated in your policy for letters to the editor. I met the criteria, so what was the problem? I think you need to read your letters more carefully. Try a little variety.

In the past two weeks, I can't count the number of letters about Morse. They're getting a little old. They say the same thing over and over. I think you need to broaden your horizons and get some other people's views and ideas.

Jennifer Schaaff
sophomore in elementary education

"We  not  EXONERATE Saddam Hussein for his actions. We will Mobilize to meet this threat to our vital interests in the Persian  'til an  ble solution is reached."

Idea from The Women's Alternative Times P.O. Box 46245 Austin, Texas 78765.
George Bush caricature drawn by John Walsh.

We Take Tips!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

MEN'S SILK BOXERS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro
Aggieville

Tri-County Property Management

Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie

1,2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available

1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

Treat Yourself To A "Triple Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!

GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

STRECKER GALLERY

unique gifts
in all price ranges

332 Poyntz

Artifacts • MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

Tacos 3/$1.25

(reg. 55c each)

Chili Burrito $1.77

(reg. $2.35)

Good through 12-15-90

TACO HUT

"Where Good Friends Get Together"

2809 Claflin

On the hill overlooking Westloop. 539 2091

Open Sun. 11 am - 10 pm
Fri. & Sat. 11 am - 12 midnight

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes

$10.50

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes

$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

PREGNANCY

TESTING

CENTER

539-3338

- Free Pregnancy Testing
- Totally Confidential Services
- Same Day Results
- Call For Appointment
- Walk-ins Welcome
- Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

A very special THANK YOU to the Engineering Students at Kansas State University for your support of the engineering fee.
You showed

- intelligence in your decision,
- commitment to your program and your profession,
- pride in the College of Engineering,
- responsibility to your university,
and
- leadership among your peers.

Simply stated, you were tremendous. I will do my very best to keep your trust. THANKS AGAIN!

Don Rathbone, Dean
College of Engineering and many, many supporting engineering faculty

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SPORTS

Win big for KC players

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — For at least two NFL teams and their towns, it's going to be a different kind of Christmas.

To the Denver Broncos and their fans, playoff excitement almost has become synonymous with the holiday season itself. But instead of gearing up for defense of their AFC title, the Broncos are trapped in a six-game losing streak and just looking for a victory.

The Kansas City Chiefs, on the other hand, haven't won a postseason game since Super Bowl III. But their 31-20 triumph over the slumping Broncos on Sunday brought the perennial losers one step closer to what would be their first division title in 19 years.

The Broncos (3-10) will be home in January. The Chiefs (9-4) would seem to stand an excellent chance of being in the Super Bowl just two years after a 4-11-1 debacle.

All this is going to take some getting used to all around.

"Gosh, we'll hardly know how to act," Chiefs' linebacker Dino Hackett said with a grin. "Maybe we'll call some friends around the league who have been to the playoffs and ask them what we're supposed to do."

"We'll just try to spoil other peoples' plans," said Denver defensive back Steve Atwater. "Then we'll go home for Christmas."

Perhaps most frustrating to the Broncos is the manner in which their season has decayed. Eleven times they have taken the lead into the second half. Eight of those times they have lost.

"They are all frustrating," Coach Dan Reeves said. "To lose a game is frustrating. But you just have to come out next week and play the game."

"It's been kind of the same story every week," said Denver's John Elway, who passed for more than 300 yards and showed once more why many consider him the most acrobatic quarterback in the game. "I wanted to do everything I could to turn things around here. I heard all week that I don't play well here."

At times, Elway played brilliantly. Scrambling away from would-be tacklers time after time, he wound up hitting 24 of 36 passes for 328 yards and two touchdowns.

Lady Cats home to face Shockers

By Russ Ewy
Sports Reporter

After spending a week on the road, the K-State Lady Cats return home to face intrastate rival Wichita State tonight at 7 in Bramlage Coliseum.

During the period away from Manhattan, the Lady Cats, 3-3, lost their first road game of the season to Southwest Missouri State, 87-76, Dec. 4.

K-State then traveled to Los Angeles on Dec. 5 for the Long Beach State Dial Soap Classic. The team split two games, defeating San Diego State Friday night, 73-65, and losing in the championship game to No. 11 Long Beach State Saturday night, 90-64.

"I really don't know that we improved until we lost to Southwest Missouri State. We had to learn a hard lesson there, and the game was good for us in that regard," Coach Susan Yow said. "We went out to L.A. and played Long Beach State, and played a great basketball game until the last seven minutes. The score was not indicative of how we played. People out there were really impressed with our team."

"If we play as well as we played out in L.A., I don't think we'll have any regrets. We have really improved on this road swing, and I just hope we can show how much we've improved."

The Shockers are in the middle of a six-game road trip of their own. Wichita State, 2-3, lost in the championship game of the Kansas Dial Soap Classic to Kansas in Lawrence Saturday, 69-46, after winning their first game Friday against Texas Christian, 67-65.

After spending four years as the head coach at Drake before coming to K-State, Yow has a 6-2 record against Wichita State.

"I've coached against them for the past four years, so I'm very familiar with them," Yow said. "I know they had a really disappointing performance, as a team, over in Lawrence. The thing about basketball is you really can't look at what happened with one team as opposed to another."

"We match up fine with them, both offensively and defensively. I'm really concerned about our execution as opposed to what Wichita State is going to do against us. We'll see an array of things from them. We will see full-court pressure, both zone and man, we'll see a half-court trap, and we'll see a match-up zone and man (defense) from them."

Despite the record over the past week, K-State has received strong performances from forward Diana Miller, point guard Mary Jo Miller and guard Nadira Hazim.

Hazim paced the Lady Cats against Southwest Missouri State, pouring in 31 points, while Diana Miller and Mary Jo Miller were named to the Dial Soap Classic's all-tournament team. The three combined for 48 points a game over the weekend.

"We just need to get to the point where we are tired of just playing mediocre basketball," Yow said. "We need to start excelling and showing what we are capable of right now. If we do that, we're obviously going to get better and better."

Wichita State has showed that it has an offensive punch of its own. Senior guard Tonya Lane scored 28 points and grabbed six rebounds, while senior center Janet Hurd poured in 20 points and pulled down 11 rebounds in the Kansas Dial Classic tournament. Both received all-tournament honors.

"It's like I told the team, Wichita State could come in here and have their best game to date," Yow said. "If they played their best game to this date, it's going to be a tough game for us."

Junior point guard Mary Jo Miller will lead her Lady Cat teammates in their first home game in nearly two weeks, as the Wichita State Shockers come to Bramlage Coliseum tonight for a game at 7.

Mike Vensor/FILE

Christmas list again rears ugly head

Scott
Paske

SPORTS REPORTER

Why is it that many sports columnists get the urge to submit Christmas lists this time of year?

The bug has bitten me again. Maybe it's because we feel something is missing in the sports world. Or possibly because something that currently exists needs changing.

Whatever it is, I tried to prevent it from happening this year. I made New Year's resolutions, didn't put up any Christmas decorations and have slammed my door in the faces of all carolers.

I thought I could peer into my Scrooge-like alter ego and think of something that would make everybody mad. Perhaps start a nasty rumor like Bill Snyder is leaving K-State to join Lon Kruger at Florida. Or say that recent lottery winners Dave and Carol Wagner are really giving $796,000 to the University of Missouri for new football turf instead of to K-State, and the Wildcats will inherit the one the Tigers played on last season.

Sorry, no can do.

The yuletide spirit has overwhelmed me once again. So Santa, please fulfill this writer's wishes for the following sports figures in my final attempt at bringing tidings of great joy to Collegian readers this semester.

Dear Santa:

Let's get to the high-priority items that occupants of the sports world absolutely must have under their trees on Christmas morning.

■ Arkansas basketball coach Nolan Richardson needs a new wardrobe. His players can't see him when he's yelling instructions because his duds are so bright.

Also, fill his stocking with a year's supply of Roloids so he'll stop having those gas pains that K-State TV analyst Jack Hartman mentioned.

■ For Mike Tyson, please give him a real heavyweight opponent. People are paying hard-earned money to watch him chew up punching bags on movie channels. Even with his loss to Buster Douglas, Tyson's toughest opponent so far has been ex-wife Robin Givens.

■ Please don't give Wichita T-shirt makers any bright ideas. It seems whenever the Shockers pull off a couple of miracles like their recent wins over Alabama and Oklahoma State, everybody down there is ready to take on the world.

They had their fun with Kansas in 1981's "Battle of New Orleans." Dump some belated coal in their stockings Jan. 7 when the 'Cats travel to Levitt Arena.

■ Give Iowa State coach Johnny Orr a victory in a close game. As flamboyant as the Cyclone coach is, he will likely leave this world because of a heart problem. His 1-7 start this season is only taking him closer to that day.

■ Please make it mandatory for Louisiana State center Shaquille O'Neal to stay at least 25 feet away from the basket every time the Tigers have the ball. It's only fair to opposing teams.

■ Allow New England and Cleveland to play each other all 16 games of the 1991 NFL season. Then, whichever team wins the most can play Denver for the right to be called "The NFL's 26th-best team."

■ Give Dana Altman a new pair of dress shoes to replace the ones he stomped through the Bramlage Coliseum floor earlier this season.

■ Don't be a cheapskate and give him the ones Oklahoma coach Billy Tubbs stomped through the floor last season.

■ Speaking of skates, give Willie the Wildcat a skateboard so he can race Chip the Buffalo down the ramp

■ See LIST, Page 10

Travelute Western Store

Big Savings for your Christmas needs.

- Levis, Lee, & Wrangler jeans starting at $16.98 and up
- Rocky Mountain, P.S., and Roper jeans for ladies
- Goose down coats—Tempco and Comfy, $85 and up
- 20% off felt hats
- Big boot selection at big savings—Justin, Tony Lama, Acme, Panhandle Slim, etc...

Open Mon.-Sat. 9-noon and 1-5, Sunday 1-5
1 mile south of Waterville, Kansas on Hwy 77
(913) 785-2136

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's
12 Days of K-State Christmas
Sale Items in the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

ComputerLand

Business to business. Person to person.

Cumulus GLC/CO™

- 80386SX processor or 16 MHZ
- 14" VGA Color Monitor. 40MB harddrive
- Mouse
- Windows Version 3.0
- Dos 4.01
- Microsoft Works software

$1995

HOLIDAY EXTENDED STORE HOURS

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-7 p.m.

Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Sunday 12 p.m.-4 p.m.

1306 WESTLOOP

776-0086

LOWMAN'S IN - A G G I E V I L L E

For the Holidays.

Only the best...

Classics by Ralph Lauren.

1215 Moro

776-7304

Open 10 to 8 Mon. through Fri. Sat. 10-6. Sun 1-5.

Parris Riordan, right, and Kim Brophy, graduate students in regional and community planning, answer questions about their report during an administrative planning class in Seaton Hall Monday.

Students employ textbook theories to test proposal

Administration's reorganization attempt analyzed in classroom

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

Graduate students in regional and community planning used the K-State reorganization draft proposal that threatened their department and college to test the planning theory learned in class.

Vernon Deines, professor on regional and community planning, said his administrative-planning class examines planning and its interactions with the public, regulating boards and legislative bodies. Five of his students decided reorganization at K-State afforded them the opportunity to examine a planning initiative in this context.

Brian Mulch and Inaganti Rao applied a textbook critical-thinking theory to the draft proposal released by President Jon Welfald and Provost James Coffman in October.

They agree that something needed to be done and that the proposal did address the problems facing the University.

"The draft proposal was an appropriate response to the immediate physical problems facing the University," Mulch said.

The report said in the case of universities, however, the mission statement is the foundation for long-term strategic planning. They found the mission statement for K-State was too ambiguous and global to provide the proper direction.

"When we interviewed Coffman, he told us if you asked 100 people the meaning of the mission statement, you would get 100 different answers," Mulch said.

In their report, they suggested to the University population and its publics to identify more strictly the teaching, research and service missions of the colleges at K-State. After this examination, a new mission statement could be drafted with enough support to serve as a cornerstone for long-term strategic planning.

Mulch said the draft proposal served one of the purposes Welfald and Coffman wanted.

"Looking at it from the point of view of planners, the proposal started the discussion on reorganization they repeatedly said they wanted," Mulch said.

Deines said the immediate hostile and emotional response to the proposal was an unintended consequence that the class has studied theoretically.

"As planners, we are caught up in what we are doing," he said. "We tend to forget there is a whole group of people out there, who may be vaguely informed or uninformed of what we are doing, but who are going to be directly affected by our decisions."

Kim Brophy and Parris Riordan presented a report on the campus response to the reorganization plan.

Riordan said reorganization presented an enlightening experience to her as a planner.

"I'm being trained to formulate policy," she said. "In this instance, I was not a formulator of planning but a victim of it."

In their report, Brophy and Riordan gave a chronological account of the administration's release of the draft proposal and the attempts of faculty and staff to fight it.

Brophy said she learned planners must have the public involved in policy-making from her direct experience in the protest and from researching her report.

Dawn Landholm presented a report on the need for a coordinating body to plan policy for the state's Board of Regents schools.

Reorganization should be pursued on the regents schools on a whole if the state is to get a maximum return on its investment on higher education, she said.

Time restraints and the perception of bias would prevent the regents from confronting reorganization, she said.

Landholm said Kansas should follow the example of Nebraska, which in the last election adopted a constitutional amendment to establish a board to coordinate all state regents schools and community colleges.

Orchestra set to perform tonight

Compositions by Bach, Shostakovich featured pieces

By Angie Schrock
Collegian Reporter

Music lovers can hear two contrasting styles of classical music when the K-State Orchestra performs at 8 p.m. today in McCain Auditorium.

The orchestra will perform selections by Bach and Shostakovich. The program will feature student soloists and a saxophone solo.

Conductor David Littrell, assistant professor of music, said the program will offer variety.

"The piece by Bach, entitled the 'First Orchestral Suite,' was written in 1720, and the piece by Shostakovich in 1926," Littrell said. "This will provide a big contrast of styles in music."

"Symphony No. 1" by Shostakovich was written when he was 19 years old as a graduation project,"

Littrell said. "It is considered to be a masterpiece."

There was a contest in early October for students interested in performing with the orchestra.

"We hold the contest every year, and the winners get to perform with the orchestra," Littrell said.

Twelve to 15 students were judged by Littrell and two other music faculty members.

The student soloists will perform the pieces they used in the competition.

Dayna Snook, graduate student in vocal performance, will sing an aria by Mozart. Ai-ze Wang, graduate student in music, will sing an aria by Bellini and Chris Goins, junior in music education, will play a Scaramouche suite by Milhaud on the saxophone.

"I'm very grateful for the chance to share what I have with others,"

Snook said. "It is exciting for me to get the chance right away to perform since this is my first year here."

Nerves become part of the performance for some people.

"I love to perform — for me it's very exciting," Snook said. "I get nervous, but it's very fulfilling when the audience enjoys what you give them."

Snook said it is necessary to get nervous to prepare properly to perform with the desired quality.

For Snook, performing inspires wonderful feelings.

"There is an excitement in performing for an audience that I haven't found in anything else," Snook said.

COLLEGIAN
AUTODIRECTORY

Alan Clark BODY SHOP INC.

COMPLETE BODY REPAIR SINCE 1967

ESTIMATES

776-5333

INSURANCE CLAIMS

WELCOME

2160 Pillsbury Dr. • S. Hwy. 177

Budget Car Care
Christmas Special

Wash, wax,
interior cleaning,
deodorizing, and
buffing.
just $30.00!
Offer expires 12/31/90
Call 537-1496 or 537-3981
808 N. 3rd

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR FALL
LUBE, OIL (UP TO 5 QTS.), FILTER
MOST POPULAR BRANDS

$15.95
by appointment only

537-1201
1026 Poyntz

Parkside conoco & U-Haul

Free heating & cooling system check

WINTER TUNE-UP Special!

Let our diagnostic computer help get your car ready for cold weather.

The best way to get your car ready for the cold months ahead is to have it tested on our Allen Smart Engine Analyzer. Advanced computer technology enables it to pinpoint problems in the engine systems... even indicate which parts need replacement or repair. You'll receive, free of charge, an easy-to-understand computer printout on the condition of your car.

Make an appointment for your "get ready for cold weather tune-up."

Total Diagnosis Special $2750 Parkside Conoco and U-Haul
1026 Poyntz
Manhattan, KS (913) 537-1201
with this ad, Exp. 12/31/90

Center aids minorities

Training of teachers helps reduce racism

By Shannon Meyers
Collegian Reporter

Americans thrive on progress. Some people believe, however, that there hasn't been enough progress socially.

The Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center, located in Bluemont Hall, came about as a result of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. The center serves public elementary and secondary schools in Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas. They provide technical assistance, staff development and resource materials.

Charles Rankin, director of the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center said, "There are more racial problems than ever before in this nation."

There are 10 assistance centers in the United States to provide assistance in the areas of race, sex and national origin to promote equal opportunities for minorities.

The centers conduct a need assessment for each school district, Rankin said.

"Schools must request assistance. We are not monitors for the Department of Education; we provide a service. We put on conferences and do lots of training, to help teachers understand how to provide minorities with equal opportunities," he said.

Rankin said, "Training includes dealing with the common myths and stereotypical ideas people have about minorities. If minorities run into an obstacle in elementary or secondary school, he or she will never make it to college."

Juanita McGowan, program planner for the school districts in Nebraska said, "There are four program planners. We serve as consultants to the school districts. We help them identify their specific needs and then we design a program.

"There are some package programs. If these meet the schools needs, then we use them. Otherwise, the program is tailored to fit the school's specific problem," she said.

The center publishes a newsletter, Horizons, which is used to keep educators up-to-date about important developments relating to education and desegregation.

The center is funded by a three-year competitive grant. They obtain the grant by submitting a proposal for the upcoming three years. K-State will be home to the Midwest Desegregation Assistance Center through 1992.

"The government is talking about expanding the use of these centers to deal with the increasing number of hate crimes occurring in higher education," Rankin said.

Class teaches entrepreneurs

Home-based businesses focus of lesson

By Jerry Sapp
Collegian Reporter

Starting a home-based business could be easier than people think, said Fred Rice, director of the K-State Small Business Development Center.

Rice teaches a one-day course about selecting and launching the right home-based business.

"Anybody can start a home-based business that can become very successful as well as profitable," he said. "All you really need is a checking account, some business cards and an idea that can sell."

Barta Stevenson, administrative assistant for the Small Business Development Center, said they have a lot of people who come in and want to start their own business.

"Mr. Rice helps people get in touch with their dreams," Stevenson said. "One of the ideas that the 'Starting a Home-Based Business' class teaches is that almost any kind of business can be started in your home."

The class will be taught Dec. 11 from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. in Union 205. There will be a registration fee of $20 which includes a textbook and personal instruction.

"I wrote a book in 1982 called 'Starting a Home-Based Business,'" Rice said. "Since then, I have revised the book four times in order to keep the students up to date with current developments."

Stevenson said some of the topics Rice will cover in the course are selecting the right business, developing a business plan, getting organized, bookkeeping, taxes, marketing tips and techniques, computers in the home, sources of assistance and case histories of people who he has helped to become successful business owners and operators.

See BUSINESS, Page 10

TOYOTA TRIUMPH VOLVO AUDI

COMPLETE LINE
OF FOREIGN PARTS

IMPORT CAR
PARTS & SERVICE

EXPERT MECHANICS ON DUTY

PORSCHE

MAZDA

TOYOTA

MG

Call 539-0577

315 S. 3rd

8-5:30 Mon.-Fri., Sat. 9-1

MG
FIAT
JAGUAR

Weather causes early end to shuttle mission

By The Associated Press

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — Columbia's astronauts were ordered to cut short their star-gazing mission Monday because of threatening weather at the landing site, ending a voyage vexed by computer failures and clogged plumbing.

NASA decided to shorten the mission by one day to take advantage of good weather at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Touchdown was scheduled for about 12:54 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Rain had been forecast for Tuesday night, followed by even worse weather.

"You've all had a fantastic mission, but all good things have got to come to an end, and you're coming home," Mission Control's Story Musgrave told the seven-man crew Monday morning.

"Very good. We'll start getting ready," replied Columbia's commander Vance Brand.

Columbia's observatory examined 135 celestial objects during the flight, a little more than half the number scientists had hoped to achieve before mechanical problems interrupted viewing.

Besides losing targets, returning early meant the astronauts also had to give up the chance of contacting the Soviet cosmonauts aboard space station Mir. But they did get to talk to Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze.

Within minutes, astronaut-astronomers Robert Parker and Ron Parise completed the last observation with the Astro observatory's three ultraviolet telescopes. The target was Comet Levy.

"We're disappointed we don't get the extra day, but we're exuberant over what we've gotten so far," said Warren Moos of Johns Hopkins University. "The last observation was a very difficult observation of a comet. We're going out with a bang."

Astro's ground-controlled X-ray telescope continued looking at stars and galaxies into the afternoon. It required less stowage time.

Shortly after Mission Control announced the landing, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration released results of a top-level review of the program. The review recommended shuttle flights be confined only to those that require human involvement and that the proposed space station be redesigned completely.

About 140 high-energy objects were examined by the $150 million observatory during Columbia's flight, said deputy mission scientist Gene Urban. Before mechanical problems interrupted viewing by the ultraviolet telescopes, scientists had hoped to study about 250 targets.

"Probably most important is not the number of objects we looked at but the number of scientific facts that have been collected in the process. Many of these observations resulted in a myriad of facts about objects that have never been seen before," Urban said. Astronaut-astronomer Jeffrey Hoffman also counted the mission a success. "A lot of good came out of it all, and we'll look forward to seeing the results," he told ground controllers.

"We've had our share of problems and challenges," flight director Bob Castle said.

"But I'm happy the way the team overcame those challenges and turned around a mission that could have lost a great deal."

About 20 targets were lost as a result of Columbia's early return, Urban said. Scientists feared Comet Levy also might go unobserved, but it was squeezed in just before NASA announced its decision to shorten the flight.

The comet, rapidly headed out of the solar system, was too close to the sun to be observed earlier in the mission.

Also scrapped by the early return was the crew's plan to contact the two cosmonauts aboard the Mir space station, Castle said. The astronauts had planned to try to communicate with the Soviet spacemen via ham radio early Tuesday.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $3.00, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.25, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.50, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day, $5.20 per inch. Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch. Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch. Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

Classified advertising is available only to those who do not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, age, sex or ancestry.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan—K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

BEST FUNDRAISER on campus! Looking for a fraternity, sorority or student organization that would like to earn $500 to $1,000 dollars for a one week on-campus marketing project. Must be organized and hard working. Call Jeanie or Ashley, 1-800-592-2121.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID); $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

Earn $500-$1500/wk part-time stuffing envelopes in your home. For free information, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to: P.O. box 4645, Dept. P102, Albuquerque, NM 87196

TONIGHT
25c
DRAWS
ONLY AT
BAYSTREET

SOUTHERN
SUN
Christmas Gift Pack

10 Tans &
Bottle of Accelerator
$32
(while supplies last)

519 N. 12th • 776-8060

FINELINE: 1AT100 by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-6288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OUTING Club is going backpacking Dec. 26-30 (also canoeing, sailing, biking, etc.) 539-0216.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. One-bedroom in complex, $330. Cat OK. Call 776-6697.

BIG ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent, $250 a month plus electricity and gas. Call 776-4532, leave a message.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom apartment, utilities paid. Close to University. Available immediately. Dishwasher. Call 537-1566.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundry, graduate student or couple preferred, $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location, $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking, $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED. Three blocks west of campus. Available Jan. 12. Utilities paid. No lease required. No pets. Non-smoker. Private parking. $275. References required. 539-5117.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st, $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom in complex, northwest side. Available now for January. 776-8725.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

STUDIO APARTMENT, new stove, refrigerator, central air and heating, carpeted. Private entrance, available now. $195 plus gas and electricity, deposit required, no pets. 776-6128.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage, $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carpet, patio, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, spacious, clean two-bedroom, one and one-half bath basement apartment. $375/ month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking, no pets. 539-3409.

FOR RENT—One-bedroom apartment close to campus. Available Dec. 28. Call (913)537-0646 or (913)845-2902.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, roomy cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone: 537-9084 weekdays.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, flexible lease, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310. 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

SOLDIER GOING to Saudi Arabia has to rent large one-bedroom close to campus, $310/ month. Please call 537-3160.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM and one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, POOL, fireplace, water and trash paid for $350 for the first six months. Must rent. 776-5330.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

WAREHAM STUDIO and one-bedroom available, convenient downtown location, from $250-295. No pets. 776-3804, evenings and weekends 539-8246.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON, one-bedroom studio close to City Park. No utilities except water and trash, $260. Available Jan. 1. 539-3703.

AVAILABLE NOW. One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus. City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. One-bedroom efficiency. Some utilities paid. Short-term lease. No pets. 539-4087.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, clean, $205 includes utilities. College Heights, three blocks from campus. 537-7403.

FEMALE—AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One room, furnished. Share bath. Close to campus and Aggieville. $85/ month, utilities paid. 776-6573 leave message.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment available in January. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $260 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to Aggieville. Utilities paid except electricity. $420/ month. 537-1673.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1968 VW Bug, great condition, must see! Will take best offer. Call 1-494-8319 anytime.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT, 539-0216.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,500, must sell. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior. Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

FOR SALE by sealed bid. Two each, remanufactured Chevrolet V-8 cylinder heads; four each, Monroe gas-matic struts for 1981, '82, '83 Ford Fairmonts; two sets, Campbell tire chains—fits 13" and 14" radial tires; two sets, car chains—fits 14" and 15" tires. Items may be inspected at the Kansas State University Physical Facilities Garage, 17th and Claflin. Contact John Edwards 532-6382. Bids close Dec. 14, 1990 at 1p.m. Kansas State University reserves the right to accept or reject all bids.

6 Child Care

FACULTY COUPLE seeks nanny for our 3-year-old son, 8:30a.m.—noon Monday, Wednesday, Friday and 8:30a.m.—4p.m. Tuesday, Thursday. Begin Jan. 7. Must provide own transportation to our home four blocks south of campus. $75 per week. 776-6396.

(Continued on page 9)

Kidney Stones Can Be A Real Pain .

Treating them doesn't have to be!

If you're suffering from a kidney stone, you're willing to accept whatever it takes to stop the pain. Even surgery. But with Memorial Hospital's lithotripsy service, we can treat your kidney stones without taking a single stitch!

Our lithotripter shatters kidney stones with sound waves. It's safer, faster, and less painful than surgery. We've been treating most of our kidney stone patients with lithotripsy since 1988 and we're proud of our success.

If your kidney stones are getting to be a real pain, consult with John Devine, M.D. or Fred Freeman, M.D. of Associated Urologists at 537-8710, and clip the coupon below for a free brochure.

Please send the lithotripsy brochure to:

Name _____

Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Address to: Julie Davenport
Memorial Hospital
1105 Sunset, Manhattan, KS 66502

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL
Yesterday's values, Tomorrow's technology

1105 Sunset P.O. Box 1208 • Manhattan, KS 66502 • 913-776-3300

Let's Share

During November and December 1990, for every canned good you bring to Kedzie 103, we'll give you 50 cents off a COLLEGIAN Classified Ad. (Value of cans cannot exceed cost of ad.)

1 can	50 cents
2 cans	$1.00
3 cans	$1.50
4 cans	$2.00
5 cans	$2.50
6 cans	$3.00

Student Publications Inc. will donate all items to the Flint Hills Breadbasket.

Offer expires 12/13/90

FREE SHUTTLE

(Continued from page 8)

7 Computers

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1964.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 496K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ADDRESSERS WANTED immediately! No experience necessary. Excellent pay! Work at home. Call toll-free: 1-800-395-3283.

DO YOU need extra money for Christmas? Try delivering pizzas for Godfather's Pizza. Competitive wages and flexible hours. Apply in person, 1120 Laramie, 11a.m.—5p.m., Monday through Friday.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-815-473-7440 ext. B288.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

NANNIES, LIVE-IN positions—East Coast. Airfare, great salaries. Fun social activities. Carefully screened families. Individualized attention. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison, Princeton, N.J. 08540. (609)497-1195.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Temptation Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

PERMANENT PART-TIME person for childcare in our home. 16-23 hours per week. No evenings, Fridays or weekends. Non-smoker; references requested. Starting Jan. 14. Call 539-7360.

RADIO/TV Majors. If you would like radio experience, 1420 country, "KJCK in Junction City," has a part-time position open. Six board shift per week. Call 776-9494, 10a.m.—2p.m., ask for Mark. EOE.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3816. Apply Early!

9 Food Specials

SPORTS • SPORTS

99¢ Margaritas

50¢ Tacos

BoWinkle's & Sports Bar

776-1022

3043 Anderson

SPORTS • SPORTS

Bobby OJ's

Tuesdays:

TACO NACHO NIGHT

39¢ Tacos

with drink order

Homemade flour chicken or beef tacos

$1.25 margaritas

539-1571

Tuesday Special

RIB-IT NIGHT

All the BBQ Ribs, Fries and Salad Bar you can eat!

$4.95

Every Tuesday 5-8 p.m.

The CHEF Cafe

111 S. 4th Downtown

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Queen-sized waterbed, padded rails, headboard. $150 or best offer. 776-0535.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

MOVING SALE, misc. items, furnishings and bed—like new. Call 539-0361. Prices are negotiable.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE, 1121 Clifton, stove and refrigerator, off-street parking. 539-4154.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

14 Lost and Found

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8a.m.—5p.m. Ask for Jackie. 532-6555.

LOST: HEAVY blue/gray coat in Seaton Hall. Reward. 537-2968 or Seaton 204.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

$130, 8x40, one-bedroom, large private lot one mile from Manhattan Mall. Pets upon approval. 776-5513.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, very private, two miles south of Manhattan. $300. Arena and horse pens (extra). Income potential. 539-1039.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 CANNONDALE ST400—less than 50 miles on this, like new blue racing bike. With all accessories, $350. John 537-0605.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, lots of accessories. $375. 776-1638.

21 Personals

PLEASE RETURN Collegian racks to Durland and Kedzie halls.

AGR ARGYLE—From late night swirls to dances and twirls, we're not merely, but innocent girls. The semester's about over, our schemes have been great. You'll never outsmart us, what a team we make! From your 'Friends in Low Places'.

FH RANDY, Roses are Red, Violets are Blue. Dancing with Wolves. Romantic with You. From the woman most comfortable in a darkroom.

HEIDI E. from Fordland—Tonight my identity will be revealed. There's no point in it going on concealed. Best wishes for a great Christmas. Your Secret Santa.

INDY—HAPPY 21st b-day, bud! Now that you're legal, let's go out and party! Love, Jaime.

MATT AND ROD—Thanks for making every Tuesday an SYT Tuesday. Theresa.

SIGMA EMILIE: Celebrate! It should be a National Holiday! Happy 22nd, you tosser! Love your roomies +2.

TO THE ADPis and their dates, who found that loving feeling on Saturday night. Merry X-Mas. The Djs.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC REGISTERED Male Rottweiler puppy needs loving home, 8 weeks old, $400. 1-456-8259 after 6p.m.

ONE PUREBRED Chow puppy left. Wormed and has shots. Best reasonable offer. 776-2497 ask for Jim.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUM

PETS-N-STUFF

1101 W. 12th St. Suite 101

OPEN 7 Days, 10 a.m. - 8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

A GREAT apartment. Only $130 monthly plus one-third utilities. One block from campus. Call Amy 537-4510.

AVAILABLE SPRING—Clean, cute apartment for one or two females. 776-0135 evenings or 539-2301 anytime.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, own new room, at Woodway Apartments, $135 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-2616.

CUTE THREE-BEDROOM house to share with two female roommates. Non-smokers preferred, available Jan. 1—$125 plus one-third utilities. 539-5714.

CUTE TWO-BEDROOM house to share with female roommate. Spring semester. Own room. $175/ month plus utilities. 776-0595.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate wanted, close to campus and Aggieville. $143 plus one-fourth utilities, available immediately. Call 539-4851.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $140/ month, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus. $132/ month plus one-third electricity and phone. First month free. 537-4634.

FEMALE, OWN room in two-bedroom house two blocks to campus. $162.50/ month plus one-half utilities. Prefer graduate student. 539-4069.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice, furnished apartment. One and one-half blocks from campus. Available Jan. 1, $131.25 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-8983.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/ month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment, $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for January—July. Own room. No deposit. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130 per month, own room, newly remodeled. 776-3835.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, quiet neighborhood, $190/ month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room, $160/ month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 539-8766 after 5p.m., Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carport, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upperclassman or graduate student, own bedroom, $150 a month, utilities paid, plus season basketball ticket. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom mobile home, washer/ dryer, $150/ month, utilities paid. 539-2257.

HELP! I'm going home next semester and am looking for a female roommate to share apartment with two great roommates! Own bedroom, $150/ month. Call Dawn at 539-5855.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

JAN. 1, own room, $148 plus utilities, near campus. 537-4510 Carlos.

LOOKING FOR female to share a house with two other females, own room, one-fourth utilities, always low. 539-6370, Angela for details.

MALE, CHRISTIAN. Roommate to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private room, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $195. 537-8048.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE NON-SMOKING roommate to share three-bedroom house, $160 per month plus one-third utilities. 539-8455.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, $130/ month, one-third utilities, no deposit, own room, close to campus. 539-5309.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share three-bedroom apartment, own room, $140/ month, one-third utilities. Close to campus and Aggieville. No deposit necessary. Call 539-0928.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $159 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/ month. Own room, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1661.

MALE ROOMMATE, share four-room house with laundry and kitchen, utilities paid. $175/ month. 776-7369.

MALE—SPRING, $150/ month plus utilities. Roomy upper half of house, 912 Laramie. 539-2881, Ken.

MATURE MALE roommate(s) wanted. Now or Jan. 1. Off-street parking, washer/ dryer. Two blocks from campus. $125 plus utilities and deposit. 539-5727.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent, starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR two roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812, 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE NEEDED for spring semester, $187.50/ month plus one-half utilities. Own room in furnished apartment. No deposit. 10 minute walk from campus. 5 minute walk from Aggieville. Call Scott or Julie, 539-3277.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid, $230. 537-6886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

SPRING SEMESTER roommate wanted, four-bedroom house, own room, next to KSU, $135/ month. 776-1252.

THREE MATES to share Brittany Ridge townhouse. Private rooms, fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer and more. $200. 537-0472.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed for spring semester. Own rooms. One block from campus, washer/ dryer. $125 per month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Available January—May. Close to campus. $185/ each plus utilities. Call 776-6349.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

WASHBURN NURSING student in Topeka needs roommate for spring semester and/or this summer. Own room, includes pool and hot tub. Interested? Call Karin 1-266-9340 collect.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

26 Stereo Equipment

TECHNICS RECEIVER—35 watts per channel, cassette deck, 75-watt—three-way speakers, make offer. 539-9424.

TWO 15" subwoofers, new, still in box. $75 each. 537-0510.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

DP INCLINE weight bench with leg curl/ extension and 110 lb. cast iron weight set. $50. 539-9424.

GUN & KNIFE show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport, Saturday, Dec. 15, 9a.m. to 5p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 9a.m. to 4p.m. Information (913)922-6979.

28 Sublease

APARTMENT AVAILABLE Jan. 1, two-bedroom, dishwasher, next to City Park. 539-1178, 537-4127 or 776-1745.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus, Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, clean, unfurnished one-bedroom basement apartment. Two blocks from campus and Aggieville. $245 plus utilities. Call 776-8455.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment, Blumont Avenue. $300 plus half utilities.

Musical talent separates Pantera from metal bands

COLLEGIAN Report Card

"COWBOYS FROM HELL"

A

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

It's not rock, funk, fusion, pop, punk, disco or thrash. The only term that adequately describes the new album from the group Pantera is heavy metal, with the emphasis on heavy.

With their latest release, "Cowboys From Hell," the Texas-based outfit reveals an aspect of music that is often overlooked in the heavy-metal scene — musical talent. The aptly titled record is Pantera's first effort on a major label after two independent releases.

Pantera evades speed-metal or acid-rock clichés by offering heavy metal accompanied by funk and syncopated rhythms. These guys are light years ahead of monotonous sixteenth notes played at a riveting pace, a characteristic found too often in the genre.

The four-piece group, which derived its name from the Texas town of Pantego, leans towards progressive metal by combining fast-paced riffs with melodic lines and complex phrases. This combination produces what the band describes as a power groove. The most impressive thing about Pantera is their ability to portray a raw, dry energy while holding the music tightly together.

Pantera is headed by vocal frontman Philip Anselmo. Anselmo does something on this album most heavy-metal lead vocalists won't or can't do — sing well. His tone and stylistic phrasing are in harmony with Pantera's aggressive formula. Anselmo has great range, especially at the high end. On "Medicine Man," "Shattered," and the title track, Anselmo sounds frighteningly similar to Skid Row's Sebastian Bach.

Guitarist Diamond Darrell provides the feel of this group. His playing is average from a technical standpoint, but the clever placement of accents within the scope of his riffs are destined to be a trademark for both Darrell and the band.

To say the rhythm section of Pantera is better than most heavy-metal bands would be an understatement. Drummer Vinnie Paul has a pair of talented feet. His bass-drum work on the songs "Primal Concrete Sledge" and "Shattered" are enviable. Often, a true power hitter has to give up some creative expression to hold the rhythm section steady; Paul refuses. He manages to play in an intensely busy style while maintaining a tasteful and solid groove.

Bassist Rex is not colorful, fancy or cool, but his is the way of a true bassman. It is evident he is not a guitar player playing bass, which works well for the band's chemistry.

A confusing problem is that Pantera is a contradiction of sorts. The album is full of lyrics that portray the darker side of life. Death, destruction, corruption, blood and evil all surface as themes, but somehow the music maintains a positive, funky feel. This confusion reveals that Pantera may be too intense for its own good. But if you like good heavy metal, it's confusingly refreshing.

Sentence

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

"It's going to be a tremendous funding mechanism to make sure it works," he said.

He said Legislature would have to provide money to hire temporary judges or retired judges to review all the cases. He said the cases of those inmates on parole would have to be reviewed as well as those behind bars.

Transportation costs could be high, Rulon said, if every inmate is taken to the county where he was sentenced for review. Additional public defenders also might have to be hired.

A recent study done for the commission showed that blacks receive harsher penalties than whites for identical crimes.

Gary Marsh, a probation officer, warned commission members not to drop the issue of retroactivity into the political arena of the Legislature. He said the commission should come up with specific recommendations to lawmakers.

While the commission's sentencing guidelines, which have not been completed, would result in lighter sentences for people convicted of so-called property crimes, such as theft and bad-check writing, they call for heavier sentences for selling small amounts of marijuana.

Under the recommended sentences, a person who sells just one marijuana cigarette can end up in prison for at least 18 months.

Some lawmakers were concerned that stiffer penalties would result in younger people going to prison for selling marijuana to their friends.

"People who get busted for selling are selling to undercover agents," said Paul Morrison, district attorney for Johnson County. He opposed any suggestion that the penalties for drug crimes be reduced.

"What kind of stand are we going to take on drug dealers?" he said. "Is it OK to sell a little bit?"

Business

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 7

Rice said there are a lot of statistics on the success rate of small-business operators who start their own business.

"The statistic I go by is the amount of people who borrow money from the Small Business Administration and pay it back," Rice said. "Out of 100 percent, 95 percent of the people who borrow money from the SBA pay it back in full."

The majority of people who fail are usually in business for the wrong reason, Rice said.

"The secret of our success is the counseling we give to our students," Rice said. "We tell them to slow down and do their homework. We want them to evaluate themselves to see if they are right for the business they have chosen."

"One of the stories that comes to mind is Ed Blechner, a teacher and track coach looking for a way to start a business," Rice said. "Ed found a niche with sled dogs. When he came to me for help, I had no idea how many sled-dog enthusiasts there were. I encouraged him to develop a mailing list, and, after a shaky start, his mailing list has grown to over 10,000 and his sales for outfitting sled dogs are now well into six figures."

Stevenson said usually more women than men take the class.

"I think that women are used to doing this kind of thing. Women are always doing things on the side, where men usually have the normal 9-to-5 job that they retire from," Stevenson said.

Hostages

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

fortifications and to add additional forces to the regions."

The defense secretary said despite the release of the hostages, Hussein "has given us absolutely no indication whatsoever of any intention" of withdrawing from Kuwait.

The latest show of Iraqi defiance on that point came from the Baghdad government's information minister Latif Jassim, who said any notion of an Iraqi withdrawal was "nothing but dreams and wishful thinking."

"Kuwait is Iraqi, whether in the past, present or future," he said in a statement carried by the official Iraqi

News Agency. "We will not compromise one iota on Kuwaiti territory."

Some weekend reports had said Iraq had redrawn its border with Kuwait in possible preparation for a partial pullout.

The reports, in the Observer of London and the Al-Khaleej daily in Abu Dhabi, said Hussein's aim was to keep the entire Rumailah oilfield and two islands, Warba and Bubiyan, which would give it access to the Persian Gulf.

The oilfield, which lies chiefly in Iraq, extends two miles into Kuwait, and Hussein accused Kuwait of over-exploiting it before he invaded.

List

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

outside the K-State football locker room when Colorado comes to town Oct. 26, 1991.

Please keep the reindeer from getting tangled in ESPN's satellite on Christmas Eve. I don't know what I would do without the chance to watch 205 basketball games this winter.

Finally, bring lots of noise to Bramlage Coliseum for the remainder of the basketball season. You must have made an early visit with all the noise that was made by the crowd in the Northwest Missouri State game.

Hopefully, there's plenty left.

Commision

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Foundation's at $15,000.

Varney said that while his committee recognizes the need to attract private industries, care must be taken to keep K-State and Fort Riley strong.

"We've got a lot of gold here," he said. "Most communities would die to have either one of those."

The reduction of the Army could be an opportunity to expand the force on Fort Riley, Varney said.

"A big thrust would be to try to rob other forts," he said. "With the downsizing of the Army that was starting before the gulf crisis, it will be necessary to move units elsewhere. We need to find these units and promote their move to Fort Riley."

To promote K-State, efforts should be made to elect more legislators who support funding for K-State, Varney said.

Dole

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

ficial complained last week that Congress, in the midst of the federal budget deficit, this year financed several dozen projects of dubious stature to stimulate local economies.

Some within the service jokingly say they work at the "National Pork Service." But seriously, they say, the projects drain money available for the Park Service's "crown jewels."

"Every buck that goes for a project like that is one that won't be spent in Yellowstone or Yosemite," said George Rasley, the Park Service's assistant director of legislative and congressional affairs.

Rasley last week wrote a memo to the agency's director, urging some federal holdings be dropped from federal control and handed over to state or private interests.

"Bob Dole is doing exactly what he was elected to do," Rasley said in an interview with The Kansas City Star. "The question I've got is, are we doing what we were appointed to do?"

The pork barrel controversy is not new to the Park Service. Debate has arisen every few years over whether it should protect only sites of "national significance" or broaden its role to bolster economic development.

This year, the Park Service had asked for $80 million in construction. Congress gave it $251 million.

"There are a lot of construction projects in that budget of which we say, 'Oh, yeah?'" said one Park Service official, who asked to remain anonymous.

"There are two major ways in which Congress is playing tamper games," the official said. "One is the creation of parks that we've never heard of or heard little of. The other is in the construction program. Both have an impact on existing parks because they drain off resources from those parks."

Park Service Director James Ridenour recently worried in a newsletter about "thinning the blood," referring to "lowering our standards, being willing to accept something that is less than nationally significant into our system."

President Bush, while shying from using his presidential veto, in October 1989 raised the issue when he approved the Ulysses S. Grant National Historic Site in St. Louis County at Grant's one-time Missouri home, called White Haven.

Bush said he was disappointed Congress acted over the objections from the Park Service.

an ecumenical ADVENT CANDLELIGHT SERVICE
Join us as we pray for PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST
WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12, 7:30 pm.
DANFORTH CHAPEL
SPONSORED BY: Lutheran, Episcopal, & United Methodist Campus Ministries

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

DECEMBER 12, 1990

Noon-4 p.m.

Shellenberger 220

We will be selling (while supplies last)

Christmas packs at this flour sale.

Christmas packs contain:

- 5 lbs. of White Flour
- 5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
- 2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
- 2 lbs. of Bran
- 2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6

Last Flour Sale before Christmas Break.

Merry Christmas

Macintosh LC with 2 megabytes of RAM, an internal 40 megabyte hard disk, keyboard, mouse and 12" Color RGB monitor for only

$2308.00

The Apple® Macintosh LC personal computer is Apple Computer's lowest cost color-capable Macintosh. Combining the flexibility of a modular system with a sleek new design, the Macintosh LC gives you a range of options for larger screens, color displays and more affordable price. The Macintosh LC comes bundled with MacWrite, MacDraw and MacPaint. Free training and local, knowledgeable support from MacSource is included. With this combination you have the power to complete almost any school project.

Apple's newest computer is now available at the K-State Union Bookstore.
Stop in and check out the new features!

We have the Macintosh Classic in stock.

K-State Union Bookstore

MACSOURCE
The Best Support For the Apple Macintosh. Anywhere.
1110 Lawrence Manhattan 837-0199

Outwit the Squirrel with food!
Squirrels love:
Corn on the cob (available in bulk or 4-pack)
Sunflower seeds (bulk or packaged)

Solid cedar squirrel feeder is $20.99
1 free package of corn on the cob with ad

Squirrel Baffler (available to fit any birdfeeder)

Christmas at DALE'S GARDEN CENTER
1105 Waters 539-4751

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, December 12, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 73

Inspection program not passed

Commission will provide landlord, tenant education instead

By Charlie Gatschet
Collegian Reporter

After trying since April 1989 to create a rental inspection program, the Manhattan City Commission settled on education in lieu of legislation to provide local tenants with safe and healthy rental units.

Instead of adopting a plan that would require all rental units in the city to be licensed and inspected, the city is trying to inform landlords and tenants about the existing laws and tenant rights concerning rental units.

"We do not have a requirement for apartments to have permits," Mayor Richard Hayter said. "We do have a more aggressive educational program for tenants."

The educational program includes the distribution of printed information about the Building Officials' and Code Administrators' national standard code and what the code requires of both landlords and tenants.

Information was passed out at fee payment in August and is also being distributed to housing authorities in Fort Riley, the Manhattan Landlords Association and the Manhattan Board of Realtors, said Jim Pearson, assistant city manager.

"The approach we tried to take involves educating tenants and landlords," Pearson said. "Surprisingly, we haven't had a tremendous response to this."

Despite the lack of response, the city plans to hire an additional building inspector in 1991 to handle expected increases in inspections. Pearson said if requested inspections don't increase, the additional inspector will monitor the city looking for external hints of possible BOCA violations. Signs of possible violations include boarded-up windows, dilapidated exteriors and caved-in porches.

Under the current system, tenants suspecting problems with their apartments must contact the city to have an inspection conducted. This system causes many BOCA code violations to go unnoticed, said former city housing inspector Sally Schorey.

"A lot of residents just moved from home and don't know how to identify problems," Schorey said. "Many of them also fear repercussions from landlords. Students shouldn't have to be the ones to identify problems."

Schorey cited gas leaks, inadequate parking, carbon monoxide poisoning, lack of emergency escapes and poor ventilation as problems that may go unnoticed.

Some landlords have taken the responsibility of calling for inspections themselves.

"Landlords of some newer units have called for voluntary inspections to get a clean bill of health," Pearson said.

These landlords use the voluntary inspections as selling points for their units, Pearson said. Most of these inspections have involved only owners of newer apartments, which have little chance for code violations.

Wade Whitmer, former director of the K-State Consumer Relations Board and student representative on the citizens' advisory committee for the rental inspection program, expressed disappointment with the results of the program.

Whitmer said at least nine of the 12 people on the advisory committee opposed a plan requiring scheduled inspections of rental units.

"All they decided to do was vigorously enforce the existing ordinances," Whitmer said. "That is the most empty political promise I've heard in a long time."

Whitmer said he believes the commission succumbed to pressure applied by landlords to reject the original proposal.

"I wouldn't want to have to stand up to the landlords either, but I feel (the commission) took the easy way out," he said.

■ See related story, Page 5

Persian Gulf war stops departure out of Kuwait

Graduate student witnesses invasion; family members killed in fighting

By Elvyn Jones
Staff Reporter

A K-State student from Kuwait was forced to take the semester off when he became trapped in his home country after the Iraqi invasion.

Imad, who asked that his last name not be used, escaped from Kuwait on Oct. 2 with his wife and younger brother. He is now in Manhattan and intends to resume working toward his master's degree.

His wife will join him within a few weeks, he said.

Imad said he heard about Iraqi troops massing on Kuwait's border while on his way home from his honeymoon in Austria.

"While in Cairo, I heard about the troops on the borders, but nobody expected these troops to attack Kuwait," he said.

"When I got back to Kuwait, everybody was talking about these troops, but they thought they were just practicing in their country. President (Hosni) Mubarak (of Egypt) took comments from Saddam the day before the invasion that he would never attack his Arab brothers in Kuwait."

Early in the morning of Aug. 2, Imad and other Kuwaitis learned the real reason for the massing of those Iraqi troops.

"In the morning, my father-in-law woke me up and said Iraqi troops attack the north border of Kuwait," Imad said. "After that, I turn on the radio, and it said Iraqi troops attack the south border. But actually it's not the south border — it was Kuwait City."

He went to the roof of the house where he could see Iraqi soldiers engaging the Kuwaiti army around the emir's castle and in the northern part of the city, he said.

"That was maybe four in the morning," he said. "After that, the radio stopped, and there is no more news from Kuwait. We were very scared from this, because nobody was from Kuwait to give us the real information. We see from the roof everything was fire and smoke, and we hear bombs everywhere.

"At about 11 a.m., I heard about 45 helicopters come above the house," Imad said. "I thought they were Kuwaiti, coming to help the emir. When they come above my head, I saw the Iraqi flag. So I shouted. What could I do? But they don't want me, they want the emir and the country."

During the first day of the invasion, Imad said Kuwaitis were calling and assuring each other help would soon arrive from a combined security force that consisted of soldiers from Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Qatar and Bahrain.

The people of Kuwait, however, soon came to realize no help was coming, and the Iraqis intended to occupy the country.

There was an active Kuwaiti resistance immediately after the invasion, Imad said.

"In the first weeks, they tried to fight the Iraqis, especially in the cities," he said. "They build bombs. They shoot them. They try to bring weapons from the military places."

The resistance activities were stopped when Hussein brought in the man who had earlier crushed resistance inside of Iraq.

"He is very tough," Imad said. "He told Iraqi soldiers, 'If you see a shot come from any house, immediately burn this house and arrest all those in it. If you don't know the house, burn the area and arrest all the people in these houses.'"

"The resistance killed about 100 Iraqi soldiers in the first two weeks," he said. "They were putting them in an empty school. After two weeks, the Iraqis knew there were dead soldiers inside because of the smell. This guy (the new occupation leader) had them burn all the houses in the area and bring in all the people. I don't know where they are now."

Burning houses, mass arrests, check points every 200 yards and ■ See ESCAPE, Page 10

Mike Welchans/Staff

Betty Bubendorf, an operator at K-State telecommunications, finishes her last few calls of her 31-year career with the telecommunications office. Bubendorf is planning to put the receiver down for good December 17.

After era of changes, switchboard operator retiring from position

By Cindy Jeffrey
Collegian Reporter

Betty Bubendorf, K-State's last full-time switchboard operator, has answered incoming calls to the University for the past 31 years.

She will retire December 17.

"I started when we used a large console, where we had to plug a cord into the appropriate hole to connect a call," Bubendorf said. "It was located on the second floor of the Power Plant."

The third floor of the Power Plant housed the fire crew, and all fire alarms used to come through the switchboard.

"We would dial 345, and the alarm would go off. The fire crew would run down the steps out to the trucks in a side building, and sometimes I would open the window and tell them where the fire was," Bubendorf said.

The night of Dec. 13, 1968, Bubendorf took the report that Nichols Gymnasium was burning. She notified the campus and Manhattan fire departments and was busy with other calls when a man called claiming to have set the fire. The Kansas Bureau of Investigation questioned her and played a tape of men's voices, but she was unable to identify the voice.

"I was hired by Alice Venburg in 1959. She was the first switchboard operator," Bubendorf said. "Numbers were only three digits then, and the only way you knew they had hung up was to listen in once in a while."

Bubendorf said a federal law prohibits operators repeating anything they have heard.

"You could go to jail for telling," she said.

The first switchboard at the University was operational Homecoming weekend, October 1947. Until then, all phones on campus were a part of the Manhattan system. Alice Venburg took the first calls using a handwritten directory.

"You recognized the names, voices and numbers, but had no idea what they looked like," said Venburg, who retired in 1963.

At first there were only two operators working the two shifts of 6 a.m. to 3 p.m. and 3 p.m. to 11 p.m. After 11 p.m., male students ran the switchboard, Venburg said.

"At that time, they didn't think it would be safe for women at night. (It was) probably safer then than it is now," she said.

Bubendorf said that at one time there were 12 operators working three shifts and handling sometimes almost 1,000 calls a day. All incoming calls to faculty, staff, offices, the Union, the press box during a game and alarms used to come through the switchboard.

Photo Courtesy of Betty Bubendorf

Bubendorf began her career at the switchboard, originally located in the Power Plant. Over the years, the switchboard has been moved from the Power Plant to Dykstra Hall to its present location in East Stadium.

"Long-distance calls had to be made through the switchboard," Bubendorf said. "Sometimes the list was long because only two lines were available. The wait was terrible, sometimes three or four hours. That's when we started getting cookies and candy."

Now the majority of incoming calls are for directory assistance and information. The only outgoing calls still made through the switchboard are conference calls, she said.

During the past 31 years, Bubendorf has seen the switchboard office moved from the Power Plant to Dykstra Hall, and then to its present location in East Stadium. The equipment has also changed to keep pace with the growth of the University and changes in telecommunications technology.

Graduate student wins service award

By Erika Parker
Staff Reporter

For the first time in K-State's history, the Presidential Award for Distinguished Services to Minority Education will be given to a student.

Andrew Cordero, chairman of the selections committee and director of minority engineering programs, said the award will go to Barbara Baker. Baker, a graduate student in student counseling/personal services, will be given the award and $1,000 on Dec. 15 during commencement exercises.

Baker's role in organizing the first Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week in 1989 was a deciding factor in her selection, Cordero said.

The nine-member selections committee chose Baker from eight to 10 candidates last month. Nominees were solicited from faculty and student leaders, particularly of multicultural organizations, Cordero said.

"What probably stood out in my mind was her spirit of pioneering and willingness to take a stand and to take risks for that stand, much in the same way as Martin Luther King, Jr.," Cordero said. "Her impact on this campus will be felt long after she leaves."

Mordean Taylor-Archer, assistant provost for multi-cultural affairs and committee member, said, "Barbara's contributions have been to the K-State community in general, even though the emphasis may have been on multi-cultural efforts. She was an outstanding candidate."

Baker graduated from Manhattan High School in 1981 before receiving her degree in radio and television from K-State in 1987.

As an undergraduate student, Baker was a member of Minority Affairs and was editor and reporter for its publication, Alliance.

As a graduate student, Baker was the graduate adviser for Ebony Theater. She directed two plays and wrote five concerning multi-cultural issues.

She was also a graduate assistant at the Women's Resource Center, where she founded Women for Multi-Racial Relationships.

In January, during Martin Luther King Week this year, she wrote an article concerning local diversity published in the Manhattan Mercury.

In October, Baker helped coordinate the second Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week at K-State, she said.

Baker has also been a Collegian columnist, published poet and teacher in the high school tutoring program Upward Bound.

"I hope I've had some kind of impact on the university as far as diversity. I'll always be very proud of this award because it came from my school — K-State," Baker said.

Baker

BRIEFLY

World

Albania to liberalize politics

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The ruling Communist Party in Albania, the last country practicing Stalinism in Europe, on Tuesday decided to allow the formation of political parties, the state news agency ATA said.

The surprise announcement to liberalize politics in this country of 3.1 million residents was made in a communique released after a meeting of the party's policy-setting Central Committee in the capital of Tirana.

"The plenum was of the opinion that the creation of independent political organizations according to the law in force is to the good of the further democratization of the life of the country and pluralism."

The Balkan nation, which opened its borders slightly this year after decades of isolationism under the rule of the late Enver Hoxha, would be the last country in Europe to introduce a multiparty system.

Russia will be part of treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian parliament voted today to take part in negotiations for a new Union Treaty that Mikhail Gorbachev says is needed to hold the Soviet Union together, the state news agency Tass reported.

Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin cautioned the Gorbachev administration against undue haste and said it was trying to rush the signing of the treaty.

The vote in the Russian Federation Congress of People's Deputies marked a small victory for Gorbachev.

Python disrupts classroom

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — A 12-foot-long python kept armed soldiers at bay after it slithered into a classroom in a primary school in neighboring Swaziland, the South African Press Association reported Tuesday.

The news agency said the soldiers were called to the school Monday to remove an intruder but backed away in shock when they saw the snake. The soldiers, teachers and students watched from a distance as four local men stuffed the python into a sack and took it away.

The snake apparently entered the classroom during lessons and was coiled in a corner, gazing at the blackboard, when a student noticed it.

Swaziland is a small country surrounded on three sides by South Africa and also bordering Mozambique.

Nation

Smoking linked to leukemia

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cigarette smoking appears to increase the risk of developing leukemia, and kicking the habit may not be enough to dodge the dreaded blood disease, a study says.

Paul Mills, a professor at Loma Linda University and the principal author of the study, said research suggests that even former smokers are at high risk.

"It's very discouraging," Mills said Monday. "We saw a strong association between prior cigarette smoking and the risk of developing leukemia."

Columbia ends voyage early

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Columbia returned home Monday night with seven astronauts and an observatory, ending early a voyage vexed by computer failures and clogged plumbing.

NASA brought the shuttle back one day early to avoid rain forecast for Tuesday night.

Columbia glided down through the dark sky, its arrival heralded by twin sonic booms, and touched down safely on a floodlit runway at 9:54 p.m. PST. It was the fourth shuttle landing in darkness.

Jogger's attacker convicted

NEW YORK (AP) — A 16 year old on Tuesday became the first defendant convicted of attempted murder in the gang rape of the Central Park jogger.

A second youth was acquitted of the same charge and convicted of lesser charges.

Spectators erupted in anger and shock when the verdicts were returned against Kevin Richardson and Kharey Wise after 12 days of jury deliberation.

Richardson's mother, Grace Cuffey, fainted, and the courtroom was cleared while she was treated with oxygen at her seat.

"You're going to pay for this. Jesus is going to get you. You made this ... up," Wise told prosecutor Elizabeth Lederer as he was led from the courtroom in handcuffs.

Richardson, 16, was convicted of attempted murder, rape, sodomy, robbery, assault and riot. Wise, 18, loudly cursed Lederer after he was acquitted of 10 of 13 counts against him, including attempted murder, rape and sodomy. He was convicted of first-degree assault, sexual abuse and riot.

Region

Drinking involved in shooting

WICHITA (AP) — A Haysville man who was shot and killed by a police officer might have been intoxicated when he died, Sedgwick County District Attorney Nola Foulston said Monday.

But Foulston said further details about Datton Wilson's death Friday would not be made public until detectives finish an investigation that could take another week.

Wilson, shot twice in the neck outside his south Haysville home, was known by neighbors as Sarge, a friendly man who managed the Boeing Employees Association recreation area.

But Foulston said Wilson was armed with a handgun when he was confronted at his home by a Haysville police officer investigating a traffic complaint.

"He was in possession of a weapon and the weapon was drawn," Foulston said.

Train jumper loses right leg

WICHITA (AP) — A 28-year-old man who jumped from a moving train had his right leg amputated below the knee and was listed in serious condition Tuesday, hospital officials said.

Mark Benson of Wichita hitched a ride on a Union Pacific train in south Wichita, police said. He jumped off as the train approached his home but slipped under the train, they said.

Benson was able to crawl across the tracks to a nearby home and yell for help, Police Lt. Ron Harris said.

Campbell-Cline enters race

WICHITA (AP) — Christina Campbell-Cline, who ran unsuccessfully this year as an independent for governor, now is running for mayor.

"I think this election is going to go much better," Campbell-Cline said Monday. She drew about 9 percent of the statewide vote in a loss to Democratic Gov.-elect Joan Finney.

Her name will go on February's City Council primary election ballot.

A proposal to raise the mayor's salary to $48,000 a year, under consideration by the council, is ridiculous and irresponsible, she said.

"I will fight against any plan to pay the mayor $48,000 a year," she said. "The mayor has always been a part-time job and it should stay that way."

Campbell-Cline, a certified public accountant, declined to give her age, the names of her family members or the address of her home. She said she is divorced, lives alone and keeps her home phone number unlisted.

"I believe my home and private life are private, as long as I don't go out and do something that a responsible citizen shouldn't do," she said.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

12 Wednesday

■ SADD will have a table in the Union supporting safe holiday driving from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

■ Amnesty International will meet at 8 p.m. in Union 203.

■ Northern Flint Hills Aubodon Society will present a speech on Grasslands of Kansas at 7:30 p.m. in Ackert 221.

■ Counselor Education and Education Psychology majors will meet at noon in Union 203.

13 Thursday

■ National Organization for Women will have a potluck dinner and elections at 7 p.m. in the basement of the UFM house.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

■ BAPP Club will meet at 5 p.m. at Valentino's Pizza.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta will have a Christmas social from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at 911 Bertrand.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

■ K-State Sports Car Club will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 208.

■ KSU Rodeo Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

■ KSU Horticultural Therapy Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Waters 18A.

14 Friday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Janaki Pillarsetti at 2:30 p.m. in Waters Hall. The dissertation topic is "Three Essays on Optimal External Borrowing, Debt-For-Nature Swaps, and the Impact of Distortions on Country Risk of the Developing Countries."

■ Talking Hands will have a pizza party at 5 p.m. at Valentino's.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Timothy Nelson at 2 p.m. in Ward 142. The dissertation topic is "Two-Photon Chemistry of Xe and Kr with Halogens."

16 Sunday

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Sheela Ramanna at 10:30 a.m. in Nichols 236. The dissertation topic is "Temporal Logic in the Design of Integrity Systems."

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, becoming partly cloudy. Cooler with high in the mid- to upper 50s. Winds shifting northerly 10 to 20 mph. Tonight, partly cloudy. Cooler with low 25 to 30. Thursday, mostly cloudy and colder. High around 40.

Fashion
Company

CLOTHING
SELL-OFF!

TAKE AN EXTRA

33%
OFF

OUR ALREADY
LOW PRICES!
HUNDREDS OF ITEMS!

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE:

OUTBACK RED

SWEATER$40

OUR EVERYDAY

LOW PRICE$18.99

EXTRA 33% OFF$6.27

YOUR FINAL
PRICE$12⁷²

You will love
these savings on dozens and dozens of selected famous brand fashions at a fraction of their original prices!!

BRAND NAMES
AT SUPER
LOW PRICES!

Junior & Misses
CLOTHING AS LOW AS:
$19⁹⁹ $13⁹⁹ $8⁹⁹ $5⁴⁹
..... Even

GIFT CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE!

EAST MANHATTAN

MANHATTAN
(1/4 Mile East of mall next to K-Mart)
OPEN HOURS:
Mon.-Fri. 10 am - 8 pm
Sat. 10 am - 6:30 pm
Sun. Noon - 5:30 pm

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

BEAT THE RUSH THIS SPRING

Preorder Your Textbooks
at the
K-State Union Bookstore!

Complete a Textbook Pre-Order
Form and return it to the K-State
Union Bookstore by Jan. 4, 1991 and we will have your books held and ready to pickup Jan. 14-24, 1991

After Jan. 24, 1991 all unclaimed books will be returned to the shelves

Order Forms may be obtained at the K-State Union, Derby and Kramer Food
Centers during Buyback
December 12-21, 1991

NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED

K-State Union
Bookstore

Thank you for your support!
The dollars you spend in the Union help sponsor student services, activities and programs.

Gary Lytle/Staff

Survival kit

Fort Riley soldiers from the 556th Maintenance Unit are interviewed on the radio by KMAN-AM disc-jockey Amy Sullivan Tuesday evening in front of Dillons in Westloop. KMAN-AM and KMKF-FM were giving away desert survival kits containing items donated by local merchants to Fort Riley soldiers.

Colleges to honor grads

Families, friends will be invited to receptions

By Liz Anne McElhaney
Collegian Reporter

Three of K-State's eight colleges will have receptions for December graduates this year.

Agnes Elzinga, student service specialist for the College of Education, said that college's reception will be from 4 to 5 p.m. Friday in the Union Cats' Pause Lounge.

"This is the time when we try and honor all of our students," Elzinga said. "Our faculty does an excellent job of supporting this."

Family and friends of the students are invited to the reception, which is paid for by the college, Elzinga said. There will be 116 education graduates, and the 14 honor students will be recognized.

The College of Education has been hosting the reception for at least 10 years, Elzinga said.

This is the first year the College of Agriculture will have a reception for its December graduates, said Jean Isaacson, secretary for resident instruction in the college.

"We do something for the May graduates, so we wanted to do something for the December graduates," Isaacson said.

The agriculture alumni association is paying for the reception that will be from 11:15 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Saturday, Isaacson said. The free reception will be in the Legends Room of Bramlage Coliseum. Isaacson said people who want to attend must get their tickets in advance in the office of the dean of the College of Agriculture.

The third college organizing a reception for its graduates is the College of Human Ecology. This college has had a reception for December graduates since 1985, said Karen Pence, assistant to the dean of the college.

The reception is will be at 4:30 p.m. Friday in the Hoffman Lounge of Justin Hall.

Pence said one student will be recognized as an outstanding graduate. The outstanding graduate is selected by the faculty based on the student's academics, service and involvement within the college.

Human Ecology alumni are also buying a one-year membership into the KSU Alumni Association as a gift for the 73 December graduates of that college, Pence said.

The colleges of Engineering, Architecture and Design and Business Administration do not have receptions for their December graduates.

Glenda Hensley, administrative officer for the dean of the College of Veterinary Medicine, said students in that college are on a planned program that only allows them to graduate in May.

The College of Arts and Sciences, the largest of all K-State's colleges, allows its individual departments to decide whether or not to have receptions for graduates.

33rd Ebony Fashion Fair features clothes, models

By Kelly Berg
Staff Reporter

It's not often a person gets the chance to see original high-fashion designer clothes presented by professional black models in a Manhattan other than New York.

But people will get that chance today at the Ebony Fashion Fair in the Houston Street Ballroom.

The Ebony Fashion Fair is a traveling fashion production coordinated by Ebony magazine and directed by Eunice Johnson, wife of John Johnson, chief executive office and publisher of Ebony.

The show has been sponsored in alternate years for the last 10 years in Manhattan by Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., which is the Geary, Riley and Saline county alumnae chapter of Eta Gamma—a black sorority.

"We just don't have the clientele to draw enough people every year," said La Barbara James Wigfall, correspondence secretary for the alumnae chapter and event organizer.

The production Wednesday will be part of the 33rd annual tour of the fashion fair that travels all over the United States throughout the year.

The fashion fair originally — 32 years ago — was only presented in a few cities, but the public's reception was so favorable, and there were so many additional sponsor requests, that it became necessary to expand the show's tour to two seasons — a fall and a spring tour.

The fall season tour starts in Chicago and covers the Midwest and eastern sections of the United States. The spring tour opens in St. Thomas and St. Croix, Virgin Islands and covers the southeast, southwest and western states.

Through the course of the two tours, 202 shows will be presented in 190 different cities. In six of these cities the demand for tickets to the show is so high two shows are scheduled.

The touring staff consists of a commentator, music director, 10 female models and two male models. There are four wardrobe assistants, a stage manager and a business manager working backstage.

Each production is sponsored by different organizations in each city such as the Urban League, United Negro College Fund, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, YMCA, Links Inc. National Council of Negro Women, sororities, fraternities and local, civic and social groups for the benefit of charity.

The Delta Sigma Theta sorority uses the money they earn from the Manhattan production for a scholarship fund for black women.

Money isn't the only benefit of sponsoring the production, Wigfall said.

"Sponsoring the fashion show gives us an opportunity to expose our community to black art and culture," she said. "And a chance to educate our community about the activities of blacks."

The benefits don't come without a lot of work.

"We spend a lot of time working on setting everything up and publicizing the event," Wigfall said.

The sorority advertised the fashion fair on the radio, cable television and in local newspapers.

"A great deal of our advertising, though," she said, "is by word of mouth."

Wigfall said the last time the production was in Manhattan, they underestimated the popularity of the event. The organizers only planned on an attendance of 250 people, and about 300 showed up.

"We were busting out of our seams," she said. "That's why we bumped our expectations up to between 350 and 375 this year." The fall 1989, spring 1990 tour overall drew an attendance of 328,111, selling out places as large as the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C.

With ticket prices ranging from $18-$50, the total amount raised by all sponsors during the 32 years of the touring exceeds $36 million.

The price of the ticket buys the spectator a chance to view clothing designed by famous designers like Yves Saint Laurent, Christian Dior, Bob Mackie, Fabrice, Halston, Bill Blass and Bruce Oldfield.

"It's not often you get a chance to see this level of fashion in Manhattan," said Sharon Wright, senior in apparel design.

Sorority focuses on service

Organization provides scholarships for young black women

By The Collegian Staff

On Jan. 17, 1970, the Eta Gamma Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., a black sorority, was chartered at K-State.

It was started by a group of 11 college women who formed a "Those Interested in Delta" group in the fall semester of 1969.

With the help of Lorene Lewis, former director of the central region; the Deltas of Zeta Beta; and the Wichita alumnae chapters, those first 11 women became the charter members of Eta Gamma.

These women started working on several service and community projects like visiting soldiers at Irwin

Army Hospital and founding the United Black Voice Gospel Choir and have continued to participate in community service projects every since.

Then, on July, 1979, the charter was signed that established the Geary Riley Saline Alumnae Chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc.

"We are a service and scholarship organization," said La Barbara James Wigfall, correspondence secretary for Delta Sigma Theta, "the graduate version of Eta Gamma."

Although still a rather young sorority, the chapter maintains its members are striving to uphold the ideals of Delta by doing volunteer work and providing scholarships for young black women in the community.

The chapter is hosting the Ebony Fashion Fair Wednesday at the Houston Street Ballroom, with all proceeds going to a scholarship fund for young black women.

Ad It Up! in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

All You Can Eat Homemade & Fresh GRADUATION BUFFET

$8.95 open 11 a.m.

•HAM •BEEF •CHICKEN
•SMOKED SALMON

with all the trimmings & assorted desserts
wine & reg. steak & seafood available

2605 Stagg Hill Rd. Reservations Appreciated 776-1234

BUSHWACKER'S

Comedy Invasion

Mon., Tues., & Wednesday
9 p.m.

Jerry Dye

Before 5 p.m. 539-4321
18 to enter, 21 to drink
Call for Reservations 531 N. Manhattan
After 5 p.m. 539-9727

A Rockin' Yuletide Blowout
with

the BarnBurners

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, USA

GRAIN SCIENCE CLUB FLOUR SALES

DECEMBER 12, 1990

Noon-4 p.m.

Shellenberger 220

We will be selling (while supplies last)

Christmas packs at this flour sale.

Christmas packs contain:

5 lbs. of White Flour
5 lbs. of Whole Wheat Flour
2 lbs. of Whole White Wheat Flour
2 lbs. of Pancake Mix
2 lbs. of Bran
2 lbs. of Bulgur

Cost is $6

Last Flour Sale before Christmas Break.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS?

$15 per person or $25 per couple
Champagne Toast • Party Favors
Hors d'oeuvres from 6:30-11 p.m.

MANHATTAN'S

Ramada Hotel & Suites

I-35 & 87th St.

Overland Park • 888-8440

the Loft

Women's Casualwear In Aggieville

Felt Fedora Hat
50% off

A perfect topper for that casual but sophisticated look.

THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"

1207 MORO HRS
539-1319

Mon-Thurs 9:30-8:00
Fri-Sat 9:30-5:30
Sun 1:00-5:00

Graduation Day Buffet

Beat the rush and eliminate the waiting with Clyde's famous Buffet Entrees

All Day Buffet 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.

Prime Rib
Baked Salmon
Cordon Bleu
Baked Ham
Crab Legs
Shrimp Cocktail
Vegetable Souffles

and more! more! more!

All you can eat

$12.95

Children 10 and under—½ price

Senior Citizens 10% off

2304 Stagg Hill Rd. (Across from the Holiday)

537-8440

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Writing potentially misleading, enhancing

This feels like the first time that I have sat down to write. I feel unusually uncomfortable pretending to be 'nonfictional' when clearly any writer that presents her or his work to an audience is writing fiction. Objectivity is not possible. Why pretend that it is? A writer chooses which questions to ask, which to report, which to follow-up on, which statistics to use and how to use the statistics. These options allow for choices, which allow for subjectivity. I would suggest that, as readers, we must take into account the writer's choices.

Also, whether we are writing, wooing, worshipping or weeping, each of us seems to take on a persona, that mysterious, somewhat distant character who embodies the safe yet the brave, who embodies the person we wish others to perceive. Often we are motivated by the same mythology that motivates leaders of countries to concentrate more on their public appearance and global reputation, than peace, love and common sense. Again the writer as a persona is not, necessarily, being dishonest, but the readers, or observers, must decide for themselves to what extent this persona helps or hinders human understanding.

From what sources do we receive the messages that shape our lives, shape persona? We are shaped by nonfictional events that occur in our lives. We are shaped by media of communication, forces beyond our control — literature, movies, religion, parents, schooling, environment. Our daily lives become built upon a fiction, a mythology of how the world works and how we fit in this world. It is a fiction that if not somehow acted out, leaves many of us feeling unsatisfied not with our myths of greatness, but with ourselves as less than great, as less than powerful.

I read in the newspaper last week that women are twice as likely as men to experience depression. This is not a global predicament, necessarily, but specific to American women and American culture. How does such a statistic affect women's lives? Will women across the country feel relieved that their depression has been validated by science as a real consequence of the American culture? Or will women then be more likely to give in to depression, feeling powerless to the fact that depression is prevalent and inevitable in America? Such information may help or may hinder women's health.

Jana Leep

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

What else does this statistic say about men's lives? It seems to say that men's lives are fairly problem-free. Or at least for men, discomfort within this culture doesn't manifest itself in depression. But manifestations of the pressure, expectations and myths that surround being a man, do occur.

Men die earlier than women. Men go to war. Men experience more stress during financial crisis such as bankruptcy or a depression. (Interesting that women experience emotional depression and men experience a financial depression, no less debilitating, but as a consequence of financial, 'valid' problems). Men can be fathers, not mothers, and often are not taken seriously if they desire more time at home with their children. Men aren't supposed to cry. Men are still told that success and achievement are more valuable than one's interpersonal life, more valuable than one's health.

Why isn't the mythology of being a man studied, as is the mythology of being a woman? Why aren't the consequences of this mythology taken as valid within men's lives? We may find that men are not as comfortable as we thought. We may find that the mythology of the corporate warrior, living off his spoils of war, while not salient within all men's lives, is a prevalent theme that is not as sustaining as is believed.

The mythology of being a woman is not sustaining, but it is readily created within women's own expectations of themselves by images in media. For instance, as reported in the Wichita Eagle on Dec. 4, Harper's editor Lewis Lapham will print the bill of $1,525 for retouching a photograph of Michelle Pfeiffer in the January issue. Lapham "sees his mission in printing the bill as a public service, a 'kindness to every woman in America...' (for) women are constantly faced with perfection in magazines. This is to remind the reader in an amusing way that there's a difference between life and art."

And my mission has been to do just that. To remind the reader that writing is an art and must be understood, not as truth, but as symbolic and rich, and yet potentially misleading, or potentially enhancing.

EDITORIALS

Banning teens from malls not acceptable

More and more teen-agers are hanging out at malls, and some mall operators don't like it.

To solve the problem, many of the mall operators came up with the brilliant idea to just completely kick them out unless they are accompanied by an adult. One mall in Hamburg, N.Y., banned anyone younger than 20 years old from entering the mall during the peak hours of 6 to 10 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. Others have completely banned people younger than 18, with or without an adult.

It doesn't seem like good business to cut out a major spending group simply on the basis of age. It just doesn't look like the shop owners put much thought into this solution at all.

Teens work, and they have lots of spending money. Teens spend about $56 billion a year while hanging out in malls. In fact, malls could almost build their entire fiscal year on what they make from the under-20 set alone.

One solution is using the money raised from these "nuisances" to hire more security. This seems more feasible than losing revenue.

Besides, the ban isn't working.

One mall in Colorado tried restrictions on teens last year. Teens were handed cards with rules of behavior on them. They were given one warning, then photographed and banned. Those who ignored their notices were arrested by local police for trespassing.

The mall ended up banning 10 to 15 young people each weekend, and there was no decrease in the numbers that came to the mall.

Many mall operators have taken a different approach by getting the teens involved in advisory boards and giving them an active role in what goes on in the mall.

Others have hired more security and worked on changing the attitude that teens are not necessarily bad.

These approaches certainly make more sense. In a time of impending recession and predictions of gloom and doom in the market economy, restricting the access of all of those credit cards and pockets full of money to malls is not practical solution for merchants.

Foxes guarding the fox den

LETTERS

Recall troops

Editor,

Our president, in his wisdom, will soon concentrate 400,000 American troops in Saudi Arabia along with about half of our most sophisticated aircraft and massive amounts of other military equipment. They will be within range of several types of weapons of mass destruction.

It would take only a few well-placed nuclear weapons to wipe out that American army. The Russians have sworn they are going to bury us. What an opportunity for the Soviets, and what a devastating trap for the United States Army. The Iraqis could do the same thing, as our military forces have little effective defense against chemical weapons in desert conditions.

There are historical precedents for the instantaneous loss of the stronger army (e.g. Deut 11:4 and Jud 4:7). The prerequisite was to trap the army in a small area.

In my opinion, Bush has no right to risk the lives of those soldiers in a fight that is not ours in the first place. He should bring the American troops home. Then he should be removed from office for pulling such a colossal blunder in the first place.

E.A. Munyan
Overland Park

Faculty needs input

Editor,

As a member of the faculty, I resent repeated administrative reference to the Faculty Senate vote which supported the administration's request that we begin the inquiry into a possible reorganization. The administration's implication is that the faculty agreed with the reorganization plan. Such is not the case at all. The implicit understanding was that the faculty would participate in the entire process of reorganization. Instead, the administration secretly drafted a document without benefit of faculty input. The resultant firestorm of protest is not to necessarily resist change, but to convince the administration that the integrity of the agreed upon process cannot and must not be violated. We all have too much at stake to not proceed cautiously and judiciously and in the spirit of mutual respect.

In my opinion, the administration respected neither the process nor its faculty. Grave damage has been done to the University as a whole and to many of its specific academic programs. The sense of resentment and distrust between the faculty and the administration will be a long time healing. "Fifty-five good months," as President Weald is fond of pointing out, may have been erased by one arrogant act.

The faculty's passionate and primary concern is to be partners in the process, the whole process. We wish to be masters of our fate instead of betrayed by an ill-conceived and secretly drawn up document of dubious value.

Phil Anderson
instructor of speech

Lefties need desks

Editor,

You may be startled, if you are right-handed, to learn how unfair, even discriminatory, our society is toward those of us who are left-handed. K-State is no exception.

If you "don't know your left from your right," you are confused or stupid. If you have "two left feet," you are clumsy. If you "go over to the left," you turn good into bad. The "left hand of fortune" brings bad luck, and the "left hand of a friend" symbolizes betrayal, possibly by someone who drank a "left-handed toast" to you, wishing you ill. Yes, these are a few of the many phrases that have developed over the years stereotyping left-handers. These are only words, yet they reflect the attitudes of society portraying southpaws as awkward or insincere.

The University as a whole is part of this subtle discrimination toward left-handed students. There are more than 21,000 students enrolled at the University, and possibly 10 to 15 percent of these students are left-handed. The left-handed desks that we use in our classrooms and lecture halls, however, are very, very few and far, far between. If you are left-handed and tired of straining your back and shoulders, I urge you to request more left-handed desks.

Jim Tunget
junior in business management and 19 others

Facts not straight

Editor,

I'm always happy to read a well-thought-out discourse on American foreign policy. Unfortunately, Alvin Burzynski's letter was all I had available today. His diatribe against anyone who doesn't mindlessly follow the policies set forth by politicians implies that those who think for themselves are unpatriotic radicals. As Burzynski may be surprised to find out, patriotism requires "love and devotion to one's country" (American Heritage Dictionary). Does it make me, in Burzynski's words, unpatriotic to want our country to do the right thing?

After informing us of the terrible kamikaze attacks on Pearl Harbor and pointing out that atomic bombs were dropped primarily to get the Japanese out of Korea, Burzynski asks us to get our facts straight. Sir, my facts are straight. The kamikaze attacks began late in the war, and Japan occupied Korea long before they bombed Pearl Harbor. I wonder if your grasp of current events is as weak as your grasp of history.

Burzynski goes on to criticize protesters for damaging the morale of the troops overseas. I believe the protests were aimed at keeping as many soldiers alive as possible. I hope that doesn't upset them too much.

David Rowland
sophomore in history

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR	Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR	Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN	Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS	Mary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR	Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR	Mike Venso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR	Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR	Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR	David Svoboda
CAMPUS EDITORS	Steve Franzen, Lori Stauffer
FEATURES EDITOR	Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR	Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF	Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS	Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER	Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS	Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hatjimosheidis, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Puls, Alan Wilda, Paul Noel, Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack, Brad Camp, Margaret Clarkin, Brian Kratzer, Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt, Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whiston-Lind, Bob Branson, Steve Franzen, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Venso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER	Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER	Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER	Joan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR SHEET MANAGER	Ronnie Metz
ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES	Elizabeth Lithom, David Little, Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allison Schaff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind, Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER	Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR	Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR	Linda Punney
BUSINESS MANAGER	Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE	Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER	Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER	Pat Hudgins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT	Cornie Pullmann
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Carla Jones
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR	Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS	Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker, Britt Owen, Deanna Adams, Shania Bailey, Matt FitzGerald, Christa South, Joe Cook, Minnie Dowsdy, John Pullmann, Norm LeComte, James Seymour
OFFICE STAFF
CARRIERS

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

K-Staters compose pieces for concert

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Each semester, music students perform recitals, which give them a chance to demonstrate their musical talents.

A recital tonight, however, provides an added twist—all the music on the program was composed by K-State students.

The recital will be at 7:30 p.m. in All Faiths Chapel. There is no admission charge.

Students will perform pieces written in the style of the period they are currently studying. Hanley Jackson, music professor, said the students will play each other's music.

Jackson teaches 20th Century music. The other musical periods represented include Renaissance, Baroque, Classical and Romantic.

"Virtually, they copy from the masters of that time," said Craig Parker, associate professor in music. Parker teaches music from the Romantic period. "They know the language and instruments used, and then they try to copy."

Parker said it is essential for composers to hear their pieces performed to see the public's reactions.

"Every composer should have a chance to hear their own compositions performed," Parker said. "This recital gives them a chance to have it heard publicly."

Parker said there is a need between the composer and the audience for an interpreter. This recital allows a chance for the music to be interpreted for the audience.

The recital pieces will probably never be published, but it is good experience for the students.

Most professional composers have only one-half of their compositions published, Parker said.

Teaching styles vary from class to class, but the teachers are a check point for the students' compositions. Parker requires that the musical pieces be checked by him at least one week before the final due date.

They then have an in-class critique where the students perform their piece for a class evaluation. The type of instruments required for each composition depends upon the musical style being studied in the class.

Not all pieces written for the classes will be performed at the recital.

"Generally, five or six from each class are chosen," Parker said. "If we played all the pieces written each semester, the recital would be 24 hours long."

Living options numerous

Mobile homes, apartments, houses considerations differ

By Kelly Berg
Staff Reporter

The city's Office of Community Development plans to take a more active approach of inspecting Manhattan rental units starting in 1991, said Jerry Petty, director of community development.

The policy change is an attempt to respond to what Petty referred to as an uproar over the proposed licensing requirement last summer for Manhattan landlords.

A small budget increase will make it possible for the department to add another full-time code inspector to the community development department's payroll, bringing the number of full-time inspectors to four.

Currently there are three inspectors. One is a senior code inspector who reviews building plans to check for code violations and issues permits for building. Another is a code inspector of new construction who inspects while the units are being built. The third inspector is a code inspector who inspects existing housing for code violations.

As policy stands now, the existing housing inspector only inspects rental units in response to complaints from tenants or by request of the landlord.

After the first of the year, Petty said the inspectors will take a more active approach and instigate inspections where they deem necessary—with or without a complaint being filed.

The way they will do this, he said, is to contact the landlord of any building in which an inspector sees something that would lead him to believe there could be a code violation in the building. This could be a leaning wall, a door off its hinge or excessive disorder that is evident from the outside. The inspector will request permission from either the tenant or the landlord to inspect the unit. If neither are willing, they can go as far as getting a search warrant from the courts.

If tenants have complaints of a possible code violation, they need to contact the landlord. After about 14 days, if the landlord still hasn't responded to the complaint, the tenant should contact the code inspection department.

"The reason we have that notice time is because we want to make sure the tenant has made an effort to resolve the problem with the landlord first," Petty said. "We don't want to end up just being a referee in something that could've been handled between the two originally."

If the appropriate notice has been given to the landlord, the inspector will then set up a time with the tenant to inspect the unit. If the inspector finds a code violation, he will issue a notice of the violation to the landlord and set a deadline for the correction of the violation. Depending on the violation, the time frame is usually about two

■ See RENT, Page 10

INTRODUCING THE ADJUSTABLE SUNGLASSES FOR ALL OCCASIONS

JT THREDS

A NEW CONCEPT IN EYEWEAR

- LIGHTWEIGHT
- LIFETIME WARRANTY
- AFFORDABLE

Drs. Price, Young, & Odle, P.A.
and Associates, Optometrists
3012 Anderson,
Manhattan, KS
913-537-1118

FOR MEN ONLY

MEN THIS IS YOUR CHANCE!

Undercover Lingerie's MEN'S NIGHT is Thursday, Dec. 13th from 5-8 p.m. GIFTS WRAPPED FREE!

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie

1224 MORO

AGGIEVILLE

What can we get for our K-State alums?

Besides shirts, hats and socks in the color of plums?

A Royal Purple from days gone by! "What a brilliant idea!" Santa said with a sigh.

We've made a list, you can check it twice. How much do they cost? $10 is the price.

Quantities are limited, so hurry up, please To Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103.

1905-1	1924-5	1942-1	1961-1	1969-5
1906-2	1926-1	1943-1	1962-4	1971-1
1909-2	1929-1	1945-2	1963-4	1972-5
1910-1	1930-1	1952-4	1964-3	1973-4
1911-4	1930-1	1953-3	1965-4	1974-5
1912-2	1932-1	1956-3	1966-3	1976-2
1915-1	1936-4	1958-1	1967-5	1977-4
1921-1	1941-1	1960-2	1968-5	1978-3
				1979-2

Books may be mailed for $4.50 each

For more information, call 532-6555

MEN'S SILK BOXERS
Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie
1224 Moro AGGIEVILLE

Tri-County
Property Management
Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie
1, 2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available
1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

CLASSIC ROCK & ROLL
Pool room
Dance Floor
21 to Enter
523 S. 17th
Walt's
Dougout
537-1484

Have "You"
Had Your
Frozen Yogurt
Today??
I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

Pizza Hut
DELIVERY
Makin' it great!
CALL THE LOCATION
NEAREST YOU.
•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 539-7447
•3RD & MORO 776-4334

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $10.00

On Christmas Trees, Ornaments, Lights, Garland, and Tree Toppers When You Buy $30.00 or More Of These Christmas Items

Expires 12/20/90

COUPON

COUPON

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

Limit One Coupon Per Customer

SAVE $5.00

On Your Purchase Of $25.00 or More. Good On Regular Priced Merchandise Only.

Expires 12/20/90

COUPON

COUPON

Kitchens Plus

Manhattan's "Christmas" Headquarters

537-4046
1110 Westloop

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Lady Cats use early run to get cushion, gain win

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

The Lady Cats used a strong first half and a 15-2 run in a 3:18 stretch to open a 25-point margin en route to 79-57 victory over Wichita State Tuesday night in Bramlage Coliseum.

K-State took advantage of their tough road trip, that ended last weekend with a loss to No. 11 Long Beach State, to force an up-tempo first half to put away the Shockers and move their record to 4-3 on the season. Wichita State dropped to 2-4.

The intensity level of the Lady Cats began to slump towards the end of the first half, and the result was 18 minutes of impressive basketball and 22 minutes of so-so basketball.

"I think that is a fair assessment. I thought we played really hard in the first half," Coach Susan Yow said. "In the second half, I thought we looked good, but we weren't nearly as intense as we could have been."

The first half should not be overshadowed by a slower second half. The Lady Cats had put 45 points on the board with 5:11 still left in the first half, and at one point had a 30-point advantage.

Nadira Hazim and Diana Miller lead the way in the first half with 12 and 11 points, respectively. K-State shot 57.6 percent from the field, and went to the locker room with a 51-30 lead.

K-State also used a half-court pressure defense in the first half to take Wichita State out of their offense and force 12 turnovers. Yow said she believed the first half might have been as well as the Lady Cats had executed in a game this season.

"I think we only had five turnovers in the stats that we keep, and I think that is incredible," Yow said. "We were pushing it up the floor and going with it. I really think we did a great job there."

The second half saw the intensity drop due to the big lead K-State was resting on. During the second half, the Lady Cats shot only 34.5 percent from the field, and only converted on 8-of-19 attempts from the charity stripe.

"I don't think it was a real thrilling

■ See GAME, Page 10

Lady Cat guard Mary Jo Miller goes up for two points against Wichita State's Monek Dean-Johnson. K-State went on to win 79-57.

K-State forward Diana Miller fights off Wichita State forward Lisa Klaassen for a loose ball during the Lady Cats 79-57 pounding of the Shockers in Bramlage Coliseum Tuesday night. Miller finished with 17 points.

WSU (57)

Johnson 6-12 2-2 14, Olmstead 1-2 0-0 2, King 2-6 0-4, Lane 1-8 1-24, Klaassen 6-13 2-3 14, Hund 3-6 0-2 6, Dean-Johnson 1-5 4-4 6, Hayes 3-4 1-27, Pelowski 0-0 0-0 0, Sanders 0-0 0-2 0, Kufahl 0-0 0-0 0, Totals 23-56 10-17 57.

LADY CATS (79)

D. Miller 8-14 0-2 17, Bahner 5-11 3-4 13, Grebing 3-5 2-5 8, Hazim 6-13 0-2 14, M.J. Miller 0-3 9-10 9, Honeycutt 2-3 3-6 7, Holzman 3-5 1-27, Moylan 1-5 0-0 2, Bertrand 0-0 0-0 0, Begley 1-1 0-0 2, Totals 29-62 18-31 79.

Halftime score — Lady Cats 51, WSU 30. Three-point goals — Lady Cats 3-7 (D. Miller 1-3, Hazim 2-3, M.J. Miller 0-1), WSU 1-3 (Johnson 0-1, Lane 1-2). Rebounds — Lady Cats 41 (Bahner 9), WSU 35 (Hund 12). Assists — Lady Cats 21 (Bertrand 6), WSU 7 (Klaassen 3). Total fouls — Lady Cats 17, WSU 21. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none. Attendance — 935.

Mike Vanzo/Staff

Lady Cat Jennifer Grebing has taken a starting role since the team's trip to the west coast. Grebing is averaging 3.9 points per game.

Intensity helps Grebing earn starting nod

By Russ Ewy
Sports Reporter

Providing one thing all coaches look for, K-State center Jennifer Grebing's intensity has brought her to the surface of the Lady Cat lineup.

"(Jennifer) has the level of intensity that you would like for a player to have," Coach Susan Yow said. "She has that instinctively, and if she didn't have that intensity, she wouldn't even be close to where she is today."

"She isn't blessed with the talent that a Kristie Bahner or a Diana Miller, or maybe even a Leah Honeycutt has. The reason she's able to stay in there and sustain herself with them, and contribute in the way she does, is her level of intensity. I wish I could bottle that and put it into everybody else."

Not seeing much playing time last season — only eight minutes a game — Grebing has increased her playing time by 10 minutes, while working her way into a starting position the last three games.

"It's great (to be playing more)," Grebing said. "It's so true that the way you practice is the way you play, and you really realize that when you get a chance to step out on the court."

"I think I prepare about the same for a game, but I think it is a little easier (to get ready for the game) knowing that you are definitely going to be called upon, and that the team is counting on you. You have a role on that team, and every person is important, whether you are playing 40 minutes, or you never step foot on the floor. I guess it's getting yourself ready to play regardless."

The 6-2 junior started the ball rolling for the Lady Cats in their 79-57 win over Wichita State, scoring K-State's first four points. Grebing also helped fuel a 20-2 run by the Lady Cats midway through the first half with a pair of quick baskets.

"I know I can count on Jen. I know she's going to give it her best shot," Yow said. "She might not be as effective one night as opposed to another, but I know she'll give it her best shot."

With the emergence of Grebing in the Lady Cat inside game, K-State can now use a variety of player combinations at the forward and center positions.

"It gives us some depth at their positions, because (Kristie Bahner) can play a four-five (forward-center), Jen plays a five and Leah (Honeycutt) plays a four," Yow said. "So you can take Jen out and put (Bahner) at five and Leah at four. You bring Jen back in, you can take (Bahner) out and leave Leah at four, then you can put (Bahner) back in and take Leah out. You get a rotation there so you can get maximum effort from them."

Getting her first start of the season against San Diego State in the first game of the Long Beach State Dial

Soap Classic, Grebing has allowed Yow the opportunity to rotate starters depending on the opponent.

"When we played San Diego State we definitely needed her size to match up better," Yow said. "At Southwest Missouri State her size wasn't as important in that game. I think it depends on the flow of the game, whether we need the size or the psychological advantage."

"I think the road trip to California was just a good opportunity for me to get some experience against some girls that were starting to push me around," Grebing said. "After a while you say this is enough and you start pushing back."

"I feel more confident now when I'm out on the court. When you have confidence it really helps your game. You just have to keep with it and keep trying, and eventually your time will come along. I think as a team, and individually, we're continuing to get better."

Crowd behavior rules hamper fans' right to free expression

Dan Wicker

SPORTS REPORTER

The monkey has finally been lifted, I guess you could say.

Marty Schottenheimer and the Kansas City Chiefs overcame an illness, "Broncoism," and in the process recorded an impressive and gutsy 31-20 victory over the Denver Broncos Sunday afternoon at Arrowhead Stadium.

It was a game where everything went right for the Chiefs, starting with their first drive, which gave them a 7-0 lead on a flea-flicker.

Only two short years ago, the Chiefs were battling to finish with a 4-11-1 record. Now it seems that everything is coming together for them. They have an excellent shot at winning their first division title in 19 years and playing in their first Super Bowl since Super Bowl IV.

Sunday's game may have been against the cellar-dwelling Broncos, but there is something floating in the air that makes a win over Denver a win over one of the biggest rivals of the season.

There was something troubling, however, about the Chiefs' victory last Sunday that is beginning to trouble almost all NFL teams when they are playing at home.

For years, Kansas City has been trying to reach sellout crowds to boost its home field advantage, and has not succeeded. The goal has finally been reached this season, and 77,937 screaming fans all dressed in red last Sunday supposedly did something wrong.

They yelled too loud for the home team. It sounds just as ridiculous as it is.

This outburst of crowd support marked the first time at a Chiefs' game that a referee has had to start enforcing the rule of quieting a crowd so the opposing quarterback can call the signals.

First of all, let's take the situation John Elway was facing. Denver was down 17-14, and Elway was on the Denver 1-yard line. It seems quite ironic that Elway could not hear.

If the referee would have had to ask the crowd to quiet down one more time, a timeout would have been charged to the Chiefs. Each successive crowd-noise penalty following would have resulted in a five-yard penalty.

The time has come for the NFL to drop the idea that a home field crowd can be too loud. For years and years, NFL teams have accepted the fact that there would be taunting and screaming at players. So why try to change a part of the game that has been around since its creation?

The rule is making the referee a crowd moderator who can tell them when to be loud or quiet. This is not the referee's job. It is the responsibility of the visiting team to adapt and

■ See WICKER, Page 10

Road test No. 2 next

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

Big wins over non-conference foes are nice, but they really don't prove anything — to the team that gets them, to the fans who support the team or to those hoop junkies around the nation who watch scores religiously.

That's why steps like the one K-State, 4-1, hopes to take tonight at Tulsa are so important. Tulsa, 2-2, is a non-conference foe, but the Golden Hurricane is a legitimate opponent. This will be no walk in the park.

So when the ball goes in the air at 8:05 p.m., Coach Dana Altman and his team have a chance to bolster their own confidence, and that of the fans watching on cable channel 7, and to get a longer look at a legitimately strong team from those who count nationally.

Tulsa, Altman said, is quick and physical — just a tough team to play.

"I don't know if we've been involved in a game that could get as physical as the one with Tulsa," Altman said.

And on top of the Tulsa talent, this is a road game — just K-State's second of the young season.

"Each time you go on the road, you learn something different," Altman said. "We're looking forward to going to Tulsa to play the game."

With a 24-point loss at Arkansas to show for their only other road effort of the year, Altman said the 'Cats are looking for a boost at Tulsa. But this game isn't different than any other road tilt, he said.

"I think any team needs to go out and win on the road at some point in time," he said. "We'd just as soon start now rather than wait until later, though."

Teams in the Missouri Valley conference, of which Tulsa is a member, have been tough on Big Eight teams on the home floors of the Valley schools.

Earlier this year, Creighton downed Missouri, and Wichita State knocked off Oklahoma State. Tulsa, a preseason choice to finish second in the Valley, is looking to do the same to K-State.

"Right now, the Missouri Valley has done very well, especially on their home courts," Altman said.

"We've never won down in Tulsa, so our players aren't looking at this thing lightly."

Altman is looking for improvement from his team in three specific areas — ballhandling, rebounding and free throw shooting.

"The first thing is ballhandling," he said. "Unforced errors are really eating us up. And if we're going to be a good basketball team, a competitive team, we're going to have to rebound more."

"Finally, our free throw shooting has been inconsistent. We need to change that."

Studies will be funded

Scholarship given for coursework in Britain

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

A scholarship is being offered for students who would like to attend a British university during the summer of 1991.

The Manhattan branch of the English-Speaking Union is offering a partial scholarship to attend either Oxford University, the University of London or the University of Birmingham.

The courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates who will have completed their junior year and high school teachers in the fields of history, English and social studies.

"It's an absolutely outstanding opportunity to anybody who wants to find out what one of the world's first-class universities is like," said Barbara Rees, scholarship chair for the English-Speaking Union. "It's a wonderful opportunity to experience the British educational environment."

Roger Friedmann, an instructor in English, was the 1984 recipient of the scholarship and studied Shakespeare for six weeks at Stratford-upon-Avon, a branch of the University of Birmingham based along the Avon River.

The class was affiliated with the University of Birmingham, but held at Stratford-upon-Avon, the birthplace of Shakespeare.

"In my opinion, I would say I had a very positive experience, because for me Shakespeare to a certain extent had been like reading a foreign language," Friedmann said. "When I finished, I felt like I could pick up anything written by Shakespeare and really begin to appreciate it."

Friedmann said the British educational environment is quite different than to what most American students are accustomed.

Classes are divided into lectures and seminars, he said. Lectures are very formal and students are not allowed to raise their hands to ask questions. Seminars, however, are similar to K-State's lab classes in which the students break into small groups and are overseen by a professor.

Rees said the Manhattan branch of the English-Speaking Union is an organization that promotes international cooperation between all English-speaking peoples.

There are 93 branches in the United States, and Manhattan is the only branch in Kansas.

"They have a very active scholarship program so that people from the United States and Kansas can attend the European universities," Rees said.

The courses begin July 1 and are offered in three-, four- and six-week sessions.

The courses offered are British Literature and Culture since 1840, at Oxford University; Drama and Theater in the Age of Shakespeare, at Stratford, England, presented by the University of Birmingham and British Theater; and Literature and Culture since 1940, at the University of London.

Rees said people wanting to apply for the scholarship or to make an inquiry should contact Nancy Twiss, instructor in the College of Arts and Sciences, or Walter Kolonosky, associate professor of modern languages and adviser of those studying abroad, by Feb. 12.

Students applying must have at least a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 in order to meet qualifications for the scholarship's selection committee.

Rees said the one aspect of applicants that the screening committee looks for in determining the scholarship recipient is the course work the student has had in relation with the class they are wanting to take.

"Students that have any experience abroad at all bring special experiences and qualifications to their job searches," Twiss said. "Employers are interested in this kind of experience and certainly graduate school admissions committees are as well."

Planning now can defuse stress of holiday season

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Studying for finals, last minute assignments, holiday shopping and not enough money or time for any of these things can cause stress and anxiety for college students.

To prevent stress from starting, Frances Spickerman, counselor at University Counseling Service, suggested prioritizing and scheduling the available time.

"Don't cram. Study a little every day. Don't get caught up in commercialization of the holiday season," Spickerman said.

To eliminate financial stress, Spickerman suggested trying to personalize presents and concentrating on making them unique instead of worrying about the price.

Budgeting time can be hard for students. There are so many things to get done and only a few days left to work on classwork, Spickerman said. Being able to establish which class must get top attention and studying each day is important.

Along with the holiday season come parties, which can be a great source of stress relief as long as people don't overbook their schedules, Spickerman said.

Good health is also an essential part of preventing stress, she said.

"Take care of yourself, in terms of rest, sleep and good eating habits," Spickerman said.

Holidays can be a lonely time for many students who cannot visit their families. Being alone can cause emotional stress if people do not want to be alone, she said.

"If you aren't going home, don't be shy about inviting yourself to share the day with someone else. Too often people who are alone don't want to be," Spickerman said.

Occasionally students need professional help to deal with the stress. There are signs to watch for when someone is taking on too much.

Sleeplessness, inability to concentrate and appetite problems — either eating too much or too little — are some symptoms, Spickerman said.

"Nothing is really fun for them," she said. "Things don't seem to go away. Things that are intense and get in the way of carrying out normal activities. These are the things to watch out for."

Spickerman offered some creative solutions to relieving stress.

"Creative things might be meditation and biofeedback. Exercise is good stress reducer. Whatever your kind of exercise you enjoy is good," Spickerman said.

$50 MONO $50

Have you had mononucleosis within the last month? If so your plasma could make a valuable contribution to research and earn you $50 at the same time. For additional details call Kurt Mortenson at Manhattan Donor Center 776-9177
1130 Gardenway - Across from Westloop

BRYAN TRAVEL COLLEGES "Your Passport To A Career"

Travel Agent • Corporate Travel Mgmt. • Tour Operator
Convention Planner • Hotel & Airline Industry • Car Rental Agent
• Cruise-Line Reservationists • Travel Promotions

24 Credit Hours • Travel Geography • Correspondence Classes
Computer Training • Financial Assistance • Placement Assistance

CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-255-3507 1527 Fairlawn Topeka, KS 66604

Christmas is right around the corner
And so is second semester!

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes
Has units available for you and your friends
for the spring 1991 semester.

Come See Them Today
776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY REAL ESTATE

2401 Anderson Boulevard, KS 66602
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-5885

an ecumenical ADVENT CANDLELIGHT SERVICE
Join us as we pray for
PEACE IN THE MIDDLE EAST
WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12, 7:30 pm.
DANFORTH CHAPEL

SPONSORED BY: Lutheran, Episcopal, & United Methodist Campus Ministries

Mortar Board congratulates

Kristin Norlin

for winning the

Mortar Board Scholarship

GREAT SAFE HOLIDAY BREAK

Do you think he could remember all those addresses if he drank and drove?

Please don't drink and drive

ALCOHOL
& OTHER DRUG EDUCATION
SERVICE

funded in part by City of Manhattan and KSU Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
SUNDAY SCHOOL CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
Sunday, Dec. 16
3 p.m.
at KSU Forum Hall

ComputerLand

Business to business. Person to person.

Cumulus GLC/CO™

- ▼ 80386SX processor or 16 MHZ
- ▼ 14" VGA Color Monitor. 40MB harddrive
- ▼ Mouse
- ▼ Windows Version 3.0
- ▼ Dos 4.01
- ▼ Microsoft Works software

$1995

HOLIDAY EXTENDED STORE HOURS

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-7 p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m.-4 p.m.
Sunday 12 p.m.-4 p.m.

1306 WESTLOOP

776-0086

LOWMAN'S

IN - A G G I E V I L L E

For the Holidays.

Classic Sweaters
20% Off through Sunday.

1215 Moro

Free gift wrap

776-7304

Open 10 to 8 Mon. through Fri. Sat. 10-6. Sun 1-5.

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Special Summer Programs

FRANCE
WEST AFRICA
ITALY
GREAT BRITAIN
NEW YORK

International programs are offered for students, teachers and working professionals. Courses include: archaeology, architectural history, art history, ceramics, decorative arts, drawing, fashion, fiber, metal and surface design, graphic design, painting, and photography. Undergraduate and graduate credits are available to qualified students. For more information, please mail the coupon below or call:

Parsons Office of Special Programs:
(212) 741-8975 ext 16

Parsons School of Design, Office of Special Programs
66 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10011

Please send me a brochure on Parsons Special Summer Programs.

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____
Phone _____

CP38

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan—K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY! Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locators. P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Kripp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

Bobby J's
WEDNESDAYS: STEAK NIGHT
$4.49 Filet Mignon
$4.99 K.C. Strip
$5.49 T-Bone
with drink order, baked potato and salad
539-1571

Sports injury?
Call today for an appointment
537-8305
Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

TONIGHT
$1
LONGNECKS
25¢
KAMIS
BAYSTREET

Need to add some spark to the holidays?
Want some help on the singles scene?
Check out
Mistletoe Madness
today on the first floor in the Union.
Brought to you by FONE Crisis Center.
And remember we always care enough to listen.

Buy One Get One Free
•• Limited Time Only ••
Buy Any Medium or Large
Pizza At Regular Price
And Receive A 2nd One
Of Equal or Less Value
FREE
(with the coupon below)
539-5303
1118 Laramie

FREE PIZZA
Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.
Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

FREE PIZZA
Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.
Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

$4 OFF / $3 OFF
Any Large
Any Medium
Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks. Big Value Dessert Pizza or any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 12/31/90

LUNCH BUFFET $2.69
PIZZA • PASTA • BREADSTICKS • DESSERT
Valid for up to 3 people at $2.69 each
One-in only, weekdays 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
Add $1 for salad
EXPIRES: 12/31/90

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10! huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20. hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

THE OUTING Club is going backpacking Dec. 26-30 (also canoeing, sailing, biking, etc.) 539-0216.

2 Apartments—Furnished

A TWO-BEDROOM, close to campus. Water and trash paid. 776-1111.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom in complex, $330. Cat OK. Call 776-6697.

BIG ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $250 a month plus electricity and gas. Call 776-4532, leave a message.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom apartment, utilities paid. Close to University. Available immediately. Dishwasher. Call 537-1566.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundry, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location, $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking, $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-6586.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom in complex, northwest side. Available now for January. 776-8725.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, 10th and Osage, $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carpet, patio, laundry. $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

STUDIO APARTMENT, new stove, refrigerator, central air and heating, carpeted. Private entrance, available now. $195 plus gas and electricity, deposit required, no pets. 776-6128.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Two-bedroom unfurnished apartment. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Call 776-7950.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking, no pets. 539-3409.

FOR RENT— One-bedroom apartment close to campus. Available Dec. 28. Call (913)537-0646 or (913)845-2902.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, roomy cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1, 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment in good Ogden neighborhood, air conditioning, washer and dryer, flexible lease, all bills paid, available Jan. 1, $310, 539-4994.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE Jan. 1, Woodway Apartments, $225 a month plus utilities. 537-7651.

SOLDIER GOING to Saudi Arabia has to rent large one-bedroom close to campus. $310/ month. Please call 537-3160.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment. New carpet. Some utilities paid. $395. First month's rent paid. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water, trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half blocks from campus, $396 month, water, trash paid, no pets. 537-3758.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

WAREHAM STUDIO and one-bedroom available, convenient downtown location, from $250-295. No pets. 776-3804, evenings and weekends 539-8246.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL, air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1, 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, POOL, fireplace, water and trash paid for $350 for the first six months. Must rent. 776-5330.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, one-half utilities, $250/ month, Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON, one-bedroom studio close to City Park. No utilities except water and trash, $260. Available Jan. 1, 539-3703.

AVAILABLE NOW, One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus. City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom efficiency. Some utilities paid. Short-term lease. No pets. 539-4087.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, clean, $205 includes utilities. College Heights, three blocks from campus. 537-7403.

FEMALE— AVAILABLE Jan. 1, One room, furnished, Share bath. Close to campus and Aggieville. $85/ month, utilities paid. 776-6573 leave message.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment available in January. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-9143.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vetter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McCure 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to Aggieville. Utilities paid except electricity. $420/ month. 537-1673.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

1985 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT. 539-0216.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,500, must sell. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

5 Automobile for Sale

1985 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1981 VW Rabbit, air conditioning, $900; 1954 GMC 3/4T five-window, $800; 1973 MGBGT. 539-0216.

1982 MERCURY Cougar, 85,000 miles, AM/FM, air, $1,500, must sell. Call Arora 532-4425/ 539-8257.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

1984 BUICK Regal Limited, loaded, Velour interior, Call after 10a.m. 776-5389.

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1964.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 486K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125.—compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

(Continued from page 8)

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

NANNIES. LIVE-IN positions—East Coast Airfare, great salaries. Fun social activities. Carefully screened families. Individualized attention. Princeton Nanny, 301 N. Harrison, Princeton, N.J. 08540. (609)497-1195.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Temptation Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

PERMANENT PART-TIME person for childcare in our home. 16-23 hours per week. No evenings, Fridays or weekends. Travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

YOUTH LEADER! New membership coordinator for College Avenue United Methodist Church's active youth program and growing congregation. Requires outgoing, organized, excellent communication with experience in working with youth. Bachelor's degree preferred. 25 hours per week. Starting date negotiable. For further information, call 539-4191. Application deadline: Jan. 4, 1991.

Dairy Queen

brazier

HELP WANTED:

Now accepting applications for full-time or part time. Call 776-4117 for interview appointment. Ask for Mr. Frye. 1015 N. 3rd

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

JOBS! JOBS!

Positions available nationwide and overseas. All occupations with competitive salaries and benefits. 15-80K+.

Free Information

Call Corporate Careers (913) 539-1144

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Queen-sized waterbed, padded rails, headboard, $125 or best offer. 776-0535.

FOR SALE: Queen-size waterbed, $75. Call Sheri at 539-4399.

11 Garage and Yard Sales

MOVING SALE, misc. items, furnishings and bed—like new. Call 539-0361. Prices are negotiable.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean. $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

THREE—FOUR-BEDROOM house, full basement, garage, 1019 Houston, near City Park and downtown, solar heated water cuts utilities. $450 per month. 539-2227.

14 Lost and Found

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Ask for Jackie. 532-6555.

LOST: HEAVY blue gray coat in Seaton Hall. Reward. 537-2968 or Seaton 204.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

$130, 8x40, one-bedroom, large private lot one mile from Manhattan Mall. Pets upon approval. 776-5513.

PLEASE RETURN Collegian racks to Durland and Kedzie halls.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, very private, two miles south of Manhattan. $300. Arena and horse pens (extra). Income potential. 539-1039.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 CANNONDALE ST400—less than 50 miles on this, like new blue racing bike. With all accessories. $350. John 537-0605.

SPECIALIZED ROCKHOPPER—Shimano components, lots of accessories. $375. 776-1638.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

KIM B. Now you're legal, have a Happy 21st Birthday. S.O.

SIGMA KAPPA: Thanks for a fantastic semester—good luck on finals and have a great break! Get psyched for Installation! See you in January! Sigma Love, Michele.

STARBRITE—I too have had a blast these last few weeks. With the exception of not being able to play in the ball room. (Damn, that looked fun too!) Thanks Nowanda.

SWEETPEA—TODAY is the day we've both been waiting for. We'll rest tonight for tomorrow we will go out all night. Happy 21st! Love, Burkels.

TO ALL of my band and non-band buddies who became too expensive to name separately, this is my Christmas wish to you: Thank you for an enjoyable spring and fall semester of 1990. Good luck with the joy and sorrow of 1991. Let's make the next year a year of renewing old friendships and venturing upon new ones. I'm proud to have you all as my friends. Love, Bob K.

TWINKIES AND Bugles—I thought we agreed on 2:30. What happened? J.

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

John Smith manages an accounting firm, but he wishes he could be a 'glimpses' character. He's reading an office report.

©1990 Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

AKC REGISTERED Male Rottweiler puppy needs loving home. 8 weeks old. $400. 1-456-8259 after 6p.m.

BABY COCKATIES hand raised all under two months old, great for kids. $40 each. Pair ready to breed. $70. 776-8318.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your paper. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

Typing USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

A FEMALE roommate wanted. Non-smoker, no pets, furnished and close to campus. Call 539-6305.

A GREAT apartment. Only $130 monthly plus one-fourth utilities. One block from campus. Call Amy 537-4510.

AVAILABLE SPRING—Clean, cute apartment for one or two females. 776-0135 evenings or 539-2301 anytime.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, own new room, at Woodway Apartments. $135 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-2616.

CHRISTIAN, FEMALE, non-smoker. To share house in KC area. (913)642-6295, available now.

CUTE THREE-BEDROOM house to share with two female roommates. Non-smokers preferred, available Jan. 1.—$125 plus one-third utilities. 539-5714.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1276.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $145/month, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus. $132/month plus one-third electricity and phone. First month free. 537-4634.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, own room, furnished, $225/month, utilities included. Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

FEMALE, OWN room in two-bedroom house two blocks to campus. $162.50/month plus one-half utilities. Prefer graduate student. 539-4059.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment. $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted/ non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments. $175 monthly plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for January—July. Own room. No deposit. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment. Quiet neighborhood. $190/month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room. $160/month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 539-8766 after 5p.m. Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: Very nice furnished apartment near campus. low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upperclassman or graduate student. own bedroom. $150 a month, utilities paid, plus season basketball ticket. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE NON-SMOKING roommate to share three-bedroom house. $160 per month plus one-third utilities. 539-8455.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: Share three-bedroom apartment. own room. $140/month, one-third utilities. Close to campus and Aggieville. No deposit necessary. Call 539-0928.

JAN. 1, own room, $148 plus utilities, near campus. 537-4510 Carlos.

LOOKING FOR female to share a house with two other females, own room, one-fourth utilities, always low. 539-6370, Angela for details.

FEMALE to share nice two-bedroom mobile home, washer/dryer, $150/month, utilities paid. 539-2267.

HELP! I'm going home next semester and am looking for a female roommate to share apartment with two great roommates! Own bedroom, $150/month. Call Dawn at 539-5855.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $159 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/month. Own room, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1661.

MALE ROOMMATE, share four-room house with laundry and kitchen, utilities paid. $175/month. 776-7369.

MALE—SPRING, $150/month plus utilities. Roomy upper half of house, 912 Laramie. 539-2881, Ken.

MATURE MALE roommate(s) wanted. Now or Jan. 1. Off-street parking, washer/dryer. Two blocks from campus. $125 plus utilities and deposit. 539-5727.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING male roommate needed for spring semester. Very quiet neighborhood and cheap rent. Available Jan. 1. Is close to campus. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKER WANTED. House close to campus. Own room. Washer, dryer, $165/month, utilities included. 539-8897.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Brittany Ridge, share with four roommates. Washer, dryer, one-fifth utilities. $195 per month. Hot tub, sand volleyball. 539-6676, Rob, leave message.

ONE FEMALE roommate. Own room, own bathroom. Some managers duties. $147.50, 10th and Blumert. Jennifer 539-5679.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR TWO roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812, 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-6886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Jan. 1. Own bedroom. Nice three-bedroom apartment close to Aggieville and campus. $175 plus one-third utilities. Call or leave message. 537-3386.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Nice two-bedroom, own room, $135/month two blocks from campus and Aggieville. 776-9717.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice three-bedroom, own room, $166/month, all utilities paid. 537-1453.

SPRING SEMESTER roommate wanted, four-bedroom house, own room, next to KSU, $135/month, 776-1252.

TWO FEMALE roommates needed for spring semester. Own rooms. One block from campus, washer/dryer. $125 per month plus one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

TWO FEMALE roommates wanted to share three-bedroom apartment. Available January—May. Close to campus. $185/each plus utilities. Call 776-6349.

TWO ROOMMATES—Very close to campus. Own bedroom in nice furnished apartment. Washer, dryer, $170 plus utilities. 539-7978.

WANTED: One roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8862.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, oil, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care. Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180, 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 94, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

SOUTHERN SUN Christmas Gift Pack

10 Tans & Bottle of Accelerator $32 (while supplies last)

519 N. 12th • 776-8060

26 Stereo Equipment

TECHNICS RECEIVER—35 watts per channel, cassette deck, 75-watt—three-way speakers, make offer. 539-9424.

TWO 15" subwoofers, new, still in box, $75 each. 537-0510.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

DP INCLINE weight bench with leg curl/extension and 110 lb. cast iron weight set. $50. 539-9424.

GUN & KNIFE show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport. Saturday, Dec. 15, 9a.m. to 5p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 9a.m. to 4p.m. Information (913)922-6979.

28 Sublease

APARTMENT AVAILABLE Jan. 1, two-bedroom, dishwasher, next to City Park. 539-1178, 537-4127 or 776-1745.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, one-half utilities, close to campus. Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, two-bedroom furnished apartment, Blumert Avenue. $300 plus half utilities. 537-9576.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment. $130/month. One-third utilities. 537-8609.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Nice one-bedroom apartment. Wildcat Inn across from Ahearn. $310 month with utilities paid, free off-street parking. Call, leave message 776-9394.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—Female to share apartment, close to campus, own room, one-half utilities. Call collect, Mike or Judy (913)362-7893.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1—Female wanted to share apartment less than a block from campus, down street from Aggieville. $222.50 plus half utilities. 539-9535.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share very nicely furnished three-bedroom apartment. One block from campus and Aggieville. Laundry facilities available. January—May, $185/month plus low utilities. Call 776-6349.

GREAT SUBLEASE. Female for spring semester, furnished apartment. Low utilities. Next to campus. Call 539-3122.

SUBLEASE STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE AVAILABLE JAN. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

TWO ROOMMATES needed. Own room, two and one-half baths, plenty of parking. December rent already paid. Hot tubs, washer, dryer. Call Linda or Heather 776-3867. Leave message.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

SHP 3-PHASE motors 15' boat motor trailer. $500. Model A, Austin America, Civic parts. 539-0216.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Heavy duty Kenmore washing machine and gas dryer. Good working condition. Phone before 10p.m. 537-4543.

FOR SALE: Large oak desk, hand crafted, four large storage compartments. Price negotiable. Bernie 776-9026.

Escape

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1
massive searches of houses soon brought an end to the Kuwaiti resistance, Imad said.

Two of his cousins have been killed, he said, and two others were arrested because of suspected activities with the Kuwaiti resistance.

In late August, one of Imad's cousins in the resistance — who had successfully evaded the Iraqis — was betrayed.

"After that, they figure out where he lived," Imad said. "They burned his house and killed him in front of his house."

Another cousin was killed two days earlier because the Iraqis thought he knew of the other cousin's whereabouts, Imad said.

"They took him for 11 days," he said. "I think they have him in the Iraq Embassy — torturing him. We saw his nails were taken off. After 11 days, they bring him back. They ring the bell, and they kill him when his brother come out."

"He took him to the hospital, because he was not yet dead. They (the Iraqis) followed him to the hospital to check if he was dead or not. After three days, he died."

The two cousins who were arrested have been taken to Baghdad, and their families have heard nothing from them, he said.

One of the cousins was arrested for distributing material on chemical weapons, which the Iraqis considered subversive, Imad said. The other cousin was active in the resistance and was arrested one night after being turned in by an unknown informer.

Imad said that after the invasion, he moved to his father's house and made rounds through the city every day to check on the welfare of family members and deliver goods to them.

Imad said he and the other young men took over jobs that had been performed by foreign workers, such as garbage collection, working in bakeries and deliveries.

While making these rounds, Imad became well known to the Iraqi soldiers. On trips to places where he wasn't known, however, he risked running into hostile soldiers.

Iraq systematically looted the country after the invasion, he said. Iraqis would go to car dealerships and load everything on trucks to be shipped to Iraq. What they couldn't take, they burned.

"One of our friends owned an electronic store bigger than the (Manhattan) mall," Imad said. "He called everyone and told us to come and take things from the store, rather than let the Iraqis take it."

During the first weeks after the invasion, civilians from Iraq would come to Kuwait to join in the looting. This stopped when Kuwaitis killed or deliberately crashed into the Iraqis they saw engaging in looting.

Imad made two trips into Iraq to call his brother in Manhattan after the invasion.

"On the first trip, I passed trucks all the way to Basra (a city in Iraq)," he said. "They were loaded with everything from cars to toilets."

Although Kuwait imports almost all of its food and no food is currently coming into the country, there is probably enough food in the country for one year, he said.

"Everybody that gets out of Kuwait gives their food to others, so their food is doubled," he said.

"When I last left my father-in-law's house, there were three rooms full of food. I thought our food was enough for six months."

Imad said perhaps a quarter of the population of Kuwait City remains in the city under Iraqi occupation.

"My father forced me to get out. Actually, I didn't like to get out," Imad said. "In the end of September, we heard we would have to get Iraqi identification. We were afraid they would take us (Imad and his younger brother) into the Iraqi army."

Imad said he, his wife and his younger brother tried twice to leave by crossing the Saudi Arabian border. On the first occasion, they waited at the border from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. before they were allowed to return to Kuwait City.

They were finally able to get out of the country on Oct. 2 by traveling through Iraq into Iran with false Iranian documents, Imad said.

Rent

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 5
weeks.

"That two-week, or 14-day, period is just a general time frame," said Brad Claussen, code inspection officer. "There are some violations that might have to be fixed immediately — like a heating unit in January."

If the landlord does not make the repairs or submit a plan-of-action statement in the given time frame several different courses of action can be taken.

The city could take legal action against the landlord, or in extreme cases, can use the escrow provision in which the landlord stops receiving rent for the unit until he makes the necessary correction of the code violation. During that time, the tenant pays rent to the city of Manhattan rather than the landlord. The city can use that rent money to arrange to have the problem fixed or to pay any prorated taxes that the landlord may not have paid.

If the landlord makes the necessary repairs within three months, he will receive the rent money the city has collected. If not, the money is returned to the tenant.

Petty said he didn't think the city has ever had to go to court for anything except vacant structures in Manhattan.

"Generally speaking, landlords in Manhattan seem to know what they need to do and do it," Petty said. "There really are very few problems at all."

"But there is always one or two in every city that are out to make a buck, and they don't care what the codes are and whether they meet them," Petty said, "and Manhattan is no different."

Wicker

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6
overcome the noise as part of the game.

From my observations, the rule has so far been executed sparingly and unjustly around the NFL. Along with every crowd-noise call, con-

Game

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6
game to watch in the second half. It was a very slow-paced game because we were going to the free throw line so much," Yow said. "We are struggling with our intensity. I just want us to stay more intense. I think if you stay intense and work hard than you always have a chance."

Yow made the point that the Lady Cats had to push themselves to be a better team Tuesday instead of being forced as they were in the loss to Long Beach State. She admitted this may have attributed to the loss of intensity in the second half.

"Against Long Beach State, they stretched us as a basketball team. This game tonight, they were not going to make us a better basketball team, but we could," Yow said. "If we could improve on our level of intensity game in and game out, I think that we would be a completely different-looking basketball team."

The second half did produce one of the best performances of the season for the Lady Cats on the offensive boards. Bahner took control of the boards, grabbing a team-high nine rebounds on the game.

"When I think about some of the things that we were trying to improve on, I think tonight we did a much better job of going to the offensive boards," Yow said. "We had 11 offensive boards in the second half, and we are a team that has been suffering from rebounds."

Diana Miller lead all scorers with 17, and Hazim and Bahner chipped in 14 and 13, respectively, for the Lady Cats.

troverly abounds. Secondly, it is becoming a last play by a quarterback trying to post a come-from-behind victory.

This is a free country, and rules such as this are only putting a damper on one of the oldest American traditions. Hasn't it always been said, "Root, root, root for the home team?"

Showcase gives bands exposure

By Jerry Sapp
Collegian Reporter

Get ready, Manhattan — tonight at 9, Snookie's "Manhattan Showcase" will unleash raw, new talent from local bands.

The program will feature performances by Tuber, Circus Maximus, Truck Stop Love and Creep.

"A lot of people ask us why we don't play more bands," Snookie's co-owner Ken Snook said. "So we finally decided to give the public what it wants — live bands."

Carrie Miller, manager of local underground faves Roach Factory, said the aim of the showcase is to promote talented but underexposed local bands.

"I really like music, and I don't think there is enough live shows in the area," Miller said. "I would really like to see more live music in Manhattan."

Miller said the showcase will increase the bands' exposure and help them obtain future bookings.

"These bands are talented, and I want to help them get on their feet," she said. "Each band has its own unique characteristics. Tuber could be described as really grungy and weird. They are very alternative — I love them."

"Circus Maximus is very college-oriented," she said. "They remind me of the boys next door singing to themselves, but they're really good. Truck Stop Love is shock-a-billy, kind of alternative rock-a-billy."

Miller said Creep, third place winners in the Opus competition, is a white rap band.

"All the bands are great new talent, and I think everybody is going to love them," Miller said.

Miller's production company, Cattle Productions, is a local agency that usually books other bands into Manhattan, but recently she has ventured out with Roach Factory to Austin and Houston, Texas.

"I booked Roach Factory in Austin, Houston and Kansas City," Miller said. "They liked them so well, they were asked to come back again — so I think we are going to make plans to go back again soon."

Kevin Davis, vocalist for Creep, said tonight's showcase is a great opportunity for lesser-known Manhattan bands to get together to play.

"We have been playing together since the beginning of last semester," said Davis, a freshman in art. "We are a rap band who plays our own real instruments. We have a couple bass players, a couple of guitarists, people who play harmonica, accordion and the cinderblock, too."

Davis said Creep was influenced by bands like Public Enemy, the Beastie Boys and Third Bass.

Circus Maximus member Curt Mersman said one of his band's goals is to make people more aware of Circus Maximus — but the main point is to have fun.

"The type of music we play is straight-ahead rock 'n' roll that is kind of on the alternative side," said Mersman, a junior in electrical engineering. "I would say we're more on the level of playing R.E.M. or Smithereens-style rock."

"Get out and support live music," Miller said. "There is a lot of good music from new and upcoming bands. It would be a great opportunity to get out and have some fun."

Admission for the show is $3.

Ad It Up!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
Display Advertising

532-6560

GREAT SAFE

ARRIVE ALIVE!

1-9-9-0

HOLIDAY BREAK

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

Funded in part by the City of Manhattan and the KSU Alcohol & Other Drug Education Service

LOOK!

For the K-State Union Bookstore's
12 Days of K-State Christmas
Sale Items in the Classifieds

LOOK!

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities.

K-State Union Bookstore

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at
the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F
1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE
"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1983

$1 Pitchers
Wednesday
and Saturday
Nights

Friday Nite Only

The TWISTERS

Watch the game Saturday nite on our big screen T.V.

FirstBank Center 776-4111

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook Items at

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books on the dates listed. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE
Mon., Dec. 10, thru Sat., Dec. 15, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 16, Noon-5 p.m.
Mon., Dec. 17 thru Thu., Dec. 20, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Fri., Dec. 21 & Sat. Dec. 22, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 23, Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

Thursday, December 13, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 74

Admiral Richard Truly, NASA administrator, speaks about plans for the American space program during the 86th Landon Lecture Wednesday in McCain Auditorium. Truly spoke optimistically about programs like the space shuttle and a long-term manned space station.

Truly chronicles NASA's past Space administrator sees success for space program

By Scott Levendofsky
Collegian Reporter

NASA administrator Richard Truly told a capacity crowd that the motto for the space program and the Kansas motto are very similar: "To The Stars Through Difficulties."

Truly delivered the 86th Landon Lecture Wednesday in McCain Auditorium.

University President Jon Wefald introduced Truly as the first astronaut to head the nation's civilian space agency.

"Mr. Truly was given the painstaking task of leading the mission to rebuild the space shuttle program. He was the pilot of Space Shuttle Columbia in 1981 and commander of the first night launch and landing of Challenger," Wefald said.

Truly said that NASA has an important link with Kansas. Dwight D. Eisenhower urged America to respond to the Soviet Union's Sputnik program. His response was NASA.

"President Eisenhower was instrumental in responding to the first serious challenge to America's technological preeminence. Eisenhower wanted a highly visible civilian space agency. His vision was to reflect the traditional American values of individual creativity, diversity, elevation of the human spirit and openness," Truly said.

He said the Soviet Union's man-made orbit was the event that had the most profound effect on humanity and space exploration.

"That event showed us all that mankind could break the chains of gravity. It led to a revolution in global communication, electronics and military intelligence. The biggest revolution was the knowledge found in the sense of responsibility to preserve the conditions that allow life to flourish," Truly said.

He said aircraft flight has come a long way since the Wright Brothers first flew in 1903. Truly said he believes there are two factors responsible for America's quick rise in aeronautic capability.

"First, America is the land of opportunity. It has always opened its gates to all people regardless of race, religion and origin. Today those doors remain open," Truly said. "The other reason is America's emphasis on freedom — freedom of religion, speech, press and freedom to set your own goals and pursue your own life. Freedom to reach for the stars."

Truly said thirty years of robotic and human exploration and observation have revealed many astounding discoveries, except one.

"We have not found what we really hoped to find, life on another planet. This failure has left us with the incentive to keep looking harder," Truly said.

Positive aspects found by colleges after controversy

By Jan Puls
Staff Reporter

The term "reorganization" was scrapped from K-State's vocabulary as the first public proposals for consolidation and elimination of university programs died in the wake of a campus-wide protest early in November.

The colleges of Human Ecology and Architecture and Design were slated for several cuts under the reorganization proposal. At one time during the formulation of the proposal, students and faculty members feared both colleges might be dissolved.

Administrators removed reorganization from consideration, and the colleges, along with their programs, remain intact.

While administrators search for new money-saving methods, the deans of human ecology and architecture and design work to repair the damage done to their colleges.

"In a year or two we'll be stronger because of this," said Lane Marshall, dean of the College of Architecture and Design. "The college is now working together as a team. We may find positive aspects from all this yet."

It will be about a year before architecture and design is in a position to move forward again, Marshall said. Students and faculty members are writing letters and fielding phone calls to reassure professionals that the college and its programs are intact.

The college has also launched a recruiting effort to attract sophomore students. Marshall said 30 percent of the freshman class is expected to leave the college. This is an unusually high figure in comparison to the 8 to 10 percent loss experienced in other years.

"The damage done is a shaken-trust level," said Barbara Stowe, dean of the College of Human Ecology. "We thought we were successful, and then suddenly they wanted to do away with us."

The effort the faculty members and students put into contesting reorganization, however, reinforced the reputation of the college nationwide, Stowe said. Inquiries about human ecology programs are high among new students, but the college won't know about definite increases until after fall enrollment.

The college received an overwhelming response from alumni and other supporters, Stowe said. Phone calls and letters sent the University a message the services of human ecology were needed as they exist now. Both deans said President Jon Wefald has written letters to alumni, current students and professionals in an effort to erase any damage done to the reputation of the colleges.

"The president is not using the term 'reorganization' anymore, and if you ask him, he will remind you we don't talk about that anymore," Stowe said.

The deans, as well as the administrators, say they are anxious to put reorganization behind them and research new methods to reallocate University funds.

"As far as we're concerned (reorganization is) off the table," Stowe said. "Reorganization isn't going to take place, but continued planning to help us live within our means will take place."

This continued planning is expected to develop in close relationship to the strategic planning objectives outlined in 1986. Each college will be evaluated according to new planning charges, and reallocation of funds will be done internally, Stowe said.

Planning charges allow the college deans and staffs to determine the goals of their individual colleges then evaluate their programs and resources accordingly.

"It's an open give and take," Stowe said. "I think it's the best way to get the job done. Things went awry last time because a small group of people were doing the decision-making."

■ See PLANNING, Page 10

After Hours Program offers 4 new classes Non-traditional students sought

By Shannon Meyers
Collegian Reporter

Enrollment is synonymous with frustration for most students and getting enrolled in core curriculum classes has become increasingly difficult.

The K-State After Hours Program is expanding to offer four curriculum classes. The four evening classes will be in Algebra, Biology, Speech and Computers.

"These are courses that are required for all majors. We are targeting non-traditional students, who normally would not be able to get in these classes," said Larry Combs, Continuing Education Development.

"Only 35 percent of this year's freshmen were able to enroll in biology. We need to be serving the students better," Combs said. "Offering these four courses is an experiment. We have no idea how they will play themselves out," he said. "Continuing Education classes are self-funded, so they are enrollment driven. We must have a certain number of students in the class to pay expenses."

In the past, most of the After Hours classes have been graduate level classes. For example, many teachers take evening classes to complete their master's degree, he said.

June Ingram, assistant director of FENIX, said, "There are currently 5,000-plus non-traditional students on this campus. This is an excellent opportunity. I think we will see an increase in the numbers because these classes are being offered in the evenings."

Combs said these classes are funded through Continuing Education. They are in addition to the classes in the line schedule and will be open to students after Express Sunday.

"Our goal is to make the After Hours program an ongoing mechanism that people can count on."

—Larry Combs
Continuing Education Development

Express Sunday is the Sunday before fee payment for non-traditional students who are enrolled in six hours or less.

This is the third year for Express Sunday, which started as a service to non-traditional students who could not get away during the weekday to enroll and pay fees.

"Many non-traditional students are tied to the military, so the deployment could affect the program," Combs said.

"As a university we have to change our structure. In the past the students have come to us. However, the rising cost of education is going to make it necessary for us to go to the student and better meet their needs. The After Hours program is a way that we can do this," he said.

Housing involves some risks Advantages, disadvantages

By Amy Hadlock
Staff Reporter

Students who choose not to live in living groups are faced with several housing options.

Some of the options are living in an apartment, in an apartment complex, a converted house or living in a mobile home. Each has its own advantages and disadvantages.

Deciding where to live depends on a person's circumstances, said Dianne Urban, students' attorney.

Each housing option has its own advantages and disadvantages.

"When a person buys a mobile home, he must rent a slot to put it. Generally these slots are rented from month to month," Urban said. "If the landlord decided not to renew the slot, the tenant is very vulnerable in this circumstance. However a mobile home owner has the opportunity to sell, whereas an apartment renter would not."

Mobile homes do have several advantages.

"Each home has its own private unit, so there is not as much noise. Units also have a little yard space and are able to park right at the door," said Joyce Avery, secretary at Redbud Estates.

Apartment complexes also have several positive and negative points.

"At Park Place Apartments, we have a free shuttle service," said Shelly Reeves, manager of Park Place Apartments. "This is a bonus be-

What to Look for Before Renting

Source: City of Manhattan

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

cause tenants are able to meet their neighbors.

"Apartment complexes are also safer, especially for women," Reeves said.

Apartment complexes do have a few negative points.

"You must be considerate of your neighbors and keep the noise down," Reeves said.

Apartment complexes that are in converted houses also have advantages and disadvantages.

"One disadvantage of converted houses is that often the utility hookups are not separate, and then the bills must be split up," Urban said. "This can be bad because the use of percentages may vary."

"One advantage of a converted house is that you get a lower density of people living in the house," said Tim Brown, landlord of apartments that are in a converted house.

"The rooms tend to be larger in an older home rather than in a complex. The tenants are also able to have a little bit of yard and the use of a porch, which tenants seem to enjoy," Brown said.

There are certain things that people should be aware of when renting an apartment or mobile home.

"It is important to be familiar with the Kansas Residential Landlord Tenant Act," said Cornell Mayfield, director of Human Resources for the City of Manhattan. "This explains what the responsibilities of the landlord and tenant are, and if they are not agreeable, they can negotiate."

BRIEFLY

World

China to increase military

HONG KONG (AP) — A publication of the China's People's Liberation Army has called for a 250 percent increase in defense spending over the next decade.

Such an increase could substantially strengthen the army at a time when some Asian neighbors have been worrying that Beijing might seek to settle territorial disputes with its neighbors by force.

The call came in the May edition of a Chinese military magazine, Military Economic Research, which is generally restricted to the military and the Communist Party. A copy was obtained by the Associated Press in Hong Kong.

In the report, writer Li Yuansheng, an officer in the logistics department of the Chengdu Military Region, argued that China's army has lived in debt for a long time.

Li said increasing the army's budget to $15.5 billion by the year 2000 would be both appropriate and feasible.

Nation

Japan, Germany gulf aid late

WASHINGTON (AP) — Japan and Germany, two of the world's leading economic powers, have delivered barely one-fifth of the money and materials they promised in support of U.S. military operations in the Persian Gulf, according to the Pentagon.

Of the six countries that offered the largest contributions to Operation Desert Shield at its outset in August, only Kuwait has given all that it promised, Pete Williams, the chief Pentagon spokesman, said Tuesday.

Williams declined to comment on the reasons for the delayed contributions from other allies. Pledges totaling more than $6.5 billion were made for calendar year 1990.

The spokesman said the United States plans to ask an undisclosed number of allied nations to increase their contributions for 1991. He said he did not know how much money would be sought or when the requests would be made.

Gotti charged in mob activity

NEW YORK (AP) — John Gotti, whose acquittals gained him the reputation of "The Untouchable Don," was charged Wednesday with ordering his Mafia boss slain so he could take over the nation's most powerful mob organization.

Gotti was charged in a federal racketeering indictment with ordering four murders, including that of reputed Gambino crime family head Paul Castellano, and with conspiring to kill a fifth person.

U.S. to provide aid to Soviets

HOUSTON (AP) — Secretary of State James A. Baker III says any U.S. aid to the Soviet Union would be temporary and tied to long-term economic reforms by the Kremlin.

Baker said Tuesday that President Bush had not decided whether to provide assistance and was waiting for a report from him today on two days of talks with Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze. The president was meeting with Shevardnadze this afternoon in Washington.

Baker's remarks at a news conference indicated that any U.S. aid to the staggering Soviet economy would be limited.

But Baker said the Soviet Union is a country with tremendous resources, potential and capabilities, and the right market reforms can tap this potential in a manner to give that country a vibrant economy.

Meat lovers face cancer risk

BOSTON (AP) — Meat lovers who eat beef, pork or lamb every day are more than twice as likely to get colon cancer as those who shun red meat, and switching to fish and chicken reduces the risk, according to a major new study.

Experts have long suspected that the fat in red meat contributes to heart disease and cancer. But proving the cancer link has been difficult, in part because there have been few large, carefully controlled studies of the question.

The latest research, conducted on 88,751 women, provides some of the strongest evidence yet that eating lots of red meat does indeed contribute to at least one form of cancer.

"Moderate red meat intake is certainly better than large amounts, but it's quite possible that no red meat intake is even better," said Dr. Walter Willett, who directed the study at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

Region

Finney speaks out on taxes

TOPEKA (AP) — Governor-elect Joan Finney said Wednesday that she strongly opposes general sales tax or income tax increases to allow the state to maintain or increase spending on existing programs.

Finney said she will propose other methods for raising money for state programs, including changes in the way the state's funds are managed. She also said she is confident she can cut as much as $200 million from the state budget.

State Board of Education members floated the idea Wednesday of a general tax increase as a way to raise money to increase state aid to local school districts. Chairwoman Connie Hubbell said the board thinks an income or sales tax increase is needed to prevent school districts from increasing property taxes.

Libertarian again state party

TOPEKA (AP) — The Libertarian Party is again an official political party in Kansas.

Secretary of State Bill Graves said Wednesday a petition drive by the Libertarians to regain ballot status was successful.

Party workers submitted petitions with more than 24,000 signatures to Graves' office, but the counting was stopped after more than 17,000 valid signatures were found.

The Libertarian Party was stripped of its official recognition by the state in 1984 after failing to receive a minimum threshold of voter support in the general election that year.

To regain its status as an official party, it needed the signatures of 16,813 voters, or 2 percent of the vote cast for governor in the 1986 election.

Kansas may gain from trade

WICHITA (AP) — Farmers and millers in Kansas could be big beneficiaries of the $1 billion Soviet Union agricultural trade credit package announced Tuesday, according to wheat trade experts.

"It's a pretty significant amount of money," said Kendall Keith, executive vice president of the national Grain and Feed Association. "What it really does for us is make our grain competitive."

Keith and others attending a K-State grain export seminar in Wichita said it is unlikely the package will boost grain prices, since the markets had been anticipating its announcement.

"But I think it's going to get some business going. And thank God for that," said Vince Peterson, vice president of U.S. Wheat Associates, an overseas trade promotion group.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Announcements

■ Applications of Student Teachers deadline for teaching during the fall and spring semesters of 1991 and 1992 is Dec. 20 in Blumont 13.

13 Thursday

■ National Organization for Women will have a potluck dinner and elections at 7 p.m. in the basement of the UFM house.

■ Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

■ BAPP Club will meet at 5 p.m. at Valentino's Pizza.

■ Alpha Epsilon Delta will have a Christmas social from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at 911 Bertrand.

■ Christian Science Organization will meet at 4:30 p.m. in Danforth Chapel.

■ K-State Sports Car Club will meet at 8:30 p.m. in Union 208.

■ KSU Rodeo Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

■ KSU Horticultural Therapy Club will meet at 5:30 p.m. in Waters 18A.

■ Microbiology Club will meet in front of Cardwell Hall at 4 p.m. to tour the MacDonald Laboratory Accelerator.

14 Friday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Janaki Pillarisetti at 2:30 p.m. in Waters Hall. The dissertation topic is "Three Essays on Optimal External Borrowing, Debt-Fortune Swaps, and the Impact of Distortions on Country Risk of the Developing Countries."

■ Talking Hands will have a pizza party at 5 p.m. at Valentino's.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Timothy Nelson at 2 p.m. in Ward 142. The dissertation topic is "Two-Photon Chemistry of Xe and Kr with Halogens."

■ Classified Affairs Committee nominations for the classified employee of the year from faculty and staff are due in Anderson Hall.

17 Monday

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Sheela Ramanna at 10:30 a.m. in Nichols 236. The dissertation topic is "Temporal Logic in the Design of Integrity Systems."

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly cloudy. Colder with highs around 40. Northeast winds 10 to 15 mph. Tonight and Friday, cloudy and cold with a chance of freezing rain or snow. Low Thursday night 25 to 30. High Friday in the mid- to upper-30s. Chances of precipitation, 30 percent both tonight and Friday.

You deserve a special Holiday gift.

You deserve the

Brittnay Ridge Lifestyle!

Units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Computer, phone, cable TV pre-wired
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DVC REAL ESTATE

2001 Anderson Highway, SE 6602
913/776-5599 Fax 913/776-1881

The Friends and Colleagues of

ZHA YUANBO

will hold a memorial

Friday, Dec. 14, 4:30 p.m.

at the

ECM Building

1021 Denison

GET YOUR CAR READY FOR FALL
LUBE, OIL (UP TO 5 QTS.), FILTER
MOST POPULAR BRANDS

$15.95

by appointment only

537-1201

1026 Poyntz

Parkside

CONOCO

& U-Haul

If you need abortion or birth control services, we can help.

Confidential pregnancy testing • Safe, affordable abortion services • Birth control • Tubal ligation • Gyn exams •

Testing and Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases.

Providing quality health care to women since 1974.

Insurance, VISA & Mastercard accepted.

Comprehensive Health for Women

4401 West 109th (I-435 & Roe)

Overland Park, Kansas

For information and appointments (913) 345-1400

Toll Free 1-800-227-1918

Holiday Full Meal Deal

Now $2.99

Now you can deck your halls with a coffee-holiday glass and get a beautiful "Homemade" Single Burger with lettuce and tomato, hot crisp fries, soft drink, and a delicious, I-love-this-sauce sundae... all at one great price. Start your collection now. Just ask for the Holiday Full Meal Deal!

At Participating Dairy Queen® "Brazier" Stores.

We Treat You Right!

1015 N. 3rd, Manhattan

Nov. 12-Dec. 14

Dairy Queen

brazier.

776-4117

TONIGHT!

.99

PITCHERS

.75

LONGNECKS

.50

WELLS

.25

KAMIS

BAY STREET AND THE PIT

CPI photo finish

one hour photo

Save 50%

on color processing & 4x6 prints

Each picture is the best it can be or we reprint it free... now!

Film Developing

50% off

regular one-hour price

No limit on number of rolls discounted. Offer applies to first set of color prints only. Print length varies with film size. 341 in lab process, not combinable with other processing and print offers.

Coupon good through March 2, 1991

CPI photo finish

one hour services: photo finishing • enlargements • reprints • double prints also available: wallet photos • instant color passport photos • video transfer • copies from prints • cameras and accessories • film

Christmas CPI Film Sale!

SAVE 25%

when you buy 3 or more rolls

Example Prices: (35mm - 24 exp.)

3 100 ASA $6.95 (reg. $9.27)

200 ASA $7.85 (reg. $10.47)

Rolls 400 ASA $8.75 (reg. $11.67)

Buy 1 or more rolls of 35mm CPI color print film (24 or 36 exposures) and get 25% off the regular price. 1 hour from 110, 200 and 400 ASA, mix or match. Not combinable with other film offers. Sale ends Dec. 24, 1990

Manhattan Town Center

main entrance by food court

ONE HOUR MOTOPHOTO

Photo Processing At Its Best

40% off

Processing

(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41)

Expires Jan. 15, 1991

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m.

Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way

Across from Westloop

C-28

776-9030

ONE HOUR MOTOPHOTO

Photo Processing At Its Best

Reprint Special

29¢ each

(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41)

Expires Jan. 15, 1991

Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m.

Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way

Across from Westloop

C-28

776-9030

Professional modeling comes to town

Traveling life proves hectic

By Kelly Berg
Staff Reporter

It was 7:48 p.m., and Michelle Zeno, a black model, sat calmly with a needle and purple thread repairing a small hole in a pair of gloves. The gloves were a part of an outfit she would be modeling in about 10 minutes for an audience of more than 350 people.

"We've been doing this same show so long we could do it in our sleep," Zeno said with a smile.

The show she was referring to is the Ebony Fashion Fair that was presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Houston Street Ballroom.

Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc. sponsored the show in Manhattan, but different organizations sponsor the production in each city.

The fashion fair is a traveling fashion production coordinated by Ebony magazine and directed by Eunice Johnson, wife of John Johnson, chief executive officer and publisher of Ebony.

The production travels the United States and Canada in two different tours. The fall tour started in September and goes through Dec. 17. The spring tour starts in early January and runs through May.

"The show starts in Chicago and goes all over the United States," said Steve Williams, stage manager, "and it runs six days a week, with our only day off being Monday — usually."

Williams said he has been the show's stage manager for nine years.

"It's definitely a life on the road," he said. "And it, like anything, starts to wear on you every now and then."

The 23-person crew that endures the wear consists of four wardrobe people, a commentator, stage manager, three band members and 14 models.

"There are 12 females and two male models," Williams said. "The two men are identical twin brothers."

Williams said the twins, Ron and Rod Fuller, are a big hit with most audiences and has contributed to their remaining with the production for six years.

Another big hit is the current full-figure model from Los Angeles, who has been a model in the fair for two years.

"There's probably a lot more people in the audience that are closer to her size than the other models' size 6," Williams said. "I'm sure that has something to do with her popularity — but she also brings a lot of experience and professionalism to the show because she has a lot of experience in the field."

Williams said the models in the production were picked from 3,000 potential models who sent their photographs and applications to Ebony headquarters in Chicago.

Between 60 to 100 models were chosen and flown to the Chicago office for a series of three auditions during the summer. Twelve female and two male models were chosen from those finalists and are now a part of the production.

During the production, the models present 200 different outfits, so each model has up to 14 clothes changes.

■ See FASHION, Page 12

Brian W. Kratzer/Staff

Michelle Zeno, Los Angeles, models a full-figure outfit at the Ebony Fashion Fair Wednesday in the Houston Street Ballroom. Eleven men and women, chosen in a national search, modeled sportswear, business suits and outerwear. The fair was coordinated by Ebony Magazine of Chicago.

Train accident injures 264 people

By The Associated Press

BOSTON — An Amtrak train derailed and slammed into a rush-hour commuter train Wednesday, injuring 264 passengers in an underground crash so violent it jolted cars into the tunnel ceiling and buckled the road above.

"All the lights went out, people started screaming, the place was filled with smoke, a few people were trapped under seats," said Chris Good, a passenger on the suburban Stoughton Line train.

About 1,500 gallons of diesel fuel spilled and ignited after the impact, sending a dense smoke into the cars that passenger Joe Po-voas said "you could grind with your teeth, you could spit it out."

Many passengers, dazed and covered with soot, wandered out of the station, some crying, many assisted by emergency personnel.

One elderly woman, her face black with soot and wearing no shoes, asked police: "Where's my luggage? Where are my shoes?"

Ten people were in critical condition, including the engineer of Amtrak's Night Owl train from Washington, D.C., said Jon Fasana, director of the city's emergency services.

Overall, 264 people, including four rescue workers, were hurt, said Thomas Glynn, general manager of the Massachusetts Bay Transportation Authority. The injured passengers were among 190 aboard the Amtrak train and about 900 on the commuter train. They suffered from cuts and bruises, smoke inhalation, broken bones and head injuries.

An Amtrak trainee was in the locomotive with a regular engineer, said Dawn Soper, an Amtrak spokeswoman. She said the unidentified trainee suffered a broken back, broken collar bone and facial injuries. She did not know if the apprentice was running the train, but said that would be highly unusual.

Federal officials were investigating the accident, which occurred in the same Back Bay station in downtown Boston as an almost identical crash three years ago caused by a faulty signal system.

"We'll be very interested in seeing if there are any connections," said Brent Bahler, a National Transportation Safety Board spokesman.

The Federal Railroad Administration

also sent a team of inspectors and administered mandatory alcohol and drug tests to the crew. The results will not be available for several days.

Glynn withheld comment about recorders taken from the cabins of both trains.

The crash left parts of the two trains twisted "like a coat hanger," said Fire Lt. Mike Walsh, who arrived at the scene two minutes after the first alarm.

"There was an eerie calm," Walsh said. He said he and other firefighters gave their oxygen masks to victims.

The commuter train, which originated in Stoughton, south of Boston, was sitting on an adjacent track running in the same direction as the Night Owl when it was hit toward the rear at 8:30 a.m., said Nancy Sterling Gleason, a transit authority spokeswoman.

The Perfect Gift BEANBAGS

Order by Dec. 14

532-3442

Snookies

75¢ Wells
25¢ Draws

Have a good Christmas break!

776-7726 • 1122 MORO • Upstairs

Home For The Holidays

SCHEDULE

Depart MKH Airport	Depart Town East	Arrive KCI	Depart KCI	Arrive Town East	Arrive MKH Airport
3:30 am	3:45 am	6:00 am	7:00 am	9:30 am	9:45 am
5:30 am	5:45 am	8:15 am	9:30 am	12:00 pm	12:15 pm
7:45 am	8:00 am	10:30 am	11:30 am	2:00 pm	2:15 pm
9:45 am	10:00 am	12:30 pm	2:00 pm	4:30 pm	4:45 pm
12:15 pm	12:30 pm	3:00 pm	4:00 pm	6:30 pm	6:45 pm
2:15 pm	2:30 pm	5:00 pm	6:00 pm	8:30 pm	8:45 pm
4:15 pm	4:30 pm	7:00 pm	7:30 pm	10:00 pm	10:15 pm
			10:30 pm	1:00 am	1:15 am

FARES

ADULT
MILITARY
SENIORS (62 yrs +)
STUDENT (with ID)
CHILDREN (2-12)
Children under 2

One Way
$30.00
28.00
28.00
28.00
14.00
FREE

Round Trip
$55.00
$2.00
$2.00
$2.00
24.00
FREE

539-2284

or 1-800-383-2817
or contact your travel agent

TRAVELERS EXPRESS
Owners: John & Susan Furney
Town East Shopping Center
463 East Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66502

Gift Boxes for you to send . . . straight from Wildcat Land!

Choose from our selection of gift packages that will be wrapped and sent to your favorite friend or relative anywhere you need it . . . in time for Christmas.

Gift 1
Three Kinds of Cheese
Approx. 1 lb. each block
$13.50

Cheeses Available:
Cheddar
(Mild, Medium, Sharp & X-Sharp)
New York Sharp
Smoked Cheddar
Colby Cheese

Gift 2
Six ½ lb. blocks
$15.00

Gift 3
4½ lb. blocks of cheese
and 1 (1 lb.) stick of summer sausage
$16.50

Orders will be taken at Dairy Sales Counter,
Room 144, Call Hall.
For more information call 532-5654.

CASH FOR COLLEGE...

There's Money Available For EVERY Student Who Needs It...

To receive information about how to qualify for $1000's of Dollars in Grants, Scholarships, and Financial Aid plus a FREE copy of 10 Ways To Stretch Your Scholarship Chances! Contact Us TODAY.

COLLEGE FINANCIAL SERVICE

1233 Broadway Suite 206
Denison, Iowa 51442-2632
1-800-475-2288 Ext. 1062

Live Tonight:
The return of Fair Warning

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, USA

Happy Holidays!

The staff of Lafene Health Center wishes everyone a safe and happy holiday season.

During the holiday break the clinic will operate on the following schedule:

Dec. 22 - 25..... Closed
Dec. 26 - 28..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 29 - Jan. 1..... Closed
Jan. 2 - 4..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 5 - 6..... Closed
Jan. 7 - 11..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 12..... Closed
Jan. 13..... Resume Regular Hours

Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University
532-6544

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

EDITORIAL

Bob Dole decides to roll out the pork barrel

"Not my hands but green across you now! Green tons hold you down..." — Richard Hugo, American poet (1923-1982)

Smell the pork.

Kansas' own king senator, Bob Dole, has secured $125,000 for the National Park Service to study Wilson Reservoir as a national recreation area. The National Park Service was interested to hear about the fund, since they never requested the money or the study. Wilson Reservoir is close to Russell, Dole's hometown. If it came under the auspices of the National Park Service, it could become a major tourist center, and those who would benefit would be Dole's childhood buddies and the people who vote him back in every six years. Unfortunately, the plan would be of little use to anyone else.

I am not a Democrat, as some readers may have noticed, so don't get me wrong. I like Bob Dole. The members of my family have always been big supporters of Dole. In 1988, I hoped that he'd seize the Republican nomination for president (the real race, no Democrat had a chance that year, not even a Kennedy), and when he didn't, we all figured he was too good to be wasted on the Oval Office.

I started to get suspicious when Dole proposed legislation that might have led to a constitutional amendment prohibiting flag burning. Of course it didn't succeed, but that Bob thought flag burning was important enough to pretend to be doing something about it made him suspect. I passed over this blemish though, and called Dole a "practical politician."

But now this.

Pork-barrel projects are easy to excuse, but the allegation that Wilson Lake has $125,000 of national significance is absurd. It's a two-bit lake in the wasteland of western Kansas where the fish don't bite, where it would be better to use dynamite and a net and you can't be on or in the water without thinking of the towns and farms sunk under its black depths.

Maybe I'm wrong, and the lake is worth at least a cursory glance. The surprise is that the National Park Service neither asked for funds to study the lake nor was consulted as to whether they gave a damn.

Ed Skoog

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

But it's pork-barrel politics, and it's not supposed to make sense to the puny minds of us citizens who have income stolen through taxes.

Pork barreling is an abuse of taxation. We grudgingly give the government our money, unless we are sneaky enough to figure out how not to, and are comforted somewhat by the thought that the money is being used as wisely as it can be. But these "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" projects erode our trust in the wisdom of those that govern us. I wonder if there's a boys' camp under all that water.

This brings me to the epigraph. It's the opening couple of lines of Richard Hugo's poem, "The Lady in Kicking Horse Reservoir." I always thought that the poem was about the fall of the West or something. Looking at it now, I see that the green is not moss and water above the old valley, but the green of millions of dollars that have been sunk into the reservoir, much like Wilson Reservoir.

How much money has been sunk into the pond already? First there were probably subsidies sent to the farmers who owned the land and then more green paid to them for their land by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. Then came the construction costs for the dam, and more money for environmental impact studies of the lake. And now, unsolicited, the National Park Service will have to neglect some of its duties in more legitimate responsibilities such as saving Yellowstone from going to hell, in order to play around with a senior senator's pet project for the boys back home.

Pork-barrel projects are almost always a waste of money, even if it gets spent near us. And Wilson Lake is not the only Christmas present we are getting from Good Uncle Bob Dole. We also get $590,000 to study the idea of a new visitors' center at the Fort Larned Historic Site in Larned and $150,000 for a study of two possible sites for a Pony Express visitors' center, even though there is no endorsed Pony Express trail.

We all complain about excessive government expenditures, but as Miss Manners says, "A gentleman never complains about a matter he can change." We can plug up the pork barrel, but we have to start within our own state, since we can't vote against senators and representatives in other states. Pork barreling turns people bitter towards Congress, but there is an odd phenomena that makes voters exclude their own elected reps.

"All senators are terrible," the voters seem to say, "except for mine."

So in 1992, when Bob Dole's name comes up on the ballot, give yourself a present and don't thank him.

EDITORIALS

Finney offers chance for public involvement

About 50 percent of Kansans who were 18 or older voted in the Nov. 6 gubernatorial election. Gov. Mike Hayden and State Treasurer Joan Finney went toe-to-toe in a hotly contested race before Finney squeezed into office with a narrow margin.

Some of us voted for Finney, some for Hayden and a few for Christine Campbell-Cline. But almost half of us did not even vote.

Finney says, "The future is now." She has vowed time and again to bring the government back to the people — to give us a voice at the Statehouse and as to how our state is run.

It is time we actively participate in our state government — regardless of who we supported.

We should take advantage of Finney's promise and let our opinions be known. With this in mind, we encourage everyone to grab the opportunity to go to the governor's inauguration on Jan. 14.

Below is a coupon good for two invitations to that inauguration. The request date has been extended to Dec. 20 for all those interested in witnessing the transition of our state government.

If Finney is true to her word, then this is the chance to tell her — through our presence at the inauguration — that we will play a role in how our government works.

Public Service Invitation Special Request Coupon

THE 1991 "THE FUTURE IS NOW" INAUGURATION
Kansas ExpoCentre • January 14, 1991 • 8 p.m.

I would like _____ invitations sent to:
(Both 2 invitations per request please)

Name _____ City _____ Zip _____

Address _____

Home Phone _____ Work Phone _____

IMPORTANT: Requests must be postmarked no later than December 15, 1990. Mail coupon and a self-addressed stamped #10 envelope to: The 1991 Inauguration P.O. Box 2372 Topeka, KS 66601. Your invitation will be mailed to you December 26, 1990.

Praying to any god futile

"Christians and camels receive their burdens kneeling."

"Pray, v. To ask that the rules of the universe be annulled on behalf of a single petitioner, confessedly unworthy." Ambrose Bierce (1842-1914) American writer and journalist.

The Associated Press ran a story last week about a group of Manhattan churches and businessmen urging President Bush to declare Dec. 15 as a national day of prayer and fasting as a means of settling the Gulf feud. According to the pastor of Westview Community Church, Randy Sly (I like that name), the group is seeking "divine intervention" in the Persian Gulf crisis. He urges people everywhere to "pray earnestly" that war does not break out and that all hostages be released immediately.

Now, I can enthusiastically go along with hoping, speculating, demanding, evening wishing (which, for me, is desperate indeed) that war does not start in the Middle East. But praying? Come on!

I am not about to petition some loopy religious prevarication for assistance in any situation, thank you very much.

In other words the divine intervention request is totally out of the question.

AP reported the Manhattan group is urging people throughout the United States to pray all day on Dec. 15, "but especially between noon and 1 p.m." Why especially "noon and 1 p.m." is anyone's guess. Must be God's lunch hour too — a good time to catch him at home, I suspect. You would think someone as important as God could afford an answering machine.

Prayer is, without a doubt, one of the most absurd, useless things that theists do. And if there is one thing religionists do that demonstrates a complete decollation of mind from body, of reason from reality, it is pray.

Show me a praying Christian, Jew or Moslem, and I'll show you a person mentally locked in the Stone Age, someone who has as much reason to believe in gremlins, cows jumping over the moon or unicorns as he does a god who actually listens to his babblings, much less answers short-order requests.

Before I go further, let me quickly address one aspect of prayer that is a "non-issue," but will most likely constitute the greater number of rebuttals to this column.

That is, if there were any validity to the effectiveness of prayer, I am certain that those individuals who advocate a simultaneous belief in science and religion would certainly have come forward with the documentation.

However, what one actually finds is that, in all the millions of reports of research spanning many decades from a host of sciences, never once has there ever been a reference in the literature to God, or a god, or the supernatural to facilitate the understanding of any topic being studied. Absolutely nothing under the "Literature Cited" section of millions of research publications where we might read: "I) God, Supreme Creator. "Prayer," date: unknown, but I prayed every night before I gave my teddy, Mr. Snookums a kiss."

Brad Seabourn

COLLEGIAN COLUMNIST

The reason this nonsense is not found in science is that the only effect prayer has is an altered mental state in which the hallucination of security and well-being is provided in some cases to the petitioner.

Another reason is that prayer is completely irrelevant to the discovery, utility and enhancement of everything that science has produced to improve the condition of the human species and to accumulate for mankind immeasurable increases in health, prosperity and security. There never was, nor will there ever be, an answered prayer by any god in the history of mankind, past, present or future.

This local group of yahoos asks that we pray to God. Yet, even those who believe in a god cannot decide on the effectiveness of prayer. Except for the Christian Scientists and a few fundamentalist groups, the great majority of religionists hedge their bets when it comes to relying on prayer to solve anything.

For example, the same Christian who prays to be rid of a sickness will then go to a physician and request treatment for the illness. When they finally do get well, they will then claim God as the benefactor. Anyone with even the most rudimentary background in scientific inquiry will tell you it is impossible to logically determine which experimental variable is the source of a particular measured response if none of the variables in the experiment are held constant.

But then there is nothing logical about prayer.

Prayer is another item in a long list of items within religious dogma (any religion, take your pick) that requires faith (lack of reason).

The clergy says it has faith in the success of prayer. But faith is not really needed, is it? I mean, it can be determined empirically whether what was sought in prayer happens, can it not?

But, as in the previous example, most believers do not have the courage of their convictions to try prayer alone and will always resort to the same methods atheists use.

Another logical fallacy in prayer is: whether a praying patient recovers or dies, the result is always said to be "God's will." If God's will determines the outcome, regardless of the wishes of the patient expressed through prayer, then why pray? Why waste the time? Why not just go merrily about life and not worry about it?

The main reason is that believers are not satisfied with accepting their god's "big plan." Those who profess a belief in God praise the "Lord's" sovereignty over their lives and joyously accept his plans, yet they regularly pray to him to change those plans.

As previously pointed out, quite often when God's plan calls for the believer to be sick and die, they rush to a physician and ask the good doctor to change God's plan. "Thy will be done" is about as meaningless and mindless a phrase ever uttered in any language.

However, the most obvious and damning indicia of the hypocrisy and uselessness of the prayer-process is that Christians, Jews and Moslems, as well as many other religions, all claim their God to be the only true god competent to answer prayers (otherwise they would pray to any god), yet they present no evidence to verify the superior performance of, for example, the Christian god over that of any other god.

Finally, if you have allowed yourself the ability to think freely and have read this far, then you have observed an idea being subjected to critical analysis — something the overwhelming majority of the world's religions, especially Judaism, Christianity and Islam, do not allow, in theory or practice. To do so is to beg for unspeakably cruel, eternal torment and eventual destruction, which the god of Judeo-Christian doctrine and Islam is quite ready to inflict.

No reasoning person would subscribe to a system of thought that threatens violence to those refusing to believe in it.

And no reasoning person would "pray" to a gremlin, or a unicorn, or a flying cow, now would they?

But then again, religion doesn't really have to be reasonable — just profitable.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR: Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR: Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR: Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN: Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS: Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR: Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR: Mike Vesso
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR: Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR: Greg Branson
SPORTS EDITOR: David Srobona
CAMPUS EDITOR: Steve Franzon
FEATURES EDITOR: Tomari Quinn
ARTS AND ENTERTAINMENT EDITOR: Rod Gillespie
COPY CHIEF: Mark Schreiner
COPY EDITORS: Amy Cox, Ellen Dayton, Angela Waltz
SCIENCE REPORTER: Scott Berg
STAFF REPORTERS: Kelly Berg, David Frese, Amy Hadlock, Kimis Hattimothead, Elynn Jones, Erika Parker, Jan Pule, Alan Wilds, Paul Noel, Karin Dell'Antonia, Jana Leep, Dwayne Lively, Brad Seabourn, Kevin Zwink

REVIEWERS: Richard Jones, Heather Anderson, Stacy Lentz, Rebecca Sack
PHOTOGRAPHERS: Brad Camp, Margaret Clark, Brian Kratzer
STRIP CARTOONISTS: Gary Lytle, Dave Mayes, Mike Welchans, J. Kyle Wyatt
EDITORIAL BOARD: Bob Berry, Jeff Gabel, James Smith, David Whitson-Lind, David Srobona, Greg Branson, Steve Franzon, David Frese, Eric Henry, Tomari Quinn, Ellen Dayton, Chris Koger, Lori Stauffer, Wendy Snider, Amy Cox, Mike Vesso

Advertising Staff

ADVERTISING MANAGER: Dan Golden
ASSISTANT MANAGER: Amy Zick
MARKETING/PROMOTIONS MANAGER: Johan Koel
CAMPUS/TEAR-SHEET MANAGER: Elizabeth Latham, David Little ADVERTISING REPRESENTATIVES/ACCOUNT EXECUTIVES: Mark Neely, Jayme Wall, Allison Schiff, Amy Sall, Karen Lind, Angie Humphrey, Scott Boyd

Student Publications Staff

DIRECTOR/NEWS ADVISER: Ron Johnson
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR/ADVERTISING DIRECTOR: Gloria Freeland
ASSISTANT DIRECTOR: Linda Pusney
BUSINESS MANAGER: Ann Foster
ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE: Jackie Harmon
CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING MANAGER: Linda Weatherly
OFFICE MANAGER: Pat Huggins
ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT: Connie Fulkerson
NEWS PRODUCTION COORDINATOR: Wanda Haynie
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION COORDINATOR: Tammi Landis, Dana Franklin, Chris Tucker
ADVERTISING PRODUCTION ASSISTANTS: Britt Owen, Deanna Adams, Shama Bailey, Matt Fitzgerald, Christa South, Joe Cook, Minnie Dowdy, John Fulkerson, Norm LeCompte, James Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., 1000 Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, 1000 Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

'Heartbreak' album varied

Keifer displays different music writing styles on latest effort

COLLEGIAN Report Card "HEARTBREAK STATION"

B+

By Alan Wilds
Collegian Reviewer

Tom Keifer, vocalist and all-around utility frontman for Cinderella, said he thinks it is healthy to listen to blues, rock 'n' roll, gospel, soul, rhythm and blues and country and western.

If you listen to Cinderella's latest effort, "Heartbreak Station," it is obvious Keifer not only listens to these very different styles of music, but incorporates them into his songwriting.

Several factors contribute to make "Heartbreak Station" the most diversified and exploratory Cinderella album to date. Other than the band's unusual musical influences, Keifer and lead guitarist Jeff LaBar, bassist Eric Brittingham and drummer Fred Coury traveled to five different studios, with producer John Jansen (Faster Pussycat, Britny Fox) throughout the country to record the album. Cinderella also brought in several guest musicians from the country and western and R&B scenes.

Each studio produced a different sound, making each track an adventure for the listener.

The album opens with "The More Things Change," which is reminiscent of classic Jimmy Page blues guitar. It's a rocker with a catchy melody, and it's not the only track on the album worth listening to.

Surprisingly, the most unusual song on "Heartbreak Station," "Shelter Me," is the album's first single. The inspirational gospel-rock tune, which features a wide array of horns, strings and piano, has already garnered extensive airplay on mainstream rock radio stations, and its video appears regularly on MTV.

Without warning, Cinderella shifts gears again and delivers what sounds like a straight-forward country tune called "Dead Man's Road."

One song that seems destined to be a hit is "Electric Love," which sounds amazingly like an old Bad Company composition. The song's funky groove combines with Keifer's howling vocals to make this one a definite winner.

The musician guest list includes Brian from the Bus Boys, R&B artist Carla Benson and the Memphis Horns. Even former Led Zeppelin bassist John Paul Jones appears, producing the string arrangements on the serene ballad "Winds of Change" and the title track.

Overall, "Heartbreak Station" delivers more than your money's worth. The album provides a textbook case of how various musical ideas can be incorporated into a rock format. This album is much better than Cinderella's two previous albums, "Night Songs" and "Long Cold Winter."

The band appears to be searching for a new and fresh identity instead of just becoming another pop-metal band in an already overpopulated market.

Cinderella is currently in pre-production for its second headlining tour, scheduled to begin sometime in early 1991.

Grounds crew feed squirrels to solve tree damage problem

By Angle Schrock
Collegian Reporter

Those little brown balls of fur all over campus that seem so cute most of the year can become a problem in the winter for ground maintenance.

Squirrels on campus are fed during the winter to keep them from being destructive.

"We feed them corn because if we don't, they damage and even kill some of the trees on campus," said Tom Lee, grounds maintenance manager.

The squirrels will eat tree bark, especially from the maple and hackberry trees, if they get hungry in the winter. This will kill at least the branches which have been chewed on, and, if the damage is bad enough, the whole tree could die, Lee said.

Several years ago there was a lot of damage to trees on campus and around Manhattan, he said.

The squirrels are fed field corn that is left on cobs that are scattered on the ground and under shrubs around campus when the weather gets bad.

"I don't know how many squirrels are on campus, but there are a lot of them. There is the potential for a lot of damage if they start eating the bark off the trees," Lee said. "For this reason, I don't mind as much putting out corn for them."

"We will start scattering it any time now. We usually wait until we get a good snow and food is harder for them to find," Lee said.

The feed is collected from the agronomy farm north of Bramlage Coliseum.

"We go out when they are done harvesting and pick up what the combine missed or what has been knocked over," Lee said. "They just give it to us. It would be wasted otherwise."

"If they're going to destroy the trees on campus, this is a better alternative," said Ed Durst, senior in animal sciences and industry.

Christmas Aerobics

Featuring:
Christmas music
Free jingle bells
A visit from Santa

Friday, December 14, 5:30pm - 7:00pm

Small gym at the Rec Complex

Don't miss out on the Holiday Fun!
Recreational Services, 532-6980

HOLIDAY SAVINGS.....
JUST IN THE NICK OF TIME!!

SUPER SPECIAL SAVINGS ON ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS'
PORTABLE COMPUTERS!!

ZENITH DATA SYSTEMS IS OFFERING PORTABLE COMPUTERS
AT THE LOWEST PRICES EVER OFFERED!

And to top it off, when you purchase a SupersPort 286e or a SupersPort SX portable computer you have your choice of taking an additional $150.00 off or receive a 5 1/4" floppy drive, a 300/1200 baud internal modem and a great carrying case!

SupersPort 286e

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 12 Mhz speed, one 3.5" 1.44 MB floppy drive, choice of 20 MB or 40 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version MS-DOS.

SupersPort SX

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80386 SX processor, 16 Mhz speed, one 3.5" 1.44 MB floppy drive, choice of 40 MB or 150 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version MS-DOS.

SlimPort 286 (NEW!)

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 16 Mhz speed, 20 MB hard drive, VGA video and latest version of MS-DOS.

Supersport 286

Includes 1 MB RAM, 80286 processor, 12 Mhz speed, choice of 20 or 40 MB hard drive, CGA video and latest version of MS-DOS.

ZENITH
data systems
Groupe Bull

For more information on where you can purchase an affordable portable computer from Zenith Data Systems call:

Kansas State Bookstore
532-6583

But hurry! Special $150.00 savings effective through December 31, 1990.

PRE-CHRISTMAS MASS St. ISIDORE'S

The "Traditional" Pre-Christmas,
Pre-Exam, End-of-Semester,
Late Night Liturgy
will be held at St. Isidore's
on Sat., Dec. 15

Music starts 10:30 p.m.

Mass at 11 p.m.

Social Following

All are Welcome

(Come Early to Get a Seat)

Buy One Get One Free

• Limited Time Only •
Buy Any Medium or Large
Pizza At Regular Price
And Receive A 2nd One
Of Equal or Less Value

FREE

(with the coupon below)

539-5303

1118 Laramie

FREE PIZZA

Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.

Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery EXPIRES: 12/31/90

CODE 30

FREE PIZZA

Buy any medium or large pizza at regular price and receive a 2nd pizza of equal or less value FREE.

Must mention coupon when ordering.
Not valid with any other discount offers.
Limited delivery areas and times.
Add $1 for delivery EXPIRES: 12/31/90

CODE 30

$4 OFF / $3 OFF

Any Large

Any Medium

LUNCH BUFFET $2.69

PIZZA • PASTA • BREADSTICKS • DESSERT

Valid for up to 3 people at $2.69 each.

Dine-in only, weekdays 11:30 a.m. - 1:30 p.m.
Add $1 for salad EXPIRES: 12/31/90

CODE 3

CODE 45

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN SPORTS

Tulsa beats 'Cats

By David Svoboda
Sports Editor

It was a lot like your typical matchup between K-State and a team from the state of Oklahoma.

One team, taller and more athletic, was consistently frustrated and physically dominated by their smaller foes, and a contest that should have been close or should have been won by the better-looking team on paper ended up going the other way.

In recent seasons, K-State has been the small, scrappy bunch, and the Oklahoma, Oklahoma State and Tulsa teams have been the ones who have left contests with the Wildcats shaking their collective heads. But Coach Dana Altman and his players were the ones mumbling to themselves late Wednesday night, as Tulsa dominated K-State in earning a 72-61 win at the Civic Center in Tulsa, Okla.

Can you say frustrating? "We did not take the fight to them at all," Altman said. "They came after us, and we backed away."

"I thought our team was ready, but obviously, I was wrong."

K-State assistant coach Jim Kerwin, who as an Oklahoma assistant was a victim of the previous K-State teams that the current Tulsa bunch closely resembled Wednesday, said the tempo was obvious from the outset.

"We didn't hook it up with them, and they took it to us and took control of the game," Kerwin said.

K-State needed to take advantage of its size inside and didn't — being outbreasted by the Golden Hurricane 43-34. K-State only cut the margin late in the game when Tulsa was looking to protect a lead that swelled to as many as 18.

"We just weren't going after it strong enough with our people inside," Kerwin said. "This team's better inside than what they showed tonight."

In addition to rebounding woes, K-State turned the ball over 25 times, including 13 miscues by those inside players — Maurice Brittian, John Rettiger and Wylie Howard.

Guards Reggie Shields and Marcell Gordon led Tulsa in scoring, with 18 and 14 points respectively. Meanwhile, K-State's Jean Derouillere was hounded most of the game by Tulsa defensive whiz Michael Scott and ended up with just 13 to lead the 'Cats.

"Their guards do a good job of posting up," Kerwin said of Shields and Gordon. "We sure didn't do a good job of stopping them."

After trailing by just four, 26-22, after an absolutely awful first half for both teams, K-State came out cold to start the second 20 minutes.

Tulsa ran off the first seven points of the half to move up by 11, 33-22, when swingman Bernie Gibbs hit a three-pointer.

K-State was able to cut it to eight, 47-39, when Jeff Wires hit a layup following the television timeout with just less than 11 minutes left.

■ See GAME, Page 12

K-STATE (61)

Amerson 2-9 1-2 6, Howard 3-4 4-6 10, Rettiger 1-20 0-2, Wires 4-1 2-2 10, Derouillere 4-10 5-6 13, Shadd 2-5 0-4, King 1-4 2-2 4, Brittian 3-8 4-6 10, Ziegler 0-1 0-0 0, Sams 0-0 0-0 0, Fritz 1-3 0-1 2. Totals 21-56 18-24 61.

TULSA (72)

Scott 4-11 3-4 11, Jenkins 1-3 4-4 6, Thomsen 1-6 3-3 5, Shields 5-8 6-8 18, Gordon 5-13 4-5 14, Gibbs 3-5 1-3 9, Ludwig 3-8 0-7 15, Wells 1-2 0-2, Collier 0-3 0-0 0, Johnson 0-3 0-0 0, Elchison 0-1 0-0 0. Totals 23-61 21-27 72.

Halftime — Tulsa 26, K-State 22. Three-point goals — K-State 1-8 (Amerson 1-3, Wires 0-2, Derouillere 0-2, Ziegler 0-1), Tulsa 5-16 (Gibbs 2-2, Shields 2-5, Ludwig 1-4, Scott 0-2, Wells 0-1, Gordon 0-1, Elchison 0-1). Rebounds — K-State 34 (Wires, Howard 8), Tulsa 43 (Thomsen 12). Assists — K-State 9 (Derouillere 3), Tulsa 17 (Gordon 5). Total fouls — K-State 24, Tulsa 24. Fouled out — Wires, Amerson, Howard. A—8,936.

Fall intramural season concludes

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

The time has come to call it quits, although it may only be for a month.

The fall intramural season has come to a close, ending Wednesday night at the Chester E. Peters Recreation Complex with the all-University championships in volleyball.

With the completion of volleyball, the recreational services staff will begin to total the team standings for their second release on Jan. 2.

On Tuesday night, the divisional finals were held in all the volleyball leagues. In the fraternity division, Sigma Chi defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Edwards Hall captured the residence hall title, Manhattan Beach Club won the independent crown, Juco Trash won the women's title and the Sand Lot Gang defeated Who Cares in the co-rec division.

According to Steve Martini, director of intramurals, volleyball is one of the few intramural team sports that has consistently grown in numbers over the past decade.

"There was some good volleyball. I think the level of volleyball has improved quite a bit," Martini said. "Look at the fraternity teams playing. They have improved greatly over the years. The co-rec division was very exciting."

The competition and the quest to gain one of the prized intramural champion T-shirts was a big part of intramurals for the participants, but recreational services was focused more on another issue.

The referendum for an expansion to almost double the size of the Rec Complex was voted on by the students and did not receive the needed two-thirds majority. The passing of the referendum would have allowed for many new options and new activities for the participants of intramurals.

"The referendum was the big thing. It was one of the main focuses of rec services," Martini said. "It would have helped out a lot. It wouldn't have come for a couple of years, but just the concept that we would have that to look forward as far as programming would have been a plus."

The referendum would have also helped to alleviate the growing problem of overcrowding at the Rec Complex. According to Martini, there is some talk about new ideas for expansion.

The completion of the fall semester will lead directly into the beginning of the spring semester for recreational services. The major focus will be put on basketball for the second portion of the intramural year.

Martini said that basketball is the largest team sport for intramurals. It consists of 350-plus teams and involves more than 4,000 participants. The requirements to complete all the leagues on time forces scheduling and play on every night of the week.

"The big thing we always look forward to in the spring is the basketball season," Martini said. "It's a lot of people to manage, it's a big activity, and it's an intense sport. We are always concerned during basketball season."

Sigma Chi fraternity member Todd Herrenbruck, junior in pre-med, takes to the air during Sigma Chi's 2-0 victory over Edwards Hall Wednesday at the Chester E. Peters Recreational Complex. In the all-University championships, Sigma Chi was defeated 2-0 by the Manhattan Beach Club.

Gary Lytle/Staff

Chiefs move into home stretch of season

Run-and-shoot will challenge defensive group

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The Kansas City Chiefs would love to have their second meeting with a run-and-shoot team turn out exactly as the first did.

But the Detroit Lions are not the Houston Oilers, particularly as far as wide receivers and quarterbacks are concerned, said Chiefs' coach Marty Schottenheimer.

"Warren Moon is the second-rated quarterback in the league," Schottenheimer said during his weekly media luncheon. "They lead the league in first downs, points scored, and third-down conversions. Nobody's got Warren under control."

The Chiefs, tied with Los Angeles in the AFC West at 9-4, were rated slight favorites over the Oilers (7-6) for their noon kickoff Sunday, Kansas City's last home game of the year.

The Chiefs demolished the Detroit Lions and their run-and-shoot 43-24 back on Oct. 14, so at least Kansas City will have already seen one version of the innovative new offensive set.

"It may help us a little bit," Schottenheimer said. "But it's been so long ago, I don't know if it will be a big factor."

The biggest factor will be the skill people who helped the Oilers blast Cleveland last week 58-14. Lorenzo White ran for four touchdowns in a 45-point first half and finished with 116 yards.

"The emergence of Lorenzo White the last three weeks has really helped them," Schottenheimer said. "Now they know they can run the ball with some proficiency. Their receivers are clearly superior to those in Detroit, and their quarterback is playing very, very well. They are a more formidable opponent than Detroit."

The Chiefs will be looking for patterns and tendencies.

"Every system has a pattern to it. What you have to do is define the pattern for your players and give them an opportunity, through practice and video study, a sense of what that pattern is," Schottenheimer said. "There is clearly a pattern to that offense, and there is also great flexibility. The thing that has to unfold is that here, because they have four wide receivers playing all the time, you have to make your strategy based on matchups of personnel."

A year ago in Arrowhead Stadium, before the run-and-shoot, the Chiefs destroyed a Houston team that was riding a three-game winning streak. The Chiefs were coming off a disappointing 10-10 tie to the Browns, but routed the Oilers 34-0.

Houston is the No. 1 defense against the run among AFC teams, which could be doubly bad news since the Chiefs may be without Christian Okoye. The 265-pound fullback, who led the league with 1,480 rushing yards, suffered a shoulder injury Sunday in a 31-20 victory over Denver.

"He seems to be doing pretty well," Schottenheimer said. "He told me it's much better today. He did not have it in a sling when I saw him. He has pretty good range of motion, and no swelling. He told me, 'Coach, I've had this before and I never missed a game,' so we'll have to wait and see."

Barry Word, who gained a team-record 200 yards against Detroit and has actually outperformed Okoye the past six weeks, would start.

DeBerg enjoys fine season in career's twilight

By The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Steve DeBerg makes no claim to having the strongest arm or the quickest release among NFL quarterbacks.

But it's no coincidence the much-traveled 36-year-old is among the NFL's top-rated passers, leading the Kansas City Chiefs to a first-place tie with Los Angeles in the AFC West.

Tutored during a 15-year career by some of the brightest minds in the business, he has been a zealous student. And now, all of a sudden, everything seems to be falling into place.

"I've been exposed to some outstanding coaching, and I've always tried to take the coach's system and learn it so well that I could teach it," he said. "So I've learned some great systems, and now it's has just all come together. The game is so simple for me now."

At the beginning of his career, he worked with Bill Walsh in San Francisco, before Joe Montana arrived and took his job. From there he went to Denver and worked under Dan Reeves, until Jolin Elway emerged from the Great Quarterback Draft of 1983.

Knocked out of the starting lineup once again by a franchise quarterback, DeBerg moved on to Tampa Bay and had some excellent games. Then Vinny Testaverde, Heisman Trophy in hand, was drafted No. 1 and given the job.

DeBerg was getting beat out by some great quarterbacks. But he was also learning from some of the best teachers.

Now, teamed with Chiefs' coach Marty Schottenheimer and offensive coordinator Joe Pendry, DeBerg has blossomed in what has turned out to be the perfect situation for a mature, intelligent quarterback.

"One thing that I think is a big factor in the success I'm having is Joe Pendry has confidence in my knowledge of the game," DeBerg said. "I'm able to draw from a great play I was taught by Bill Walsh, or a special gimmick I learned from, say, Dan Reeves or Sam Wyche when Sam was the quarterback coach at San Francisco. I can say, 'Dan Reeves did this against this particular defense. What do you think?'"

At one point this season, DeBerg was working so hard studying film and preparing for games that Schottenheimer — a noted workaholic himself — became worried.

"He does more than anybody I've ever been around," Schottenheimer said. "I said to him that I thought he did too much, if you can imagine my saying that."

"The thing about Steve that is singular in my mind is the way he prepares himself and the way he gets an understanding of what we're trying to do," Schottenheimer said. "If you spend a lot of time in preparation to accomplish something and then see it happen, there's cause for great excitement."

After his efficient 254-yard, three-touchdown performance against the Broncos Sunday, DeBerg stands No. 3 among AFC quarterbacks behind only Jim Kelly and Warren Moon. While hitting 199 of 355 passes for 2,676 yards and 20 touchdowns, he has thrown only three interceptions, all in a loss at Indianapolis on Oct. 7.

Since then, he's gone eight games and 204 throws without being picked off.

Opera fascinating for professor

Foreign-language performances challenging for Rushing

By Rob Batchman
Collegian Reporter

Opera is an unfamiliar art, one that is both vague and separated from the usual lives of most K-Staters.

However, for Steve Rushing, professor in music, opera is his fascination as well as his career.

This summer, Rushing received a national scholarship award to participate in a workshop in Eureka Springs, Ark.

"I was given a national scholarship to participate in the Inspiration Point Fine Arts Colony Opera Workshop held from June 21 through July 13," he said. "It was like applying for a grant, basically. You turn in a resume and a tape that is representative of your talent."

He said his proposal was reviewed by a committee and he was awarded a $1,000 scholarship to attend the workshop.

Rushing said the workshop was an opportunity for young professionals to receive both experience in their field and additional training.

"You gain from the experience," he said. "Two of the operas we performed were done in the original language, one was in French and one was in Italian. Most of the operas we do at K-State have been performed in English, so rarely do I get to do an opera in a foreign language. It was a wonderful opportunity."

One important goal of the opera singer, Rushing said, is to not only learn the notes and the music but to also understand what is being said if the opera is in a foreign language.

"You really need to have a language background. A course in diction is very helpful. We need to know how to translate the language and understand what it means. Knowing what it means and being able to sing it convincingly are two different things," he said.

Rushing said the gift of a good voice is very important in opera.

"You have to have a gift of a voice. If you do have a gift, you have to know how to use it. There are some people in the world of opera who have had the talent from the very beginning — these people are rare," he said.

The art of opera combines both the talent of acting and the talent of singing into one form, said Rushing.

"There are great singers in the world and there are great actors, rarely do you find great actor/singers, but that is what we strive for, to be the best actor/singer you can possibly be. It takes years of training in both areas. You really have to have that inner desire to do it," he said.

The attractive part of opera, said Rushing, is the challenge.

"I am communicating an idea just like an actor or an orator would," he said. "It's an incredible way to communicate to other people. Opera encompasses so many parameters. It's drama, it's scenery, it's pictures, it's music. It is a very human art form."

Both practice and staying physically fit are essential parts in developing the singing voice.

"Ideally you should practice every day," said Rushing. "Singing has been likened to sports, and in many respects it's just like a sport in that we sing with our bodies. If you don't take care of your body and don't constantly exercise the muscles that are required to produce a good, strong rich sound, those muscles will lose their tone."

"I find that being physically fit makes about a 30 percent difference in the way I sing," he said.

Rushing primarily teaches private music students and directs the fall musical and assists in the spring opera production. He teaches on a one-on-one basis to students who come in for half-hour music lessons.

"The majority of our voice students are in music education which means they end up teaching in the elementary or secondary school level," he said. "We teach a range of musical styles but are limited to opera, art song and musical theater. We don't dwell into popular styles of singing."

Jerry Langenkamp, professor of music, said he believes Rushing brings new energy and ideas into the department.

"He is very dependable not only in his duties, but also on stage," said Langenkamp. "I believe he has a good chance at having a professional career. It is a very competitive profession but he has an excellent voice and is an excellent actor."

Rushing said his plans for the future included more involvement in opera.

"I hope to continue working in regional opera," he said. "I'm auditioning for summer work right now."

Solar resources lower fuel costs

By Alan Wilds
Staff Reporter

Millions have discovered and used solar energy. There is an endless supply awaiting millions more in future generations.

Practicality, renewability and rising fuel costs have made solar energy popular with many homeowners and businesses across the country. Bruce Snead, director of cooperative extension, said many solar energy systems for the home can reduce heating bills and can be installed at a relatively low cost.

"A lot of homeowners are realizing the potential use for solar energy because it doesn't cost any more," he said. "If you build your house in a smart way, it will cost the same."

Houses use passive solar energy, which is the manipulation of natural light through the placement of windows. There are no mechanics involved, and Snead said it can save a homeowner 20 to 50 percent on annual heating requirements.

"It's just a matter of getting the light where you want it," he said.

An even larger number of homeowners and businesses are using the sun to heat water. Larry Sherwood, executive director of the American Solar Energy Society in Boulder, Colo., said 1.25 million homes have solar energy heaters.

Snead said the availability of sun, cost, expected life of the system and figuring out what it will replace are determining factors when using the sun to heat water.

Some states have gone as far as requiring all-solar water heating systems in order to conserve non-renewable fossil fuels.

"Why should you burn fuel oil to heat water when all you need is 110 degree heat," Snead said. "It's like using a chainsaw to cut butter rather than a butter knife."

In the coming decade, Snead said he believes there will be a rapid increase in photovoltaic cells (material that converts solar energy directly to electricity). These cells have already found a home in pocket calculators, watches, golf carts, traffic lights and any other place where small amounts of electricity is needed.

"I see a lot of growth in this area because of the cells' efficiency and the fact you can put them anywhere without a centralized point of operation," he said. "There is a real future in that."

In Florida, photovoltaic cells have already been used to supply power to vacation homes and help out energy companies during peak demand hours.

"Photovoltaic power may be cost effective if the place where power is needed is located one to two miles away from a utility grid," said Ingrid Melody, director of public affairs at the Florida Solar Energy Center.

She said the typical homeowner in Florida has access to utility grids, but photovoltaic power has found a home in areas such as the Florida Keys.

Florida also has a long history of using solar energy, as early as the 1920s, to heat water. Melody said about 250,000 homes in the state have solar water heaters. This is about 6 percent of family housing purchasing solar water heaters that cost $1,500 to $1,900 to be installed.

"It's just about as cost effective as you can get," Melody said.

In addition, an estimated 100,000 Florida swimming pools have solar heating systems.

Melody said the future of solar energy in Florida will be with power companies in search of an energy supplement.

"Our utility companies experience peak demand when everyone is at home using their air conditioners," she said. "For a state that gains 1,000 new residents a day, it makes solar energy look more interesting."

Choir album creates unified sound identifying alternative movements

COLLEGIAN
Report Card
"CIRCLE SLIDE"

A

By Rebecca Sack
Collegian Reviewer

The band is not "Jesus something" or "something Jesus." The band is The Choir, and the name of Jesus is not its gimmick or intrigue — it is the driving force behind compelling music that doesn't even mention Christ by name.

"Circle Slide," on the Myrrh label, is not the first album from The Choir, a group which has come to characterize a unique alternative movement. The Choir has always had an alternative sound, making it different from the mainstream. Unlike most other alternative music, however, The Choir gives us more than questions.

The band's newest album, "Circle Slide," is a visionary trip through essential humanness as it interfaces with a spiritual reality. The title track starts off with deep, vibrating drum beats, ascending to a pulsing bass and guitar that surround you before entering your ears. The lyrics express the depth of faith within an extreme simplicity: "I know it's hard to imagine/When someone makes you cry/Fire in the heavens/And laughter in the sky/Just let the wind blow through your spirit/Let the sun shine on your face/Let's look into each other's eyes/And sing Amazing Grace."

The music carries an intensity, a heaviness. The gentleness of certain guitar sounds interfaces with the violence of strumming and drumming, laughter and saxophone. And yet, the entire album maintains one theme with its unified sound. It's like a symphony of songs all related to each other on a musical circle slide.

The theme is so entirely encompassing that the album becomes a complete circle, with only the last song ending abruptly. All the others just seem to continue where they left off when the following song begins.

The album is ingeniously mixed to complement every instrument, highlighting individual sounds and shaping the full sound of the entire group. The drums and percussion are especially notable — in most of the songs, hollow beats and piercing pounding seem to be isolated within the mix.

Steve Hindalong, percussionist, and Derri Daugherty, vocalist and guitarist, produced "Circle Slide." Robin Spurs, bassist, and Dan Michaels, saxophonist, complete The Choir, but various other musicians appear on "Circle Slide."

The power of the album comes from the truth of the sound. The Choir achieves an incredible beauty in this work while maintaining a certain realism in which the lyrics discuss despairing situations as well as hopeful remedies that may be successful if implemented over a lifetime.

"Blue Skies" is the best song on the album without intricate or poetically satisfying lyrics. The chorus goes on and on with, "If I close my eyes/Will I see blue skies/If I close my eyes/Will I find you/Will I find you."

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT COLLEGIAN

MEN'S NIGHT TONIGHT 5-8 p.m.

MEN THIS IS YOUR CHANCE!
Undercover Lingerie's Men's Night is Thursday, Dec. 13 from 5-8 p.m.
GIFTS WRAPPED FREE!

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie AGGIEVILLE
1224 Moro

LIVE MODELS!

MEN'S SILK BOXERS

Patricia's
UNDERCOVER
Lingerie AGGIEVILLE
1224 Moro

Treat Yourself
To A "Triple
Whammy"!!

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Tower
Aggieville

Earn $50!!

Design a Poster
For use in advertising groups & workshops offered by University Counseling Services.
For specification sheet
& details, contact:
the receptionist,
Lafene, 2nd floor or call Dorothy
at 532-6927.

RUSHWACKER'S
THE FUNDRIKERY

THURSDAY

99¢ Pitchers

99¢ Wells

Need to add some spark to the holidays?
Want some help on the singles scene?
Check out
Mistletoe Madness
today on the first floor in the Union.
Brought to you by FONE Crisis Center.
And remember we always care enough to listen.

It took Galileo 16 years to master the universe.
You have one night.

It seems unfair. The genius had all that time. While you have a few short hours to learn your sun spots from your satellites before the dreaded astronomy exam.

On the other hand, Vivarin gives you the definite advantage. It helps keep you awake and mentally alert for hours. Safely and conveniently. So even when the subject matter's dull, your mind will stay razor sharp.

If Galileo had used Vivarin, maybe he could have mastered the solar system faster, too.

Revive with VIVARIN.

By Danette King
Collegian Reporter

Farm Bill approval results in victory

Both farmers and environmentalists thought they had been defeated when the 1990 Farm Bill was finally approved. But further investigation made both groups feel better, said Barry Flinchbaugh, professor of agricultural economics.

"The environmentalists were upset because they didn't get that big long list of 'Thou Shalt Nots,'" Flinchbaugh said. "But once they took a look at the bill, they saw the big list of incentives for farmers that practice proper pesticide use and were not as upset."

Flinchbaugh said farmers originally balked at the bill as well.

"The farmers saw a big budget cut," Flinchbaugh said.

The farmers were upset about what Flinchbaugh called a paper cut from a paper number. He described the $13.6 billion cut from the proposed farm bill as a paper cut because it was actually a reduction in the conference committee's estimated cost of the farm bill. The committee had estimated the cost at $53.6 billion. The farm bill was approved with an estimated cost of $40 billion.

Flinchbaugh said that in a way, the farm bill leads to lower food prices.

"When a student goes to the grocery store, he has Uncle Sam going through the check line with him," Flinchbaugh said.

Food prices are low because Uncle Sam is footing part of the bill to produce it in the way of deficiency payments, Flinchbaugh said. A deficiency payment is the difference between what the government says it will cost to produce a crop and the actual price the farmer receives for the crop.

While the payments aid consumers considerably, they do little more than help farmers pay production costs.

"A $4 wheat target price is not going to make any farmer rich," Flinchbaugh said.

Flinchbaugh and Art Barnaby, professor of agriculture economics, agreed that the farm bill can be considered as a form of food management.

The government uses deficiency payments as a control. If farmers want to receive the payments, they can only plant and harvest a set number of acres.

Flinchbaugh said if deficiency payments were not offered when farmers stay within certain requirements, such as the number of acres they plant, farmers would most likely be planting everything they could and producing at a maximum limit.

The deficiency payments, along with the farm bill's newest addition, the Normal Flex Acres program, may lead to a smaller surplus, Barnaby said.

The flex program mandates a 15 percent reduction in the number of acres eligible for deficiency payments. The additional acres can be

See FARM, Page 10

Ad It Up!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
Display Advertising
532-6560

GREAT SAFE

ARRIVE ALIVE!

1-9-9-0

HOLIDAY BREAK

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

funded in part by the City of Manhattan,
and the KSU Alcohol & Other Drug Education Service

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND THRIFTY THURSDAY

PYRAMID PIZZA rolls back the prices

Only $3.49 for a small pizza (one topping)
(additional toppings are 75¢ each)

COUPON

"THRIFTY THURSDAY"

$3.49 for a Small
One-topping Pizza

Good Every Thursday

"We Pile It On!"

Carryout/Dine In Only

539-4888

12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

Give them a...
2nd
CHANCE

Recycle your used books during buyback...

SUPPORT THE K-STATE UNION. YOUR DOLLARS HELP THE UNION SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

Free gift wrapping in front of the K-State Union
Bookstore daily by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma.

K-STATE UNION
BOOKSTORE

DECEMBER 12-21
MON-THUR 8AM-8PM
FRI 8AM-5PM
SAT 9AM-5PM
SUN NOON-5PM

DERBY & KRAMER
FOOD CENTERS
MON-THURS DEC.

17-20
9AM-4PM
FRI DEC. 21
9AM-NOON

K-State Union
Bookstore

EXPERT EMERGENCY CARE

Emergencies come in all shapes and sizes. And though a lot of them are nothing a hug and a band-aid won't cure, others need special care. Professional care. As soon as they happen.

Memorial Hospital's emergency room is open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. We're right here for you and your family — whenever you might need us — because we all know emergencies don't keep regular hours.

So if you need expert emergency care, come see the experts who care at Memorial Hospital.

MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Yesterday's values, Tomorrow's technology

1105 Sunset/P.O. Box 1208 • Manhattan, KS 66502

What can we get for our K-State alums?

Besides shirts, hats and socks in the color of plums?

A Royal Purple from days gone by!
"What a brilliant idea!" Santa said with a sigh.

We've made a list, you can check it twice. How much do they cost? $10 is the price.

Quantities are limited, so hurry up, please To Student Publications, Kedzie Hall 103.

1905-1	1924-5	1942-1	1961-1	1969-5
1906-2	1926-1	1943-1	1962-4	1971-1
1909-2	1929-1	1945-2	1963-4	1972-5
1910-1	1930-1	1952-4	1964-3	1973-4
1911-4	1930-1	1953-3	1965-4	1974-5
1912-2	1932-1	1956-3	1966-3	1976-2
1915-1	1936-4	1958-1	1967-5	1977-4
1921-1	1941-1	1960-2	1968-5	1978-3
				1979-2

Books may be mailed for $4.50 each

For more information,
call 532-6555

Victorian home decorated in gingerbread style

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

Colorful candies delicately trimmed to the edges of gingerbread houses is a description of one Victorian house located in Wamego.

The house, owned by Bill and Rose Ditto, has a style referred to as gingerbread-like, or ornamented. It is located at Fifth and Poplar streets in Wamego.

The house was built in the 1890s by Lewis B. Leach, a wealthy banker and businessman.

According to Rose Ditto, Leach and his wife took a trip to Sicily, Italy, where they saw a house that was designed and decorated in a Victorian style.

When they came back to the United States, they duplicated the house to the best of their ability, she said.

Leach probably chose to decorate the house in Victorian style because that eccentric style was popular then, and, according to Ditto, Leach was very eccentric.

Kathy Burke, extension specialist in interior design, said the true Victorian era began about 1840 and lasted until 1900.

After Leach died, the house changed hands a number of times and assumed many roles.

Ditto said the house was an apartment building from the 1930s to the 1970s and was cared for very well. In the late 1970s, the house was supposed to be made into a restaurant with some shops on the second floor, but that project fell through.

The Dittos bought the house in 1987, and although they could not find any pictures of how it looked during the early 1900s, they wanted to try and make it look similar to the style others had told them about.

"During the course of time, a lot of things were taken or destroyed in the house," Ditto said. "When we bought it, we decided to gut it and keep the wooden pieces that were in good shape."

The Dittos kept the original doors, two of the three fireplaces, the window panes and most of the wood frames around them, the red-brass locks and door handles and eight stained glass windows.

The house has wood trimmings everywhere. Crown molding and trimmings run along the corners where the ceiling and the walls meet as well as where the walls and the floor meet.

The crown moldings are massive wood trimmings about one foot in diameter with curved design shaped in each.

"The Victorian style came at the beginning of the Industrial Revolution," Burke said. "It's impact is really quite strong because up to that point, all of the furniture and wood carving had been done by hand. And then all of a sudden, there was mechanization.

"They tended to go overboard," she said. "It got to be grotesque, and they put ornamentation on everything."

The Dittos' newly renovated house is not filled entirely with Victorian items, however. They said they wanted to make it liveable and Victorian items were hard to find.

Renovation began during the winter of 1987 and one year later, it was completed.

■ See HOUSE, Page 12

BEAT THE RUSH THIS SPRING

Preorder Your Textbooks at the K-State Union Bookstore!

Complete a Textbook Pre-Order Form and return it to the K-State Union Bookstore by Jan. 4, 1991 and we will have your books held and ready to pickup Jan. 14-24, 1991

After Jan. 24, 1991 all unclaimed books will be returned to the shelves

Order Forms may be obtained at the K-State Union, Derby and Kramer Food Centers during Buyback December 12-21, 1991

NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED

K-State Union Bookstore

Thank you for your support!
The dollars you spend in the Union help sponsor student services, activities and programs.

Free gift wrapping in front of the K-State Union Bookstore daily by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma. Donations accepted.

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC!

SANTA SUIT RENTAL

from the UPC Office
$15 a day
Call 532-6571 for your reservation.

December 14, 15, & 16

Frank Capra's personal favorite of all his movies, this is the beloved fable of a man who gets the chance to see what life would be like if he had never been born. Stars James Stewart and Donna Reed. Unrated (125 min.)
WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall & THURSDAY, 3:30 p.m., Little Theatre, $1.75 with KSU ID.

It's a WONDERFUL Life
December 12 & 13

December 14, 15, & 16

Steve Martin's a mobster... Rick Moranis, the FBI agent assigned to protect him in this outrageous new comedy from writer Nora Ephron, Oscar-nominee for "When Harry Met Sally." Relocated by the government protection program, Martin uses his silver-tongued wit and atrocious charm to run rampant in suburbia turning the small community upside-down, making live a living nightmare for Moranis and for the tough assistant D.A. who wants him in jail. Rated PG-13 (95 min.) FRIDAY and SATURDAY, 7 & 9:30 p.m. and SUNDAY, 7 p.m., Forum Hall, $1.75 with KSU ID.

MY BLUE HEAVEN

CLOTHING SELL-OFF!

TAKE AN EXTRA 33% OFF

OUR ALREADY LOW PRICES!
HUNDREDS OF ITEMS!

HERE'S AN EXAMPLE:

OUTBACK RED SWEATER$40

OUR EVERYDAY LOW PRICE$18.99

EXTRA 33% OFF$6.27

YOUR FINAL PRICE$12.72

You will love these savings on dozens and dozens of selected famous brand fashions at a fraction of their original prices!!

BRAND NAMES AT SUPER LOW PRICES!

GIFT CERTIFICATES AVAILABLE!

EAST MANHATTAN (1/4 Mile East of mall next to K-Mart)
OPEN HOURS: Mon.-Fri. 10 am - 9 pm Sat. 10 am - 6:30 pm Sun. Noon - 5:30 pm

EAST MANHATTAN
DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

Junior & Misses CLOTHING AS LOW AS: $19.99 $13.99 $8.99 $5.49! ...Even!

Pictured style is only a representative of our offerings and may not be available.

Winter Intersession

January 2-15, 1991

The following Intersession classes still have seats available. Beginning now through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and audit registrations will be accepted, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222, Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506-6015.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court.

Ref. #	Course #	Course Title	Credit	Dates	Times
94100	GRSCI 790	Problem: AIB Production Seminar	1 UG/G	Jan. 7-11	8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94135	ARCH 566	Competition Studio	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 4-14	1:00-5:00 p.m.
94101	IAR 406	Problems: Delineation Techniques	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:30-4:30 p.m.
94102	IAR 406	Problems: Airbrush Drawing	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94103	LAR 741	Problems: Golf Course Design	2 UG/G	Jan. 3-12	9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
94134	LAR 741	Landscape of London, Bath & Surroundings — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.- 10:00 p.m.
94104	DAS 500	African-American Women Playwrights	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94105	ANTH 522	Topics: Cultural Diversity in America	2-3 UG	Jan. 2-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94106	BIOL 495	Topics: Eugenics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:30-4:30 p.m.
94107	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
94108	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-5:30 p.m.
94109	HIST 563	Topics: Modern Central & Eastern Europe	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-10:00 p.m.
94111	JMC 740	Colloquium: Propaganda & the Mass Media	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	2:00-5:00 p.m.
94112	MATH 381	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94113	MATH 581	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94114	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94115	MUSIC 425	Topics: Jazz in the Jerry Wexler Collection	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-4:00 p.m.
94116	PHYS 281	Space Missions and Astronomy	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:20 a.m. & Jan. 7 6:00-9:00 p.m.
94117	SOCWK 495	Chemical Depend./Codependency: Intervention	3 UG	Jan. 8-12	8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
94118	SPCH 433	The Language of War	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94120	EDAF 511	Career Life Planning	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94121	EDAF 786	Stress Management for Teachers, Counselors and Administrators	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	4:30-7:30 p.m.
94122	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Elementary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94123	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Secondary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94124	EDCI 786	Teaching in the Multi-Level Classroom	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	M-Th 4:30-7:30 p.m. Sat. by appt.
94125	ARE 620	Problems: Building Energy Audits & Analysis	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-Noon
94126	CE 570	Transportation Planning	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 5	M-F 8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Sat 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94127	CE 790	Problems: Global Environmental Changes and Challenges	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94130	ID 782	Decorative Arts & Arch. — ENGLAND	2UG/G	Dec. 27- Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94132	HRIMD 499	Travel Issues for Professionals — Chicago	1 UG	Jan. 11-14	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94133	AP 533	Topics in the Human-Animal Bond	1 UG	Jan. 7-11	9:00 a.m.-Noon

Division of Continuing Education

Planning

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Marshall said he anticipated University planning would take place in the form of frank and open discussions.

"Never again will we attack the problem by robbing Peter to pay Paul," Marshall said. "The next plan that evolves will be one of consensus."

The public draft for reorganization was full of surprises, he said. Too many specifics were outlined to have a reasonable debate.

"It's time to get on with the business of running this University," Marshall said. "We will be co-operators, not discouragers, if the process remains open."

Individual programmatic proposals are expected, but college-based planning will become increasingly important as the University continues to operate at a level below its peers, said Provost James Coffman.

"I don't see us coming up with another comprehensive, broadly sweeping proposal in the near future," he said.

"We're at a point in time where we need to get together with the regents and the Legislature and see how they plan to handle all this," Coffman said.

Farm

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

planted to program crops, such as wheat, corn and milo, or to oilseeds, forages and hay.

"The government has forced some acres out of program," Barnaby said.

In all actuality, Flinchbaugh said, there is no way of determining what the farm bill will cost the federal government.

"We don't know what the farm bill is going to cost because we don't know what the weather is going to be like for the next five years and we don't know what the market prices are going to be like for the next five years," he said.

Kedzie 103

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan—K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private Scholarships! Your receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

Don't Forget
99¢
Pitchers
Tonight
only at
Baystreet

50¢ Tacos
99¢ Margaritas
105 N. 3rd • 776-9879

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

2 Apartments—Furnished

A TWO-BEDROOM, close to campus. Water and trash paid. 776-1111.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom in complex, $330. Call OK. Call 776-6697.

BIG ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $250 a month plus electricity and gas. Call 776-4532, leave a message.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FIVE AND ONE-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom apartment, utilities paid. Close to University. Available immediately. Dishwasher. Call 537-1566.

NEW DUPLEX. Washer, dryer, computer, dishwasher. $150. 776-3284.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundry, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM, SUNSET, College Heights location, $285, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

Colorado Condo
Dillon Area, Sleeps 2-10

Available during Christmas and all spring. Reserve now. 776-1680

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking. $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom in complex, northwest side. Available now for January. 776-8725.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-half blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria, 539-4915, after 5:30p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January. 10th and Osage. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carpet, patio, laundry. $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included. lease December—May. $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Two-bedroom unfurnished apartment. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Call 776-7950.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking, no pets. 539-3409.

FOR RENT—One-bedroom apartment close to campus. Available Dec. 28. Call (913)537-0646 or (913)845-2902.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, roomy cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westloop, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM IN Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid, $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE Jan. 1, Woodway Apartments, $225 a month plus utilities. 537-7651.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Living room, study, one-car attached garage. Walk to KSU. No pets. $280. 539-1554.

SOLDIER GOING to Saudi Arabia has to rent large one-bedroom close to campus, $310/ month. Please call 537-3160.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment. New carpet. Some utilities paid. $395. First month's rent paid. 539-7051.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401. THREE BEDROOMS, large, near KSU, $400. Call 537-0069.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $500. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM AND one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, one-half utilities, $250/ month, Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half blocks from campus, $390 month, water, trash paid, no pets. 537-3758.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

WAREHAM STUDIO and one-bedroom available, convenient downtown location, from $250-295. No pets. 776-3804, evenings and weekends 539-8246.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON, one-bedroom studio close to City Park. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Available Jan. 1. 539-3703.

AVAILABLE NOW, One-bedroom apartment on Anderson Avenue. Close to campus, $255 month. Call 776-1730.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7843.

532-6555

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom efficiency. Some utilities paid. Short-term lease. No pets. 539-4087.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, clean, $205 includes utilities. College Heights, three blocks from campus. 537-7403.

FEMALE—AVAILABLE Jan. 1, One room, furnished. Share bath. Close to campus and Aggieville. $85/ month, utilities paid. 776-6573 leave message.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement, one block west of campus. Water and trash paid. Deposit required, $200 monthly. 776-2153.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment available in January. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, walk to campus, no smoking or pets. $200, utilities included. Available early January. 539-6415 after 6p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $200. Water, heat, trash paid. Low utilities. Quiet student preferred. 537-7873.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus, $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to Aggieville. Utilities paid except electricity. $420/ month. 537-1673.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days, 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $800 or best offer. 776-0747.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

6 Child Care

NANNIES. EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

(Continued on page 11)

GREAT SAFE HOLIDAY BREAK

• Please don't drink & drive • Please don't let a friend drive drunk • Please don't ride with a drunk driver • Remember to Always buckle your seat belt •

funded in part by the City of Manhattan and the KSU Alcohol & Other Drug Education Service

Merry Christmas

Macintosh LC with 2 megabytes of RAM, an internal 40 megabyte hard disk, keyboard, mouse and 12" Color RGB monitor for only

$2308.00

The Apple® Macintosh LC personal computer is Apple Computer's lowest cost color-capable Macintosh. Combining the flexibility of a modular system with a sleek new design, the Macintosh LC gives you a range of options for larger screens, color displays and more affordable price. The Macintosh LC comes bundled with MacWrite, MacDraw and MacPaint. Free training and local, knowledgeable support from MacSource is included. With this combination you have the power to complete almost any school project.

Apple's newest computer is now available at the K-State Union Bookstore.
Stop in and check out the new features!

We have the Macintosh Classic in stock.

K-State Union
Bookstore

MACSOURCE
The Best Support for the Apple Macintosh. Anywhere.
1110 Lawrence Manhattan 537-0188

E=mc²

(Extra edition equals many coupons, too!)

Here's a formula
for success during finals
week.

Finals Survival Kit

produced by the Kansas State Collegian staff
will be filled with

- * Money-saving coupons
- * Christmas gift ideas
- * Crossword puzzles
- * Cartoons
- * Interesting feature articles

Pick up your
Finals Survival Kit
from Collegian racks
beginning Dec. 17.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

(Continued from page 10)

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1964.

IBM AT compatible, dual floppy, super VGA monitor, byte software, 40 meg hard drive, $1,350 or best offer. Call 539-1127.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 496K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

STAR NX-1000 multi-font printer. Includes: original box, manual and 10' cable. $125. —compare! Six new Star NX-1000 printer ribbons. Only $25! Call 776-7573 after 5:30p.m.

ZENITH 286 with flat screen monitor, 5 1/4, 3 1/2 floppies, 20 meg HD 1 1/4 MB RAM. Robert Walters 539-4665.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

DO YOU need extra money for Christmas? Try delivering pizzas for Godfather's Pizza. Competitive wages and flexible hours. Apply in person, 1120 Laramie, 11a.m.—5p.m., Monday through Friday.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

EARN EXTRA money boarding horses. I have the space, you do the rest. 539-1039.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35.00 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

WAITRESSES/BARTENDERS for next semester. Must be 21. Charlie's Bar.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Minus training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

9 Food Specials

Thursdays
Booga Booga Night
Any Burger and Fries Only
$1.99 + drink specials for the ladies
16 oz. Mason Jar of draft $1.25
539-1571

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Queen-size waterbed, $75. Call Sheri at 539-4399.

TWIN BED for sale, $50 or best offer. Call, leave message or ask for Katy. 537-3798.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

THREE—FOUR-BEDROOM house, full basement, garage, 1019 Houston, near City Park and downtown, solar heated water cuts utilities. $450 per month. 539-2227.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND BETWEEN Lafene and Leisure Hall, small golden retriever puppy. To claim call 1-258-2616 after 5:30p.m., ask for Doyle or leave message on answering machine.

FOUND: BRACELET near Kedzie. Claim in Kedzie 103.

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8a.m.—5p.m. Ask for Jackie. 532-6555.

LOST: HEAVY blue/gray coat in Seaton Hall. Reward. 537-2968 or Seaton 204.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

$130, 6x40, one-bedroom, large private lot one mile from Manhattan Mall. Pets upon approval. 776-5613.

DO YOU need a clean, quiet and reasonably priced place to live? Pets allowed, six month lease, other K-State students live in our rentals. Possibility of part-time employment. We support K-State academics and athletics. Call Dixie at 776-9007.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 CANNONDALE ST400—less than 50 miles on this, like new blue racing bike. With all accessories. $350. John 537-0605.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

AMY, YOU'RE finally getting rid of me. Thanks for always putting up with me. I'll miss ya, Diane.

BLUE EYES—Here's to quiet talks, late nights, 'Good Lovin' and more great times to come. You really are awesome! Love, Woody.

FRANK—HAPPY 31st Birthday—Bramlage Bunch.

KEVIN B—HAPPY 19th Birthday. Good luck on finals! Love, K.C.

PLEASE RETURN Collegian racks to Durland and Kedzie halls.

MAWK, LERO & the entourage—Thanks for the funnest semester ever! I love you guys. Gata.

MICHELE—On HOPE you've had fun your first semester here on Goodnow 4. I can't think of a due that won't give me away. Merry Christmas!—Your Secret Santa.

MONEY—HAPPY 19th Birthday sweet friend! Hope it's great! Party on, Dude! Luv ya—Lisa.

SCOTT—The New Spam King: Congrats on making it through four long years. I'm proud of you! Let's knock 'em Dead in Nebraska. Amis, Laura.

SPORTS GOD—Chief's game was out, without a doubt. But Dancing with Wolves was fine, and I had a great time. —Me.

TO THE person who took my bagbook from my car, please, please, return my notes. I need them for my finals. Thanks, M.K.

TWINKIES And Bugles—I thought we agreed on 2:30. What happened? J.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

BABY COCKATIELS hand raised all under two months old, great for kids, $40 each. Pair ready to breed. $70. 776-8318.

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm-raised dalmatian pups. AKC registered. $125. 539-6596.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your paper. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

TYPING USING word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING The best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers have created the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

A FEMALE roommate wanted. Non-smoker, no pets, furnished and close to campus. Call 539-6305.

A GREAT apartment. Only $130 monthly plus one-fourth utilities. One block from campus. Call Amy 537-4510.

AVAILABLE SPRING—Clean, cute apartment for one or two females. 776-0135 evenings or 539-2301 anytime.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, own new room, at Woodway Apartments, $135 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-2616.

CHRISTIAN, FEMALE, non-smoker. To share house in KC area, (913)642-6295, available now.

CUTE THREE-BEDROOM house to share with two female roommates. Non-smokers preferred, available Jan. 1.—$125 plus one-third utilities. 539-5714.

FEMALE: $150 month, close to campus, very close to Aggieville. 537-4144.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $146/month, one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0081.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus, $132/month plus one-third electricity and phone. First month free. 537-4634.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, own room, furnished, 225/month, utilities included, Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

FEMALE, OWN room in two-bedroom house two blocks to campus. $162.50/month plus one-half utilities. Prefer graduate student. 539-4069.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, wonderful, own bedroom. Close to campus. First month's rent free. Rent $175/month plus one-half electricity, average $10-15. Telephone 776-7192.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment, $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed for January—July. Own room. No deposit. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, quiet neighborhood. $190/month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room, $160/month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 539-8766 after 5p.m., Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $100/month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half blocks to campus, own room, $141.67/month. Kris 776-2462 after 5p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: Own room, extremely nice, furnished apartment. $175/month, plus electricity. 776-1353 Kriss.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upperclassman or graduate student, own bedroom, $150 a month, utilities paid, plus season basketball ticket. Call 537-4947 after 6p.m.

FEMALE To share nice two-bedroom mobile home, washer/dryer, $150/month, utilities paid. 539-2267.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

LOOKING FOR female to share a house with two other females, own room, one-fourth utilities, always low. 539-6370, Angela for details.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE NON-SMOKING roommate to share three-bedroom house, $160 per month plus one-third utilities. 539-8455.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $159 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/month. Own room, washer/dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1681.

MALE ROOMMATE, share four-room house with laundry and kitchen, utilities paid. $175/month. 776-7369.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted: To share a three-bedroom apartment beginning Jan. 1st. $175 per month, one-third utilities, own bedroom, no deposit, laundry facilities, garage optional. For more details. Call 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment for spring semester only. Across street from campus, $150 plus utilities. 537-4637.

MALE—SPRING, $150/month plus utilities. Roomy upper half of house, 912 Laramie. 539-2881, Kan.

MATURE MALE roommate(s) wanted. Now or Jan. 1. On-street parking, washer/dryer. Two blocks from campus. $125 plus utilities and deposit. 539-5727.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING male roommate needed for spring semester. Very quiet neighborhood and cheap rent. Available Jan. 1. Is close to campus. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKER WANTED. House close to campus. Own room. Washer, dryer, $165/month, utilities included. 539-8897.

ONE-BEDROOM available in Brittany Ridge. Share with four roommates. Washer, dryer, one-half utilities, $195 per month. Hot tub, sand volleyball. 539-6676, Rob, leave message.

ONE FEMALE roommate. Own room, own bathroom. Some managers duties. $147.50, 10th and Blumert. Jennifer 539-5679.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR two roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812; 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-8886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, Jan. 1. Own bedroom. Nice three-bedroom apartment close to Aggieville and campus, $175 plus one-third utilities. Call or leave message. 537-3386.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Nice two-bedroom, own room, $135/month two blocks from campus and Aggieville. 776-9717.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice three-bedroom, own room, $168/month, all utilities paid. 537-1453.

ROOMMATE WANTED: $120/month plus one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer. Contact Ellen at 537-0726 or 537-0289.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Own room, Washer/dryer. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-3296 after 6p.m.

TWO ROOMMATES—Very close to campus. Own bedroom in nice furnished apartment. Washer, dryer, $170 plus utilities. 539-7978.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR two roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812; 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-8886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, Jan. 1. Own bedroom. Nice three-bedroom apartment close to Aggieville and campus, $175 plus one-third utilities. Call or leave message. 537-3386.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Nice two-bedroom, own room, $135/month two blocks from campus and Aggieville. 776-9717.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice three-bedroom, own room, $168/month, all utilities paid. 537-1453.

ROOMMATE WANTED: $120/month plus one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer. Contact Ellen at 537-0726 or 537-0289.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Own room, Washer/dryer. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-3296 after 6p.m.

TWO ROOMMATES—Very close to campus. Own bedroom in nice furnished apartment. Washer, dryer, $170 plus utilities. 539-7978.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR two roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812; 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-8886.

ROOMMATE WANTED—Male to share two-bedroom, two blocks from campus, one-half rent and utilities. Cheap. Call Brian at 776-0327.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, Jan. 1. Own bedroom. Nice three-bedroom apartment close to Aggieville and campus, $175 plus one-third utilities. Call or leave message. 537-3386.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Nice two-bedroom, own room, $135/month two blocks from campus and Aggieville. 776-9717.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice three-bedroom, own room, $168/month, all utilities paid. 537-1453.

ROOMMATE WANTED: $120/month plus one-fourth utilities, washer/dryer. Contact Ellen at 537-0726 or 537-0289.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Own room, Washer/dryer. $100/month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-3296 after 6p.m.

TWO ROOMMATES—Very close to campus. Own bedroom in nice furnished apartment. Washer, dryer, $170 plus utilities. 539-7978.

WANTED: ONE roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, oil, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care... Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9160. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

SUFFERING FROM Abortion? Write: HeartsRestored, Box 84, Grinnell, Kansas 67738. Confidential response will follow.

26 Stereo Equipment

TECHNICS RECEIVER—35 watts per channel, cassette deck, 75-watt—three-way speakers, make offer. 539-9424.

TWO 15" subwoofers, new, still in box, $75 each. 537-0510.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

OP INCLINE weight bench with leg curl/extension and 110 lb. cast iron weight set. $50. 539-9424.

GUN & KNIFE show. National Guard Armory at Manhattan Airport, Saturday, Dec. 15, 9a.m. to 5p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 9a.m. to 4p.m. Information (913)922-6979.

28 Sublease

APARTMENT AVAILABLE Jan. 1, two-bedroom, dishwasher, next to City Park. 539-1178, 537-4127 or 776-1745.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus, Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment. $130/month. One-third utilities. 537-8609.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1.—Nice one-bedroom apartment. Wildcat Inn across from Ahearn, $310/month with utilities paid, free off-street parking. Call, leave message 776-9394.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—Female to share apartment, close to campus, own room, one-half utilities. Call collect, Mike or Judy (913)362-7893.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1.—Female wanted to share apartment less than a block from campus, down street from Aggieville. $222.50 plus half utilities. 539-9535.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, 925 Blumert #3, two-bedroom furnished apartment. $300, rent, come, call 537-9576.

FEMALE: OWN room, cheap bills, hot tubs, free shuttle, $145 or best offer. Call Katrina 776-2378.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share very nicely furnished three-bedroom apartment. One block from campus and Aggieville. Laundry facilities available. January—May, $185/month plus low utilities. Call 776-6349.

GREAT SUBLEASE. Female for spring semester, furnished apartment. Low utilities. Next to campus. Call 539-3122.

SUBLEASE. STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

VERY NEGOTIABLE rent for nice apartment close to campus. Non-smoking female. 776-6386.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester. Two-bedroom apartment two blocks from campus. 776-4782.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY. Own room, low utilities, close to campus, Aggieville. 776-6815, ask for Karen or leave message.

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, female roommate needed to share two-bedroom apartment. $130/month. One-third utilities. 537-8609.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1.—Nice one-bedroom apartment. Wildcat Inn across from Ahearn, $310/month with utilities paid, free off-street parking. Call, leave message 776-9394.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—Female to share apartment, close to campus, own room, one-half utilities. Call collect, Mike or Judy (913)362-7893.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1.—Female wanted to share apartment less than a block from campus, down street from Aggieville. $222.50 plus half utilities. 539-9535.

AVAILABLE JANUARY—August, 925 Blumert #3, two-bedroom furnished apartment. $300, rent, come, call 537-9576.

FEMALE: OWN room, cheap bills, hot tubs, free shuttle, $145 or best offer. Call Katrina 776-2378.

FEMALE ROOMMATES wanted to share very nicely furnished three-bedroom apartment. One block from campus and Aggieville. Laundry facilities available. January—May, $185/month plus low utilities. Call 776-6349.

GREAT SUBLEASE. Female for spring semester, furnished apartment. Low utilities. Next to campus. Call 539-3122.

SUBLEASE. STUDIO. Begin Jan. 1. Call 776-7316.

SUBLEASE: AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One-bedroom of a four-bedroom house. Includes laundry. 539-7440.

VERY NEGOTIABLE rent for nice apartment close to campus. Non-smoking female. 776-6386.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

$168 AIRPLANE ticket for New York, Round-trip from KCI to JFK. Flying Dec. 23 and return on Jan. 14.

TWO ROUND-TRIP plane tickets K.C. to L.A., early 1/1 to 1/6. Asking $400 pair. Call John 537-2977 days, 539-8292 evenings.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $13 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday.

FOR SALE: Heavy duty Kenmore washing machine and gas dryer. Good working condition. Phone before 10p.m. 537-4543.

FOR SALE: Matching almond Kenmore washer and dryer. Large capacity. 539-7891.

FOR SALE: Stove, $75 or best offer. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS—Camouflage clothing, field jackets, overcoats, GI boots, wool socks and gloves, sleeping bags. Also Carhartt Workwear. Open Monday—Saturday 9a.m.—5p.m. Open Sundays until Christmas noon—4p.m. St. Marys Surplus Sales. 1-437-2734.

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog, Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

LOFT BED for sale. $55. Call 776-6480 ask for Pat.

RCA VCR—$100. Also for sale: 20" color TV and black and white. 776-3685 after 3p.m.

UNUSUAL ANTIQUES for sale: Baby stroller with metal frame, canvas cover, two large and two small wheels. $75; portable Phonola photograph in wooden case, $50. Call 539-1371 before 8p.m. If no answer, leave message.

WANTED: SANTA for small Christmas party. Must supply outfit. Pay negotiable. Contact Linda P. at 532-6555 days, 539-6600 evenings.

WANTED TO buy: Long-sleeved Rugby Polo type shirts. Men's M or L, in decent condition. Rita 532-6492 between 8 and 8:30a.m.

WORD PROCESSOR—Magnavox videowriter, disk drive, large display, works. As is, best offer. 537-7155.

WANTED: SANTA for small Christmas party. Must supply outfit. Pay negotiable. Contact Linda P. at 532-6555 days, 539-6600 evenings.

WANTED TO buy: Long-sleeved Rugby Polo type shirts. Men's M or L, in decent condition. Rita 532-6492 between 8 and 8:30a.m.

WORD PROCESSOR—Magnavox videowriter, disk drive, large display, works. As is, best offer. 537-7155.

34 Air Band Challenge

WANTED: "Willie" Vinyl Air Band Challenge" contestants. Competition to be held during the Union Station's Grand Opening, Jan. 16-18. Form a group of not more than eight people and lip sync your way to fame. Sign-up begins on Dec. 17th at the Union Station and continues through 4p.m. Jan. 17, 1991. (Limit of 10 groups). Call Bill at 532-6588 for info.

36 Insurance

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

38 12 Days of Christmas

THE ELEVENTH DAY of Christmas—99 cent old textbooks, 30% off picture calendars, 25% off K-State ornaments and candles, 25% off flex trash cans, 40% off K-State cards, 20% off Josten's diplomas, 20% off boxed pens and pencils sets, 50% off 3M mousepads, 25% off select apparel, 25% off Hazel portfolios and padfolios, 25% off cookbooks and 25% off backpacks. Dec. 13th at the K-State Union Bookstore (while supplies last).

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Hownkensten Rurnwalat want's to steal the giant lobster that's crawling across Maine on his U.S. map puzzle, but he can't find it.

12-13
©1990 Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Cheat:
slang
5 Center X?
8 Semisolid stuff
12 Earthenware stewpot
13 Get it wrong 14 Suitable, timewise
15 Artesian
well?
16 One of Louis's girls
17 Worshiper's place?
18 Groups
of aides
20 "West—
Story"
22 Current
"Jeopardy"
host 26 Striped equine 29 Run up
the phone bill
30 Keatsian opus
31 Fairy-tale meanie
32 The whole
shebang
33 Use a beeper
34 Mr.
Durocher

35 Dogfight fighter
36 Devoured
37 Former
"Jeopardy"
host 40 1960s musical
41 Texas city
45 Clifton
Davis
sitcom
47 Itzhak
Perlman's stick
49 —rain
50 Switzerland's capital
51 A
Gershwin
9 1944
52 Former
TV emcee
Jack
53 Uncomplicated
54 Soup
Solution time: 23 mins.

holder
55 Larch or loblolly
DOWN
1 Large amount:
slang
2 Dismounted
3 Dog
bane?
4 Trumpet flourish
5 Rib
6 Nolan
Ryan's pride
7 "Comic Relief" co-
host
8 Mark
9 1944
Hitchcock film
10 —Locke
11 Apiece
19 Where 10
Down is:
54 Soup
Solution time: 23 mins.

abbr.
21 Annoy
23 Woody tissue
24 Advantage
25 Ban-shee's wail
26 Dreyfus' defender
27 German-
Czech river
28 Frat men

House

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 9

Bill Ditto did all of the planning and designing himself with some guidance from a contractor.

Rose Ditto said everyone was so interested in how the final product turned out that they decided to open the house for tours.

"People were so excited about seeing the house and have really enjoyed it," she said.

One of the reasons people have enjoyed the house is because of its rich history and the stories that surround it.

"We know there was a tunnel because an elderly lady in Wamego had told us that she was in it as a child and that her dad was the keeper of it," Ditto said. "The tunnel was closed up in the 1920s because it was caving in due to the streets that were being built."

Although the Dittos cannot find the tunnel's opening in the house, they think they know where it might have been.

Interesting features show off the house's personality and style. There are eight stained glass windows throughout the house that cannot be duplicated because some of the colors used are no longer available.

The house also has an enclosed summer porch as well as a small balcony.

There is an angular staircase. The steps are only wide enough for a person's feet, but the railing is angled so it is wide enough for the person's hips. The staircase leads to a trap door, and behind the trap door is a moderately-sized attic that used to house servants.

The Dittos were able to keep the maple wood floor in the family room and most of the brass light fixtures in the kitchen and on the second floor.

"We wanted to have as many parts of the house as original as possible," Ditto said. "The more history we could keep, the better."

Burke said the true period of the Victorian era was looked upon with

Game

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

But after K-State failed in an attempt to cut the deficit to six, Tulsa, with Shields leading the way, ran and hid.

His back-to-back jumper and three-point shot gave the Golden Hurricane a 52-39 lead. The margin ballooned to 18, 53-45, when Jason Ludwig hit a trey with 5:10 left in the game.

And that, effectively, was that. Both teams struggled to find any kind of rhythm in the first half. After trading buckets and leads over the first 4:20, the teams found themselves deadlocked at 4-4.

Not exactly the kind of start that would send one scurrying to start the VCR.

And it didn't get much better. During the next four minutes, K-State outscored Tulsa 4-2 to take an 8-6 lead at the television timeout with 11:40 left. Tulsa was 2-of-13 from the field at that point.

After the break, Wires hit a jumper from the top of the key to give K-State a 10-6 lead. But that's when Tulsa started to heat things up.

Over the next three-plus minutes, the hosts went on an 11-0 run to turn the four-point deficit into a seven-point, 17-10 lead. Gordon scored four points, and Shields scored three during the mini-run.

K-State failed to record a field goal from Wires' shot until he hit another fielder. The second was part of an 8-1 K-State run that saw the lead cut from 10 — 21-11 — to three when Derouillere hit a jumper to make the score 22-19 Tulsa with just over three minutes left.

Tulsa shot just 26 percent in the opening 20 minutes, but K-State wasn't much better at 35 percent.

The taller 'Cats were out-rebounded by the hosts in the opening half 28-15, and K-State turned the ball over 13 times to Tulsa's nine in the half.

Only Wires, who was 3-of-4, kept K-State from being buried.

usual because three of the models were out with the flu.

"When someone's sick, the rest take up the slack," Zeno said.

She said it was doing a show in Manhattan was different than doing a show in Boston.

"In a place like Boston, the audience can have 1,000 people in a big hall," Zeno said. "Here there's a few hundred. It's kind of a culture shock. But the audience makes up for it in response."

The next production for the group is Friday in Bradley, Ill.

Fashion

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

Some of them have less than one minute to change from one complete outfit — including jewelry, hosiery and sometimes gloves — into another and then dashing back onto stage.

"That's why they change right behind the stage," Williams said. "You have to be pretty darn close to make those 60-second changes."

During the show in Manhattan, the models had even more changes than starting at $275.

NEON WILDCATS

Plus many more designs including flamingos, palm trees, Mickey mice and Knotty Nite-lites.™

Take a break from finals or stop by over the holiday. We're a shop like no other.

10% off with this ad.

Thru 1-15-90; not good with other offers.

913-823-1609

neon stuff™

150 S. Santa Fe in Salina

43 pilot whales die after beaching

Scientists find few clues in deaths, will dissect carcasses to look for answers

By The Associated Press

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Forty-three of 53 pilot whales that ran aground on a Cape Cod beach died, but scientists took solace Wednesday from the few they managed to save.

Eight of the whales that were discovered beached Tuesday on Squaw Island peninsula were returned to the sea. Two were taken to the New England Aquarium in Boston.

Of 315 whales previously stranded on area beaches over the past 10 years, only three are known to have survived and successfully returned to sea.

Scientists began dissecting the carcasses of the dead whales that had been hauled to a secluded corner of the town dump, but they had little hope that they might explain the mysterious occasional tendency of the whales to beach themselves.

"We're not really building toward the ultimate answer," said Greg Early, associate curator for animal care at the New England Aquarium and coordinator of the rescue effort.

Blood from the 43 whales, many of which were put to death to end their misery, will be checked for contamination that might have caused the whales to become disoriented. Biologists said previous examinations of beached whales have provided few clues.

They theorize that whales may be disoriented by the gentle slopes of sandy beaches, or by extreme high tides like those that battered Cape Cod last week, or that diseased male guide whales lead the rest to shore, or the whales, which are descended from land-based creatures, may follow their instincts when in danger and head inland.

The three whales known to have survived were taken to the New England Aquarium and stabilized before being released.

Predicting that the high tides and full moon of last week might disorient some whales and cause a stranding, experts called an alert over the weekend and moved their research boat from its berth less than a mile from Squaw Island to Sesuit, on Cape Cod's bay side.

The research boat is equipped to play the sounds of whales feeding underwater to try to lure the animals away from shore. But the boat was positioned exactly opposite of where the stranding ultimately happened.

"We were half right," Dave Wiley, co-coordinator of the Cape Cod Stranding Network, said Wednesday.

Rebels down government chopper; 51 left dead in series of attacks

By The Associated Press

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador — Leftist rebels forced down a government helicopter Wednesday in a series of attacks that left at least 51 dead.

The armed forces said the heaviest combat was in the eastern provinces of San Miguel and Usulután. Sporadic fighting continued throughout the day.

Honduras said about 200 Salvadoran soldiers, some seriously wounded, crossed its border after a battle with the rebels on Salvadoran territory.

Honduran Foreign Minister Mario Carias Zapata said U.N. military observers were sent to the area to verify the incident and provide assistance. Rebels did not pursue the soldiers into Honduras, he said.

The incident has been reported to the Salvadoran government, and the troops will be sent home, the ministry said.

The ministry also said that Miguel Saenz, a senior official of the rebel Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, had scheduled a meeting with President Rafael Callejas to discuss the incident. Salvadoran military officials were not available for comment.

The FMLN attacks began with a rebel assault Tuesday night on army positions on the fringes of San Jorge, 95 miles southeast of San Salvador. The army said 11 soldiers and 30 guerrillas died in the San Jorge fighting.

The rebels' clandestine Radio Venceremos said guerrilla ground fire forced down a government UH-1H helicopter early Wednesday near the Honduran border.

The armed forces said the helicopter was only slightly damaged but acknowledged that one gunner was killed and the pilot, co-pilot and a second gunner were wounded.

The FMLN also attacked an army garrison 45 miles north of the capital in Chalatenango.

The military said the rebel mortars fell short, hitting the nearby City Hall and four adjacent houses instead. There were no reports of casualties.

The rebels wounded two soldiers in an attack on a nearby outpost, the armed forces said.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

HUNAM EXPRESS

1116 MORO
537-0886

This coupon good for
Yu Shiang Beef $2.50

not good with any other special, promo, delivery
Free Delivery with min. $9 order
Open 11 a.m.-1 a.m.
Expires 12/19/90

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

Joyce's Hair Tamers

WARM & GENTLE PERM.....$38
regular $42
ATTRACTIONS PERM.....$32
regular $42
MEN'S PERMS.....$30
All perms include cut & style.

Haircuts
Gals $12 Guys $8.50 Kids $6.50
All cuts include shampoo and style
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. Call 539-TAME

Jungle Talk
If foundation is too oily, add a drop of skin toner or witch hazel to it and mix well.
Loveliest trend in haircoloring is warming your own hair color with highlight. Change looks natural and flatters your skin.
Let us brighten your tresses.

PHI KAPPA PHI
GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS
Fellowship worth
$7,000

The awards are intended for the support of students undertaking first-year graduate study within 12 months of receipt of the baccalaureate degree. Students interested in being considered by the KSU Committee should contact
Room 146, Durland Hall
for further information and application forms.
APPLICATION FORMS MUST BE RETURNED
FEBRUARY 1, 1991!

LOWMAN'S
IN - A G G I E V I L L E

For the Holidays.

Classic Fall and Winter Coats
20% Off through Sunday.

1215 Moro Free gift wrap. 776-7304

Open 10 to 8 Mon. through Fri. Sat. 10-6. Sun 1-5.

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook Items at

Varney's

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S
(regardless of where you bought them)
AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books on the dates listed. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE
Mon., Dec. 10, thru Sat., Dec. 15, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 16, Noon-5 p.m.
Mon., Dec. 17 thru Thu., Dec. 20, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Fri., Dec. 21 & Sat. Dec. 22, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 23, Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, December 14, 1990

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 75

Senior to study in Hungary

17-year-old math, physics genius shows talent at young age

By Ryan Finney
Collegian Reporter

Ah, to be 17, graduating from college and studying abroad.

Francis Fung, senior in mathematics and physics, will travel to Budapest, Hungary, along with the world's top 31 students in mathematics to study in the Budapest Semesters in Mathematics Program, offered through St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn.

Bonnie Hunke, executive assistant for the program, said the classes start Feb. 11, and an optional language course in Hungarian begins Jan. 24.

"I'm convinced after I read all the nice things about the program, even though he is fairly young yet, that he is mature enough to go, so we agreed that he can go," said Daniel Fung, Francis Fung's father and professor in animal sciences and industry.

Francis Fung celebrated his 17th birthday Thursday.

He graduated from Manhattan High School in May 1989 and became a full-time student at K-State in fall 1989.

Daniel Fung said his son used to quote Shakespeare when he was two.

"Ever since he was a baby, we knew he was very gifted," Daniel Fung said. "We know that he is very intelligent, and we can remember thinking when he was a child that this kid was going to be good."

So good that at the age of 10, he enrolled in and successfully completed college algebra.

"We never pushed him at all," Daniel Fung said. "He took college algebra because he wanted to do it."

Francis Fung said, "I've always loved to learn things. I liked mathematics all along, but I really didn't get into it until calculus."

That desire to learn prompted him to enter the National Mathematics Convention in August of 1989 at Ohio State University. There he won the American Mathematical Society's Award. He was then entered into their society, Pi Mu Epsilon.

It was at this competition that Fung heard about the program in Hungary and decided to contact St. Olaf College and to apply.

Hunke said the students will stay at the Technical Institute in Budapest where they will be offered three non-math courses besides the base mathematics curriculum.

"During the first week, the students have a chance to be enrolled in all of the mathematical courses, and they can decide on which ones they want to stay in and pursue for the rest of the semester," Hunke said.

"The math classes are different because the students are not as spoon-fed with the solutions as they are used to in the United States," Hunke said.

Francis Fung's credentials, however, indicate he will be able to handle the challenge.

Fung, while still in high school, completed college algebra, calculus I, II, and III, differential equations and statistics at K-State.

"The Manhattan School District is just absolutely fantastic," Daniel Fung said. "They spotted him as being very intelligent and immediately worked with him in their special programs."

Daniel Fung said that his son has been surrounded by excellent faculty members and that the faculty in Hungary is also excellent.

Hunke said that all of the faculty members are Hungarian but that all have taught in the United States at one time or another.

She said the faculty are from Eotvos University and the Mathematical Institute of the Hungarian Academy of Science.

Paul Erdos, the originator of the Budapest Semesters in Mathematics Program, is also a faculty member and a member of the United States' National Academy of Science.

When he graduates from K-State in a couple of years, Francis Fung said he wants to go to graduate school, but he's not sure where. He said he plans on pursuing a doctorate degree in mathematics and becoming a professor.

"I like to teach and to do research and learn all sorts of new and interesting things, and that's what a professor does," Francis Fung said.

Senate approves allocation of monies for SGA retreat

By Dan Scott
Collegian Reporter

The K-State Student Senate approved a bill in its Thursday night meeting to allocate $3,069 to the KSU Student Governing Association for a retreat.

The retreat is scheduled for January 18-20 at Rock Springs 4-H Center.

The purpose of the retreat is to serve as an organizing tool of the Senate so that the body may better serve the students, said Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt.

"This is based on getting to know the system we're working with," he said.

The breakdown of the money comes to $36.10 per person, which is above the Senate guidelines figure of allocating no more than $21 per person.

"There's a big difference between (Senate) and any other group that comes in here," said Jackie McCluskey, agriculture senator. "This group represents the entire University. This money will be wisely spent."

Objectives and goals of the Senate will be one of the topics discussed at the three-day event, Heitschmidt said.

The retreat was cancelled several years ago because the event was becoming more of a drunken party than a constructive meeting, said Bernard Franklin, assistant dean of student life. He and numerous senators then stressed the retreat is to be a place of serious work.

"You are the representatives of the students," Franklin said to the Senate during the informal discussion. "How you sell this retreat to your constituents is up to you."

The money will be taken from the Senate's Reserves for Contingencies Account, which now totals around $33,000, and will pay for the lodging of the 85 people invited on the retreat.

In other business, Senate approved a resolution concerning the engineering fee. The resolution stated Senate's opposition to implementing a restricted use fee without researching other options.

The resolution concerning the engineering equipment fee passed — despite a lengthy debate over the exact wording. It now requests the Kansas Board of Regents conduct a system-wide investigation of equipment needs by the end of the 1991 spring semester.

Teacher reviews used by faculty

By Angie Schrock
Collegian Reporter

Teacher evaluations appear in most classes near the end of the semester, but some students may wonder if they serve a useful purpose or just get ignored.

The student evaluations of teachers are used by the departments as a portion of the overall teacher evaluation.

"The evaluations of faculty by students are used to determine merit increases in pay, promotions and when tenure is being considered," said Jim Ragan, head of the economics department.

Each department makes the rules on evaluations in their department, and the process and requirements may differ from one department to another. The departments may also use the evaluations in different ways, said James Legg, head of the physics department.

"When student evaluations of teachers are done, they don't just disappear into a black hole," Legg said. "They are turned in to the department head for review."

Evaluations are also used in reassigning teachers to classes.

"We use the evaluations a lot in reassigning teachers. Many teachers cannot successfully teach the same course forever without getting burned out," Legg said.

"The student evaluations will tell us a teacher is getting burned out about one year before the teacher realizes it and tells us," he said.

Evaluations can influence the status of the instructor.

"In one instance, we had an instructor with an outstanding research record, but a bad teaching record. They were refused tenure because of the teaching record and eventually lost their job because of this," Ragan said.

Student evaluations are not the only thing considered when decisions are being made about teaching positions.

"Peer evaluations are also important. They look at the content of the course and how important it was," Legg said.

"Students may be very happy with an entertaining teacher and never learn anything. This makes the other parts of the evaluation important since faculty members are looking from a different standpoint," he said.

See TEACH, Page 12

Hopeful lights

Residents of Ford Hall decorated their floor lobby windows facing Manhattan Avenue with Christmas lights expressing a holiday wish for peace. The lights first spelled out the message Dec. 2.

Brian W. Kratzer/Staff

Annual bird count alternative to hunt

By Cindy Jeffery
Collegian Reporter

It's the social event of the year for birdwatchers — the annual Christmas Bird Count.

"This is the 42nd year for the bird count in Manhattan," said John Zimmerman, professor of biology and adviser for the Northern Flint Hills Audubon Society. "We've had as many as 100 people turn out for the count. Even last year when we had subzero weather, there were about 50."

Robert LaShelle has been involved in all but one of Junction City's 33 bird counts.

"One of our birders has just reported seeing a Pine Grosbeak. That would be the first one in 20 years if it is seen during count week," LaShelle said.

Birdwatchers usually begin at 7 a.m., but LaShelle's son Dan goes out at 3 a.m. to call owls.

"He uses recordings of different owl calls, but this year he is also using rodent-screaming recordings in hopes of attracting owls," LaShelle said. Saw-whets and Long-eared Owls have been identified in the past.

Frank Chapman organized the first Christmas Bird-Census on Dec. 25, 1900. That day, 26 people in 13 states and Canada reported counts. Chapman published the findings in Bird-Lore, the first journal of the Audubon Society.

"Chapman started it as an alternative to the Christmas side hunts, where a group of hunters got together and chose up sides and then went out and shot anything they could find. Whichever side killed the most, won," said Dave Rintoul, associate professor in biology and a group leader for the Manhattan count.

There are now more than 1,000 groups doing bird counts, mostly in the U.S. and Canada, but also in Mexico, Central America, South America, Bermuda and the West Indies.

"It's a good way for neophytes to start because they will be with other more-experienced birders."

—John Zimmerman
Northern Flint Hills
Audubon Society adviser

"A lot is done by birders that aren't members of the Audubon Society," Zimmerman said. "It's a good way for neophytes to start because they will be with other more-experienced birders and will learn at least 20 species. It's exciting and fun."

This year, Boy Scouts in the Manhattan area will join Rintoul's group as a way of earning a merit badge.

Bird-population counts on the Konza Prairie is part of Rene Miner's coursework in biology.

"I heard about the Christmas bird count from Prof. Zimmerman," said Miner, junior in wildlife biology.

"It's a challenge to see how many different species you can find, and it's so much easier when the foliage is down," she said.

Jennifer Harris, senior in biology, said she had never paid much attention to birds in years past.

"Actually, my main interest is mammals, but I became interested in birds when I took ornithology last spring semester," Harris said. "It's harder to see mammals, but birds are out in the open. You see all kinds."

Unusual species of birds must be seen by at least two people. They must then describe to the group at the end of the day what they saw and why they came to that conclusion, Zimmerman said.

the Iraqi president would pull his troops out of occupied Kuwait. Cheney said Hussein continues to deploy more forces to Kuwait and southern Iraq. "Every indication is he intends to continue his illegal occupation of Kuwait," Cheney made his comments to reporters after speaking at the National War College in Washington.

Meanwhile, U.S. District Judge Harold Greene denied a request by 54 Democratic members of Congress for an injunction to force the president to seek a declaration of war before launching an attack on Iraqi troops in Kuwait.

The judge said the Constitution requires a president to gain such authorization before launching an actual attack, but he said the case was

See BUSH, Page 12

BRIEFLY

World

Albanian soldiers quell attack

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Communist Albania on Thursday ordered its soldiers to quell an attack on officials and buildings by hooligans armed with stones and iron bars, official media reported.

The attack in the northern city of Shkodra came one day after a peaceful rally by tens of thousands of people in the capital, Tirana, celebrating the founding of the country's first non-Communist party, the Democratic Party of Albania.

Journalists said Tirana remained calm Thursday. Official Albanian Radio, monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp. in London, said gangs were throwing stones at the district party and government buildings, and committing acts of vandalism inside the local radio station.

It said the district police chief, a policeman and one other person were hurt by people wielding iron bars.

Nation

Dole reinforces decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Thursday it was a good thing that William Bennett has turned down the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee.

Dole also expressed hope that President Bush would consider selecting a woman for the top party post.

Bennett, who recently stepped down as the nation's drug policy director, told the White House on Thursday he would not accept the party position because of financial reasons.

"I thought Bennett was a mistake in the first place," Dole said in a telephone news conference with Kansas broadcasters.

"He'd only been a Republican for about four years, never run for office and, to me, it's got to be somebody who understands and likes politics."

Dole said Bennett was a very able individual but was miscast for the job.

Region

Guard mothers bake cookies

HAYS (AP) — Yvonne Rohleder tries to keep her mind off Saudi Arabia and the fact that her son, Craig, will be sent there with his National Guard unit.

Rohleder and other mothers of Guard members made 55 dozen oatmeal, peanut butter and chocolate chip cookies in one afternoon to send a little taste of home to the troops at Fort Riley.

"It's not a lot, but they know we care," Rohleder said.

It was the second batch that she and others have made for the Guard's 170th Maintenance Co., which was mobilized Nov. 29.

"I need to do something," Rohleder said. "It helps me deal with this, and it's my way of helping the guys."

Rows of cookies, made from donated flour, sugar and eggs, line her kitchen and living room, where a yellow candle burns in hope the troops return home soon.

Rohleder organized the baking so mothers and grandmothers together could do something for the troops.

When they bake, the mothers help each other deal with their fear and anxiety, Rohleder said.

"We visit, and we cry, and we talk," she said.

But they avoid certain subjects, such as war and Saudi Arabia.

"We knew that was probably on the list," Rohleder said.

"But I was praying it wouldn't happen."

Kansan freed from Kuwait

LENEXA (AP) — Three short buzzes, a pause, then three short buzzes.

That password helped keep Stephen Kelly alive as he and friends hid in an apartment complex just outside Kuwait City. "That was the signal for the elevator," Kelly said after being freed this week. "It was the same signal for the telephone. We wouldn't pick up the telephone unless we got that signal."

Two letters, one dated Sept. 11, the other Sept. 25, detail the four months of panic, loneliness, uncertainty and anger the 56-year-old urban planner endured as his family remained in suburban Kansas City.

When Kelly finally flew home and talked with his family, he discovered they had been trying to reach him almost daily.

"It was such a relief, such a relief it almost made me cry," he said. "We felt forgotten, we did, we felt forgotten."

Glimpses of his ordeal emerge from letters he was able to smuggle out of occupied Kuwait.

Campus

Students compete for award

Three K-State students will compete nationally for the $28,000 Truman scholarship.

Representing K-State are Raymond Kowalczewski, junior in economics; Jonathan Morris, junior in mathematics; and Alicia Poteat, junior in political science.

Those students selected for interviews will be announced in January. The scholarship is for students studying for careers in government and public service.

"It's a leadership- and community service-type scholarship," Kowalczewski said.

Only Yale, Stanford, Radcliffe and Harvard have had more students receive the Truman scholarship than K-State and Michigan State University. K-State and Michigan State are tied for public universities receiving the award; each has 14 scholarship recipients and one alternate.

The nominees applied to the University's selection committee. After being selected to represent K-State, the application was revised for the Truman selection committee, Kowalczewski said.

The application consisted of many small essays and one large essay, Morris said.

Donation funds artificial turf

Dave and Carol Wagner, a Dodge City couple, have made a $796,000 donation to K-State's Essential Edge Campaign to benefit the athletic department.

The donation will be used to provide a new artificial turf for KSU Stadium.

The Essential Edge Campaign is coordinated by the KSU Foundation and benefits 11 university projects including the eight academic colleges, intercollegiate athletics, a new art museum and University Libraries. Campaign priorities include scholarships, professorships and equipment.

"Kansas State University, athletically and academically, is moving in a positive direction," President Jon Wefald said. "Alumni and friends like Dave and Carol Wagner, through their dedication and commitment, help make this possible. The Wagners' gift is a catalyst to continued improvement."

Wefald announced the gift from the couple during last week's Dodge City regional meeting of the $100-million campaign.

"Carol and I are very happy to share some of our good fortune with Kansas State. Athletic Director Steve Miller is a dynamic leader, and Bill Snyder has returned respectability to the football program. Our gift is an endorsement of the progress Steve and Bill have helped engineer," Dave Wagner, a 1969 K-State graduate, said in a press release.

CAMPUS BULLETIN

Campus organizations are encouraged to use the Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. However, publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on the shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin form. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

Announcements

■ Applications of Student Teachers deadline for teaching during the fall and spring semesters of 1991 and 1992 is Dec. 20 in Blumont 13.

14 Friday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Janaki Pillarisetti at 2:30 p.m. in Waters Hall. The dissertation topic is "Three Essays on Optimal External Borrowing, Debt-For-Nature Swaps, and the Impact of Distortions on Country Risk of the Developing Countries."

■ Talking Hands will have a pizza party at 5 p.m. at Valentino's.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Timothy Nelson at 2 p.m. in Ward 142. The dissertation topic is "Two-Photon Chemistry of Xe and Kr with Halogens."

■ Classified Affairs Committee nominations for the classified employee of the year from faculty and staff are due in Anderson Hall.

17 Monday

■ Students Helping Students will meet at 2:30 p.m. in the Lafene Conference Room.

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Sheela Ramanna at 10:30 a.m. in Nichols 236. The dissertation topic is "Temporal Logic in the Design of Integrity Systems."

18 Tuesday

■ The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Carol Elaine Smith at 9 a.m. in Durland 164. The dissertation topic is "A Transient, Three-Dimensional Model of the Human Thermal System."

MANHATTAN WEATHER

Today, mostly cloudy. A 20-percent chance for light rain or light snow by midday. High around 40. Southeast wind 10 to 15 mph. Tonight, becoming partly cloudy. Low 25 to 30. Saturday, partly cloudy. High near 45.

Credit, Where Credit is Due

CLOUD COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE
INTERTERM CLASSES
(Beginning January 2, 1991)

Three 3-Hour Credit Courses:

Course	Time	Dates
U.S. History II	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Sociology	8 a.m. through 12:30 p.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12 & 19
Assertive Training	1-Hr Credit, 9-11 a.m.	Jan. 2-4; 7-12

REGISTER Now through Dec. 21 or the First Day of Class, which is January 2, at 7:30AM

Call or Write: Cloud County Community College
2221 Campus Drive, Box 1002
Concordia Kansas, 66901
(913) 243-1435 or 1-800-729-5101

First In Service To North Central Kansas

$1.50 Greyhounds
50¢ Kamis
See you next semester!
1122 Moro*Upstairs*776-7726

Winter Coats 30% Off
The feeling is casual - The look is sophisticated
THE LOFT IN AGGIEVILLE
"A CLASSIC CHRISTMAS"
1207 MORO HRS Mon-Thurs 9:30 - 6:00
539-1319 Fri-Sat 9:30 - 5:30
Sun 1:00 - 5:00

Holiday Sale Prices
Good through Dec. 31

- E'lara Perfume & Cologne 25% off
- Robes, Coats Sweaters & Dresses 20% off
- PEPE CO. in store savings!
- Scarves & Selected Jewelry 25-40% off
- Earrings Buy 3 pr. Get 4th pr. FREE
- Socks & Stockings Buy 3 pr. Get 4th pr. FREE

Tommie's
423 Lincoln • Wamego
Holiday Hours:
Mon-Sat 10-7 • Sun 1-5 • Open late Thurs: 8:00

Cats vs. Lamar
Sat. Dec. 15
Tipoff: 6:30 p.m.
Bramlage Coliseum
Tickets: 532-6920
Free Team Photo For
"A can of food or
"1 donation to the Flint Hills Bread Basket
Sponsored by:
AVANTIS

Kansas Gift Baskets

- Gift Baskets, tailored to your budget, for family, friends and associates.
- Choose from our unique selection of gift baskets and boxes.
- Shipping to any location.
- Call for specifics—or visit us at the Fields of Fair Winery in Paxico.

Dorothy's LAND OF AB'S
Paxico, KS 66526
1-70, Exit 333
913-636-5360
APCO quality gasoline available!

Faculty member receives $35,000 research grant

By Carl Richert
Collegian Reporter

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has given another K-State faculty member a research grant, this time worth $35,000.

Charles Layne, assistant professor of physical education and leisure studies and member of the KSU exercise research center, will research for two years motor control in space.

He said he hopes to discover potential solutions to the causes of astronauts' postural problems following space flight.

Layne said that after astronauts return from space, they experience unstable movement and coordination problems.

"They feel like they are rounding corners when they are really going straight," he said. "Therefore, their responses are inappropriate."

Information gathered from the research will eventually be used to develop countermeasures designed to help astronauts exit the space shuttle more quickly in emergency situations.

Presently, astronauts are incapacitated for at least one hour while they adapt back to earth's gravity after a flight. Layne said this would be dangerous in a life-threatening situation.

Layne said studies have shown a correlation between the length of time in flight to the amount of problems in post-flight.

"The longer in flight, the more severe the problems are."

"NASA would eventually like to expand their longest mission of 10 days to 13 and possibly 16 days, but they want to first make sure their astronauts will be safe," he said.

Layne said his program is a comprehensive, integrative study of postural-control strategies.

"We will take three techniques: electromyography (EMG), the NASA Force Plate, and videotape to get more complete measurement of our research," he said.

EMG, described by Layne as the window inside the nervous system, measures the activity that comes from muscles. Electrodes are placed on the body to show on a computer the relationship of muscles working together.

With the second strategy of using the new Force Plate, activity will be measured as a person stands on progressively thinner rails attached to the force plate.

"By narrowing base support, they will try to find out how the bodies react," he said.

Subjects will stand heel-to-toe, and the plate will measure precisely how far forward, backward, left and right the person is standing.

To back up data collected through EMG and the Force Plate, Layne said he plans to videotape the tests to verify what the body is doing.

"We will primarily be looking to see what the head and eyes do, because if the head and eyes are disrupted or unstable, the body usually follows," Layne said.

Many scientists may use just one method of strategy, but Layne said he will be using all three types to get a picture of what is happening by looking at force, the inside of the nervous system and the whole body in terms of behavior.

The grant supports the continuation of work Layne began last summer in a summer faculty fellowship program at Johnson Space Center's Space Biomedical Research Institute in Houston.

Layne wrote the grant proposal based on his work in the neurophysiology lab there. He was one of three selected to receive a grant from among the 30 summer fellowship participants.

Crop judgers earn top-10 placement nationally

By Jenifer Scheibler
Collegian Reporter

The K-State crops-judging team placed in the top 10 in two national contests to complete their competitive season.

The three-member team placed fifth at the American Royal Collegiate Crops Contest in Kansas City, Mo. and sixth at the Chicago Collegiate Contest.

Marvin Hachmeister, assistant instructor of agronomy and a coach for the team, said he was pleased with the results of the contests.

"The national contests are very competitive," he said. "It doesn't take much to separate the sixth- and second-place teams."

Keith Milliken, junior in agronomy, led the team in both contests by individually placing sixth at the American Royal contest and tenth at the Chicago contest.

He said although his goal was to compete well, the highlight of the contests was being able to meet other agronomy students and talk with them about the issues in their field.

"It was overwhelming at first to see so many agronomy students," he said. "I really enjoyed getting the chance to know them."

Milliken said his contest success was rewarding, but that it was also meaningful because it reflected on his pride for the farm and what his father had taught him about it.

Other team members placing at the American Royal contest were Rodney Kunard, junior in agronomy, and Veronica Tuttle, sophomore in chemical engineering.

Tuttle placed seventh in seed analysis in Chicago.

The team members are selected from the results of preliminary judging through practice sessions, Hachmeister said. Any student in the University can try out.

He said team members spent three afternoons a week, in addition to time on their own, concentrating on contest divisions — identification, seed analysis and grain grading.

"These students worked hard," he said. "It takes a tremendous amount of time and work to prepare for a contest."

Milliken said team members usually compete for only one year.

Series showcases variety

Collegium Musicum to play Medieval, Renaissance music

By Dana Thomson
College Reporter

The Collegium Musicum will perform a program combining vocal and instrumental music from the Medieval and Renaissance eras at 3 p.m. Sunday in All Faiths Chapel.

The makeup of the Collegium Musicum is somewhat different from other groups that perform in the K-State concert series. This group includes area residents as well as students and faculty members.

"It's a greater mix of students and townspeople," said Director Sara Funkhouser, associate professor of music.

Funkhouser said the group has loyal followers with a definite interest in the music. The response from the community has been larger than expected.

People who do enjoy listening to this time period of music usually have to listen to it at home on the stereo. The Collegium Musicum provides a rare opportunity to hear the music performed live locally.

The group will play selections from William Byrd, William Brade, Philippe Verdelot, Arnold von Bruck, John Wilbye, Hans Leo Hassler and Henry Purcell.

The Collegium Musicum has had one major concert each semester for 15 years. The group also performs at renaissance concerts and school concerts.

Robin Smith, professor in philosophy, and his wife Carolyn were singers in the first Collegium and are still active in the group.

Smith said the group started from people who just read through the music.

"There was really not any thought to performing in the beginning," he said. "It just lead up to it."

Funkhouser said that playing and singing with the group is not always easy for people who do not have a lot of practice with sight-reading.

To perform with Collegium Musicum, a musician must have good sight-reading ability and an interest in the music of the time period.

"We try to alert them to what is involved — good sight-readers and interest," Funkhouser said. "We invite people who are interested just to come and experience."

Red Army assisting in food distribution

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW — The KGB said Thursday that thousands of tons of government-purchased food are stuck at ports and railway stations, and officials said the Red Army has been drafted to help unload foreign food aid.

Deputy Prime Minister Lev Voronin, who heads a government commission overseeing the aid distribution, vowed that the harshest measures would be used against anyone caught diverting donated food to the black market.

KGB officials said more than 1.6 million metric tons of imported goods await unloading or shipment from Soviet ports, and about 7,000 railway cars need to be emptied at border stations.

"Thousands of railway containers laden with important goods, commodities and machinery are standing idle and unloaded... This includes freight coming from abroad," KGB Chairman Vladimir Kryuchkov told the Communist Party newspaper Pravda on Thursday.

Voronin said the army had been enlisted to unload cargo planes, and 1,000 soldiers were ordered to Brest on the Polish border to help clear the rail backlog.

He said 1,000 trucks were found to help distribute aid arriving at Moscow railway stations.

KSU STUDENT SPECIAL!
$1 OFF COUPON

World's Greatest Haircut
Reg. $7 BUT WITH COUPON
ONLY $6

Also on SALE
HIS or HER
PERM $23

snip n' clip
MIDWEST'S FAVORITE HAIRCUTTERS

3035 ANDERSON
V.P. - 539-4043
431 POYNTZ - BY K-MART
776-6410
Expires 12-31-90

OPEN NIGHTS & SUNDAYS, JUST DROP IN

Gift Boxes for you to send . . . straight from Wildcat Land!

Choose from our selection of gift packages that will be wrapped and sent to your favorite friend or relative anywhere you need it . . . in time for Christmas.

Gift 1
Three Kinds of Cheese
Approx. 1 lb. each block
$13.50

Gift 2
Six ½ lb. blocks
$15.00

Gift 3
4½ lb. blocks of cheese
and 1 (1 lb.) stick of summer sausage
$16.50

Orders will be taken at Dairy Sales Counter,
Room 144, Call Hall.
For more information call 532-5654.

MERRY CHRISTMAS & HAPPY NEW YEAR!

We have a new year's resolution that we're bound & determined to keep!

"Our clients are an integral part of our business. We as professionals at Shear Dynamics promise to listen and provide you with honest advice and a caring attitude."

SHEAR DYNAMICS
CUSTOM HAIR DESIGN, 1125 Laramie, ground floor, 776-9100

Clyde's

Graduation Day Buffet
Beat the rush and eliminate the waiting
with Clyde's famous Buffet Entrees

All Day Buffet 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.

Prime Rib
Baked Salmon
Cordon Bleu
Baked Ham
Crab Legs
Shrimp Cocktail
Vegetable Souffles

and more! more! more!
All you can eat $12.95
Children 10 and under—½ price
Senior Citizens 10% off

2304 Stagg Hill Rd. (Across from the Holidome) 537-8440

KCI ROADRUNNER

AIRPORT SHUTTLE SERVICE TO KANSAS CITY INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT

RUN	DEPARTURE	ARRIVAL	RUN	DEPARTURE	ARRIVAL
	Ramada Inn	KCI		KCI	Man. Holidome
101	4:00	6:10	201	7:00A	9:30
New 102	5:35	8:15	202	9:15A	11:30
103	7:30	10:00	203	11:15A	1:30P
AM 104	10:15	12:45P	AM 204	2:00P	4:30
PM 105	12:55	3:30	PM 205	5:00P	7:30
106	2:45	5:15	206	8:30P	11:00
107	6:15	8:30	207	11:00P	1:30A

These fares are from your house, dorm or work place to your KCI boarding gate. Also, round trip fares from your KCI departing gate back to your house, dorm or work place

	One Way	Round Trip	One Way	Round Trip
ADULTS	$28.00	$50.00	25.00	47.00
SENIORS & MILITARY	$25.00	$47.00	22.00	42.00
CHILDREN 2-12*	12.00	22.00
UNDER 2 YRS.*	FREE	FREE

For reservations, ticketing, or inquiries, Call
Travel Unlimited 776-7325, Creative Travel Inc. 539-0531
Bryan World Tours 776-7325, International Tours 776-4756, or KCI Road Runner 537-2086.
SEVEN scheduled round trips daily

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1983

PRESENTS THE

WICKED WISHER

ROCK N' ROLL N'
RHYTHM N' BLUES

Friday Nite Only!
Saturday $1 Pitchers

Pre-party with us before the game

FirstBank Center 776-4111

EDITORIAL

EDITORIALS

Bush gaining mileage but losing popularity

It's a good thing President Bush doesn't fly commercial and get frequent-flyer miles. If he did, he would have to take even more trips to use all of those frequent-flyer freebies he would have racked up.

He is probably jetlagged after his latest five-nation tour of South America, bringing his mileage total to 275,000 since taking office. In two years, he has nearly equaled the 308,402 miles logged by Dwight D. Eisenhower in his entire eight years in office.

Of course, traveling and negotiating with foreign nations is in the presidential job description, but one would think that during a crisis would be a good time to at least touch-down and refuel, or maybe even stay in the Oval Office a while.

Even with the return of the American hostages from Kuwait, there is still a crisis in the Persian Gulf, as Bush promises not to back down, and Saddam Hussein gives war a 50-percent chance. Now might not be a good time to visit Turkey and Greece — but that's exactly where he is going in January.

He is also going to stop off in the Soviet Union. In February, when it might be time to rotate the troops in the gulf with replacements, the president will visit Japan, South Korea, Australia and possibly other Pacific nations, according to an article in the Kansas City Star.

Report shows Vietnam prisoners possibly alive

Imagine that two weeks after all of the hostages held by Iraq returned home, reports surfaced that hundreds of hostages were still being held. Imagine further that a congressional investigation stated that there was reason to believe the reports.

The reaction of the federal government could easily be predicted. President Bush would promise action to seek their release, and Congress would demand an investigation.

According to an interim report prepared by the Republican staff of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, it is likely such a situation exists — in Vietnam. Further, the report states that officials of the executive branch have decided to state for 17 years that these prisoners are dead, in the face of thousands of reports that they are still alive and still captive.

The report, released in October with little notice by the media, was based on a partial review of thousands of reports, some of which are classified,

There is no mention of a trip to visit the homeless in New York or impoverished farmers in the Midwest. But then, maybe they aren't as interesting to visit as say, Antarctica.

"Antarctica? Heck, we could do that in a day trip. Then we would have been to every one (continent)," said a White House staffer.

Even if Bush doesn't want to visit the problem areas in the United States, such evidence of America's financial crisis still exists. And in a time when Americans are asked to conserve and recycle, our president should do the same.

It is estimated that it costs $5,287 an hour to keep the old 707 in the air. A back-up plane, usually a fully-equipped 707, follows Air Force One to every stop. Big military transport planes haul presidential limousines to every city Bush visits. Six limousines and six vehicles for the Secret Service were flown to South America.

Where is the conservation? Maybe if the new Air Force One wasn't quite so comfortable with its TVs, VCRs, sleeping quarters and lounging quarters, Bush would only fly when absolutely necessary. Maybe if he had to sit in coach at the back of the plane where it's noisiest, next to someone who spills his drink on him and snores loudly, mistaking him for a pillow, he would reconsider January's flying agenda.

related to prisoners of war and soldiers listed as missing in action from the Vietnam War.

The report states that the Defense Department has, since early 1973, arbitrarily declared that all of the 2,280 POWs and MIAs unaccounted for are dead. This declaration was made at the behest of the State Department, which in an internal memo at that time flatly stated, "They are all dead."

In 1973, the U.S. government promised billions of dollars in aid to rebuild Vietnam. The North Vietnamese government may have held these prisoners to ensure it would receive the aid. When the peace agreement fell apart, so did the aid deal, and the prisoners were forgotten. They were inconvenient.

All Americans should demand a congressional investigation to find out if the executive branch has been lying about the fate of thousands who may be still paying the price for America's involvement in Southeast Asia.

College one big vacation

I'm off the clock now. My semester as editor has reached its denouement after a hot, steamy and turbulent journalistic romance. It has been a hoot.

I'm also graduating (I'm praying, Brad) this semester — you won't have old Eric Henry to kick around anymore. If you are a freshman, as I was several times, take note of this: graduation creeps up on you lickety-split. Don't think "it can't happen to me." Graduation can, and probably will, happen to those of you smart enough not to flunk out but stupid enough to complete all your degree requirements. Do everything possible to avoid graduation. Stay in school no matter what the cost. It's too late for me.

Gone are the days of sitting around the living room in my underwear, drinking beer and watching cartoons on a Monday afternoon. So I drag my feet reluctantly into adulthood. Yesterday, I was a college kid. Today, I am unemployed.

The best way to describe what it's like to be leaving school and the Collegian is to compare it to a childhood vacation that is coming to an end. I'm sure you know the feeling.

Remember when your family loaded the station wagon and drove to the Grand Canyon or to grandma's or to Disneyland? Remember the feeling you had after a few hours in the back seat, listening to the hypnotizing hum of the tires on the highway as you stared out the window and watched the fence posts blur until you became nauseated and introspective? Remember what it was like to be on the way to your vacation and to look at the cars going the opposite way and to think to yourself "soon vacation will be over, and I'll be headed back to my dreary and boring existence?" Then you put the thought out of your head and started thinking about vacation.

Eric Henry

COLLEGIAN EDITOR

But before you know it, it is the last morning of your vacation. Where did it go? The car is loaded, and all that's left is the long drive home.

That's exactly the feeling I am experiencing now. It's like I'm eating breakfast at life's International House of Pancakes before I have to make the long drive home.

What kind of advice can I give to you, the not-yet-graduated, as I wipe the last of K-State's boysenberry syrup off my chin? First, if you're not involved in some sort of campus activity now, make a deal with yourself to get involved next semester. I know I sound like the people in high school we all hated who tried to get everyone to join Y-Teens or Spirit and Pride. I hate to admit it, but they were right. I'll never forget the wonderful people I've met through the Collegian. My only regret is that I wish I'd met them sooner.

There is nothing like seeing all the photographers rush out of the basement darkroom at the first sound of fire engines. There is nothing like watching the Collegian go through all its production stages and then watching the papers roll off the press in the wee hours of the morning. There is nothing like having someone call you on the phone and demand to know why you spelled his or her name five different ways in one story. There is nothing like knowing your newspaper scooped every other paper on an important breaking story. There is nothing like being able to read Jim's Journal two full days before it appears in print.

Tarry not. Get involved now. You would be amazed at the difference you can make. Don't let your preconceptions get in the way of having a great time. Before I started working at the Collegian, I thought the staff was a bunch of geeks. I found out they really are geeks, but it's OK because now I'm a geek too.

I feel my vacation coming to a close. I think I'm beginning to accept it. Like any vacation, I wish I would have bought more T-shirts and taken more pictures, but I still have all the memories.

I've had the good fortune these past four and a half years of being around the most intelligent, funny, kind and unusual people I've ever met. They have exposed me to new ideas, new friends and new ways of looking at the world.

To all of them, thank you.

LETTERS

Humanity needed

Editor,

I am writing in response to Brad Seabourn's vicious attack on those people who feel it is necessary to pray in order to find inner faith and answers to their questions.

First, I am an atheist, tried and true, but unlike Seabourn, I don't feel the need to maliciously attack the one thing that people can find a little faith in anymore. With the present condition of world affairs, perhaps praying is not as ludicrous as he makes it out to be. And calling the local members of the clergy a "group of yahoos" is totally uncalled for. This is a personal attack and has no place in a column on the validity of God and prayer.

I don't need a god in my life, but a lot of other people do, and I respect that. Perhaps it is time for Yahoo Seabourn to take his silly prattings and glossed-over whining somewhere else. He doesn't need to believe in God, but maybe, just maybe, he can believe a little in humanity for once instead of preaching on the unworthiness of it.

Jared Gregoire
junior in English and history

Topic exhausted

Editor,

In response to Brad Seabourn's column in Thursday's Collegian, I would like to say this:

Seabourn, get off it. For the past two years, you have spent an enormous amount of energy, newsprint and printer's ink trying to prove the non-existence of a deity. OK, you have the Constitutional right to do so. And it just goes to show that almost anyone with an opinion can get a column. Hooray for America. I guess you've been having a lot of fun laughing at all the irate letters you undoubtedly get from the theists you have managed to rile. I suppose you and your atheist friends get together and read a few of them over beers. I can hear it now — "Hey, get a load of this one. It starts out, 'Dear Satan lover.'" You must be having tons of fun.

Now the whole campus and much of the community recognize and acknowledge that you are a bona fide, 100-percent atheist. Big deal. For two years, you have pounded the same drum. You aren't going to convince me, a Christian, that your point of view is the right one, and I am certain that I am not going to convince you that mine is correct. So just get off it. Forget it. You've said enough, now just shut up and stick to something you know. You've foisted your bigoted point of view on us long enough, and I am weary of it.

Charles Pearce
associate professor of journalism

Headline inaccurate

Editor,

One of the main reasons that K-State's Black Panhellenic Council went to so much trouble to get the live via-satellite teleconference on higher education for blacks was to educate the white student body — greek and non-greek — on historical black fraternities and black sororities. In the past, black greeks have been overlooked or completely ignored on college campuses (predominately white) such as K-State, and there was a need to open the eyes and minds of our student body. This teleconference seemed to be a good starting point. It is evident that the Collegian missed out on a major factor that distinguishes black greeks from white greeks: black greeks never refer to themselves as a house. How dare you say "minority house" when the word house was never stated during the broadcast to allude to black fraternities and black sororities.

So how did you arrive at such an inappropriate headline? Please do not continue to show your ignorance by stating falsehoods about black greeks when the truth has been presented to you time and time again.

See black organizations for what they are — a unique entity similar to, but not at all like, the structure of traditional white greek organizations. Personally, I would like you to apologize to the black greeks for citing black greek organizations as "minority houses." I can rest assured that I speak for all seven black greek fraternities and sororities represented on campus. We are much more than what the word house entails for white greeks.

Leslie Smith
sophomore in computer science

Column courageous

Editor,

Knowing that response to Brad Seabourn's column will be immense, I would just like to remind people that freedom of expression is a right inherent to all Americans. And, whether you agree or disagree with his views, you have to respect the tremendous amount of courage it takes to speak them.

David Little junior in journalism and mass communications

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff

EDITOR: Eric Henry
MANAGING EDITOR: Tomari Quinn
NEWS EDITOR: Chris Koger
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/DESIGN: Brad Camp
ASSISTANT MANAGING EDITOR/GRAPHICS: Gary Lytle
EDITORIAL PAGE EDITOR: Wendy Snider
PHOTO EDITOR: Mike Vanzo
SPECIAL PROJECTS EDITOR: Ellen Dayton
GOVERNMENT EDITOR: Greg Brunson

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291-020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., K-State Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan. 66506. The Collegian is published Monday and Thursday during the summer session. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan. 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, K-State Hall 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan. 66506-7167.

This will be the final Collegian of the semester. Publication will resume January 16, 1991.

Good luck on finals and have a good break.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN IN FOCUS

CRUISIN' IN BOB'S BUS

For the holiday season Bob Tyson, shuttle bus driver, drives Park Place Apartment residents on a tour of Christmas decorations around Manhattan.

ABOVE: Tyson takes a few spare minutes between runs to pick up trash on the seats of the bus. The upkeep of the bus comes between hourly trips to and from campus. RIGHT: Between shuttle runs, Tyson washes the windshield of the bus at the apartment complex. BELOW: A collection of poetry that Tyson has written from the 1960s to the present lines the interior of the bus. BOTTOM: Keeping a watchful eye on the road and on the passengers, Tyson makes a run to campus.

Like Many Trust Few
Learn to Paddle
Your Own Canoe

PHOTOGRAPHS BY DAVID MAYES

STORY BY ERIC ROBISON

Students walking through campus may notice a white school bus with Christmas ornaments hanging from the windows — it's the Park Place Shuttle.

The shuttle is decorated with tinsel, poems, riddles and sayings such as "People are lonely because they are busy building walls instead of bridges," and "Like many, trust few, learn to paddle your own canoe."

"As far as the decorations go, you try to make an old school bus look as good as you can," said driver Bob Tyson. "That's the first obstacle that students have to overcome when they first see the shuttle — the idea of getting on a school bus. Once they find out that it's for their service, they like it more. The colder the weather gets, the more they like it."

"As far as the poetry, those are just experiences from life. If I thought they were offensive, or if I thought talking was offensive, I wouldn't do it," Tyson said. "Everything that is done is for the students' enjoyment. I'm not a jokester. While I'm driving, you hardly ever hear me say a word."

"I'm not a stand-up comedian, but some of the things I say strike their funny bone," he said.

Tyson started the job as a favor for a friend.

"I started it as a favor, and after I got to doing it, I began to like it," Tyson said. "I used to work in retail management in Fort Riley year-round, and I just don't want to do that anymore, two and a half months a year is enough of that. I want to spend more time with my family and watch my kids grow up and go to ball games."

When the shuttle was started two and a half years ago, it carried about 250 students a week. It now carries more than 300 a week.

"This time of year, the students' minds are on finals, and they don't feel like talking," Tyson said. "This is where retail management and working with people comes in handy. I can tell when somebody is ready to talk or wants to talk."

Tyson said that funny happenings on the bus "are so spontaneous it is hard to remember them all, but one that they (the students) always kid me about is forgetting my glasses."

"One time in particular when my wife brought my glasses to work, I told the students it was fun living on the edge, and they all got a kick out of that."

Tyson said his favorite thing is watching the students grow because there is a wide variety of students, ranging from freshmen to postgraduate students.

"I get to know a lot of my students. I get real attached to some of them, and I am sorry to see them leave, but I wish them the best," Tyson said.

The shuttle was started as a service to the students, and Park Place has been able to absorb the cost so far.

Tyson began using the bus in other ways other than transportation to the University. The shuttle has been running to various shopping malls on Saturdays for Christmas shopping so the residents don't have to fight traffic. Tyson will also go on a tour of Christmas lights tonight to give residents a break from finals.

Crosswalks are Tyson's biggest problem.

He said he drives through campus all of the time and knows where all of the crosswalks are, but he said they are poorly designated.

"I would love to have K-State come up with some kind of crosswalk recognition — maybe painting purple signs to make them more visible," he said.

"Last year, I thought the males who lived on the west side of College Heights had a suicide pact because, if there were more than two of them, they would just automatically step in the street," Tyson said. "I had some near misses, and a few times I would stop and the car behind me would go around the bus. That is why we need to improve the crosswalk situation on campus."

The Park Place shuttle is an old bus that has had a few maintenance problems, but it has been virtually rebuilt from top to bottom.

"You have to be dependable," Tyson said.

"When students come out here at 7 in the morning expecting to get on the bus to go into school and the bus is not running, they are not ready to accept an excuse whether it's free or not."

Tyson begins his day at 6:45 a.m. getting the bus ready, warming it up and checking it out — usually in the dark. The mornings are almost constant driving. The afternoons are more laid back because not as many students are going to campus.

"I try to be expandable — the service is for the students — it's more than just transportation into the college; I've tried to make it into a shuttle service. That's why you see me going through mid-campus all the time," Tyson said. "I can't pick everybody up from their halls, but I can drop them off wherever they need."

Students who ride the bus seem to appreciate Tyson's time and effort.

"Bob is very supportive of students," said Marcia Oliver, senior in psychology. "He is concerned with their education and pursuing their dreams at college."

"Bob is a real doll," said Gwen Staats, sophomore in business administration. "He will take you anywhere you want to go."

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Ex-OU aide now Wildcat assistant

Wildcat assistant coach Jim Kerwin, left, spent six seasons as an assistant coach under Billy Tubbs at Oklahoma before joining head coach Dana Altman as an assistant this season. Kerwin recruited several Sooner standouts as the Oklahoma team rose to prominence in the 1980s.

Chance meeting on recruiting trail leads to new post

By Scott Paske
Sports Reporter

Jim Kerwin spent six seasons basking in the spotlight of one of the country's most successful college basketball programs.

As an assistant coach under Billy Tubbs at Oklahoma, Kerwin played a role in six NCAA Tournament appearances, three Big Eight Conference championships and one Final Four.

So why give it all up to become an assistant at K-State?

"In this profession, you can stay somewhere too long," Kerwin said. "I just thought it was time for a change."

Opportunity knocked for Kerwin in April when he crossed paths with newly hired K-State coach Dana Altman on a recruiting stop at Butler County Community College. The pair, long-time friends from previous junior college tenures, struck what Kerwin called "a spur of the moment agreement."

Altman made Kerwin the first addition to his coaching staff, and later added former South Alabama assistant Ken Turner and Greg Gensing, an assistant under former Wildcat coach Lon Kruger.

"Kansas State has been one of the most prestigious programs in the country," Kerwin said. "I've always been impressed with the backing that basketball has had here, and I felt it would be a great move."

Despite the rise to basketball prominence enjoyed by the Sooners in the 1980s, Oklahoma's tradition-rich football program remained king. Kerwin said the lack of support was discouraging.

"Even though there were years we were in the top five in the country, some games we were only getting 4,000 or 5,000 people in our 10,000-seat arena," Kerwin said. "The interest in basketball here is so much greater."

Kerwin still managed to help attract some of the nation's top juco and high school talent to play for the Sooners. His list includes former stars Anthony Bowie, Harvey Grant, Stacey King, Mookie Blaylock and Ricky Grace.

Kerwin's influence still exists at OU, as he recruited Big Eight preseason newcomer of the year Brent Price, a transfer from South Carolina, and several others.

"No matter how good of a coach you are, you've still got to be able to recruit," Kerwin said. "Recruiting is No. 1, and rapport with players and your staff is a close No. 2."

The recruiting ties Kerwin developed as a Sooner assistant, and during head coaching stints at Seminole (Okla.) Junior College and Northern (Okla.) Junior College, made him an attractive catch for Altman. But leaving Tubbs' staff was not an easy decision.

"We had the program established there, and the friendships you have with coaches always make it hard to make a move," Kerwin said. "But at the same time, there was a challenge at K-State to get this program back to the top."

Kerwin said his days of working for the flamboyant Tubbs were filled with memories, especially when Oklahoma would play away from Lloyd Noble Center.

"Billy has always been a showman and an entertainer," Kerwin said. "He has an act that he puts on, and those actions are different when he's at home compared to when he's on the road."

"He always likes the challenge of going places and being the underdog. He doesn't want to go any-place where the crowd is supportive of him."

Kerwin said his current job offers more solitude for he and his family.

"We really like the community here," Kerwin said. "It's great to have the support from the administration that we have here. That's very, very important."

Following K-State's 72-61 loss to Tulsa on Wednesday, Kerwin returned to Manhattan with the team after spending the previous 10 days making recruiting visits. NCAA rules allow for 10 days in December and 10 more in January that coaches can evaluate college prospects.

College coaches used to be able to visit recruits any time during the basketball season.

"It's been a really hectic couple of weeks," Kerwin said. "During a typical day, you might go visit a high school player at practice in the afternoon, and watch a junior college game at night. You've really got to cover a lot of ground."

Lamar up next for 4-2 'Cats

By Todd Fertig
Sports Reporter

Where do you begin? Pinpointing a single area in which the Wildcats must improve based on their showing at Tulsa Wednesday is difficult.

Certainly the team must shoot better in Saturday's 6:35 p.m. contest against Lamar. The Cats shot 38 percent against Tulsa, and the team mustered only 22 points in the first half against the Hurricanes' scrappy defense.

And the Wildcats definitely must rebound better against the Cardinals after allowing the smaller Tulsa squad multiple shots on offense and an impressive advantage in total rebounds.

And, of course, the team needs to reduce its turnovers from the 25 it gave up Wednesday night.

The list goes on and on. The road loss revealed many of the chinks in the Wildcats' armor. Undeclared at home in the young season, K-State will try to get back on track against a team that may resemble the Golden Hurricane than the 'Cats would like.

Coach Dana Altman compared the Cardinals to Tulsa based on his knowledge of Lamar's new coach, Mike Newell, who left a 133-60 mark in six seasons at Arkansas-Little Rock, and who also served as an assistant at Oklahoma from 1980-1984.

"I think Lamar, from what I've known of Mike Newell's teams in the past, will play some pressure man, and he's always pushed the ball up and down the floor, so I don't think they'll be much different from Tulsa," Altman said.

While the Wildcats return with just two days rest following the tough road loss at Tulsa, the Cardinals have had a full week to revel in their triumph over Drake on a last-second shot by junior guard Terry Bridgeman.

"They'll be coming in here off a big road win, so I'm sure it's going to be a very competitive game," Altman said. "Mike Newell has done a good job of getting them charged up."

Altman said he hopes to see more hustle in the Wildcats against Lamar than he saw Wednesday. Lamar has a small, aggressive line-up similar to Tulsa's.

After the loss, Altman remarked about his squad's lack of preparation and aggressiveness.

The Cardinals come to town with a 5-2 record riding the strength of Bridgeman's scoring. The transfer from Cloud County Community College averages 20.7 points and hits 49 percent of his three-point shots.

Bridgeman burned Drake with 28 points and a three-pointer with three seconds remaining to give Lamar an 87-84 victory in the consolation final of the Drake Classic.

After struggling on the boards against the smaller Tulsa lineup, the top challenge to Wildcat big men will come from 6-8 forward Daryl Reed, the American South Conference's Newcomer of the Year as a junior last season. Reed leads the squad with 9.6 rebounds per game to go with his 17.1-point average.

Joining Bridgeman in the backcourt is another newcomer, freshman Atim Browne, who has handed out seven assists per game to go with his 16.3-point average.

Stopping Bridgeman and Browne will be a key to reversing the outcome of the Tulsa game. The Golden Hurricane were led in scoring by their two starting guards, who combined for 32 points and effectively posted up the Wildcat guards.

Saturday's game will be the Wildcats' first against Lamar. The Akron Zips, who lost to the 'Cats 61-54 in the season opener, however, handed the Cardinals one of their two losses this season, beating them 92-79 in the opening round of the Drake tournament.

Brief stay at home ends for Lady Cats

By Dan Wicker
Sports Reporter

The Lady Cats will head back to the road this weekend, looking for their second victory away from home after a one-game homestand against Wichita State last Tuesday in Bramlage Coliseum.

The team will travel to Omaha, Neb., to face the Creighton Lady Blue Jays this Saturday at Civic Auditorium. Creighton is 3-4 in the season.

The Lady Cats, 4-3, have had their problems on the road this season. They have yet to capture a victory on an enemy's turf. Their lone win on the road was on a neutral court in the Long Beach State Dial Classic.

"It is going to be a tough game. We have won a game on the road this season, but it was on a neutral site," assistant coach Susan Doran said. "We have not won a road game at somebody else's home gym yet, so from that standpoint it is going to be tough."

Creighton is led by Kathy Halligan, who is averaging 23.4 points per game and is grabbing 8.4 boards per game. Doran, however, said Creighton is a team that will challenge from the outside. The Lady Jays have attempted 110 three-pointers this season, as compared to the Lady Cats 57 try tries.

"They are an excellent perimeter shooting team. They have already attempted over 100 three-point shots in their seven games this season," Doran said. "They are an excellent quarter court defensive team, very structured, very disciplined, and they will get a good shot out of their offense every time down the court unless they turn it over."

The Lady Cats are coming off of a 79-57 victory over state rival Wichita State. K-State used more of an up-tempo offense than they had in previous games to gain a 51-30 halftime margin.

"We want to use that every time that we get a chance. In fact, we have asked our players to use that in every game except the Long Beach State game," Doran said. "I would see us trying to do that a lot at Creighton."

Another fact Coach Susan Yow expressed following the Wichita State victory was a lack of intensity in the second half. Yow and Doran said a game that is played with intensity throughout is the mark of a great team.

"When you look at the game we played the other night, we got up 45-18. We talked about staying intense, but I think it is tough for the players to be intense when we are up 45-18," Doran said. "That is the mark of a great team, and that is the point we are trying to get to."

Conclusion of semester marks beginning

David Svoboda

SPORTS EDITOR

For there to have been a beginning, there must first have been an end. Seems like that fits here.

As we come to the conclusion of yet another semester, it's with excitement — not dread or sadness — that those of us who cover sports for the Collegian say goodbye to this period of our lives and look forward to what the next six months will bring.

This semester has brought us — and you — many sports memories that will be indelibly burned into our collective mind.

Football — ahh, football.

For the relatively young members of the K-State student population, the idea of winning five games in a single grid season isn't that impressive. In fact, if the freshman or sophomore came from Lawrence High or Manhattan High, the idea of winning five games may have been a huge disappointment.

But — trust me — for those of us who have been here for any length of time, winning five football games in a single season was all but a religious experience.

As the 'Cats were running up huge point totals against the state of New Mexico, there were many of us in the press box and in the stands who were bloodthirsty for more. We had been bludgeoned by everyone else over the previous seven seasons. Now, it was time for us to rip off someone's arm and beat them with their severed limb.

While we're on the subject of football, let's talk about a professional team. The Kansas City Chiefs have provided a few smiles for their fans this fall after years and years of heart-break and sorrow.

The Chiefs have been so bad for so long that many K-State students grew up liking the Denver Broncos, Dallas Cowboys, Pittsburgh Steelers, Oakland/Los Angeles Raiders — yep, a multitude of teams that make the diehard Chiefs fan nauseated just to talk about.

I'm sick just from having typed their names just now.

But, no more. As the Chiefs have risen from the ashes, many future generations of K-Staters will no longer be forced to wear massive amounts of black, silver or orange. Thank goodness.

Bringing us back to the homefront, it has been truly refreshing from a reporting standpoint — and hopefully from a readership standpoint as well — to have a group of coaches and administrators on this campus who are willing to speak their minds on the record.

From John Capriotti's remarks on the K-State-Kansas rivalry in cross country, to Susan Yow's blasting of her own team in print, to Bill Snyder's tongue-in-cheek jabs at his own team when bowl talk surfaced, it has been a pleasure to have coaches who operated from the heart rather than from the head for a brief moment.

That's entertainment.

I've been truly blessed this semester to have four of the best writers we've ever assembled working for me — make that with me — in bringing you this page every day. And next semester that number swells to six.

With those extra writers, we'll attempt to bring you more features, more in-depth stories, more insightful looks at what makes athletics go at K-State.

For now, however, it's time for things to draw to an end. But it's really not an end at all. It's a beginning.

God gives us these chances for renewal every now and then. I'm just glad my prayers were answered when I asked for mine.

Now I get to work at the same paper as Brad Seabourne for another semester. Bet he didn't pray for the beginning he'll get come January.

Oh, well, who am I to tinker with the plan God has for us.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year, and to those of you who will have beginnings elsewhere in January, good luck.

We'll keep the fires burnin' on the home front.

Hey Wildcats!

Don't miss your Last Chance before the break to try great BBQ from the Lone Star state. The Spot to go isn't on Baystreet but on Anderson Ave. Don't get Bushwacked on your way to Smokey J's. Manhattan's best BBQ.

Smokey J's BBQ Restaurant

$1 off any Dinner or Basket Good thru December 23

Open Sun.-Thurs. 11-8 Fri., Sat. 11-9 776-9222 2615 Anderson

CLASSIC ROCK & ROLL

Pool room Dance Floor 21 to Enter Walt's Dougout 523 S. 17th 537-1484

GREAT SAFE

ARRIVE ALIVE!

1-9-9-0

HOLIDAY BREAK

DON'T DRINK AND DRIVE

funded in part by the City of Manhattan and the KSU Alcohol & Other Drug Education Service

Kansas adopts soil as new state symbol

Nomination aims for educational programs

By Dana Thomson
Collegian Reporter

Cottonwoods, Sunflowers and Meadowlarks are all state-designated symbols, and Harney silt loam has joined them as the official state soil of Kansas.

This soil occupies almost four million acres of Kansas, and there are at least 24 counties in Kansas with Harney silt loam soil.

The nomination of the soil is aimed at helping people learn soils in the state of Kansas. Kansas has more than 300 soil types.

Orville Bidwell, chairman of the state soil coalition and retired K-State agronomy professor, said he first saw a need for a state soil when he was working as the head of the Kansas soil survey with the Agricultural Experiment Station.

"Over time, I came to know the soils very well and came to the conclusion that no one could learn all of them," Bidwell said. "So the objective was to indicate one or two main soils."

Work started on a bill to be brought before the state legislature in 1985. The Kansas Association of Professional Soil Classifiers was an influential group in the slow process.

"Things that helped us was that in 1988 three women were elected to the Legislature who were teachers and a biologist who understood the need to recognize a state soil," Bidwell said.

After moving the bill through the state legislature, there was another problem, Bidwell said.

"The next thing was, 'What are we going to do with it?'" he said.

Bidwell is working to integrate the state soil into programs such as the Kansas Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom, 4-H and vocational education.

"Our goal is to work this into science education. It's not a whimsical thing. We could make a nice story with soil records. With a little practice, one can tell how the soil was formed," Bidwell said.

Sharon Tally, administrator of Kansas Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom, said: "I would like to see it used so students can compare it with the soil in their area. That's the way I think the state soil should be used."

Bidwell said this process is not easily accomplished; six other states with state soils have not done anything with it.

Holiday Shopping Coupon

Please present this coupon for a 20% discount on all regularly priced merchandise during ONE day's shopping at Woody's Ladies Shop. This offer is good through December 24.

Mon.-Thurs. 9:30-8:00
Fri. & Sat. 9:30-5:30
Sun. 1-5

1225 Moro
Aggieville

When you come back from the holiday break, be ready to dance.

Come out for a dance at the Blue River Pub.

Saturday, January 19, 9 p.m.

First club meeting of the new year: Thurs, Jan. 17, 6pm. Weber Hall 146. We welcome new members. If you're interested in horses, get involved.

KSU
Horsemen's
Association

Randy Raub, adviser
Amy Peters, president

Watch for details about our next jackpot roping and barrel racing event

Experience the New Vision

... something exciting is coming your way
next semester.

PRE-CHRISTMAS MASS St. ISIDORE'S

The "Traditional" Pre-Christmas,
Pre-Exam, End-of-Semester,
Late Night Liturgy
will be held at St. Isidore's
on Sat., Dec. 15

Music starts 10:30 p.m.
Mass at 11 p.m.
Social Following

All are Welcome
(Come Early to Get a Seat)

BABY SAFETY

The Saint Mary Hospital is concerned about the safety of you and your baby. That's why The Saint Mary Hospital offers maternity fairs dealing with safety, individualized care concerning safety and now we're giving our new mothers a Century® 560 car seat-carrier.

We're committed to your baby's safety both before it's born and after you leave our safe environment. A Century® 560 car seat-carrier. . . Just The Saint Mary Hospital's way of saying thank you.

Call 776-2822
for further information.

the saint mary hospital

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita

1823 College Avenue • Manhattan, KS 66502 • (913) 776-3322

BEAT THE RUSH THIS SPRING

Preorder Your Textbooks
at the
K-State Union Bookstore!

Complete a Textbook Pre-Order Form and return it to the K-State Union Bookstore by Jan. 4, 1991 and we will have your books held and ready to pickup Jan. 14-24, 1991

After Jan. 24, 1991 all unclaimed books will be returned to the shelves

Order Forms may be obtained at the K-State Union, Derby and Kramer Food Centers during Buyback December 12-21, 1991

NO DEPOSIT REQUIRED

K-State Union
Bookstore

Thank you for your support!
The dollars you spend in the Union help sponsor student services, activities and programs.

Free gift wrapping in front of the K-State Union Bookstore daily by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma. Donations accepted.

Student conducts study of families

Results show money worries exist

By Mary Skinner
Staff Reporter

Worries about not having enough money to pay bills or pay for adequate medical care are prevalent among the Kansans who responded to a K-State study.

The Kansas Agricultural Experiment Station recently released the study, Economic and Emotional Well-Being of Rural Families in Kansas.

The study was conducted by Lori Peterson, graduate student in human development and family studies; Li-Wen Chang, graduate student in human ecology; and Stephan Bollman, Anthony Jurich and Walter Schumm, all K-State professors in human development and family studies, and Ann Coulson, assistant professor of human development and family studies.

"The Agricultural Experiment Station has supported research for at least two decades," Bollman said. "The budget of actual funds is around $15,000 a year, which is used for a variety of things."

Coulson said that the study is part of a regional project which includes participants in Arizona, California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan and Minnesota. She also said that she is interested to see how Kansas compares to other states.

In Kansas, 920 questionnaires were sent out to families in two rural counties.

"This study does not represent Kansas as a whole," Coulson said. "The respondents were older than the average Kansan, and they had a lower income than the average Kansas family."

According to the report derived from the study, "The mean household income for this group of Kansans was about $26,000, which is somewhat higher than the mean income for Kansans as a whole, approximately $19,000 in 1988. However, one-sixth of these respondents reported total household income levels of less than $10,000."

Coulson said, "It seems that our normal concern is that we never have enough money."

The report also stated that of those who reported such low-income levels, nearly half (48 percent) were retired, and nearly one-third (31.9 percent) were between 66 and 75 years of age.

The counties that were used are not being named.

"The counties names are not being released, because we don't want anyone to feel bad about the counties," Coulson said.

The study observed the changes in per-capita income that had occurred in the counties over the last five years. The two counties studied were chosen because one showed declining per-capita income, and the other one showed increasing per-capita income. The final criteria for the counties' selection was that they had to be rural communities.

"In the summer of 1988, we mailed out 920 questionnaires, with separate ones for the financial manager and the spouse, so every household received two different ones," Coulson said.

The response rate on the questionnaires was 33.9 percent, she said.

"The questionnaires asked

See COUNTIES, Page 12

Area program seeks volunteers

Donation of time helps children

By Liz Anne McElhane
Collegian Reporter

The requirements are few, and the benefits are many.

If you're 18 years old or older, own or have access to a car with insurance and are willing to donate three hours a week, then you can have a little brother or little sister.

"Sometimes our program is seen as a tutoring program," said Jennifer Steere, case worker for the Big Brothers and Big Sisters of Manhattan Inc.

"We ask for anything where you can give them the positive strokes to feel better about themselves," Steere said.

The program pairs kids, from ages six to 16, and volunteers to act as a role model and companion for them.

"We really need male volunteers. We have fewer girls on our waiting list," Steere said.

Between 60 and 65 kids are now waiting for volunteers. Steere said the majority of these are boys, because they are more often referred to the program. Steere said many of the single mothers realize their sons need a male role model and turn to the program for help.

"The commitment and consistency is very important to the child. Our kids have been dumped on before. It takes them a while to trust," Steere said.

At the beginning of the semester, Steere said the interest in the program starts out with a bang, but after the first of the year, volunteers start to lose interest.

"What we really want from a volunteer is involvement. Any type of activity where there is some interaction," Steere said. "All of our kids have some type of need."

The program uses the volunteer's strengths to meet the kid's needs, Steere said.

The interview process to become a volunteer takes two to three months,

Steere said. During this time, potential volunteers must attend an informational meeting to learn what is expected of them. The program asks volunteers to spend three to six hours a week with the child.

"You're not expected to be entertaining," Steere said.

Many of the volunteers spend this time going to the rec, baking cookies, studying, shopping or watching television, Steere said.

Pam Watson, senior in education, has been matched with the same girl for over two years.

"The big thing is not to spoil them. It's more or less spending time with them," Watson said. "You want to do so much for them. But that's not what the program is for."

Watson said she has seen changes in the fifth grader's grades, attitude and self esteem.

"She had real poor self-concept. Including her in your life is the most important thing," Watson said.

She said that besides being a responsibility, being a big sister is a challenge.

"Once you get into it, there is no way you want out. One of the things it has taught me is how lucky I really am," Watson said.

Watson said she eats dinner with her little sister about twice a week, has taught her to do laundry and has helped her check out books on hamsters.

SWEETIE — I'd love a Personal in the COLLEGIAN. Only $3, for 15 words, one day.

We Take Tips Day or Night
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

Pizza Hut
DELIVERY
Makin' it great!

CALL THE LOCATION
NEAREST YOU.

•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 539-7447
•3RD & MORO 776-4334

•Citywide Delivery
•537-2526
•Hours: 7 a.m.-1 a.m.
This Week:

Reg. Roast Beef—99¢
606 N. Manhattan

MEN'S SILK BOXERS
Palma's
UNDERCOVER
1224 Moro
Lynette AGGIEVILLE

Tri-County
Property Management
Riley • Geary • Pottawatomie
1,2 & 3 Bedrooms
& Houses Available
1125 Laramie, Suite D
Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 537-2276

STRECKER GALLERY
unique gifts
in all price ranges fine arts
pottery
332 Poyntz

Have "You"
Had Your
Frozen Yogurt
Today??
I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY
537-1616
705 N. 11th
Nautilus Towers
Aggieville

Religious Directory

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH 2901 Dickens Ave. 776-0424 Pastor Don Papp & Mike Tuley Worship 8:30 & 10:45 a.m. Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m. Fellowship Hour Sun. 6 p.m. Family Night Wed. 7 p.m.	Valleyview Community Church Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. Ramada Inn, lower level 17th and Anderson For more information call Dan Walter 776-0112
Trinity Presbyterian Church 1110 College Ave. Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m. Young Adult Class 9:30 a.m. 539-3921	FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH Worship at 8:30 & 11 a.m. Sunday School 9:45 a.m. (for all ages) 10th & Poyntz 537-8532
First Baptist Church Sunday Worship 11 a.m. Church School 9:45 a.m. 2121 Blue Hills Rd. 539-8691	UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP OF MANHATTAN 10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School Nursery provided, everyone welcome 481 Zeandale Rd. On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177
First Church of the Nazarene College Class 9:30 a.m. Worship Services 10:50 a.m. & 6 p.m. Sunday School 9:45 a.m. 1000 Fremont *Nursery Available 539-2851	St. Luke's Lutheran Church Worship Saturday 6 p.m. Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m. —Bible Class— Sun. 9:30 a.m.—Thurs. 7:30 p.m.
Church of Christ Christian Campus Ministry Sunday School 9:30 a.m. College Class-Money, Sex & Power: A Biblical Perspective Sunday Worship 10:30 a.m. & 6 p.m. 2510 Dickens Ave. 539-6581	Anglican/Episcopal Community in Manhattan St. Paul's Episcopal Church & St. Francis/Canterbury Episcopal Fellowship at KSU Sixth & Poyntz 776-9427 or 537-0593 • Sunday Services - 8 A.M. Holy Eucharist I 9:30 Christian Education Classes (for all ages) 10:30 A.M. Choral Eucharist Rite II (Nursery available at 10:30 service) Especially for KSU Students & Faculty 5 P.M. Sunday, Informal Eucharist followed by light supper and fellowship. 7:10 A.M. Tuesday & Thursday, Morning Prayer, Danforth Chapel, KSU
St. Isidore's University Chapel Catholic Student Center Sunday Masses 9:30, 11 a.m., 5 p.m. Saturday 5 p.m. Daily Mass-M, Tu, Th, F 4:30 p.m. Wed. 11 a.m. at St. Mary Hospital Wed. 10 p.m. evening prayer Confessions-1/2 hr. before daily mass. Rev. Norbert Diab, Chaplain Sister Rose Walters, C.S.A. 711 Denison 539-7496	Peace Lutheran Church 2500 Kimball Ave. Worship at 8:30 a.m. & 10:45 a.m.
Evangelical Free Church of Manhattan MCC Chapel S.W. corner 14th & Anderson Steve Ratliff, Pastor Worship 9:30 a.m. Sunday School 11 a.m. 776-2086 Nursery Provided	FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH 8:45 a.m. Communion (first Sunday of the month) 9:45 College Church School 8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship Nursery provided for all services John D. Stoneking, Pastor 612 Poyntz 776-8821

Winter Intersession

January 2-15, 1991

The following Intersession classes will have seats available. Beginning now through the first day of class, individuals may register in person at 131 College Court, from 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Phone, mail, and audit registrations will be accepted, phone 532-5566 or 1-800-432-8222. Continuing Education Registration Office, 131 College Court, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506-6015.

To request an Intersession schedule with complete descriptions and prerequisites, please call 532-5566 or visit 131 College Court.

Ref. #	Course #	Course Title	Credit	Dates	Times
94100	GRSCI 790	Problem: AIB Production Seminar	1 UG/G	Jan. 7-11	8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94135	ARCH 566	Competition Studio	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 4-14	1:00-5:00 p.m.
94101	IAR 406	Problems: Delineation Techniques	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:30-4:30 p.m.
94102	IAR 406	Problems: Airbrush Drawing	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94103	LAR 741	Problems: Golf Course Design	2 UG/G	Jan. 3-12	9:00 a.m.-3:00 p.m.
94134	LAR 741	Landscape of London, Bath & Surroundings — ENGLAND	2 UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94104	DAS 500	African-American Women Playwrights	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	6:00-9:00 p.m.
94105	ANTH 522	Topics: Cultural Diversity in America	2-3 UG	Jan. 2-11	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94106	BIOL 495	Topics: Eugenics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94107	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-12:30 p.m.
94108	CIS 115	Personal Computer Applications	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-5:30 p.m.
94109	HIST 563	Topics: Modern Central & Eastern Europe	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	6:00-10:00 p.m.
94111	JMC 740	Colloquium: Propaganda & the Mass Media	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	2:00-5:00 p.m.
94112	MATH 381	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94113	MATH 581	Computer Experiments in Mathematics	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	8:30-11:30 a.m.
94114	MUSIC 310	History of Musical Instruments	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94115	MUSIC 425	Topics: Jazz in the Jerry Wexler Collection	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	1:00-4:00 p.m.
94116	PHYS 281	Space Missions and Astronomy	2 UG	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 7	8:30-11:20 a.m. & 6:00-9:00 p.m.
94117	SOCWK 495	Chemical Depend./Codependency: Intervention	3 UG	Jan. 8-12	8:00 a.m.-5:00 p.m.
94118	SPCH 433	The Language of War	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94120	EDAF 511	Career Life Planning	2 UG	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94121	EDAF 786	Stress Management for Teachers, Counselors and Administrators	2-3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	4:30-7:30 p.m.
94122	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Elementary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94123	EDCI 502	Teacher Asst. Prog. Secondary	1-2 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m.
94124	EDCI 786	Teaching in the Multi-Level Classroom	3 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	M-Th 4:30-7:30 p.m. Sat. by appt.
94125	ARE 620	Problems: Building Energy Audits & Analysis	3 UG	Jan. 2-15	8:00 a.m.-Noon
94126	CE 570	Transportation Planning	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15 & Jan. 5	M-F 8:00 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Sat 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m.
94127	CE 790	Problems: Global Environmental Changes and Challenges	2 UG/G	Jan. 2-15	9:00 a.m.-Noon
94130	ID 782	Decorative Arts & Arch. — ENGLAND	2 UG/G	Dec. 27 - Jan. 13	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94132	HRIMD 499	Travel Issues for Professionals — Chicago	1 UG	Jan. 11-14	8:00 a.m.-10:00 p.m.
94133	AP 533	Topics in the Human-Animal Bond	1 UG	Jan. 7-11	9:00 a.m.-Noon

Division of Continuing Education

Music of Redd Kross reminiscent of 1970s

COLLEGIAN Report Card "THIRD EYE" C-

By Heather Anderson
Collegian Reviewer

With song titles like "Elephant Flares" and "1976," it's apparent that Redd Kross is another band that thinks the 1970s were a great time to be remembered.

Who came up with the bright idea that bell bottoms were even remotely attractive the first time around?

If you're one of those proud baby boomers that outnumber the rest of us by a long shot, you might enjoy this group and its album, "Third Eye."

Listen to the lyrics, however, in "1976": "Hey there baby, say, what's your sign/I can tell it was the same as mine/tube top mama nearly six foot tall/she is the fox of the shopping mall/this is the era, this is the time/you know you've got to boogie 'cuz your platforms are fine."

I feel as if I'm eavesdropping on someone else's memories. In 1976, I was learning to subtract and losing teeth.

"Elephant Flares" continues the 1970s theme. "I really like the way she looks in that halter top/and elephant flares/driving down the highway/in my Trans Am custom T-top car/hear some Tracy Lea/playing on the radio/turn it up and go!"

In all fairness, Redd Kross does display some musical talent. In fact, the more I think about it, the fact that they actually can play their own instruments is a good reason to celebrate the 1970s rather than the present.

The vocals of the three band members, guitarists Jeffrey McDonald and Robert Hecker and bassist Steven McDonald, blend together beautifully.

Overall, the band has an R.E.M. sound, with a bit more subtlety.

But not all the lyrics are mindless disco-revisited. In "Love Is Not Love," Redd Kross comes to the not-so-unusual realization that "You/I think I loved/because like me/you're not quite sane."

Nothing like instability to draw you to a person, huh? Everyone's been in a relationship like that, admit it.

In "Zira," honest lyrics tell the woman: "Granted that you stole my eyes/before you stole my heart/Zira, do you realize/that I can't bear to be apart from you."

There is some good stuff in here.

The good points of the album, however, don't quite make up for the annoying 1970s worship — and I'd rather be dead than live to see the day when everyone starts dressing up in designer jeans and polo shirts, because I have the feeling it will happen again within the next decade.

Kedzie 103

Yesterday's Cryptoquip:
IF AN ACROBAT OFFERS YOU
SOME WATER, CHANCES ARE IT WILL BE IN A TUMBLER.

1 Announcements

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan—K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

BRYAN TRAVEL COLLEGES

Travel Agent • Corporate Travel Mgmt. • Tour Operator
Convention Planner • Hotel & Airline Industry • Car Rental Agent
• Cruise-Line Reservationists • Travel Promotions

24 Credit Hours • Travel Geography • Correspondence Classes
Computer Training • Financial Assistance • Placement Assistance
CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-255-3507 1527 Fairlawn
Topeka, KS 66604

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

532-6555

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103 $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY: Private Scholarships! You receive a minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. Guaranteed! College Scholarship Locations, P.O. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

COME FLY with us. K-State Flying Club has five airplanes. For best prices call Sam Knipp, 539-6193 after 5:30p.m.

DIRTY LAUNDRY? We clean it cheap. We pick it up, wash it, dry it, fold it and deliver it back to your door for $10/ huge bag. Call Marshall's at 539-2042.

FINELINE TATTOO by Jon, 29th and Massachusetts, Topeka. 1-233-8288.

KANSAS GIFTS, Riley County Museum, 2309 Claflin, Tuesday to Friday, 8:30a.m. to 5p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 2 to 5p.m. Hand-painted China by Mary Lou Allison. Glass by Gladys, wheat weaving/crochet by Trudy Gentry, woodcuts by Flint Hills Woodcuts and much more.

PERMS $18, haircuts $10, sculptured nails $20, hair color $18. Call today for appointment. Ask for Susan 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $13 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103.

SCHOLARSHIPS/ GRANTS for college are available. Millions go unclaimed yearly. 1-800-334-3881.

BIG ONE-BEDROOM apartment for rent. $250 a month plus electricity and gas. Call 776-4532, leave a message.

EFFICIENCY, $200, 1521 Leavenworth. 539-8401.

FIVE AND one-half blocks from campus, two-bedroom basement apartment, washer and dryer furnished, $375 plus one-half utilities. Call 776-9127 for appointment.

FOR RENT: Two-bedroom apartment, utilities paid. Close to University. Available immediately. Dishwasher. Call 537-1566.

NEW DUPLEX. Washer, dryer, computer, dishwasher. $150. 776-3284.

NICE, LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, heat, 2/3 paid, laundromat, graduate student or couple preferred. $275, 539-2482 after 4p.m. Available Dec. 20 or Jan. 1.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED, one-half block from campus, $345 a month. No pets. Available now. 776-1340.

ONE-BEDROOM GARDEN apartment in quiet, well-maintained complex near campus. Laundry, patio, parking, $235, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

ONE-BEDROOM APARTMENTS available Jan. 1st. $255 or $275. No pets, lease required. Call 776-9401 or 539-8423.

(Continued on page 10)

2 Apartments—Furnished

A TWO-BEDROOM, close to campus. Water and trash paid. 776-1111.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, furnished one-bedroom apartments, $310, water and trash paid. Call 776-1111, 8a.m.—8p.m.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, One-bedroom in complex, $330. Call OK. Call 776-6697.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1, one-bedroom in complex, near campus, $330, first month rent paid. Call OK. Call 776-6697.

K-State Fans!! You "Win" When The Wildcats Win!

When K-State beats Lamar, on Saturday
The Point Spread
Is Your Discount
At Our Post-Game,
Victory Party!!

If the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount, if they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

(Limit 2 items per person, maximum 50% discount)

Did you get your 54% discount after the 98-44 victory over N.W. Missouri State?

SEE YOU AFTER THE GAME!

OPEN
11 A.M.-11 P.M.
Daily; Noon to
11 P.M. Sundays

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE—NATURALLY.

Neutius Towers
in Aggieville
MANHATTAN
Phone 537-1616

E=mc²

(Extra edition equals many coupons, too!)

Here's a formula
for success during finals
week.

Finals Survival Kit

produced by the Kansas State Collegian staff
will be filled with

- * Money-saving coupons
- * Christmas gift ideas
- * Crossword puzzles
- * Cartoons
- * Interesting feature articles

Pick up your
Finals Survival Kit
from Collegian racks
beginning Dec. 17.

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

See You
at the

Grand Opening Gala Celebration

January 16th - "Form A Group Night"

January 17th - "Coca Cola Night"

January 18th - "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge"

Prizes and Specials Galore! Don't forget to register for the "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge" now thru January 18th in the Union Station. The first ten groups to sign -up will compete for prizes!!!

K-State Union
Union Station

Give them a...

2nd CHANCE

Recycle your used books during buyback...

SUPPORT THE K-STATE UNION. YOUR DOLLARS HELP THE UNION SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

Free gift wrapping in front of the K-State Union
Bookstore daily by Kappa Kappa Psi and Tau Beta Sigma.

K-STATE UNION
BOOKSTORE
DECEMBER 12-21
MON-THUR 8AM-8PM
FRI 8AM-5PM
SAT 9AM-5PM
SUN NOON-5PM

DERBY & KRAMER
FOOD CENTERS
MON-THURS DEC.
17-20
9AM-4PM
FRI DEC. 21
9AM-NOON

K-State Union
Bookstore

(Continued from page 9)

ONE-BEDROOM CLOSE to campus, two-bedroom in complex, northwest side. Available now for January. 776-8725.

ONE-BEDROOM FURNISHED. Three blocks west of campus. Available Jan. 12. Utilities paid. No lease required. No pets. Non-smoker. Private parking. $275. References required. 539-5117.

QUIET, SURROUNDINGS for study. Apartments and mobile homes. Convenient locations, parking. No pets. 539-4087.

ROOMY APARTMENT for one or two, one and one-blocks south of campus. Water, trash already paid. Excellent location. $265. 537-0772.

SUNNY, SPACIOUS one-bedroom. Recently carpeted. Close to campus and downtown. Available Jan. 1, 1991. Non-smoker. No pets. $275 per month plus utilities. Please have references available. Call Gloria. 539-4915, after 5:30 p.m.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January 10th and On-ward. $385, water and trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE January, near campus, Sunset and College Heights location. Water, trash and gas paid. $470. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT in quiet, well-maintained complex west of campus. Paid heat, carport, patio, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus. Gas, electric, water, trash paid. Off-street parking. $325/ month. 776-1072.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two-bedroom unfurnished apartment. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Call 776-7950.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking, no pets. 539-3409.

FOR RENT—One-bedroom apartment close to campus. Available Dec. 28. Call (913)537-0646 or (913)845-2902.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, roomy cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westport, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE Jan. 1. Woodway Apartments. $225 a month plus utilities. 537-7651.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment. Living room, study, one-car attached garage. Walk to KSU. No pets. $280. 539-1554.

SOLDIER GOING to Saudi Arabia has to rent large one-bedroom close to campus. $310/ month. Please call 537-3160.

SPACIOUS TWO-BEDROOM apartment. New carpet. Some utilities paid. $395. First month's rent paid. 539-7051.

STUDIO APARTMENT for rent, close to campus. Utilities paid except electric. Available Jan. 1. $250 month plus deposit. Dave 537-9583.

THREE-BEDROOM, 1021 Fremont, $420. 539-8401.

THREE BEDROOMS, large, near KSU, $375. Call 537-0069.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus for couple or family. Washer/ dryer hookups. Requires own refrigerator and stove. $300. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE mid-December in complex near City Park. Water and trash paid. $420. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM IN duplex south of middle school. Eat-in kitchen, pantry, storage room, washer/ dryer hookups, dining, living rooms, one car garage. $330. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM and one-bedroom in complex. Water/ trash paid. Air conditioning, dishwasher. Available immediately. 539-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM CENTRAL air, one and one-half bath, laundry facilities, near campus. Available Jan. 1. 537-8800.

TWO-BEDROOM, 431 Leavenworth, $250. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM, COMPLEX, 1106 Blumont, $460. 539-8401.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, one-half utilities, $250/ month, Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

TWO-BEDROOM, ONE and one-half blocks from campus. $390 month, water, trash paid, no pets. 537-3758.

VERY NICE one-bedroom in complex near campus. Available now. Fireplace, dishwasher, $375. No pets. 776-3804.

WAREHAM STUDIO and one-bedroom available, convenient downtown location, from $250-295. No pets. 776-3804, evenings and weekends 539-8246.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

*Colorado Condo
Dillon Area, Sleeps 2-10*

*Available during Christmas and all spring. Reserve now.
776-1680*

1019 HOUSTON, one-bedroom studio close to City Park. No utilities except water and trash, $260. Available Jan. 1. 539-3703.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Spacious, two-bedroom for two or three persons, close to campus, City Park, Aggieville. 776-7643.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. One-bedroom efficiency. Some utilities paid. Short-term lease. No pets. 539-4087.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT, clean, $205 includes utilities. College Heights, three blocks from campus. 537-7403.

FEMALE—AVAILABLE Jan. 1. One room, furnished. Share bath. Close to campus and Aggieville. $85/ month, utilities paid. 776-6573 leave message.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM basement, one block west of campus. Water and trash paid. Deposit required, $200 monthly. 776-2153.

NICE, CLEAN, first floor, one-bedroom apartment available in January. Laundry facilities, air conditioning and front door parking. Call John at 539-8143.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, walk to campus, no smoking or pets. $200, utilities included. Available early January. 539-6415 after 6 p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $200. Water, heat, trash paid. Low utilities. Quiet student preferred. 537-7873.

QUIET, REMODELED, efficiency apartment, 1131 Vatter, one block from campus. $280 per month, lease required, beginning about Jan. 1. Call Professor McGuire 776-5682 evenings and weekends.

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT close to Aggieville. Utilities paid except electricity. $420/ month. 537-1673.

Relocating to Kansas City
after Graduation?

Call
Apts. Unlimited

Free Apt. locators.

1-800-726-3733

TWO-BEDROOM APARTMENT, Available Jan. 1st. Good location. Water and trash paid. Call 776-6401.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, 92,000 miles, $2,200. 539-7123 days. 537-7798 evenings.

1979 CORDOBA, clean, red with black custom rims, $900 or best offer. 776-0747.

1986 TOYOTA MR2, new paint, very nice, automatic everything. Call 537-9006 or 776-6480 ask for Dan or leave message.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

286-12 $1,195; 386SX $1,495; 386-25 $1,795. New complete system, 1 MB RAM, 1.2 & 1.44 FD, 44 MBHD, VGA color, with warranty, other config available. 1-913-491-4665.

COMMODORE 64, 1541 drive, GEOS 2.0 and desk. 776-1964.

IBM COMPATIBLE: Monochrome, dual floppy, 496K RAM, plus software, $350 or best offer. Michael, 539-3507.

ZENITH 286 with flat screen monitor, 5 1/4, 3 1/2 floppies, 20 meg HD 1 1/4 MB RAM. Robert Walters 539-4685.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

DISHWASHER, VARIABLE hours, every other weekend, 7 a.m. to 1 p.m., 4 to 7 p.m., weekdays 4 to 7 p.m., approximately 20 hours every two weeks. St. Marys. 776-1981. EOE.

DO YOU need extra money for Christmas? Try delivering pizzas for Godfather's Pizza. Competitive wages and flexible hours. Apply in person, 1120 Laramie, 11 a.m.—5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 ext. B288.

EARN EXTRA money boarding horses. I have the space, you do the rest. 539-1039.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

NEED A job? Be a nanny! Go to interesting places, earn good money for a year. The Temptation Nanny Agency, Lawrence (913)842-4443.

PART-TIME BOOKKEEPER wanted for a double entry bookkeeping system for small business. Send resume with references to: Box 1, Collegian, no later than Dec. 20. Position to start January 1991.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

WAITRESSES/ BARTENDERS for next semester. Must be 21. Charlie's Bar.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

9 Food Specials

Bobby T's
Weekends at Bobby T's
Fridays Enjoy Shrimp and Beer
2 doz shrimp & pitcher of beer $4.99
DJ 8-12
Saturday Enjoy Live Entertainment
John Woofier
The Singing Stockbroker

Every Friday
ALL YOU CAN EAT!
•Spaghetti & meat sauce
•Salad Bar
•Texas Toast
$4.95
The CHEF Cafe
Fridays 5-8 p.m.

814 THURSTON, one/ two-bedroom basement. Gas/ water included, lease December—May, $275, no pets. 539-5136.

AVAILABLE JAN. 1. Two-bedroom unfurnished apartment. Washer/ dryer, dishwasher. Call 776-7950.

BASEMENT APARTMENT, $250 plus one-third gas and electric. No smoking, no pets. 539-3409.

FOR RENT—One-bedroom apartment close to campus. Available Dec. 28. Call (913)537-0646 or (913)845-2902.

IDEAL FOR three students! Three large bedrooms, two bath, roomy cozy loft, laundry, off-street parking. Bills paid! $190 month each. Available Jan. 1. 537-2266.

LARGE ONE-BEDROOM available January. Townhouse near Westport, garage, washer/ dryer hookups, water and trash paid. $425. No pets. 776-3804.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, convenient to campus. Available January. Phone 537-9064 weekdays.

NICE LARGE two-bedroom duplexes with one and one-half baths and garage available January, off Kimball Avenue. $560, year lease, no pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn near campus. Water and trash paid. $325. Laundry facilities. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE Jan. 1. Woodway Apartments. $225 a month plus utilities. 537-7651.

SUNDAY LUNCH

Pan Fried Chicken and other daily specials.

Specials include free dessert.

ONLY $4.25

Serving Breakfast till 1 p.m.

Open Every Sunday 7 a.m.-2:30 p.m.

The CHEF Cafe
111 S. 4th
10% off with this ad

FREE
BBQ
BURGERS
4-7
ONLY AT
BAYSTREET

(Continued on page 11)

PHI KAPPA PHI GRADUATE FELLOWSHIPS

Fellowship worth
$7,000

The awards are intended for the support of students undertaking first-year graduate study within 12 months of receipt of the baccalaureate degree. Students interested in being considered by the KSU Committee should contact

Room 146, Durland Hall
for further information and application forms.

APPLICATION FORMS MUST BE RETURNED
FEBRUARY 1, 1991!

NEON WILDCATS

starting at $275.

Plus many more designs including flamingos, palm trees, Mickey mice and Knotty Nite-lites™

Take a break from finals or stop by over the holiday. We're a shop like no other.

10% off with this ad.
Thru 1-15-90; not good with other offers.

913-823-1609

neon stuff™
150 S. Santa Fe in Salina

Take A Walk On The Wild Side

Whether it's the woods of Maine or the wild world of Manhattan, this trumoo boot from Eastland is a perfect fit.

$46.99

EASTLAND
Made in Freeport, Maine, USA

Standing Room Only

1222 Moro, Aggieville, Manhattan

GLASS IMPRESSIONS

COME SEE OUR UNUSUAL GIFT IDEAS!

Handblown hummingbird feeders

Fossils & interesting rock magnets

Glass Volkswagen cookie jars

Antique glass pierced earrings

Handmade glass mini-mobiles

And much more...

GLASS IMPRESSIONS 1128 Laramie Aggieville Mon.-Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

Basketball Officials Needed!

Meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thursday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

* Attendance is mandatory for all meetings! *

Starting Pay: $4.00/hour
(more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Offices for details...532-6980

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

You deserve a special Holiday gift.
You deserve the
Brittnay Ridge Lifestyle!

Units are still available for second semester

- 4 Bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
- All appliances provided
- Computer, phone, cable TV pre-wired
- Gazebos, hot tubs, volleyball court
- Bus service to campus

Come See Them Today—776-5599

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE
2001 Anderson Manhattan, NJ 08002
610/776-5599 Fax 610/776-3885

LOWMAN'S

IN - AGGIEVILLE

For the Holidays.

Classic Sweaters and Coats
20% Off through Sunday

1215 Moro Free gift wrap. 776-7304

Open 10 to 8 Mon. through Fri. Sat. 10-6. Sun 1-5.

The Friends and Colleagues of ZHA YUANBO
will hold a memorial
Friday, Dec. 14, 4:30 p.m.
at the
ECM Building
1021 Denison

INTERNATIONAL CLUB

STUDY BREAK
FRIDAY, DEC. 14, 6 p.m.
AT ESPRESSO ROYALE
EVERYONE WELCOME!

CO-SPONSORED BY ICC

GETTIN' READY FOR THE MIRACLE

ST. LUKE'S LUTHERAN CHURCH
SUNDAY SCHOOL CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
Sunday, Dec. 16
3 p.m.
at KSU Forum Hall

GREAT SAFE HOLIDAY BREAK

Do you think he could remember all those addresses if he drank and drove?

Please don't drink and drive

ALCOHOL & OTHER DRUG EDUCATION SERVICE funded in part by City of Manhattan and KSU Alcohol and Other Drug Education Service

NEON WILDCATS
starting at $275.
Plus many more designs including flamingos, palm trees, Mickey mice and Knotty Nite-lites™

Take a break from finals or stop by over the holiday. We're a shop like no other.

10% off with this ad.
Thru 1-15-90; not good with other offers.

913-823-1609

neon stuff™
150 S. Santa Fe in Salina

Take A Walk On The Wild Side
Whether it's the woods of Maine or the wild world of Manhattan, this trumoo boot from Eastland is a perfect fit.

$46.99

EASTLAND
Made in Freeport, Maine, USA

Standing Room Only

1222 Moro, Aggieville, Manhattan

GLASS IMPRESSIONS

COME SEE OUR UNUSUAL GIFT IDEAS!

Handblown hummingbird feeders
Fossils & interesting rock magnets
Glass Volkswagen cookie jars
Antique glass pierced earrings
Handmade glass mini-mobiles
And much more...

GLASS IMPRESSIONS 1128 Laramie Aggieville Mon.-Fri. 11-7 Sat. 10-5

Basketball Officials Needed!

Meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thursday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

* Attendance is mandatory for all meetings! *

Starting Pay: $4.00/hour
(more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Offices for details...532-6980

(Continued from page 10)

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

FOR SALE: Natural color hide-a-bed sofa. Good condition. Call 539-2762.

FOR SALE: Queen-size waterbed, $75. Call Sheri at 539-4399.

TWIN BED for sale, $50 or best offer. Call, leave message or ask for Kathy. 537-3798.

WATERBED—KING-SIZE, four-poster, lo-mo mattress... reasonable. 539-1550 leave a message.

12 Houses for Rent

FOR RENT: Three-bedroom house, perfect for four, one and one-half blocks from campus, with fireplace, six-month lease. 776-0307.

THREE-BEDROOM, TWO-BATH, neat and clean, $450 a month. No pets. Available now. 537-1048.

THREE—FOUR-BEDROOM house, full basement, garage, 1019 Houston, near City Park and downtown, solar heated water cuts utilities. $450 per month. 539-2227.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND BETWEEN Lafene and Leisure Hall, small golden retriever puppy. To claim call 1-258-2616 after 5:30 p.m., ask for Doyle or leave message on answering machine.

FOUND: BRACELET near Kedzie. Claim in Kedzie 103.

LOST: GOLD colored watch. Stretch band. Call between 8 a.m.—5 p.m. Ask for Jackie. 532-6555.

TO THE person who took my bookbag from my car, please, please, return my notes. I need them for my finals. Thanks. M.K. 539-8102.

16 Mobile Homes for Rent

$130, 8x40, one-bedroom, large private lot one mile from Manhattan Mall. Pets upon approval. 776-5513.

DO YOU need a clean, quiet and reasonably priced place to live? Pets allowed, six month lease, other K-State students live in our rentals. Possibility of part-time employment. We support K-State academics and athletics. Call Dixie at 776-9007.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1990 CANNONDALE ST400—less than 50 miles on this, like new blue racing bike. With all accessories, $350. John 537-0605.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

ADPI RAWSON: The last several years have given us many "remember whens," some good and some bad. I just want you to know, even though you'll be in San Antonio, I'll always be here for you, my sister, my friend. I'll Miss You. Jen.

ADPIS MELISSA and Amber, I can't believe the "Pi Sisters" are leaving me! I've had so much fun working the lunchroom with you and doing the "vibe." Good Luck on your student teaching—you'll be great! I'll miss your phone messages and I'll keep my eye on sister Mindy for you. Love, the "Xi brother."

AKP—YOU are the answer to my "Unanswered Prayers." Can't wait to help milk.

AMY, HAPPY Birthday. I'll melt with you. Love you, Ken.

AUNTIE WOO: Thanks for a wonderful year. Happy Anniversary and Merry Christmas. Love, Uncle Steve.

BRAD AND Russ, Pictionary was fun, too bad we won. Dinner will be great. We can't wait!

COACH LUNK—You have finally made it! One piece of advice: Don't trip! Love, Red.

DAD, MOM and I are proud of you. We Love You! Love, Jacob.

ECNAL—CONGRATS, grad! I'm proud of you, and may you always have the best. Love ya, Irak.

ECNAL—Congratulations! You did it! Don't forget us little people! Love: Irak, Asil, Yonar.

ERIC—MY Chiffon puddin' cake. Happy "1" year anniversary, sweetie. We made it through one and I hope there are many more to come. You are truly the best. I love you with all my heart. Love, Cathy.

PLEASE RETURN Collegian racks to Durland and Kedzie halls.

JAMESTER—I said it was going to be rough, but without you I never would have made it. Love, Snooks.

JANET—WISHING my favorite dishwasher luck for finals, love for Christmas, and a lot of Jell-O for new year's. -Ch.

JL HAKE, Merry Christmas. Here's your heeent, cust mail je a beep chasterd. But won't dory, leer bil wallow. Written in Scott Speak, P.S. Raider's suck, America, love it or change it.

JOHN B—Merry Christmas! How about another Harvest moon and super nova when I get back? City Park Girl. VT.

KD SKB—Always remember: Pity pal, clutch you, wet yourself, whiner, DSVJS, dateless wonder, country clubbin', kleptomaniac, "I hate it when you're right," snow driving, radio roulette, shoe shopping (in five minutes too, Oh my), shrink sessions, charity lace and of course, special prisms. I'm gonna miss ya! —Love ya lots. Me.

LEIGH W—Will you quit running around the house naked long enough to tell Angie that Thunderbut is in the drink playing Nerf basketball. Dewey.

MANHUNTER—HERE'S to Human's, Village Inn, "Fogelberg groupies," Konza, elusive men... and a 7-month rest! We'll miss you! KSQ and NS.

POOH—WEVE had lots of fun. Although we still don't run. From psychos, to the Ranch, the Wheel and the Oak Door, you certainly aren't a bore. Country was late, but now we saw the light, and are drinking and two-steppin' all through the night. We have memories that remind us of you, we'll always be friends, and we're proud of you too. —B&G.

RUSS, TEDDY bear lover wanted. Apply within.

SIG EPS... Ho Ho Ho. Where's Santa? We don't know anything about it!

STEPHANIE—IT'S not every day you get to graduate with your sister. Congratulations! Melanie.

TAU BETA Nan—Tonight is the night for you to find out, just what your mom is all about. I am so proud to have a daughter like you and I wish you a Holy Jolly Christmas too! —Love, mom.

THERESA, THANKS for putting up with our "SYT Tuesday" outbursts. Remember, however, that you owe us both heaping buckets of that delicious ice-cold strawberry Yum-Yum. —Matt & Rod.

TO THE person who took my bookbag from my car, please, please, return my notes. I need them for my finals. Thanks. M.K.

TROY—WELL, the love we learned is almost here. However, I Love You! Katrina.

TWINKIE—THANKS for sticking with me this week and for being there to hold me when I needed it most. I Love You! —S.R.

XO KIM W, Ford 4th Floor, Date parties especially Sig Ep, Functions, Roka Belly with O.K. boys, and Jim; RB David? ATO function 12-30, Tappin' with the Figs, your apartment. Thanks for our friendship. Good Luck next semester in Minnesota. I'll miss you tons! Merry X-mas. XO Luv, Kathy.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

BABY COCKATIELS hand raised all under two months old, great for kids, $40 each. Pair ready to breed, $70. 776-8318.

FOR SALE: Beautiful farm-raised dalmatian pups. AKC registered. $125. 539-6596.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS
PETS N' STUFF
1015 W. 12th St., Suite 101
OPEN 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ARE YOU willing to trust your resume to just anyone? The Resume Service has been providing complete resume services to KSU students for over 10 years. We offer laser- and letter-quality printing and permanent computer storage. Contact the professionals at 343 Colorado Street or call 537-7294/539-6027.

FORMER KSU English instructor will proofread and/or edit your paper. Reasonable rates. Call 539-5637 and leave message.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

TYPEWRITER RENTALS and Fax. Also Sales and Service for Smith Corona, IBM, TA Royal and Silver Reed. Advanced Business Systems in Aggieville next to Chuck's Car Wash. 539-7931.

Typing using word perfect 5.1/ laser printer. Call Judy at 539-7100.

WRITING THE best resume is never easy. Let Career Development Services help you. Our years of experience working with hundreds of employers helps to create the most professional resume. We develop resume content with you, then computer typeset and laser print. 776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

A FEMALE roommate wanted. Non-smoker, no pets, furnished and close to campus. Call 539-6305.

A GREAT apartment. Only $130 monthly plus one-fourth utilities. One block from campus. Call Amy 537-4510.

AVAILABLE SPRING—Clean, cute apartment for one or two females. 776-0135 evenings or 539-2301 anytime.

AVAILABLE SPRING semester, own new room, at Woodway Apartments, $135 plus one-fourth utilities. 537-2616.

CHRISTIAN, FEMALE, non-smoker. To share house in KC area. (913)642-6295, available now.

CUTE THREE-BEDROOM house to share with two female roommates. Non-smokers preferred, available Jan. 1—$125 plus one-third utilities. 539-5714.

FEMALE: $150 month, close to campus, very close to Aggieville. 537-4144.

FEMALE—MUST love pets. Own room. Shuttle Service. $192.50 a month. Call Karen 776-1286.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, spring semester, share house, own room, $146/ month, one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-0061.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate wanted for spring semester. Close to campus, $132/ month plus one-third electricity and phone. First month free. 537-4634.

FEMALE, NON-SMOKER, own room, furnished, $225/ month, utilities included, Chris at 776-4206 or 776-4928.

FEMALE, OWN room in two-bedroom house two blocks from campus. $162.50/ month plus one-half utilities. Prefer graduate student. 539-4069.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Share new, tri-level furnished apartment, $157.50. 1825 College Heights. 776-7297.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, non-smoker. New Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share very nice two-bedroom apartment, quiet neighborhood, $190/ month and one-half utilities. 776-5191.

FEMALE ROOMMATE—Wanted, two-bedroom, own room, $160/ month, one and one-half blocks from campus and Aggieville. Call 539-8766 after 5 p.m., Christine.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, beginning January. Three-bedroom house, carpet, fenced-in yard, quiet area. 537-2101.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, $100/ month plus one-half utilities. Available immediately. Park Place Apartments. Call 539-8391.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: Very nice furnished apartment near campus, low utilities, rent negotiable. 776-5492 leave message.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: One and one-half blocks to campus, own room: $141.67/ month. Kirs 776-2462 after 5 p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE: Own room, extremely nice, furnished apartment. $175/ month, plus electricity. 776-1353 Kristi.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share three-bedroom house, own room, $166 a month plus one-third utilities. Call 539-2668. 1001 Bertrand.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share nice two-bedroom apartment close to campus. $140/ month plus utilities. 539-1874 after 6 p.m.

FEMALE—SHARE two-bedroom furnished house. One block east of campus. Prefer upperclassman or graduate student, own bedroom, $150 a month, utilities paid, plus season basketball ticket. Call 537-4947 after 6 p.m.

FEMALE TO share nice two-bedroom mobile home, washer/ dryer, $150/ month, utilities paid. 539-2267.

HELP ME. We'll help you. I need a female tenant who can help manage a house we own close to campus. If interested, please call (913)384-2814.

LOOKING FOR female to share a house with two other females, own room, one-fourth utilities, always low. 539-6370, Angela for details.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house close to campus. $160/ month plus one-third utilities. Must be quiet, clean, non-smoker and like pets. Call 537-8550.

TWO ROOMMATES—Very close to campus. Own bedroom in nice furnished apartment. Washer, dryer, $170 plus utilities. 539-7978.

TWO ROOMMATES needed to share five-bedroom country home eight miles east of Manhattan. Partially furnished, pasture, major appliances. 1-494-2634.

WANTED: One roommate for 1700 Laramie. Very close to campus, near Aggieville. $115 per month. 776-8882.

MALE NON-SMOKER to share three-bedroom. $120 plus utilities. 539-3690.

MALE NON-SMOKING roommate to share three-bedroom house, $160 per month plus one-third utilities. 539-8455.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted, spring semester, $159 plus one-third utilities, fireplace—very comfortable. 537-4055.

MALE ROOMMATE—$137.50/ month. Own room, washer/ dryer, two blocks from campus. 776-1661.

MALE ROOMMATE, share four-room house with laundry and kitchen, utilities paid. $175/ month. 776-7369.

MALE ROOMMATE wanted. To share a three-bedroom apartment beginning Jan. 1st. $175 per month, one-third utilities, own bedroom, no deposit, laundry facilities, garage optional. For more details. Call 776-9875.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share two-bedroom apartment for spring semester only. Across street from campus, $150 plus utilities. 537-4637.

MALE—SPRING, $150/ month plus utilities. Roomy upper half of house, 912 Laramie. 539-2881, Ken.

MATURE, NON-SMOKING male roommate needed for spring semester. Very quiet neighborhood and cheap rent. Available Jan. 1. Is close to campus. 537-8560.

NON-SMOKER, FEMALE to share house, close to campus. $200 a month plus utilities. 539-1298.

NON-SMOKER WANTED. House close to campus. Own room. Washer, dryer, $165/ month, utilities included. 539-8897.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in Brittany Ridge. Share with four roommates. Washer, dryer, one-fifth utilities, $195 per month. Hot tub, sand volleyball. 539-6676, Rob, leave message.

ONE FEMALE roommate. Own room, own bathroom. Some managers duties. $147.50, 10th and Bluemont. Jennifer 539-5679.

ONE NON-SMOKING female, farmhouse, barn, pasture, stall for horse, cattle, dog. P.O. Box 1211.

ONE NON-SMOKING female. A room for rent. Starting Jan. 1, 1991. Private bath, kitchen privileges, walking distance to college, washer, dryer, swimming pool, parking space. Must see to appreciate. Telephone number 539-6066.

ONE OR two roommates wanted, $150 plus utilities. Parking and laundry facilities. House on 16th Street. Call 539-2812, 537-5134.

ONE ROOMMATE for spring semester. Own bedroom, no deposit. Next to campus. $175/ month plus one-third utilities. Call Eric 537-8877.

ROOMMATE, PLUSH three-bedroom house, all the amenities, bills paid. $230. 537-6886.

ROOMMATE WANTED: One and one-half blocks from campus. Electric plus $150. Own room. 776-5526, Robert.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Jan. 1. Own bedroom. Nice three-bedroom apartment close to Aggieville and campus. $175 plus one-third utilities. Call or leave message. 537-3366.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Nice two-bedroom, own room, $135/ month two blocks from campus and Aggieville. 776-9717.

ROOMMATE NEEDED, nice three-bedroom, own room, $166/ month, all utilities paid. 537-1453.

ROOMMATE WANTED: $120/ month plus one-fourth utilities, washer/ dryer. Contact Ellen at 537-0729 or 537-0269.

ROOMMATE NEEDED. Own room. Washer/ dryer. $100/ month plus one-half utilities. Call 537-3296 after 6 p.m.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9 a.m.—5 p.m. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

HOLIDAY PERM Special $35 (includes reconditioner, oil, style). For appointment call JoAnn Westhoff at Skin Care—Essentials, 539-2622. Expires Jan. 5th, 1991.

PREGNANT? BIRTHRIGHT can help. Free pregnancy test. Confidential. Call 537-9180. 103 South Fourth St., Suite 25.

Chiropractors add years to your life and life to your years!

Call today for an appointment.
537-8305
Dr. Mark Hatesohl
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

26 Stereo Equipment

TECHNICS RECEIVER—35 watts per channel, cassette deck, 75-watt—three-way speakers, make offer. 539-9424.

TWO 15" subwoofers, new, still in box, $75 each. 537-0510.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

DP INCLINE weight bench with leg curl/ extension and 110 lb. cast iron weight set. $50. 539-9424.

GUN & KNIFE show. National Guard Army at Manhattan Airport, Saturday, Dec. 15, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 16, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Information (913)922-6979.

28 Sublease

APARTMENT AVAILABLE Jan. 1, two-bedroom, dishwasher, next to City Park. 539-1178, 537-4127 or 776-1745.

Glimpses

By Jeff Gabel

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS	35 Paris airport	DOWN	19 Snare
1 Vagrant	36 G. & S. trio	1 Marceau	20 Asset
8 Hope/ Crosby "Road" destination	37 Thanks-giving veggie	2 character-ization	21 Sitarist's rendition
12 "This — stick-up!"	40 Post-Christmas event	2 Spring-steen's birth-place?	22 Tall and slender
13 Double-reed instrument	41 Never again?	3 Old elephant	23 Golden Rule word
14 Terrible-guy?	42 Connecti-cut city	4 Fountain treats	25 Contem-ible cur
15 California city	46 In due time	5 Act the robot	26 Trusting fellow
17 Twist	47 Gen. Bradley	6 Swindle	27 Filled with reverence
18 Cafeteria item	48 Prior to	7 Mauna —	28 Contact, e.g.
19 Frivolous	49 Catches some rays	8 Revealing beachwear	30 Exhaust
20 School functions	50 Trumpet accessory	9 Enthusi-astic	33 Bakery
22 Hurricane aftermath	51 Like sashimi	10 Crow's nest cry	34 Festive
23 Kenny Rogers hit	Solution time: 26 mins.	11 Black	36 Phil or Steven of skiing
25 Missouri city		16 Host	37 Gator bowl?
29 Actor			38 King of Siam's friend
30 Bivouac structures			39 Pedestal occupant
31 Ram's ma'am			40 Babe Ruth's "sultanate"
32 California city			42 — de plume
34 Singer Campbell			43 Rhea's cousin
			44 History chapter
			45 Fresh

Yesterday's answer 12-14

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals B

Today's answers on page 10

Christmas shopping cramps budgets

By Eric Robison
Collegian Reporter

As students begin to study for finals, another problem arises — what to buy everyone for Christmas.

"Christmas does awful things to people's budgets," said Ann Coulson, assistant professor in human development and family studies.

"Primarily because often times we get carried away with our emotions and the mood of things, and we make decisions that aren't very rational when we're out shopping. Many of us live to regret it the next month when the bills come in.

"In this day and age, many of us are blessed with the fact we don't need much. When Christmastime rolls around, all of a sudden we're required to buy presents for people. We care about these people, and we want to go out and buy them something nice, but we don't feel satisfied with something materialistic," Coulson said.

"We think we need something exciting because they can go out and buy themselves what they want, so we end up buying things we think they really want," she said.

Coulson said she believes the 1980s were very materialistic, and she hopes the 1990s will be different.

"It was like more, more, more, and we can't use most of what we have," she said. "Most of us have presents piled up gathering dust, or we have sold them at garage sales."

Taking into consideration how hard they work for their money and the shape of the economy, Coulson said people spend too much money at Christmas.

"I sell my books back to buy my Christmas presents, and I don't think I spend too much money because everyone I buy for is worth it," Susan Moretsky, junior in social work, said.

If people would sit down and keep track of how much money is spent on Christmas items, a lot of overspending could be avoided, Coulson said.

"Then people say: 'I can't believe we spent that much money. If we would have put that money into a college fund for our child, it could have done so much more,'" she said.

Coulson said that she believes people will be more conservative this year, but especially in the Manhattan area because of the deployment of The Big Red One. Families with a spouse or parent in the reserves leaving for the gulf may take a large cut in pay.

Coulson said students should realize that some of the people they love do not want presents.

She said budgeting for Christmas and everyday expenditures is the key for students managing their income.

"I plan for Christmas throughout the year," said Janice Dana, graduate student in curriculum and instruction. "It is one of the year's long expenditures."

"I expect people pay on Christmas debts for most of the following year. It would make more sense if people would save their money and pay cash for Christmas to avoid the credit cards' finance charges," Coulson said.

Counties

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

basic demographic questions along with ones about their attitudes towards their relationships and their resource management benefits," Coulson said. "We also asked them how they thought their county was doing and how they perceived themselves."

Even in the declining county, the residents responded that they didn't feel bad about their counties or how they were doing, she said.

Most of the respondents from both counties perceived their current financial situations to be about the same or better than they had been five years before; they also expected their financial situations to stay the same in the future. Although these respondents were not anticipating future financial loss, neither were they expecting any substantial financial gain, the report concluded.

"For the elderly, the chief concern was not being able to pay for their medical bills," Coulson said. "But, as a rule, older people are better off than the younger ones."

The study concluded that older, retired respondents were more likely to perceive their incomes as being adequate to meet their needs.

Coulson said that the group of researchers need to determine if these people are really in trouble, or if maybe it is a matter of needing more education about things such as health care insurance and other alternatives.

Bollman said, "We do have a considerably large group to be concerned about. We need to be concerned with the people who have limited resources and are struggling."

Bush

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

premature since a majority of Congress had not expressed a view on a possible attack and because Bush has not shown a commitment to a definitive course of action.

The last planned U.S.-sponsored flight from Iraq arrived in Frankfurt, Germany, carrying 94 passengers. Those on board included the last five U.S. diplomats from the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait.

Ambassador Nathaniel Howell and other American diplomats had defied Iraq's order to shut down the embassy in August. Cut off from most supplies and with their compound surrounded by Iraqi soldiers, the embassy staff subsisted mainly on canned tuna and boiled water from their swimming pool.

The besieged diplomats departed only after they were satisfied that all Americans had been given a chance to leave the country, U.S. officials said.

Thursday's flight was expected to be the final chartered plane carrying foreigners from Iraq and Kuwait. An estimated 500 Americans remained in Kuwait or Iraq.

If any of the remaining Americans later decide they want to leave, they can fly out by a commercial Iraqi airliner, according to the State Department.

On Capitol Hill Thursday, former U.S. military officials joined private defense specialists in telling the House Armed Services Committee that an American air attack would avoid significant number of casualties at the start of a war against Iraq.

The officials and experts held out little hope for economic sanctions succeeding against Iraq.

Teach

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

The evaluations are also used for awards.

"The evaluations made by students are very definitely looked at and play a large part when nominations for teaching awards are being considered," Legg said.

Though students may not feel the evaluations are worthwhile, they are used.

"As with all other things, this is an imperfect system. The students definitely have something to tell us in the evaluations, and we do our best to listen," Legg said.

We Take Tips!

KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

532-6556

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

And Get Paid Doing It!!

Donate your life-saving plasma at the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER and we will pay you CASH!!

Open M-F
1130 Gardenway • 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

All You Can Eat Homemade & Fresh

GRADUATION BUFFET

$8.95 open 11 a.m.

• HAM • BEEF • CHICKEN
• SMOKED SALMON

with all the trimmings & assorted desserts
wine & reg. steak & seafood available

2605 Stagg Hill Rd. Reservations Appreciated 776-1234

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

539-3338

• Free Pregnancy Testing
• Totally Confidential Services
• Same Day Results
• Call For Appointment
Walk-ins Welcome
• Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

BAYSTREET
AND THE PIT
FRIDAY NIGHT

Ladies Free

SAT.

$1 Tequila Shots

No Cover for 21 or over.

$2 Pitchers
All Weekend

Happy Holidays!

The staff of Lafene Health Center wishes everyone a safe and happy holiday season.

During the holiday break the clinic will operate on the following schedule:

Dec. 22 - 25..... Closed
Dec. 26 - 28..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Dec. 29 - Jan. 1..... Closed
Jan. 2 - 4..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 5 - 6..... Closed
Jan. 7 - 11..... 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.
Jan. 12..... Closed
Jan. 13..... Resume Regular Hours

Lafene Health Center
Kansas State University
532-6544

Ho Ho Ho...

Merry Christmas

Kathleen Rose,

In 15 days we shall become man and wife, continuing our lives together as one. I love you. Yours Forever,
Todd Michael

Shirley Squirrely

Thanks for everything! I'm going to miss you! Congratulations from the both of us. We can't wait to help you celebrate!
Dana & Dave

Irwin, Husband of mine, There is no other so fine. It's been eleven years, With smiles and tears, I promise you, My love will always be true.
Happy Birthday and Merry Christmas
Christie

Stephen, Here's to all the time in the world-and-to finding a better hiding place for your coat!
Love,
Your Sweetheart

Rosey-You've given me happiness, security, trust, love, dreams, and memories. These are the best gifts of all! Merry Christmas.
I Love You, Beth

PECK: OUR LAST XMAS HERE. HAS IT REALLY BEEN SIX YEARS? NOW I'LL HAVE TO GET A JOB! THANKS FOR EVERYTHING LOVE PECK

Jennifener- You're the cutest there ever was or ever shall be. I'll miss you over Christmas. You're no Clifford-
Love, Kristin

Snuggle-Boo:
You are the only guy for me. Life is so wonderful being with you. All my love,
Princess

To the Gamma Phi Beta Pledge Class:
Kick it in and get those grades, Initiation is on its way! Merry Christmas!
Love, Holz and Goff

Robert, It seems like forever, yet not long enough since we first met. Thanks for being my everything.
Merry Christmas baby
Yo te amo
Sheila

WE'RE PAYING CASH FOR YOUR BOOKS NOW

10% off any Non Textbook Items at

Varney's BOOK STORE

SELL YOUR BOOKS AT VARNEY'S (regardless of where you bought them) AND GET YOUR YELLOW TOKEN PLUS A COUPON GOOD FOR 20% OFF K-STATE SPORTSWEAR

Get your yellow token, which is good for 10% off any non-textbook items, when you sell your books on the dates listed. You decide what the token is worth by the amount you purchase. THE MORE YOU BUY THE MORE YOU SAVE! You can use the token whenever you want. Use it for Christmas purchases or use it next semester.

BUY BACK SCHEDULE
Mon., Dec. 10, thru Sat., Dec. 15, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 16, Noon-5 p.m.
Mon., Dec. 17 thru Thu., Dec. 20, 8 a.m.-9 p.m.
Fri., Dec. 21 & Sat. Dec. 22, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.
Sun., Dec. 23, Noon-5 p.m.

Varney's BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, January 16, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 76

Soviets crack down on Baltic republics

By the Associated Press

RIGA, U.S.S.R. — Soviet commandos stormed a Latvian police academy Tuesday and seized weapons from cadets, and thousands at a Communist Party-led rally roared for a pro-Kremlin group to take power in the republic.

In Lithuania, a military helicopter circled parliament and workers dug a long trench behind the building to protect it from Soviet tanks. A government official said 80 people were missing since Sunday's military assault on the republic's television tower. Fourteen people are known to have been killed in the attack; 230 were injured.

About 5,000 Kremlin loyalists also rallied in the Estonian capital of Tallinn, condemning the separatist Estonian government.

Tensions remained high in the Baltics, where Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev has been striking back at pro-independence forces he says are violating the Soviet Constitution.

Latvian Interior Minister Aloiz Vaznis accused Soviet black beret commandos of staging attacks that are designed to provoke armed conflict to prompt the intervention of military units, which are combat-ready.

The commandos attacked Latvia's only police academy at 2 a.m. and took pistols, automatic weapons, sniper rifles and grenade launchers that Vaznis said could be used in provocative actions against the republic's government.

Some of the commandos arrived at the academy disguised as traffic police, talked their way past a night watchman and disarmed him, Latvian radio reported. Other commandos seized the building, disarming the cadets and severely beating two, the report said. They left a short time later.

In an effort to diffuse tensions, Latvian President Anatolij Gorbunovs appealed in a televised address for people to clear barricades and heavy trucks that had been placed along the route to a sports stadium where the anti-independence rally was held Tuesday afternoon.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 people opposed to Latvia's separatist government jammed a stadium and cheered Communist Party ideologist Ojars Potreki, who urged the shadowy National Salvation Committee to take power.

"Who is for this?" he asked. When the crowd roared its approval, he said: "The National Salvation Committee has now been empowered to take power."

The committee, which government officials said is headed by Latvian Communist Party chief Alfreds Rubiks, has demanded that parliament revoke its May 4 independence declaration and roll back recent price

■ See LATVIA, Page 9A

Midnight deadline passes

Iraqi forces still occupying Kuwait as Hussein prepares for war; Bush declares U.S. troops ready to face conflict

By the Associated Press

The midnight deadline for Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to pull his forces out of Kuwait passed Wednesday and more than 680,000 U.S. and allied troops began a new countdown — to war.

Barring an attack by Iraq, the start of a Persian Gulf war lay in the hands of President Bush and allied leaders. Bush, armed with congressional authorization to drive Iraq from Kuwait, was described Tuesday as resolute and "at peace with himself."

Iraq declared that a "furnace of hell" awaits anyone trying to dislodge its 545,000 troops from Kuwait, taken over in an Iraqi blitz on Aug. 2. What Hussein faced was thousands of combat aircraft, scores of warships and some of the world's most sophisticated weapons, spearheaded by 415,000 U.S. troops.

Baghdad's shouts of defiance combined with a worldwide clamor of last-minute appeals to Hussein and anti-war protests.

The deadline expired at 8 a.m. Wednesday local time in Baghdad, where the Iraqi government gave no last-minute sign that it was willing to withdraw from the small emirate it overran in a dispute over land and oil.

After the deadline, set Nov. 29 by the United Nations Security Council, U.N. members are authorized to drive Iraq out of Kuwait by force.

Deadline expiration at midnight Tuesday, Eastern Standard Time (11 p.m. Central Standard Time) did not mean war was inevitable, but exhausted diplomats said efforts to find a peaceful solution were practically dead.

At a packed news conference, U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar made a final appeal to Hussein to withdraw his troops and avert war. He assured Iraq that once it begins a decisive withdrawal, its forces would not be attacked.

Perez de Cuellar said he also had promised "from the highest levels of government" that with the crisis over, "every effort will be made to address, in a comprehensive manner, the Arab-Israeli conflict, including the Palestinian question."

That links the Persian Gulf crisis with the Palestinian issue, a connection the Iraqi president sought and the United States and Britain opposed.

Perez de Cuellar's statement in New York came six hours before expiration of the U.N. deadline.

The clamor of nations preparing for war mixed with shouted protests, words of fear and entreaties for peace Tuesday in the final hours before the U.N. deadline expired.

Iraq's U.S. ambassador, Mohamed Sadiq Al-Mashat, left Washington with several aides Tuesday night on his way to London and then Baghdad. Four other Iraqi diplomats will remain at the embassy.

Bush talked with his national security advisers Tuesday. The U.S. Defense Department said Iraq was digging in against the multinational force that included 35,000 troops from Britain, 10,000 from France, 150,500 from Saudi Arabia and 38,500 from Egypt. The Pentagon said U.S. forces ran battle drills and flew air combat exercises in the hours before the deadline.

NBC News said Tuesday night that B-52 bombers had been moved to bases in a gulf country it did not identify. The Air Force has never conceded that B-52s have been assigned to Operation Desert Shield, but a detachment is known to have been based at Diego Garcia, in the Indian Ocean.

■ See DEADLINE, Page 9A

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Nearly 30 people participate in a vigil at St. Isadore's Chapel on the corner of Denison and Anderson Sunday to demonstrate their support for peace in the current gulf crisis.

K-State protesters express opposition to military action, show desire for peace in Middle East with Sunday vigils

ELVYN JONES

City/Government Editor

About 60 people held placards, lit candles and waved flags in front of St. Isadore's chapel Sunday afternoon to express opposition to military action in the gulf.

Organizer of the peace vigil, Edie Williams of Manhattan, said the weekly event is a visual representation of the desire for peace.

"We hope when people drive by they will think about what is going on and consequences of military action," she said.

Stan Cox, associate professor of agronomy, said events like the vigil might be the last chance to salvage peace.

"Obviously, writing your congressman isn't going to do any good now," he said. "Especially since the entire Kansas delegation betrayed our troops in uniform by essentially signing the death warrant for many of them."

"Getting enough people in the streets is the only thing that is going to head it (war) off now."

Williams said the purpose of the vigils was to work for peace, not to criticize U.S. soldiers.

"Many of us have family members serving in the gulf," Williams said. "The weather is warmer, and the news is grimmer."

Sunday's vigil was the best attended so far, she said. The peace vigil will continue to be held every Sunday until the conflict is resolved.

Jodi Lookhart, senior in political science, said this was the first vigil she was able to attend.

"I'm impressed by the turnout," she said. "I'm here to show my support for peace. With the deadline getting closer, more people are coming to show their support for peace rather than a military conflict."

Joy Boileau, Manhattan, said she has been to all of the vigils. Although some people shouted derisive comments while driving by, they are a minority.

"Passers-by are almost always positive," she said. "A lot of people honk or give us the peace sign."

Cox said the positive response of those driving by reflected the feelings of the general population and should make President Bush weary of committing U.S. troops to war.

"I certainly wouldn't start a war when I had the popular support at about the level that supported the war in Vietnam at the Tet offensive," he said.

Matt Narramore, senior in economics and political science, said he finds the public opinion is undecided.

"I think people give different answers (to whether they support war) depending on how the question is worded," he said. "But nobody wants to see people coming back dead. That's what's going to happen unless we stand up and say otherwise. We have to make that politically impossible."

Engineering fee OK'd by regents

Additional $100 per semester to be asked of every K-State engineering student

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

The engineering equipment fee was authorized for K-State and two other regent schools by the Kansas Board of Regents at its December meeting. K-State engineering students will pay an additional $100 per semester in tuition fees beginning the fall semester of 1991.

Wichita State and the University of Kansas both received $15-per-credit-hour fees. Implementation will also be the fall semester of 1991.

Ken Gowdy, associate dean of engineering, said the different forms of the fee were passed to meet the needs of the individual universities involved.

The semester fee allows students to equally spread out the payments over the course of their college career, Gowdy said. The per-credit-hour fee would mean higher payments as students advanced in coursework.

"From the students' perspective, it's better to pay over a length of time," he said. "At KU, they're going to be paying roughly $500 per year during their last four or five semesters."

Jill Dirksen, sophomore in architectural engineering and secretary of the engineering student council, agrees.

"A lot of (engineering students) didn't want to be penalized for advancing in their major," she said.

Gowdy said students will end up paying roughly the same amount regardless of which form is used. K-State students will pay about $900 over the course of four and a half years, which is the average length of time for engineering students.

An average engineering student takes between 60 to 65 hours of engi-

K-State's new engineering fee

K-State
A $100 per semester fee will be assessed to all students taking classes in the College of Engineering.

University of Kansas and Wichita State University
A $15 per credit hour in the engineering colleges is assessed to students. This adds up to $135 per semester if a student takes 9 hours of engineering classes.

Source: Kansas Board of Regents

Gregory A. Branson/Colegion

neering courses, he said. With the $15-per-credit-hour fee, the students would pay a shade over $900.

Todd Heitschmidt, student body president, said the per-credit-hour fee would raise more money from full-time students per student.

For instance, a student taking nine hours of engineering courses would pay just $100 under K-State's fee. Under the $15-per-credit-hour fee, the same student would pay $135.

In total, Donald Rathbone, dean of engineering, said the engineering fee would raise roughly $500,000 per year, about half of what the department needs and 1 or 2 percent below the amount the $15-per-credit-hour fee would gather.

The money can be leveraged, making it balloon into more than $1 million by making deals with private companies, Rathbone said.

■ See FEE, Page 8A

No long waits for fee payers

LAJEAN RAU
Staff Reporter

Despite an increase of nearly 500 students at pre-enrollment from last spring, there were no major hold-ups at fee payment for the spring semester.

"We were really pleased," said Registrar Don Foster. "The computer system was never seriously down, and the process worked really well."

Two factors, however, did cause students to spend some extra time in lines.

Computer response time slowed down in mid-afternoon both days. Foster said he thought the sluggishness had to do with the number of people accessing the computer at once.

"A lot of students came to pay fees around these times," Foster said, "and no doubt many advisers were working on schedules as well."

The large number of students who pre-enrolled and the tightness of classes was another problem.

"It's just taking longer for people to find working schedules since so many classes close up," he said.

No official numbers are available yet since schedules were being finalized and cancelled well into Tuesday night, but a record spring enrollment is expected.

"Numbers have been going up steadily," said Pat Bosco, associate vice president for institutional advancement. "What amazes me is how extremely responsive the faculty has been in the past four years to our enrollment increases."

Bosco said that everything that could be done, with limited resources, to handle the increasing student demands was being done.

Briefly

World

Actor accepts British knighthood

LONDON (AP) — Britain's homosexual community is divided over the decision by actor Ian McKellen, who is gay, to accept a knighthood from a government that many gays regard as hostile to them.

Some believe McKellen, lured by the status of being Sir Ian, has sold out to Conservative Party administrations that have cut funds to gay groups and plan to revive criminal penalties for certain homosexual acts.

But others say the honor shows British homosexuals that they can declare themselves gay without fear of prejudice.

Filmmaker Derek Jarman, director of "Caravaggio" and "War Requiem," began the debate with an attack in the liberal Guardian newspaper last week.

"As a queer artist I find it impossible to react with anything but dismay to his acceptance of this honor from a government which has stigmatized homosexuality," Jarman wrote.

But in a subsequent letter to the Guardian, 18 gay and lesbian artists defended McKellen's decision, saying it was "a significant landmark in the history of the British gay movement."

Arafat's bodyguards assassinated

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — PLO chief Yasser Arafat wept loudly and threw himself into the arms of an aide Tuesday after two of his top men were assassinated, reportedly by a renegade bodyguard linked to terrorist Abu Nidal.

Police arrested several Palestinians, including the PLO turncoat, in the deaths of the two aides and of a loyal bodyguard. But many Arabs blamed Israel.

Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied territories poured into the streets to protest the assassinations, waving black mourning flags and the tricolor banner of Palestine. Israeli army gunfire killed three people and wounded 74.

Israel denied involvement: "We had nothing to do with it," Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Arens told ABC-TV.

Region

Police find child tied to couch

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The case of a woman who tied her 2-year-old son to a couch and left him unattended has been turned over to prosecutors, police said.

The Jackson County prosecutors office had not filed charges against the 22-year-old mother by Tuesday afternoon. She was released after being arrested Monday.

Police who were called to the apartment Monday afternoon by a concerned neighbor found the boy tethered to the couch by a 4-foot rope tied to his ankle.

Food, a beverage and a portable toilet had been placed near the child. A television set had been turned on for him to watch, said Sgt. Michael Merl of the police department's sex crimes unit, which investigates claims of child abuse.

The mother tethered her boy to the couch while she was at work, said Detective Fred Jordan. The boy showed no signs of other physical abuse or illness, he said.

Speakers want uniform sentencing

TOPEKA (AP) — Judges, Kansas Department of Corrections representatives and Attorney General Bob Stephan urged legislators Tuesday to support guidelines established in a Sentencing Commission report.

Stephan and others who testified at a hearing said the guidelines will bring uniformity to criminal sentencing in Kansas.

All those testifying are members of the Kansas Sentencing Commission, which was established to review sentencing of criminals in Kansas. They spoke before members of the House and Senate Judiciary committees, which met in a second day of joint session.

Under the commission's recommendations, uniform sentencing of criminals in Kansas would be established. The uniformity is designed to eliminate racial and geographical disparities in sentences given for the same crimes.

Penalties against persons, such as rape and aggravated assault, would be toughened under the guidelines, while more nonviolent criminals, such as thieves and bad-check writers, would be kept out of prison.

Bailey faces sentence for murder

WICHITA (AP) — Darrell Bailey maintained his innocence, but a jury recommended he serve 40 years in prison without parole for the stomping death of a Wichita woman during a gang party last summer.

The Sedgewick County District Court jury deliberated 80 minutes Monday before recommending the sentence for the July slaying of Roseanna Johnson, 48. Judge Russell Cranmer said he would sentence Bailey Feb. 14.

Bailey, 21, was convicted of first-degree murder last week. He said he stood nearby as three Insane Crips gang members beat and kicked Ms. Johnson to death in a park, ending a 24-hour crime spree to celebrate the birthday of gang leader James Walker.

He described how Walker, who was sentenced last week to 132 years for the murder and other crimes, snapped Johnson's neck.

"I was really scared," Bailey said. "I was just going along with it. I didn't want to let them know that I was against it."

Two teen-agers also have been charged in the case. The trial of Rodney Hooks, 16, started Monday.

Campus

Union Station to celebrate opening

Union Station, the non-alcoholic bar located in the K-State Union, will celebrate its grand opening January 16-18.

The ribbon-cutting ceremony is at 11:30 a.m. today, and there are many other activities planned for the three-day event.

One activity is the Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge Jan. 18 at 7 p.m. Groups consisting of up to seven students can register for the lip syncing event in Union Station until Jan. 18 at 2 p.m. to compete for $100 and $50 prizes.

Union Station manager Teto Henderson said another attraction of the bar is its 880 square-foot parquet dance floor — one of the largest in Manhattan — and a sophisticated sound system.

"We hope to provide possibly one of the best things to hit this community as a whole," Henderson said.

Union Station has been open since late November of 1990 to help management and employees work out the kinks of the every day operations, he said.

Campus Bulletin

Campus organizations are encouraged to use Campus Bulletin. All announcements must be submitted by 11 a.m. one day prior to publication. Announcements for Monday's bulletin must be submitted by 11 a.m. Friday. Publication is determined by the amount of space available on a first-come, first-served basis and is not guaranteed. Information forms are available on a shelf outside Kedzie 118A. You must have a picture ID to submit a bulletin. During business hours, IDs will be checked in Kedzie 116 or 118A. Forms should be left in the box outside 118A after being filled out. Questions should be directed to the Collegian's news editor in Kedzie 116.

Announcements

Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East will meet at noon between the Union and Seaton Hall. The program topic "No blood for oil peace demonstration."

Student Governing Association is accepting applications for campus committees, Student Senate standing committees and Senate interns. The applications are available and due in the SGS office (ground floor Union) by Wednesday, Jan. 23.

16 Wednesday

The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Robert Gouantoueu Guei 9 a.m. in Throckmorton 313. The topic is "Inheritance of Some Drought Adaptive Traits in Maize."

17 Thursday

Intramural Managers' Meeting is at 4 p.m. in the Union Forum Hall.

The College of Agriculture will have an interview clinic sign-up from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Waters Hall. Bring a data sheet.

Intramural Entry Deadline for basketball and individual sports is 5 p.m. in the Recreational Services Office at the Rec Complex.

Continuing Education Community Enrichment Program will meet in the KSU Natatorium at 5:30 p.m.

The Ag Student Council will meet in Waters 137 at 6 p.m.

Campus Crusade for Christ will meet in Throckmorton 131 at 8 p.m.

ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet in the Union Little Theater at 8 p.m. The speaker will be Matt George.

18 Friday

The Career Planning and Placement Center will conduct a placement orientation meeting in the K-State Union Big 8 room at 3:30 p.m. It is for all majors graduating in May, August or December 1991.

Manhattan Weather

Today, areas of low clouds and fog early, becoming partly cloudy by afternoon. Highs around 40. Northwest winds 5 to 10 mph. Tonight, partly cloudy. Lows 20 to 25.

AUDITIONS!

K-State Players
for Spring Semester

January 16th, 17th; Callbacks 18th
Nichols Hall Lobby—7 p.m.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
THE MAGIC FLUTE
BETRAYAL
THE PURSUIT OF ANNE

No preparation necessary—casual dress.

Numerous male & female roles available. We encourage students from all ethnic backgrounds to audition for all roles.

For further information call 532-6875.
Reading scripts available—129 Nichols.

BLOOD FOR OIL?

A ROTTEN DEAL

Peace Demonstration
Thursday, January 17
Between the Union & Seaton Hall
11:30-1 p.m.

You Deserve More Than Just a Basic Apartment...

You Deserve Brittney Ridge Townhomes!

Brittney Ridge Townhomes give you the luxury of an apartment with more added extras for as low as $195 a month. Each townhome has 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths, and a study room. Rooms are pre-wired for computer, phone, & cable TV. A large recreation area with gazebos, hot tubs and a volleyball court make this development more than just an apartment complex, but a community in itself.

Bus to Campus
Call Us Today
776-5599

Located in Northwest Manhattan on Candlewood Drive

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3805

OPERA
WAREHAM
HOUSE

... PRESENTS ...

*Jan. 18 - Homestead Grays
(straight up rock'n'roll)

*Jan. 19 - Left of Center Dance
(D.J.)

*Jan. 26 - Baghdad Jones
(Hot R & B)

*Feb. 1 - Vaughn & the Magnificent 7
(Big Band Sound)

410 Poyntz Avenue

for reservations: (913) 537-8646

Brown's SHOE FIT CO. CLEAN SWEEP

SHOE SALE
ENTIRE STOCK
has been reduced
Up to 75% off

Shoes on racks
as low as $9⁹⁷

Sale ends Jan. 20

Brown's
SHOE FIT CO.
311 Poyntz Downtown

Open 9-6; Thur. to 8:30
Sun. 1-4

Ben Franklin
Better quality for less

A Bear & A Chair

Feature Value!
Plush Bear, Stuffed 12-
in. Bear with jointed arms and red ribbon. Makes an adorable gift for all ages.

2.97

Through
Sunday,
Jan. 20, 1991

Chair-16" Rattan Chair for Bear $3.50
Limit 5 each per customer please

WESTLOOP SHOPPING CENTER
Manhattan 776-4910
Mon.-Fri. 9-9; Sat. 9-7; Sun. 1-6

Gov. Joan Finney pays tribute to the statue of Kansas Pioneer Woman in the southwest corner of the State House grounds in Topeka Monday afternoon after placing a wreath beneath the statue during inauguration ceremonies. Finney is the first woman governor in Kansas.

Inauguration of a GOVERNOR

ERWIN SEBA
Staff Reporter

TOPEKA — Joan Finney became the first woman governor of Kansas Monday in ceremonies that included artillery salutes, Native-American dances and an inaugural address by the state's new chief executive that offered no specific proposals or goals.

Finney, who won upset victories over her opponents in the 1990 primary and general elections, took the oath of office from Kansas Supreme Court Chief Justice Richard W. Holmes on the south steps of the Statehouse shortly before 12:30 p.m.

A few moments before her swearing-in, Finney officially ended 16 years as state treasurer when her successor, Sally Thompson of Topeka, was sworn in by Holmes.

Other members of the executive branch were sworn in during the noon-time ceremony. For Attorney General Bob Stephan, who began his fourth term in office, and Secretary of State Bill Graves, Monday's ceremonies were little more than formalities during their tenure in those offices.

New Insurance Commissioner Ron Todd replaced his boss, Fletcher Bell, by taking the oath of office from Holmes.

As he was walking into the Statehouse following the inauguration, new Lt. Gov. Jim Francisco of Mulvane looked over his shoulder and said to a friend, "I just wanted to go to the mike and say, 'how sweet it is.'"

Prior to officially leaving office, Gov. Mike Hayden made brief remarks at the inauguration.

"On behalf of all who have served as governor of our state ... I want you to know Joan, from the bottom of our hearts, we wish you the very, very best. ... In any way in which any of us may be of assistance to you, we stand at your beck and call. God bless you," Hayden said.

In her five-minute inaugural address, Finney stressed her desire to promote unity among the state's citizens and to draw inspiration from Kansas history when facing future

■ See FINNEY, Page 10A

Residents object to $75,000 dirt trail

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

The Manhattan City Commission approved the first reading of a special assessment for a $75,000 project involving Hudson Greenway Tuesday night.

The project was one of seven public improvement projects passed, totaling $485,525.

Many of the members of the benefit district objected to paying for 100 percent of the improvements and maintenance of the 2,400 foot dirt trail in the northwest corner of Manhattan. The improvements included planting trees and bushes along the trail, as well as partitioning the trail from automobile travel.

Bob Cook, 3312 Effingham Road and landowner in the benefit district, said he and his neighbors are upset because of the way the petition asking for the improvements was passed. Cook and many of his neighbors said they were completely unaware of the petition.

"Only 13 people signed the petition," Cook said. "That means those 13 people decided how over 350 people will spend their tax dollars."

The commission approved the petition in June of 1989. At that time, 67 percent of the land area in the benefit district was owned by landowners who approved of the petition.

City Manager Mike Conduff said that is well over the 50 percent required to judge the petition sufficient.

Commissioner Roger Maughmer said that the commission may ■ See CITY, Page 8A

Director outlines finances

Student Publications nears 'breaking point,' says Johnson

ERWIN SEBA
Staff Reporter

Student Publications Inc. Director Ron Johnson told the Board of Student Publications during an orientation meeting for new members Friday that the corporation is close to the financial "breaking point."

Johnson said Student Publications needs $70,000 in cash assets to operate the corporation for a month. But, at the end of the last fiscal year, the corporation's cash assets, after running a $54,000 deficit, totaled $84,000.

"If we think it takes $70,000 to run our business, to me that's the breaking point. We're terribly close," he said.

Johnson told the board it was likely the corporation would dip below $70,000 in cash assets by the end of this fiscal year.

The financial problems of Student Publications have also eaten into funds that were being set aside for capital outlays.

"Capital outlay is the term that we are now using to describe money that we set aside to purchase new equipment," he said.

Johnson explained to board members that the capital outlay fund was not held in a bank account separate from all of Student Publications' funds.

"The financial loss we had this last fiscal year depleted this (capital outlay) fund," Johnson said. "What asset ... we can deplete (to balance a financial loss), obviously that's going to get hit."

Following the meeting, board chairwoman Carol Oukrop said Student Publications would request an

■ See MEETING, Page 8A

Student senator dies

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

A K-State student senator died Monday night of a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head.

Nineteen-year-old Chris Huston, sophomore in business administration, was pronounced dead at the Asbury Hospital in Salina according to a press release from the Dickinson County Sheriff's Office.

Sheriff's officers found Huston at his father's home. He was transported by ambulance to Asbury Hospital. Huston had no vital signs at the time he arrived at the hospital, an Asbury Hospital spokeswoman said.

Huston's death is still under investigation, according to the sheriff's department.

"Chris had a really great sense of humor. He was just a really good guy," said Jon Gose, freshman in pre-med and FIJI member. "He had a lot of good friends, but he pretty much kept things inside. Nobody really knows why it happened."

SPRING BREAKS 1991

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119*
AMERICAN, RAMADA INN, VOYAGER OR DESERT INN HOTELS & KITCHENETTES • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129*
SHERATON CONDOS & HOTEL, GULF VIEW & LANDFALL TOWER CONDOS, OR HOLIDAY INN • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
STEAMBOAT from $96*
SHADOW RUN CONDOS OR OVERLOOK HOTEL • 2, 5 OR 7 NIGHTS WITH ALL LIFTS • PICNIC - RACE
FORT LAUDERDALE from $137*
LAUDERDALE BEACH HOTEL • 7 NIGHTS
PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124*
TOURWAY INN OR THE REEF KITCHENETTES • 7 NIGHTS
CORPUS CHRISTI/MUSTANG ISLAND from $108*
HOLIDAY INN OR PORT ROYAL OCEAN RESORT CONDOS • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112*
HILTON HEAD ISLAND BEACH & TENNIS RESORT CONDOS • 7 NIGHTS

DON'T DELAY!

CENTRAL SPRING BREAK INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS

1-800-321-5911

7AM-7PM M-Th, 7AM-5PM Fri, 9AM-5PM Sat. Mountain Standard Time
Reservations may be made by credit card

24 HOUR FAX RESERVATIONS (303) 225-1514

SAVE 50%

On Our Rich, Creamy, Premium Frozen Yogurt!

Your Choice of a Small, Medium or Large Cup or Cone

Toppings Extra--Waffle Cones Not Included

NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER OFFER

EXPIRES February 4, 1991 LIMIT TWO

Nautilus Towers - Aggieville
Phone 537-1616 Manhattan

The Original
97% Fat Free

The Miracle
Non-Fat, No Cholesterol

Miracle II
Non-Fat, Sugar-Free

Our Delicious, Premium Frozen Yogurt!

The Rich, Creamy Taste That Won The World Over!

NINE FLAVORS DAILY--PLENTY OF FREE PARKING

"You Can't Believe It Isn't Ice Cream!!"

OPEN: 11 A.M.-11 P.M. Daily;
Noon to 11 P.M. Sundays

Nautilus Towers in Aggieville
Phone 537-1616 Manhattan

EDITORIAL

National freedoms include telephone sex

As a new decade unfolds to confront the American people, many questions need to be raised. What's going to happen in the Persian Gulf? What about the economy? Which phone sex line to use?

All of these are important questions that deserve an answer. However, since I'm not a republican and received a C in economics, I'll leave the first two questions to those better qualified. My area of expertise then is the third. What exactly is this phone sex thing?

It is important at this juncture (thanks to George Bush) to note that my expertise is not based on actual phone calls to these numbers. My expertise is instead, primarily based on the advertisements for them in the various adult magazines available to us—the American male.

Most of us are familiar with these magazines. They're the ones in convenience stores that are usually surrounded by an infinite number of signs that state "buy before reading." They're also usually the ones you drag convenience store attendants away from when you pay for gas at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Anyway, while browsing through one of these magazines a couple of weeks ago, I took special notice of the various 'services' available. Mistress Roxanne's domination line seemed a little too rough for me. The direct line to truly horny housewives' bedrooms scared me. I know numerous housewives and somehow the idea of someone in a floral print mu-mu taking a call is something out of a Stephen King novel or at least the National Enquirer.

The college co-ed line seemed redundant. So did the hotline to the fantasy virgin. I began to panic. Was there nothing new? Was there no hope for phone sex in this great country known as the United States?

Then I saw it and realized my panic was premature. My pulse rate returned to normal as I realized there was still hope. There on the page was a number that gave you a direct line to women in prison.

They're young and beautiful. They're sorry for what they've done. They'll be getting out soon. Most importantly, they haven't been with a man in a long, long time. Can you help them?

In all honesty, the phone line to these "caged and chained" women was more than just another sex line. It instead was more of a date line. That's right. Now you can be the first on your block to date someone with a record. You could even have your wedding photographs done at booking.

Shawn Bruce

Collegian Columnist

Despite these advantages, there are some problems that I could see arise if one chose to date a "prison babe." First of all, how do you make sure your date is truly sorry for her crime? In other words, is she sorry she did it or is she just sorry that she got caught? Actually this problem could probably be solved by making her "say you're sorry like you really mean it."

However there is still the problem of taking a "San Quentin chick" home to meet the parents. I have a picture in my mind of my mom asking my new girlfriend what she's been doing the past three years and receiving the answer, "Time." Mom, the unflappable person she is, would probably then ask, "So what did you do before you went to prison?" After getting the answer "incredible amounts of narcotics," Mom would wait until she got me alone and then say something like this: "Shawn were're not trying to run your life, and we'll love you no matter what, but are you sure this is the kind of girlfriend you want?" Parents, you gotta love 'em.

There are some who would take away your right to dial "Folsom Prison dolls". North Carolina Senator Jesse Helms is one who immediately comes to mind. Senator Helms has dialed these services for "research purposes" (heh,heh) and has given accounts of these calls on the Senate floor.

Somehow, he also manages to tie in MTV, Madonna, and the sacrificing of goats with the phone sex issue into a downfall of American speech that is reminiscent of Joseph McCarthy. He also spits when he talks.

Other than making Bob Dole and other elderly Republican senators wish they were married to decent looking wives and doubling readership of the Congressional Record (for the phone sex transcripts), I fail to see any point in his or any of his compatriots' ravings.

I'd rather see a lonely guy call one of these services, than have him on top of Anderson Hall sniping at squirrels. The police get called, television crews show up and then on the six o'clock news we see people talking about how "he was quiet and always kept to himself." The way I look at it, if these services keep even one perky female news anchor away from Manhattan and K-State, they've more then served their purpose.

It boils down to a matter of personal privacy. If I choose to read Playboy or to call the rock groupie line, I don't really think that it's anyone's concern but my own. People are tired of reading these pleas for "damn liberal" ideas, but they are a necessary 'evil' to counter the Helmses and the Robertsons of the world. For better or worse, we live in the world of the mass media, where we pretty much believe what we see and read.

So, to those of you who want to see an end to phone sex lines, men's magazines, and convenience stores (although I believe the convenience-store crusade is pretty small), know there will always be those of us who will fight to keep our right to dial 900 numbers, read Playboy, and buy Wahoo chocolate drink whenever and wherever we want. Also, don't write in to me complaining about this column. I'll sick my new girlfriend on you.

Editorials

Campus provides public forum for all points of view, students

By the time you read this, American troops may be in combat. If not, there is little in the news to indicate war is far off.

If truth is the first casualty of war, tolerance is surely the second. War releases many emotions, many of which are unpleasant.

To deal with the fear and anxiety of war, some weak individuals redirect those emotions toward the hatred of those they believe to be the enemy. Others may find long-held bigotries acceptable or even fashionable.

In addition to these individual responses, governments in the past have found intolerance useful in disciplining their populations to accept the sacrifices of war.

The internment of Japanese-Americans after the the United States entered World War II is an example of the suspicion and hatred of perceived enemies that often follows the outbreak of hostilities.

It is the nature of the University that the population on campus is more diverse than the outside community. This diversity helps strengthen the University and enriches our experiences here.

There are students in the K-State community whose backgrounds give them perspectives and loyalties other than those prevailing in America. The possible contrary views presented by the Iraqi, Jordanian, Palestinian and other Middle Eastern students may target them for abuse from those inflamed with the emotions of the moment.

The intolerance of war is opposed to the role of universities as the free marketplace of ideas. In the dramatic days ahead, we at K-State should take it as a point of pride to live up to that tradition and not engage in intolerant acts against fellow students.

Medium warrants caution

On Christmas Day I went to see "Godfather III" in Wichita. Crew members from a local news station came into the theatre before the film started and began to question members of the audience on camera for the evening newscast.

"Why do you choose to see such a violent movie on Christmas?" I heard them ask a couple across the aisle from me: "Won't such a violent movie leave a bad taste in your mouth when you leave today, on a day when the emphasis is on peace and goodwill?"

I didn't feel particularly guilty about going to see the film, even on Christmas. I'd been looking forward to the release of the movie for months. Besides, my family had celebrated on Christmas Eve, and by three o'clock Christmas Day the holiday seemed to be more or less over with.

But when the movie began, I was given cause to reconsider the concern that the television crew had expressed. By coincidence, I found myself seated amongst several people who laughed at the violence in the movie. The laughter was not mocking or nervous; it was the laughter one would have expected to hear in a theater that was showing a comedy in which there was something genuinely funny happening.

I'm a big fan of the first two "Godfather" films, and I like the third as well. But it seems that the marketing of violence in the medium of film has, intentionally or not, trivialized its impact on the modern audience.

"Pop violence," as it may be termed, has become a standard in recent moneymakers. In some of these movies, the death of the bad guy is treated like part of a punchline. Such is the case in "Total Recall" when Quaid remarks (immediately after the murder of his "wife"): "Consider that a divorce."

Perhaps as remarkable as the way the audience is allowed to shake off scenes of violence is the mode of this violence. There seems to be a growing tendency in Hollywood-financed films to make violence more visually striking. It is not bad enough, it seems, that people are killed; they must be killed in cruel and unusual ways. Arms are torn off, eyes are poked out, and heads have bolts stuck through them.

This phenomenon is not confined to Hollywood, nor is it new (remember those zombies that ate human flesh in George Romero's 1968 original version of "Night of the Living Dead"?). But the "Living Dead" movies al-

Eric Becker

Collegian Columnist

I do believe, however, that movies can color the attitudes and, to some extent, even the sensibilities of an individual. It is not a question of what we watch so much as a question of how we watch. The mere recognition that "It's only a movie," may not be enough in a society already conditioned by pop violence.

Violence is an unfortunate reality in the world in which we live and a necessary evil in the movie world. The subject matter of the movies in the "Godfather" series require the portrayal of violence. The same, of course, can be said of movies like "Total Recall." But despite a mutual dependence on subject matter that is by definition violent, these movies are not the same.

There is a strong investment in character development in the "Godfather" films. Over the course of the three movies, Michael has evolved from loved American war hero into powerful mafia chief.

In movies like "Total Recall," on the other hand, an audience is often expected to identify with the main character because of the image he or she has established in previous films. We know we are supposed to side with Schwarzenegger before the movie starts, not because of any noble or heroic quality of the character that he portrays, but because he is Schwarzenegger.

The portrayal of violence in the "Godfather" films, however, may be just as dangerous as its use in movies of less substance. Any movie which characterizes violence may serve to glorify it, regardless of artistic merit, regardless of intent.

I remember, though, seeing Howard Hawks' original 1933 version of "Scarface" (not to be mistaken with the abominable 1983 remake) on the late show. A violent movie for the time of its release, Hawks' used the film as an indictment of organized crime in the United States. His methods may seem painfully obvious to a modern viewer, but they call attention to the atrocity of the violence the movie shows.

A more conscious awareness of what we watch in movies is needed in a society in which violence is a part of the pop movie culture. Graphic violence may hold our attention, but it does so for all the wrong reasons. A heightened awareness of what entertains us may be one of the first steps toward a healthier society and culture.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff (532-6556)

Editor.....Tomari Quinn
Managing Editor.....Greg Branson
News Editor.....Samantha Farr
Assistant News Editor.....Wendy Snider
Editorial Page Editor.....Steve Franzen
Photography Editor.....Margaret Clark
Campus Editor.....Kelly Berg
Sports Editor.....David Svoboda
City/Government Editor.....Elynn Jones
Features/Art Editor.....Shannon Helm
Staff Assistant.....Tristan Mohr
Copy Chief.....Amy Cox
Copy Editors.....Alicia Lowe
Agriculture Reporter.....Angela Waltz
Consumer Reporter.....Shannon Seely
Health/Science Reporter.....Jim Struber
Staff Reporters.....S. Katherine Dietrich
David Frese
Laura Hamod
Paul Noel
Dan Scott
Erwin Seba
Stacey Harbison
Eric Melin
Rebecca Sack

Columnists.....Eric Becker
Shawn Bruce
Brad Seaborn
Sports Reporters.....Eric Brown
Bill Bang
Jennifer Schelbler
Dan Wicker
Photographers.....Christopher T. Assaf
Brian W. Kratzer
Brad Camp
Oliver Kaubisch
J. Matthew Rhea
Mike Venso
J. Kyle Wyatt
Strip Cartoonists.....Daryl Blasi
Darwin Moore
Editorial Board.....Kelly Berg
Samantha Farr
Elynn Jones
Tomari Quinn
Lajean Rau
Wendy Snider
David Svoboda
Mike Venso
Amy Cox

Advertising Staff (532-6560)

Advertising Manager.....Karen Lind
Assistant Manager.....Doug Griffith
Campus/Tearsheet Manager.....David Little
Creative Director.....Mary Ubel
Graphic Artist.....Chris Tucker
Photographer.....Scott Boyd

Account Executives.....Rick Goetz
Angie Humphrey
Amy Montford
Stephanie Phelps
Jayme Wall
Cambly Colley
Randy Hudlin
Lea Linthacum
Mark Neely
Brett Taylor

Student Publications Staff (532-6555)

Director/News Adviser.....Ron Johnson
Advertising Director.....Gloria Freeland
Assistant Director.....Linda Puntny
Business Manager.....Ann Foster
Accounts Receivable.....Jackie Harmon
Classified Ad Manager.....Linda Weatherly
Office Manager.....Pat Hudgins
Administrative Assistant.....Connie Fulkerson
News Production Coordinator.....Carla Jones

Ad Production Coordinator.....Wanda Haynie
Ad Production Assistants.....Danna Franklin
Britt Owen
Pam Ficke
Tammi Landis
Chris Tucker
Office Staff.....Shanta Bailey
Christa South
Joe Cook
Carriers.....John Fulkerson
Norm LeComte
Janies Seymore

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Keadzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published daily during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.
POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Keadzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.
News contributions will be accepted by telephone, (913) 532-6556, or at the Collegian newsroom, Keadzie Hall 116. Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or Spring).....$30
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring).....$54
Summer Session.....$10
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer).....$60
To charge by VISA or Mastercard, call (913) 532-6555
Send orders and address changes to Student Publications, Keadzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan., 66506.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
OP-ED

Editorial changes set for spring semester

With the beginning of a new semester comes new classes, new teachers and a new Collegian. Mixed amongst the numerous improvements within this student newspaper is a new editorial page.

This page will feature some new columnists, some new sections and hopefully, some new perspectives. But before we embark on this strange and wonderful journey, we should really lay down a few ground rules. What that really means is I need to tell you the ins and outs of the student newspaper's editorial page.

This process has become necessary because of the lack of knowledge as to what purpose an editorial page should serve. No, the editorial page is not set in stone or based completely in facts. And yes, an editorial page should reserve the right to endorse candidates if it can do so objectively.

The first and most important aspect for all students to remember is that the editorial page is the ONE page in the Collegian that is opinion. We will run no articles on this page, only editorials and columns will appear here.

Following that aspect, the Collegian has a responsibility to K-State students to present thought-provoking columns, logical editorials and responsive letters to the editor.

The Collegian hopes to enlighten the student body about topics, from the campus to the international spectrum, that directly affect each K-Stater.

Ultimately, the editorial page is yours, the students'. By changing your University environment and becoming involved, the editorial page must present what is important to you. This space will be used as a medium for you to express your beliefs and ideas. But there are no wrong ideas, only different points of view.

You may ask yourself who died and left us editorially in charge of some 20,000 college

Steve Franzen
Editorial Page Editor

students in the middle of Kansas. The answer my friend is simple. We at the Collegian are paid to follow today's issues, research the facts and present them to our readers. We try to remain objective in our viewing roles, and we hope to present to you the base arguments that will allow you to make informed decisions.

In short, and to borrow an idea from one of my columnists, the main goal of the editorial page is to make people think. Perhaps a lofty goal, but one I think we can mutually achieve.

Following are the individual sections of this semester's editorial page, its functions and its policies.

DAILY COLUMNS

Each day the Collegian will feature one or two of its six columnists. The columnists will appear on their appointed day and will give a new angle on everyday events throughout the semester. The columnists consist of three returning writers and three new faces. This is the editorial page's first medium for social commentary. The columnists represent a cross section of the campus from non-traditional students to the regular college diploma-seeker. Oh yeah, for all those who were holding their breath, Brad Seabourn is back. Amen.

EDITORIALS

Probably the most important, and hotly debated, section of the page. Each day one or two editorials commenting on issues that are making headlines will offer the Collegian's official viewpoint to the students. Topics can range from bills mired in Senate subcommittees to Madonna's latest attention-grabbing scheme. The topics and opinions are those decided upon by the Collegian Editorial Board. The board consists solely of 12-18 paid Collegian staff members. Each day one editorial board member will write an unsigned editorial which carries the approval of the entire editorial board. The rebroadcast of these opinions without the express written consent and permission of the National Football League and the Buffalo Bills is expressly prohibited by law.

CARTOONIST'S GALLERY

The one visual medium of editorial comment can be found straddling the center of the page each day. The majority of cartoons will be from a nationally syndicated cartoonist by the name of Toles. The Collegian encourages and will gladly accept local cartoonist's material. Such contributions will not be purchased, and the publishing of such material will be subject to the decision of the editorial page editor — that's me.

GUEST COLUMNS

Once a week, the Collegian will give an individual in the University community or the Manhattan township the opportunity to reach the K-State student body on topics which directly affects them. The editorial page editor encourages the submission of such material. Guest columns should be submitted in a typed, double-spaced format and should be about 650 words in length.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Letters are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of the campus and/or the public interest are especially encouraged and are given preferential treatment. Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably less than 300 words in length. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

OP-ED PAGE

This page will run opposite the editorial page. It will often run entirely with letters to the editor and/or a cartoonist's gallery. The page will present more of a personal view to current issues.

ANOTHER PERSPECTIVE

This is one of the page's brand-spanking-new areas. Hopefully this feature will show K-Staters what other newspapers, both collegiate and mainstream metropolitan, are giving to their readers, editorially speaking. This should allow readers to see what topics are prominent across county and state lines, and possibly even in different time zones.

CAMPUS VOICES

This final change of the editorial page will allow you to see how today's issues affect fellow K-Staters. Through the wonderful magic of photography, we will attempt to put people's opinions with their faces. This will allow me the opportunity to get out of the newsroom and see if the rest of the campus has changed since my freshman year. It will also give three lucky students the golden opportunity each week to speak their minds in their daily newspaper.

That's it for the physical changes of the page. But the final, and most important change remains to be made. But I cannot do that alone. That change is the changing of minds and opinions through reasoned and logical discourse.

That's where you the students, faculty and staff come in. You are the sounding boards for any campus idea or point of view.

No matter your definition, the editorials investigate an idea or issue. It can also inform the readers of background, describes journalistic decisions, entertains readers, expresses opinions, explains the news, forecasts the future, passes judgements on events and educates readers.

The late Joseph Pulitzer said editorials were the expression of a newspaper's conscience, courage and convictions.

Think about it.

Breakdown of editorial page

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

Unicorn Treasure Chest
Thrift Shop
Larry & Melody Smith Management
431 South 5th
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
913-776-0709
10-6 Mon.-Sat.

Knickknacks
Appliances
Books
Jewelry
Feathers
Clothing
Furniture
Antiques
Household
Costumes

Fanny Packs and Book Packs!

Lots of models!
Come look them over!

from

Caribou
Kangaroo
JanSport
Alpenlite
Lowe
Camp Trails
The North Face

Ask about lifetime warranty

1111 Moro Aggieville

Jan. 14, 15, 16 & 17
Look for the table
on the Union Main Floor
10 a.m.-2 p.m. each day

Cast your vote ($) in the Union. The person whose jar contains the most votes "wins." Come watch the winner kiss the pig-Jan. 18 at noon, in the Union Station.

All proceeds go to benefit the KSU SADD Chapter.

funded in part by City of Manhattan and KSU Alcohol & Other Drug Education Service.

KSU Federal Credit Union

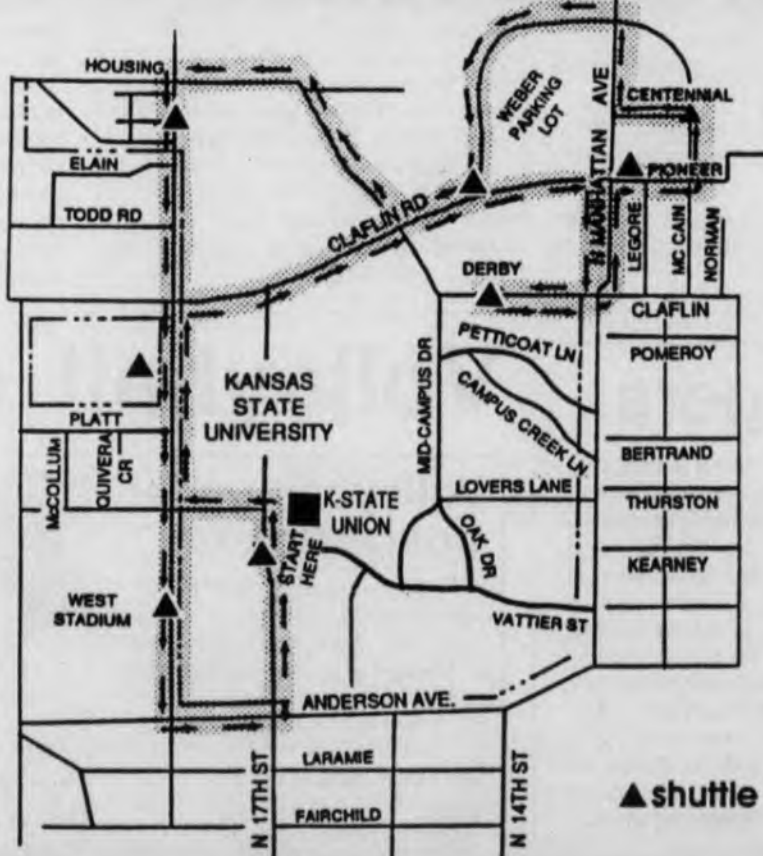

532-6274

New Car Loans

8.9% APR

for 24 months

FREE SHUTTLE

▲ shuttle stops

BUS

STOP

We really move our bus for you!!

January 14 to 18,
January 21 to 25 and
January 28 to
February 1, 1991

Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the Bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each half hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windsocks!

Support the K-State Union!
Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student activities, programs and services

K-State Union Bookstore

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTSMizzou
downs
Sooners

By the Associated Press

COLUMBIA, Mo. — For heated athletic competition between young men, there was a basketball game.

For angry bickering between middle-aged men, there was the Norm Stewart-Billy Tubbs squabble that raged between the two coaches throughout Missouri's 80-72 victory Tuesday night over No. 11 Oklahoma.

"What was it about? Ask Norm. He started it," said Oklahoma's Tubbs, who has lost six straight to his old rival at the Hearn Center. "Last year, he attacked my manager and trainer. Now, I guess he's working up to coaches. Ask him about it. I respond the same way I'm treated. But he got his way tonight. What does he want? He got his way."

MU 80, OU 72

It was the 200th Big Eight victory for Stewart, the dean of Big Eight coaches, who preferred to talk about his team and not his feud with Tubbs.

"Billy had given me a pleasant surprise some time earlier in the ballgame," Stewart said. "He kind of lost control, it seemed to me. Just an exchange of pleasantries. He got his in at the first part, and I got mine in at the end."

Stewart had plenty to say, especially about Doug Smith, who had 31 points and 14 rebounds, and Anthony Peeler who had 19 points. The Tigers are 7-0 since Peeler returned from first semester academic problems.

"Doug is playing within himself, except for a few times. And you get Anthony in there, they work real well," he said. "The other players are starting to play off them."

Missouri (10-4 overall, 3-0 Big Eight) erased a 7-point halftime deficit and beat the Sooners (13-3, 2-1) for the sixth straight time at home. Oklahoma shot only 36 percent.

"We played hard tonight," Tubbs said. "I was proud of our team's effort."

Oklahoma's Terry Evans made a 3-pointer with 47 seconds left that made it 75-72, and the Sooners called time out. Bryan Sallier stole a Missouri pass a few seconds later and went to the free-throw line with 35 seconds remaining. But he missed both foul shots. Smith got the rebound for Missouri, and then sank two free throws with 21 seconds to go.

When the game ended, every player on the floor for Oklahoma had four fouls. The Sooners were led by Jeff Webster with 22 points, Evans with 15 and Brent Price and Sallier with 12 apiece.

Trailing 44-37 at halftime, the Sooners (13-3, 2-1) fought back to 56-55 on Kermit Holmes' free throw with 10:10 remaining.

Defense keys win

Wires leads
'Cat effort against 'RoosBILL LANG
Sports Reporter

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Bad weather not only slowed down residents of Kansas City and the surrounding area, it also slowed down K-State and UMKC on the basketball court Tuesday evening at Municipal Auditorium.

Both teams fought off miserable shooting that saw them end the first half at 36-26 in favor of the 'Cats. K-State committed seven turnovers in the first 10 minutes of play, while UMKC had 10 miscues.

The only thing that was even marginally hot was K-State's defense — throughout the entire game — as it helped guide the 'Cats to a 76-62 win.

K-State 76, UMKC 62

In the first half, Maurice Brittian had easy access to the bucket, scoring eight points in the first 20 minutes on layups or tip-ins. Jeff Wires scored six points on layups in the first half.

Jean Derouillere, in the first half, was stymied by a sore back, which eventually loosened up, and scored just four points before ending with 15.

It was the Wildcat defense that drew raves from everyone who participated in or watched the contest.

"Our defense really had a good game," Brittian said. "We got a few blocks in the first half, and that seemed to knock UMKC a little off balance."

K-State coach Dana Altman agreed his defense was the key to the victory.

"We played some awfully tough defense, especially in the first half," he said. "We turned the defense up a notch in the second half and were able to shut them down even more."

UMKC coach Lee Hunt thought this to be a most unkind birthday present.

"I really believed that we could have played them much better than we did," Hunt said. "We're a Division I school now, but we didn't look like it tonight."

"However, Coach Altman's crew played tough defense tonight. We got down close, but there were just no openings to be found. They shut the door on our face."

Wires led the Cats in scoring with 16 on 6-of-12 shooting, including a pair of three-pointers. Derouillere's 15, Brittian's 12 and John Rettiger's 10 rounded out the 'Cats in double digits.

Senior center John Rettiger attempts a shot during the second half against UMKC Tuesday night in Municipal Auditorium in Kansas City, Mo.

For UMKC Kent Denmon led the way with 14 points, with 12 coming from bonus range. He was followed by Anthony Davis, who chipped in 12.

Wires said he thought the second half could have been disastrous if K-State hadn't been able to turn up the shooting a notch. But he agreed that the defense was the showcase for the night.

"They were a scrappy bunch, and they kept trying to push it inside," he said. "However, our total team defense made the difference. We denied passing lanes and denied second shots."

With the win, K-State is now 3-0 in Kansas City this season.

"I hope we can stay undefeated in Kansas City after the season," Altman said in reference to the Big Eight postseason tournament, which will be held in Kemper Arena in March.

K-State moved to 9-5 on the season, while UMKC dropped to 8-9.

K-STATE (76)
Amerson 3-5 0-0 6, Rettiger 3-7 4-8 10, Brittian 5-8 2-2 12, Wires 6-12 2-4 16, Derouillere 5-10 4-5 15, Shadd 1-2 0-0 2, King 1-4 0-0 2, Howard 2-5 1-2 5, Zeigler 0-3 1-2 1, Sams 1-2 0-0 4, Fritz 1-1 2-3 4, Totals 28-59 17-26 76.

UMKC (62)
Dumas 2-9 2-2 6, Spiva 0-2 3-4 3, A. Davis 5-7 2-3 12, Denmon 4-6 2-2 14, Schmitz 4-14 0-9 9, Seabrooks 0-1 0-0 0, Dickerson 3-7 0-0 6, Echols 1-2 0-0 2, J. Davis 2-6 2-2 6, Williams 2-3 0-0 4, Totals 23-57 11-13 62.

Halftime — K-State 36, UMKC 26. Three-point goals — K-State 3-9 (Shadd 0-1, Wires 2-3, Derouillere 1-2, Zeigler 0-3), UMKC 5-15 (Dumas 0-1, Denmon 4-6, Schmitz 1-6, Dickerson 0-1, Echols 0-1). Rebounds — K-State 38 (Derouillere 7), UMKC 32 (Dumas 8). Assists — K-State 13 (Zeigler 5), UMKC 13 (Dickerson 5). Total fouls — K-State 15, UMKC 19. Fouled out — Denmon, A — 6, 252.

Sports Briefly

Miller squelches rumors

K-State athletic director Steve Miller squelched a rumor over the holiday break that he might accept the same position at the University of Miami.

"I have no desire to go to Miami," he said. "I don't even want to live in Florida."

The position became available when former University of Miami athletic director Sam Jankovich left for a front-office job with New England Patriots of the National Football League.

Miller said his name probably got tossed in as a possible candidate due to the recent success of athletics at K-State.

"We've been doing some positive things here," he said. "We still have a long way to go and now would not be a good time to leave."

Miller, who just returned from the NCAA Convention in Nashville, Tenn., admits that he did talk to someone about the job, but in a very informal matter.

WSU loses

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Creighton scored the winning basket early against Wichita State Tuesday night — the first shot.

The Bluejays jumped out to a 12-0 lead after nearly eight minutes, upped that to 28-5 after 14 minutes and 37-15 at halftime on the way to a 79-56 win over Wichita State in Missouri Valley Conference play.

Creighton repeated its first-half feat with a 12-0 run to start the second half and opened up its biggest lead at 60-22 with 11:53 left.

Reforms made at conventionTODD FERTIG
Sports Reporter

Several controversial reforms were passed as the NCAA Convention in Nashville, Tenn., last week, intended to enhance educational opportunities and contain athletic costs, but possibly in exchange for athletic excellence.

Determined to afford student athletes the best education possible, the NCAA approved constraints on the amount of time devoted to athletic activities and reductions in the number of games in all sports except football.

"The outcome of the convention went primarily the way I thought it would because of the concerns of the public about the general direction of college athletics and because of the government becoming a factor," K-State athletic director Steve Miller said.

"Colleges are beginning to understand that they cannot continue to operate the way they have financially. They also realize that either they must handle the problems quickly and efficiently or else the Congress will step in and take the matter in its own hands."

Possibly the most controversial of developments was the NCAA's approval of 10 percent across-the-board reduction of scholarships and the elimination of some assistant coaching positions for the sake of cost containment.

The Presidents Commission, a policy-making committee of university presidents, proposed most of the legislation relating to time and cost restraints. The committee's proposals frequently ran unopposed and passed by overwhelming margins.

President Jon Wefald said following the convention that the reform package was a positive move toward better education.

"The reforms for cost reduction, cost containment and reduction of time demands on student athletes constitute a tremendous step forward for all of intercollegiate athletics," Wefald said.

"I believe this demonstrates that presidents have listened to the concerns expressed about intercollegiate athletics and have taken positive steps to curtail costs and improve conditions for all student athletes."

Scholarship reduction found an unpopular reception from coaches who claim the cost reduction proposal does not justify depriving athletes of educational opportunities.

"I understand their thinking, but I'm just not sure that cutting the number of scholarships is going to save all that much money," basketball coach Dana Altman said. "When you're talking about the number of students you can give a scholarship, I think they should have looked at other ways of cutting costs first."

The reduction proposal calls for the number of football scholarships awarded to be reduced from 95 to 85 over the next five years and the number of basketball scholarships to drop from 15 to 13 by 1993.

The 10 percent cut in scholarships for all sports brought additional reaction from women's athletics. Because female athletes receive only 33 percent of all

■ See NCAA, Page 7A

Big 8, SWC discuss pact

TODD FERTIG
Sports Reporter

An alliance between the Big Eight and the Southwest conferences to attract a greater television market took another step toward fruition at the NCAA Convention in Nashville, Tenn., last week, K-State athletic director Steve Miller said.

Representatives of the universities from the two conferences and the commissioner of each conference met during the convention to discuss in greater detail the proposed alliance.

Miller said the primary motivation behind the talks is to increase television revenues by creating attractive non-conference matchups.

"It is very obvious that something must be done to help put us in a good bargaining position for TV contracts," Miller said, pointing to such conferences as the ACC and Big Ten, which attract much larger television audiences.

"What we've got to do is find some creative ways to overcome our smaller markets."

Miller said athletic matchups with the Southwest Conference itself are not the primary attraction of the alliance. The potential to combine with the Southwest to organize televised events with other conferences makes the alliance desirable, he said.

"It's not really to set up athletic events within the Southwest Conference, but to see what we can get together with a third conference," Miller said.

"We can't change the number of television sets there are in the Midwest. What we want to do is to develop a menu of activities that will align us with a conference who has large viewing audiences and has something to gain from contests with schools from our two conferences."

Events discussed at the meetings included more competitive football contests, featuring perennial powers Colorado, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Texas, and Texas A&M, and a winter basketball challenge between the Big Eight and the Southwest conferences.

"We're in a very good position right now," Miller said of the Big Eight. "With four or five basketball teams in the NCAA tournament each year and our contract with the Orange Bowl, we've been doing well from TV revenues. But college sports are changing and something must be done if we are to secure TV contracts in the future."

Television marketing experts are being consulted to help develop a package to present to other conferences by spring, and Miller said he expects a deal to be struck within a couple of months.

Women prepare to face Tigers

DAN WICKER
Sports Reporter

The Lady Cats will make their last stop tonight in a series of five road games.

K-State will make the stop at the Hearn Center in Columbia, Mo., to face the Lady Tigers. The 7 p.m. contest will be the third straight Big Eight road game for the Lady Cats, who stand 8-5 overall and 1-1 in the Big Eight. Missouri's record is 7-8 and 0-2.

First-year coach Susan Yow will be making yet another debut in Big Eight play. Yow has never faced Missouri in her career, and she said she has heard some of those first-year coach horror stories.

"I hear that it is a real tough place to play from players and former coaches. I also heard that they have some mean fans," Yow said. "I think we are going to need to play a real good game mentally."

Missouri dropped its first two

Big Eight games on the road to Oklahoma State and Oklahoma, but the Tigers are a tough team to beat at home. Missouri is the only Big Eight school against whom the Lady Cats do not hold the series edge, and the home team has won nine of the last 10 meetings.

The Tigers are led by forward/center Lisa Sandbothe. A key Tiger attribute, Yow said, is their physical style of play. The key to boosting the Lady Cats to 2-1 in the conference will be controlling those two Missouri strengths.

"It is going to be a real physical game. We need to go into the game in a real aggressive way. Sometimes their physical play can take you out of the game," Yow said.

"We need to try to continue to jell within our team. We are a much better team than we were prior to the break. We are much better in our offensive and defensive repertoire."

The top problem the Lady Cats are looking to control is their play on the offensive end of the court. The scoring and the balanced attack has remained, but Yow said she wants to see improvement in the execution of the game, such as the exact timing of setting screens.

"We need to start concentrating on us. If anything suffered over the break, it was our offensive play," Yow said. "We were just kind of out of synch, and the harder we tried the worse it got. We weren't doing the little things, and our timing was off."

One bright spot for K-State over the holiday break came with the sixth man. Leah Honeycutt has become the K-State secret off the bench, averaging 8.8 points during the last five games and grabbing another seven rebounds during that stretch.

She had her career-high 14 points and 14 rebounds in the 75-71 win over Nebraska.

Volleyball coach resigns

Volleyball under Coach Nelson

After 11 years at the helm, volleyball coach Scott Nelson resigned unexpectedly on Jan. 4. Nelson was the winningest coach in K-State history.

Career records

Year	School
1980	K-State
1981	K-State
1982	K-State
1983	K-State
1984	K-State
1985	K-State
1986	K-State
1987	K-State
1988	K-State
1989	K-State
1990	K-State

Career totals

Record	Percentage
12-23	.343
16-23-1	.413
15-15	.500
19-15	.559
19-14	.576
21-11	.656
12-17	.414
17-11	.607
15-13	.536
11-19	.367
11-15	.423

168-176-1 .488

Source: K-State Sports Information

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

From Staff and Wire Reports

Scott Nelson, K-State's volleyball coach for the past 11 years, resigned Jan. 4.

"I've enjoyed my time at K-State," Nelson said, "but there are other opportunities out there that I'd like to look into. This seemed like a good time to make a move."

Athletic Director Steve Miller indicated a nationwide search for Nelson's successor would begin next week, with a new coach to be in place by March or April.

"Scott gave 11 years to K-State, and we are grateful for his efforts," Miller said. "I'm sure he's bound for good things."

Nelson had the longest coaching tenure of any volleyball mentor in the history of K-State and is the winningest coach in the history of the school.

Nelson was the dean of K-State head coaches. His resignation gives that title to Steve Bietau, who has been tennis coach since the 1985 season.

CHAMP CAMP

Baseball team enjoys 9 days of brutal work

DAN WICKER
Sports Reporter

While the thought of a seven-hour training day may not have appealed to most students over Christmas break, it is a task that faced the K-State baseball team.

Coach Mike Clark and the Wildcat baseball crew were involved in a pre-season training program nicknamed Champ Camp. The program concluded Tuesday.

"It is a way of bringing the kids into proper shape. It is also real good as far as individual attention with the players, where they can break things down a lot easier," Clark said.

Champ Camp was a time that forced the players to become a team.

Clark said everything was competitive, and if one person on a team lost, the whole team suffered. The suffering came every night of the just over one-week period.

"It is pretty torturous at times, but they usually make it so the loser runs more than the winner. It is good for us though," Wildcat Brad Rippelmeyer said. "The team all pulls for each other. Some of the newer players may think it is a little much. There is not a lot of complaining, and when they see nobody complaining, they keep their mouths shut too."

Wildcat first baseman Chris Hmielewski practices hitting baseballs thrown by outfielder Blair Hanneman during the final day of Champ Camp Tuesday at the Branderberry Indoor Complex.

During the conditioning period competition, the winner ran the least and the loser suffered the most. Clark gave the example of a putt-putt golf tournament, with the winning group running a mile and the final group running approximately two miles.

"Everything we do is goal-oriented. There is a winner, and there is a loser. The winners have to run, but they don't have to run as much as the losers," Clark said. "There are all sorts of competition and everything is competitive."

The camp was not all running and torture. It also focused on the strong fundamentals needed by all baseball teams. Each position had a specified workout time every day along with team defense plays, such as bunts, pick-off plays and hitting.

"This gives us a jumpstart on fundamentals for the season. It is a commitment on the part of the players toward the program," Clark said.

"Each player is probably spending seven hours a day on baseball, so it is a time commitment thing and a discipline one, and we can do that without the pressure of going to class."

Champ Camp was initiated last year, and Clark said he thought it did

This gives us a jumpstart on fundamentals for the season. It is a commitment on the part of the players toward the program.

—Mike Clark
baseball coach wonders for the team, which finished second in the Big Eight Conference.

With many returning players from that squad, Clark said he tried to get all the players to expect more out of themselves.

"I was tickled to death with it last year. Champ Camp is the fundamentals and all that other stuff, but then there has got to be the togetherness and the finding out who your leaders are," Clark said. "Saturday night, some of the guys really took the bull by the horns, and we had a very extensive conditioning program. Since then, I have been very pleased."

"When I was a freshman, we didn't have Champ Camp, and we weren't nearly as close. Now that we do have it, you are around everyone for 10 days straight and it brings us really close," Rippelmeyer said.

The focus last year was to talk about the season and the goals of the team, but this year Clark said he believes the players are already ahead of that. He said the camp was filled with more confidence and long-range goals.

"This year there is not a lot of talking, and what little bit there is that the kids know we can do it," Clark said. "This year I feel more confidence. They are staying more focused on the long-range goal."

K-State will open its season on Feb. 16 against Arkansas in Fayetteville, Ark. The home opener is Feb. 23 when Fort Hays State comes to town.

Questions abound after crazy month

David Svoboda

Sports Editor

The month gone by in the sports world failed to resolve much. In fact, local fans have probably been left with more questions than answers based on recent events.

Take the men's basketball team, for example. Any of you could probably play cub reporter for a day and formulate the same kind of questions the media has been asking about this group lately.

Will Jean Derouillere ever have a complete game in which he plays up to his potential? Can Jeff Wires be the team leader if Derouillere fails to respond?

And that just gets you out of the backcourt.

In the middle, will John Rettiger have a game at home — where fans boo him and he appears to play under a great deal of self-imposed pressure — that will finally silence his growing crowd of critics? And can Maurice Brittan score in big games? He can pass and rebound, but can he contribute 10 points a night?

It doesn't get any easier to find answers on the baseline.

Keith Amerson started the year like a house afire, but can he recapture that earlier intensity and scoring punch? Will Wylie Howard, who looked like a shoo-in for the Big Eight's most improved player honor, play like he is capable, or will he continue to show an inconsistency in his play that too many of his teammates are showing?

Finally, as a team, will this group be able to steal a road win to make up for a home loss to Nebraska — a team K-State has owned in Manhattan in recent seasons?

And can the inconsistency end in time to salvage something from this season — namely, a fifth-straight tournament appearance of some sort? That's eight questions on men's basketball alone, and the surface has just been scratched.

Shifting gears to football — both college and professional — a myriad of additional puzzles exist.

How are the 'Cats doing in their on-going recruiting battles? Will February be a kind month in terms of signings, or will a 5-6 record just allow Bill Snyder and crew to finish second in the eyes of a better caliber of athlete?

Professionally, can the Chiefs use the bitter end of this season as a motivator for next? Can Steve DeBerg be expected to duplicate his performance next year, or should the team be sweating the fact it has no proven backup quarterback?

A quick peek at the boys of spring and summer — those players who make the diamonds a favorite sanctuary for many — doesn't help the fog to lift.

Can Coach Mike Clark's team realistically expect to contend for another title in the Big Eight, now that the element of surprise is gone? Can a large but fairly untested pitching staff — especially in the bullpen — be as good on the field as they appear on paper?

East on 1-70, will the mood reflected by Kirk Gibson's visit to his new home last week be carried throughout the year? Can Gibson and Mike Boddicker give the Royals the infusion of desire they so desperately needed last season, but failed to get?

No doubt, there are several questions left unanswered in every sport about which we write and you follow.

It's time to begin the process of searching for the answers. We'll watch some of them unfold right along with you.

Break games mixed bag for hoop squads

'Cats use emotion in tourney

SCOTT PASKE
Sports Reporter

Wylie Howard said K-State coach Dana Altman delivered an important message to the Wildcats before the opening round of the BMA Holiday Classic in Kansas City, Mo., last month.

"He really emphasized the emotional aspect of the game," Howard said after K-State's 83-57 win over Texas A&M on Dec. 28, 1990. "He told us to play with more emotion. We had fun and it paid off."

The focus on spirited play helped the 'Cats capture their first regular-season tournament title in three years, as K-State pounded Murray State 67-50 the following night at Kemper Arena. But shooting woes from the field and free-throw line made K-State struggle to win four of its seven games over Christmas break.

Case in point occurred Saturday at Missouri, when K-State hit only 38 percent during the second half in a 62-60 loss to the Tigers to fall to 8-5 overall and 0-2 in Big Eight play for the first time since 1985.

K-State rallied from a 12-point deficit early in the second half to cut the lead to 47-44 with 13:12 remaining. While a lid remained on the Tiger basket for more than six minutes, the 'Cats were unable to narrow the gap and eventually lost when Mizzou forward Jeff Warren tipped in Anthony Peeler's miss with 1.4 seconds showing on the clock.

Even though poor shooting was K-

Wildcat/Lady Cat basketball semester break round-up

Wildcat Basketball

Opponent	Score	Top scorer/# of points	Top rebounder/# of rebounds
LAMAR	81-64	Derouillere/23	Howard/11
UC-SANTA BARBARA	78-81	Derouillere/29	Howard/8
Texas A & M	83-57	Howard/19	Howard/8
Murray State	67-50	Derouillere/22	Howard/8
NEBRASKA	69-74	Wires/21	Brittan/8
Wichita State	67-66	Wires/17	Amerson/7
Missouri	60-62	Derouillere/19	Rettiger/9

Lady Cat Basketball

Opponent	Score	Top scorer/# of points	Top rebounder/# of rebounds
Creighton	75-83	D. Miller/24	Bahner/9
SOUTHERN METHODIST	69-59	D. Miller/17	Honeycutt/14
Georgia State	67-57	D. Miller/15	D. Miller/8
Mercer	60-57	D. Miller/24	Hazim/9
Nebraska	76-71	Hazim/18	Honeycutt/14
Colorado	74-75	D. Miller/28	Bahner/7

Teams in all caps designate home games.

Source: K-State Sports Information

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

State's Achilles' heel during the break, it plagued opponents in each of the 'Cats' four wins. K-State opened the holiday season with an 81-64 win over Lamar at Bramlage Coliseum, holding the Cardinals to 32 percent shooting for the game.

The 'Cats committed 22 turnovers in the win, but Lamar countered with a frigid effort from three-point range, hitting just 3-of-25 attempts.

"We had our chances, and that is what is so disappointing," Lamar coach Mike Newell said. "When you are playing on the road, and a team makes a run at you, you have to hit your shots, and that is what we didn't do."

The 'Cats learned what Newell was talking about at home Dec. 22 in an 81-78 loss to UC-Santa Barbara. K-State led 57-42 with 14 minutes remaining, but several missed free throws allowed the Gauchos to catch K-State on a four-point play by Idris Jones at the 5:36 mark. Jones hit a 22-footer from the left wing and was fouled by 'Cat guard Jeff Wires.

The comeback stunned the sparse holiday crowd of 6,299.

"That was a really big win for us," Gaucho coach Jerry Pimm said. "We really needed it after coming so close against Texas."

K-State bounced back to smash Texas A&M after a six-day layoff. Howard and Darryl King posted career highs with 19 and 16 points to lead the 'Cats, as the Aggies hit just 33 percent of their shots.

"I thought our emotion was a lot better," Altman said after the win. "We've been getting teams down, then lose our emotion and don't respond well. Defensively, I thought we were very good."

The 'Cats took their suffocating defense into the championship game the following night, as Murray State hit only 25 percent on 15-of-59 attempts.

Jean Derouillere, who scored 22 points against the Racers, was named the tournament's most valuable player. Wires and King were also named to the all-tournament team.

K-State started the Big Eight season with a 74-69 loss to No. 17 Nebraska. Poor shooting befuddled the 'Cats, as K-State made just 34 percent of its shots.

The 'Cats came back two days later to capture its first road victory, a 67-66 thriller over Wichita State. Wires, who missed a chance to tie Nebraska late in the game, nailed a 15-footer with Shocker guard Paul Guffovich in his face to give the 'Cats the win.

Lady Cats have mini streak in midst of holiday tilts

BILL LANG
Sports Reporter

For Coach Susan Yow and the Lady Cats, Christmas break was rewarding and not-so-rewarding.

"Well, we've been on a mini roll of sorts," said the first-year coach. "We started out with a good win at home against Southern Methodist University, then we ran off three straight against other teams on the road."

Yow said her main concern for the team was the ability to put together a complete game.

"We aren't putting together 40 minutes of basketball, and that shows," Yow said. "Our intensity is there and our teamwork is there, but we need to put together a complete game."

Yow also said the team is no longer relying on one or two players to carry them late in a close game.

"Everybody gets a chance to be hero," she said.

Colorado 75, Lady Cats 74

However, the heroes got shot down Saturday night in Boulder at the Coors Events Center by one point.

Yow said the team did a lot of positive things to get into position to win but came up on the short end.

Senior Diana Miller scored a season-high 28 points, including 18 in the second half. Nadira Hazim tossed in another 20 for the Lady Cats.

The Lady Cats had a last-second shot by Hazim fall short, and Mary Jo Miller couldn't get off a shot before the final buzzer.

The loss dropped the Lady Cats to 8-5 overall and 1-1 in Big Eight play.

Lady Cats 76, Nebraska 71

In the Nebraska game, Diana Miller lit the cords on fire in the waning minutes — scoring the final 12 points for the Lady Cats — to lead K-State to the five-point victory. Hazim was the leading scorer with 18 and Miller ended the game with 15.

Lady Cats 60, Mercer 57

In the game against Mercer University, Miller again was the team's leading scorer, tossing in 24 points for the Lady Cats' triumph. Miller was also third in rebounding with seven. Hazim had 16 points in the winning effort.

Lady Cats 67, Ga. State 57

K-State notched a 10-point victory over Georgia State with Miller and Hazim leading the way in scoring with 15 points each. Miller was also the leading rebounder with eight.

Lady Cats 69, SMU 59

The Lady Cats had to rally late in the first half against Southern Methodist to take a 40-34 lead at intermission. The play of the other Miller — Mary Jo — helped lead K-State to the 10-point victory. Mary Jo tied with Diana as the team's leading scorer with 17.

NCAA

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6A
athletic scholarships, the 10 percent reduction would be especially crippling to their programs.

Several bills passed which place limits upon recruiting. The number of campus visits allowed to prospective football players was reduced from 85 to 70, and for basketball players from 18 to 15.

The number of coaches on each staff that may recruit off campus was also limited and a required annual rules certification test for all recruiters was established.

Heightened restrictions on recruiting may produce problems for colleges in lesser populated regions similar to Kansas, Altman said.

With limits placed on time, money and number of trips allowed, schools in metropolitan areas will receive a natural advantage in recruiting players from that region, he said.

"Dana is exactly right on that point, unfortunately," Miller said. "I believe that every one of the pieces of legislation passed is for the right reason and good, but in some cases the trickle down effect is not good. One of the reasons a lot of the Big Ten and Big East schools went for these resolutions is that they are, for the most part, in metropolitan areas with larger numbers of players to recruit from."

Altman also reacted to the limits placed upon practice time and the cost-saving reductions in size of coaching staffs.

The new legislation states athletes may not be required to devote more than four hours a day and 20 hours a week to athletic-related activities during the regular season, and no more than eight hours a week in the off-season.

It also limited team sports to a 22-week season and individual sports to a 24-week season and required that athletes be allowed one day off per week during the season. Provisions were made to allow more flexibility in practice requirements for individual sport athletes.

"I'm not sure that this was a move in the direction of what's best for the athletes," Altman said. "I'm not sure there will be the time to excel."

Legislation also called for cuts in coaching staffs. Division 1-A football staffs were reduced to a maximum of 13 and other sports were limited to three full-time and one part-time coach.

Two other proposals, one for minimum annual grade point averages, and one for a required 50 percent graduation rate of scholarship athletes, were rejected.

Athletic dorms were abolished by legislation at the convention and training table meals are to be reduced to one-per-day by 1996. Such moves were made to encourage the "mainstreaming" of athletes.

Fan Forum

Belated thanks

Sports Editor,

A belated but heartfelt thank you to the student body, faculty and staff for the continued improvement in fan support at our home football games this season. Your presence in the stadium last fall gave the members of your team a renewed faith that they do have a support base that truly cares. You have provided our players with the enthusiasm and visible support that motivates them to play hard and with a renewed sense of pride.

I am grateful to the thousands of you who have been a part of bringing a new and long-awaited respect for K-State football.

I am proud of the young men in the program, who sacrifice a great deal in the most difficult task of maintaining a balance between their efforts to achieve success in the classroom and still strive for an excellence on the football field.

Two years ago, we talked of the "greatest turnaround in the history of college football." We certainly have not reached that pinnacle, but we are closing the gap. We are closer — we've gained a national respect that has not been witnessed here for a long time. It is no longer a pipe-dream, but a dream nearing reality. We still have a long way to go, but there is now more than just daylight at the end of the proverbial tunnel, more than just blind faith.

Tangible results are before us. You are a most important and valuable spoke in the improvement this program has made and in the direction it is going. Improved and continued success will be difficult without you.

I dream of the day when this entire campus will unite academically, politically and athletically in an effort that will bring pride and joy to K-State.

We have the foundation to become one of the foremost universities in the country: the academic achievements of so many Rhodes, Truman and Marshall scholars; colleges of national acclaim within the University; an athletic program on the rise with the capabilities of doing something very special; and above all, a midwestern pride, work ethic and caring that can carry us all to new and higher levels of success.

We want to be a part of that total package, and very much appreciate your support toward that end. Together, we can achieve the goals to which we all aspire.

Bill Snyder
head football coach

City

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3A
have made a bad deal but could not do anything about it.

"It's a done deal," he said. "It was a legal petition. We took it on good faith."

Changing the petition, even partially, would set a dangerous precedent, Commissioner Gene Klinger said.

"If we were to change this in any way, we'd have every 100 percent district in here saying they didn't agree with their assessment," Klinger said.

ger said.

Klinger said however, he would like to see if there was a way for the city to pay for the maintenance of the trail in the future.

In other business, the Commission rejected a petition submitted by Coleman American Company. The petition requested the paving of South Eleventh Street from Fort Riley Boulevard to the Union Pacific Railroad tracks.

The petition failed because the Commission refused to have the city split the cost evenly when the city did not benefit as much as the company.

Fee

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Heitschmidt said restricted-use fees such as this are not a fair answer to fulfilling equipment needs. The students outside of the engineering department are being shortchanged on their education.

"We've set the engineering department apart from the others," Heitschmidt said. "It's unfair to other students and curriculum."

Provost Jim Coffman said, however, that the equipment fee is the fairest solution possible.

"You're assigning a fee to the highest-costing program," Coffman said. "This decreases the pressure that the engineering department puts on the central equipment budget. More (money) is then available to other programs such as physics, chemistry and biology."

Now the fee has been authorized, Rathbone said details for its implementation have to be ironed out. A method of collecting the fee has not been established. The department will also have to decide how to deal with students who are clearly heading towards an engineering degree but have undeclared majors.

Rathbone said solutions to these problems will be found in the next

Meeting

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3A

increase in its line-item fee from Student Senate.

"It's time for a fee increase. It's been three years, and it's done in three-year chunks," Oukrop said.

She said when the last increase in the line-item fee was made, several events that are now affecting the Student Publications' financial situation were not foreseen.

"I think when it was done three years ago, people had no idea of the impact of the change in drinking age on the Collegian, the recession that's hitting newspapers nationwide, the appalling increase from reappraisal and its tremendous impact on local businesses ... that wasn't taken into consideration," Oukrop said.

Oukrop said another event that will affect Collegian advertising sales this semester is the deployment of the 1st Infantry Division to Operation Desert Shield.

During the meeting, Collegian Advertising Manager Karen Lind said advertising representatives from the paper would attempt to sell ads to businesses in Junction City and Ogdenville, which are looking for customers to replace the departing soldiers.

Johnson also described for the

When: JANUARY 17 & 18, 1991

School: KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Where: K-STATE UNION COURTYARD

Time: 10 A.M. TO 4 P.M.

Pick A Winner!

Zenith Data Systems invites you to see what all the excitement is on campus. Come see our award winning portable computers as well as the most powerful desktop computers in the college market today. Plus there will be plenty of prizes and lots of fun for everyone. Ask about our special education discounts of up to 40%-50%. So come to the campus show and let us help you to choose a winner with Zenith Data Systems!

Groupe Bull

SUPPORT THE K-STATE UNION. YOUR DOLLARS HELP THE UNION SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

Student Positions Open on Campus Committees

Committee Name

Academic Computing Advisory Committee
Advisory Committee on Campus Development
Athletic Ticket Sales Committee
Bramlage Coliseum Advisory Committee
Campus Environmental Health & Safety Committee
Commission on the Status of Women
Convocation Committee
Council on Student Affairs
Council on Traffic, Parking, & Police Operations
Energy Conservation Advisory Committee
Fine Arts Council
Holton Hall Council
Intercollegiate Athletic Council
Out-of-State Fee Appeals Board
(must be on campus during summer)
Recreational Services Council
Scholarship & Student Financial Aid Committee
Sports Club Council
Student Discrimination Review Committee
Student Health Advisory Committee
Students' Attorney Advisory Board
Undergraduate Grievance Committee

Student Senate Standing Committees

Academic Affairs & University Relations
Communications
Legislative Affairs
Senate Operations
Student Affairs & Social Services

Student Senate Interns

SGA JUDICIAL BOARDS

Judicial Council
Parking Citation Appeals Board
Student Review Board
Tribunal

COMMITTEE DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE IN SGS OFFICE.

APPLICATIONS DUE IN IN SGS OFFICE (GROUND FLOOR UNION)

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1991.

ESPRESSO ROYALE

STUDENTS, FACULTY, STAFF!
Enjoy a welcome back drink on us.

When you purchase one drink at our regular price, receive that same drink FREE. Expires 1-31-91

618 N. Manhattan • Aggleville

7 a.m.-Midnight

"Diamond rings and all those things, they never sparkle like your smile."

Thompson Twins
King for a Day

Smile enhancement by the professionals

Teeth cleaning from $25

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES, P.A.
514 Humboldt Plaza Hygiene Department 913-537-8823

Deadline

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Lt. Col. Stuart Wagner, a Pentagon spokesman, said he could not comment on the network report.

Iraqi state TV said Hussein visited the front in occupied Kuwait on Tuesday after arriving there Monday. It said he toured military zones around Kuwait and the Iraqi city of Basra, just north of the emirate invaded and conquered by Iraq Aug. 2.

Hussein met corps and division commanders and repeated that Iraq would not submit to the U.N. resolution demanding withdrawal.

"There will be no compromise on the nation's rights. The slogan of expelling the aggressors from the land of Islamic sanctity will be our slogan which we will not give up," he said.

France said its last-minute initiative to avoid war in the gulf had failed. "There is a fatal moment where one must act," French Premier Michel Rocard told lawmakers Tuesday night. "This moment has, alas, arrived."

In Washington Tuesday, a somber Bush walked the White House grounds at dawn.

"I would say that the president is at peace with himself. He's ready to make the tough decisions ahead that are necessary," White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said.

Fitzwater said a decision on launching an attack against Iraq was likely to come "sooner rather than later" after the deadline. The United Nations has authorized use of force after that time to dislodge Iraq from Kuwait, the emirate it overran 5½ months ago.

World financial markets were mostly quiet, with investors sitting out the deadline. Oil prices were down slightly, the dollar was mostly lower and stock prices steadied.

In Baghdad, thousands of demonstrators took to the streets in a government-orchestrated show of defiance. "The holy war is about to begin!" said one man, waving his AK-47 rifle.

Iraq's army daily, Al-Qadissiya, said of Bush: "Let him know that the furnace of hell will be open to the Americans and to their allies when they come."

But many Iraqis fled the capital. Shops were closed and parks and playgrounds were deserted.

"We are not thirsting for war, though if it comes ... I believe it would be a just war," British Prime Minister John Major told the House of Commons.

Latvia

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

increases.

A similarly named group is trying to seize control of Lithuania's government.

"Latvia should not leave the Soviet Union," Rubiks told the rally. "Presidential rule should be introduced immediately."

Rubiks called for a general strike. "This is a serious political battle. Planes and trains should be brought to a halt. We must win and remain in the Soviet Union."

A uniformed military officer told the crowd: "We call on servicemen and those in the Soviet KGB to protect the interest of the people and their rights."

Latvia's parliament has rejected the committee's demand for the government's resignation.

In the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius, workers plowed a 9-foot-deep ditch between the Neris River and the back of the parliament building to protect it from assault. Large concrete blocks also were trucked in to serve as barricades.

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS
BEADS
BEADS

Thousands of beads, crystals, and all the supplies you need.

1124 Moro Aggieville 11-6 Mon.-Sat. 539-0360

Sanchos & Burritos 98¢ (reg. $1.55)
Taco Dinner $1.77 (reg. $2.55)
Good through 1-19-91

TACO HUT

"Where Good Friends Get Together"

Closed Tuesday
On The Hill Over Looking Westloop 539-2091
Open 11 a.m. - 11 p.m. Sun., Mon., Wed., Thurs.
11 a.m. to midnight Fri. & Sat.

Help Us Save The Planet and Save Money Too!

Bring in your empty haircare containers purchased at one the listed locations, and Save Money on refills.

For Example:

- KMS Moisturizing Shampoo, 12oz. ~~$6.95 retail~~...REFILL $5.00 (Savings of $1.95)
- C'est La Force, 8 oz. ~~$6.75 retail~~...REFILL $4.75 (Savings of $2.00)

Participating Salons: Crimpers Hair Design Studio
Lords 'n Ladies
Crum's Beauty College

ComputerLand

Business to business. Person to person.

- ▼ 80386SX processor or 16 MHZ
- ▼ 14" VGA Color Monitor. 40MB harddrive
- ▼ Mouse
- ▼ Windows Version 3.0
- ▼ Dos 4.01
- ▼ Microsoft Works software

$1995

STORE HOURS
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m.
Saturday 10 a.m.-2 p.m.

1306 WESTLOOP 776-0086

OPERA
WAREHAM
HOUSE

... PRESENTS ...

Homestead
Grays

Friday Night
Doors Open 8-2

$5/person

410 Poyntz Avenue

For reservations: (913) 537-8646

Harry's Uptown

WELCOME BACK KSU

Quality Brands!
GREAT SERVICE!
and Terrific Sale Prices!

RCA•SONY•BOSE•INFINITY•KENWOOD.
PIONEER•MITSUBISHI•PHILILPS•ONKYO

TV•VCR•Home Stereo•Electronic
Furniture•Blank Tapes•Car Stereo
Accessories•Complete Service Department

ONKYO  TA-2000 Cassette Deck $199 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Full logic transport •Dolby B & C •HX PRO •Remote interactive 	Sony 5 Disc CD Changer  $199 without remote $229 with remote <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Shuffle play •Programmable SONY CDPC205	SONY  CDP291 Compact Disc Player $129 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •4x oversampling •Dual 16 bit D/A converter •Stereo stabilizer circuit •Shuffle play •20 track programming
ONKYO  DX-1400 Compact Disc Player $179 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •8 times oversampling •18 Bit D/A Converters •30 track programming •Time edit functions TX822	Mitsubishi CS2015 Remote Control Stereo Sound Monitor $349  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •20" high-contrast, black matrix CRT •On-screen time/channel display •External input/output 	INFINITY $97 RS1001 reference one <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •polypropylene woofer •polycell tweeter •oak finish
ONKYO  Receiver <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •50 watts/channel •2 mode APR Tuning •30 AM/FM Presets •Loudness Control •Full Remote Control TX822 $229	20" Color RCA XL-100  $199 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Electronic controls with on-screen prompts •On-screen channel number RCA Model X20133WN 20" diagonal	RCA Model VR671HF  Hi-Fi Stereo VCR w/ 4-Head Video System $399 <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Built-in TV Broadcast Stereo Tuner •Double-azimuth 4-head video system •Field still special effects
		RCA VR250 or GE VG7500 $227 RCA Video Cassette Recorder <ul style="list-style-type: none"> •Infrared remote control •14-day/4-event programming •110 channel broadcast/cable FS quartz tuning

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
10 AM-8 PM MONDAY-SATURDAY
SUNDAY 1-5 PM

776-4703
407 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan

It's a Whole New World at CONDES

QUALITY PLUGGED IN ...

AUDIO • VIDEO • TV

*No payments are required during promotional period. Finance Charges and Insurance Charges will accrue on the account. However, if the purchase is paid in full within the promotional period, all accrued charges will be waived. (On approved credit).

Finney

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3A

difficulties.

She also stressed her populist political philosophy.

"I join the other elected Kansas officials and the fine team of state employees to assure the people that their will shall be expressed within these walls," Finney said.

"I will strive to bring out the best in every Kansan. And by so doing, we will bring out the best in Kansas," she said.

"Building on the knowledge of our great universities, we will join hands with every organization, every church, every business and with labor to move Kansas to the forefront of our nation," Finney said.

"If we will but recall our past heritage and the tough times overcome by our Kansas ancestors, we cannot but help to face with courage the uncertainties of our future," she said.

"Today we face the threat of war. Let us stand firmly united, resolved to support each other — caring and sharing with every other citizen of our state the labors and benefits we have been able to reap from our land called Kansas," Finney said.

Following her address, Finney assumed command of the Kansas Army National Guard, Air National Guard and Highway Patrol.

As she descended the Statehouse steps to inspect units representing the three services, a flight of four Kansas Air National Guard F-16 jets passed over the building.

About 3,000 spectators on the Capitol grounds were startled as the first of four howitzers began firing a 19-gun salute for Finney.

After laying a wreath at the statue of Kansas Pioneer Women on the Capitol grounds, Finney went inside the Statehouse to begin a series of official receptions which lasted throughout the afternoon.

As Finney left the Statehouse steps, former Gov. Hayden received handshakes and hugs from friends and well-wishers. Hayden is pondering a job offer from the Bush administration and considering private business opportunities in the state.

Later in the day, Democrats celebrated another election victory with the opening of the 1991 session of the Kansas House of Representatives. Democrats gained a one-seat majority over Republicans in the 1990 general election.

During the hour session, newly elected Speaker Marvin Barkis asked the house chaplain to offer a prayer for peace in the Persian Gulf. The Senate also opened its 1991 session Monday afternoon.

Monday evening a majority of the 16,000 people reported to have requested invitations to the Inaugural Ball filled the several dances at the Kansas Expocentre complex.

The evening's festivities opened with a video to Whitney Houston's "The Greatest Love." The video showed Finney with children, interspersed with scenes from the gubernatorial campaign and that day's inauguration events. As this portion of the video ended, a scene showing stars in space appeared on two screens suspended above the floor of the Landon Arena.

Next, the scene dissolved into a picture of Earth with a spot of light in the middle of the United States. While the screens were displaying Earth, a hot-air balloon shaped like a flying saucer began descending from above the top of the balcony.

As the balloon floated down to the stage, a narrator on the video said, "Governor Finney, your vision for the future of Kansas is a bright spot in the universe. The future is now."

"The future is now" was the theme for the 1991 inaugural.

After the balloon landed on a metal framework erected above the stage, a group of actors dressed as space aliens walked out on the stage.

Preceded by the Marching Jaguars drill team from Olathe, Finney and all of the state's elected officials were introduced to about 10,000 people in Landon Arena for a grand march.

Wednesday
$1.75
Pitchers

Friday & Saturday Nights

That Statue Moved

FirstBank Center

776-4111

McCain

Susan Marshall and Company

Thursday, January 24, 8 p.m.

The moves of this 8-member ensemble will take you to the cutting edge of dance. Witty, sexy, and certifiably cool. And to think you shelled out five bucks for Dirty Dancing. Fresh from a critically acclaimed run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, Susan Marshall and Company bring to K-State two outstanding works.

Arms (1984) focuses on an intricate and accelerating interplay of arms to reveal a man and a woman's growing interdependence and increasing unity.

"As crystalline a dance image as you could hope for." (The Village Voice)

Contenders (1990) was inspired by the 1988 Summer Olympics and takes a look at the game of life as Americans play it: with a headlong drive for individual distinction and achievement.

"This judge would score Contenders 5.7 out of 6. Rah, and bravo!" (Newsday)

Students/Children: $7.50, 6.50, 5
General Public: $15, 13, 10
Senior Citizens: $13, 11, 8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dance on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts with the Kansas Arts Commission. Additional support from the Fine Arts Fee.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

You're Looking Good
For Back to School

50% off Men's Haircut and Style
reg. $12 now $6
Women's Haircut and Style
reg. $15 now $12

50% off Perm

Ask for:
Kelli
Tammy
Alis

LORDS'n LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

Return call with service. Store Hours: 8 a.m. - 8 p.m.
Offer expires Feb. 2, 1991. 218 S. 4th • 776-5651

ComputerLand

Business to business. Person to person.

KSU Student, Faculty & Staff Special

Includes:

- Microsoft Word for Windows, AE
- Microsoft Excel, AE (Spreadsheet)
- Microsoft Windows 3.0
- hDC Express and First Apps, AE
- ZSoft SoftType, AE
- IBM DOS 4.0

Hardware:

Processor 80386 SX, 16 MHz
RAM 2 Mb
Diskette 1.4 Mb
Fixed Disk 60 Mb
Graphics VGA
8515 Display with stand 14" color
Enhanced Keyboard and Mouse also included.

$2799

IBM Open House

Today 2-5 p.m.

1306 Westloop 776-0086

COME TO THE BANK UNDER THE BIG BLUE SIGN

There's plenty for students at First National Bank and Trust—the bank under the big blue sign. We've got

Guaranteed Student Loans
Lender ID# 831838

Student Checking with

--No minimum balance

--Free ATM card

--$3.50 a month fee for up to 30 transactions

We're an equal opportunity lender and the bank you can turn to for all your student financial needs.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST

A SERVICE COMPANY

2110 ANHOLDEN

P.O. BOX 601

MANHATTAN, KS 66502

MEMBER FDIC

THE GREAT BIG
FUTON SALE!

* CLEARANCE *

FUTON MATTRESS $69 FROM...
FUTON FRAMES $89 FROM...
BLUE MOON WATERBEDS & FUTONS

217 S. 4th MANHATTAN KANSAS DOWNTOWN 776-0716
HOURS: MON-FRI 10 TO 6, SATURDAY 10 TO 5, SUNDAY 12 TO 5

SAVE UP TO 50%

PARSONS SCHOOL OF DESIGN

Special Summer Programs

PARSONS IN PARIS June 28-August 12

Paint on the Left Bank, explore prehistoric caves in the Dordogne, visit the masterpieces of renaissance art in Tuscany. Courses include painting, drawing, art history and the liberal arts. Students may choose to spend the last two weeks of the program in the Dordogne or Cortona, Italy.

PHOTOGRAPHY IN PARIS June 29-July 29

Study both the aesthetics and the craft of photography in the city that has inspired great photographers for 150 years. Guest lecturers and visits to Parisian galleries supplement the curriculum.

FASHION IN PARIS June 29-July 29

Study the history and contemporary trends of French fashion design through visits to Parisian museums and costume collections. Guest lecturers and visits to design studios and retail outlets are part of the program, as are daily classes in fashion illustration.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE & DECORATIVE ARTS IN PARIS

June 29-July 29

Offered in collaboration with the renowned Musée des Arts Décoratifs, this program focuses on the history of French architecture and European decorative arts. Excursions to points outside of Paris are included; last summer, students visited Versailles, Vaux le Vicomte and Fontainebleau.

MODERN PARIS June 29-July 29

Combining architectural history with drawing, this program focuses on the development of Paris in the modern period (1830 to the present).

PALEOLITHIC ART & ARCHAEOLOGY OF THE DORDOGNE

July 28-August 12

Daily class sessions near the town of Las Eyzies de Tayac, in southwestern France, are devoted to lectures and guided visits to the areas famous and less well-known prehistoric caves, living sites and archaeological excavations.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE IN ITALY June 29-July 29

The architectural heritage of Italy is studied in Rome, Florence and Venice, where on-site presentations are made by Parsons faculty.

HISTORY OF ARCHITECTURE & DECORATIVE ARTS IN GREAT BRITAIN

July 8-August 4

This four-week curriculum, covering the years 1800-1900, is offered in London, with several excursions to nearby towns and country houses.

PARSONS IN WEST AFRICA MALI: July 2-July 24

IVORY COAST: July 25-August 23

Workshops in ceramics and fibers will introduce students to artists and artisans in several Ivory Coast villages, where these crafts can be studied in their original context. A photography curriculum examines techniques of documentation and reportage in regions of great natural beauty and cultural diversity. The history of African art and architecture also is offered. A separate curriculum in Mali is available.

All programs include round trip airfare, accommodations and land transfers. Academic credit is available to qualified students. For more information, please return the coupon or call:

(212) 741-8975, Ext. 17

Parsons School of Design
Office of Special Programs
66 Fifth Avenue, N.Y., N.Y. 10011

Please send information about:

- | | |
|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Parsons in Paris | <input type="checkbox"/> Modern Paris |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Photography in Paris | <input type="checkbox"/> Paleolithic Art |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Fashion in Paris | <input type="checkbox"/> Architecture in Italy |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Architecture & Decorative Arts in Paris | <input type="checkbox"/> Architecture in Great Britain |
| | <input type="checkbox"/> Parsons in West Africa |

Name _____
Address _____
City _____ State _____ Zip _____

CP 35

Financial aid office employees hand out checks during fee payment at Ahearn Field House Monday. Brad Camp/Staff

System to speed process for students, staff workers

Student office of financial aid to use new computers

S. KATHERINE DIETRICH
Health/Science Reporter

Long lines at the Office of Student Financial Assistance are expected to become a distant memory for K-State students.

A new computer system that will speed the entire financial aid process is scheduled to begin operations this semester. That means less time wasted and less frustration for aid recipients and the financial assistance staff.

"You'd be surprised how many students don't have any money when they come back to school," said Doug Ackley, assistant controller for cashing and student loans.

Ackley said 2,500 students had to defer tuition payments last fall because financial aid checks were not ready on time.

Part of the blame for delays, Ackley and other University officials said, are the students themselves.

Students often neglect to fill out financial aid forms completely or miss important deadlines for mailing them in.

Even if paperwork is carefully completed and returned, students still must wait for the financial assistance office to notify them of their award. To many students, the wait at K-State seems especially long.

"If you saw the checks lying everywhere around here, you'd understand how busy we are," said Larry Moeder, associate director of Student Financial Assistance, late last week. It's not that they're not trying, he explained, but that the workload for their office is overwhelming.

Moeder said 70 percent of K-State students receive some form of financial assistance, totalling over $43 million worth of scholarships, loans, grants and employment programs.

The Office of Student Financial Assistance averages more than 300 phone calls and personal visits each day from students and their parents. In addition to this, 1,200 pieces of mail are received daily.

"Not previously defaulted on a student loan, promise not to spend Pell Grant money on drugs, registered for selective service," Moeder ticks off the statements each student must have on file.

He said none of this was required a generation ago, when K-State got its current financial aid computer system.

"This system is 20 years old," Moeder said, "and designed here at K-State."

Having reached its capacity seven years ago, the current system is unable to keep up with K-State's growing student population, and the amount of new information that must be on file. This results in much of the work in financial assistance being currently done manually.

The new computer system — developed by Information Associates, a national producer of financial aid software — has been installed and is scheduled to start up March 1991.

Similar software has been in use at the University of Nebraska and at the University of Colorado.

"It cut out 50 percent of the paper in the (financial aid) process, streamlining the system," said Paul Stutsman, an official for the University of Colorado Office of Financial Aid. "If a student fills out his forms carefully and completely, he could receive an award letter about a week after sending in his forms."

Advantages of computerized financial aid

•The computer will be able to track the progress of a financial aid request.

•Correspondence will be generated when a form is completed. Students won't have to check on the progress of their applications as often by phone or in person.

•Most business will be able to be done by mail.

•Most questions can be answered from a computer terminal when students have questions. Paper work will be reduced.

•Soon, students may be able to access their financial aid files from terminals on campus.

•Someday, money from Financial Assistance may be transferred directly to pay for tuition, books and housing. This would make printing checks obsolete.

Alcohol policies to be reviewed by Greeks

JIM STRUBER
Staff Reporter

The Greek Affairs Alcohol Task Force was formed in a joint Interfraternity and Panhellenic councils meeting on Dec. 3, 1990, to survey all alcohol policies of the fraternities governed by the Interfraternity Council.

Barb Robel, Greek Affairs adviser, said the task force was formed to ensure compliance to a specific alcohol policy for all Greek organizations, so each would be using the same ground rules. This, in turn, could reduce the cost of liability insurance for those organizations.

The task force has five male and three female members who are immediate past presidents of their respective fraternity or sorority chapters, or have been representatives to the Interfraternity or Panhellenic councils.

The task force will be co-chaired by Johnny Gaffney, president of the Interfraternity Council, and Jenny Barenberg, president of the Panhellenic Council.

Bill Muir, director of Economic Development, is the only current faculty adviser, and an ex-officio member, Robel said, but another faculty adviser will be selected shortly.

The task force will also examine the alcohol policies of the different national fraternities represented on campus, Gaffney said.

The task force will compare the policies to those present at the University of Kansas, University of Iowa, University of Colorado, Iowa State University, University of Illinois-Urbana, DePauw University, University of Akron and the Rhodes College to see how the alcohol policies may differ.

■ See ALCOHOL, Page 2B

Recreational Services Spring 1991

Manager's Meeting

Thurs., Jan. 17
K-State Union
Forum Hall
4 p.m.

*All Intramural Managers must attend!!

Entry Deadline

Fri., Jan. 18
5 p.m.

Rec Services Office
(Basketball and Individual Sports)

Officials

Basketball
Clinics:

Tues., Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m.
K-State Union Rm. 212

Wed., Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m.
Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thurs., Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m.
K-State Union, Rm. 212

Starting pay: $4/hr.

*Attendance mandatory for all meetings.

Fitness Sessions

Aerobics: M-F 6:30 a.m.
M-TH 4:30 p.m.
M-F 5:30 p.m.

Began Mon., Jan. 14

Aqua-Fitness: M-W-F 11:30 a.m.
M-T-TH 7:30

Began Mon., Jan. 14

Outdoor Rental

Closed until Feb. 20

Call: 532-6980

to make special arrangements
(Canoes, tents and more!)

Fitness Clinic

"Weight Control"

Dr. Katherine Grunewald
Tues., Jan. 22, 7 p.m.
Rec Complex Fitness Room

Lifeline

February Lifeline Challenges:

Swimming and Rowing
Sign up deadline for Lifeline
Aerobics Challenge is Fri.,
Feb. 1, at 5 p.m.

Rec Services Office 532-6980

Court Reservations: 532-6950 Rec Check 532-5000

Outdoor Rental 532-6984 Toll Hotline 532-6292

For All You
Late Night Operators
You've been operating all night with your friends. All the pizza places are closed? And you're hungry. What do you do? Your friends pull through and remember that Pyramid Pizza is open until 2 a.m. weeknights and 3 a.m. weekends. You call. You eat. Yumm. Show them what good times are all about.

TONIGHT,
LET IT BE PYRAMID.

COUPON MONDAY MANIA Buy 1 pizza Get 1 FREE MONDAYS ONLY Expires 9/1/91	COUPON LUNCH SPECIAL Buy 1 slice Get 1 FREE! 11 a.m.-2 p.m. weekdays Expires 1/31/91	COUPON FREE PEPSI with ALL you can eat Sundays. Sundays only. Expires 1/31/91
COUPON $1 OFF Any Pyramid Pizza Expires 9/1/91	COUPON MEDIUM PIZZA with Single Topping $7.50 Expires 1/31/91	COUPON LARGE PIZZA with single topping $8.99 Expires 1/31/91

Pyramid Pizza. Open when you really want. 539-4888

Alcohol

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1B

Gaffney said the goal of the group is to create a basic alcohol policy for all Greek organizations that is realistic and workable.

"The Greek Affairs Office would like to have a basic alcohol policy and guidelines that everyone in the Interfraternity Council must adhere to," he said. "One that would make it possible for all of the individual houses to work from the same foundation."

Gaffney said the alcohol policy will have to be equitable and self-governing as well as pro-active.

"We would like to provide for our own regulation, and provide the groundwork for social responsibility and the use of alcohol," he said.

"Most fraternities at K-State are insured by the Fraternity Insurance Purchasing Group, and the risk management policy is very strict. Not all fraternities are insured by FIGP, but all risk management policies are similar. Some fraternities also utilize resources within their own national organization," Robel said.

"Alumni advisers, the University administration, IFC, and chapter officers are conscious of the liability risk, as well as the general philosophy that societies' expectations toward greek organizations are higher," she said.

There is a trend among greek organizations toward non-alcoholic functions and parties, Robel said.

The sororities at K-State have always had dry houses and rush activities, Gaffney said. They also observe strict alcohol policies set by the Panhellenic Council and their respective national or alumni organizations at functions and parties.

There are two fraternities that observe very strict alcohol policies at K-State, he said.

The Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity has a dry house policy, within confines of the fraternity property. The FarmHouse fraternity does not allow alcohol on the premises nor at any functions or parties.

Mark Meisinger, president of FarmHouse, said the benefits of a dry house are a well-kept and clean house.

"A dry house helps to contribute socially, spiritually, physically and intellectually to the FarmHouse member," he said.

Robel said the Greek Affairs Office will also sponsor educational programs related to the use of alcohol.

On Jan. 22 an all-greek seminar, "Sex, Stress and Alcohol," will be presented by Mary Peterson, the Greek Adviser for the University of Iowa.

Sponsor of the Big Eight Body Building Championships
FREE-WEIGHT EQUIPMENT

- | | |
|---------------------|-------------------------------|
| •Universal Machines | •Weight Training Consultation |
| •Exercise Bicycles | •Tanning Beds |
| •Life Cycle | •Hot Tub |
| •Stairmaster | •Showers and Lockers |

SEMESTER SPECIAL $75-GROUP RATES AVAILABLE
Laramie Plaza-Basement 537-7095

How Do You Make A Wildcat Fan Purr?

$4 OFF Any Large Or	BUY ONE GET ONE FREE! Purchase any large pizza at regular price and get a medium two-topping pizza FREE!
$3 OFF Any Medium Pizza

Dine-in, Carryout or Delivery
Not valid with Sunday FREE drinks, Big Value or any other discount offer. Limited delivery area. Add $1 for delivery. EXPIRES: 2-5-91

Godfather's Pizza
FOR FAST DELIVERY CALL 539-5303
1118 Laramie • Aggieville

Moonlight Madness Sale

Thursday, January 17
5:00-8:00 p.m.
Up to 70% OFF
Fall and Winter Merchandise including

Sweaters..... $5 and up	Searves..... up to 70% off
Skirts..... $7 and up	Slacks..... up to 70% off
Blouses..... $7 and up	Blazers..... up to 70% off
Sleepwear..... $7 and up	Coats..... up to 70% off
Dresses..... $15 and up	Bags..... up to 1/2 off

Accessories... special bargains starting at $1.00

1225 Moro
Aggieville

Woody's ladies

Closed 3:30-5:00 p.m. to prepare for sale

BALLARD'S
"Quality—Competitive Edge Sporting Goods Store"

January Clearance Sale

Mens & Womens Warm-ups 40% Off	Large selection of over 50 styles of brand name athletic shoes! 30-40% Off
Fall Jackets 50% Off
Aerobic Wear and Active Wear 20-50% Off	Hoopware 50% Off
Tennis Wear and Swimwear 50% Off

Hours: Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:00, Fri. & Sat. 8:30-5:30, Sun. 11-5
1218 Moro Aggieville 537-2441

Did you forget to sell your books last semester? Be sure to stop by the K-State Union Bookstore now thru January 18, 1991. We'll pay 50% in cash for your used textbooks, or we'll give you a 60% credit to your Wildcat Card Account on selected spring titles. Wholesale prices offered for other selected titles!

K-State Union Bookstore

Support the K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union help the Union sponsor student programs, activities and services.

Company president guilty of bribe, theft

By the Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — Cubic Defense Systems Inc. and its former president pleaded guilty Tuesday to conspiring to bribe a senior Air Force procurement official.

The company also pleaded guilty to theft of government property and filing false statements and agreed to pay $4.65 million in penalties.

The San Diego-based contractor, a subsidiary of Cubic Corp., and its former president, Colvin "Sam" Wellborn, admitted conspiring to bribe former Deputy Assistant Air Force Secretary

Victor Cohen to influence the award of three contracts.

Wellborn also pleaded guilty to the theft charge, admitting he obtained confidential Pentagon information about bids submitted for the contracts by competing defense firms.

Wellborn could be sentenced up to 15 years in prison and fined $500,000. So far, none of the 37 consultants, contractors and government officials convicted in the long-running investigation of military procurement fraud have been sentenced to more than 32 months in prison.

Information counter helps students

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

For thirty-five years, the information counter has been a focal point on the first floor of the K-State Union. "It's a place for students, faculty and certainly campus visitors to meet, centralize and ask questions," said Jack Connaughton, associate director of the Union.

Cissie Cooper, information counter manager for over 18 years, said it is a busy, sometimes crazy place of enjoyment.

Since 1956, when the Union first opened its doors, the information counter has been expanded several times, especially in the last few years, Connaughton said.

The information counter processes film, handles the Union movie concessions, takes care of lost and found items, and sells canned soda. All of these duties have been added in the last few years, Connaughton said.

Adding this to the candy sales, check cashing and hordes of questions that need answering makes for a busy day. On an average day, the information counter will serve over 1500 people, Cooper said.

"That's just sales," she said. "It has nothing to do with the amount of people who just ask questions. If you added them, the total would probably triple or at least go up two and a half times."

With the great number of people being served, Cooper said it is sometimes hard to do everyone justice. Some people just want to ask questions, and some just want a candy bar. Inevitably, someone has to wait, she said.

"We can't answer questions and do sales at the same time," Cooper said. "Usually, we take care of the paying customer first."

Connaughton said he sees this aspect as the only weakness of the information counter. This is especially true on Wednesdays, the time when traffic is most hectic, he said.

Cooper's staff of 11, including eight students, helps ensure things go smoothly during a rush. Many staff members have worked in jobs dealing with a fair amount of pressure and with large groups of people.

Cooper said waitressing and fast-food experience is helpful when working with four to five customers at once.

Friendliness is also a good asset to have, Cooper said. She said she wants people to have a positive feeling when they walk away from the counter.

"Regardless of what kind of day people have had, I want them to be greeted in a friendly way," Cooper said. "That's my mission."

Welcome Back Students!

Come visit the professional stylists at Aggie Hair Shapers for all your hair care needs.

AGGIE HAIR SHAPERS

1220 Moro

776-3600

KSU STUDENT SPECIAL! COUPON

World's Greatest Haircut
Reg. $7 BUT WITH COUPON

ONLY $6

Also on SALE
HIS or HER
PERM $23

snip n' clip
MIDWEST'S FAVORITE HAIRCUTTERS

OPEN NIGHTS & SUNDAYS, JUST DROP IN

Now Two Locations
*3035 Anderson
v.p. 539-4043
*431 Poyntz-by K-Mart
776-6410
Expires May 30, 1991

KRAZY KRIS

NOVELTIES & GIFTS
Adult Section

Paintball Games Begin in March

Don't Miss out on the Action!

We have supplies and rental equipment available

539-4567

1128 Moro • Aggieville

ON THE WILD SIDE

Welcomes you Back

- Beads-create your own jewelry
- Tapestries
- G.D. Stickers
- Baja shirts
- Art-original
- Concert posters

AND MUCH MORE TO SEE!

Hours: M-F 11-7
Sat. 11-6, Sun. 12-4

776-BAJA

The Spot

Tonight Live:
The Barnburners

702 N. 11th 776-0077
Aggieville, USA

MOVIE & NINTENDO RENTALS

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday $1
Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday $2

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities

K-State Union
Recreation Area

POPCORN PALACE

We know you've spent your money on books and fees—
So we're offering you
Yogurt for Free!
Come in Today!

FREE YOGURT

For You

Come in today for your free 5 oz. cup of frozen yogurt—no strings attached.

(Toppings and cones regular price)

Limit 1 per coupon Good thru Sun. Jan 20., 1991

Popcorn Palace

537-2235 1319 Anderson

Union Station Presents...

AIR BAND CHALLENGE

Friday January 18, 1991 7 to 9 p.m. at Union Station

1st Prize $100

2nd Prize $50

Register at Union Station now thru 2 p.m. January 18, 1991

The Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge is an opportunity for you and up to seven of your friends to form a lip sync group and show your stuff during the Union Station Grand Opening.

K-State Union
Union Station

Scuba Diving

- Become acquainted with the skills and techniques of safe underwater diving
- Preparation for certification
- Optional 1 hour undergraduate credit
- Dive Manual
- Class meetings, Saturdays, 9 a.m.-1 p.m.

Session I, January 19-March 9
Session II, March 23-April 27

Call: 532-5566 to register

532-5570 for more information

Division of Continuing Education

Bramlage may become popular tour stop

Large size of arena, solid attendance of recent concerts boosts reputation of coliseum

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

Making Manhattan a stop for popular acts is becoming a reachable goal for Bramlage Coliseum with two more rock concerts coming to the stadium in February.

Poison, with opening act Warrant, will perform Feb. 1, and Damn

Yankees opening for Bad Company on Feb. 20, are helping to build the coliseum's concert-stop reputation, said Charlie Thomas, Bramlage Coliseum director.

"Every time a band comes and it's a successful show, it boosts our reputation in the industry," Thomas said. "We work closely with the promoters in deciding what acts we're going to bring in and what will do well in our area. So far, we have been fairly successful."

Thomas said he has even talked a promoter out of doing a show in the area.

"You have to look at the population base. Wichita, although it has a smaller stadium, will always be a strong concert stop. It has a large population base there — around 300,000.

"For instance, if 10 percent of the population like Fine Young Cannibals, there is a good chance to sell 30,000 tickets. While a 10 percent interest in Manhattan would be much smaller," he said.

This causes a problem when the band's management calls a promoter to question the scheduling of a concert in a bum market, Thomas said.

The individual is more likely to blame the area as a poor market for all concerts rather than poor planning on the promoter's part, he said.

"The word spreads fast in this market," Thomas said. "If you have a bad show, acts are less likely to want to play for you in the future. It is a matter of economics. This is why we don't bring in a lot of smaller acts. We just don't have enough people interested to break even in the box office."

Thomas said Bramlage has had fairly good luck in drawing on large enough audiences and shows to build a positive reputation.

PETS 'N' STUFF

10% OFF PETS, & SUPPLIES

1105 Waters

(Excludes Science & Iams Diet Pet Food)

(On regular priced merchandise)
Across from Alco

539-9494

Expires Jan. 31, 1991

STUDENT LOANS

Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!

Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

BUSHWACKER'S

WELCOME BACK
KSU

TONIGHT 9 p.m.

COMEDY INVASION

featuring

PAUL KOZAK

- 10th Anniversary of Comedy; Magic Club
- Evening at the Improv
- Showtime

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

Call for Reservation-
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

Compare Our Prices!

Most Makes
of Ribbons!

Computer Paper
only $29.95

Hull Business
Machines

715 N. 12th 539-1413

10% DISCOUNT
ON OUR STUDENT SEMESTER RATE
AND
TEN SESSION
TANNING CARDS

776-1750

MUST PRESENT THIS COUPON WITH A VALID STUDENT I.D.

DON'T LET CHANCE DECIDE WHERE YOU'LL BUY YOUR BOOKS

COME TO VARNEY'S BOOK STORE AND FIND GREAT SAVINGS AND SERVICE

We are here to help. Save 25% on textbooks by buying used books from our large used book selection. We'll help you locate books and supplies. If you need a special order we can order it for you. And we offer free parking. So start the year off right. Begin it at Varney's.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

623 N. Manhattan Avenue • 539-0511

See You at the

Union Station

Grand Opening
January 16, 17 & 18

Group Nite

Wednesday, January 16

- 11:00a - 11:30a Union Station Ribbon Cutting Ceremony
- 11:30a - 12:00p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
- 12:00p - 1:00p The Musical Group "Street Side"
- 7:00p - 9:00p Group Nite in the Union! Bring your friends and join in an evening of fun and prizes!

Coca-Cola Nite

Thursday, January 17

- 11:30a - 12:00p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
- 12:00p - 1:00p Jenny Dieball
- 8:00p - 10:00p Coca-Cola Nite! Featuring the 1990 UPC Winner, Barnburners

Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge

Friday, January 18

- 11:30a - 12:30p Voces de H.A.L.O.
- 12:30p - 12:45p The KSU Chapter of S.A.D.D. will name the winner of the "Kiss a Pig Contest."
- 12:45p - 1:15p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
- 7:00p - 9:00p Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge
$100 First Prize, $50 Second Prize

On Friday, January 18, the Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge will be held at 7:00 p.m. in the Union Station. The winner of the challenge will receive a $100 cash prize and a $50 cash prize. The contest is open to all students and faculty members. The contest is open to all students and faculty members.

K-State Union
Union Station

Don't forget to vote at the S.A.D.D. Table this week for your favorite candidate to "Kiss The Pig"

Union lot gets new lighting

PAUL NOEL
Staff Reporter

New outdoor lights will be installed over the parking lot located on the south side of the K-State Union within three months.

A single light fixture, referred to as the super pole, was used to light the entire parking lot until it fell last summer.

Abe Fattacy, associate engineer, said the super pole will be replaced with cut-off lighting.

The box-like lights have reflectors to direct light to walking paths, and electric cells will turn the lights on at dusk, he said.

Jack Watson, associate director of facilities building maintenance, said the cut-off lighting system will cast fewer shadows because the lights will be lower than the lights of the super pole.

"The lights will produce a one foot-candle," Fattacy said. "That is twice the Illuminating Engineering Society's minimum recommended illumination level."

A foot-candle is a unit for measuring illumination. It is equal to the amount of direct light thrown by one candle on a square foot surface, every part of which is one foot away from the source of light.

John Lambert, director of public safety, said the lights will cost about $60,000.

"The lights will use more electricity, but the cost will balance out because the bulbs are easier and less expensive to replace," Lambert said.

Lambert said he had been happy with the super pole, but he thinks the cut-off lighting will be safer, produce more light and cause less disturbance to neighboring houses.

Facilities workers began working on the lights in October, Watson said.

"The bases have been set and the wires have been run," Lambert said. "The only thing left to do is wait for other parts to be ordered."

Student volunteers aid area residents with completion of income tax forms

S. KATHERINE DIETRICH
Health/Science Reporter

Filling out a 1040 form for the Internal Revenue Service is stressful enough for the average citizen. But, imagine facing the annual income inquisition if you don't speak English. Or if you can't see well any more. Or if doing your taxes simply makes you freeze up.

This year 180 K-State students have pledged to make tax time easier for area residents. The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA) is sponsored by the IRS and staffed by student volunteers. For no charge, VITA workers help taxpayers complete the dreaded federal forms.

Traditionally VITA has targeted its services to non-resident taxpayers, who are often unfamiliar with English and with U.S. tax regulations. K-State has nearly 800 undergraduate and 400 graduate students from other countries, and many are required to pay U.S. income tax. Due to an already heavy workload, the International Student Center is unable to provide the specialized service of tax assistance to foreign students. By cooperating with the KSU Community Service Program and U-Learn, the International Student Center is able to bring VITA's expertise to the needy student.

Physically disabled and indigent taxpayers have also been recipients of VITA's assistance in past years. But this year, recruiting efforts by Bryan Coffey, Volunteer Coordinator, yielded unusually successful results. The large staff will allow provision of services to any taxpayer with an income of less than $70,000 annually.

Since so many VITA clients have special needs, volunteers need extensive training. They begin their commitment with 16 hours of general training on tax forms. "That just covers the basics," explained Lynda Bachelor, Student Coordinator for the Volunteer Clearinghouse at the KSU Community Service Program. Additional training must be undertaken if the volunteer wants to assist with state tax forms, or with the needs of foreign students or military dependents.

Tax assistance sites open January 28 and continue through April 15. For those who procrastinate, a 12-hour tax site is planned at the Manhattan Town Center. Taxpayers have until midnight April 15 to take forms to the mall for help.

Film showcases personal story

Foreign director allows audience to see World War II through child's eyes

REBECCA SACK
Collegian Reviewer

There is a place in everyone's heart where arbitrary hatred is completely incomprehensible. The children in the film, "Au Revoir Les Enfants," exhibit the innocence that defies the senseless cruelty that ruled the world during World War II.

Louis Malle wrote, produced and directed the film, which the Los Angeles Film Critics voted best foreign film. He well deserves the honor for his success in capturing the personal story behind the statistics of prisoners of war.

Julien Quentin befriends one of the new boys, Jean Bonnet, at the Catholic boarding school he attends and later learns that Jean is Jewish. Julien doesn't really understand what a Jew is, and when his brother provides a partial explanation, Julien understands even less about why they are persecuted.

"Au Revoir Les Enfants" gives us the sort of picture of World War II Anne Frank described in her diary. Perhaps this is the best picture of any war because it is seen through the eyes of a child.

This is not to say children are all innocent and uncorrupted. The boys in the film are just as cruel and decadent as any Nazi. The difference is in their expectations of the world. They seem to believe that however rotten their behavior is, however badly they treat one another, somehow the adult world is still sane and more reasonable than their own terrifying school.

The highlight of the film is during a Charlie Chaplin movie the monks show for the boys. Watching the faces of the crowd as they watch the show, we can see only one face. They all experience each emotion together. There is only one laugh, one gasp, one heartfelt sigh. All the taunting aside, they become the same — humans.

Holiday Express SPRING BREAKIN'

Call
1-800-235-TRIP

- ★ Cancun ★
- ★ Puerto Vallarta ★
- ★ Acapulco ★
- ★ Winter Park ★
- from $389 —

CLAFIN BOOKS & COPIES
FirstBank Center 1814 Clafin

- 5¢ Copies • Professor Copies
- Typing & Resume Service
- Reductions/Enlargements
- Transparencies/Labels
- Dissertation Copies
- Hours 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

776-3771 Open 7 days a week

What Can Make ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses Even Better?

A Free Trial Pair!

We want to open your eyes to the convenience and comfort of ACUVUE® Disposable Contact Lenses. Come in for an eye exam. If ACUVUE is right for you, we'll give you a free trial pair.

ACUVUE® The First Disposable Contact Lens. (between 18-20 years)

Dr. Paul E. Bullock 776-9461
Optometrist Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
555 Poyntz Ave., Suite 151 Colony Square-Extended hours Wednesdays & Saturdays.

SPRING BREAK '91

Steamboat

From $116

2 nights

2 left/air not included

South Padre

From $149

5 nights/person

A Full Service Travel Agency

BRYAN WORLD TOURS

715 N. 12th

776-7325

*Bus Charters

*Cruises

*Group Air Fares

*Condos

*Call for other destinations

GOODSON AUTO TRIM

Headlining
Tonneau Covers
Boat Covers
Window Tinting
Convertible Tops
Vinyl Tops
Complete Auto, Truck & Boat Upholstery
201 Sarber Lane
(between Wal-Mart and K-Mart)
Manhattan, Kansas 66502
Phone 776-7679 Res. 776-7614

Security and peace of mind...

...means health insurance coverage from American Family.

Call me for your security and peace of mind.

John J. Opat
555 Poyntz
Suite 215
776-3882

AMERICAN FAMILY INSURANCE

AUTO HOME BUSINESS HEALTH LIFE
American Family Mutual Insurance Co.
FBI 8287 Madison Wisconsin

WE WANT YOU TO HELP SAVE LIVES

* New Donors ****
Earn $15 Cash on your First Donation!!
(If you haven't donated in the last 2 months, you qualify.)

the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
Coupon required for Special. Open M-F
1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

776-5577 1800 Clafin Rd. 776-5577
First Bank Center

PIZZA SHUTTLE
"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3-10 in. Pizzas
1-Topping
4-Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2-10 in. Pizzas
2-Toppings
2-Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

Welcome Back Students!

Budweiser. Reves Retail Liquor

Suitcase SALE!!
1100 Laramie
(Handi Corner in Aggieville)
537-1050
Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-11 p.m.

The Friendly Corner Store

Smokey J's BBQ Restaurant

Dine in/Carry out/Catering

Welcome Back Students
2615 Anderson
776-9222

Hours: 11-8 Sun.-Thurs.
11-9 Fri.-Sat.

Blooming Dale's "Greenback"

JANUARY GARDEN DOLLAR

GOOD TOWARD ANY PURCHASE AT THE GARDEN DEPARTMENT (May not be used toward any sale merchandise.)

1105 Waters 539-4751

Purchase must be of $5 or more in value. More than one coupon may be used toward each purchase, but may not exceed 20% of the purchase price. Good through Jan. 31, 1991 only.

- The business world computer
- In living color
- The ease of Windows
- The best student/faculty value

Save up to 50%

Connecting Point III COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop Shopping Center
Manhattan

539-0801

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation.

SMOOKIE'S

Welcome Back
Come Party With Us!
1122 Moro, Upstairs 776-7726

High court allows districts to decide

Judge supervision of schools may end

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — School districts may sometimes end forced busing in favor of neighborhood schools even if it means a return to schools overwhelmingly black or white, the Supreme Court ruled Tuesday.

By a 5-3 vote, the court said federal judges should end their supervision of previously segregated public schools if court-ordered desegregation has eliminated the vestiges of past discrimination.

The decision set aside a federal appeals court ruling that would have forced the Oklahoma City school board to abandon a neighborhood schools plan begun in 1985 for students in kindergarten through fourth grade.

Under that plan, 33 of the city's 64 elementary schools became racially segregated — with student populations at least 90 percent black or 90 percent white and other minorities.

Requests by local school boards for an end to court supervision will be decided by a federal judiciary now dominated by appointees of former President Ronald Reagan and President Bush.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 15 words or fewer, $3.00, 20 cents per word over 15; Two consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.00, 25 cents per word over 15; Three consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $4.75, 30 cents per word over 15; Four consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.25, 35 cents per word over 15; Five consecutive days: 15 words or fewer, $5.50, 40 cents per word over 15.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4:30 p.m. two days before publication.)

1 Announcements

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks, Monday through Sunday. $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

ARE YOU Miss America 1992? Your first step is entering the Miss Manhattan-K-State Scholarship Pageant. Entries being accepted now for preliminary competition. Contact Karlene, 776-6467; Nancy, 537-2667.

CAMPUS DIRECTORY are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

FAST FUNDRAISING program, $1,000 in just one week. Earn up to $1,000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5,000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 50.

LAST CALL! Applications for the 1991 Miss Manhattan-K-State are due Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. For information, call 776-6467, 537-2667.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-2056.

ONE-BEDROOM, BASEMENT, no children, no pets. 537-1901.

NOW LEASING

KSU Students

Quality Apartments

2 Convenient Locations

Very Near KSU

Furnished & Unfurnished

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

(Continued on page 7B)

BAYSTREET AND THE PIT

Mon.

New Music Night

$1.50 Wells

Tues.

50¢ Draws

Wed.

Rock-N-Roll

$1 Wells

25¢ Kamis

Thurs.

$1.25 Pitchers

$1 Longnecks

75¢ Wells

50¢ Kamis

In Aggieville

539-9511

Student Ticket Special

Buy your Student Tickets January 17, 18, 21, & 22 for only $8 (regular price $11.50). This special price is available on the dates listed above.

Game listing:

Mon., Jan. 21 Missouri-Kansas City

Sold Out Kansas

Sat., Feb. 2 Colorado

Sat., Feb. 9 Iowa State

Tues., Feb. 19 Oklahoma State

Wed., Feb. 27 Missouri

Tickets Available at:

*Ahearn Ticket Office

532-6920

*Bramlage Coliseum

*K-State Union

*Town Center

*McCain Auditorium

Must present a valid K-State I.D.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

Class list unavailable at press time.

Welcome Buck

School days, school days. Good ol' short-on-cash days.

The Kansas State COLLEGIAN has something to ease your cash flow blues. Until Jan. 25, you can save a buck ($1) off any COLLEGIAN Class Ad. If you need an apartment, a roommate, some furniture, a job, or would just like to tell someone, "It's great to see you again," clip the Welcome Buck below and save. Welcome to K-State!

Cost: 1-20 words, 1 day, $4

Deadline: Noon, day before

Hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m. M-F

Where: Kedzie Hall 103

(just east of K-State Union)

All ads must be prepaid unless you have an account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard & Visa accepted.

Welcome Buck

Good for $1 off any prepaid Collegian Classified Ad

Offer expires Jan. 25, 1991

START THE YEAR OFF RIGHT AT

Vista

49¢ HAMBURGERS

100% Pure Kansas Beef served with ketchup, mustard, pickles and onions. For just a little more, top it off with cheese and bacon.

Offer good for a limited time.

Vista EXPRESS

Village Plaza Shopping Center

Vista DRIVE IN

1911 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET

WARNS YOU....

IF YOU ARE PAYING MORE THAN

$2495* COMPLETE SINGLE VISION - OR - $3495 COMPLETE BIFOCAL

FOR YOUR EYEGLASSES, INCLUDING FRAME — YOU ARE OVERPAYING!

- AT PAYLESS OPTICAL OUTLET YOU GET.....
- UNLIMITED SELECTION - YOUR CHOICE OF OVER 1,000 FRAMES ON DISPLAY!
- NO CHARGE FOR SUN OR FASHION TINTED LENSES!
- NO EXTRA CHARGE FOR OVERSIZED OR PLASTIC LENSES!
- HIGHEST QUALITY FRAMES AND LENSES!
- HIGHEST PROFESSIONAL STANDARDS!
- SATISFACTION GUARANTEED!

* All normal prescriptions - distance, reading, or flat to 25 and 28mm, round or executive bifocals, in Rx's no higher than (+) or (-) 8.00 diopter sphere, with up to -2.00 cylinder. Adds no higher than (+) $3.00. Photogrey Extra, Scratch and Ultra-Violet Coat - each $10 additional.

1210 MORO
MANHATTAN, KANSAS
537-1574

NEVER A SALE, ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICE!

(Continued from page 6B)

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry, $360. 539-6304.
LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.
ONE-BEDROOM, TWO bedrooms from campus. No pets. Water, trash paid, $390. 537-3758.
SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a half, good female roommates, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7087 for information, 537-9376 roommate's number. Available now.

APARTMENTS

Campus:

1722 Laramie
1858 Claflin
1960 Hunting
413 N. 17th
1866 College Heights
1026 Osage
406 N. 10th
1128 Fremont

Downtown:

418 Poyntz—Wareham Apts.
Now leasing for Jan. & Feb.
CALL US!
McCullough Development
2700 Amherst
(913)776-3804

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park, 537-8555 or 537-8065.
TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU, $280. 539-1554.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.
1982 CAMARO, runs great, $2,750. Call 776-3681, ask for Doug.
FOR SALE: 1979 Pontiac Sunbird—blue. Good condition. Low mileage. $500. 532-5452.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

B/W VGA monitor, $135, 12" Magnavox monitor, $39-6404.
IBM-PC, 256K, dual drives. Internal Hayes 1200B, RGB monitor. Accepting offers. Will sell by 1-24-91 or reject all offers. (913)265-4663.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.
ASSISTANT TEACHER, part-time, Tuesday and Thursday, noon—2:30p.m. Must have experience with groups of young children. Apply at Seven Dolors Childcare Pre-school, 220 S. Juliette by Jan. 23.

BEST FUNDRAISER on campus is your fraternity, sorority or club interested in earning $500 to $1,000 for a one week, on-campus marketing project? You must be well organized and hard working. Call Lena at (800)592-2121 ext. 115.

COUNSELORS/ SUMMER children's camps/ Northeast—top salary. Room/ board/ laundry, travel allowance. Must have skill in one of the following activities: Archery, crafts, baseball, basketball, bicycling, dance, drama, drums, fencing, football, golf, guitar, gymnastics, hockey, horseback-English, juggling, Karate, LaCrosse, nature, photography, piano, rocketry, rollerblading, ropes, sailing, sailing, scuba, soccer, track, waterski, weights, wood. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. 8288.

EXPERIENCED WRITERS wanted. Journalism and Agriculture majors preferred. Send resume and sample work to Collegian Box 3, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506 by Jan. 22.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

PART-TIME SECRETARY. Will do typing, answering of telephone, light bookkeeping. Must have a pleasant personality and the ability to deal with the public in a positive manner. Hours 7:30—10:30a.m. Monday through Friday. Send resume and three references to Seven Dolors Childcare Pre-School, 220 S. Juliette by Jan. 25.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

STUDENT TO work 20 hours beginning immediately and possibly continuing through summer, fall and spring. Need someone with flexibility to work during holidays. Preference to person with knowledge of WordPerfect 5.1 on Zenith computer and someone available during lunch hours, noon—1p.m. Responsibilities include telephone answering, word processing, filing, use of dictation equipment, making appointments, and a variety of other office duties. Contact Dorothy Smith at 532-5942 or stop by the office of the Vice President for Institutional Advancement, 122 Anderson Hall to pick up an application. Starting salary $3.80/ hour. Deadline for application is Jan. 23.

SUMMER IN the Rockies! The Trail Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado! Positions available in Retail Sales and Food Service—contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517 (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities!

SWIMMING JOBS (WSI)—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children to swim, swim team, beautiful pool and lakes in the northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536.

TENNIS JOBS—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children in the Northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983.

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN Church Bible study group looking for creative, caring babysitters for infants and pre-schoolers. Thursday 9:30—11a.m., $4 per hour, must have transportation and references. If interested call Karen at 776-2248.

WANTED: 85 people who want to lose weight! We will pay you to lose 10-29 pounds in 30 days. Call Jeff at 537-9817.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

Cruise Ship Jobs

Hiring Men - Women, Summer/ Year Round. PHOTOGRAPHERS, TOUR GUIDES, RECREATION PERSONNEL. Excellent pay plus FREE travel. Caribbean, Hawaii, Bahamas, South Pacific, Mexico. CALL NOW! Call refundable. 1-206-736-7000, Ext. C348.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

HAVE three-foot-high refrigerator $100 or best offer. Also wedding set $250 or best offer. Please call or stop by: 1-238-2961 after 5p.m. 127 Belmont, Junction City, KS.

WOHLER'S USED furniture and appliances, 615 N. Third, 539-3119, Hours 1 to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 6 to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Furnish your apartment or house. Come in and browse.

12 Houses for Rent

1011 Laramie, first floor is open for second semester. Two-bedroom, great environment. Enjoy college life. 539-3672 evenings.

ONE-BEDROOM HOUSE, 1121 Claflin available now. 539-4154.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND—LADIES gloves on Jan. 14. Claim in Kedzie 103.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

Motorcycle Supply

January Specials
All T-Shirts $10—Tie Sale
Call Mike
776-6177

19 Music/ Musicians

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks
Buy one set, get second set for half price
327 Poyntz 776-7983

DRUMSET BLACK Yamaha five-piece, 12", 13", 16" toms, 22" Bass Zildjian 16" Crash, 18" Crash-Ride 14" Hi-hat, 1 Boom and 1 straight cymbal stand, snare stand, Hi-hat stand, $900, Ludwig Concert snare with stand, case, practice pad $200. Call 532-5427.

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

SIGMA KAPPAS: Welcome back! See you at the meeting tonight—get excited for Inspiration Week! missed you! Sigma Love, Michele.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FREE RABBIT with purchase of any cage (while supplies last). Pets N Stuff, 1105 Waters, open Thursday till 8p.m. 539-9494.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ALL RESUMES are not created equal. Be sure yours is the best possible by taking advantage of our many years experience working with employers. Limited time—cover letter costs only $5 with purchase of resume service. Career Development Services—776-1229.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

24 Roommate Wanted

A GOOD roommate needed for two studyholic January free, own room, washer/ dryer, $195. Call Scott at 537-1099.

CHEAP UTILITIES: Female roommate needed, $150/ month, one and one-half blocks east of campus. January rent free! 537-0630 or 537-0815.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate needed for nice three-bedroom apartment. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. Call 776-9218.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment with another girl. Effective as soon as possible. Call 776-5478.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Own room. Call 537-4966.

FREE JANUARY—February rent to non-smoking female roommate for two-bedroom. Directly off campus, rent negotiable. Respond to Collegian Box 2.

HELPI! AVAILABLE immediately, bedroom for one or two females, $197 or $131 respectively. Ask for Heather 539-2301 Ext. 306.

MATURE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom apartment at University Garden, $162.50/ month plus one-half utilities. 539-1880 evenings or leave a message.

NEEDING ONE, two or three roommates, Britney Ridge, 776-4992, serious student.

NON-SMOKER, OWN room in nice two-bedroom apartment, $202.50 plus one-half utilities. Shuttle to campus available. Beginning Feb. 1. Call soon! 776-9079.

NEED QUIET, sober, non-smoking person to share three-bedroom apartment across from campus, $150 month, 1222 (Apt. #1) Bluemont. Stop by.

ONE FEMALE non-smoker to share furnished house with washer and dryer, $150 per month. 537-7769.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house close to campus. $160/ month plus one-third utilities. Must be quiet, clean, non-smoker and like pets. Call 537-8550.

ROOMMATES WANTED, $150 per month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 537-0635.

ROOM WITH Christian male. Two-bedroom furnished house. Washer and dryer, six blocks northwest of campus. $150. Half utilities. 776-0621.

25 Services

RILEY COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

2030 TECUMSEH 776-4779

FREE PREGNANCY TESTS

FREE PREGNANCY COUNSELING

DISCUSSION OF ALL OPTIONS

Early Detection of Pregnancy is Important

CONFIDENTIAL

(Ad Placed by Friends of Women)

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Monday through Friday. Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE FOR sublease now, 2000 College Heights. Call 537-9064 or 537-3171.

QUIET ONE-BEDROOM ground floor, heat, water and trash paid. Available immediately, 630 Fremont #2. 537-3972.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Ameriprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103 $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $17 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

Sun Connection

limit one per customer

1 FREE SESSION

Good thru Jan. 18, 1991

Check out our re-opening specials.

1126 Laramie, Aggieville
Manhattan, Ks. (913)776-2426

USED FURNITURE

Couches, chairs, pots and pans. Lamps, refrigerators, stoves, washers, clothes, hats, knick-knacks and collectables—your name it.

Grandma's Trunk

Thrift Shop

1304 Pillsbury Dr.

(1/4 Mile South over viaduct)

OPEN 10-6 Mon.-Sat.

537-2276

34 Insurance

HEALTH and Auto Insurance, we have low monthly rate. Call us and compare. Good student discounts. Tim Engle, 555 Poyntz, 537-4661.

35 Newspaper

The Wichita Eagle

lets you choose

the type of subscription

you want.

Sign up now for the 17-week

Semester Special

Every Day $25

Mon.-Sat. $15

Weekends Only $13

Sunday Only $12

To start your subscription, call local carrier John Fulkerson at 539-1371

Offer expires 1/26/91

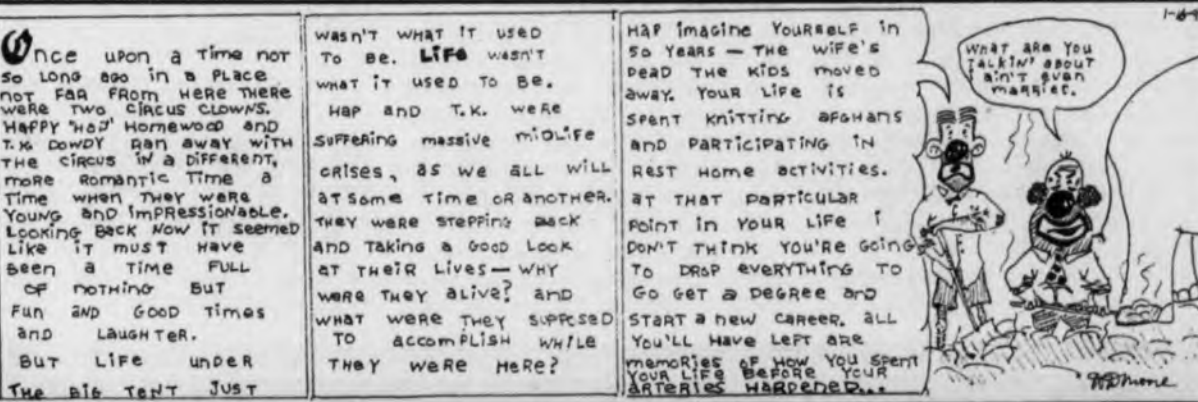

Double Barreled

By Daryl Blasi

Class Clowns

By D.D. Moore

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

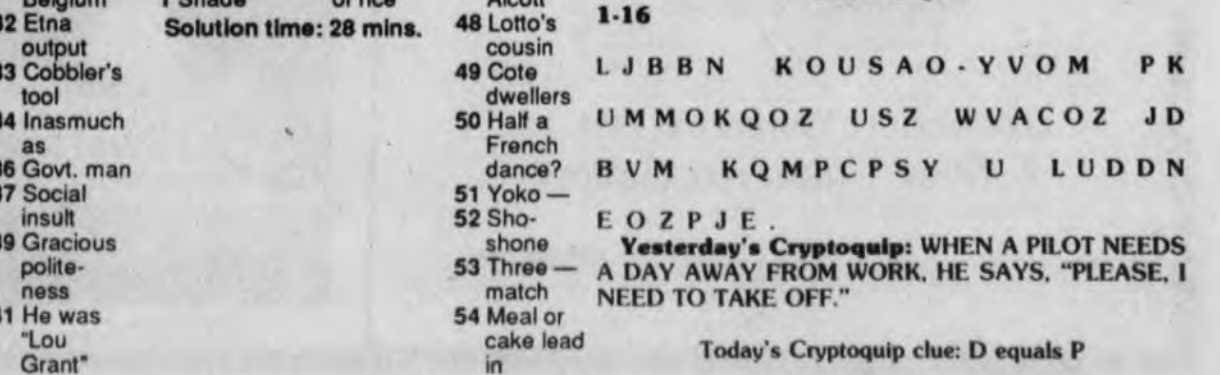

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

Union Gallery offers wide variety of art displays

Work features Kansas, not awe-inspiring in concrete object, landscape portrayal

REBECCA SACK
Collegian Reviewer

You may not recognize every scene portrayed in the K-State Union Art Gallery, but each of the artists would feel at home in Kansas. The works, on display through Feb. 1, are part of K-State's Permanent Collection. The collection features Kansas artists and a variety of media, from black-and-white photographs to wood cuts.

The collection spans more than five decades and comes full circle with wood cuts and etchings dating from 1934 to 1981. John Helm's "Early Settler's House" conjures up images of Kansas' history. Charles Capps provides a depiction of "Anderson Hall" in 1947, reminding us

Reviewer says...

+ Well ...
- it's free.

time doesn't really change all that much.

Henry Varnum Poor adds color to the display with his pastel and ink "Landscape," dabbling in the abstract. His "Winding Road" is emotional and attention-grabbing amidst all the grey drawings and etchings. Birger Sandzen's nature-scapes shape the world with intricate twists of charcoal.

Gordon Parks donated his collection, "Moments Without Proper Names," to show photographs of people in Harlem, Paris and Kansas.

John Talleur provides the collection with a purely abstract work titled, "Trias." He mixes red and yellow shapes with dark black outlines.

Then it's back to the concrete again with Scott Schnepf's etching of "Linda's Place" and James C. Munce's "Starlight Staircase," 1990. The staircase, which leads to a sky of messy stars, is the most recent addition to the collection.

This look at K-State's permanent collection is interesting because the artists have ties with Kansas — just as most of the people viewing this exhibit probably do.

Different exhibits help to showcase area talent on campus

KIMIS HAJTITIMOTHEADIS
Contributing Writer

The K-State Union Art Gallery has provided artists a campus showcase for the past 20 years to expose visual art in many different forms.

Over the years, the gallery has showcased a wide array of art in the form of collections, architecture and sculptures.

Tim Hossler, a third-year architecture student and chairman of the Union Program Council Arts Committee, said the 12-member committee and the art department decide which artists will be able to exhibit their work.

He said sponsorship is then divided equally, with the UPC Arts Committee sponsoring 50 percent of the shows and the art department sponsoring the other 50 percent.

"Every spring, different artists will send in their work, and then as a committee we choose for the next year," Hossler said.

"We try to keep things pretty diverse and get a large range of different artists every year," he said.

Gary Woodward, head of the art department, said the department has a committee to work with the UPC Arts Committee. The two committees are responsible for examining each artist's work and deciding which artists will be showcased.

The gallery also serves as a showcase for graduate students' work.

"Graduate students are required to do an exhibit in connection with their degree," Woodward said.

Hossler said the artists do not pay a fee to have their work exhibited, nor do they get a fee for their exhibit.

The artists can try to sell the work from their exhibit, Woodward said, but very few pieces actually sell.

"Maybe one or two pieces will sell in one complete year of exhibits," he said.

"They usually leave a price list of their work at the UPC so whoever wishes to buy can ask the people over there what the prices are and purchase it that way," Woodward said.

"Artists have the opportunity to get wider exposure," Woodward said. "The more people that see their art, the better they like it."

Each exhibit is displayed for two or three weeks, but because some exhibits feature two or more artists, the gallery is able to show a lot of artists' work.

Woodward said 60 to 70 different artists are featured each year.

Hossler said the gallery is also used for the annual UPC Photography Contest. During this time, all contestants' photographs are shown.

Drink prices rise after tax increases cost of liquor, beer

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Students at K-State will have to pay more to party this year.

Their favorite retail-liquor store or tavern had to increase prices because the federal government increased the sin tax on alcoholic beverages as of Jan. 1, 1991. Students can expect beer to increase in price by as much as 18 percent depending on what is purchased.

Ed Rickel, owner of Rickel's Retail Liquor on Bluemont, said the tax increase resulted in an increase of $7 in the price of a keg of beer. Some of the increase also reflects an increase in warehouse prices.

The price of a keg of Budweiser beer at Rickel's went from $44 to $54.

"We had to pass on these price increases to get what we had for a profit last year," said Don Wilkinson, manager of the Wilkinson Retail Liquor Store.

Depending on your taste, beer sold in bottles and cans increased in price as well with few exceptions, said Brad Salyer, Rickel's employee. The prices increased from 4 to 13 percent depending on the type of beer purchased.

For example, Salyer said Molson's, a quality import, went from $4.69 to $4.99 a six-pack. Budweiser, a popular mid-priced beer, went from $6.86 to $7.89 a 12-pack.

On the bright side for those students who drink either Old Milwaukee Light or Keystone, however, the price will remain the same as last year at $5.15 a 12-pack until the end of this month, Salyer said. The price will then increase to $5.95 a 12-pack.

Darrin Grigg, manager of the Last Chance Restaurant and Saloon, said the increase in taxes will up the prices of their imported and domestic beers from 10 to 25 cents.

For example, a 12-ounce Coors Light bottle will go from $1.75 to $1.95, he said.

Grigg said Last Chance uses 64-ounce pitchers rather than the 48-ounce pitchers used by some taverns. Last Chance will raise the price of its 64-ounce pitchers of beer from $3.55 to $3.95.

Karl Long, manager of Baystreet, said Baystreet will also increase prices, but will increase them gradually.

Baystreet's pitchers of beer will go from $3.75 to $4, except on Thursdays when specials are offered, he said. The 99-cent Thursday special on a pitcher of beer will increase to $1.25.

Land-grant institutions still following mission; regents system provides diverse universities

KIMIS HAJTITIMOTHEADIS
Contributing Writer

The Kansas Board of Regents system provides diverse universities, each of them having a specific mission and seeking excellence in its own sphere.

K-State University is a land-grant institution. Land-grant colleges were focused to the development of modern science, invention and mechanical construction.

K-State, according to "The History of the Kansas State College of Agriculture and Applied Science" by Julius Willard, was to have as its main land-grant mission the teaching of "such branches of learning as related to agriculture and the mechanic arts."

"The most significant programs at K-State are related to the land-grant mission; engineering, architecture, agriculture, business and those programs that would support land-grant degrees, such as natural sciences and mathematics," said Martine Hammond-Paludan, director of academic affairs at the Kansas Board of Regents.

Wichita State University, Hammond-Paludan said, is an urban university, and because of this, its main objective is to serve the greater Wichita area with its non-traditional and minority students.

"WSU's main trust is focused to meet the business and industry needs within an urban area," she said.

"That would include business, engineering and applied programs, such as applied mathematics and chemistry."

Hammond-Paludan said Pittsburg State University's main mission is applied science and engineering technology.

Fort Hays State University's main goal is to have strong undergraduate programs. Liberal arts is its main focus, she said.

Emporia State University prepares students for serving in public schools.

"Emporia State offers a high quality of education," said Loralee Stevens, graduate assistant for the president at Emporia State. "We have strong liberal arts, business and especially library and information management departments," she said.

"Emporia State's library and information management school is one of the only schools in the country," Stevens said.

The University of Kansas is an institution of higher education whose primary trust is research.

"Research and graduate programs are our primary mission," said David Shulenburg, associate vice chancellor for academic affairs at KU.

"Kansas University has basically a comprehensive undergraduate program," Shulenburg said.

Teachers learn foreign cultures

KIMBERLY KOHLS
Staff Reporter

Enhancing high school teachers' understanding of culture and literature is the goal of the foreign language institute at K-State.

Fifty high school foreign language instructors from five states participated in initial workshops of the 1991 KSU/National Endowment of the Humanities Foreign Languages Institute on Jan. 10 and 11.

"The first two days are a beginning to a year-long program," said Loren Alexander, institute director and associate professor of secondary education. "This exposed them to the curriculum and first assignments."

The program titled, "A Novel Learning Community for Isolated Rural Teachers of Foreign Languages" is an effort to enhance teachers' backgrounds in the culture and literature of French, Spanish and German.

"They will be reading literature and studying the culture of their target-language," Alexander said.

While the participants learn about the culture and literature of their language, they will also learn how to incorporate the two into speaking and teaching in high school language classes. They will also develop an information and activities packet to improve classroom instruction.

After the opening workshops, the participants from Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma will be involved in evening sessions through May and a summer seminar for four weeks during June and July.

In addition, evening sessions will be held during September and October. A two-day workshop will close the institute, Nov. 7 and 8, 1992.

During the institute, instructors will be speaking their foreign languages. Functioning in the language at a high level with other foreign language teachers is another way the teachers can upgrade language skills.

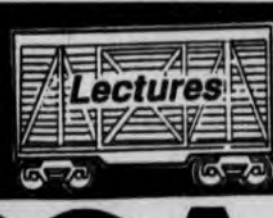

In recent years, there has been an increasing need for language programs in colleges and universities. This stimulates high school language programs to develop and improve, Alexander said.

"People are becoming more aware that to communicate with each other they may need to learn another language," Alexander said. "Also, people learn a language for personal development. They want to enhance their lives by learning a language."

The participants of the institute come from different sizes of high schools from the five states, including some from rural schools and larger schools such as Kansas City and Wichita.

K-State became involved with NEH when it made a grant proposal to the organization. A $265 contribution from NEH funds 70 percent of the institute. The remainder is covered by the participants' schools and K-State. The participants will receive six to nine hours of undergraduate or graduate credit.

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

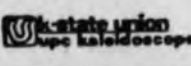

THE MOST HONORED FOREIGN FILM OF THE YEAR.
Best Foreign Film - LOS ANGELES FILM CRITICS ASSOCIATION

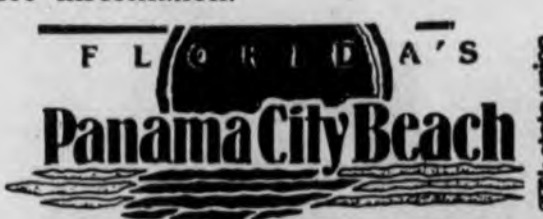

AU REVOIR LES ENFANTS
(GOODBYE CHILDREN)
A FILM BY LOUIS MALLE

Wednesday, January 16th
7 p.m. Forum Hall

Thursday, January 17th
3:30 p.m. Little Theatre &
7 p.m. Forum Hall. $1.75 with KSU ID.

Spring Break Trip
Info. meeting: January 31st Union Room 207.
Sign up Begins: February 1st at UPC Office 3rd Floor Union, 8 a.m.-4 p.m., call 532-6571 for more information.

Come On Board!

Applications and information for '91-'92 UPC Committee Chairperson positions will be available beginning January 23rd in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor K-State Union. APPLICATIONS ARE DUE AT 4 PM ON FEBRUARY 8th. Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on Feb. 10. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Ten Positions Available. For more information call 532-6571.

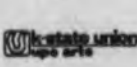

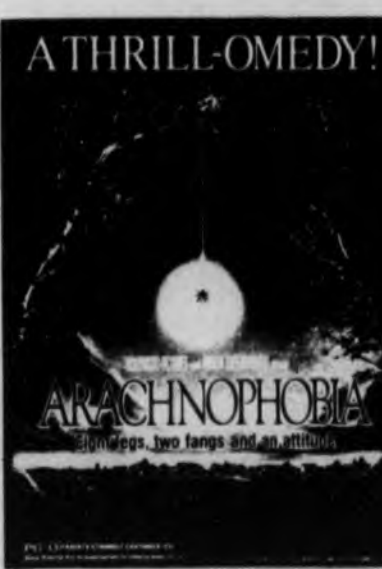

Kansas State University Permanent Collection

John Helm
Herschel Logan
Lloyd Foltz
Arthur Hall
Charles Capps
Birger Sandzen
Ted Hawkins
Charles Rogers
John Talleur

William Dickerson
Scott Schnepf
Evan Lindquist
Edward Sturr
Lester Karian
Henry Varnum Poor
Roger Shimomura
James Munce
Gordon Parks

January 14 - February 1, 1991
K-State Union Art Gallery
Monday - Friday 8:00am - 5:00pm

A THRILL-OMEDY!

Friday, January 18th 7 p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

Saturday, January 19th 7 p.m. & 9:30 p.m. Forum Hall

Sunday, January 20th 7 p.m. Forum Hall

Have questions about UPC events & activities?

Then call the entertainment line at 532-6570.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, January 17, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 77

Bush unleashes 'Storm'

President Bush addresses the nation

Bush's objectives for Desert Storm

1. Iraqi forces will leave Kuwait.
2. The legitimate government of Kuwait will be restored to its rightful place.
3. Kuwait will once again be free.
4. Iraq will eventually comply with all relevant United Nations resolutions.
5. When peace is restored, Iraq will live as a peaceful and cooperative member of the family of nations, thereby enhancing the security and stability of the gulf.

A lone viewer watches early news reports about the U.S. air attack on Iraq early Wednesday evening in Sears department store at the Manhattan Town Center. Operation Desert Storm began at 6 p.m. Central Standard Time by numerous air strikes to Baghdad.

Anti-war coalition prepares for march

KELLY BERG
Campus Editor

A demonstration to prevent a war is now a demonstration to stop a war. Scheduled for 11:30 a.m. today, the demonstration changed drastically when the United States bombed Baghdad.

"As it's shaping up, the demonstration is turning into a march on city hall," said John Exdell, professor of philosophy and former Manhattan Alliance for Central America head-figure.

"The march will start at the (K-State) Union, go through Aggieville, down the streets," he said, "and end in a rally at the Riley County Courthouse."

Talat Rahman, associate physics professor and spokeswoman for the Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East, said a member of the coalition requested a permit from the city for the march and rally.

"But, whether we get permission or not," she said, "we'll do it."

Kale Baldock, student in physics and Coalition member, said he personally went to City Hall to get the necessary permit to have the march. He was told the group would have to file a parade application and pay a $20 fee.

"I think it's silliness," Baldock said, "and it's possible that we'll just ignore it."

"If (the police) want to arrest us for walking along the streets, expressing our feeling and opinions about this heinous act of aggression," he said, "well, I guess that's what they'll have to do."

Baldock went on to say, however, that he didn't expect any trouble.

"The police force, both on campus and in town, has been pretty cooperative with demonstrations in the past," he said, "and we expect this will be no different."

This is not the first demonstration the coalition has organized in opposition to Bush's policies and actions in the Middle East. The group organized a demonstration of about 300 people on Nov. 14.

"We are expecting at least 300 people at this demonstration," Rahman said, "but we hope there will be even more."

■ See PROTEST, Page 11

U.S. on offensive with air assault

By the Associated Press

The United States and its allies hurled a mighty air armada in two attacks against Iraq Thursday to crush that Arab nation's military power and drive it from conquered Kuwait.

"The liberation of Kuwait has begun," President Bush declared in Washington.

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein, in a speech broadcast by Iraq state radio following the first attack, retorted that Bush was a "hypocritical criminal" and vowed to crush "the satanic intentions of the White House."

During the first attack, warplanes in hundreds of sorties streaked north from Saudi Arabian bases to punish Iraq for its five-month defiance of the rest of the world.

In Baghdad, reporters said bomb explosions shook the ground of the Iraqi capital. An oil refinery 10 miles away was in flames, and flashes of light brightened the night sky — apparent anti-aircraft fire, they said.

"Operation Desert Storm" became "Operation Desert Shield" around 12:50 a.m. (3:50 p.m. CST) as F-15E fighter-bombers took off from the largest U.S. air base in central Saudi Arabia and streaked north.

U.S.-led forces launched a second wave of air attacks on Iraq after 8 a.m. local time (11 p.m. Wednesday CST) from air bases around the region, an unidentified Western military officer said.

Jets could be heard roaring off the runway at Muharraq air base in Bahrain at around that time. Based there are two squadrons of Royal Air Force fighters. U.S. bombers were also seen on the tarmac early Thursday.

In Baghdad, CNN said bombing had resumed in daylight near Baghdad about six hours after the first pre-dawn attack on the city.

The offensive included U.S.-allied forces and was aimed at Iraqi troops in both Iraq and Kuwait, U.S. officials said. British Tornado fighter-bombers and 150 Saudi Arabian F-15s and Tornados joined the air assault, a Saudi spokesman said.

In Washington, U.S. defense officials said reports from the first attack indicated initial Iraqi resistance was limited. Early reports on U.S. casualties were "very, very encouraging," said Defense Secretary Dick Cheney. Bush, on U.S. national television, said no ground assault was launched immediately against the dug-in Iraqi army in Kuwait.

There was no immediate word on damage and casualties in Iraq and Kuwait. Nor was there any immediate sign of an Iraqi missile attack on Israel, as Baghdad had threatened.

Hussein, whose forces stormed Kuwait in a lightning invasion Aug. 2, rejected world condemnation and dismissed international economic sanctions designed to force him out of the occupied emirate during the five-month crisis.

In Washington, a senior military official said the initial U.S. attack also included "a wave of cruise missiles," possibly from U.S. battleships in the Persian Gulf. The missiles apparently were launched to force Iraqi anti-aircraft defenses to turn on their radars and be spotted and destroyed by the attackers.

Almost two hours after the first attack began, reporters in Baghdad said bombs were still falling.

Cheney said the U.S. "focus is on the destruction of Saddam's offensive military capabilities."

The U.S.-led attack came one day after the Tuesday midnight deadline set by the U.N. Security Council for an Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait. After that, the council declared, the assembled international military force would be free to drive the Iraqis from the conquered oil-rich enclave.

Right to the end, Iraq had remained defiant. Saadi Mehdi Saleh, speaker of Iraq's legislature, said on Wednesday that Saddam would "from now on direct the battle."

President says force only option against Iraq

Lack of peaceful alternatives ends in attack

SHANNON HEIM
A&E/Features Editor

In his address to the nation Wednesday night, President Bush said using force to drive Saddam Hussein from Kuwait was the only option.

"Now, the 28 countries with forces in the gulf area have exhausted all reasonable efforts to reach a peaceful resolution and have no choice but to drive Saddam from Kuwait by force," Bush said.

"The reason for the U.S. action was clear," he said. "The world could wait no longer."

Sanctions during the last five months have not accomplished their objectives and would not force Saddam to leave, Bush said. And the departure of Saddam is one of the primary objectives Bush gave for the U.S. intervention.

Other objectives given in the address included restoring the Kuwaiti government and peace throughout the gulf.

"And then, when peace is restored," Bush said, "it is our hope that Iraq will live as a peaceful and cooperative member of the family of nations — thus enhancing the security and stability of the gulf."

Bush said although freeing Iraq from Saddam is a goal, overtaking the country is not.

The U.S. military strategy was targeted at destroying Saddam's arsenals rather than bombing civilian areas, he said.

"We have no argument with the people of Iraq ... in fact, I pray for their safety," Bush said.

John Daly, assistant professor of history, said he is not as confident as Bush that American goals for the conflict have been well thought out.

"It's been a historical fallacy that air warfare can accomplish everything," Daly said. "It's one thing to have planes flying overhead, but another one entirely when troops engage in ground combat."

Daly said he would not estimate how many days might pass before ground operations would begin but he does think the conflict will last for several months.

"I'm saddened that further sanctions were not used," he said. "Bush has made his decisions and Iraq and the Middle East are going to have to live with them."

The public, as well, will have to live with the president's decisions and being completely informed on the issue may be difficult.

"We cannot talk about future operations, and we must limit the kind and amount of information given," said Defense Secretary Dick Cheney during a press briefing following Bush's speech.

Cheney said, however, no one should doubt the U.S. ability to carry out military operations quickly and efficiently.

Cheney also said he was not prepared to release information on any casualties, but he would say the operation appears to have gone very well so far.

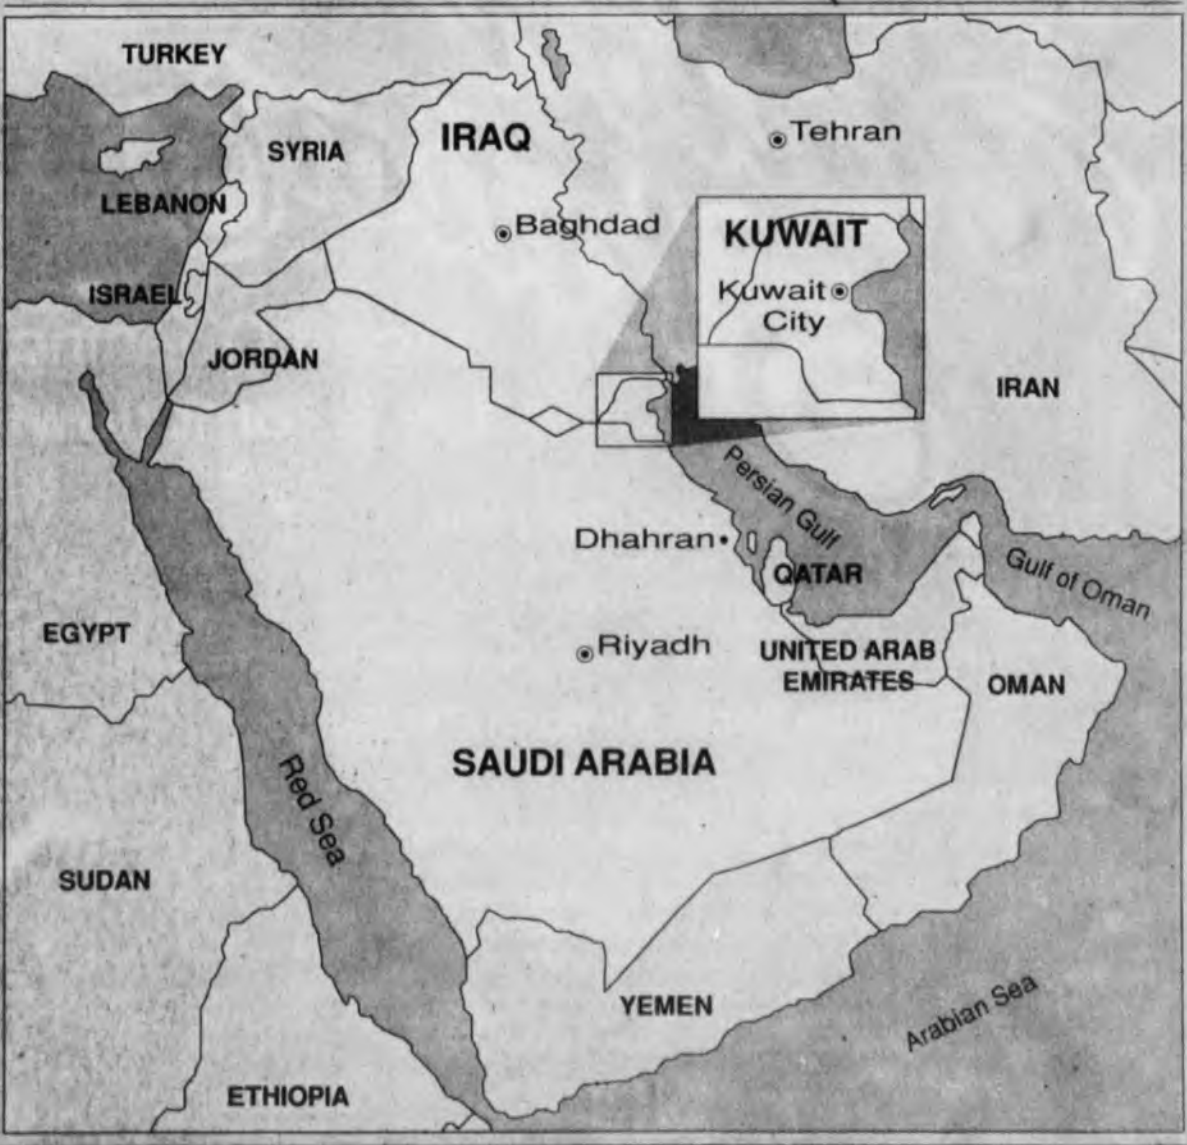

Daly said he thinks the Pentagon will try to give out as little information as possible and in turn make journalists' jobs difficult.

He said he thinks U.S. officials will struggle to keep the public from objecting to the gulf conflict to the extent where withdrawal is demanded as happened in the Vietnam War.

In his address, however, Bush said he wanted to assure Americans the war in the gulf would not be another Vietnam and that he would bring U.S. troops home as soon as possible.

"They will not be asked to fight with one hand tied behind their backs," he said. "I'm convinced we will prevail."

Area of Operation Desert Storm

Gary Lytle/Special to the Collegian

Briefly

Nation

Dead spotted owl resurfaces issue

PORT ANGELES, Wash. (AP) — A dead spotted owl found nailed to a sign in Olympic National Park bore a note warning "the match has yet to be struck" in a battle over old-growth forests.

The bird, which had a match stuck in its breast, has been the subject of a controversy between environmentalists and loggers since it was declared a threatened species last summer.

"If you think your parks and wilderness don't have enough of these suckers, plant this one," said the note, found by acting chief ranger Curt Sauer. "They talk of social unrest. The match has yet to be struck."

Sauer, who found the bird Monday, said he believed the match reference was a threat of forest fires in the park.

Police arrest handicapped man

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A 75-year-old man in a motorized wheelchair was arrested after allegedly robbing a bank of $70 by threatening to blow it up with nitroglycerin, police said.

Police arrested William H. Hart about two blocks from the HomeFed Bank branch. Hart told officers he wanted the money to buy medicine, police spokesman Bill Robinson said.

"It's a sad case," Robinson said. "The man told police that the nitro was heart pills."

He was booked into the Metropolitan Correction Center for investigation of bank robbery, authorities said.

The robbery occurred midday Tuesday when a man wheeled up to a teller, told her that he had a bottle of nitroglycerin and demanded $70 that he told the teller he planned to use for medicine, Robinson said.

Region

Ex-wife charged with man's death

TOPEKA (AP) — A woman has been charged with first-degree murder and aggravated arson in the fire-related death of her live-in ex-husband, authorities said.

Lena Bernice "Fergie" Ferguson, 41, remained in the Shawnee County Jail Tuesday on a $50,000 surety bond and was ordered to appear for a preliminary hearing Thursday.

She was charged in Sunday's death of David Summers, 43, said Shawnee County Assistant District Attorney Dave Debenham.

An autopsy found that heat and smoke inhalation killed the man whose body was found in his southeast Topeka home.

Fire Battalion Chief Jim Campbell said an accelerant apparently was used to start the fire at 12:33 p.m.

Authorities said the two were divorced, but maintained the same residence.

2 teen-agers die after shooting

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Police searched Wednesday for suspects in a drug house shooting which resulted in the death of two teen-agers and wounding of two others.

Police spokesman Dave Rawlings identified the victims as Carl Stennis, 16, and Damani Morrison, 15, both of Kansas City.

Rawlings said a 14-year-old boy was shot in the head and a 19-year-old man was shot several times Tuesday afternoon. They were in serious condition but were expected to live.

"I don't think we consider the ones we have in custody in the hospital as suspects," he said.

Rawlings said he did not know whether drugs or weapons had been found at the house, which was known to police as a site for drug sales.

"People in the area and police information indicated that it had, at one time at least, been a drug house where narcotics had been sold," he said.

Officials expect increase in trade

TOPEKA (AP) — A trade representative from China said Tuesday he believes there will be considerably more trade in the 1990s between the United States and China.

Sun Jie, an economic official for the Henan Province in China, said before there can be more trade, however, there needs to be a greater understanding between the two countries. The Henan Province, in the central part of China, is the sister state of Kansas.

Sun has been traveling with state agriculture officials across Kansas.

Campus

Police rule Huston death suicide

Authorities at the Dickinson County Sheriff's Department have ruled the death of Chris Huston, sophomore in business administration, a suicide, according to a spokeswoman at the department.

Huston was pronounced dead at the Asbury Hospital in Salina Monday night due to a gunshot wound to the head.

Further investigations into the death are continuing, the spokeswoman said.

Huston, a 1989 graduate of Abilene High School, was a second year Phi Gamma Delta fraternity member and was recently elected as a business senator.

A memorial fund has been set up in memory of Huston. Donations can be made at the FIJI fraternity house or to the Danner Funeral Home, 501 N. Buckeye, Abilene, Kan., 67410. The money will be given to FIJI or to a charity of the donor's choice, according to a spokesman at the Danner Funeral Home in Abilene.

FIJI member Randy Coble, senior in finance, said the money given to the fraternity will be used as a scholarship memorial in Huston's name.

Funeral services for Huston will be at 10:30 a.m. Friday at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, 311 S. Buckeye, Abilene. The Rev. Chris Conklin will officiate.

Campus Bulletin

Announcements

Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East will meet at 11:30 a.m. between the Union and Seaton Hall. The program topic "No blood for oil peace demonstration."

Student Governing Association is accepting applications for campus committees, Student Senate standing committees and Senate interns. The applications are available and due in the SGS office (ground floor Union) by Wednesday, Jan. 23.

The Community Enrichment Free Scuba Diving Demonstration scheduled for today has been cancelled.

K-State University Table Tennis Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the ECM Building.

The College of Agriculture will have an interview clinic sign-up Jan. 18-23 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Waters Hall. Bring a data sheet.

17 Thursday

Intramural Managers' Meeting is at 4 p.m. in the Union Forum Hall.

Continuing Education Community Enrichment Program will meet at 5:30 p.m. in the KSU Natatorium.

The Ag Student Council will meet at 6 p.m. in Waters 137.

Campus Crusade for Christ will meet at 8 p.m. in Throckmorton 131.

ICTHUS Christian Fellowship will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater. Matt George will speak.

The KSU Rodeo Club Meeting is at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

The Vietnamese Students Association will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the International Student Center.

The Pre-vet Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Trotter 201.

Minority Assembly of Students in Health will meet at 6 p.m. in the Union State Room 2.

Talking Hands Meeting is at 4 p.m. in the Union 204.

Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union 203.

18 Friday

Intramural Entry Deadline for basketball and individual sports is 5 p.m. in the Recreational Services Office at the Rec Complex.

The Career Planning and Placement Center will conduct a placement orientation meeting in the K-State Union Big 8 room at 3:30 p.m. It is for all majors graduating in May, August or December 1991.

19 Saturday

The GMAT Exam will be held at 8:30 a.m. in Cardwell 101.

Manhattan Weather

Today, mostly cloudy except possible clearing during the afternoon. High 35 to 40. Northwesterly winds 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, Friday, partly cloudy. Low tonight 20 to 25. Warmer Friday with the high in the mid-to upper 40s.

Sponsor of the Big Eight Body Building Championships
FREE-WEIGHT EQUIPMENT

- Universal Machines
- Exercise Bicycles
- Life Cycle
- Stairmaster
- Weight Training Consultation
- Tanning Beds
- Hot Tub
- Showers and Lockers

SEMESTER SPECIAL $75-GROUP RATES AVAILABLE
Laramie Plaza-Basement 539-7095

See You at the

Union Station
Grand Opening
Today & Tomorrow!

Coca-Cola Nite

Thursday, January 17

- 11:30a - 12:00p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
- 12:00p - 1:00p Jenny Dieball
- 8:00p - 10:00p "Coca-Cola Nite" Featuring the 1990 UPC Winner, Barnburners

Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge

Friday, January 18

- 11:30a - 12:30p Voces de H.A.L.O
 - 12:30p - 12:45p The KSU Chapter of S.A.D.D. will name the winner of the "Kiss a Pig Contest."
 - 12:45p - 1:15p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
 - 7:00p - 9:00p "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge"
- $100 First Prize, $50 Second Prize
- Celebrity Judges for "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge": Chuck Werning, Director of Housing and Dining Services; Barb Rabel, Greek Affairs Advisor; Diana Cardwell, Multicultural Student Organization Coordinator

Don't forget to vote at the S.A.D.D. Table this week for your favorite candidate to "Kiss The Pig"

Sunchase
SPRING BREAKS 1991
RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119*
AMERICANO, RAMADA INN, VOYAGER OR DESERT INN HOTELS & KITCHENETTES • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129*
SHERATON CONDOS & HOTEL, GULF VIEW & LANDFALL TOWER CONDOS, OR HOLIDAY INN • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
STEAMBOAT from $96*
SHADOW RUN CONDOS OR OVERLOOK HOTEL • 2, 5 OR 7 NIGHTS WITH ALL LIFTS • PICNIC • RACE
FORT LAUDERDALE from $137*
LAUDERDALE BEACH HOTEL • 7 NIGHTS
PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124*
TOURWAY INN OR THE REEF KITCHENETTES • 7 NIGHTS
CORPUS CHRISTI/MUSTANG ISLAND from $108*
HOLIDAY INN OR PORT ROYAL OCEAN RESORT CONDOS • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112*
HILTON HEAD ISLAND BEACH & TENNIS RESORT CONDOS • 7 NIGHTS

DON'T DELAY!
CENTRAL SPRING BREAK INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS
1-800-321-5911
7AM-7PM M-Th, 7AM-5PM Fri, 9AM-5PM Sat, Mountain Standard Time
Reservations may be made by credit card

24 HOUR FAX RESERVATIONS (503) 225-1514
*Depending on break dates and length of stay

Faculty Senate approves of tenure system

LAJEAN RAU
Staff Reporter

Discussion and research conducted by Faculty Senate has led it to recommend that K-State's current system of tenure and faculty evaluation remain intact.

Opponents say tenure allows less productive, or even incompetent, faculty members to continue employment with a university when there may be more qualified teachers available at the same cost.

Other opponents say professors hide behind tenure status in order to avoid thorough evaluation.

Tenure is a status awarded to a faculty member after a certain period of teaching at a university. At K-State, tenure may happen in the sixth year of employment.

The tenured professors in the faculty member's department take a secret ballot to decide whether or not he or she may continue employment at K-State. The department head presents this vote, along with a letter of recommendation to the dean of the college who, in turn, reports to the provost.

A faculty member gets tenure once in most circumstances. Once a faculty member is tenured, only blatant incompetence, a breach of ethics, or a financial situation that would force the University to eliminate the person's position would be grounds for dismissal.

Qualifications for tenure include both good teaching and a certain amount of research.

In September, the Kansas Board of Regents asked the six regents' institutions to look into the issue of tenure and faculty evaluation and report the results to the board.

Conclusions were outlined at the Faculty Senate meetings in October and November.

The Senate decided additional forms of evaluation were not practical, nor were they the solution.

"We concluded that the major issue was not that lots of tenured people were not doing their jobs," said Wayne Nafziger, professor of economics and president of Faculty Senate, "but that universities in Kansas were having problems keeping their good professors."

Nafziger said keeping Kansas competitive in the teaching market is important.

"The main reason that K-State has trouble holding on to its good professors is that our faculty salaries are simply not competitive," he said.

A study done by a subcommittee of Faculty Senate found that K-State ranks eighth in the Big Eight in faculty salaries and 41st out of 50 among land grant institutions.

Salaries have slipped even further since the study was done.

In a letter to Faculty Senate presidents in October, Nafziger wrote, "Faculty, most of whom are continually being assessed, are not trying to avoid evaluation. Nor do we oppose dismissal for cause such as professional incompetence...the state must put more emphasis on the carrot of attracting and retaining excellent faculty, rather than on the stick of additional layers of review."

Under the present system, K-State faculty are evaluated yearly as part of a merit system. These evaluations help determine pay increases within departments. The results may also play a role down the line in deciding who gets tenure.

The opinion that the current system should remain is nearly unanimous.

"I think the six institutions' faculty senates, along with the provosts, have convinced the regents tentatively that to abolish or radically change the current tenure system would not be a good thing," Nafziger

said.

Marion Gray, tenured professor of history and member of Faculty Senate, said he agrees.

"I understand why people are raising questions about the tenure system," he said. "There are legitimate concerns, but I think getting rid of tenure would be very detrimental."

Gray said the importance of tenure lies in the academic freedom it gives professors.

"Professors need to have this security," he said. "You can't do a good job if you're constantly worrying about keeping your job."

If correct implementation of the current system is the answer, requirements for tenure become the next issue.

Gray said he would like to see the balance shift more toward the importance of good teaching.

"The two main factors are teaching and research," he said. "The teaching side often gets ignored because it is extremely difficult to measure. It's much easier to ask how many articles a person wrote."

Nafziger said he agreed, and added that sometimes a professor is stronger in one area than the other. In these cases, the balance could be shifted accordingly.

Country Swing Dance Lessons

8 p.m.

$20 per couple
Tuesday, Jan. 22

at

The Ranch
SALOON

3 mi East on Highway 24

539-4989

776-5577

1800 Claffin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes

$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes

$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

BAY STREET
AND THE PIT

THURSDAY

$1.25 Pitchers

$1.00 Longnecks

75¢ Wells

50¢ Kamis

Union Station Presents...

AIR BAND CHALLENGE

Friday January 18, 1991 7 to 9 p.m. at Union Station

1st Prize $100

2nd Prize $50

Register at Union Station now thru 2 p.m. January 18, 1991

The Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge is an opportunity for you and up to seven of your friends to form a lip sync group and show your stuff during the Union Station Grand Opening.

K-State Union
Union Station

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00130	03561	05770	07210	08810	10390	11530	14090	15230	19130	20790	23290	25090	26700	30150	33610	36250
00140	03570	05780	07220	08820	10400	11540	14100	15240	19140	20800	23300	25100	26710	30160	33620	36260
00150	03580	05790	07230	08830	10410	11550	14110	15250	19150	20810	23310	25110	26720	30170	33630	36270
00160	03590	05800	07240	08840	10420	11560	14120	15260	19160	20820	23320	25120	26730	30180	33640	36280
00170	03600	05810	07250	08850	10430	11570	14130	15270	19170	20830	23330	25130	26740	30190	33650	36290
00180	03610	05820	07260	08860	10440	11580	14140	15280	19180	20840	23340	25140	26750	30200	33660	36300
00190	03620	05830	07270	08870	10450	11590	14150	15290	19190	20850	23350	25150	26760	30210	33670	36310
00200	03630	05840	07280	08880	10460	11600	14160	15300	19200	20860	23360	25160	26770	30220	33680	36320
00210	03640	05850	07290	08890	10470	11610	14170	15310	19210	20870	23370	25170	26780	30230	33690	36330
00220	03650	05860	07300	08900	10480	11620	14180	15320	19220	20880	23380	25180	26790	30240	33700	36340
00230	03660	05870	07310	08910	10490	11630	14190	15330	19230	20890	23390	25190	26800	30250	33710	36350
00240	03670	05880	07320	08920	10500	11640	14200	15340	19240	20900	23400	25200	26810	30260	33720	36360
00250	03680	05890	07330	08930	10510	11650	14210	15350	19250	20910	23410	25210	26820	30270	33730	36370
00260	03690	05900	07340	08940	10520	11660	14220	15360	19260	20920	23420	25220	26830	30280	33740	36380
00270	03700	05910	07350	08950	10530	11670	14230	15370	19270	20930	23430	25230	26840	30290	33750	36390
00280	03710	05920	07360	08960	10540	11680	14240	15380	19280	20940	23440	25240	26850	30300	33760	36400
00290	03720	05930	07370	08970	10550	11690	14250	15390	19290	20950	23450	25250	26860	30310	33770	36410
00300	03730	05940	07380	08980	10560	11700	14260	15400	19300	20960	23460	25260	26870	30320	33780	36420
00310	03740	05950	07390	08990	10570	11710	14270	15410	19310	20970	23470	25270	26880	30330	33790	36430
00320	03750	05960	07400	09000	10580	11720	14280	15420	19320	20980	23480	25280	26890	30340	33800	36440
00330	03760	05970	07410	09010	10590	11730	14290	15430	19330	20990	23490	25290	26900	30350	33810	36450
00340	03770	05980	07420	09020	10600	11740	14300	15440	19340	21000	23500	25300	26910	30360	33820	36460
00350	03780	05990	07430	09030	10610	11750	14310	15450	19350	21010	23510	25310	26920	30370	33830	36470
00360	03790	06000	07440	09040	10620	11760	14320	15460	19360	21020	23520	25320	26930	30380	33840	36480
00370	03800	06010	07450	09050	10630	11770	14330	15470	19370	21030	23530	25330	26940	30390	33850	36490
00380	03810	06020	07460	09060	10640	11780	14340	15480	19380	21040	23540	25340	26950	30400	33860	36500
00390	03820	06030	07470	09070	10650	11790	14350	15490	19390	21050	23550	25350	26960	30410	33870	36510
00400	03830	06040	07480	09080	10660	11800	14360	15500	19400	21060	23560	25360	26970	30420	33880	36520
00410	03840	06050	07490	09090	10670	11810	14370	15510	19410	21070	23570	25370	26980	30430	33890	36530
00420	03850	06060	07500	09100	10680	11820	14380	15520	19420	21080	23580	25380	26990	30440	33900	36540
00430	03860	06070	07510	09110	10690	11830	14390	15530	19430	21090	23590	25390	27000	30450	33910	36550
00440	03870	06080	07520	09120	10700	11840	14400	15540	19440	21100	23600	25400	27010	30460	33920	36560
00450	03880	06090	07530	09130	10710	11850	14410	15550	19450	21110	23610	25410	27020	30470	33930	36570
00460	03890	06100	07540	09140	10720	11860	14420	15560	19460	21120	23620	25420	27030	30480	33940	36580
00470	03900	06110	07550	09150	10730	11870	14430	15570	19470	21130	23630	25430	27040	30490	33950	36590
00480	03910	06120	07560	09160	10740	11880	14440	15580	19480	21140	23640	25440	27050	30500	33960	36600
00490	03920	06130	07570	09170	10750	11890	14450	15590	19490	21150	23650	25450	27060	30510	33970	36610
00500	03930	06140	07580	09180	10760	11900	14460	15600	19500	21160	23660	25460	27070	30520	33980	36620
00510	03940	06150	07590	09190	10770	11910	14470	15610	19510	21170	23670	25470	27080	30530	33990	36630
00520	03950	06160	07600	09200	10780	11920	14480	15620	19520	21180	23680	25480	27090	30540	34000	36640
00530	03960	06170	07610	09210	10790	11930	14490	15630	19530	21190	23690	25490	27100	30550	34010	36650
00540	03970	06180	07620	09220	10800	11940	14500	15640	19540	21200	23700	25500	27110	30560	34020	36660
00550	03980	06190	07630	09230	10810	11950	14510	15650	19550	21210	23710	25510	27120	30570	34030	36670
00560	03990	06200	07640	09240	10820	11960	14520	15660	19560	21220	23720	25520	27130	30580	34040	36680
00570	04000	06210	07650	09250	10830	11970	14530	15670	19570	21230	23730	25530	27140	30590	34050	36690
00580	04010	06220	07660	09260	10840	11980	14540	15680	19580	21240	23740	25540	27150	30600	34060	36700
00590	04020	06230	07670	09270	10850	11990	14550	15690	19590	21250	23750	25550	27160	30610	34070	36710
00600	04030	06240	07680	09280	10860	12000	14560	15700	19600	21260	23760	25560	27170	30620	34080	36720
00610	04040	06250	07690	09290	10870	12010	14570	15710	19610	21270	23770	25570	27180	30630	34090	36730
00620	04050	0

EDITORIAL

Leaders could learn much from Schmucks

"To be a schmuck, or not to be a schmuck: that is the question." William Schmuckspeare

Hello there boys and girls! I am so glad you tuned in to Uncle Elmo's Playhouse. We have a fantastically fun-filled show for you kiddies tonight. But before we get started, Uncle Elmo has a really neat bedtime story to tell you. Are you ready? OK!

"Once upon a time, in a place not too far away, there was a land called Schmearth. The people of Schmearth were called Schmucks. The Schmucks of Schmearth had a long, long history of wars. Killing and fighting and fighting and killing. Almost every Schmuck that ever lived could not recall a time when there wasn't a war someplace.

The Schmucks even had a couple of really big wars in which millions upon millions of poor Schmucks were sent to that Great Schmuck in The Sky.

Schmearth was a sad place to be a Schmuck.

The people of Schmearth were divided into the Good Schmucks and the Bad Schmucks — with a few In-between Schmucks scattered here and there. For about the last 45 years, the Schmucks of Schmearth had lived without any big wars between the Good Schmucks and the Bad Schmucks because both sides had the Atomic Schmuckbomb. All Schmucks knew the Atomic Schmuckbomb could blow all Schmucks to Schmitherens if some dumb Schmuck pushed the wrong button. And besides, no one wanted to live in Schmitherens.

One day, the Bad Schmucks decided they didn't want to be Bad Schmucks anymore. They wanted to be Good Schmucks. This made the Good Schmucks very happy. The Bad Schmucks were tired of living without the fundamental rights of your average Schmuck — like owning a VCR, eating a Big McSchmuckburger and pegging the $10,000 credit limit on a gold Master Schmuckcard.

Brad Seabourn

Collegian Columnist

So, the Bad Schmucks decided to get rid of all the Atomic Schmuckbombs they had piled up to blow the Good Schmucks to Schmitherens and give all the Bad Schmucks the fundamental rights a good Schmuck deserved.

The Good Schmucks decided to do the same thing because they were tired of all the wars. They had spent so much money making Atomic Schmuckbombs that they didn't have enough money left for fixing roads and building cities, or helping homeless Schmucks, or even improving schools for their little kiddie Schmucks' education. It was so bad, some little Schmucksters couldn't even spell 'Schmuck.'

Getting rid of all the Atomic Schmuckbombs made everyone in Schmuckville, the capital of the Good Schmucks, very happy indeed. "Now the Schmearth can truly be at peace, and there will be enough porkbarrel in Schmuckville for everyone," they said.

And, for a short while, it worked. But then, one sad day, some of the In-between Schmucks decided to become Bad Schmucks and gobbled up one of their neighboring In-between Schmucks. The chief of the Good Schmucks said, "This aggression will not stand," and he promised to destroy the new Bad Schmucks and blow them all to Schmitherens.

Actually, the chief of the Good Schmucks was worried about all the oil that the chief of the new Bad Schmucks might control. This would make it very costly for the Good Schmucks to drive their Schmuckmobiles.

The chief of the new Bad Schmucks was not frightened, for he believed the Great Schmuck in The Sky was on his side. He told the chief of the Good Schmucks to go to Schmitherens.

The chief of the Good Schmucks also believed the Great Schmuck in The Sky was on his side, and said he was going to kick some new Bad Schmucks' butt.

So, there was a great war again, and many, many poor Schmucks were killed.

There was great sadness in Schmuckville and all through the land of the Good Schmucks.

There was also great sadness all through the land of the new Bad Schmucks, and the new Good Schmucks, and all the in-between Schmucks.

As a matter of fact, it was hard to find a happy Schmuck anywhere on Schmearth.

So, boys and girls, the moral of this story is: "It takes at least two Schmucks to fight a war. When you grow up, don't be a Schmuck."

Editorials

Yellow ribbons not enough; students should speak out

War.

Let it sink in for a moment. The TV coverage never lets that fact sink in.

The war is now a fact, and people will die, if they have not already. Bush is in for the duration, and no one can pull him out except the American people.

Now ask yourself where you stand. Just your own personal opinion, not that of your vocal friends. War and death must be an exclusively intimate decision, not one that should be swayed by strong political speakers. Family, relatives and friends are potential candidates for the front line.

Now with your decision firmly in mind, do something about it. Act. Protest, promote, demonstrate, or persuade. Just don't stand by as your country moves into another war.

Tying yellow ribbons on trees and fence posts isn't going to cut it this time.

Each person's democratic duty in this situation is to voice his or her opinion and to try to promote that cause. Write your congress members. Pressure your representatives. Let them know how you feel. And stand your ground.

The key to this line of action for K-Staters is the campus. The campus is your platform for ideas, perspectives and possible solutions.

Used effectively, colleges and universities can trigger national movements. At the very least, universities can mirror the sentiment of the American people.

Kent State and the University of California at Berkeley used collective voices effectively. People took note that students felt strongly enough to bypass their own college graduations to put an end to a war that we were not winning.

Don't shrug those two examples off as those of liberal/radical campuses. In 1970, literally every college campus in the nation erupted in Vietnam protests.

Even K-State saw students rise up against the war in southeast Asia. Thousands of K-State students marched against the war.

Today you will have your chance to present your view, as students gather in the K-State Union Plaza at 11:30 a.m. to demonstrate against the war in the gulf.

Don't allow your silence to be heard as an answer of approval at a higher level.

King's words apply today

"That old law about 'an eye for an eye' leaves everybody blind." — Martin Luther King Jr. (1929-1968).

Is it me or am I not the only one who's at a loss here? It seems too simple — pay fees, hand Cedar Crest over to Joan Finney and watch the United States declare war on the Middle East all in one day. Who said the 1990s weren't going to be exciting?

Cynicism aside, I do need a little help figuring this out. Let's review. Wasn't Jan. 15 the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., one of the most prominent benefactors of peaceful protest and advocate of non-violent resolution this world has been fortunate enough to have seen? Wasn't this past Jan. 15 also the deadline for the 'use of force' ultimatum outlined by the United Nations' resolution #678 warning Saddam Hussein to withdraw from Kuwait or else? (You all remember Hussein, a.k.a. Hitler, anti-Christ, Satan, or any other favorite degrading and dehumanizing buzzwords deemed appropriate.)

What are we to make of this? In literature, it's called irony; in philosophy it's called contradiction; in the United States I guess it's just called politics. Politics sure is a funny thing. Take Missouri Representative Ike Skelton for example. This democrat voted in favor of using force against the Iraqis — thus basically signing his son's orders for combat. I respect and applaud Skelton's resolute objectivity, but I can't help thinking about how hard it must be for him to sleep at night.

It's interesting to note that not one of the 52 senators and 250 representatives — including all seven Kansas Congressional delegates — that voted in favor of giving the president the power to use 'any and all means' to restore Kuwait will see sand. War is never fought by politicians; it's fought by people like you and me.

The Dole family won't be fearing that Bob will be returned via UPS in a 'human remains receptacle' (not a body bag, mind you — ain't language neat), but thousands of parents, sisters, brothers and friends are nervously awaiting the safe arrival of high school and college-age men and women. It's too bad an estimated 70,000 to 80,000 first-week American martyrs will never get the chance to run for public office.

Should our government have pursued a peaceful solution to the Gulf crisis more vehemently? Well, if King were alive today I think he would agree that the ruthless killing of thousands of both United Nation and Iraqi soldiers is a point no one wanted to reach. But hindsight is 20/20, and we don't have the advantage of King's wisdom.

But with Bush's refusal to consider "linkage" in any capacity, I'm prone to believe our foreign policy has been a little bit parsimonious with diplomacy in this case. "Linkage," for those unfamiliar with this current Capitol Hill catch phrase, is Hussein's desire to discuss the existing Israeli-Palestinian condition in conjunction with any proposal to withdraw from Kuwait.

Both Bush and Secretary of State James Baker III say they believe a dangerous precedent will be established by rewarding attention-hungry dictators for acts of imperialistic terrorism, should the United States decide to negotiate on these terms. Is this actually the case? You make the call.

Should we have given sanctions more time? CIA estimates show the blockade as restricting about 90 percent of all Iraqi imports and 97 percent of all exports. Even at this extreme rate of constricting, it is still believed it would take more than a year for the sanctions to have adverse effects.

Just think of all the wonderful negotiation time we could have had. If the United Nations' coalition is truly concerned with peace, it could surely go the distance.

Is George Bush doing a good job of handling the situation? Although the president has suffered a recent decline in the popularity polls, the majority of Americans are still satisfied with the proceedings. Nevertheless — despite all Pentagon efforts to control press coverage — when the grassroots constituents witness the death of women as well as men in combat, and there's a funeral in every small town in America, the sentiment is sure to turn sour quicker than the stock market did after news of the failed Aziz-Baker peace talks.

The truth is I'm scared as hell. I'm scared the United States is still trying to be a world cop. I'm scared that Israel, as of late, has been conducting overt missile tests for the first time in its history. I'm scared Hussein will probably have few reservations concerning the use of chemical weaponry. I'm scared we are willing to go to war for oil, yet basically ride the fence concerning issues such as South Africa, Central America, Chile, the Soviet states and a wealth of other moral and civil injustices of equal status at home and abroad.

I'm scared that, in the not too distant future, Uncle Sam may drop me a card telling me to put on a red-white-and-blue smile in order to point a gun at another human being with the intent to kill. But most of all, I'm scared that we declare war while we try to remember peace.

All in all, whether you are rooting for the U.S. troops, conscientiously objecting, recovering from Joan Finney's inauguration, or just plain relaxing while watching CNN's amazing collection of colored, TV war maps, please take a moment on Jan. 21, this year's formal celebration of Martin Luther King Jr. Day — a day dedicated to the celebration of peace — to take a look at the big picture.

For even if the United States isn't blinded by the aftermath of the Gulf crisis, we're going to come away with quite a shiner.

Roblin Meeks

Collegian Columnist

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

News Staff (532-6556)

Editor: Tomari Quinn
Managing Editor: Greg Branson
News Editor: Samantha Farr
Assistant News Editor: Wendy Snider
Editorial Page Editor: Steve Franzen
Photography Editor: Margaret Clarkin
Campus Editor: Kelly Berg
Sports Editor: David Svoboda
City/Government Editor: Elwyn Jones
Features/A&E Editor: Shannon Hein
Staff Assistant: Tristan Mohr
Copy Chief: Amy Cox
Copy Editors: Alicia Lowe
Eve Wilson
Agriculture Reporter: Shannan Seely
Consumer Reporter: Jim Struber
Health/Science Reporter: S. Katherine Dietrich
Staff Reporters: David Frese
Laura Hamod
Paul Noel
Dan Scott
Lori Stauffer

Columnists: Eric Becker
Karin Dell'Antonia
Rob Meeks
Ed Skoog
Sports Reporters: Eric Brown
Bill Lang
Jennifer Scheibler
Dan Wicker
Photographers: Brian W. Kratzer
Christopher T. Asaf
Brad Camp
Dave Mayes
Oliver Kaubisch
J. Matthew Rhea
Mike Venso
Mike Welchans
J. Kyle Wyatt
Strip Cartoonists: Bob Berry
Daryl Blasi
Darwin Moore
Editorial Board: Greg Branson
Steve Franzen
Samantha Farr
Tomari Quinn
Lajean Rau
Erwin Seba
Wendy Snider
Jim Struber
David Svoboda
Mike Venso
Amy Cox
Lori Stauffer
David Frese

Advertising Staff (532-6560)

Advertising Manager: Karen Lind
Assistant Manager: Doug Griffith
Campus/Teasheet Manager: David Little
Creative Director: Mary Ubel
Graphic Artist: Scott Tucker
Photographer: Chris Boyd

Account Executives: Rick Goetz
Angie Humphrey
Amy Montford
Stephanie Phelps
Jayme Wall
Cambli Colley
Randy Hudlin
Lea Linthacum
Mark Neely
Brett Taylor

The Kansas State Collegian (USPS 291 020), a student newspaper at Kansas State University, is published by Student Publications Inc., Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, Kan., 66506. The Collegian is published daily during the school year and once a week through the summer. Second class postage paid at Manhattan, Kan., 66502.

POSTMASTER: Send address changes to Kansas State Collegian, Circulation Desk, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan., 66506-7167.

Inquiries concerning local, national and classified display advertising should be directed to (913) 532-6560. Classified word advertising questions should be directed to (913) 532-6555.

Kansas State Collegian Subscription Rates
One Semester (Fall or Spring): $30
Two Semesters (Fall and Spring): $54
Summer Session: $54
One Year (Fall, Spring and Summer): $60
To charge by VISA or Mastercard, call (913) 532-6555.

Send orders and address changes to Student Publications, Kedzie 103, Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kan., 66506.

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Letters should be kept as brief as possible, preferably less than 300 words. Those who cannot condense their opinions should consider submitting their letter in the form of a guest column. All letters are subject to editing for space, style and taste.

SEND SUBMISSIONS to the Collegian in Kedzie 116. Students will be asked to show their I.D. card upon submission when done in Kedzie 116.

House members win new positions

ELVYN JONES
City/Government Reporter

Two local representatives to the Kansas House won assignments to committees that may aid them in promoting the financial requirements of K-State.

Before the start of the legislative session, Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, won an appointment to the appropriations committee and Rep. Kent Glasscock, R-Manhattan, to the taxation committee.

Both agree the appointments will help K-State and regents schools in legislative budget battles.

"It increases the clout of the regents in the Legislature," Hochhauser said of her appointment. "At least there will be a person to help formulate the budget and raise questions about the adequacy of the budget (for regents schools)."

Hochhauser said she owes her appointment to the committee because someone from the Manhattan area needed to be represented and because few women were on the committee.

Glasscock said his rare first-term selection to the taxation committee will also be beneficial to the University.

"It's a tremendous committee for K-State," he said. "Money appropriated needs to be raised in some way."

From his committee assignment,

Glasscock said he will try to find tax revenue dedicated to funding higher education. He met with Sen. Dick Bond, R-Overland Park, Tuesday to discuss one such plan, an increase in the state sales tax on cigarettes.

Glasscock, who advocated a cigarette-tax increase to fund higher education in his fall campaign, said the plan remains a viable option despite a recent federal cigarette-tax increase of 16 cents per package.

"I think the federal action diminished prospects (for a cigarette-tax increase), not negated them," he said. "I intend to work it hard."

Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, said the Legislature will focus on the concerns of the fall elections, specifically property-tax relief. Oleen said she prefers to call it a tax-shift policy.

During these economic hard times, the Legislature's task of balancing needed services with available revenue will be difficult, Oleen said.

"I understand Gov. Finney will support (the regents') base budget and it will not cut SRS services," she said. "I'm anxious to see her proposals and budget to see how she can accomplish this."

Oleen said although Kansas taxpayers have been generous in funding higher education in the past, she wonders how much of the burden they can be expected to pick up.

"Kansas ranks fourth nationally in per-capita support for higher education," she said. "There has been a 27 percent increase in appropriations for higher education in the last three years. We can't keep this up."

Oleen said students at regents schools will need to pay more than the 22 percent of the total cost of the education they presently pay.

"I think we need to look at increasing tuition, in-state and out-of-state," she said. "Particularly out-of-state, they're very low."

All agree bipartisan cooperation will be necessary if anything is to be done this session because of the balance between Democrats and Republicans in Topeka.

STUDENT LOANS Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!

Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK
Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

AUDITIONS!

K-State Players
for Spring Semester

January 16th, 17th; Callbacks 18th
Nichols Hall Lobby—7 p.m.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
THE MAGIC FLUTE
BETRAYAL

THE PURSUIT OF ANNE

No preparation necessary—casual dress.

Numerous male & female roles available. We encourage students from all ethnic backgrounds to audition for all roles.

For further information call 532-6875.
Reading scripts available—129 Nichols.

The Spot

Home of the 60 oz. pitcher

Tonight
Live:
The
Moving Van Goghs

702 N. 11th 776-0077 Aggieville, U.S.A.

ONE HOUR
MOTOPHOTO

Photo Processing At Its Best
40% off
Processing
(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41)
Expires Jan. 31, 1991
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m.
Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way C-1-1
Across from Westloop 776-9030

ONE HOUR
MOTOPHOTO

Photo Processing At Its Best
Reprint Special
29¢ each
(35 mm, 110, 126, Disc, C-41)
Expires Jan. 31, 1991
Mon.-Fri. 9 a.m.-6 p.m., Sat. 9 a.m.-5p.m.
Not valid with any other promotion

1134 Garden Way C-1-1
Across from Westloop 776-9030

BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND
THRIFTY THURSDAY

PYRAMID PIZZA rolls back the prices
Only $3.49 for a small pizza (one topping)
(additional toppings are 75¢ each)

COUPON
"THRIFTY THURSDAY"
$3.49 for a Small
One-topping Pizza
Good Every Thursday
"We Pile It On!"
Carryout/Dine In Only

539-4888 12th & MORO AGGIEVILLE, USA

CPI photo finish
one hour photo

Save 50%
on color processing & 4x6 prints
Each picture is the best it can be
or we reprint it free... now!

Film Developing
50% off
regular one-hour price

Color Enlargement
in One Hour
Buy 2 Get 1
FREE!

No limit on number of rolls discounted. Offer applies to first set of color prints only. Print length varies with film size. C41 in lab process, not combinable with other processing and print offers. Coupon good through April 6, 1991.

Same size from the same negative. Free Custom Cropping! 5x7, 8x10, 9x12 and 11x14 from 35mm and 126 negatives. 5x7 is the only size available from 110 and disc. No limit, not combinable with other enlargement offers. Coupon good through April 6, 1991.

CPI photo finish

one hour services: photo finishing • enlargements • reprints • double prints
also available: water photos • instant color passport photos • video transfer • copies from prints • cameras and accessories • film

Manhattan Town Center
main entrance by food court

BLUE RIVER PUB
presents

CoDe 202
on
Jan. 18

and Female Strippers
on
Jan. 25
5-7 p.m.

18 to Enter No Cover Charge
21 to Drink

AT VARNEY'S
GET SAVINGS
YOU CAN BANK
ON

Save 25% on textbooks when you buy used books from our large used book selection. Plus we offer a variety of quality new books and terrific service.

Our knowledgeable staff can help you locate items or place an order for a special book. At no extra charge. All of which means money in the bank for you.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

623 N. Manhattan Avenue • 539-0511

OPERA
WAREHAM
HOUSE
... PRESENTS ...

Homestead Grays

Friday Night
Doors Open 8-2
$5/person

410 Poyntz Avenue
for reservations: (913) 537-8646

Harry's Uptown

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

Diana Miller, Lady Cat senior forward, has been a force to reckon with in the Big Eight this year. She is the only player in K-State history ranked among the top 10 in scoring, rebounding, assists, steals and blocks.

Christopher T. Assal/Staff

Miller continues to carve niche in team history

Senior looks to repeat as conference's top performer

BILL LANG
Sports Reporter

She ranks up there with the best of them: Priscilla Gary, Carlisa Thomas, Tammie Romstad.

Wait a minute. You say you've never heard of these people. Well then, you'd better get your gluteus maximus out to Bramlage Coliseum and check out the next Lady Cat legend: Diana Miller.

Miller may be the best player to ever lace up a pair of hightops for the K-State women's basketball team.

In her four years, she has reached such lofty heights that even first-year Lady Cat coach Susan Yow has talked as if she was a legend.

"She's good enough that she could play for anybody in the country," Yow said.

Really, coach? Anybody in the country? Does that include Louisiana Tech, USC and Auburn?

"Yup. She could even start for any of them," Yow said.

Miller continued to show why she is one of the best clutch players in the country by scoring K-State's final 12 points to beat Nebraska.

K-State's last six games have all been decided by 10 points or less (the Lady Cats have won four of the last six) and more often than not, Miller has been the difference in the outcome.

In the final five minutes of the last six games, Miller has scored 35 of K-State's 76 points (or 46.1 percent). That's an average of 5.8 points in the final five minutes of each game, which begins to look even more impressive when you project it to 40 minutes (46.4 ppg).

But there is a modesty with all this greatness. When pressed to talk about her performance against Nebraska she responded.

"Well, I was in a zone the whole game until then," she said of 1-15 shooting effort until she took over for the Lady Cats in the last few minutes.

"I'm kind of a modest person," Miller said. "If I score 21 points and get some congratulations, I just shrug them off and get ready for the next game."

"My role is to score points, and that's what I do."

Miller has done just that with consistency. She's scored in double figures in 21 consecutive games dating back to an eight-point effort against Nebraska on Feb. 7, 1990.

She is the only player in K-State history to be ranked among the Top 10 in scoring (3rd), rebounding (5th), assists (9th), steals (5th) and blocks (4th).

With the advent of the three-point shot, Miller has really found a home outside the arc. She has scored at least one trifecta in 19 of her last 22 outings (during that stretch, Miller is 37-90 from three-point range for a nifty .41 percent).

After surviving a K-State rally for a 76-74 win, Colorado coach Ceal Barry was even aware of the talents of Miller.

"(K-State) never quit" she said. "I knew it was just a matter of time before Diana Miller started hitting those threes to get them back. I've seen her do it too many times."

She has scored in double figures in 76 of 101 games.

Miller has been tabbed Big Eight Player-of-the-Week for the week of Dec. 14.

She has scored 20 or more points 22 times in her career, in five of 13 games this season and in 10 of her last 21 outings.

Miller has also scored 20 points against every Big Eight opponent and had at least 10 rebounds in games against five of the other seven league schools. Colorado (eight) and Iowa State (nine) are the only other exceptions.

Nebraska's head coach, Angela Beck, is even aware of the last-minute bursts delivered by Miller.

"Diana Miller answered the call at the end of the game," she said. "She came around when she had to. That's why she was Big Eight Player of the Year last year."

Miller — all modesty aside — said she feels she could capture the honors again as the top player in the league.

"I'm having a really good year and so is the team," she said. "I think that I could win it again. But that's not important. The team's the important thing, and that's what I focus on."

Yow — keeping the team aspect in mind — added that the K-State win over Nebraska might make her look too good.

"Going down to those final minutes, Diana was 1-of-15 from the field," she said. "She's a good player, but we don't want to build the entire program around her."

"If we were to build it around her, then if we had a game without her, we'd lose," Yow added. "But I'll tell you one thing. I'm sure glad that she's on our side. I'd hate having to defend against that machine."

It's the team that's most important to Miller, though.

"Right now we have a shot at taking the Big Eight," she said. "This is my last year, and this is the best team that we've had in a long time. Wouldn't that be the best?"

Lady Cats bomb Missouri

From Staff and Wire Reports

COLUMBIA, Mo. — K-State used a 12-0 run early in the second half Wednesday to pull away from Missouri for a 68-53 win, and pick up its first victory at Hearnes Center since 1981.

Missouri led 38-37 with 15:52 left, but K-State held the Tigers scoreless over the next 6:47 as the Lady Cats built a 49-38 advantage.

Mary Jo Miller contributed five points during that stretch, while Kristie Bahner scored three points and Nadira Hazim and Diana Miller added a basket each.

Missouri cut the lead to 49-43 on a three point play by Lisa Sandbothe, but Hazim blitzed the Tigers with seven straight points to help put the game out of reach.

"Nadira and Diana came through at crucial times for us. They do things that coaches can't teach, which allows us to win on the road sometimes," Coach Susan Yow said.

Missouri took a 34-33 halftime lead by scoring the final four points of the half, after K-State had led almost the entire 20 minutes.

K-State led by as many as five points in the first half with Diana Miller scoring 13 points, including K-State's final 11 points of the half.

The Lady Cats made just 11 of 31 field goal attempts in the first half, but kept pace at the free throw line where they were 10 of 12 including their first 10 in a row, which raised their string of consecutive free throws made to 28.

Hazim led the Lady Cats with 23 points, including 15 in the second

■ See LADY CATS, Page 11

GLASS
IMPRESSIONS
HIGH STYLE GIFTS
PRICED FROM AFFORDABLE TO SPLURGE
Glass Impressions 1128 Laramie - Aggieville
Mon. - Fri. 11-6 Sat. 10-4 539-4610

INTERVIEW & JOB SEARCH WORKSHOPS
(4 sessions)
• Small groups/ personal attention
• Interview Practice
• Planning your job search
BUSINESS MAJORS:
Mondays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 28
ENGINEERING MAJORS:
Tuesdays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 29
EDUCATION MAJORS:
Thursdays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 31
Sign up NOW—Each session limited to nine persons.
$10 per session
CAREER DEVELOPMENT SERVICES
200 Southwind Place, Suite 106
776-1229

FREE SHUTTLE

BUS STOP

We really move our bus for you!!
January 14 to 18,
January 21 to 25 and
January 28 to
February 1, 1991
Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the Bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each half hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windsocks!

Support the K-State Union!
Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student activities, programs and services

K-State Union Bookstore

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Area residents wait for gas

Manhattan residents gather at the Texaco station at 1131 Bluemont to fill their tanks as war breaks out between the U.S. and Iraq. Within three hours of the American attack oil prices had jumped $3 per barrel. Local gasoline prices are expected to sky-rocket today.

Dave Mayes/Staff

U.S. air attack on Iraq responsible for price hike, long lines

By the Collegian Staff

The air attack on Iraq sent students and Manhattan residents to the pumps Wednesday night to fill their tanks before gas prices began to soar.

"Business has tripled since we hit Iraq, since about 5 p.m.," said Jennifer Lovenstein, manager of the Kwik-Shop at 1137 Anderson Ave. "The customers expected it.

No one was surprised. They are just taking care of themselves before gas prices rise."

Lovenstein said she anticipates gas prices to rise to at least $2 to $2.50.

Dan Wasylk, employee at Farmers Co-op Association, 215 E. Poyntz, said he learned from CNN that by 9 p.m. a barrel of oil had already jumped $3 on the market. Wasylk said he couldn't speculate on the actual price customers would be paying in the next few days, but that prices would be going sky high.

Shawn O'Malley, employee at Phillips 66 on Tuttle Creek Blvd., said customers told him the gas prices in Wichita were already up to $2 Wednesday night, and David Jones, University Amoco employee, said the sooner people get gas the better.

Jim Novak, sophomore in environmental design, decided to follow this advice and filled up with gas early Wednesday night at the Shop Quik at 1137 Bluemont.

"Gas prices will shoot through the roof. That is why we're stocking up now," Novak said.

But Grant Shellenberger, senior in education history, said he wasn't filling up because of fear of the gas

See PRICES, Page 7

Military specialists differ in opinions

Timing too soon after U.N. deadline expires, some say

SCOTT PASKE
Sports Reporter

An initial U.S. air attack on Iraq Wednesday drew both support and condemnation from K-State professors and military history specialists.

The spectrum of opinions was wide-based, especially regarding President George Bush's decision to implement force less than 24 hours after Iraqi President Saddam Hussein ignored a deadline to pull his forces out of Kuwait.

"I think President Bush has taken all the necessary steps leading up to this point," said Robin Higham, professor of history. "Saddam Hussein is like Hitler in that he has taken psychological nibbles to see how far people will be pushed for his purpose of acquiring territory."

"The only way to stop someone like him is to stand up to him and let him know it will not be tolerated."

Higham's feelings were opposed by John Exdell, associate professor of philosophy.

"The American people have to be aware that this war is not being fought for their best interests," he said. "It's being fought for power and wealth."

Bush attempted to project different motives to American people Wednesday night in a nationally-televised, 12-minute speech. The president used emotional appeals, including references to soldiers currently stationed in Saudi Arabia.

He said that sanctions imposed during the previous five months

"showed they could not achieve their objective."

"Franklin Roosevelt delivered the same type of message at the beginning of World War II," Higham said. "I thought the president delivered a very good, low-key speech."

"We have a man who, from a moral standpoint, I'd call a barbarian," Exdell said. "It doesn't matter if he wears a suit and tie, and speaks in a sincere tone. We have to react to what he does, and not how he looks."

Aruna Michie, associate professor of political science, was opposed to Wednesday's attack. She said Bush needed to give sanctions imposed against Iraq more time to deter Hussein's actions.

"I'm appalled," Michie said. "If anyone believes sanctions will work in three to four months, they're just whistling Dixie. You have to give them a chance."

Several professors said that if a full-scale battle escalates, it would probably be the worst Iraq has ever experienced. They agreed that Iraqi readiness would be a key factor in a war situation.

"There's no way (Iraq) could be ready for something like this," said Michael Suleiman, professor of political science. "They're fighting the only major superpower on earth, and we've got all the latest technology."

Higham said it is difficult to determine whether Iraq's war with Iran in the 1980s would provide an advantage for either side.

"They're probably not as prepared for a war with us as they were with Iran," he said. "We have the most highly sophisticated equipment in the world, but they have a lot of war experience on their side. It's been more than 20 years since we had soldiers fighting in Vietnam."

Officials request unity
Dole, Kassebaum justify military actions

ELVYN JONES
City/Government Editor

Elected officials who were reached for comment Wednesday night called for unity and asked for prayers as war started in the Persian Gulf.

Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., led the call for unity in a statement released by his Washington office.

"The United States is at war," Dole said. "And, as in previous eras, when war begins, all other considerations end."

"Whatever differences have existed until now, whatever our debate, we have been united since the beginning in our goals and our determination. And now hundreds of thousands of young Americans are carrying out our national will in the Persian Gulf—and they have the unanimous support of the American Congress, and the American people."

Gov. Joan Finney also called for Kansans to unite behind American servicemen and women engaged in military action and also asked for prayers on their behalf. Finney pledged her support to those in need of assistance because of war.

"I offer the services of the governor's office to families of those serving in the gulf and ask them to call us if they need our help," she said.

Dole and Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., both justified the military actions ordered by Bush.

"President Bush spoke eloquently tonight of our national purpose in the gulf," Dole said. "One thing he said rings out more persuasively than any other single thing. The conflict in which we are now engaged started out, not tonight, but in August—when Saddam Hussein ordered his military machine to attack, overrun and occupy a small and defenseless neighboring nation. The cause of this war is Iraqi aggression, not American determination."

Kassebaum also blamed the military action on Hussein.

"It is a grave tragedy that Saddam Hussein disregarded the many attempts to bring about a peaceful settlement to this crisis," Kassebaum said. "Saddam's naked aggression against Kuwait threatened not only peace in the region, but peace and stability worldwide."

Rep. Jim Slattery, D-Kan., called Hussein a ruthless, amoral dictator who chose not to spare his people the horrors of war.

Slattery and Kassebaum both said they hoped the war would end quickly with little loss of life.

"My greatest hope is that this conflict will come to a rapid end," Kassebaum said. "Any loss of life is a very high price to pay. But we can be proud, as a nation, that we are willing to stand for the rule of law and respect for human rights."

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., said he was unprepared for the start of a war that he had hoped could be avoided.

"I learned of the attack while flying back to Washington from Kansas," Glickman said. "I was surprised that military action had already been undertaken. Now, as I said, we must pray for a resolution to take place as quickly as possible."

Locally, Manhattan Mayor Richard Hayter said people of Manhattan have even more reason to be apprehensive for the well being of American military forces than the rest of the country.

Brian W. Kratzer/Staff

Graffiti

A campus police officer looks over the sign and graffiti at the Vietnam War Memorial south of All Faiths Chapel. An anonymous person wrote anti-war slogans in chalk on the concrete base.

Students react to war, show little surprise

LAJEAN RAU
Staff Reporter

The silence was haunting.

War had just broken out, and responses ranged from silent disbelief, to silent anger to silent indifference.

As students in the K-State Union slowly and gradually became aware that fighting was underway in the Middle East, many headed toward the two big-screen televisions and watched intently for any news.

Some watched for just a few minutes while others sat for more than two hours waiting for the president's official address.

Many students went about their business of studying, eating, buying books or socializing, as if nothing out of the ordinary was happening.

Most noticeable was the silence. Any noisy passersby were met with stares and "shh's." People watching the news reports were quiet.

Few faces showed surprise.

"Knowing that it has actually happened, it's not really shocking," said Sarah Walling, freshman in arts and sciences undecided. "Now it's just a matter of waiting to see how it all turns out."

Some people were reluctant to voice their opinions. One man who said he was a Vietnam veteran declined to comment. Some who were adamantly opposed to U.S. involvement were also slow to speak.

"I'm scared," said Dawn Shaw, freshman in psychology. Shaw's husband is in the armed forces in the Middle East.

"I'm not in favor of what Saddam Hussein is doing," she said. "But I don't think this is any of our business. It seems like we are always playing God."

Aribel Del Carmen Lynn, senior in modern languages and international studies, said the mentality of the people in the Middle East was an important factor in the crisis.

"Often, countries resent the United States because they think that we come into their countries and exploit them," she said. "Though his people may not agree with everything he is doing, they may look at Saddam Hussein as a way to have power against America. Each people has its own idea of right and wrong."

Lynn said she was sad for the soldiers and their families and the Iraqi and Kuwaiti civilians who may be in danger, but said suffering is often inevitable when problems escalate to such seriousness.

Most of the students said they support Bush's decisions, but wish the civilians," he said. "These are innocent people."

Many students said they were confused about the reasons for the United States' involvement in the Kuwait-Iraq situation.

"I hear that we are there for oil, and then I hear we are there to protect freedom," Lynn said.

People expressed fears about casualties, economic repercussions and terrorism.

Azhar said he understood from TV reports that the American people are divided between support and disagreement of Bush's actions.

"That is not a good sign," he said. "When American soldiers start coming home in body bags, his popularity will go down fast."

As the president said his final words for the night to the American people, students shook their heads, grabbed for their jackets and left slowly and quietly.

"I was talking to someone on the phone when I got the news," said Andy Woodward, sophomore in broadcast journalism. "She said 'Look at what you are doing right now, because you will probably remember this moment for a long time.'"

J. Matthew Rhea/Staff

About 60 people gather in the K-State Union TV lounge to view President Bush's address to the American people Wednesday evening. In his address, Bush gave his justifications for attacking Iraq.

OPERATION DESERT STORM

At Irwin Army Community Hospital Ambulance Service at Fort Riley, emergency medical technicians Leo Rich, left, Stephen Kirkbridge and Tony Lopez, react to news of U.S. Air Force planes bombing Baghdad returning safely. Rich has a son in the Army headed for the Gulf.

Fort Riley area stays calm

Military community shows support for U.S. soldiers

By the Collegian Staff

A quiet hush and deep fog spread across Fort Riley as the combined allied forces across the ocean were making the first strikes against Iraq. Fort Riley roads were lightly traveled and on-base stores near empty as base residents watched the television and listened to reports from the Middle East.

Like most Americans, the base's media affairs officer, Mark Meseke, learned of the attack from the news media.

"The first I heard of the attack was on the radio while I was on my way home after work," he said.

As of presstime, no troops from the 1st Division Infantry were involved in the fighting. The 1st Infantry, usually stationed at Fort Riley, was called to the Middle East in November.

No media interviews were allowed at the on-base family center, Meseke said, because the base commander did not want family members of troops stationed in Saudi Arabia alarmed unnecessarily.

Ironically, the last troops from the 1st Infantry left for the Middle East Wednesday, but training of reserve units that have been called into action continues on the base.

About 25 reservists from Nebraska and Missouri were scheduled to leave early this morning.

In all, about 425,000 U.S. soldiers are stationed in the region, Meseke said. Bush has set 440,000 soldiers as the target number of troops to be stationed in the area. Almost 12,000 are from the 1st Infantry.

Meseke said there are 15 ships with equipment for the 1st Infantry that still need unloading in Saudi Arabia. Eleven of those ships have already docked, but the others are still out at sea.

For one emergency medical technician at the Irwin Army Community Hospital, Wednesday's events had special meaning.

Leo Rich, a Vietnam War veteran, watched news from the gulf while at work in the hospital, just hours after saying goodbye to his son who left for the region that morning.

Rich said he supported Bush's actions and the support of others will be important to the loved ones left behind.

"I feel the support is great," he said, "to minimize the impact on the 430,000-plus families. I support it 100 percent."

While watching the president's statement on television, Rich and his friends would say, "yeah," and, "I hear that," as Bush made strong statements.

"We'd all join up again if we had to," said Lead EMT Stephan Kirkbridge, also a Vietnam veteran.

Security at the base has tightened up, but not entirely because of the potential for terrorist attack.

"Security has gotten a lot tighter," Meseke said. "They will be doing spot checks of people coming into the post and patrol on-base housing more. This is more for crime than a terrorist threat."

But the idea of closing the base off entirely to the public is not out of sight.

"As of now, Fort Riley is an open fort," he said. "It's possible they could shut the gates, but not right now."

Many customers at the Rustic Pub in Junction City said they were both saddened and worried about the allied attack.

Others, such as Elaine Sullivan of Junction City, said they were surprised the attack didn't happen sooner.

"I would liked to have seen the United States bomb Iraq before Hussein got a chance to move his chemical weapons to the borders," Sullivan said.

Gregory A. Branson, Paul Noel and Mike Venso contributed to this story.

Lyle Skjervheim, Fort Riley, consoles his daughter, Lindsey, at Project Manhattan Cares office in Manhattan Town Center Wednesday.

Volunteers voice confidence, caring

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

People were concerned about the airstrikes and the realities of war at the 'Project Manhattan Cares' Wednesday night in the Manhattan Town Center.

'Project Manhattan Cares' is an informational service provided for local residents whose family members are in the Persian Gulf.

Terry Reed, volunteer and reserve officer based at Fort Riley, said he was confident the military will get the job done.

"Our forces will accomplish the mission. Right now, I am very scared. I am afraid I will go soon, but I'm ready," Reed said.

Reed's wife, Sharon, echoed those sentiments.

"It is really stressful, scary and unknown," she said. "I have quite a few friends and a husband that may go."

Other volunteers were also concerned.

"I've been in control so far, but this really scares me. I have a stomachache," said Paula Morrison, volunteer.

Morrison said her husband is in Saudi Arabia and they have only been married for four months.

Nancy Warnica, another volunteer and Fort Riley employee, called for community support for those in-involved — directly and indirectly.

"A lot more people are going to need help and support — here and there," Warnica said.

Two students from local high schools were also very concerned, especially since they had loved ones in Saudi Arabia.

"I think this is really dumb, terrible. My fiancé is there and I am pregnant," said Leah Diehl, Manhattan High School student.

Jason Firestone, St. George High School student, said his father was in the 437th Armored Scouts in Saudi Arabia and he wanted him to return home as soon as possible.

"I think they will keep bombing and it will be over in a week. I would like my father to come home so things return to normal. My mother is real concerned," he said.

Sgt. Charles Duke, a motor pool mechanic from Fort Riley, said he was recently stationed in Saudi Arabia during Christmas. He had to return to Fort Riley because he broke his wrist.

"Saudi (Arabia) sucks. All you see is sand, and there are dead camels and sheep all over the place that we have to pick up," he said.

Duke said he couldn't say where he was located while in Saudi Arabia, but he was confident that the military would do the job.

Student reservists prepare in case of call to Middle East

BILL LANG
Sports Reporter

As Operation Desert Storm took effect, two students at K-State started feeling the heat of possible deployment to the Middle East.

Mark Turner, sophomore in architecture, and Stan Thompson, sophomore in business, both members of the Beta Sigma Psi fraternity, are also members of the U.S. Marine reserves.

Turner is with the 4th Supply Battalion Marine Corps Reserves in Topeka. Thompson is listed as an inactive reservist with the First Infantry Division of Fort Riley.

Both realized that as the deadline grew closer, the possibility of war seemed much more real.

"I knew pretty soon something like this would happen," Turner said. "When I decided to join, I knew it was part of the job."

Thompson seemed more relaxed about the possibility of going.

"I was worried back in August when all this started out," Thompson said. "I really don't think I'm going to go unless we start losing or if the

See BETA SIG, Page 11

Solemn students meet to discuss U.S. attack

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

The scene was similar in the downstairs TV rooms of Moore and Ford halls as the news of the United States airstrikes on Iraq unfolded.

The thoughts of those watching in these two places, however, revealed a distinct difference in ideas and opinions.

In both rooms, students watched the television, their eyes rarely leaving the reporters on the screen. Talking was virtually nonexistent. When someone spoke, it was in hushed tones.

The five to 10 solemn students watching in Ford Hall and the about 15 in Moore Hall said the situation was frightening but certainly not unexpected.

"I wasn't surprised, but it hit me hard," said Matt McCord, freshman in environmental design.

The few people in the room said they had noticed that many students were acting as if nothing was happening in the Middle East. Different reasons were suggested for this.

"I imagined that everyone would be talking about it," said Britta Nielson, resident of Ford Hall and native of Denmark. "The people I have heard have talked about it quietly. People have been frightened about what would happen."

McCord said he felt it was more of a lack of concern on students' part rather than a genuine fear of war. "It doesn't seem like it's phased a lot of people," McCord said. "I don't think they know exactly what's going on."

Kim Riemann, freshman in hotel and restaurant management, agrees that students she has encountered have been subdued and reluctant to mention the situation in the Middle East, especially since the United Nations' deadline went unheeded by Saddam Hussein.

Riemann said, however, the cause of this could be a result of the short timeframe in which the action has taken place. It will take a little time for the reality of the situation to dawn on students.

"I never thought I'd even live to see a war," Riemann said. "It didn't sink in until last week. I kind of blocked it out of my mind."

In Moore Hall, the feeling was much different. Students said they had heard many students talking of the events in Iraq.

"We were just in Derby (Food Center) and everyone was talking about it," said Timm Walker, senior in computer engineering. "One girl we were talking to said her heart was quickening."

Catching the news

After hearing the news on the car radio, Chief Warrant Officer Jeff Pratt (left) and Lt. Brian Lamson, both with the National Guard's 1187th Air Ambulance Company at Fort Riley, stop at Last Chance to watch reports of the U.S. air strikes on Iraq Wednesday.

Christopher T. Assaf/Staff

Farrell gets donations from grads

DAVID FRESE
Staff Reporter

Farrell Library will receive more than $18,000 from seniors who graduated this past fall.

The donations came from a telethon for the Books and Bricks campaign in November. The student-supported project received almost 200 commitments.

"The actual donations won't be coming in until next summer," said John Downey, campaign coordinator and KSU Student Foundation President. "Hopefully that will give graduates enough time to find jobs."

The donations will come in two forms — books for acquisition and dollars for possible future expansion of the library.

"Since the average book costs about $50, we've suggested to faculty and students to simply buy a book," said Brice Hobrock, dean of libraries.

After purchasing the book, Hobrock said a bookplate will be placed within the book bearing the donor's name, leaving a legacy at K-State perhaps to be used by the children of the donor if they were to attend K-State.

"We make a big deal out of the fact that book No. 1 and No. 2 acquired for K-State libraries are still here."

—Brice Hobrock
dean of libraries

"We make a big deal out of the fact that book No. 1 and No. 2 acquired for K-State libraries are still here," Hobrock said. "Purchasing a book for the library has quite a bit of appeal to the student."

But a few books here and there do not a library make, he said. Despite good news coming from the Books and Bricks campaign front, he said the library is still very badly in need of space and will be at its capacity by 1994.

"If you apply the Kansas Board of Regents standard for the number of seats the library is supposed to have — you're supposed to have one seat for every four students — we're in need of 5,000 seats," Hobrock said. "However, in an electronic age, perhaps one seat for every 10 students is the way to go. But still we have less than half of that number."

The state of the library remains, for the most part, unimproved, Hobrock said. In addition to the seating woes, shelf space is still limited in Farrell and a minimum wage increase has left Farrell short of laborers.

"We don't have the positions, we don't have the money to pay the necessary number of students either," he said. "Minimum wage went up last April, and it's going to go up again. The Legislature did not grant any increases."

The library cut 12,000 hours of student labor this year, and Hobrock said the library will probably cut another 12,000 hours next year.

"Every 12,000 hours is equivalent to six full-time positions and 12 student jobs," he said. "That's the consequence of minimum wage increase."

Farrell Library is not being put on the back burner any longer though. Hobrock said he is trying to get a new building on the drawing board, and the new on-line catalogs are keeping him busy. But the instrumental parties for the good things to come for Farrell are sometimes left unrecognized.

"Students deserve a lot of credit," Hobrock said. "It was Student Government and SHELF that really got things kicked off with the sit-in last February."

We Take Tips Day or Night
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

Standing Room Only
sensational shoe sale
Women's Shoes
1222 Moro-Aggieville-Manhattan
Buy One Get One FREE!

Moonlight Madness Tonight!
5-8 p.m.

Woody's
ladies
1225 Moro Aggieville

You Deserve More Than Just a Basic Apartment...

You Deserve Brittnay Ridge Townhomes!

Brittnay Ridge Townhomes give you the luxury of an apartment with more added extras for as low as $195 a month. Each townhome has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, and a study room. Rooms are pre-wired for computer, phone, & cable TV. A large recreation area with gazebos, hot tubs and a volleyball court make this development more than just an apartment complex, but a community in itself.

Bus to Campus
Call Us Today 776-5599

Located in Northwest Manhattan on Candlewood Drive

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3805

RUSHWALKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY

THURSDAY

$2.75 Pitchers

$1.75 Wells

50¢ Kamis

FREE

McCain Tickets

Become an usher at McCain Auditorium. In return for your time we will give you free tickets to the exciting events scheduled in the McCain Performance Series.

Join us at an orientation meeting in the McCain Lobby on Thursday, January 17 at 4 p.m.

If you are unable to attend, call 532-7026 for details.

KSU Federal Credit Union

New Car Loans

8.9% APR

for 24 months

532-6274

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE SALE

Buy one sale item at original price and receive another sale item (of equal or less value) absolutely FREE!

All Fall & Winter Merchandise included in this Sale

Alterations Extra

All Sales Final

BRENTWOOD
• FOR MEN & WOMEN •

700 N. Manhattan Ave. Ph 539-1414 HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 10-6, Thurs. 10-8, Sun. 1-5

Student Ticket Special

Buy your Student Tickets January 17, 18, 21, & 22 for only $8 (regular price $11.50). This special price is available on the dates listed above.

Game listing:

Mon., Jan. 21 Missouri-Kansas City
Sold Out Kansas
Sat., Feb. 2 Colorado
Sat., Feb. 9 Iowa State
Tues., Feb. 19 Oklahoma State
Wed., Feb. 27 Missouri

Tickets Available at:

*Ahearn Ticket Office
532-6920
*Bramlage Coliseum
*K-State Union
*Town Center
*McCain Auditorium

Must present a valid K-State I.D.

WINTER SALE!
LOWMAN'S
IN - AGGIEVILLE

including

POLO RALPH LAUREN

Sweaters 30-40% Off	Many Suits 30-40% Off
Winter Coats 25-40% Off	Sportcoats 30-40% Off
All Sportshirts 30% Off	Fancy dress shirts 30% Off
Many Other Items 50% Off	Ties, socks, belts 25% Off
Cole-Haan Shoes (in stock) 40% Off

1215 Moro. Mon. through Sat. 10-6. Thurs. until 8. Sun. 1-5. 776-7304.

Did you forget to sell your books last semester? Be sure to stop by the K-State Union Bookstore now thru January 18, 1991. We'll pay 50% in cash for your used textbooks, or we'll give you a 60% credit to your Wildcat Card Account on selected spring titles. Wholesale prices offered for other selected titles!

K-State Union Bookstore

Support the K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union help the Union sponsor student programs, activities and services.

Students view housing choices

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

Choosing where, and with who, to live is a decision that can make a semester enjoyable or unbearable for students.

The residence halls, fraternity or sorority houses and off-campus housing give students a choice of living arrangements to suit their individual needs.

Diane Demel, senior in bakery science, has lived in the Kappa Delta sorority house for the past three years. During her freshman year, Demel lived in Ford Hall.

"The dorm was often too sterile, like an institution. In the sorority, it is more like a house. It has a family-like atmosphere. My friends live here, and there is always someone to talk to," she said.

The sorority house, Demel said, gave her a chance to be more active in intramural activities and provided a better social atmosphere than the residence halls.

She also said that choosing to live in the sorority house rather than moving into an off-campus apartment had to do with wanting variety.

"I liked this better. It's not like living with the same two or three people every day," Demel said. "I think that would get on my nerves."

On the other hand, Michelle Wickey, senior in apparel and textile marketing, said she has lived in the same apartment with the same roommate for three years.

"It has been nice not having to go through the yearly mess of trying to find a roommate or a new apartment. There's more of a relaxed atmosphere, too," Wickey said.

"I feel more independent, and this is more of a real-world experience. There isn't anyone to clean the apartment for me or cook the meals. I'm really on my own."

Living in an apartment also allows the freedom to do whatever a person wants, said Paul Forrester, senior in history.

"Life is less stressful. There aren't as many rules to follow," he said.

The problem with an apartment is not being able to meet as many people that is possible in a residence hall or greek housing, Forrester said. As a transfer and a hall resident from Bethany College, however, he said he would never move back into a residence hall.

"There is just not enough privacy," he said.

FarmHouse member Clint Riley, senior in chemical science, said privacy can also be a problem in fraternities. This is overridden, in his opinion, by opportunities to create close friendships.

"I had met a lot of people through the activities I was involved in, but they were not developing into friendships. I had made a lot of acquaintances rather than friends. Joining the fraternity has given me the chance to get know people well," Riley said.

Andrea Duntz, sophomore in elementary education, has lived in Ford Hall for two years. Although it is sometimes irritating while trying to study, Duntz said it is still a plus for her.

She said it gets her more involved with the activities on campus, and she has found a lot of good friends there.

She also said she enjoys the hall for the convenience it provides.

"You're right on campus, so you don't have to look for a parking space; the food is cooked for you; and I also work here, so it is extremely convenient for me," she said.

West Hall has been home this year to Karla Hommertzhaim, freshman in chemistry. She said staying in a residence hall is the best opportunity for freshmen to learn about getting along at K-State.

"There is so much that I didn't know, and still don't know, about how to do things here. It has really been great the way we're kept up on what's happening on campus and how to get involved in what interests us," she said.

Governor announces new board members

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA — Gov. Joan Finney plans to replace at least two of the three members of the state Board of Regents whose terms recently expired, her spokeswoman said Wednesday.

The governor's office announced the appointment of Jo Ann McDowell, president of Independence Community College, to the board, succeeding Linwood Sexton of Sedgwick in Harvey County.

Martha Walker, Finney's press secretary, said a second replacement on the board is expected to be announced soon.

The terms of two other regents besides Sexton expired Dec. 31. They are Norman Jeter of Hays and Richard Senecal of Atchison. There are nine members of the board, serving staggered terms. The board governs the state's six universities, medical school, veterinary medicine school and college of technology.

McDowell, 47, who lives in Cherryvale, has been president of Independence Community College since 1988. Before that, she was vice president for three years and has held various other positions with the two-year school. She also has been an adjunct professor at Pittsburg State University since 1976.

She holds a doctorate in education from K-State and three degrees from Pittsburg State in education and psychology.

She was named the outstanding young alumna of Pittsburg State University in 1983, and was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in 1988.

"Semi-Annual Clearance Sale" Further Reductions

Selected Suits

Featuring: Corbin, Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothing

Regular	Sale
$225-$265	$175 ⁰⁰
$295-$345	$225 ⁰⁰
$375-$395	$295 ⁰⁰
$415-$445	$335 ⁰⁰
$465-$495	$375 ⁰⁰

Fall Sport Coats..... 40% off
Navy Blazer Excluded

Winter Outerwear & Leather Coats..... 30-50% off

Trench Coats
Top Coats..... 25% off

Allen Edmonds Shoes (In Stock Only)
& Cole Haan..... 40% off

Fall Slacks 30% off

BIG & TALL SIZES INCLUDED

Fall Sweaters 30% off

Fall Sport Shirts 30% off

Fall Robes & Pajamas 30% off

Fancy Dress Shirts... 30% off

Choose from Quality Sportswear such as:

- Boston Traders
- Wimbledon Tenniswear
- Wyoming Reds Activewear
- Lord Jeff Sweaters

BORCK
Brothers

Fine Menswear

1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8636
Westloop Shopping Center
9:30-5:30 Mon.—Sat. til 8:30 Thurs.

You've just lost your excuse
not to buy a car CD player.
Our lowest prices EVER on KENWOOD

KDC-93R

Pull out AM/FM CD
4 X oversampling
2 preouts
Switchable illumination
NOW ONLY $349

KDC-83R

Fixed mount AM/FM CD
4 X oversampling
2 preouts
Switchable illumination
NOW ONLY $299

AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.

630 Grant Ave.

HI FI-Car Stereo-Video

Car Stereo Installation
Stereo and Video Repair

1-762-4447

Mon.-Fri. 10-7, Sat. 10-5

When: JANUARY 17 & 18, 1991

School: KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Where: K-STATE UNION COURTYARD

Time: 10 A.M. TO 4 P.M.

Pick A Winner!

Zenith Data Systems invites you to see what all the excitement is on campus. Come see our award winning portable computers as well as the most powerful desktop computers in the college market today. Plus there will be plenty of prizes and lots of fun for everyone. Ask about our special education discounts of up to 40%-50%. So come to the campus show and let us help you to choose a winner with Zenith Data Systems!

ZENITH
data systems
Groupe Bull

K-State Union
Bookstore

SUPPORT THE K-STATE UNION. YOUR DOLLARS HELP THE UNION SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

Student Positions Open on Campus Committees

Committee Name

Academic Computing Advisory Committee
Advisory Committee on Campus Development
Athletic Ticket Sales Committee
Bramlage Coliseum Advisory Committee
Campus Environmental Health & Safety Committee
Commission on the Status of Women
Convocation Committee
Council on Student Affairs
Council on Traffic, Parking, & Police Operations
Energy Conservation Advisory Committee
Fine Arts Council
Holton Hall Council
Intercollegiate Athletic Council
Out-of-State Fee Appeals Board
(must be on campus during summer)
Recreational Services Council
Scholarship & Student Financial Aid Committee
Sports Club Council
Student Discrimination Review Committee
Student Health Advisory Committee
Students' Attorney Advisory Board
Undergraduate Grievance Committee

Student Senate Standing Committees

Academic Affairs & University Relations
Communications
Legislative Affairs
Senate Operations
Student Affairs & Social Services

Student Senate Interns

SGA JUDICIAL BOARDS

Judicial Council
Parking Citation Appeals Board
Student Review Board
Tribunal

COMMITTEE DESCRIPTIONS AND APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE IN SGS OFFICE.

APPLICATIONS DUE IN IN SGS OFFICE (GROUND FLOOR UNION)

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1991.

Protest

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

In an attempt to achieve this goal, Rahman and other organizers of the protest began a telephone campaign after the announcement of the bombing to let people know about the protest.

Baldock said the demonstration has a different purpose for different people — "Some will come to express disgust and outrage, some will come to express sadness."

"I'm sickened because I know the massive destruction to innocent human lives that's happening while I talk," he said. "And I'm convinced all this was avoidable."

"It's the arrogance of U.S. leadership and the wealthy bastards that got us where we are now," Baldock said.

Rahman said Bush's actions were short-sighted and arrogant. She said his actions have committed the United States and the Middle East to decades of violence and has created possibly irreparable, contemptuous Arab attitudes toward the United States.

"It's too late to achieve our original goal — to prevent war," Rahman said. "Now we'll be putting all our energy into stopping it."

Beta Sig

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

Iraqis start using chemical warfare. "I'm taking all this in stride, because there is nothing I can do about that."

When the news broke about 6 p.m. Wednesday of the attack, both said they were a little surprised, but glad that Bush carried through with his promise.

Turner, just back from training which took place last fall, seemed to be a little more anxious about the events.

Turner had most of his belongings packed and ready to go.

"I just wasn't sure what was going to happen," he said. "I just want to be ready just in case."

Both have received some calls from friends and family, but they did not talk in full about the situation.

"I haven't really discussed it with my mom yet," Turner said. "Dad was in the military, and he and I relate pretty well on that level."

"Neither one of us has really gotten any call," Turner said. "I'm sure it could happen any day, but I really don't think that we are going to go."

Lady Cats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

half. Hazim also went 7-of-7 from the free throw line, and has now hit a K-State record of 19 consecutive free throws. The previous record was 16 by Susan Green in 1987.

"We're very happy we won because our seniors had never won here before, and now they have done something that no other Kansas State team has done in the last eight years," Yow said.

The win moved K-State to 9-5 overall and 2-1 in Big Eight play.

Prices

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

price rise.

"The tank was empty," he said. Those heading out to get the jump on the gas prices were faced with lines reminiscent of the 1970s gas shortage that prompted similar runs on the market.

"They've been really quiet. They are just gassing up now, because they know prices will be going up soon," Woods said.

Staff Reporters Lori Stauffer, Jim Struber and Dan Scott contributed to this report.

Snookies

Good Times
Good Drinks
Good Music

50¢ Draws
$1 Wells

1122 Moro Upstairs 776-7726

537-0886
Free Delivery with minimum $9 order.
11 a.m.-1 a.m. 7 days a week.
1116 MORO

with this coupon

Mongolian Beef

Eggroll included
$3

Not valid with delivery.

Students, We're Glad You're Back!
coupon expires 1-23-91

with this coupon

Perspectives
Optical Dispensary & Lab

We Make The Best
and
Repair The Rest

300 Poyntz

Downtown Manhattan

539-5105

IT'S OUR PARTY AND WE'LL BUY IF WE WANT TO.

It's the best deal of the new year. Buy one — Get one '91!! Buy a 6" Sub, get one more for 91¢! Or buy a Footlong, get one for $1.91! A single drink purchase is required. Get on down to Subway for the best subs at some great prices!

Buy any 6-inch sub, get one for only 91¢. Buy one Footlong, get one for $1.91.*

*Cold Cut Combo & Veggie & Cheese not eligible. Second sub must be of equal or lesser value. Offer expires: Jan. 22, 1991.
620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

FREE

SUBWAY

MARTIN LUTHER KING

WEEKEND HOURS
at the K-State Union

General Building

Friday, Jan. 18 7:00a-10:30p
Saturday, Jan. 19 7:00a-10:30p
Sunday, Jan. 20 10:00a-10:30p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:00a-8:30p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:00a-11:00p

Bookstore

Friday, Jan. 18 7:45a-5:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 9:00a-5:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 11:00a-5:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:45a-8:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:45a-8:00p

Copy Center

Friday, Jan. 18 7:45a-5:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 12:00n-5:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-6:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:45a-5:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:45a-8:00p

Information Counter

Friday, Jan. 18 7:15a-9:30p
Saturday, Jan. 19 8:00a-9:30p
Sunday, Jan. 20 11:00a-9:30p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:15a-8:30p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:15a-9:30p

Recreation

Friday, Jan. 18 8:00a-12:00m
Saturday, Jan. 19 9:00a-12:00m
Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-10:30p
Monday, Jan. 21 8:00a-10:30p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 8:00a-10:30p

Stateroom

Friday, Jan. 18 7:00a-7:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 8:00a-7:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 11:30a-11:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:00a-8:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:00a-11:00p

UPC Office

Friday, Jan. 18 8:00a-5:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 1:00a-5:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 1:00a-5:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 8:00a-5:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 8:00a-9:00p

Union Station

Friday, Jan. 18 11:00a-1:00a
Saturday, Jan. 19 11:00a-1:00a
Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-10:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 11:00a-8:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 11:00a-10:00p

Dillard's

THE STORE OF YOUR FUTURE

Value • Quality • Style • Courtesy • Integrity

Dillard's is looking for individuals who thrive on change, constant challenge and desire advancement. This is what you will find as a member of our Executive Development Program.

Dillard's Midwest Division is headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri and is one of the fastest growing divisions in the company. In the last five years the number of stores has increased from just 12 to 30.

As a member of Dillard's Executive Development Program you will receive on-the-job training for an exciting career in merchandising or store management. This training is supplemented by seminars presented by corporate executives highlighting both theory and personal experience. Your performance will be the key to how quickly and frequently you advance in Dillard's aggressive corporation.

Dillard's will be conducting on-campus interviews. See your Placement Office for details.

*Dillard Department Stores, Inc. Midwest Division
An Equal Opportunity Employer*

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $4.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $5.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

BIG JOHN, I will see you this Thursday during Sex, Stress and Alcohol at 7:30 in the Union Forum Hall. —Little Sally.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103: $1.50 for students (limit two with ID); $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

JENNIFER, I am missing my soaps to see something even hotter. Love, Lust and Dating this Tuesday at 2:30 in the Union Forum Hall. —Kurt.

LAST CALL! Applications for the 1991 Miss Manhattan—K-State are due Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. For information, call 776-6467, 537-2667.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

ROOM, PRIVATE bath and board, $200 (negotiable). Females only. 539-1656 or 539-8705.

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks, Monday through Sunday, $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

2 Apartments—Furnished

CLOSE TO campus/Aggieville. Nice three-bedroom, two-bath. Reasonable rent. 539-4641.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM in quiet, well-maintained complex available now. Carpet, paid heat, nice furnishings, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

NICE LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, gas, two-thirds paid, laundry, $260. Nice for couple or graduate student. 539-2482 after 4 p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-2956.

ONE-BEDROOM, BASEMENT, no children, no pets, 537-1901.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, private entrance and drive, one block from campus, free cable, laundry. Non-smoker, one person only. 539-1636 after 5 p.m.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

0 BLOCKS TO campus from quiet, well-maintained, large one-bedroom. Available now with balcony, dishwasher, storage. Prefer professional person. Year lease. $295. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

1019 HOUSTON. Large three-bedroom. Near City Park. Full basement. Solar hot water. $450. Jerry 776-7842.

AVAILABLE NOW, two bedrooms, one and one-half bath. Spacious basement apartment. $360/monthly. Call Amy at 537-0566.

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry, $360. 539-6304.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.

ONE-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. No pets. Water, trash paid, $390. 537-3758.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Washer/dryer, available immediately. Call 776-0081.

SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a half, good female roommates, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7087 for information, 537-9376 roommate's number. Available now.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park, 537-8555 or 537-8065.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU. $280. 539-1554.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

Call 776-6467 for more information.

1019 HOUSTON. Nice one-bedroom studio. Main floor. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Jerry, 776-7842.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION, one-bedroom, 600 Osage. $195/ month plus deposit. No pets. 776-6640.

APARTMENTS

Campus:

1722 Laramie
1858 Claflin
1960 Hunting
413 N. 17th
1866 College Heights
1026 Osage
406 N. 10th
1128 Fremont

Downtown:

418 Poyntz—Wareham Apts.
Now leasing for Jan. & Feb.
CALL US!
McCullough Development
2700 Amherst
(913)776-3804

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.

1972 FORD pickup, good condition, must sell, $1,000 or best offer. Call 537-0253.

1982 CAMARO, runs great, $2,750. Call 776-3681, ask for Doug.

1982 TOYOTA Tercel, runs excellent, 134K miles, tan, AMFM cassette, five-speed, air conditioning, $995 or best offer. 539-7491.

(Continued on page 13)

1 Announcements

WELCOME BACK!

Put the COLOR back into your life with us!

•NEW BULBS
•NEW ACCELERATORS
•WELCOME BACK SPECIALS

The most trusted name in tanning
SOUTHERN SUN TROPICAL TAN
519 N. 12th 1814 Claflin
776-8060 537-0744

BAYSTREET PIT IS OPEN ONCE AGAIN!

BAYSTREET
—AND—
THE PIT

Campus Crusade for Life

Tonight
8 p.m.

Throckmorton 131

Ski Colorado

Discount Lift Tickets

	Here	Ski area
Copper	$26	$35
Keystone	$24	$35
Winter Park	$25	$32
Breckenridge	$25	$35

Groups give advance notice so we can accommodate you

Check out our ski trip packages

537-7546

Jan. 14, 15, 16 & 17
Look for the table
on the Union Main Floor
10 a.m.-2 p.m. each day

Cast your vote ($) in the Union.
The person whose jar contains the most votes "wins." Come watch the winner kiss the pig—
Jan. 18 at noon, in the Union Station.

All proceeds go to benefit the KSU SADD Chapter.

funded in part by City of Manhattan and KSU Alcohol &
Other Drug Education Service.

new BEGINNINGS

12 Sessions
for $25

1107 N. 3rd, 537-1003

With Coupon — Expires 2/16/91

Don't you Dare Let your Tan
Fade!

A Roaring Deal to Tame Your Mane

"PERM SPECIALS"

Gals:
Warm & Gentle Reg. $48 Sale $43
Quantum Reg. $38 Sale $32
Spirals $55.00 & up
Kids: under 10 $28.00
Guys: $30.00

Long hair is slightly higher. All perms include cut & style.
Free tube of 3 oz. Attractions Deep Conditioner with perm.

Haircuts

Gals $12 Guys $8.50 Kids (under 10) $6.50
All cuts include shampoo & style
2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 539-TAME (8263)

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

Monday-Friday
9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
or by appointment

•Free Pregnancy Testing
•Totally Confidential Services
•Same Day Results
•Call For Appointment
Walk-ins Welcome
•Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Basketball Officials Needed!

Meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thursday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

* Attendance is mandatory for all meetings! *

Starting Pay: $4.00/hour
(more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Offices for details...532-6980

ALL ABOARD WITH UPC

THE MOST HONORED
FOREIGN FILM OF THE YEAR.
Best Foreign Film—LOS ANGELES FILM CRITICS ASSOCIATION

AU REVOIR
LES ENFANTS
(GOODBYE, CHILDREN)
A FILM BY LOUIS MALLE

Wednesday,
January 16th
7 p.m. Forum
Hall
Thursday,
January 17th
3:30 p.m. Little Theatre &
7 p.m. Forum
Hall. $1.75 with KSU ID.

Spring Break Trip

Info. meeting: January 31st Union
Room 207.

Sign up Begins: February 1st at UPC Office
3rd Floor Union, 8 a.m.-4 p.m., call 532-6571
for more information.

Come On Board!

Applications and information for '91-'92 UPC
Committee Chairperson positions will be available beginning January 23rd in the UPC Office, 3rd Floor
K-State Union. APPLICATIONS ARE DUE AT 4 PM
ON FEBRUARY 8th. Successful candidates will be selected after interviewing on Feb. 10. Previous UPC experience is helpful, but not required to hold a leadership position. Ten Positions Available. For more information call 532-6571.

Kansas State University Permanent Collection

John Heim
Herschel Logan
Lloyd Politz
Arthur Hall
Charles Cappa
Binger Sandzen
Ted Hawkins
Charles Rogers
John Talleur

William Dickerson
Scott S. Siegf
Evan Lindquist
Edward Sturr
Lester Karian
Henry Varnum Poor
Roger Shimomura
James Munce
Gordon Parks

January 14 - February 1, 1991
K-State Union Art Gallery
Monday - Friday 8:00am - 5:00pm

A THRILL-OMEDY!

Friday, January
18th 7 p.m. &
9:30 p.m. Forum
Hall

Saturday, January
19th 7 p.m. &
9:30 p.m. Forum
Hall

Sunday, January
20th 7 p.m. Forum
Hall

STATE OF THE UNIVERSITY ADDRESS

Tuesday, Jan. 22nd

Noon, K-State Union Courtyard

(Continued from page 12)

1984 FORD Tempo, $1,800. Call 537-8028.

1986 OLDSMOBILE Cutlass Ciera, two-door, power windows, air conditioned, $5,000. Also, 1982 Yamaha 650 Maxim. Make offer. 537-1038, Kevin.

FOR SALE: 1979 Pontiac Sunbird—blue. Good condition. Low mileage. $500. 532-5452.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

B/W VGA monitor, $135, 12" Magnavox monitor, 539-6404.

IBM-PC 256K, dual drives. Internal Hayes 1200B, RGB monitor. Accepting offers. Will sell by 1-24-91 or reject all offers. (913)265-4663.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such employment opportunity with reasonable caution.

ACCOMPANIST NEEDED—Dance Program—KSU. Must be available Monday and Wednesday, 1-2:30 p.m. Call 532-6887, ask for Dina. Pay involved.

ASSISTANT TEACHERS part-time. Position 1 Tuesday and Thursday, noon—2:30 p.m. Position 2 Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, approximately 11 a.m.—3 p.m. Must have experience with children of young children. Apply at Seven Dolores Childcare Pre-school, 220 S. Juliette by Jan. 23.

COUNSELORS/ SUMMER children's camps/ Northeast—top salary. Room/ board/ laundry/ travel allowance. Must have skill in one of the following activities: Archery, crafts, baseball, basketball, bicycling, dance, drama, drums, fencing, football, golf, guitar, gymnastics, hockey, horseback-English, juggling, Karate, LaCrosse, nature, photography, piano, rockery, rollerblading, ropes, sailing, sailing, scuba, soccer, track, water, weights, wood. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday, Jan. 31 Student Union building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. 8288.

EXPERIENCED WRITERS wanted: Journalism and Agriculture majors preferred. Send resume and sample work to Collegian Box 3, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506 by Jan. 22.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

SEEKING OUTSTANDING, talented, young women to be Miss Manhattan—K-State 1991. Scholarship money, wardrobe, travel available through participating in this official Miss America preliminary. Call 776-6467 or 537-2667 for applications.

STUDENT TO work 20 hours beginning immediately and possibly continuing through summer, fall and spring. Need someone with flexibility to work during holidays. Preference to person with knowledge of WordPerfect 5.1 on Zenith computer and someone available during lunch hours, noon—1 p.m. Responsibilities include telephone answering, word processing, filing, use of dictation equipment, making appointments, and a variety of other office duties. Contact Dorothy Smith at 532-5942 or stop by the office of the Vice President for Institutional Advancement, 122 Anderson Hall to pick up an application. Starting salary $3.80/ hour. Deadline for application is Jan. 23.

SUMMER In the Rockies! The Trail Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado! Positions available in Retail Sales and Food Service—contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517 (303)686-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities!

SWIMMING JOBS (WSI)—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children to swim, swim team, beautiful pool and lakes in the northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TENNIS JOBS—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children in the Northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

THE CITY of Manhattan, Kansas is seeking a part-time Project Planner. This position prepares research and special studies for various Planning Division projects. Starting salary $8/ hour. Send resume and cover letter to the Director of Human Resources/ Personnel, P.O. Box 748, Manhattan, Kansas 66502. Apply by Jan. 30, 1991.

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN Church Bible study group looking for creative, caring babysitters for infants and pre-schoolers, Thursday 9:30—11 a.m., $4 per hour, must have transportation and references. If interested call Karen at 776-2248.

WANTED: 85 people who want to lose weight! We will pay you to lose 10-29 pounds in 30 days. Call Jeff at 537-9817.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchen as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

HAVE three-to four high refrigerator $100 or best offer. Also wedding set $250 or best offer. Please call or stop by: 1-238-2961 after 5 p.m. 127 Belmont, Junction City, KS.

REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Great for dorm. 33"x22"x20", $50 or best offer. Call 539-0871.

WOHLER'S USED furniture and appliances, 615 N. Third, 539-3119. Hours 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Furnish your apartment or house. Come in and browse.

12 Houses for Rent

1011 Laramie, first floor is open for second semester. Two-bedroom, great environment. Enjoy college life. 539-3672 evenings.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND IN Union parking lot. White and gray puppy. Patch over left eye. One blue eye and one brown eye. Bright lime green collar. Call 776-1552.

FOUND: JEAN jacket at AC/DC concert. Row 9 on the floor. Call to identify, 537-2561.

FOUND—LADIES gloves on Jan. 14. Claim in Kedzie 103.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

Motorcycle Supply
January Specials
—All T-Shirts $10—Tire Sale
1221 More
Block east of Hanks • 776-6177

19 Music/ Musicians

DRUMSET BLACK Yamaha five-piece, 12", 13", 15" toms, 22" Bass Zildjian 16" Crash, 18" Crash-Ride 14" Hi-hat, 1 Boom and 1 straight cymbal stand, snare stand, Hi-hat stand, $900, Ludwig Concert snare with stand, case, practice pad $200. Call 532-5427.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks
Buy one set, get second set for half price
327 Poyntz 776-7983

21 Personals

ANYONE SEEN Christa with the Golden hair? We miss you and we really care. You've been spotted at work crying boo-hoo for you. P&J&L&M&S

PEANUT—HAPPY 17th! May we have as many good times this year as in the past. Love, Sweetie.

TRISH, WISHING you a great day on your birthday. Love ya, Rex.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

FOR SALE: Large Oscar, 776-0977. Leave message.

FREE GERBIL with purchase of cage or 10-gallon aquarium. Pets N Stuff, 1105 Waters, open Thursday till 8 p.m. 539-9494.

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS
PETS N STUFF
1105 Waters • 539-9494
OPEN Thurs. 8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

ALL RESUMES are not created equal. Be sure yours is the best possible by taking advantage of our many years experience working with employers. Limited time—cover letter costs only $5 with purchase of resume service. Career Development Services—776-1229.

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

24 Roommate Wanted

$170, ONE-HALF utilities, own bedroom, washer/dryer. Call after 8 p.m. 776-1302.

A GOOD roommate needed for two studios/Jan. free, own room, washer/dryer, $195. Call Scott at 537-1098.

CHEAP UTILITIES: Female roommate needed, $150/ month, one and one-half blocks east of campus. January rent free! 537-0630 or 537-0815.

FEMALE NON-SMOKER roommate needed for nice three-bedroom apartment. Rent $185 plus one-third utilities. Call 776-9218.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate needed, $131 a month plus one-third utilities, water paid. Close to campus. 537-4634.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate, off-campus, 776-1281 after 7 p.m., ask for Chris.

FEMALE, OWN room. One block from campus, washer/dryer, $125/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment with another girl. Effective as soon as possible. Call 776-5476.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Own room. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, two-bedroom, own room, $160/ month. Close to Aggieville and campus. Christine, 532-6361 or 539-6303 after 5 p.m.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for sublease, $146.66 per month plus electricity. 776-1720.

FREE JANUARY—February rent to non-smoking female roommate for two-bedroom. Directly off-campus, rent negotiable. Respond to Kedzie Box 2.

HELP! AVAILABLE immediately, bedroom for one or two females, $197 or $131 respectively. Ask for Heather 539-2301 Ext. 306.

MALE CHRISTIAN roommate. No deposit required. Private room with cable. Fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer. Bus service to campus from Brittain Ridge. $195. Call Bob at 537-8048.

MALE OR female, 516 N. 14th, $185 month plus utilities. Own bedroom, 537-4510, Carlos. One and one-half blocks from campus.

MALE ROOMMATE. Private room

LIVING THE DREAM

NONVIOLENCE A TIME TO ACT, A WAY TO LIVE

Martin Luther King, Jr., Observance Week

January 20-27, 1991
Kansas State University

Sunday, January 20

3:30 p.m.
Martin Luther King, Jr., community service and hymn singing. Fellowship Temple, 201 Knoxberry Drive.

7 p.m.

King's Kids, presentation of songs and speeches dear to Martin Luther King Jr., co-sponsored by the 20th Century Literary and Art Club. McCain Auditorium.

Monday, January 21

3:30 p.m.
God's Trombone, play by James Weldon Johnson, Ebony Theatre and United Black Voices musical production. All Faiths Chapel, $1.

6 p.m.

Memorial walk, Waters Hall to All Faiths Chapel.

6:45 p.m.

Candlelight vigil and religious service. All Faiths Chapel.

Tuesday, January 22

11 a.m.
Eyes on the Prize II, America at the Racial Crossroads 1965-1985: Part 1. 502E Farrell Library.

1 p.m.

"The Impact of King's Legacy on American Race Relations," by Rev. Samuel Mann, St. Marks Union Church, Kansas City, chairman, SCLC. K-State Union Little Theatre.

2:30 p.m.

"Male-Female Relationship Issues," presentation by Mary Peterson, Greek Affairs advisor, University of Iowa. K-State Union Forum Hall.

7 p.m.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 1. Moore Hall 5th floor lobby.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 4. Edwards Hall TV room.

7:30 p.m.

"Sex, Stress, and Alcohol: Campus Issues," presentation by Mary Peterson, Greek Affairs advisor, University of Iowa. K-State Union Forum Hall.

Wednesday, January 23

7:30 a.m.
Martin Luther King, Jr., Observance Week breakfast. K-State Union Flint Hills Room.

11 a.m.

Eyes on the Prize II: Part 8. 502E Farrell Library.

Noon to 1:30 p.m.

College deans' forum: "Diversity Campaign Update," brown bag lunch. 212 K-State Union.

3:30 p.m.

International Sweetheart of Rhythm, documentary film and panel discussion. 213 K-State Union.

7 p.m.

Cry The Beloved Country, movie with Sidney Poitier, sponsored by UPC Kaleidoscope. K-State Union, Forum Hall, $1.75.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 2. West Hall TV room.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 5. Goodnow Hall 5th floor lobby.

7:30 p.m.

Pre-Convocation forum: "The Question of Group Rights." 213 K-State Union.

Thursday, January 24

11:30 a.m.
Martin Luther King, Jr., forum, College of Education presentation. 16 Blumont Hall.

1:30 p.m.

Panel discussion: "People making a difference," sponsored by New Directions. 208 K-State Union.

3:30 p.m.

Reception for recipient of the Conoco Presidential Award for Distinguished Services to Minority Education at Kansas State University. Farrell Library, Minority Research Center.

Cry The Beloved Country, movie with Sidney Poitier. K-State Union Little Theatre, $1.75.

7 p.m.

Cry The Beloved Country, movie with Sidney Poitier. K-State Union Forum Hall, $1.75.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 3. Haymaker Hall 6th Floor Lobby.

Eyes on the Prize I: Part 6. Marlatt Hall.

8 p.m.

"What You See Isn't Always What You Get," program on first impressions. Moore Hall formal lobby.

8:30 p.m.

Panel discussion: "Black Fraternities and Sororities." New Derby study room.

Friday, January 25

10:30 a.m.
Convocation: "The Question of Group Rights," Randall Kennedy, Harvard Law School. McCain Auditorium.

Noon

Convocation luncheon. K-State Union Ballroom.

Sunday, January 27

3:30 p.m.
KSU gospel service, Dr. James Boyer. All Faiths Chapel.

5:30 p.m.

Interfaith and International Potluck Supper: "Race and Our Commonality Under God." International Student Center.

Exhibits

Gordon Parks Photography Collection, January 17-March 8. Farrell Library Minority Research Center, 4th floor and Special Collections and University Archives, 5th floor.

Essay Contest

1991 Martin Luther King, Jr., Essay Contest, sponsored by the KSU Office of the Dean of Student Life and the Aggieville Merchants Association. Deadline for entries: 5 p.m., Friday, January 18, 102 Holton Hall.

Sponsors

Academic Assistance Center
Administration and Finance
Admissions
Affirmative Action
American Baptist Campus Ministry
American Ethnic Studies Program
Basketball Office
Black Student Union
College of Agriculture
College of Architecture and Design
College of Arts and Sciences
College of Business Administration
College of Education
College of Engineering
College of Human Ecology
College of Veterinary Medicine
Dean of Student Life Office
Division of Continuing Education
Educational Supportive Services
Farrell Library
Football Office
Graduate School
Institutional Advancement
Intercollegiate Athletics
K-State Union
Laferte Health Center
MACESA
Midwest Center for Race and Desegregation
Minority Engineering Program
Multicultural Affairs
Personnel Services
President's Office
Provost's Office
Student Financial Assistance
University Relations
Upward Bound

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Friday, January 18, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 78

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Sirens sound in Jerusalem as Iraq launches missiles

By the Associated Press

TEL AVIV, Israel — Several missiles struck Israel before dawn Friday, smashing houses in a densely populated neighborhood and causing at least some minor injuries, officials said.

The first air raid sirens went off in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv at about 2 a.m. Numerous explosions were heard.

Israelis were ordered into shelters and told to don gas masks for protection against Iraqi chemical weapons. An Army official, however, said none of the missiles carried chemical warheads.

Israel had said it would retaliate if attacked, but there were no signs a counterattack had been launched. The United States has urged the Jewish state to stay out of the gulf war, and Arab members of the anti-Iraq coalition have warned that its entry could split the alliance.

"The problem of Israeli retaliation, if at all, arises," Israel television said.

An Israeli official in Washington, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said 12 missiles hit Israel.

The official said preliminary reports suggested that three missiles had exploded in Tel Aviv, two in the northern seaport of Haifa and three in unpopulated areas of the country. It wasn't clear where the others landed.

A U.S. military source in Washington said it appeared 10 missiles were launched from western Iraq, and eight landed in Israel.

Television pictures showed buildings in a poorer Tel Aviv neighborhood that had been reduced to shells filled with rubble. Smoke wafted out of bomb craters.

Tel Aviv Mayor Shlomo Lahat told Israel television that "two or three buildings were destroyed."

Israel's ambassador to the United States, Zalman Shoval, described the neighborhood as being "inhabited mostly by elderly people and laborers."

Shoval, speaking to reporters in Washington, said Israel "reserves the right to respond in any way it deems fit," but would not say what it planned to do.

He stressed that Israel had taken "a calculated risk" by not striking Iraq pre-emptively. As a result, he said, it had "paid the dearest price of any of the countries in the Middle East that faces Iraqi aggression except Kuwait itself."

An American official in Washington, speaking on condition of anonymity, said Israel has the right to defend itself. His comment appeared to signal that the United States would understand if Israel struck back.

The official also repeated U.S. assurances given Israel in the past few weeks that "an unprovoked attack on Israel also calls for an appropriate American response."

Kuwait's ambassador to the United Nations, Mohammad A. Abulhasan, said: "I had hoped there would not be an Israeli reaction. If there is, it complicates the matter, but we should not exaggerate the complication."

Brig. Gen. Nachman Shai, the Israeli army spokesman, said there were at least seven casualties, all lightly injured.

SCUD missile attack of Israel

Iraq attacked Israel Thursday, potentially escalating the war in the Middle East.

SCUD missiles, a Soviet-made mobile missile, was used in the offensive.

- The SCUD-B is designed to carry a 1,000-kilogram warhead containing conventional, nuclear or chemical material.
- The SCUD-B's fired by Iraq at Israel and Saudi Arabia carried conventional warheads.
- The SCUD-B has poor accuracy and a long response and preparation time. It takes one hour to prepare a SCUD-B for launch.
- In the 1973 war between Egypt and Israel, three SCUD-B's fired by the Egyptians hit no targets of value.
- The SCUD-B was first introduced by the Soviet Union in 1965.

SCUD-B missile and launcher

Source: Weapons and Tactics of the Soviet Army.

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

Oil prices decline in uncertain market

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Those people who went out and bought gasoline when they heard war had started in the gulf may be surprised to find gasoline prices decreasing.

Crude oil prices fell on the world market Thursday. The price of 'light sweet' crude went from $32 at the beginning of trading today to $21.44 at the close of business, a 33 percent decrease.

Kelly MacLasky, owner of Kelly MacLasky Oil Purchasing in El Dorado, predicted oil would decrease almost 30 to 35 percent because of the successful airstrikes and reduced threat to Saudi Arabian oil fields. Because of the war, MacLasky said crude oil prices would remain unpredictable.

MacLasky said they were projecting earlier in the month that a swift, decisive conclusion to the Persian Gulf crisis could actually lower the price of a barrel of oil to $10 to $12 before stabilizing.

After stabilizing, the price would again probably increase, although he said he was unsure what it would actually be.

"The market and current situation in the Persian Gulf is too unstable," he said.

Terry McLeod, president of Blackhawk Exploration in Wichita, said it was a volatile market right now, and oil would probably decrease even further.

McLeod said most of the oil producers don't want oil to go to $40 to $60 dollars for fear of consumer anger, but they also don't want it to decrease to where it would be unprofitable to produce it.

McLeod said oil producers have already been replaced the lost production of Kuwait and Iraq.

"We have the same supply of oil as there was before the invasion," he said.

McLeod said if oil prices decreased to $15 or less in Kansas, most of the state's oil producers would cease production. This would hinder further exploration for oil in the state.

The amount of tax monies collected by the state would also decrease and hurt the economy of Kansas, he said.

Jim Lorenz, co-owner of Brechisen-Lorenz Oil and Gas Company of Parsons, said the five major oil companies lowered and froze their prices because quarterly profit reports, which show unusually large profits, are due to come out, and they want to be seen on the side of the public. The federal government also authorized the use of the strategic oil reserves to keep the prices low.

MacLasky said Kansas currently produces between 135,000 to 145,000 barrels of oil a day. Production will vary according to the demand for oil.

Brian W. Kratzert/Staff

A war supporter, who declined to be identified, fights for a few more words as the microphone is pulled away by Talat Rahman, associate physics professor and spokeswoman for the Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East. Opposing supporters rallied Thursday at the Union Plaza.

Misunderstanding ends in brief scuffle

ERWIN SEBA
Staff Reporter

A misunderstanding between two war supporters led to a brief scuffle in front of Seaton Hall during a demonstration against Operation Desert Storm.

The series of exchanges leading to a shoving match between Peter Arroyo Jr., junior in pre-medicine and psychology, and a biker, who identified himself as "Gypsy," began when Arroyo said freedom in America allowed flag-burning.

Another biker then held up an American flag and yelled that he would kill anyone "graveyard-dead if you desecrate this flag."

Arroyo began yelling at the biker holding the flag, "If you respect that flag, if you respect what it stands for, you have to understand we have the freedom of expression — even to the point where we can burn that flag."

Yelling then began between Arroyo and about five bikers.

Gypsy stepped from the bikers, opened his leather jacket to show a T-shirt that said "Nam" and yelled, "You burn my flag, and I'll burn your ass."

"I'm not gonna burn your flag," Arroyo yelled at Gypsy.

"... You're not gonna burn my flag," Gypsy yelled.

Arroyo and Gypsy were face-to-face pointing fingers in each other's faces.

"... It's freedom of expression," Arroyo yelled.

"That's right, expression, goddamn ass," Gypsy yelled.

"Fucking freak," Arroyo yelled as he shoved Gypsy.

Gypsy threw a punch at Arroyo which missed.

Bikers, spectators, protest organizers and police officers quickly stepped in to stop the fight. The two men were then questioned and released by the K-State Police.

One war opponent said, "separation not confrontation."

Another biker who identified himself as "The Professor," said Gypsy and other bikers, many of whom he identified as Vietnam veterans, were upset over Wednesday night's vandalism of the K-State Vietnam Veterans Memorial and wanted to prevent further desecration.

Students gather to give opinions

Supporters, protesters of war in gulf exchange words as tensions grow

DAVID FRESE
Staff Reporter

An American flag lay draped across the laps of several people sitting on the front ledge of Seaton Hall. The shouts of the crowd gathered on the steps began only as a faint rumble, then grew louder like thunder in the distance.

"Take peace by 'Storm!' they were chanting, fists pounding the air. "Take peace by 'Storm!'"

On the ground below the Seaton crowd stood John Exdell, philosophy professor and anti-war protester. He was speaking to about 250 students and observers in the K-State Union Courtyard. When he could no longer be heard above the din, he stopped speaking into the microphone and faced them.

"Take peace by 'Storm!' they continued.

Charlie Perkins, professor emeritus of psychology and a war opponent, ran over from the center island of the Union Plaza to ask the war-supporters to be quiet so the speakers at the rally could be heard.

They stopped, only to confront Perkins face to face. Someone said, "He's non-violent — kick his ass."

"We stand behind our government," said another supporter.

"So do we," Perkins said. "We don't like some policies. We believe in democracy — and military methods are not democracy."

"If you've got points that you think aren't being made, get down and make them," Perkins told the supporters.

At the podium, Exdell continued his talk. When he was finished, it was the anti-war protesters' turn to chant.

"No blood for oil!" they yelled. "No blood for oil!"

"What a load of shit," another unidentified war supporter said.

"This stinks," said Joann Lewis, junior in psychology. Lewis, along with three other women on the Seaton Hall steps, said her husband is in Saudi Arabia.

"They're not supporting our troops; they're just blaming it on oil — that's not it," Lewis said. "Hussein is a madman. He's taken over another country."

"My husband told me he has to support the government whether it's right or wrong," said Cynthia Du-lyea, freshman in business. "And I support my husband, 100 percent. He's a good soldier. If there was any better person to go — I don't know him."

"It seems these people are blaming the United States for what's happened," said Jasmine Stoverink, senior in psychology and wife of a deployed soldier. "We didn't go in there and attack Kuwait. Hussein did. Why don't they go over to an Iraqi embassy and protest?"

"I'm scared," Lewis said. "Not just for my husband, but for all the men and women over there. And for all the innocent people over there. Nobody wants war. But sometimes there has to be a war to keep peace."

"Fuck peace!" said a voice from below, as if on cue. There were 10 bikers there, wearing black leather and headbands that read "POW-MIA." One of them waved the American flag back and forth and smiled.

"Crack Iraq!" said a biker named "Dog." The Seaton crowd laughed and applauded.

Another biker who identified himself as "The Professor," said the bikers were Vietnam veterans and were upset over Wednesday night's vandalism of the K-State Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

"They should reinstate the draft and take all these pansy-ass college boys," Dog said.

■ See PROTEST, Page 9

Briefly

World

Mandela to meet with rival leader

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Black leaders Nelson Mandela and Mangosuthu Buthelezi will meet Jan. 29 for the first face-to-face talks in decades between the longtime friends turned political rivals, their parties said Thursday.

The announcement raised the prospect that there might eventually be a settlement between their two warring groups. However, spokesmen for both sides cautioned against unrealistic expectations.

"It's one thing for leaders to meet and shake hands, another to transfer the reconciliation down to the grassroots level," ANC spokesman Saki Macozoma told a local radio station. "Without grassroots support, it would be impossible to stop the violence."

Nation

Police connect woman to deaths

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Property belonging to seven men found slain along rural roadways was found in a storage unit rented by a woman police described Thursday as "a killer who robs — not a robber who kills."

Aileen Carol Wuornos, 34, was charged with murder in one of the killings, with more charges expected from the counties where the other victims were found, Marion County sheriff's Capt. Steve Binegar said.

Investigators hope to solve more cases in several states as a result of Wuornos' arrest, Binegar said. He would not identify the states involved.

"We want to clear up as many homicides as possible. ... We believe she pretty much meets the guidelines of a serial killer," he said.

Wuornos, a former convict and prostitute, was arrested in a bar near Daytona Beach last week and was charged with murder Wednesday.

Former cult members sentenced

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Two former cult members were sentenced Thursday for their roles in the 1989 killings of five northeast Ohio family members.

Susan Luff was sentenced to seven to 25 years in prison after pleading guilty to a charge of conspiracy to commit aggravated murder.

Judge James Jackson told Luff to report to the Mansfield Reformatory for Women on Feb. 4.

Also Thursday, Jackson sentenced former cult member Richard Brand to 15 years to life on each of five counts of aggravated murder to run concurrently.

In January 1990, five bodies were found buried on the Kirtland farm where the cult lived. Dennis Avery, his wife, Cheryl, and their three daughters were shot in the head April 17, 1989.

The cult was headed by Jeffrey Lundgren, a defrocked lay minister of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Kirtland.

Lundgren, who admitted to firing the shots, has been convicted on five counts each of aggravated murder and kidnapping and sentenced to death.

Lundgren said he shot the Averys, who also were members of the religious cult, because he believed they were sinners.

Region

RTC brings jobs to region office

OVERLAND PARK (AP) — The government's Resolution Trust Corp. is hiring 30 workers in its Overland Park office after nearly doubling the number of failed thrifts under its control, officials said.

About 150 people work in the Overland Park office. The number of jobs is expected to increase to about 180, due in part to institutional reorganization, said Jane Jankowski, a spokeswoman for the Overland Park regional office.

The RTC is reorganizing its four regions to more evenly divide the amount of assets controlled by each, Jankowski said. The office assumed responsibility for 11 additional states.

Radioactive waste bill introduced

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — A low-level radioactive waste warehouse wouldn't be licensed in Nebraska unless compact states agreed to share liability for anything that might happen at the site, under a bill introduced in the Legislature Thursday.

Under LB399, compact law would have to include language that would make each state liable for its own waste and any problems at the site.

The other states in Nebraska's low-level radioactive waste compact are Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

Nebraska could also collect fees from member states to cover costs of hosting the facility, and the compact commission's records would be made public. Representatives of member states make up the commission.

Campus

Warrant backs out as opening act

Don Dokken has been announced as the new opening act for the Poison concert slated for Feb. 1 at Bramlage Coliseum.

Kevin Dochterman, concert promoter for Contemporary Presentations, said the change from Warrant to Don Dokken was due to technical problems that included a disagreement over the specified amount of space on stage to be used by the opening act.

"This is not an unusual occurrence. Acts change all the time as far as support goes," Dochterman said.

Dochterman said the basic show will be the same, and Don Dokken's group will easily step into the act.

"This will be a tremendous show. Poison's show has all the lights and lasers and it is just fantastic. Nothing is changing from the show except the opening act," he said.

Charlie Thomas, director of Bramlage Coliseum, said although the change came as a surprise, it would not affect the concert in any way.

"This is just one of those things you can't control," he said.

Don Dokken, who originally headed the group Dokken, has been headlining at clubs around the country the last few months with opening act, Trixter.

Campus Bulletin

Announcements

Student Governing Association is accepting applications for campus committees, Student Senate standing committees and Senate interns. The applications are available and due in the SGS office (ground floor Union) by Wednesday, Jan. 23.

The College of Agriculture will have an interview clinic sign-up Jan. 18-23 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Waters Hall. Bring a data sheet.

18 Friday

The Career Planning and Placement Center will conduct a placement orientation meeting at 3:30 p.m. in the K-State Union Big 8 room. It is for all majors graduating in May, August or December 1991.

Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the Union 213.

19 Saturday

VITA Volunteers Training will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Jan. 19-20 in Kedzie 106.

The GMAT Exam will be held at 8:30 a.m. in Cardwell 101.

The Horseman's Association Dance will be held at 9 p.m. at the Blue River Pub.

20 Sunday

New Currents KSU's New Age/Jazz/Fusion Music Club will hold their first meeting of the semester at 2 p.m. in the Union 203.

21 Monday

Little Manhattan Chess Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the Union Cafeteria.

Ag Communicators of Tomorrow will meet at 6 p.m. in Waters 137.

22 Tuesday

KSU Dance Auditions will be held from 5:30-7 p.m. in the Ahearn Gymnasium 304.

The Intramural Basketball Official's Meeting is at 6:30 p.m. in the Union 212.

Correction

The K-State Vietnam Veterans Memorial was incorrectly identified in Thursday's issue. The Collegian regrets the error.

Manhattan Weather

Today, morning fog, then partly sunny. Highs in the lower to mid-40s. Light westerly winds. Tonight, partly cloudy. Lows 25 to 30. Saturday, partly sunny. Highs around 50.

SNOOKIES
Time for some Straight Shootin'

Fri. & Sat. 50¢ Kamis
Come Celebrate our 1 Year
Anniversary This Weekend!

776-7726 • 1122 Moro • Upstairs

Bonanza's
Winter Thaw Specials

FREE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK
with the purchase of FRESHTASTIKS
FOOD BAR at regular price

99¢ KIDS MEAL
with the purchase of an adult entree

Remember, Kids Eat Free Every Tuesday.

Offer good through 1/31/91
4 p.m. to close.

BONANZA.
Steak • Chicken • Seafood • Salad
622 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • Manhattan, KS

Basketball Officials Needed!

Meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thursday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

* Attendance is mandatory for all meetings! *

Starting Pay: $4.00/hour
(more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Offices for details...532-6980

Intramural Deadline

Friday, Jan. 18 at 5 p.m.
REC Services Office

You Deserve More Than Just a Basic Apartment...

You Deserve Brittney Ridge Townhomes!

Brittney Ridge townhomes give you the luxury of an apartment with more added extras for as low as $195 a month. Each townhome has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, and a study room. Rooms are pre-wired for computer, phone, & cable TV. A large recreation area with gazebos, hot tubs and a volleyball court make this development more than just an apartment complex, but a community in itself.

Bus

Call Us Today

to 776-5599

Campus
Located in Northwest Manhattan on Candlewood Drive

DAN WEIR COMPANY

REAL ESTATE

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3805

OPERA
WAREHAM
HOUSE

... PRESENTS ...

*Jan. 18 - Homestead Grays
(straight up rock'n'roll)

*Jan. 19 - Left of Center Dance
(D.J.)

*Jan. 26 - Baghdad Jones
(Hot R & B)

*Feb. 1 - Vaughn & the Magnificent 7
(Big Band Sound)

410 Poyntz Avenue

for reservations: (913) 537-8646

Harry's Uptown

THE GREAT BIG FUTON
SALE!

* CLEARANCE *

FUTON
MATTRESS $
FROM...

69 FUTON
FRAMES $
FROM...

BLUE MOON
WATERBEDS & FUTONS

217 S. 4th MANHATTAN KANSAS DOWNTOWN 776-0716
FT. RILEY (NEAR THE MALL) 776-1307
HOURS: M-F 10 TO 6, SATURDAY 10 TO 4, SUNDAY 12 TO 5

SAVE UP TO...!
50%

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Brian W. Kratzer/Staff

Above: Vietnam veteran and war supporter Ward Downey expresses his view on Operation Desert Storm. At left: DeAnn Buss, of Topeka, participates in a candlelight vigil for soldiers in the gulf. Both expressed their views Thursday evening on the steps of the State House in Topeka.

Protest at the State House

Topekans organize candlelight vigil to support soldiers

ERWIN SEBA
Staff Reporter

TOPEKA — As a group of about 75 war opponents, each holding a lit candle, stood in a circle Thursday night at the bottom of the south steps of the State House, a knot of 25 war supporters stood nearby and tried to listen as the opponents stepped one-by-one into the center of the circle to state their reasons for opposing the war against Iraq.

"See what they're doing here?" said one war supporter. "The old candlelight here."

"I don't think it's going to solve the problem," said another.

Sister Frances Russell stepped to the center of the circle.

"We're gathered tonight to be one family, one group of people in solidarity with the people of Iraq and Kuwait," Russell said. "With our troops in the gulf, our leaders and we pray that the war may come to a stop speedily."

"We need a few moments to center," Russell said. "To be in touch with the Kansas sky and with the need of people to be at peace."

"Even if we do have peace, we're going to have to bend over to have peace," one war supporter said to another.

The two groups, one organized by the Washburn Coalition for Peace in the Middle East and the other, a group of veterans, many from the Vietnam War, conducted their inter-related protests under the watchful eyes of five Capitol Area Security officers and Topeka TV, radio and newspaper reporters.

At times, members of one group spoke to the members of the other.

Sometimes they shouted, mostly they spoke just loud enough to be heard among the members of their own groups as TV camera lights were turned on and off and camera flashes went off in their faces.

"Don't ever let anyone tell you you're not solidly behind the troops," Bill Cecil-Fronsman of the Washburn Coalition told the opponents. "We want them to come home. We want them to come home safely."

As another opponent spoke, Topeka metal polisher Richard Poirer shouted at the opponents, "The simple fact of the matter is that it's a tough old world and sometimes you gotta do what you gotta do."

Sometimes tempers flared, as when a teenage opponent yelled "peace through strength has never worked," as supporters chanted "peace through strength."

SALE

Up to
50% off

Christmas ornaments & decorations and selected
China, Crystal, Collectibles, and jewelry

5th & Poyntz

Campbell's
DOWNTOWN

776-9067

See us at the Bridal Fair Feb. 3, Houston Street

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time
Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday
Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

Superbowl Subs
for Superbowl Sunday

4 ft. Sub (serves 12-16)	$27.00
4 ft. Kitchen Sink (12-16)	33.00
6 ft. Sub. (18-24)	40.00
6 ft. Kitchen Sink (18-24)	49.00
Party Sub (4-6)	7.79
Party Sink (4-6)	9.79

Pick up or Delivery

We also have meat and cheese trays and fresh donuts daily at 1443 Anderson

Anderson Shop
Mon.-Sat. 7:45 a.m.-9:30 p.m.
Sun. 7:45 a.m.-8 p.m.
1443 Anderson
537-2426

Seth Childs Shop
Mon.-Sat. 11 a.m.-6 p.m.
Closed Sunday
211 S. Seth Child
537-2411

FREE SKI PANTS

with purchase of any insulated jacket at regular price

--OR--

20% OFF

ANY JACKET OR PANTS PURCHASE
SALE ENDS JANUARY 20th

AGGIE SKI & SPORT
1214 MORO-AGGIEVILLE
M-T 10-8 F-S 10-6 S 1-5

Clockwise from top left: Loretta Whitney, Credit Union Manager/ Loan officer; Robin Fosha, Loan officer; La Rae Bohnenblust and Randy Erickson, Member Service Assts.

Meet your Credit Union staff
at the 1991 Annual Meeting of the
KSU Federal Credit Union
Tues., Jan. 22, 1991
Rm. 213, K-State Union
7 pm

Faculty, staff, and retired members are encouraged to attend the annual meeting.

Business Meeting: Report of business and financial condition of the credit union. Election of member to the Board of Directors and Credit Committee

Program: "Credit Unions on Trial"

Learn how you can help your credit union win the battle to stay insured and regulated as a financial cooperative that is democratically controlled.

EDITORIAL

World going to hell with war and president

"The nights snapped out of sight like a lizard's eyelid: A world of bald white days in a shadeless socket." — a line from "The Hanging Man," by Sylvia Plath.

EARLY MORNING, JANUARY 15TH — As I write this thing for Friday, it is becoming clear that the world is going, or has already gone, to hell. The only thing to determine now is what to put in the carry-on bag. ... Over the weekend, Congress gave imperial idiot George Bush the Power to do Anything He Wants, a little known clause in the "other" Constitution, the one that no one talks about and is not on exhibit in the Library of Congress. Bush locks this one up in one of the White House's many sub-basements every night, and hangs it on the wall of the Oval Office during the day.

Once a junior senator referred to the document on the Senate floor; he was gone the next day. Word is that Bush has been busy adding amendments every morning after the Jane Fonda workout. Some reports say he's already up to 203.

This congressional debate was deep, hysterical, and voluminous; even Representative Eni F. H. Faleomavaega, the non-voting Democrat from American Samoa, was able to squeeze in a few words. He was trying to convince the folks back home that he wasn't just another suit, a tactic most of the speakers have employed.

For three days in January, the lawyers and bankers of Congress were mysteriously transformed into poets and proletariats, or so it sounded over the radio.

But on CNN these Alan-Alda-come-latelys were probably less convincing. I don't know; I couldn't bring myself to actually watch the spectacle. Ratings were low for the debates across America. Hearing it was bad, but no one could handle the visuals.

Coverage showed three days of sick and wrong lies from rich swine, in Brooks Brothers' suits and power ties, pretending to be concerned for the welfare of "our valiant young men and women fighting for freedom Over There." Some people actually believed them when they said they were raising taxes for our own good, but few will buy the new ruse.

It seems clear that members of Congress will soon know they have become as important as a mule, but less useful. Bush knew he'd get their support, one way or another.

During these sick and twisted days, Bush has been spending a suspicious amount of time alone or with close buddies, out of the public eye.

He stays away from Barbara now more than ever. She's always holding Millie, the first dog, like the late Xavier Cugat used to hold a poodle while conducting his orchestra. The only difference is that Millie is an inbred mongrel who snaps at the President and barks at all male Republicans. George becomes nervous around Millie and has taken to sleeping in a separate room, since Babs refuses to part with the mangy hound.

Bush's spokesman, Marlin Fitzwater (a native Kansan and no relation to Marlin Perkins), claims that the president is "at peace with himself." Bush was in Camp David during the debates while Dan Quayle, bravely fighting the dreaded Pixie disease, tried to run the Senate.

No doubt some senators and representatives pictured Bush hunkered down over a transistor radio in the Camp David chapel, praying for the congressional go-ahead. But no. Bush, Sununu, and ex-Nixon pal Bebe Rebozo were playing laser tag in the Camp David forest and drinking Cuba Libres, a rum, coca-cola, and lime concoction that goes down smooth. ...

I did manage to catch Bush's press conference on television Saturday afternoon following the congressional voting. During a question from the Reuters' correspondent, I swear I saw Bush turn around and giggle to Sununu the way only true power drunks know how.

Meanwhile, Gorbachocolate is selling well in the Moscow Baskin-Robbins' stores, but sales will presumably plummet now that Gorbachev has sent 31 flavors of paratroopers and tanks into Lithuania and Estonia to squash independence movements and kill people. And it was only a month ago that he sent a pal from the KGB to make contact in Oslo with the Nobel Prize committee to pick up his Peace Prize and check.

Shevardnaze resigned in Russia because he couldn't be a part of the coming dictatorship, but don't look for his counterpart James Baker to resign over here. No, Bush has made sure that everyone will get a piece of the coming action.

Except maybe Dole. He seems reluctant to help the president, but has grudgingly done it anyway. Probably because he needs to keep his job awhile longer.

Sources said that he was planning to resign before 1994. But with Joan Finney and the Finney Farm Barn Band in charge of things in Kansas, she'd probably appoint the Rev. Fred Phelps, Sr., to take Dole's place, if for no other reason than to get him out of the way. Don't think Finney doesn't see that the world is ripe for world domination; she claims to have the support of the people. Don't laugh. They laughed at Schickelgruber. Stranger things have happened. You've been warned.

No one has said "draft" yet, except for those of us who would notice, though the car rental place I called a few days ago said that they have stopped renting cars to Montreal and Tijuana to people over 18 and under 30 ... they kept mentioning something about blood money and kneecaps broken by bats.

I can understand. My friend in sports supplies said the FBI ordered a shipment of Louisville Sluggers last month for "increasing stature in the business community."

The sun is about to come up, I can tell. Outside my window, strange birds are chirping. The sky is becoming sickly purple, and across the alley, my neighbor has started his ugly pick-up truck. It is January 15th for this morning person. Soon, he will drive to work, listen to the radio, and decide what he will do next—put aside a little of the paycheck for war bonds, pack, arm himself or change political parties.

He will listen to NPR's interpretation of the night's events and the day's expectations. He will hear a few sound bites from King George about "the new world order" and the coalition. But the cowards at NPR will probably cut the beef of his talk, where he repeats King Henry V's speech before the gates of Harfleur:

"What is it then to me if impious war,/ Arrayed in flames to the prince of fiends,/ Do with his smirched complexion all fell feats/ Enlinked to waste and desolation."

Editorials

Has war changed things?

Yesterday was the day after a war began. What did you do?

On this most unusual day, did you do anything unusual?

A lone helicopter swooped over a campus parking lot full of cars, and the roar was frightening. One helicopter was enough to remind some students of the reality of air-warfare, even to make a few hearts skip a beat. What do you suppose 2,000 jets dropping bombs does to a person's mentality?

Is the fact that the war is in the gulf is just that — in the gulf — allowing Americans to feel too secure? Perhaps even creating apathy?

No draft has been reinstated, no U.S. cities have been destroyed. Yes, protests occurred throughout the country, but has the reality of engaging in a war honestly affected most Americans?

What will it take to force us to consider all the ramifications of this war? How long will it take to affect each and every citizen, and what will we do when it does?

It's easy, while living comfortably in the land of the free, to let war slip out of our minds for a while. Would it be so easy if we had to keep gas masks within a moment's reach?

Would it be so easy if the thunder of bombing woke us up in the middle of the night?

Campus voices

What is your opinion of the United States' decision to attack Iraq?

Kelly Camblin
junior in social sciences

"I think that they are doing their job. Somebody has to stop them (Iraq). It looks like we are doing a good job. Hopefully, it will be over soon."

Niranjan Rao
graduate student in industrial engineering

"I like it for the fact that it is for the liberating of Kuwait. The U.S. went into it for the wrong reasons; to terrorize Iraq out of Kuwait. The Kuwaiti people need to be relieved from all of this."

Steve Worf
senior in engineering technology

"I think it was justified and that they were forewarned. The U.S. gave them every opportunity for peace. We gave them a deadline, and unfortunately, we have to adhere to it."

(January 17, 1991)

Letters

Actions too late

Editor,

For all those who attended the anti-war rally, where were you during the debates? Where were your letters to our congressmen at the beginning of the conflict?

This issue has already been decided and, unfortunately, you are a little too late.

Now instead of yelling in the wind to deaf ears, why don't you hold hands in prayer and support our soldiers serving in the Middle East.

My husband of three and a half years is serving in Saudi Arabia. The day he left on that plane, I couldn't help but think that that would be the last time I would ever see him. But he is supporting our government, and we should do the same.

He doesn't want war, neither do other sane Americans. But I am sorry to say that this issue has already been decided. The president had the final word. Moreover, those soldiers don't want to see people with "No War" signs in the paper or on television. They live every day with the threat of war and the stress that goes with it.

Let them see pictures of people holding signs saying, "We support you and want you back safely."

In my final words, let me be the first to say to all the American soldiers serving in the Middle East, I support you and my prayers are with you.

Jennifer Hamm
junior in business

Graffiti wrong

Editor,

I was appalled to open the Collegian this morning to find that someone had written anti-war slogans on the Vietnam War Memorial. I, too, am against useless death and destruction, but I also support my family and friends who have and are currently putting their lives on the line to protect our interests here at home. Every individual has his or her own views of this war and deals with it in his or her own way.

The signs and graffiti placed at the memorial last night were sick, and it shows that not all useless destruction takes place on the war-front. If you have any gripes about what is happening take care of it in a constructive manner, such as by contacting your senator or representatives.

These men represented at the memorial have fought their war. Let them rest in peace.

Julia Dulle
senior in park resources management

History pervades

Editor,

Today the world knows war again, and no matter what our viewpoints, we have all witnessed the forging of a new era in history. While many stand in shock and disbelief that war has broken out, it seems to me that there has always been a certain air of inevitability pervading these events.

For the last several hundred years, the forces of humanity have been dramatically accelerating to the point that today history is recorded in minutes rather than centuries. The momentum of human population is now unimaginably vast. To hold back such forces is an impossibility; we would do better to stop the movement of stars. We must instead take firm hold of the rudder and with all our might steer our destiny as best we can choose. The choice is not an easy one.

The obstacle we face today did not arise five months ago or even five years ago. The forces that shaped it have been in action as long as humanity itself. The first seeds of turmoil were sown a thousand years ago, perhaps more. Though at times we may have been able to ignore it, there it has set, a sharp peak on a distant horizon. Now we have reached that peak. On the other side lies a new and brighter horizon, but before reaching it, we must first safely weather the storm before us.

Conflict in the Middle East was as unavoidable as the dawn. It long ago ceased to be a matter of war or peace, but of time. That time has come despite our best wishes and intentions. We have given talk its chance. Now is the need for action. The countries of the world have united in that action with the intent of somehow paving through the rugged valley of death, a path that will lead to a world of peace.

Right or wrong, the choice has been made. We cannot move backwards. Let us then look to the future and, with willing hands, lay hold of the task set before us. United we will stand, divided we are nothing.

Bill Weatherford
junior in education

Support needed

Editor,

I am writing in regard to the Thursday, Jan. 17 staff editorial. I found the part, "Tying yellow ribbons in trees and fence posts isn't going to cut it this time," to be quite offensive and inaccurate to the true meaning of the symbolic yellow ribbon.

I would like to clarify this point and give my opinion as an American citizen. The yellow ribbon DOES NOT mean a protest against war. We, the people who proudly display yellow ribbons, don't condemn our soldiers' actions. If anything, we applaud them for a job well done! The yellow ribbon shows that we support our troops and loved ones in Saudi Arabia, and we believe what they are doing is correct and justifiable.

I sincerely believe that the war is appropriate in this situation. The longer we wait for sanctions to work, the more time we give Hussein to fortify his position. He is a merciless, inhumane individual who should be stopped at any cost, including loss of life.

Our military forces understand what kind of threat Hussein is to the world. They are willing to risk their lives to ensure the United States can keep the rights our forefathers fought so hard to defend in the past. One of the most important rights is the right to protest. So, in fact, the people who protest against the war are really showing their support by demonstrating their long, fought-for right to voice their own opinion.

You may see it as a war protest, but I see it as strengthening the point of freedom and justifying the reason why we are at war today. Thank you for your support.

Missy Bow
senior in architecture

DeNiro makes 'Awakenings' in dramatic film performance

Actor deserves another Oscar for role in uplifting tearjerker

ERIC MELIN
Collegian Reviewer

With the newly granted gift of life, Leonard Lowe can make decisions he hasn't been able to for 30 years. Things that seem normal and mundane to the rest of the world now give him the greatest pleasure he has ever known.

He can walk down a street bustling with activity and choose whether to turn left, right, walk backwards or simply straight ahead. He can fully appreciate what most of us take for granted.

In "Awakenings," Robert DeNiro plays Lowe, a post-encephalitic patient who has been in a coma-like sleep for 30 years. The screenplay (adapted from a book written by Oliver Sacks) is based on a true story and draws many parallels between Leonard and the man responsible for the miracle, Dr. Malcolm Sayer (Robin Williams).

The year is 1969. The country is going through radical changes. But inside Bainbridge Hospital, chronic patients live in a world of their own. Sayer is hired by the hospital with a vast knowledge of medical research, but no clinical experience.

The introverted doctor is scared by some of his patients, yet eager to do something for them. He discovers a link with the post-encephalitis and with some fighting, prescribes L-DOPA, an experimental drug, to Leonard on a hunch it might awaken him from his catatonia.

When it does, he pleads with hospital donors to give him the money for the others. Suddenly, he has 14 adults with the spirit and energy of children on his hands.

It's good to see Robin Williams in a withdrawn role. His last few movies found him playing the same, manic character. Sayer is the complete opposite, making even the simplest of social situations infinitely difficult.

While attending a medical lecture, he raises his hand in the middle of a speech to ask the speaker a question, only to be ignored. He later approaches the man in the bathroom and asks him the question again as he stands at the urinal.

Through the course of the film, Williams shows the subtle changes of a man who is taught to embrace life by another who could not for so long.

It's impossible not to compare "Awakenings" to "Rain Man." Williams held the movie together, and like Tom Cruise, was a changed person by the end.

DeNiro's character, however, goes through many highly contrasting emotional phases unlike Dustin Hoffman's Raymond Babbitt.

Leonard's last memory was when he was 11 years old. Before he is given the drug, Leonard is virtually motionless, staring off into space. There is a focus to the look, an almost alarming cry for help.

After he is awakened, DeNiro portrays a childlike amazement for his surroundings. Then, as his desire for freedom from the hospital increases, he becomes psychotic and the anger he's been feeling for so long is unleashed.

The side effects continue to increase, and he develops body tics. He finally comes full swing and becomes determined to fight the drug with his undying will for life. DeNiro is an incredible actor, able to play so many different roles. He deserves another Oscar for this simple, yet complex portrayal.

Director Penny Marshall, of TV's "Laverne and Shirley" and the silver screen's "Big" fame, must be credited for her storytelling abilities. The movie moves along at a good pace and doesn't confuse the viewer with useless images.

It steers clear of convention with Williams' character and conjures up many emotions without manipulating. Yes, "Awakenings" is a tearjerker, but it has an uplifting theme. Think about the things you take for granted the next time you decide which way to walk.

Council seeks to begin unity among students

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Promoting unity, support and communication among students is the purpose of the multicultural student council, said coordinator Diana Caldwell.

Caldwell said the council is comprised of student leaders who represent the collective interests of 12 multicultural student groups.

It is responsible for promoting the unification of domestic ethnic groups at K-State, Caldwell said. It was organized in the fall of 1989 to communicate information between groups and set precedence by coordinating activities between the various groups and the African Student Union.

include Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week, Black History Month in February, Native-American Heritage Month in March and the Hispanic-American Awareness Month in April.

The council also supports Racial/Ethnic Harmony Week in October and American Ethnic Studies Program activities.

The council receives funding to develop programming through a grant by Procter & Gamble Co. and the Fine Arts Council For Performing Arts activities.

Many council members are also funded through organizations and allocations from the Student Governing Association.

Students' trip to Hawaii gives class opportunity to provide design work

By the Collegian Staff

Seven K-State students and a faculty adviser travelled to Hawaii over Christmas break to present a concept design proposal for a research feedplant on the island of Oahu.

Robert McElhiney, professor of grain science and industry, said students enrolled in the fall 1990 Concepts of Modern Feed Mill Design class were given two projects and separated into two teams.

McElhiney said one of the teams was supposed to design a large feedplant for a feedlot in western China and the other team designed a research feedplant for the Oceanic Institute in Oahu, Hawaii.

Oceanic Institute, an applied aquatic research center, commissioned the design team to plan the research feedplant with the stipulation the team members would go to Hawaii to present the plan, he said.

Warren Dominy, team leader and graduate student in feed science and management, said the team members and faculty adviser Keith Behnke, associate professor of grain science and industry, were given room and board for a week at the institute. The team presented their proposal on Jan. 8, he said.

"When the research facility is completed, people from all over the world will come here for training," Dominy said. "This will be a premier research facility for aquatic research on the Pacific Rim."

"The concept design proposal was very well received by the company. At this time, the company has only seen this proposal," Behnke said.

If the proposal is approved by Oceanic Institute, the company will then contract engineering and architecture firms to make it into a workable design, he said.

McElhiney said students enrolled in the class typically are involved in design projects all over the United States and in some foreign companies.

"Students graduating in feed science and management at K-State have a very high chance of finding a job, and the average salary is $29,000," he said.

Dominy said the trip wasn't all business, and they were able to find time to see many of the tourists attractions on the island of Oahu such as the U.S.S. Arizona Memorial, Waikiki Beach, Bishop Museum and the Hanauma Bay Wildlife Preserve in a blowout crater.

"We got to see a dolphin give birth in captivity, and this is a very rare, unique occurrence," Behnke said.

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT
COLLEGIAN
ClassADS

GLASS
HIGH STYLE
GIFTS
PRICED FROM
AFFORDABLE TO SPLURGE
Glass Impressions 1128 Laramie - Aggieville
Mon. - Fri. 11-6 Sat. 10-4 539-1610

Pizza Hut
DELIVERY
Makin' it great!
CALL THE LOCATION
NEAREST YOU.
•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666
•WESTLOOP 539-7447
•3RD & MORO 776-4334

MARTIN LUTHER KING
WEEKEND HOURS
at the K-State Union

General Building	Stateroom
Friday, Jan. 18 7:00a-10:30p	Friday, Jan. 18 7:00a-7:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 7:00a-10:30p	Saturday, Jan. 19 8:00a-7:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 10:00a-10:30p	Sunday, Jan. 20 11:30a-11:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:00a-8:30p	Monday, Jan. 21 7:00a-8:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:00a-11:00p	Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:00a-11:00p
Bookstore	UPC Office
Friday, Jan. 18 7:45a-5:00p	Friday, Jan. 18 8:00a-5:00p
Saturday, Jan. 19 9:00a-5:00p	Saturday, Jan. 19 1:00a-5:00p
Sunday, Jan. 20 11:00a-5:00p	Sunday, Jan. 20 1:00a-5:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:45a-8:00p	Monday, Jan. 21 8:00a-5:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:45a-8:00p	Tuesday, Jan. 22 8:00a-9:00p
Copy Center	Union Station
Friday, Jan. 18 7:45a-5:00p	Friday, Jan. 18 11:00a-1:00a
Saturday, Jan. 19 12:00n-5:00p	Saturday, Jan. 19 11:00a-1:00a
Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-6:00p	Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-10:00p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:45a-5:00p	Monday, Jan. 21 11:00a-8:00p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:45a-8:00p	Tuesday, Jan. 22 11:00a-10:00p
Information Counter
Friday, Jan. 18 7:15a-9:30p
Saturday, Jan. 19 8:00a-9:30p
Sunday, Jan. 20 11:00a-9:30p
Monday, Jan. 21 7:15a-8:30p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 7:15a-9:30p
Recreation
Friday, Jan. 18 8:00a-12:00m
Saturday, Jan. 19 9:00a-12:00m
Sunday, Jan. 20 12:00n-10:30p
Monday, Jan. 21 8:00a-10:30p
Tuesday, Jan. 22 8:00a-10:30p

See You at the
Union Station
Grand Opening Today!
Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge
Friday, January 18
11:30a - 12:30p Voces de H.A.L.O.
12:30p - 12:45p The KSU Chapter of S.A.D.D. will name the winner of the "Kiss a Pig Contest."
12:45p - 1:15p K-State Union Bookstore Fashion Show
7:00p - 9:00p "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge"
$100 First Prize, $50 Second Prize
Celebrity Judges for "Willie Vanilli Air Band Challenge": Chuck Weirring - Director of Housing and Dining Services, Barb Rabel - Greek Affairs Advisor, Diana Caldwell - Multicultural Student Organization Coordinator
K-State Union
Union Station
Don't forget to vote at the S.A.D.D. Table this week for your favorite candidate to "Kiss The Pig"

LIVING THE DREAM
NONVIOLENCE
A TIME TO ACT, A WAY TO LIVE!
Martin Luther King, Jr., Observance Week
January 20-27, 1991 Kansas State University

Sunday, January 20, 1991
7 p.m.
Group Performance by The King Kids: children performing the greatest speeches of Dr. King and some of his favorite songs. Sponsored by the Southwestern Bell Foundation and the 20th Century Literary and Art Club. McCain Auditorium.

Monday, January 21, 1991
3:30 p.m.
God's Trombone, by James Weldon Johnson, Ebony Theatre and United Black Voices Production. All Faiths Chapel. $1.
6 p.m.
Memorial Walk, Waters Hall to All Faiths Chapel.
6:45 p.m.
Candlelight vigil and religious service. All Faiths Chapel.

We Take Tips!
KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN
532-6556

INTERVIEW & JOB SEARCH WORKSHOPS (4 sessions)
•Small groups/personal attention
•Interview Practice
•Planning your job search
BUSINESS MAJORS:
Mondays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 28
ENGINEERING MAJORS:
Tuesdays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 29
EDUCATION MAJORS
Thursday (7:30-8:30 p.m.)
Starts Jan. 31
Sign up NOW—Each session
limited to nine persons.
$10 per session
CAREER DEVELOPMENT
SERVICES
200 Southwind Place, Suite 106
776-1229

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

SPORTS

King climbs steadily up shot-block charts

Darryl King ... Heir to the rejection throne

King, in just 14 games, is already ranked 4th on the single-season blocked shot chart with 13 games left in the regular season.

Single-season blocked shot records

Name	Year	# of blocks
1. Les Craft	1981-82	44
2. Les Craft	1982-83	39
3. Ben Mitchell	1983-84	31
4. Darryl King	1990-91	30
5. Norris Coleman	1985-86, 1986-87	27

Career blocked shot records

Name	Year	# of blocks
1. Ben Mitchell	1982-86	88
2. Les Craft	1979-83	83
3. Norris Coleman	1985-87	54
4. Charles Bledsoe	1986-88	47
5. Tony Massop	1988-90	47
6. Tyrone Jackson	1982-85	42
7. Lance Simmons	1985-90	32
8. Darryl King	1990-91	30
9. Ron Meyer	1984-88	28
10. Mitch Richmond	1986-88	26

Source: K-State Sports Information

Gregory A. Branson/Colegian

TODD FERTIG
Sports Reporter

With four blocked shots in Tuesday's win over UMKC, Darryl King moved one step closer to the K-State record for blocks in a season.

King emerged as a force off the bench during the semester break with strong performances against Cal-State Santa Barbara and in the BMA Classic.

King registered 16 points and seven rebounds against Texas A&M, then turned in eight points and eight rebounds in the win over Murray State. His eight rejections and six steals in the two games helped land King on the Classic's all-tournament team.

King is developing in the role of relieving the starters at the post and forward positions. King is averaging 5.7 points and 3.7 blocks per contest. But while his offensive and rebounding skills are evolving, it is in blocking shots that King excels.

"A blocked shot really sparks the team. It's almost like a dunk," King said. "That's the part of my game that I take the most pride in."

King gives K-State's defense the presence in the paint that causes opponents to alter their shots and sparks the fast break which the 'Cats lacked in the past. With his 30 blocks, King is easily within reach of the school record for blocks of 44, set by Les Craft in 1981-82.

K-State fans received a taste of what was to come early in the season when King rejected five shots against Northwest Missouri State. Those five blocks broke the Bramlage Coliseum mark held by a Big Eight legend who's accomplishments loom over King like a dark cloud.

King entered the conference in the shadow of his older brother Stacey King, who earned All-American honors while at Oklahoma before moving to the Chicago Bulls and NBA stardom. King admits that unrealistic expectations come with following his brother to the Big Eight.

"It's real tough. People expect you to be able to do all those things and put a lot of pressure on you," King said. "He's a great player who did so much for Oklahoma and the Big Eight. I hope to be half the player he is."

"But I can't worry about trying to be like him," King said. "I've just come in and tried to be my own person and my own player."

King adds a combination of height and quickness to the lineup when he comes off the bench. He said he enjoys competing with the other Wildcat big men and said the members of the group are very supportive of each other.

"We're all real close and really challenge each other in practice," King said.

King was rated one of the top junior college centers in the nation while playing at Midland (Texas) Community College. As a freshman at Midland, King established a school record by blocking 100 shots in the season.

Those shot-blocking skills are quickly helping King make his own mark on the conference as well.

Field enters new age

Mike Vesso/Staff

Denise Harklau, assistant trainer, and Mark Sherlock, senior in secondary physical education/athletic training, prepare Scott Merrill for electrical muscle stimulation to his pulled hamstring muscle.

Athletic training undergoes several timely changes

JENIFER SCHEIBLER
Sports Reporter

Athletic training has entered a new dimension.

The role of athletic trainers in collegiate athletics has seen a transformation from the days when trainers were primarily responsible for taping injuries and sending players back into the game.

Responsibilities of collegiate athletic trainers have become more specific due to a change in the number of injuries being recognized and treated, said Todd Toriscelli, K-State's head athletic trainer.

"The number of injuries occurring hasn't necessarily changed," Toriscelli said.

The primary responsibilities of athletic trainers are to prevent, recognize, treat and rehabilitate athletes' injuries, he said.

These responsibilities have taken on new importance as athletes' performance abilities have improved.

"The athletes are becoming bigger, stronger and faster. Athletic trainers have to be prepared to treat the injuries that occur as athletes' abilities change," Toriscelli said.

Much of the job relies on communication, whether it be with the athletes, coaches or doctors, he said.

"If you can't communicate with people in this business you won't survive," he said.

Consultation with doctors and coaches occurs regularly to determine the best way to treat and rehabilitate injuries.

Many things must be considered when making decisions about an athlete's playing status, including the athlete's reaction to the injury, the ability of the athlete and what point of the season or off-season the injury occurs, Toriscelli said.

Athletic trainers must be certified nationally by the National Athletic Training Association.

A staff composed of Toriscelli, three full-time assistant trainers, two graduate assistants and approximately 20 students involved in an undergraduate athletic training program are available to the 303 athletes at K-State.

The undergraduate program allows students interested in athletic training as a career to get hands-on experience in working with the training staff and the athletes, Toriscelli said.

They do not diagnose injuries but follow through with the instructions issued by the certified athletic trainers, Toriscelli said.

Jill Maendele, senior in exercise science, has been involved with the program for three semesters. She said her career goal is to be a collegiate athletic trainer and that the experience she has gotten from the opportunities offered through the program has been beneficial.

"I learn so much every day," she said. "It's like we're in class the whole time we're at work. When you work with a sport it's a full-time job."

Their specific responsibilities vary depending on the sport they are working with, she said.

"Sports like football take up more time and energy because there are so many athletes to treat," she said.

She said the program at K-State is particularly strong because it allows female student trainers to work with sports such as football. This is beneficial because the female student trainers are able to treat injuries that they will be expected to treat in their future careers.

"I see this as an advantage because we are not kept from treating injuries seen on the football field," she said.

Lady Cats finally back in Bramlage

JENIFER SCHEIBLER
Sports Reporter

Home sweet home.

The Lady Cats, now 2-1 in conference play and 9-5 overall, return from a five-game road trip to face the Iowa State Lady Cyclones at 2 p.m. Saturday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Lady Cat coach Susan Yow said she is anticipating her team's return to its home floor.

"You feel better playing at home," Yow said.

She said she would like the home crowd to have the opportunity to see the Lady Cats play well.

"We are a much better team than we were a month ago," she said.

Although this is Yow's first season in the Big Eight, four years of coaching at Drake University, an intrastate rival of Iowa State, left her no stranger to playing the Lady Cyclones.

"I think they will play hard here," Yow said. "We'll have to be waiting for them and not ease up."

The contest opens a three-game homestand for the Lady Cats, currently in a four-way tie for first place in the Big Eight.

All three games are against conference opponents, which makes it a key mid-season series for the team.

Yow said it is important for the Lady Cats to take the homestand one game at a time.

She attributes this to the amount of parity in the conference.

"I think night in and night out, anyone could beat anyone," she said. "There could be all sorts of upsets if you don't keep your head on."

Reaching the mid-point of the season means evaluation and goal setting.

Yow said she is pleased with the team's performance at this point, but there are improvements to be made.

"We're not even close to peaking," Yow said. "We've got to keep climbing the ladder."

A facet of the game Yow would like to see an improvement in is offensive execution.

"I think our shooting needs to be better than it is," she said. "We are missing too many shots in the paint."

For Yow, team improvement is an on-going expectation.

"I'd love to see a lot of improvement between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15," she said.

Yow mentioned competitive practices, good bench play and strong leadership by seniors as team strengths.

Two of those seniors, Diana Miller and Nadira Hazim, lead the team in scoring going into Saturday's game. Miller is averaging 19.7 points a contest, while Hazim is coming off a 23-point game against Missouri to average 16.3 points per contest.

Often feeding the ball to Miller and Hazim is Lady Cat point guard, Mary Jo Miller, the current Big Eight assist leader with 88.

"She's playing a beautiful floor game for us," Yow said.

'Cats hit road for key conference tilt

Teams searching for 1st victory

DAVID SVOBODA
Sports Editor

If there ever was a "must" game, this may be it.

The men's basketball team, off to an 0-2 conference start for the first time since 1985, travels to Ames, Iowa, Saturday for a 7 p.m. contest against Iowa State.

The Cyclones are also 0-2 in the league, and with Missouri off to a 3-0 start, the winner will have started the process of clawing its way back into things, while the loser ...

"We're disappointed at being 0-2, but by the same token, I'm sure our team will bounce back," said K-State coach Dana Altman.

If the Wildcats are indeed to bounce back, Iowa State might be a good place to get things started. K-State has won three of its last four games in Ames, and seven of the last eight games played in the series.

"A little luck goes into it," Altman said of his team's recent success in Hilton Coliseum. "It's a matter of making some plays late. We've had some luck up there, and that's been helpful."

More important than the simple notion of getting a win over Iowa State is the idea of gaining a conference road triumph.

But make no mistake, this game is just one of 12 important ones the 'Cats, 9-5 overall, will face over the remainder of the Big Eight schedule.

"All of them are important," said senior Steve Fritz. "This is just one more in a series of important games."

Iowa State, 6-12 overall, is led by senior center Victor Alexander. Alexander was a preseason all-conference selection.

"Victor Alexander is a great scorer," Altman said. "When he gets his hands on the ball, he knows what to do with it."

In an attempt to match up with Alexander, K-State could start both Maurice Brittan and John Rettiger for a second straight contest.

Rettiger replaced Wylie Howard in the starting five for the UMKC contest, and responded with 10 points, six rebounds and a blocked shot.

The pairing of the two centers on the floor gives K-State some defensive advantages, Altman said.

"We needed some board strength, and John was hitting the boards pretty well," he said. "The two together maybe give us our best defensive ballclub."

It's at the defensive end of the floor that the Wildcats are currently doing their best work, Altman said.

"Defensively, we're doing some things that we're kind of proud of," he said.

K-State ranks second nationally — behind Georgetown — in field goal percentage defense. But the offensive end of the floor is another story, Altman said.

"Offensively, we're behind where I thought we'd be," he said. "We have people step up at different times, but no one has consistently ... except maybe Jeff Wires."

Wires has taken over as the K-State floor leader, having canned the game-winning shot at Wichita State, and being given the opportunity to tie the game and send it into overtime against Missouri with a shot at the buzzer.

After the Iowa State contest, the Wildcats will return home Monday for an 8:05 tilt with UMKC. The 'Cats downed the Kangaroos 76-62 Tuesday in Kansas City.

Barrett returns to program

DAVID SVOBODA
Sports Editor

Mr. K-State has come home.

Ernie Barrett, University athletic director from 1969-1975 and an All-American basketball star for the Wildcats in 1951, has been named Director of Major Gifts for the athletic department.

In announcing the appointment, athletic director Steve Miller said Barrett's largest role would be working with the department's portion of the Essential Edge Campaign. The athletic department's portion of the campaign has a goal of $15 million.

Barrett said he is happy to be once again employed by his alma mater.

"I'm naturally very excited about the opportunity to come back to Kansas State," said Barrett, who will work out of his home in Wichita, but will also spend working days each month in Manhattan. "I appreciate very much the opportunity Steve Miller has given me."

Barrett had spent the past six months as a consultant to the department, and resigned his post as Vice President of Marketing at Chief Drilling Company in Wichita to come on board full time.

He said the major thrust of his position — fundraising — will require extensive travel.

"Even when I was director of athletics, I spent a major portion of my time — probably 80 percent — traveling in an attempt to raise funds for the department," Barrett said. "This will be no different."

When he was inducted into the Kansas State Sports Hall of Fame last October, Barrett spoke of his vision for the future of K-State athletics. It's a vision he will now have an active role in seeing the department attempt to realize.

"One of my major thrusts will involve getting Kansas State a solid system of endowed scholarships," he said. "That will help enhance the services we can provide student athletes, and will assist in providing a base for consistent success and stability."

Barrett also listed facility improvements — to the KSU Stadium press box and the Brandberry Indoor Complex — as other short-term goals.

Scott
Paske

Sports Reporter

Here's a big helping of food for thought before you bury your nose much deeper into the sports page ...

One thing that makes the United States so great is that even though war exists, it's been a long time since our home soil was bathed in the blood of battle victims.

Thus, many facets of everyday American life — like the sports world — roll on.

The diversion caused by the Persian Gulf crisis certainly overshadows, but doesn't totally eliminate jump shots, slam dunks and touch-downs. It's safe to say priorities are being rearranged accordingly, no matter what a person's position is regarding recent events.

So let's roll.

I've tossed around the idea of calling for K-State coach Dana Altman to take a lie detector test. Before Christmas, Altman couldn't escape from one of his weekly press conferences without analyzing the Wildcats' pursuit of a fifth-straight NCAA Tournament appearance.

At Altman's conference Thursday, the topic was like a fatal disease.

"We're not even thinking about that," Altman said. "We're just worrying about playing one game, and seeing how well we'll do."

So, Coach, I think you've led us to a potentially logical question: When does a college coach become concerned with those four letters (NCAA)?

To be one of college basketball's 64 elite teams this year, a win at Iowa State Saturday would put a much needed feather in K-State's postseason hat.

Especially since the hat has blown off in the 'Cats' first two Big Eight Conference games.

"We're going to have to make one up somewhere," Altman said. "I don't know if this one has to be it, but we're going to have to at some point and time."

Delaying the process wouldn't appear to be beneficial. The home team in Big Eight games has lost only once during the first two rounds of play. That was Nebraska's 74-69 win at K-State two weeks ago.

But wouldn't K-State stand a pretty good chance at Hilton Coliseum, a place it has won three of the last four games against a team that is 6-12 this year?

"All of them are chances," Altman said. "We've had some luck up there, and that's been helpful."

Hopefully, the good fortune will be waiting in Ames, Iowa, again Saturday. Last season, Askia Jones dropped a 3-point, buzzer-beater on the Cyclones for a 93-90 overtime win.

Iowa State's Justus Thigpen contributed to K-State's good time, missing two free throws at the end of regulation that left the game tied.

The way many of the league's teams have improved this year, it's tough to label many of the 'Cats' remaining contests as easy wins. Fore-casting a final regular-season record would likely produce a variety of answers, including many below the NCAA's cutoff point for wins.

It's likely that K-State will have to pull off a couple of those (pardon me, Mitch Holthus) "big, big, big, big wins" like it did last year to secure its spot in the postseason show.

But if the 'Cats don't win Saturday, their record will be 9-6 — the same as last year through 15 games. Hope won't totally vanish.

Computer fails, hinders drop/add

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

A computer breakdown early Thursday morning has caused late registration and drop/add appointments to grind to a halt.

Thursday at 12:20 p.m., an internal part of the central processing unit failed causing the entire system to fail, said Jay Alloway, operating systems specialist.

The central processing unit, or CPU, is located in the basement of Farrell Library. It controls all academic and faculty systems which includes enrollment and payroll, Alloway said.

Registrar Don Foster said the breakdown has forced him to make changes in the late registration process.

Foster said students who had appointments to drop/add on Thursday and had their appointment cards marked will be handled first today. Students with early Friday morning appointments would be shuffled to later this afternoon.

Only the Thursday appointments and part of the Friday appointments are expected to be completed by the end of today, he said. The rest would be handled on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in Willard Hall.

"That's based on the assumption that the computers will be running Friday," Foster said.

Alloway said he would not place too high of a bet on that occurring.

"We've been about two hours away from a fix all day (Thursday)," he said. "It's really a bad time for this to happen. Computer work is a waiting game."

The internal part that failed was in charge of telling the CPU how to run itself.

'God's Trombone' to show in honor of King's birthday

DAVE PRITCHARD
Collegian Reporter

The Ebony Theatre Company and United Black Voices will combine talents to present James Weldon Johnson's "God's Trombone" at 3:30 p.m. Jan. 21 in All Faiths Chapel.

The play is in celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday and is a tribute to the African-American preacher.

Music, dance and six sermons taken from the Bible, including "The Prodigal Son" and "Let My People Go," will be performed.

Shirlyn Henry, senior in theater and artistic director of the production, said the play was originally written as poetry and has been made into a dramatization.

Henry has been involved with the Ebony Theatre Company for four years. She said the group strives to bring in theater as well as non-theater majors, and teach students about culture through the plays performed.

Holiday Express SPRING BREAKIN'

Call
1-800-235-TRIP

- ★ Cancun ★
- ★ Puerto Vallarta ★
- ★ Acapulco ★
- ★ Winter Park ★

— from $389 —

COME TO THE BANK UNDER THE BIG BLUE SIGN

There's plenty for students at First National Bank and Trust—the bank under the big blue sign. We've got

Guaranteed Student Loans

Lender ID# 831838

Student Checking with

—No minimum balance

—Free ATM card

—$3.50 a month fee for up to 30 transactions

We're an equal opportunity lender and the bank you can turn to for all your student financial needs.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST

A SERVICE COMPANY

2700 ANKERSON

MANHATTAN, KS 66502

MEMBER FDIC

A BUNYON BANK

Perspectives Optical Dispensary & Lab

We Make The Best
and
Repair The Rest

300 Poyntz

Downtown Manhattan

539-5105

OPERA WAREHAM HOUSE

... PRESENTS ...

Homestead Grays

Friday Night
Doors Open 8-2
$5/person

410 Poyntz Avenue

for reservations: (913) 537-8646

Harry's Uptown

Party Coming Up?

Call the

MOBILE MUSIC MACHINE

Professional Mobile DJ Service featuring local radio personalities

•Variety of music including the latest releases

•Rates starting at $125

Keep Your Party Pumpin'! 776-7240

K-State Fans!! You "Win" When The Wildcats Win!

When K-State beats UMKC, on Monday
The Point Spread
Is Your Discount
At Our Post-Game

Victory Party!!

If the Wildcats win by 15 points, you'll receive a 15 percent discount, if they win by 30, it'll be 30 percent, etc.

(Limit 2 items per person, maximum 50% discount)

Did you get your 17% discount after the 81-64 victory over Lamar?

SEE YOU AFTER THE GAME!

OPEN
11 A.M.-11 P.M.
Daily; Noon to
11 P.M. Sundays

I Can't Believe It's
Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

Neutiles Towers
in Aggieville
MANHATTAN
Phone 537-1616

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

The computer didn't work Thursday.

The schedule for Drop-Add Friday is:

First Priority—Students with validated Thursday Appointments

Second Priority—Students with Friday Appointments

Third Priority—Students with Wednesday/Thursday non-validated Appointments

00130	03550	05770	12110	08810	10390	11530	14090	15210	19130	20740	23290	25090	26700	30190	33610	36250
00390	03570	05810	12130	08830	10410	11550	14100	15220	19140	20750	23310	25100	26720	30210	33630	36260
00580	03580	05820	12140	08840	10420	11560	14110	15230	19150	20760	23320	25110	26730	30220	33640	36270
00900	03600	05900	12150	08850	10430	11570	14120	15240	19160	20770	23330	25120	26740	30230	33650	36280
00980	03610	05910	12160	08860	10440	11580	14130	15250	19170	20780	23340	25130	26750	30240	33660	36290
01050	03620	05920	12170	08870	10450	11590	14140	15260	19180	20790	23350	25140	26760	30250	33670	36300
01120	03630	05930	12180	08880	10460	11600	14150	15270	19190	20800	23360	25150	26770	30260	33680	36310
01151	03720	05970	12180	08870	10450	11590	14140	15260	19180	20790	23350	25140	26760	30250	33670	36300
01160	03800	05980	12190	08890	10470	11610	14170	15290	19210	20820	23380	25170	26790	30280	33710	36330
01260	03810	06020	12200	08900	10480	11620	14180	15300	19220	20830	23390	25180	26800	30290	33720	36340
01270	03840	06040	12210	08910	10490	11630	14190	15310	19230	20840	23400	25190	26810	30300	33730	36350
01310	03950	06200	12230	08930	10510	11650	14210	15330	19250	20860	23420	25210	26830	30320	33750	36370
01320	04150	06250	12240	08940	10520	11660	14220	15340	19260	20870	23430	25220	26840	30330	33760	36380
01330	04240	06260	12250	08950	10530	11670	14230	15350	19270	20880	23440	25230	26850	30340	33770	36390
01340	04300	06270	12260	08960	10540	11680	14240	15360	19280	20890	23450	25240	26860	30350	33780	36400
01390	04340	06340	12270	08970	10550	11690	14250	15370	19290	20900	23460	25250	26870	30360	33790	36410
01400	04360	06380	12280	08980	10560	11700	14260	15380	19300	20910	23470	25260	26880	30370	33800	36420
01410	04370	06390	12290	08990	10570	11710	14270	15390	19310	20920	23480	25270	26890	30380	33810	36430
01420	04380	06400	12300	09000	10580	11720	14280	15400	19320	20930	23490	25280	26900	30390	33820	36440
01430	04390	06410	12310	09010	10590	11730	14290	15410	19330	20940	23500	25290	26910	30400	33830	36450
01440	04400	06420	12320	09020	10600	11740	14300	15420	19340	20950	23510	25300	26920	30410	33840	36460
01450	04410	06430	12330	09030	10610	11750	14310	15430	19350	20960	23520	25310	26930	30420	33850	36470
01460	04420	06440	12340	09040	10620	11760	14320	15440	19360	20970	23530	25320	26940	30430	33860	36480
01470	04430	06450	12350	09050	10630	11770	14330	15450	19370	20980	23540	25330	26950	30440	33870	36490
01480	04440	06460	12360	09060	10640	11780	14340	15460	19380	20990	23550	25340	26960	30450	33880	36500
01490	04450	06470	12370	09070	10650	11790	14350	15470	19390	21000	23560	25350	26970	30460	33890	36510
01500	04460	06480	12380	09080	10660	11800	14360	15480	19400	21010	23570	25360	26980	30470	33900	36520
01510	04470	06490	12390	09090	10670	11810	14370	15490	19410	21020	23580	25370	26990	30480	33910	36530
01520	04480	06500	12400	09100	10680	11820	14380	15500	19420	21030	23590	25380	27000	30490	33920	36540
01530	04490	06510	12410	09110	10690	11830	14390	15510	19430	21040	23600	25390	27010	30500	33930	36550
01540	04500	06520	12420	09120	10700	11840	14400	15520	19440	21050	23610	25400	27020	30510	33940	36560
01550	04510	06530	12430	09130	10710	11850	14410	15530	19450	21060	23620	25410	27030	30520	33950	36570
01560	04520	06540	12440	09140	10720	11860	14420	15540	19460	21070	23630	25420	27040	30530	33960	36580
01570	04530	06550	12450	09150	10730	11870	14430	15550	19470	21080	23640	25430	27050	30540	33970	36590
01580	04540	06560	12460	09160	10740	11880	14440	15560	19480	21090	23650	25440	27060	30550	33980	36600
01590	04550	06570	12470	09170	10750	11890	14450	15570	19490	21100	23660	25450	27070	30560	33990	36610
01600	04560	06580	12480	09180	10760	11900	14460	15580	19500	21110	23670	25460	27080	30570	34000	36620
01610	04570	06590	12490	09190	10770	11910	14470	15590	19510	21120	23680	25470	27090	30580	34010	36630
01620	04580	06600	12500	09200	10780	11920	14480	15600	19520	21130	23690	25480	27100	30590	34020	36640
01630	04590	06610	12510	09210	10790	11930	14490	15610	19530	21140	23700	25490	27110	30600	34030	36650
01640	04600	06620	12520	09220	10800	11940	14500	15620	19540	21150	23710	25500	27120	30610	34040	36660
01650	04610	06630	12530	09230	10810	11950	14510	15630	19550	21160	23720	25510	27130	30620	34050	36670
01660	04620	06640	12540	09240	10820	11960	14520	15640	19560	21170	23730	25520	27140	30630	34060	36680
01670	04630	06650	12550	09250	10830	11970	14530	15650	19570	21180	23740	25530	27150	30640	34070	36690
01680	04640	06660	12560	09260	10840	11980	14540	15660	19580	21190	23750	25540	27160	30650	34080	36700
01690	04650	06670	12570	09270	10850	11990	14550	15670	19590	21200	23760	25550	27170	30660	34090	36710
01700	04660	06680	12580	09280	10860	12000	14560	15680	19600	21210	23770	25560	27180	30670	34100	36720
01710	04670	06690	12590	09290	10870	12010	14570	15690	19610	21220	23780	25570	27190	30680	34110	36730
01720	04680	06700	12600	09300	10880	12020	14580	15700	19620	21230	23790	25580	27200	30690	34120	36740
01730	04690	06710	12610	09310	10890	12030	14590	15710	19630	21240	23800	25590	27210	30700	34130	36750
01740	04700	06720	12620	09320	10900	12040	14600	15720	19640	21250	23810	25600	27220	30710	34140	36760
01750	04710	06730	12630	09330	10910	12050	14610	15730	19650	21260	23820	25610	27230	30720	34150	36770
01760	04720	06740	12640	09340	10920	12060	14620	15740	19660	21270	23830	25620	27240	30730	34160	36780
01770	04730	06750	12650	09350	10930	12070	14630	15750	19670	21280	23840	25630	27250	30740	34170	36790
01780	04740	06760	12660	09360	10940	12080	14640	15760	19680	21290	23850	25640	27260	30750	34180	36800
01790	04750	06770	12670	09370	10950	12090	14650	15770	19690	21300	23860	25650	27270	30760	34190	36810
01800	04760	06780	12680	09380	10960	12100	14660	15780	19700	21310	23870	25660	27280	30770	34200	36820
01810	04770	06790	12690	09390	10970	12110	14670	15790	19710	21320	23880	25670	27290	30780	34210	36830
01820	04780	06800	12700	09400	10980	12120	14680	15800	19720	21330	23890	25680	27300	30790	34220	36840
01830	04790	06810	12710	09410	10990	12130	14690	15810	19730	21340	23900	25690	27310	30800	34230	36850
01840	04800	06820	12720	09420	11000	12140	14700	15820	19740	21350	23910	25700	27320	30810	34240	36860
01850	04810	06830	12730	09430	11010	12150	14710	15830	19750	21360	23920	25710	27330	30820	34250	36870
01860	04820	06840	12740	09440	11020	12160	14720	15840	19760	21370	23930	25720	27340	30830	34260	36880
01870	04830	06850	12750	09450	11030	12170	14730	15850	19770	21380	23940	25730	27350	30840	34270	36890
01880	04840	06860	12760	09460	11040	12180	14740	15860	19780	21390	23950	25740	27360	30850	34280	36900
01890	04850	06870	12770	09470	11050	12190	14750	15870	19790	21400	23960	25750	27370	30860	34290	36910
01900	04860	06880	12780	09480	11060	12200	14760	15880	19800	21410	23970	25760	27380	30870	34300	36920
01910	04870	06890	12790	09490	11070	12210	14770	15890	19810	21420	23980	25770	27390	30880	34310	36930
01920	04880	06900	12800	09500	11080	12220	14780	15900	19820	21430	23990	25780	27400	30890	34320	36940
01930	04890	06910	12810	09510	11090	12230	14790	15910	19830	21440	24000	25790	27410	30900	34330	36950
01940	04900	06920	12820	09520	11100	12240	14800	15920	19840	21450	24010	25800	27420	30910	34340	36960
01950	04910	0693

Governor names new Board of Regents member

Community college president to occupy seat; second replacement to be named

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan. — The Board of Regents began discussing Thursday a proposal that would remove two-year community colleges from the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education and place them in the hands of the regents.

The plan, developed by Stanley Koplik, the regents' executive director, would greatly expand the power of the regents, who presently govern the state's six four-year colleges and the Kansas College of Technology in Salina.

Under the proposal, the regents would control 19 two-year colleges. The Board of Education would continue to govern area vocational-technical schools and all public school districts.

"Power is not the issue," Koplik said during the board meeting. "Performance is an issue."

While the proposal would transfer the 19 colleges to the regents, it would not change the way they are financed, which includes a combination of local property taxes and state aid.

In addition, the regents would develop a master plan for post-secondary education to eliminate duplication of services and to distinguish among the missions of the various schools.

Koplik unveiled the proposal at a time when legislators are considering a constitutional amendment that would create a third board to govern community colleges. The regents' offices are across the street from the Capitol.

Supporters of the proposed amendment contend community colleges and area vocational schools will receive the attention they need if a third board is created.

The Special Committee on Economic Development voted last fall to introduce the constitutional amendment. Two-thirds of the Legislature would have to approve it before it would be submitted to voters.

Transferring the 19 community colleges to the Board of Regents would not require a constitutional amendment, Koplik said.

Koplik said creation of a third board would lead to another board, which would provide overall coordination on education issues.

He also said a third board also would fragment post-secondary education even more than it already is, with each board scrambling for money for their own schools.

"Blind advocacy will not work," Koplik said. "It will not work in any sector. Balanced advocacy can work."

However, Regent Shirley Palmer of Fort Scott warned that the regents have a tough sales job ahead of them if they pursue the plan in the Legislature. Many community college officials would rather be under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education, she said.

Koplik said he understands that the two-year schools would be afraid of becoming second-class citizens under the proposal.

Welcome Buck

School days, school days. Good ol' short-on-cash days.

The Kansas State COLLEGIAN has something to ease your cash flow blues. Until Jan. 25, you can save a buck ($1) off any COLLEGIAN Class Ad. If you need an apartment, a roommate, some furniture, a job, or would just like to tell someone, "It's great to see you again," clip the Welcome Buck below and save. Welcome to K-State!

Cost: 1-20 words, 1 day, $4

Deadline: Noon, day before

Hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m. M-F

Where: Kedzie Hall 103

(just east of K-State Union)

All ads must be prepaid unless you have an account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard & Visa accepted.

Welcome Buck

Good for $1 off any prepaid
Collegian Classified Ad

Offer expires Jan. 25, 1991

Delta Upsilon, Alpha Delta Pi, Greek Affairs &
The Association of Residence Halls
present...

Sex, Stress & Alcohol

Nationally renowned speaker Mary Peterson talks frankly on topics of concern to college students.

— Jan. 22 —

Love, Lust & Dating — 2:30 p.m.

Sex, Stress & Alcohol — 7:30 p.m.

— Union • Forum Hall —

Admission is FREE

Co-Sponsors: ATΩ
ΠΒΦ

ΔΣΦ
ΓΦΒ

ΣΚ
ΠΚΑ

STUDENT LOANS

Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!

Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

Sponsor of the Big Eight Body Building Championships
FREE-WEIGHT EQUIPMENT

- Universal Machines
- Exercise Bicycles
- Life Cycle
- Stairmaster
- Weight Training Consultation
- Tanning Beds
- Hot Tub
- Showers and Lockers

SEMESTER SPECIAL $75-GROUP RATES AVAILABLE
Laramie Plaza-Basement 539-7095

Levi's BUYOUT!

$19⁹⁹

DENIM JEANS
SAVE OVER 50% OFF
MALL STORE PRICES!
COMPARE AT $40-45

GUESS

LOGO SWEATSHIRTS $19⁹⁹

A SUPER BUY
AT THIS LOW PRICE!
COMPARE AT $32.

EAST MANHATTAN
114 1/2 East of 1st
near to K-State
OPEN HOURS:
Mon-Fri: 10 am-7 pm
Sat: 10 am-6 pm
Sun: 11 am-5 pm

EAST MANHATTAN
114 1/2 East of 1st
near to K-State
OPEN HOURS:
Mon-Fri: 10 am-7 pm
Sat: 10 am-6 pm
Sun: 11 am-5 pm

DESIGNER AND NAME BRAND FASHIONS FOR LESS!!

Fashion Company

TALENT AUDITIONS

FOR

SINGERS • DANCERS

Worlds of Fun is conducting an audition tour in search of the best in Midwestern talent to appear in our 1991 show program.

If you sing (pop, rock, show tunes), or dance (jazz only), you can earn over $6,000 performing six days per week during the summer, and weekends in the spring and fall. Performers are also needed for the summer only.

"All The World's A Stage" at Worlds of Fun, from our lively 50's-60's rock revue, STAX OF WAX, to the musical spectacular at the Tivoli Music Hall to the hand-clappin', foot-stompin' goodtime country and bluegrass at the Country Junction Amphitheater.

AUDITION INSTRUCTIONS:

If you are a singer, please sing one verse and the chorus of two contrasting styles of song; one up-tempo and one ballad. Sing any type of music you enjoy (rock, gospel, show tune, etc.) If you are a dancer, please prepare a jazz routine. Please limit your material to no more than three minutes in length. (No jobs are available for dramatic actors, or instrumentalists).

You must provide your own accompaniment, whether it be a pianist or a cassette tape. We will provide a cassette deck and a piano.

THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:

- MANHATTAN, KANSAS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 24 at the
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
"K" and "S" Rooms in the K-STATE UNION
3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)
- LAWRENCE, KANSAS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 31 at the
UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS
KANSAS ROOM on Level 6 in the
KANSAS UNION
3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)

For more information and a complete audition schedule, contact the Show Productions Department, Worlds of Fun, 4545 Worlds of Fun Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri, 64161 (816) 454-4545 Ext. 1350

Worlds of Fun
KANSAS CITY

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Views of students split on war issue

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Students supporting President Bush and Operation Desert Storm rallied on the steps of Seaton Hall to protest the anti-war demonstration.

"We should stand behind our president and troops 100 percent," said Paul Kottler, senior in business. "We have tried to solve the crisis diplomatically. We gave (Saddam Hussein) a chance and he broke it, now we will break him."

At times, the mood between the two opposing groups of demonstrators was tense and confrontational.

There were sporadic outbursts, and at times, each group seemed to try drowning the other out with rhetoric.

The supporters of Operation Desert Storm frequently shouted, "Fake peace by storm — support Bush and our troops" as the anti-war demonstrators shouted, "No blood for oil" and "Hell no, we won't go."

"We are here to show that we support Bush," said Sean Cash, junior in political science. "We also support the anti-war demonstrators right to do what they are doing."

Kevin Graham, junior in political science and pre-law, said, "I would like to make it clear to the students that I don't support this so-called peace rally. Sometimes war is what it comes to, to ensure peace for everyone."

Lisa Wight, senior in education, held a sign reading "Take Peace by Storm — Support Bush and our Troops."

"All these protesters want to be in the news," she said. "The decisions have already been made, and our response is to back those decisions."

Shane Ayscue, junior in education and Army National Guard lieutenant based in Fort Riley, said "The war does concern me. We gave (Saddam) every alternative possible to pull out of Kuwait, and he refused to listen."

Pat Bosco, dean of student life, was observing the demonstration on the sidewalk that generally separated the two disparate groups.

Protest

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

"They ain't gonna be takin' just the poor motherfuckers like they did in Vietnam," said Gypsy, another biker. "They're takin' college boys — and there won't be no college deferment."

Gypsy turned to a photographer. "How's you're trigger finger, college boy?"

"I have a lot of brothers over there," Dog said. "I have one by blood, I've got a cousin and I've got a whole bunch of 'brothers.'"

"Hussein is a crazy, psychopathic son-of-a-bitch," he said. "He should be dead — six feet under and pushin' up daisies. We should nuke 'em till they glow and shoot 'em in the dark."

The war protesters were chanting again. "No more war! and 'No blood for oil!" They were preparing to walk through Aggieville and down to the Riley County Courthouse.

Gypsy looked at them, disgusted. "Go on, you pansies," he said under his breath.

"I fought for my country," Gypsy said. "I go anywhere I want to. I sleep wherever I want to. This is my country. You mess with my country, you mess with me. And I'll mess with you all over again."

As the protesters marched down the sidewalk on Poyntz Avenue to the Riley County Courthouse, students from Crum's Beauty College linked arms in a line to block the sidewalk and shouted, "Support Desert Storm! Support Desert Storm!"

The two-block-long line of protesters had to walk around.

Erwin Seba and Jim Struber contributed to this article.

Bush: 'We will prevail'

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Bush condemned Iraq's missile attack on Israel as further aggression, and the White House said bombers from the Desert Storm alliance had been dispatched Thursday night for a fresh wave of air strikes against Iraqi targets.

Military officials said Iraq also had fired a single missile toward allied forces in Saudi Arabia. The missile was intercepted and destroyed, but even so the overnight Iraqi retaliation ended the eerie quiet from Baghdad that followed Wednesday night's commencement of war.

Throughout much of the day, official Washington was expressing unbridled satisfaction with the war effort, and Bush vowed, "We will prevail." But there was a sense that Iraq would eventually come out fighting, and the administration threatened to intensify the campaign against Baghdad if it used chemical or biological weapons.

BUSHWACKER'S
THE FUNDRINKERY

Join Us!

This weekend with

$1 KAMIS

Comedy Invasion

Next Monday,
Tuesday & Wednesday,
with

TAYLOR MASON

Welcome back from

THE BUD FAMILY

6 packs and suitcases
ON SALE NOW

Don't forget . . . January 27

BAYSTREET

AND

THE PIT

FRIDAY

LADIES FREE

Free Burgers 4-7

$1.50 DAIQUIRIS

SATURDAY

No Cover with Student ID

$2.00 PITCHERS

ALL WEEKEND

AUNTIE MAE'S

HOOPLA MANIA

FREE PRE-GAME BUFFET
HOOPLA MANIA DRINK SPECIALS

VS.

UMKC

MONDAY, JAN. 21

LIVE PRE-GAME REMOTE

•FREE DOOR PRIZES
•FREE BUFFET 4:50 - 7:30
•LISTEN TO K-ROCK FOR DETAILS

AUNTIE MAE'S PARLOR, 616 N. 17th STREET, AGGIEVILLE, MANHATTAN

When: JANUARY 17 & 18, 1991

School: KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY

Where: K-STATE UNION COURTYARD

Time: 10 A.M. TO 4 P.M.

Pick A Winner!

Zenith Data Systems invites you to see what all the excitement is on campus. Come see our award winning portable computers as well as the most powerful desktop computers in the college market today. Plus there will be plenty of prizes and lots of fun for everyone. Ask about our special education discounts of up to 40%-50%. So come to the campus show and let us help you to choose a winner with Zenith Data Systems!

ZENITH
data systems

Groupe Bull

K-State Union
Bookstore

SUPPORT THE K-STATE UNION. YOUR DOLLARS HELP THE UNION SPONSOR STUDENT SERVICES, PROGRAMS AND ACTIVITIES.

DANCE PERFORMANCE AUDITIONS

TUES, JAN 22nd

5:30 P.M.

304 AHEARN Gym

No PREPARATION NEEDED

In observance of the birthday of
Dr. Martin Luther King,
Lafene Health Center
will be closed
Monday, January 21, 1991.

Limited staff will be on duty for minor medical emergencies.

8 am to Midnight

Lafene Health Center

The Spot

Home of the 60 oz. pitcher

Fri. & Sat.
$1.50 Wells
$3 Pitchers
No Cover Before 9 p.m.

702 N. 11th 776-0077
Aggieville, USA

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

New Donors
Earn $15 Cash on your First Donation!!
(If you haven't donated in the last 2 months, you qualify.)

the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
Coupon required for Special. Open M-F

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

DO THESE
KEEP COSTING YOU
MORE?

PAY 25% LESS FOR VARNEY'S USED BOOKS

Save at Varney's with their used textbooks. All are marked 25% off the new price. Plus our sales assistants will be glad to help you find the books and supplies you need. And if you have a special order will be glad to hold it for you. Save today with Varney's used books.

Varney's
BOOK STORE
IN AGGIEVILLE

623 N. Manhattan Avenue • 539-0511

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

1 Announcements

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs—skincare—glamor—nails—gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

LAST CALL! Applications for the 1991 Miss Manhattan—K-State are due Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. For information, call 776-6467, 537-2667.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

ROOM, PRIVATE bath and board, $200 (negotiable). Females only. 539-1656 or 539-8705.

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks. Monday through Sunday. $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

Illssa Wedding Gown

Never been worn or altered.
In original bag. White taffeta,
Cathedral length, size 8.
$1000 dress selling for $750/best offer
Call Elizabeth at 1-437-3744 for details.

SPRING BREAK

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH 7 NIGHTS from $119*

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $129*

STEAMBOAT 2, 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $96*

FORT LAUDERDALE 7 NIGHTS from $137*

PANAMA CITY BEACH 7 NIGHTS from $124*

CORPUS CHRISTI / MUSTANG ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $108*

HILTON HEAD ISLAND 5 AND 7 NIGHTS from $112*

CALL TOLL FREE TODAY

1-800-321-5911

*Dependent on break dates and length of stay.

Spring Break

WELCOME BACK!

Put the COLOR back into your life with us!

- NEW BULBS
- NEW ACCELERATORS
- WELCOME BACK SPECIALS
- WOLFF SYSTEM EQUIPMENT

The most trusted name in tanning
SOUTHERN SUN-TROPICAL TAN

519 N. 12th 776-8060
1814 Claflin (above Charlie's) 537-0744
Your year-round Wolff system centers.

Sun Connection
limit one per customer
1 FREE SESSION
Good thru Jan. 18, 1991

Check out our re-opening specials.

1126 Laramie, Aggieville
Manhattan, Ks. (913)776-2426

2 Apartments—Furnished

CLOSE TO campus/ Aggieville. Nice three-bedroom, two-bath. Reasonable rent. 539-4641.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM in quiet, well-maintained complex available now. Carpet, paid heat, nice furnishings, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

NICE LARGE one-bedroom apartment, water, trash, gas, two-thirds paid, laundromat. Nice for couple or graduate student, $260. 539-2482 after 4p.m.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-2956.

ONE-BEDROOM, BASEMENT, no children, no pets, 537-1901.

ONE-BEDROOM BASEMENT apartment, private entrance and drive, one block from campus, free cable, laundry. Non-smoker, one person only. 539-1636 after 5p.m.

ONE-BEDROOM UPSTAIRS apartment, close to campus. Water, trash and gas paid. $200. 537-0726.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

1019 HOUSTON. Large three-bedroom. Near City Park. Full basement. Solar hot water. $450. Jerry 776-7842.

AVAILABLE NOW, two bedrooms, one and one-half bath. Spacious basement apartment. $360/monthly. Call Amy at 537-0566.

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry, $360. 539-6304.

0 BLOCKS to campus from quiet, well-maintained, large one-bedroom. Available now with balcony, dishwasher, storage. Prefer professional person. Year lease. $295. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. No pets. Water, trash paid, $390. 537-3758.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Washer/dryer, available immediately. Call 776-0981.

SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a half, good female roommate, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7087 for information, 537-9376 roommate's number. Available now.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park, 537-8555 or 537-8065.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU, $280. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, $350, plus utilities. Two-bedroom apartment. Both close to campus. 776-9140.

1019 HOUSTON. Nice one-bedroom studio. Main floor. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Jerry, 776-7842.

IMMEDIATE POSSESSION, one-bedroom, 600 Osage. $195/month plus deposit. No pets. 776-6640.

ONE-BEDROOM FOR $225, everything paid. Laundry and much more. Very nice. 539-1288.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.

1970 FORD Galaxy, automatic, 45K, great first car, $750. 532-6131.

1972 FORD pickup, good condition, must sell, $1,000 or best offer. Call 537-0253.

1982 CAMARO, runs great, $2,750. Call 776-3681, ask for Doug.

1982 TOYOTA Tercel, runs excellent, 134K miles, tan, AMFM cassette, five-speed, air conditioning, $995 or best offer. 539-7491.

1984 FORD Tempo, $1,800. Call 537-8028.

1986 OLDSMOBILE Cutlassiera, two-door, power windows, air conditioned, $5,000. Also, 1982 Yamaha 650 Maxim. Make offer. 537-1038, Kevin.

FOR SALE: 1979 Pontiac Sunbird—blue. Good condition. Low mileage. $500. 532-5452.

6 Child Care

NANNIES. EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

B-W VGA monitor, $135. 12" Magnavox monitor. 539-6404.

IBM-PC 256K, dual drives, internal Hayes 1200B, RGB monitor. Accepting offers. Will sell by 1-24-91 or reject all offers. (913)265-4663.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ALGEBRA MATH Tutor wanted for 8th grade students, 12:30—1:30p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, $5 an hour. Contact Manhattan Catholic Schools, 537-0533.

ASSISTANT TEACHERS part-time, Position 1 Tuesday and Thursday, noon—2:30p.m. Position 2 Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, approximately 11a.m.—3p.m. Must have experience with groups of young children. Apply at Seven Dolores Childcare Pre-school, 220 S. Juliette by Jan. 23.

COUNSELORS/ SUMMER children's camps/ Northeast—top salary. Room/ board/ laundry/ travel allowance. Must have skill in one of the following activities: Archery, crafts, baseball, basketball, bicycling, dance, drama, drums, fencing, football, golf, guitar, gymnastics, hockey, horseback-English, juggling, Karate, Lacrosse, nature, photography, piano, rockery, rollerblading, ropes, sailing, sailing, scuba, soccer, track, waterski, weights, wood. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday, Jan. 31 Student Union building rooms 202 and 203 from 11a.m. to 5p.m.

(Continued on page 11)

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS
BEADS
BEADS

Thousands of beads,
crystals, and all the
supplies you need.

1124 Moro 11-6 Mon.-Sat.
Aggieville 539-0360

MCCAIN

Daniel McKelway
and Friends
Mozart: Music for Winds

Friday, February 1, 8 p.m.
Here's an antidote for Poison: Take two Mozart Serenades and the Overture to the Marriage of Figaro; sit back and enjoy.

Join Avery Fisher Career Award-winning clarinetist Daniel McKelway and a dozen of his friends for an evening of wind music that will show you why Salieri was so jealous of Mozart.

With student prices 1/2 what the general public pays, a ticket to Mozart is just what the doctor ordered.

Students/Children: $7.50
Senior Citizens: $13.00
General Public: $15.00

Orchestra level seating

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Auditorium box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also available at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

This program is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support has been provided by the Friends of McCain, Union National Bank and Trust Company, and the Fine Arts Fee.

MCCAIN

Susan Marshall and Company

Thursday, January 24, 8 p.m.
The moves of this 8-member ensemble will take you to the cutting edge of dance. Witty, sexy, and certifiably cool. And to think you shelled out five bucks for Dirty Dancing. Fresh from a critically acclaimed run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, Susan Marshall and Company bring to K-State two outstanding works.

Arms (1984) focuses on an intricate and accelerating interplay of arms to reveal a man and a woman's growing interdependence and increasing unity.

"As crystalline a dance image as you could hope for." (The Village Voice)

Contenders (1990) was inspired by the 1988 Summer Olympics and takes a look at the game of life as Americans play it: with a headlong drive for individual distinction and achievement.

"This judge would score Contenders 5.7 out of 6. Rah, and bravo!" (Newsday)

Students/Children: $7.50, 6.50, 5
General Public: $15, 13, 10
Senior Citizens: $13, 11, 8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dance on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts with the Kansas Arts Commission. Additional support from the Fine Arts Fee.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

(Continued from page 10)

ACCOMPANIST NEEDED—Dance Program—KSU. Must be available Monday and Wednesday, 1-2:30p.m. Call 532-6887, ask for Dina. Pay involved.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXPERIENCED WRITERS wanted: Journalism and Agriculture majors preferred. Send resume and sample work to Collegian Box 3, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506 by Jan. 22.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 Ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS—All branches U.S. Customs, DEA, etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS, All branches, U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS, All branches, U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

NATIONAL MARKETING firm seeks mature student to manage on-campus promotions for top companies this school year. Flexible hours with earnings potential to $2,500 per semester. Must be organized, hardworking and money motivated. Call Lena at (800)592-2121 Ext. 115.

PART-TIME SECRETARY. Will be typing, answering of telephone, light bookkeeping. Must have a pleasant personality and the ability to deal with the public in a positive manner. Hours 7:30—10:30a.m. Monday through Friday. Send resume and three references to Seven Dolors Childcare Pre-School, 220 S. Juliette by Jan. 25.

SPECIAL POPULATIONS Instructor/Supervisor—The City of Manhattan has an opening for a special populations instructor/supervisor. Knowledge of handicapped/disabled individuals and background in therapeutic recreation or special education. Position is part-time, $5.50/hour. Apply at the Personnel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz by Jan. 28, 1991.

NEED A job? Are you hard-working and dependable? Vista Drive In is hiring for full- and part-time help. Apply in person.

STUDENT to work 20 hours beginning immediately and possibly continuing through summer, fall and spring. Need someone with flexibility to work during holidays. Preference to person with knowledge of WordPerfect 5.1 on Zenith computer and someone available during lunch hours, noon—1p.m. Responsibilities include telephone answering, word processing, filing, use of dictation equipment, making appointments, and a variety of other office duties. Contact Dorothy Smith at 532-5942 or stop by the office of the Vice President for Institutional Advancement, 122 Anderson Hall to pick up an application. Starting salary $3.80/hour. Deadline for application is Jan. 23.

SUCCESSFUL UNDERGRADUATES are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center to serve as Learning Skills Seminar Leaders during fall semester 1991. Specific duties include: 1) leading a section of the Learning Skills Seminar which introduces freshmen to the academic skills and techniques necessary to achieve academic success; 2) leading a study session in a social science or mathematics class; 3) attending the class which corresponds to the study session; and 4) attending and participating in weekly staff meetings. We are looking for applicants who feel confident in their ability to be a student role-model, are committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach others how to learn, are able to relate to many types of people, and have a solid grade point average (especially in the social sciences or mathematics). A time commitment of 10-12 hours per week will be required during fall 1991 at a salary of $750 for the semester. Students who are selected for the position must successfully complete a training class, EDAP 311 Guidance for the Paraprofessional, for 3 hours of academic credit. If you are interested in the position, contact the Academic Assistance Center in Holton 101 or call 532-6492 for further information.

SUMMER IN THE Rockies! The Trail Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado! Positions available in Retail Sales and Food Service—contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517 (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities!

SWIMMING JOBS (WSI)—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children to swim, swim team, beautiful pool and lakes in the northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11a.m. to 5p.m.

TENNIS JOBS—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children in the Northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11a.m. to 5p.m.

THE CITY of Manhattan, Kansas is seeking a part-time Project Planner. This position prepares research and special studies for various Planning Division projects. Starting salary $8/hour. Send resume and cover letter to the Director of Human Resources/Personnel, P.O. Box 748, Manhattan, Kansas 66502. Apply by Jan. 30, 1991.

UNIVERSITY CHRISTIAN Church Bible study group looking for creative, caring babysitters for infants and pre-schoolers, Thursday 9:30—11a.m., $4 per hour, must have transportation and references. If interested call Karen at 776-2248.

WANTED: 85 people who want to lose weight! We will pay you to lose 10-29 pounds in 30 days. Call Jeff at 537-9817.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

HAVE three-foot high refrigerator $100 or best offer. Also wedding set $250 or best offer. Please call or stop by: 1-238-2961 after 5p.m. 127 Belmont, Junction City, KS.

REFRIGERATOR for sale. Great for dorm. 33"x22"x20", $50 or best offer. Call 539-0871.

USED FURNITURE
Couches, chairs, pots and pans. Lamps, refrigerators, stoves, washers, clothes, hats, knick-knacks and collectables—your name it.

Grandma's Trunk Thrift Shop
1304 Pillsbury Dr.
(1/4 Mile South over viaduct)
OPEN 10-6 Mon-Sat.
537-2273

WOHLER'S USED furniture and appliances. 615 N. Third, 539-3119. Hours 1 to 5p.m. Saturday and Sunday 8 to 9p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Furnish your apartment or house. Come in and browse.

12 Houses for Rent
1011 Laramie, first floor is open for second semester. Two-bedroom, great environment. Enjoy college life. 539-3672 evenings.

14 Lost and Found
FOUND—CALCULATOR and pen set in Throckmorton. 539-8484 after 10p.m.
FOUND: COSTUME jewelry pin. Found in front of Ward Hall. Come by Kedzie 103 to identify.
FOUND in Union parking lot. White and gray puppy. Patch over left eye. One blue eye and one brown eye. Bright lime green collar. Call 776-1552.
FOUND: JEAN jacket at AC/DC concert. Row 9 on the floor. Call to identify, 537-2561.
FOUND—LADIES gloves on Jan. 14. Claim in Kedzie 103.

15 Meetings/Events
PEACE VIGIL, 4p.m. Sundays, St. Isidore's Catholic Chapel, corner of Anderson and Denison. Everyone is welcome!

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale
MOUNTAIN BIKE—Jazz Flipside, designed by Trek. Brand New! Jet Tec seat, etc... First $300 or best offer takes! 539-2009.
TREK 830 15-inch frame, brand new, $400. Call Julie 532-2078 after 6p.m.

Motorcycle Supply
January Specials
All T-Shirts $10—Free Sale
1221 Moro
Black Cat on Hoxley • 776-6177

19 Music/Musicians
DRUMSET BLACK Yamaha five-piece, 12", 13", 16" toms, 22" Bass Zildjian A 16" Crash, 18" Crash-Ride 14" Hi-hat, 1 Boom and 1 straight cymbal stand, snare stand, Hi-hat stand. $900. Ludwig Concert snare with stand, case, practice pad $200. Call 532-5427.
ESTABLISHED HARD rock band is auditioning lead and rhythm guitarists. Paying gigs. Stage experience and vocal ability a plus. 539-3334, leave message.

Hayes House of Music
Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks
Buy one set, get second set for half price
327 Poyntz 776-7983

21 Personals
We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.
DANNY—HAPPY Birthday! Year 19 was okay, but Year 20 will be great! I love you, Beth.
LINDA—DUM-TO-BE. Happy 25th Birthday! It's not as bad as it is—you're just a year older. Love, Vic.
MARK—HAVE a great 21st! And don't forget to "pass the bacon!" Best wishes this year and always! B&C.
RP—YOU are a dream come true. How many more months are you up for? Happy Anniversary—PR.
TO THE girl with a smile, Whom I have thought of for quite a while, Your fragrance was pleasing. So please quit your teasing. You accuse me of not thinking. You must be drinking. I would like a better clue. So I can find you. Signed: The Guy With The Wave.
TRI SIGMA Joyce—Will soon have the drink of her choice. She'll be hitting the 'ville, she'll be a thrill Saturday's the day she'll be 21! Your Florida-bound friends.

23 Resume/Typing Service
ALL RESUMES are not created equal. Be sure yours is the best possible by taking advantage of our many years experience working with employers. Limited time—cover letter costs only $5 with purchase of resume service. Career Development Services—776-1229.
LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/letters/resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

24 Roommate Wanted
$170, ONE-HALF utilities, own bedroom, washer/dryer. Call after 8p.m. 776-1302.
A GOOD roommate needed for two studyholic! January free, own room, washer/dryer, $195. Call Scott at 537-1098.
CHEAP UTILITIES: Female roommate needed. $150/month, one and one-half blocks east of campus. January rent free! 537-0630 or 537-0815.
FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate needed, $131 a month plus one-third utilities, water paid. Close to campus. 537-4634.
FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate, off-campus. 776-1281 after 7p.m., ask for Chris.
FEMALE, OWN room. One block from campus, washer/dryer. $125/month, one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.
FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted to share two-bedroom apartment with another girl. Effective as soon as possible. Call 776-5476.
FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Woodway Apartments. $175 month plus one-third utilities. Own room. Call 537-4966.
FEMALE ROOMMATE needed, two-bedroom, own room, $160/month. Close to Aggieville and campus. Christine, 532-6361 or 539-6303 after 5p.m.
FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for sublease, $148.66 per month plus electricity, 776-1720.
FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share cheap apartment close to campus, one-third utilities. Call 537-2267 after 5p.m.
FREE JANUARY—February rent to non-smoking female roommate for two-bedroom. Directly off campus, rent negotiable. Respond to Collegian Box 2.
HELP!! AVAILABLE immediately, bedroom for one or two females, $197 or $131 respectively. Ask for Heather 539-2301 Ext. 306.
MALE CHRISTIAN roommate. No deposit required. Private room with cable. Fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer. Bus service to campus from Brittnay Ridge. $195. Call Bob at 537-8048.
MALE OR FEMALE, 516 N. 14th, $185 month plus utilities. Own bedroom, 537-4510, Carlos. One and one-half blocks from campus.
MALE ROOMMATE, Private room with cable. Fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer. No deposit required. Bus service to campus from Brittnay Ridge. $200. Call 537-0472.
MALE ROOMMATE to share apartment close to campus. Phone 539-8608.
MALE ROOMMATE needed to share large two-bedroom apartment for the spring semester only. $150 plus utilities, across the street from campus. 537-4637.
MATURE ROOMMATE to share nice two-bedroom apartment at University Garden. $162.50/month plus one-half utilities. 539-1880 evenings or leave a message.
NEEDING ONE, two or three roommates, Brittnay Ridge. 776-4992, serious student.
NEED QUIET, sober, non-smoking person to share three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $150 month. 1222 (Apt. #1) Blumont. Stop by.
NON-SMOKER, OWN room in nice two-bedroom apartment. $202.50 plus one-half utilities. Shuttle to campus available. Beginning Feb. 1. Call soon! 776-9079.
NON-SMOKING FEMALE roommate, one block from campus and Aggieville, own room, $160 rent plus utilities. Call 539-1572 for more information.
NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share a house. 539-1298.
ONE FEMALE non-smoker to share furnished house with washer and dryer, $150 per month. 537-7769.
ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house close to campus. $160/month plus one-third utilities. Must be quiet, clean, non-smoker and like pets. Call 537-8550.
ROOMMATES WANTED, $150 per month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 537-0635.
ROOM WITH Christian male. Two-bedroom furnished house. Washer and dryer, six blocks northwest of campus. $150. Half utilities. 776-0621.
WANTED: MALE roommate. Three blocks from campus on Vattier. $130/month, January is paid for. Please call Mike at 539-6529.

25 Services
CONFIDENTIAL. FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Monday through Friday. Pregnancy Testing Center, 539-3338.
ENGAGEMENT RING in your Christmas stocking this year? Let me help you plan your wedding photos. 776-3785.

26 Stereo Equipment
DESIGN ACOUSTICS P.S. 10 speakers with stands. $275. Teac 7" reel to reel, brand new, w/DBX noise reduction unit, $450. Call Rob 537-4985.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment
AGGIE DIVE Shop. Come see us for your scuba lessons and equipment. 614 N. 12th. 539-DIVE.

28 Sublease
AVAILABLE FOR sublease now. 2000 College Heights. Call 537-9064 or 537-3171.
AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, close to campus, own room, low utilities. Karen 776-6815.
ONE-BEDROOM, 1841 College Heights, interested in subleasing now through August. 539-2621.
QUIET ONE-BEDROOM ground floor, heat, water and trash paid. Available immediately, 830 Fremont #2. 537-3972.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell
1984 TAMA drum set, like new, LP Chimes, Roto Toms, Boom Stands, 5 Zildjian and Pastie cymbals. Call 537-0253.
CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!
DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $17 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.
FOR SALE—Danish modern couch and two chairs. $150. Like new weight bench and weights, $50. Desk with chair, $40. Call 776-1498.
JIM'S JOURNAL merchandise T-shirts, boxers, mugs. Send for free catalog. Amerprint Features, P.O. Box 680, Marshall, WI 53559 or call (608)655-4248.
TELEVISION FOR sale, 13" color remote control, $200. Dave 537-9583.

34 Insurance
HEALTH AND Auto insurance, we have low monthly rate. Call us and compare. Good student discounts. Tim Engle, 555 Poyntz. 537-4661.
SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

35 Newspaper
The Wichita Eagle
lets you choose the type of subscription you want.
Sign up now for the

17-week Semester Special
Every Day $25
Mon.-Sat. $15
Weekends Only $13
Sunday Only $12

To start your subscription, call local carrier John Fulkerson at 539-1371
Offer expires 1/26/91

36 Going Out of Business Sale
GOING OUT of business. Everything including fixtures at dirt cheap bargain prices. This Friday 11a.m. to 7p.m. Saturday 7a.m. to 3p.m., Sunday 11a.m. to 5p.m. 1108 Laramie, Odds and Ends Thriftstore.

Double Barreled

By Daryl Blasi

"How's it going, short ugly dudes!"

Class Clowns

By D.D. Moore

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS	DOWN	ACROSS	DOWN
1 "Capital"	38 Sleep lightly	58 Kyser or Kendall	24 Wallach or Whitney
4 Vigor	39 Scull prop	1 Holdup	25 Summer sign
7 "Though last, not — in love"	41 It's a long story	2 Like a wallflower	26 Skillet
12 Blueprint extra	45 Afghan-istan's capital	3 Hurdled	28 Howard o Ely
13 Neighbor of Ga.	47 Basket-ball's Manute	4 Apply macadam	30 Mad-house
14 Caution color	48 Juju is there	5 Gridiron group	31 Lie about the expenses
15 Bud's buddy	52 The whole shebang	6 Do the den,	32 Altar
16 Mara-caibo's land	53 Make-up kit item	7 Indolent	33 affirmative
18 Actress Jillian	54 Morning moisture	8 Aussie avian	34 Wood-shaping tool
19 "— man for himself"	55 B-F connection	9 Copper head?	36 Capricorn
20 Safe-cracker	56 Permission to leave	10 Partner of poivre	37 Does some yardwork
22 New Haven flora	57 Ending for hair or lion	11 La-la lead-in	40 Tolerate
23 Beatles movie		17 Columnist Bombeck	42 By surprise
27 Sea eagle		21 Aladdin's aide	43 Cohort of Abba
29 Rhodo-dendron's cousin		23 Staff, maybe	44 Danson co-star
31 Billy Joel's instrument			45 Foot-baller's problem spot
34 Burger accessory			46 Capitol output
35 It's sum work			48 Lob's path
37 Space-craft compart-			49 "Winnie the Pooh" character
			50 Oakley's implement
			51 Quiche base

1-18

CRYPTOQUIP

POIHEEBIA FNP NHBOA

FBPOE VM VOGB IMMV.

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: SAID ASTRONAUT TO HIS SPOILED SON: "I ONLY PROMISED YOU THE MOON."

Today's Cryptoquip clue: P equals G

OPERATION DESERT STORM

A Vietnam veteran has a shouting match with a war supporter at a rally at the Union Plaza Thursday. The yelling match led to a brief scuffle.

Protestors face opposition

PAUL NOEL
Staff Reporter

Anti-war demonstrators and people who support Desert Storm clashed Thursday at a demonstration in the K-State Union plaza.

Scott Miller, graduate student in history and member of the Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East, said he didn't object to people presenting their pro-war arguments, but felt they shouldn't have spontaneously assembled without permission or badgered people voicing their opposition to the war.

But, Charles Beckom, K-State police chief, said the people who support President Bush's policy had the right to express their views without obtaining a permit to gather because the public had been invited to the rally.

"If you promote a demonstration and invite people to come, you're going to get people there with different points of view," he said.

Kale Baldock, special student in psychology and member of Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East, said he didn't object to people presenting their pro-war arguments, but felt they shouldn't have spontaneously assembled without permission or badgered people voicing their opposition to the war.

Beckom said people are bound to express their views about such a controversial topic.

"Permitting people to speak that would only listen and agree would be taking away from others' freedom of speech," he said.

Baldock said he didn't believe the Desert Shield supporters should have had the right to interrupt the anti-war presentation or speak from the Coalition's microphone against the peace demonstration.

"We had the island reserved," he said. "I call it generous to have allowed the pro-war demonstrators to attend and speak."

Beckom said he didn't know what to expect before and during the demonstration.

"There were some very tense moments," he said. "There were several people with feelings that came from deep within, and we tried to look for those that didn't look like they had control."

FBI interviews student, searches for terrorists

ACLU affiliate says questioning program violates rights

PAUL NOEL
Staff Reporter

A K-State student was interviewed by the FBI in part of a nationwide program to try to detect terrorists activity linked to the war in the gulf.

Hisham Hidmi, graduate student in physics and ex-president of the Muslim Community Association, said he was interviewed by a FBI agent last week for about 25 minutes. Hidmi, a Palestinian from Jerusalem, was chosen because of his past position in the MCA.

Robert Littrell, Kansas affiliate to the National Board of Directors of the American Civil Liberties Union, said he disagrees with the interviewing program.

"There is no rational basis to target someone purely on the basis of the person's ethnic or national background," he said.

Littrell said the singling out of Arabs is like the singling out of Japanese-Americans during World War II and is a violation of constitutional rights.

Hidmi said his impression was the FBI was trying to send a message that the organization is there to protect American public interests.

FBI special agent Max Geiman said the interviews are voluntary and are in connection with possible terrorist attacks. The interviews are justifiable as a means to advise Iraqis and others with potential for backlash against some elements of the Middle-Eastern population in the event of a war. He said they will advise them of the threats of violence and also solicit their cooperation in informing the FBI of any potential terrorist activity.

Hidmi said he was not asked any questions about his political views and associations.

CE CREATIVE ENTERTAINMENT

ADULTS 5⁰⁰
CHILDREN 3⁰⁰

PERFORMANCES BEFORE 6:00 P.M.
ALL SEATS $2.50

WESTLOOP CINEMA 6 Westloop Center
ALL MOVIES AND TIMES START FRIDAY

AWAKENINGS PG-13
TODAY AT 4:30 - 7:00 - 9:30
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

EDWARD SCISSORHANDS PG-13
TODAY AT 4:30 - 7:00 - 9:25
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:00

KINDERGARTEN COP PG-13
TODAY AT 4:35 - 7:05 - 9:30
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

LIONHEART R
TODAY AT 4:35 - 7:10 - 9:25
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:05

EVE OF DESTRUCTION R
TODAY AT 4:40 - 7:10 - 9:30
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 2:10

FLIGHT OF THE INTRUDER PG-13
TODAY AT 4:25 - 7:00 - 9:35
MATINEE SAT. & SUN. AT 1:50

CAMPUS Heart of Aggleville

MISERY R
TODAY AT 7:00 AND 9:00
MAT. SAT. & SUN. AT 3:00 & 5:00
Campus: All seats $1.50

CHARLIE'S
NEIGHBORHOOD BAR
Established 1983

Presents
That Statue Moved
Friday & Saturday

$3.00 Pitchers

Come and watch basketball game on Big Screen

FirstBank Center 776-4111

Dear Thetas,
Colorado is a blast!
The snow is great, the malls are hoppin' and the men are gorgeous.
Be back Monday. Wish you were here.
Theta Love,
Theta Seniors

KAΘ

Student Ticket Special

Buy your Student Tickets
January 17, 18, 21, & 22 for only $8
(regular price $11.50).

Game listing:

Mon., Jan. 21 Missouri-Kansas City
Sold Out Kansas
Sat., Feb. 2 Colorado
Sat., Feb. 9 Iowa State
Tues., Feb. 19 Oklahoma State
Wed., Feb. 27 Missouri

Tickets Available at:

*Ahearn Ticket Office
532-6920
*Bramlage Coliseum
*K-State Union
*Town Center
*McCain Auditorium

Must present a valid K-State I.D.

Religious Directory

UNITARIAN-UNIVERSALIST FELLOWSHIP OF MANHATTAN
10:45 a.m. Service & Sunday School
Nursery provided, everyone welcome
481 Zeandale Rd.
On K-18, 1/2 mile east of K-177

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH
2901 Dickens Ave. 776-0424
Pastor Don Pahl & Mike Tully
Worship 8:30 & 10:45 a.m.
Bible Study Sun. 9:30 a.m.
Fellowship Hour Sun. 6 p.m.
Family Night Wed. 7 p.m.

Trinity Presbyterian Church
1110 College Ave.
Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m.
Young Adult Class 9:30 a.m.
539-3921

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
8:45 a.m. Communion
(first Sunday of the month)
9:45 College Church School
8:45 & 11 a.m. Worship
Nursery provided for all services
John D. Stoneking, Pastor
612 Poyntz 776-8821

Manhattan Friends Meeting
1801 Anderson
Silent Meeting 10 a.m.
Discussion 11 a.m.
Sundays
Everyone Welcome
539-2978
or 539-2636

The End of Your Search
For a Friendly Church
First Congregational Church
Juliette & Poyntz
Sunday Worship 10:45 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Rev. Jerry Deffenbaugh
537-7006

Vineyard Christian Fellowship
Contemporary Worship
Sun. Morning Worship 10 a.m.
627 Pecan
539-0542

Anglican/Episcopal Community in
Manhattan
St. Paul's Episcopal Church
& St. Francis/Canterbury Episcopal
Fellowship at KSU
Sixth & Poyntz
776-9427 or 537-0593
- Sunday Services -
8 A.M. Holy Eucharist I
9:30 Christian Education Classes
(for all ages)
10:30 A.M. Choral Eucharist Rite II
(Nursery available at 10:30 service)
Especially for KSU
Students & Faculty
5 P.M. Sunday
Informal Eucharist followed by light supper and fellowship.
7:10 A.M. Tuesday & Thursday, Morning Prayer, Danforth Chapel,
KSU

COLLEGE HEIGHTS BAPTIST CHURCH
9:15 a.m. Sunday School
10:30 a.m. Worship Service
6 p.m. Training Hour
7 p.m. Worship Service
2221 College Heights Rd. 537-7744

Manhattan Mennonite Fellowship
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Worship at 10:45 a.m.
Pastor Harris Walther
1021 Denison 539-4079

Evangelical
Free Church of Manhattan
MCC Chapel S.W. corner 14th & Anderson
Steve Ratliff, Pastor
Worship 9:30 a.m.
Sunday School 11 a.m.
776-2086
Nursery Provided

First Church of the Nazarene
College Class and
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Worship Service 1:50 a.m. and 6 p.m.
1000 Fremont 539-2851

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
Church School-9:45 a.m.
Worship-8:30 a.m. and 11 a.m.
Disciples of Christ
5th and Humboldt 776-8790

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH
Worship at 8:30 & 11 a.m.
Sunday School 9:45 a.m. (for all ages)
10th & Poyntz 537-8532

St. Luke's Lutheran Church
Worship Saturday 6 p.m.
Sunday 8 and 10:45 a.m.
-Bible Class-
Sun. 9:30 a.m.-Thurs. 7-8:30 p.m.

539-2604 330 N. Sunset

Valleyview Community Church
Sunday Worship
10:30 a.m.
Ramada Inn, lower level
17th and Anderson
For more information call
Dan Walter 776-0112

WESTVIEW COMMUNITY CHURCH
Worship 8 and 10:30 a.m.
Sunday School 9:30 a.m.
Sunday Evening Worship 6 p.m.
1st, 3rd, & 5th Sundays
CARE CELLS (Small Groups)
6 p.m. 2nd & 4th Sundays
3001 Ft. Riley Blvd. 537-7173

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Tuesday, January 22, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 79

Finney announces fiscal 1991 budget for K-State, MOE

ELVYN JONES
City/Government editor

K-State will learn what level of appropriations Gov. Joan Finney will recommend for the University when she makes her fiscal year 1991 budget public today.

Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan, said the governor will actually make two budget proposals when she makes her State of the State address to both houses of the Kansas Legislature this morning.

"Last year the Legislature mandated the governor's budget must be based on revenue available," she said. "In addition, the governor can submit another budget based on what can be done if additional revenues are raised."

Oleen said although rumors abound on the specifics of the budget, it has been tightly embargoed, and she has not seen the package.

Ann Cook, spokeswoman for the governor, said when the budget is released, it will indicate a support to higher education. "The governor has restated her commitment made in the campaign to funding the third year of the margin," Cook said. "I think you'll be pleased to see a strong commitment to higher education."

This sentiment was shared by K-State President Jon Wefald. When Kansas Board of Regents members and the presidents of regents schools met with the governor in her office last week, he said they found her very supportive.

"The governor indicated she will do everything she can do to get support for the third year of the MOE," he said. "She knows there is no margin without full funding of the base budget. The base comes first."

Sue Peterson, legislative liaison for Wefald, said in addition to increases in salaries, the regents' budget for fiscal year 1991 recommends a $1.9 million enrollment adjustment for K-State, using a new formula devised by the regents.

"They decided the old (enrollment adjustment) formula was too rich," she said. "The interim committee (the Special Committee on Ways and Means/Appropriations) has looked at the (new) formula and indicated they will support it."

The regents' recommendation also calls for more than $3.6 million dollars for K-State from the third year of the MOE, Peterson said.

If the priority is for the MOE and higher education, then that has to be made in the real budget, with real dollars, and not in plastic.

—Sen. Lana Oleen
R-Manhattan

Wefald said approval of the budget is important at K-State after last year's disappointing Legislative session.

"We would regain momentum. It would restore hope and enhance morale," he said.

The priority the governor places on the base budget and the MOE are important for their chances for funding in the Legislature, Oleen said. This priority will be reflected in what budget Finney places the different appropriations for higher education.

"If the priority is for the MOE and higher education, then that has to be made in the real budget, with real dollars, and not in plastic," Oleen said. "We need the governor's support to make higher education a high priority. There are only six senators from regents communities, and we need 21 votes to get anything passed (in the Senate)."

Finney's budget will also outline her property-tax relief proposal. Oleen said reports of that proposal indicate it will call for $700 million in new revenues.

Although some of this revenue will be a tax shift from property tax to other revenue sources, over half of the figure will represent new taxes. If any regents' appropriations depend upon a tax increase of that size, they could be in trouble.

"As a senator, I didn't run for reelection last year," Oleen said. "But, I don't know if that (approving over $300 million in new taxes) is what those running heard last fall."

Mike Welchans/Staff

Singers from United Black Voices, a K-State gospel group, perform during a memorial service and candlelight vigil for Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. Monday night at All Faiths Chapel. Series of speeches has been planned to celebrate Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week.

King honored in candlelight vigil

Preacher's dream of non-violence remembered with poignance as war goes on

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

Non-violence is an attitude, and living the dream of Martin Luther King Jr. must become a way of life.

This message exemplified the feeling of the candlelight vigil and memorial service in honor of the late reverend at the All Faiths Chapel Monday night.

"Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. personified the ability to make the dream of non-violence a way of life. He took a hold of that dream, and if he could let that attitude work for him, it can also work for us," said the Rev. Sterling Hudgins of the Living Water Baptist Church.

"One man took a dream, and that dream affected millions of people's lives," Hudgins told the congregation of about 100. "The dream was possible and it is possible. And the choice to live that dream today is not just mine, but the choice is also yours. The dream does live on — it lives on inside of us."

Hudgins said King had four main elements that contributed to his success in the effort to move toward a non-violent world. These included simply having a dream to work toward great perception, preparedness and perseverance.

"He had a dream," Hudgins said. "He had something to go after. All of us need something to go after. We can't sit and wait for things to come to us. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was a go-getter. He went after that which he saw was right."

Hudgins also said King's perception was a key to his success.

"He was not disillusioned. He understood very clearly that the world we live in is violent. He knew that if he were to get his non-violent theme across, he would have to go through great struggles," Hudgins said.

King was prepared for the obstacles ahead of him, Hudgins said, and persevered through them. He said these attributes should be guidelines for all people because preparing for tomorrow can help in facing the struggles of daily life.

Hudgins also addressed the situation in the Middle East. He said it is easy to raise the flag and say, "Get out of the gulf."

"But, if the situation comes up, can you stand and raise your sign, can you stand and speak what's in your heart and not be violent about it?" Hudgins asked. "I was watching the news the other day and there were two people, one protesting the war, one person for the war, and before you knew it, they were fighting. Beating each other's brains out — that's not being non-violent."

After Hudgins' speech, the candlelighting ceremony began. The lights were lowered and the congregation sang, "We Shall Overcome." A moment of silence was given for those men involved in Operation Desert Storm.

Patriot missile proves successful

By the Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — Is the U.S. Patriot anti-missile system working even better than advertised?

The air defense system apparently performed flawlessly late Sunday and early Monday, knocking down nine Iraqi Scud missiles fired at Dhahran and Riyadh. A Patriot also destroyed a Scud streaking toward Dhahran early Friday.

Civilian and military sources indicate Patriots also destroyed Iraqi missiles aimed at Saudi refinery and port facilities. But those apparent successes were not reported, possibly because of Saudi war jitters.

"I'm aware of an incident like that, but I'm not going to talk to you about it," said a Saudi official from the area where the reported missile attack took place.

But according to a British officer, the two unreported Scud intercepts were made by Patriots at a Persian Gulf port used as a major military staging area. The port is not far from a large Saudi oil refinery at Ras Tanura.

The officer said the action took place early Friday, about the time the first Scud was shot down over Dhahran. He was told about it at an intelligence briefing the next day.

"A cheer went up," said the officer, speaking on condition of anonymity.

"Your Patriots are all we have to stop these things," he said. "It's nice to know they work."

An U.S. Army spokesman said he had no information about those reported Patriot firings.

The Saudi government has tried to portray life in the oil-rich Eastern Province as normal despite the war. It hopes to prevent civilian panic and discourage an exodus of American and other foreign workers vital to its oil industries.

It would be impossible to hide Patriots firing at Dhahran because dozens of journalists live and work at a hotel just off the air base. But the port area where the British officer reported the Patriot firings is isolated from most of the media.

POWs put in place as Iraqi's human shields

By the Associated Press

DHAHRAN, Saudi Arabia — The Baghdad government, bombed into bunkers by the high-tech hammer of U.S. airpower, turned people into weapons Monday, sending American and other POWs out to target areas as "human shields."

Allied leaders condemned Iraq's treatment of captured pilots as a war crime violating the Geneva Convention. Asked whether Iraqi President Saddam Hussein would later be held accountable, President Bush replied: "You can count on it."

The International Red Cross expressed concern both about Iraq's handling of prisoners and about U.S. bombardment of nuclear installations in Iraq.

On the fifth day of Operation Desert Storm, the U.S.-led military campaign to oust Iraq from occupied Kuwait, allied pilots kept up day-and-night assaults, and a U.S. commander said the air war would last at least another two weeks. Iraq reported 14 raids late Sunday and early Monday.

"It was awesome and it was frightening," British television reporter Brent Sadler said after emerging from Iraq and reaching Amman, Jordan.

Without water and electricity, life in Baghdad was becoming primitive. Baghdadis who have not fled their ancient riverside city are underground in air raid shelters, Sadler said. People emerge during the day to haul water from the Tigris River, said Peter Arnett of CNN, apparently the last Western correspondent in Baghdad.

Wildly varying and unsubstantiated claims were made on Iraqi casualties.

An anti-Hussein Kurdish resistance group with an established network in Iraq said the military suffered almost 4,000 casualties in the war's first three days. They did not distinguish between dead and wounded. An anti-Hussein Iraqi religious leader even spoke of 70,000 military and 30,000 civilian casualties. Neither offered evidence.

Union Station has opening

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

Despite the solemn distraction of war in the Persian Gulf, Union Station went ahead with its grand opening from Jan. 16-18 with some slight changes.

The non-alcoholic bar, situated on the lower floor of the K-State Union, saw more than 1,100 people come through in the three days, said Teto Henderson, manager of the bar. The figure was derived from the number of cash register transactions.

"The opening went real well with what we had," Henderson said. "The war affected it somewhat, but I'd hesitate to say to what degree."

The events scheduled for Wednesday night were altered after news of the United States' air attack on Iraq broke, Henderson said. Group Nite, in which people were to participate in group activities, was cancelled.

Instead, only prizes were handed out. The large dance floor and sophisticated sound system went unused, said Cynthia Schmidt, graduate student in journalism and mass communication and student manager of the bar.

"Playing music didn't seem appropriate for the time," Schmidt said.

The Willie Vanilli contest was the finale to the three-day event. The contest included four groups, each lip syncing a song of a group or singer.

Originally, seven groups were scheduled, but for various reasons, three dropped out. Henderson said the groups may have required more practice time.

"With school getting under way and the war going on, this may have caught students at a bad time," Henderson said.

The four-member group called En Essence won the $100 first prize for lip syncing "Hold On" by En Vogue.

Kym Lewis, sophomore in business administration and member of En Essence, said the soulful routine took three days to put together.

The second prize of $50 was won by Derek Walker for his rendition of "New Attitude" by Patti LaBelle. The group named Victory or Death won the $25 third prize. The group lip synced "Sweet Child O' Mine" by Guns'n'Roses.

Patriot missile defense system

Since war began six days ago, Patriot missiles have intercepted at least 10 Iraqi SCUD missiles aimed at Saudi Arabia. These are a few facts about one of the newest defense weapons in the U.S. arsenal.

- The Patriot, also known as the XMIM-104, is a surface-to-air defense system. Its main purpose is to intercept incoming missiles.

- The engineering development program started in 1972, but the current version being used in Operation Desert Storm was produced in 1987.

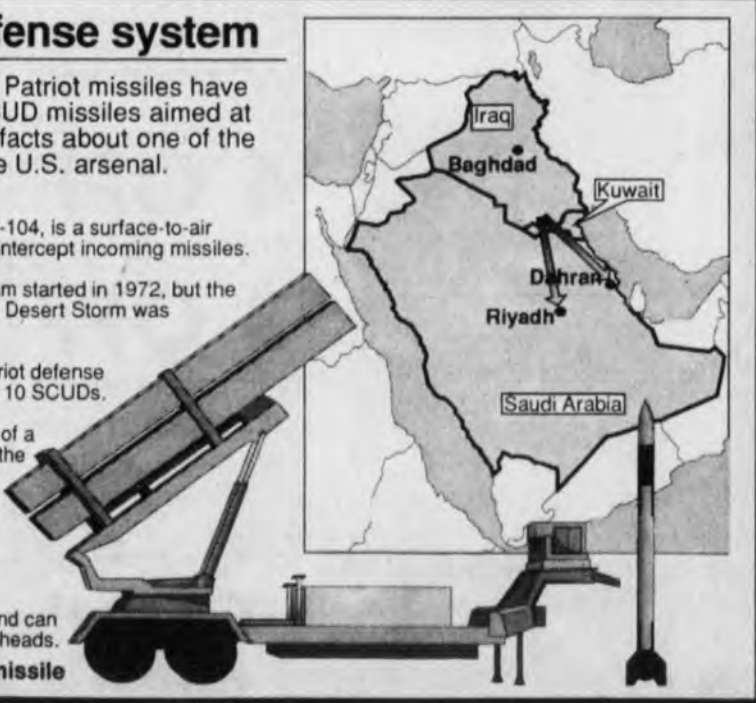

- This is the first real action for the Patriot defense system. So far, it has destroyed at least 10 SCUDs.

- The Patriot is fully mobile, consisting of a launcher which carries four missiles on the back of what looks like a truck bed.

- As part of a deal to keep Israel from entering the war, the United States installed three Patriot missile launchers in that country.

- The missiles are almost 18 feet tall and can carry either nuclear or conventional warheads.

Patriot launcher and missile

Source: Jane's Weapon Systems

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

'Dream' supported

CHRISSY VENDEL
Collegian Reporter

Some participants in a Martin Luther King Jr. memorial walk Monday night wore buttons with King's picture, while others carried picket signs reading, "Stop killing now."

"I think their anti-war ideas are inappropriate at this time because the walk is for King, not for expressions of their feelings dealing with the gulf crisis," said Kevin Wickstrom, junior in finance.

Stan Cox, a member of the Manhattan Coalition for Peace, disagreed and said King's birthday was one day during the war when people should question what we're doing in the gulf.

Many of the pro-peace demonstrators were from the Coalition. "I encouraged all of our members to come out for obvious reasons," said Cox.

The walk began at 6 p.m. in front of Waters Hall with the final destination All Faiths Chapel for a candlelight vigil and memorial service.

The idea of a memorial walk started as an Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity project and is part of Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week which is Jan. 20-27.

Nearly 150 participants were led by people carrying a banner that read, "Living the Dream," and others carried lighted candles.

During the walk, the crowd sang "We Shall Overcome," and "Happy Birthday" to King.

"The crowd was larger than last

Mike Welchans/Staff

Members of various interest groups passed around a flame to ignite candles used in the march from Waters Hall to All Faiths Chapel in celebration of Martin Luther King Jr.'s observed birthday Monday night.

year's, a nice size considering how cold it was," said Corey King, junior in marketing. "I was surprised at the number of white people who showed up to support Martin Luther King Jr. — that shows they're willing to work things out, because we all need each other."

Wanda Williams, stationed at Fort Riley, said she showed up because she believes the week is well-deserved.

"I believe in Dr. King and what he's done," she said. "He has done a lot for black Americans."

"When I lived in El Paso, Texas, they didn't recognize King's birthday as a holiday. I'm glad they recognize it here, so I want to support the activities," she said.

Many people showed up to respect Martin Luther King Jr. and his ideas while others came to see what was going on and learn more about King.

"I want to be sure his dream stays alive," said Cheryl Page, freshman in interior design. "He should not be forgotten, and I will always be grateful for what he did."

Convocation lecture, lunch planned in observance week

Martin Luther King Jr. to be celebrated with showing of photograph collection

By the Collegian Staff

A convocation lecture, brown bag luncheon and panel discussion are some events planned for Martin Luther King Jr. Observance Week.

The College of Education is hosting a forum on King at 11:30 a.m. Thursday in Bluemont 16. The forum is a panel of faculty and students who will discuss the implication of King's work in public education.

"Kennedy is well-known for his astuteness of group rights as well as individual rights," said James Boyer, professor of curriculum and instruction.

Randall Kennedy, Harvard Law School, will give the convocation lecture, "A question of group rights," at 10:30 a.m. Friday in McCain Auditorium. Kennedy is founder and editor of Reconstruction, a political journal which covers debate of issues involving race.

King himself was a convocation lecturer at K-State in the late 1960s. A picture of King and former University President James McCain hangs in the Minority Resource and Research Center. The center will be the host for a showing of photographs by Gordon Parks in honor of King and Black History Month.

"There is so much cooperative activity on campus to make this week truly special," said Antonia Pigno, library associate professor. "We are also working with the housing department to present the movie 'Eyes on the Prize' during the week."

Parks' work will be on display through March 8 in both the center and Special Collections/University Archives in Farrell Library.

Provost defines duties

Coffman oversees academic affairs, research

SHANNAN SEELY
Agricultural Reporter

Most students know K-State's provost by name but not his role in the University.

Some students have a basic definition — the provost takes over in the absence of President Jon Wefald.

"I learned he was second in command to the president in my agricultural orientation class," said Preston Beeman, freshman in animal sciences and industry.

On a broader scale, Provost James Coffman administers academic affairs, research and service. He oversees budget and academic program interaction with two vice-provosts, one for academic services and the other for research.

"You could say I have a widespread, somewhat indirect effect on students," Coffman said.

He said he spends much of his time budgeting and developing programs for the colleges. While the deans do basic planning for the curriculum, the provost makes sure adequate, high-quality instructional manpower is provided.

Working closely with the deans and Faculty Senate, Coffman works on faculty evaluation, salary adjustment, tenure and promotion.

"I think it's important that people have a picture of the whole University in addition to only what affects them," he said. "While there is the undergraduate part of this University working, simultaneously, there is major research going on."

"The research is about $47 million in total funding," Coffman said. "The graduate educational program is closely related to the research activities."

Besides research and undergraduate programs, the University has a service component, including a cooperative extension service and a community education program.

Provost Coffman

"We also offer professional services through a veterinary medical teaching hospital, speech pathology and audiology, and marriage/family therapy," Coffman said.

In addition, he is involved in affirmative action, continuing education, planning, evaluation and a regency education communication center

■ See COFFMAN, Page 16

Role of the Provost at K-State

Source: K-State President's Office

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

SPRING BREAKS 1991

RESERVATIONS AVAILABLE NOW!

DAYTONA BEACH from $119*
AMERICAN, RAMADA INN, VOYAGER OR DESERT INN HOTELS & KITCHENETTES • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
SOUTH PADRE ISLAND from $129*
SHERATON CONDOS & HOTEL, GULF VIEW & LANDFALL TOWER CONDOS, OR HOLIDAY INN • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
STEAMBOAT from $96*
SHADOW RUN CONDOS OR OVERLOOK HOTEL • 2, 5 OR 7 NIGHTS WITH ALL LIFTS • PICNIC • RACE
FORT LAUDERDALE from $137*
LAUDERDALE BEACH HOTEL • 7 NIGHTS
PANAMA CITY BEACH from $124*
TOURWAY INN OR THE REEF KITCHENETTES • 7 NIGHTS
CORPUS CHRISTI/MUSTANG ISLAND from $108*
HOLIDAY INN OR PORT ROYAL OCEAN RESORT CONDOS • 5 OR 7 NIGHTS
HILTON HEAD ISLAND from $112*
HILTON HEAD ISLAND BEACH & TENNIS RESORT CONDOS • 7 NIGHTS

DON'T DELAY!
CENTRAL SPRING BREAK TRIP INFORMATION & RESERVATIONS

1-800-321-5911

7AM-7PM M-Th, 7AM-5PM Fri, 9AM-5PM Sat, Mountain Standard Time
Reservations may be made by credit card

24 HOUR FAX RESERVATIONS (503) 225-1514

WITH COUPON

SAVE 50%

On Our Rich, Creamy, Premium Frozen Yogurt!

Your Choice of a Small, Medium or Large Cup or Cone
Toppings Extra--Waffle Cones Not Included
NOT VALID WITH ANY OTHER OFFER
EXPIRES February 4, 1991 LIMIT TWO

The Original
97% Fat Free

The Miracle
Non-Fat, No Cholesterol

Miracle II
Non-Fat, Sugar-Free

Our Delicious, Premium Frozen Yogurt!
The Rich, Creamy Taste That Won The World Over!
NINE FLAVORS DAILY--PLENTY OF FREE PARKING
"You Can't Believe It Isn't Ice Cream!!"
OPEN: 11 A.M.-11 P.M. Daily;
Noon to 11 P.M. Sundays
Nautilus Towers in Aggieville
Phone 537-1616 Manhattan

I Can't Believe It's Yogurt!
GREAT TASTE - NATURALLY.

EDITORIAL

War's record should include all attitudes

As I write this, my television has been on for a solid four days. I constantly flip back and forth between CNN, NBC and the rest of the channels looking for some angle or story to the war that I might miss. I find myself suffering from remote control elbow.

I've seen some great work. Sitting and listening to Bernard Shaw give an eyewitness account of the bombing of Baghdad was an example of how good television can be. It made me painfully realize that the vast majority of stuff that I've written and held dear is nothing more than a journalistic equivalent of professional wrestling. Fun to look at, but on a level somewhat below a Honky Tonk man match.

For better or worse, I now find myself kind of an armchair expert on the military and the hardware they use. I can talk about F-15 and A-6 attack planes. I find myself using terms like strategic bombing and Scud in everyday conversations with my friends. I've learned to laugh at the propaganda and double speak emerging from anyone that the press manages to get a microphone in front of. Whatever else this war has done, it's provided work as analysts for anyone who has even a vague idea where the conflict is taking place.

But give the press credit. Considering the hardships they're facing, the job being done is incredible. You can start with the fact that they're halfway around the globe, away from family and friends, in a country where they can't even get a cold beer. How about the 20-hour days? How about the fact that censorship regulations make getting a fair and accurate story almost an impossibility?

They deal with it. They go without sleep and face death so that those of us at home will have something to talk about over morning coffee. They bring us pictures of loved ones that let us know that for at least the time being, they're OK.

But there's something missing. For all the great work being done in the Middle East, there's a story at home that everyone in the media is missing. This is the story of the heartland.

I'm not talking about the anti-war protestors. For all of their well-meant intentions and carefulness to question policy rather than our actual fighting men and women, they still represent an extreme.

So do the pro-war demonstrators. Their "America love it or leave it" mentality makes me sick. Lou Reed once wrote "This is no time for my country right or wrong. Remember what that brought." To love America is a privilege. To question it is a constitutional right.

Shawn Bruce
Collegian Columnist

What do we have left? The middle. Funny enough, the middle is also where Kansas sits in regards to the rest of the United States. The dead-center heartland.

Somehow, we don't know what to think. Some of us have made commitments to one or the other of the extremes. That's OK as long as the commitment is based on rational thought and not some misguided patriotism or wish to be a hippie.

But a lot of us are wandering around with dazed looks on our faces, not sure of what to do or say. I know. I'm one of them.

I hate the idea of war. I hate bombs, along with ammunition dumps, that destroy the lives of women and children. I hate the idea of freeing a country that treats women like second-class citizens. I hate the idea that in what is supposedly a world effort, we seem to have the most to lose. Above all else, I hate body bags.

Yet, I realize that in Saddam Hussein we face a madman, who if not stopped, will threaten people all over the world. I understand that, no matter how ugly, war is sometimes a necessity. I understand that in war there are no innocents. Most importantly, I love and support my friends in the gulf unconditionally.

It's not a matter of apathy that keeps me quiet. There's no pain associated with apathy. The fact is, even with the constant coverage and incredible flow of information, I haven't learned a damn thing that helps me sleep at night. Sometimes the best informed are the most confused.

But the media has missed the people like me. They perpetuate this myth that everything is black and white. Almost everyday since the conflict began, I've seen images of both anti-war and pro-war demonstrators. That's fine, both sides deserve to be heard and seen.

Somehow though, those of us lost in the flood deserve a chance to be part of the video record also. Even if our best answer to the questions posed to us is, "I just don't know."

It won't happen. Since we don't burn flags or beat up protestors, we're not good copy. The media loves extremes, accurate or no.

This scares me. The World War II is seen through the Frank Capra "Why We Fight" movies and Korea through the "Victory" news reels. While neither is probably an accurate representation of the way things actually were, we in the younger generation look on them as a concrete portrayal.

Vietnam is much the same. Despite the fact that, as opposed to the earlier examples, there are two viewpoints presented, the media presents them in that same black-and-white format. Some people were for the war, and some were against it.

So far, this conflict's video and print record is no better. So 20 years from now when it happens again, our children will turn to the Memorex record and see the extremes. They'll think that the mixed emotions that they have, about whatever the hell conflict we're fighting then, have never been felt by anyone else. Then, they too will stay quiet

Editorials

Other problems persist

Sure the coverage of the war may cut into football championship games, Twin Peaks and soap operas. But the fact that a war rages in the Middle East doesn't mean other daily topics should go untouched or forgotten.

Students rallying in public for or against current war efforts shouldn't forget their demonstrations against the University's reorganization plan of a few months ago. Reorganization does not cease to exist, even though students have turned their attention to the international news.

These are times to be wary.

Taxpayers should also follow this advice. They shouldn't allow the biggest tax hike in Kansas history to slip through the Legislature simply because they're glued to CNN coverage.

New property tax rollbacks, increased professional taxes, closed colleges and higher-education funding do not deserve a back burner — they deserve the other front burner.

The American troops in the Middle East are fighting under the flag of the world's greatest democracy. That democracy also includes today's campus, city, region and state issues.

Although today's biggest events often overshadow the mundane issues of everyday life, don't allow them to block the topics from view completely. That is when real disaster strikes.

Another perspective

With muffled explosions on a cable television screen, Our Generation's War began.

Those crackly blasts contrasted with the anguished quiet that drew University of Nebraska—Lincoln students to televisions across campus to listen to Cable News Network reporters huddled in a hotel room in Baghdad.

Near the hotel, bombs dropped on Iraqi missile sites, air bases, nuclear sites and other strategic targets. At this point, one can only wonder what or who else they fell on.

President Bush came on the screen. He told us the "battle has been joined."

His speech sounded a lot like the ones he's been making for five months, except this time we didn't have to wonder whether to believe him. The bombs in the background were raucous evidence that he was deadly earnest.

Bush told us about "unspeakable atrocities" in Kuwait that justified the attack. Now atrocities of our own have been justified, the rape of a nation made legitimate.

It's called war.

Bush talked about innocent Kuwaiti children, the subjects, he said, of brutal acts on the part of the Iraqi invaders. He didn't mention the innocent children who must have died in the U.S.—led attack.

Soon after Bush went off the air, promising that "we will not fail," reports started coming in about the efficiency of the massive raid.

Early reports indicated that not a single U.S. airplane was lost in the initial raid. Much of Iraq's ability to wage war supposedly was destroyed.

At the same time, Saddam Hussein went on the airwaves promising he had a lot of fight left. He didn't talk about pulling out of Kuwait.

Most Americans probably went to bed as the United States launched its second strike during the first night of war. Now we begin counting the nights of war.

We don't know yet what to name this war. Most of us, students at a university half a globe from the destruction, don't know how to react. None of us have ever seen or heard such a drama on live television.

We don't know how to describe what we saw. Bush tried unsuccessfully, and he had a head start on us all. He quoted from Thomas Paine: "These are the times that try men's souls." Donna Miller, the mother of a UNL sophomore stationed in Saudi Arabia, put it better.

"It just made me sick, total terror. You're not there, but you're a part of it."

That's more vivid than any television report.

— Daily Nebraskan
January 17, 1991

Holiday: University should review policy for future commemorative days

A question. Who the, um, heck created the schedule for spring semester? For that matter, who created the schedule for the whole year, and all the years I've been here? The answer is obvious. Someone with no brain.

It shouldn't come as a shock to anyone to realize that, both in our administration and in our state government, there exist people with no brains. (I'm not trying to imply that all the people in the federal government have brains. It's just that isn't the issue here, and besides, the documentation would make my column too long.) I've always thought it was a charitable act on the part of the powers that exist, to give these tragically disabled people gainful employment.

I just wish these mysterious powers, which influence all our lives, hadn't given the brain-dead control over my schedule. I mean, it's fine to have a zombie or two around to make coffee and screw up the Xerox machine, but this is taking things too far.

What I'm ranting and raving about, in case you haven't guessed, is the fact that no sooner do we return from the incredible endless winter break, and we are promptly awarded a three-day weekend, presumably to rest up from the exhausting three days of class we've endured and then given no vacation time until March.

What kind of planning is that? Do you know anyone who uses their vacation time that way? They do the same thing to us in the fall, only then we've only had two days of classes. What brilliant administrative type said, "Oh, gee, they've had three days of really strenuous learning experience, picking up syllabi and going through drop-add. Let's give them a break." With that kind of logic working for us, we should have four-day weekends all year 'round.

Now, I'm not an idiot, nor am I from Arizona. I know why we have Jan. 21 off. I don't have a problem with that. The way I see it, the issue here is not race related. After all, we celebrate a whole Martin Luther King Jr. Week without taking the week off. I'm going to go out on a limb here and be selfish. It's an issue of convenience. We live in a disposable society. Everything is convenient. Who made this the exception? Give us the day off to honor Dr. King. No problem. But let's get some practicality in here as well.

Karin Dell'Antonia
Collegian Columnist

The way I see it, there are two options here. Either A) extend winter break to include Dr. King's holiday (and extend summer to include labor day, too), or B) bring us back to school a few days earlier so that we could take three-day weekends for Easter and President's day as well.

I'm going to go out on another limb here. Why does Dr. King take precedence over Christ, Washington and Lincoln put together? Well, I probably shouldn't say Christ, since we do have his birthday off. But none of these other guys has allegedly risen from the grave. If they had, I'm sure we'd take the day off to celebrate. Anyway, hasn't the struggle for civil rights come far enough to realize that this is not about a birthday? And if it hasn't, why don't we have any federal holidays to commemorate women's birthdays? There are a lot of pitfalls here. What exactly is the issue?

OK, I'm wandering from the point. I will now cover, in a fashion so terribly organized that you probably won't even believe I wrote it, the advantages of both options A & B, and why we need to make a change.

Option A must be cool, because it's the way all the really big, impressive schools do it. We're talking from Ivy League to California here. The big guys believe in big vacations. That way, you could really do something during winter break. You could have a small internship or take a vacation, tour Europe or something. Intersession classes wouldn't have to be jokes, because there'd be time to really get something done. If nothing else, it would really be worth it to unpack when you got home, instead of feeling like a guest for two weeks.

Enough of option A. Who cares what other schools do? I like option B. I would gladly give up three days of break when I've already had 22. I see tons of advantages here. We could have the days off when we really need them. We could go skiing, catch up on our studies or our sleep or just vegetate. We could have interviews or look at graduate schools.

It might even cut down on the number of students who invent their own holidays. Everybody does that at Easter, anyway. Professors could stop giving silly quizzes or taking attendance to make sure we're in class. Students who live out-of-state might actually be able to go home between December and March (Maybe if you use spring break for skiing). The whole University would be a more relaxed and mellow place. Maybe we could even have a dead day during the fall. (Just as a bonus gripe, did any professors actually follow the rule about not having any tests on "dead day" last fall? Did it make anyone feel more prepared for finals? Or did it just confuse everyone to have it labeled that on the calendar?)

But hey, I promised organization in this article and you're going to get it if it kills me. This is supposed to be the part where I say why we need a change. Why? Because it's silly, that's why.

It's mean to waste our only three-day weekend on a weekend when no one really wants to go home. Our friends and families are tired of us. Arguments that started during break haven't really faded from memory yet. No one has any serious studying to do. No one can afford another plane ticket. We just got here! Is anybody thinking up there?

Well, thanks for listening. Nothing will change. I'm just spitting into the wind. I keep forgetting that practicality isn't what makes a public institution go. But I've aired my grievance and I feel better. I'll just go ahead and take my usual holidays whenever I feel like I need them.

HEY UNIVERSITY! THIS IS A REALLY DUMB WAY TO DO THINGS! FIX IT!

Think they heard me?

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Debbie Davis, postal window clerk, stamps a package destined for Saudi Arabia as Angela McGauley, freshman in pre-nursing, pays for the parcel at the Manhattan Post Office Thursday afternoon.

Individuals mail packages to soldiers in Persian Gulf

MIKE VENSO
Collegian Reporter

Mailing a letter or package may seem trivial to most people, but to a large number of Americans who have relatives or friends serving in Operation Desert Storm, a simple letter or package is a lifeline.

Trisha Anderson, sophomore in pre-veterinary medicine, sent a package Thursday afternoon from the Manhattan Post Office to her husband serving in the Persian Gulf.

"I was going to wait and see what happened, but now that war has started, I needed to get something to him," Anderson said. "Mailing is a way of talking when you don't have a phone. It's the best thing we can do to keep everyone's spirits up."

Writing letters and sending packages to her fiancé has paid off for Lisa Karr, sophomore in accounting, who sent a package of pictures to the gulf Thursday.

"I wrote 26 letters in a week and a half, and I've had two phone calls and two letters from him already," Karr said. "I love writing him, and I want him to know I love him and want him back safe — I miss him real bad."

Currently there are only two post offices in Manhattan that are accepting Army Post Office and Fleet Post Office mailings. These are the U.S. Post Office at 500 Leavenworth and the K-State Campus Post Office in Dykstra Hall.

Marvin Roth, Manhattan postmaster, said, "We have other stations, but the main post office is the only one accepting APO because of the customs regulations on mailings."

"The reasoning behind that is the large numbers of APO and FPO numbers that are constantly changing," he said. "Because of the activity (in the Persian Gulf), there will be a complete new 'Postal Bulletin' listing of APOs (six pages of changing zip codes, each with different restrictions) every month, instead of several times over the year."

The campus post office, which handles a large amount of international mail, is also accepting APOs.

"All packages should be brought in, weighed and the customs forms completed," said Nell Piper, campus postal clerk, "and there should be no problem."

"We had a lot more packages before the holidays, but we send out an average of three or four packages a day," she said.

At the Manhattan Post Office, the numbers are much larger.

"Practically all the packages are headed for Saudi," said Debbie Davis, postal window clerk. "Easily, we send 100 a day. Monday and Tuesday the line didn't get inside the door until we closed."

Roth said the lines in the lobby are longer than anticipated.

"People will mail things as soon as their loved one leaves, so that they have a package (in Saudi Arabia) when they arrive," Roth said. "Mondays have been busy normally — more so than before — now that Fort Riley has deployed."

"When you have a unit like Fort Riley leave, it has a dramatic impact," he said. "Normally, the Christmas rush is over at Christmas. This year it started at Thanksgiving and has been going ever since."

Bars see lull during gulf crisis

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

After the outbreak of war in the Persian Gulf Jan. 16, area bars were found unusually bare.

The most noticeable effects were felt Wednesday and Thursday, said Troy Warnken, manager of Snoo-kie's Bar, 1122 Moro St.

"Wednesday was real slow," Warnken said. "That was pretty much typical. Less people were there than I expected on Thursday."

He said the customers sat watching the TV screen tuned to CNN and the crowd's mood was laid back.

Music was not played on Wednesday night at Kite's Bar and Grill, 619 N. 12th St., said A.J. Ahlstedt, manager. The TV sets will continue to be used rather than the stereo on occasion in the future, but the frequency of this will depend on the clientele, he said.

A similar scene was found in Bay-street Tavern, 1120 Moro St., said Karl Long, manager.

"Thursday started out more slowly," Long said. "It wasn't anything like a regular Thursday night."

Long said the lapse in Thursday's business could be attributed to the Iraqi's bombing of Israel. Once all available news of the bombing was exhausted, people began to fill up the bar again.

"I think people started coming out later because they were tired of hearing the same thing," he said.

Ribbons display soldier support

Yellow bows available around town, represent show of unity for families

KIMBERLY KOHLS
Staff Reporter

Yellow ribbons are everywhere — not only around oak trees, but on doors, posts and people.

Manhattan Town Center is one of several places that is selling yellow bows in support of troops in the Middle East.

"The idea originated at the first meeting of Project Manhattan Cares in November," said Kathleen Adams, advertising/marketing director of Manhattan Town Center. "We were brainstorming on how we could support the soldiers that were leaving and the families that they were leaving behind."

"Not just military families are buying the bows, but everyone is," Adams said. "We see all ages, men and women wearing yellow ribbons in support of the soldiers in the gulf."

A count of ribbons sold since the outbreak of the war has not been done, but Adams said that there's been a high demand for them and the ribbons have sold well since the start of war.

"Volunteers from Meadowlark Hills Retirement Community and a military wives' group have been making the bows," Adams said. "We have large outdoor bows and smaller bows, which can be pinned onto clothes."

While some are buying yellow ribbons, others make them to show support for the troops in the gulf.

"My girlfriend made mine," said Kirk Engle, sophomore in business administration, about the yellow bow on the front door of his apartment at University Terrace.

"I have a classmate over there and I want him to know I'm supporting him," Engle said. "I just hope he and everyone else comes home safely."

Although the history of yellow ribbons is sketchy, some historians believe the tradition dates back to the Civil War when soldiers left their yellow bandanas behind with loved ones.

"The popular song by Tony Orlando and Dawn seemed to revive the idea of yellow ribbons," said Donald Mrozek, professor of history. "Tie a Yellow Ribbon Round the Ole Oak Tree" was recorded in the early 1970s.

Yellow ribbons have been visible in several crises throughout history including 1979 to 1981 when there were hostages in Iran.

Symbols absent at gate

Faculty Senate questions meaning of yellow ribbons

KELLY BERG
Campus Editor

The yellow ribbon is being used as a symbol of...

What? That's the question that kept Faculty Senate from having yellow ribbons put on the Higinbotham Gate on the southeast corner of campus.

The lack of ribbons at the entry to the K-State campus was not an oversight. It was a premeditated decision by Faculty and Student senates and the Classified Affairs Committee.

"The Faculty Senate chose not to have ribbons put up, based on the Senate's perception of the ambiguity of the meaning of the yellow ribbons," said Wayne Nafziger, president of Faculty Senate.

He said when the Student Senate and Classified Affairs Committee suggested putting up yellow ribbons at the gate, the Faculty Senate discussed it. During their discussions, they found there were several different interpretations among the Senate members as to what exactly the yellow ribbons meant.

"Some said this — some said that," Nafziger said. "And finally we decided that due to the uncertainty of what the yellow ribbon symbolizes, we shouldn't use the ribbons."

In lieu of ribbons, the three groups collectively formed a written resolution sending their best wishes to the men and women in the Persian Gulf and their families, and sent it to President Jon Wefald Jan. 16.

The resolution reads:

"The Faculty Senate, Student Senate (Resolution 90/53) and Classified Affairs Committee at Kansas State University send their best wishes to service men and women who have been sent to the Persian Gulf, and their family and friends. We miss their contributions to our communities and hope that peace in the Middle East will return them safely."

Party Coming Up?

Call the

MOBILE MUSIC MACHINE

Professional Mobile DJ Service featuring local radio personalities

- Variety of music including the latest releases
- Rates starting at $125

Keep Your Party Pumpin'! 776-7240

CLAFLIN BOOKS & COPIES

FirstBank Center 1814 Claflin

- 5¢ Copies • Professor Copies
- Typing & Resume Service
- Reductions/Enlargements
- Transparencies/Labels
- Dissertation Copies
- Hours 8 a.m.-9 p.m.

776-3771 Open 7 days a week

BRYAN

TRAVEL COLLEGES

"Your Passport To A Career"

Travel Agent • Corporate Travel Mgmt • Tour Operator
Convention Planner • Hotel & Airline Industry • Car Rental Agent
• Cruise-Line Reservationists • Travel Promotions

24 Credit Hours • Travel Geography • Computer Training
Financial Assistance • Placement Assistance

CALL TOLL FREE

1-800-255-3507

1527 Fairlawn
Topeka, KS
66604

"Semi-Annual Clearance Sale" Further Reductions

Selected Suits

Featuring: Corbin, Hart Schaffner & Marx Clothing

Regular	Sale
$225-$265	$175.00
$295-$345	$225.00
$375-$395	$295.00
$415-$445	$335.00
$465-$495	$375.00

Fall Sport Coats..... 40% off

Navy Blazer Excluded

Winter Outerwear & Leather Coats..... 30-50% off

Trench Coats Top Coats..... 25% off

Allen Edmonds Shoes (In Stock Only) & Cole Haan..... 40% off

Fall Slacks 30% off

BIG & TALL SIZES INCLUDED

Fall Sweaters 30% off

Fall Sport Shirts..... 30% off

Fall Robes & Pajamas 30% off

Fancy Dress Shirts... 30% off

Choose from Quality Sportswear such as:

- Boston Traders
- Wimbledon Tenniswear
- Wyoming Reds Activewear
- Lord Jeff Sweaters

BORCK Brothers

Fine Menswear

1100 Westloop Place (913) 537-8636
Westloop Shopping Center
9:30-5:30 Mon.—Sat. til 8:30 Thurs.

You've just lost your excuse
not to buy a car CD player.
Our lowest prices EVER on KENWOOD

KDC-93R

KDC-83R

Pull out AM/FM CD
4 X oversampling
2 preouts
Switchable illumination
NOW ONLY $349

Fixed mount AM/FM CD
4 X oversampling
2 preouts
Switchable illumination
NOW ONLY $299

AUDIO JUNCTION, INC.

630 Grant Ave.

HI FI-Car Stereo-Video

Car Stereo Installation

Stereo and Video Repair

1-762-4447

Mon.-Fri. 10-7, Sat. 10-5

Scholarship winners uphold campus tradition

2 K-State students receive Marshall award Organization, clear thinking key to successful studying

LAJEAN RAU
Staff Reporter

Two recent Marshall scholarship awards makes K-State the only public university in the country to have two winners this year and puts the University ahead of all other Big Eight schools in Marshall scholarship awards in the past 10 years.

Luis Montaner, fourth-year student in veterinary medicine and veterinary pathology, and Julie Tarara, senior in horticulture and social sciences, received word from the Marshall committee in early December of their awards.

Forty men and women from public and private universities around the country received the award. Only two other schools had two winners — Carleton College in Minnesota and Harvard.

Montaner said the Marshall scholarship competition is very similar to the Rhodes scholarship competition.

Last year, K-State was the only public university to have two Rhodes scholars.

Kristy Parker, senior in history, is a Rhodes winner this year.

Both the Marshall and the Rhodes are funded by the British government and provide for more than $40,000 to be used for two or three years of graduate study in England.

The Marshall was established by the British government in 1953 as a national gesture of thanks to the United States for aid received under the Marshall Plan following World War II.

The Rhodes began in 1902 as a stipulation in the will of Cecil J. Rhodes, a British diamond and gold developer and colonial administrator.

Montaner said the difference between the competitions is winners of the Marshall may study at any British university; those awarded the Rhodes will study at Oxford.

Tarara said the application process was long and difficult, and a lot of time went into preparing written materials, such as essays.

The students began the application process in August and finished with interviews in mid-November.

"Applying and interviewing gave me the opportunity to define some of my professional goals and evaluate my standards of ethics," Tarara said.

Tarara said she plans to study the effects of water stress on vegetable crops under drought conditions. She will do her work at Reading University.

Montaner said he plans to work on AIDS virus research. He will study in the pathology department at Oxford University.

Both students were candidates for the Rhodes scholarship as well, but ■ See MARSHALL, Page 16

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

When three winners of prestigious overseas scholarships speak of study tips, simple organization becomes a familiar theme.

"I go to all of my classes, I take plenty of notes and I read the written material," said Julie Tarara, senior in horticulture and winner of a Marshall Scholarship this past November.

The key to studying is the beginning, said Luis Montaner, fourth year student in veterinary medicine and also a Marshall Scholarship winner. If the proper frame of mind is not present before the studying battle begins, then the war is lost.

"If you don't have the foundation, it doesn't matter what you build on top of it," he said. "That shoots all of your determination to do well."

"I can memorize a lot faster by writing things down than I can by looking at it," said Kristy Parker, senior in history and Rhodes Scholarship winner.

Once a firm base is established, it becomes a task of breaking large chunks of information into digestible morsels. All three scholars said they have found that writing the key words and phrases on paper while reading the text is helpful.

Montaner is an avid user of scrap paper as he reads through text, he said. He uses notes, diagrams and other visual aids to remember pieces of information. A written daily planner helps him keep track of where he should be and when.

Writing down weak points in study habits is a good idea as well, Tarara said.

"If you can identify the problems, it's much easier to improve your study habits," she said.

Parker said she prefers to tackle the difficult work first. In doing so, she can look forward to the less troublesome tasks later in the day. She said this is her reward to herself.

The semester is over four months long, however, leaving plenty of time for study habits to go astray, Montaner said. The work builds up, slowly wearing away the resolve to keep up.

"It happens to everyone," Montaner said. "It happens to me."

Parker agrees.

"You get really tired," she said. "The work becomes more and more until it seems every waking moment is spent with a book in your lap."

To avoid this situation, Parker suggests keeping some time free from the rigors of studying. She said she likes to consider the daylight hours as a working day, keeping evenings to herself.

Study habits can be as unique as fingerprints, Montaner said. Knowing this, he suggests experimenting with a variety of habits until something works.

COME TO THE BANK UNDER THE BIG BLUE SIGN

Guaranteed Student Loans
Lender ID# 831838
Student Checking with
--No minimum balance
--Free ATM card
--$3.50 a month fee for up to 30 transactions

We're an equal opportunity lender and the bank you can turn to for all your student financial needs.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST

A SERVICE COMPANY
2710 ANDERSON
P.O. BOX 607
MANHATTAN, KS 66502
MEMBER FDIC

A SUNFLOWER BANK

HOW FIT ARE YOU?

FITNESS ASSESSMENT

- BODY FAT ESTIMATE
- CARDIOVASCULAR FITNESS
- BLOOD CHEMISTRY LAB ANALYSIS and MUCH MORE

DATES

- Jan. 29 — 7-11 a.m.
- Jan. 30 — 7-11 a.m.
- Jan. 31 — 6-9 p.m.
- Feb. 5 — 7-11 a.m.
- Feb. 7 — 6-9 p.m.

Men and Women are welcome. Appointments are necessary. Call 776-3322 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Cost: $35. Normal cost for these services start from $85.

the saint mary hospital

Member CSJ Health Systems of Wichita
1823 College Ave. • Manhattan, KS 66502
(913) 776-3322

THE SAINT MARY HOSPITAL INVITES YOU AND YOUR FAMILY TO AN ALL HOSPITAL

OPEN HOUSE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26 • 1 PM to 4 PM

WELCOME BACK KSU

Quality Brands!
GREAT SERVICE!
and Terrific Sale Prices!

RCA•SONY•BOSE•INFINITY•KENWOOD.
PIONEER•MITSUBISHI•PHILIPS•ONKYO

TV•VCR•Home Stereo•Electronic
Furniture•Blank Tapes•Car Stereo
Accessories•Complete Service Department

ONKYO

TA-2000

Cassette Deck $199

- Full logic transport
- Dolby B & C
- HX PRO
- Remote interactive

Sony 5 Disc
CD Changer

$199 without remote

$229 with remote

- Shuffle play
- Programmable

SONY CDPC205

SONY

CDP291

Compact Disc Player

- 4x oversampling
- Dual 16 bit D/A converter
- Stereo stabilizer circuit
- Shuffle play
- 20 track programming

$129

ONKYO

Compact Disc Player

$179

- 8 times oversampling
- 18 Bit D/A Converters
- 20 track programming
- Time edit functions

TX822

Mitsubishi CS2015
Remote Control
Stereo Sound
Monitor $349

- 20" high-contrast, black matrix CRT
- On-screen time/channel display
- External input/output

INFINITY $97

RS1001 reference one

- polypropylene woofer
- polycell tweeter
- oak finish

RCA Model VR671HF

Hi-Fi Stereo VCR w/ 4-Head Video System

$399

- Built-in TV Broadcast Stereo Tuner
- Double-azimuth 4-head video system
- Field still special effects

ONKYO

Receiver

- 50 watts/channel
- 2 mode APR Tuning
- 30 AM/FM Presets
- Loudness Control
- Full Remote Control

TX822

$229

Model X20133WN
20" diagonal

- Electronic controls with on-screen prompts
- On-screen channel number

$199

RCA VR250
or GE VG7500

$227

- Infrared remote control
- 14-day/4-event programming
- 110 channel broadcastable FS quartz tuning

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK
10 AM-8 PM MONDAY-SATURDAY
SUNDAY 1-5 PM

776-4704
407 Poyntz Downtown Manhattan

It's a Whole New World at

CONDES

QUALITY PLUGGED IN...

AUDIO • VIDEO • TV

No payments are required during promotion period. Finance Charges and Insurance Charges will accrue on the account. However if the purchase is paid in full within the promotional period, all accrued charges will be waived. (On approved credit.)

MasterCard VISA Discover

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Mall offers center for family support

Manhattan Cares offers assistance to 1st Infantry soldier's loved ones

KIMIS HATJITIMOTHEADIS
Contributing Writer

Families with soldiers deployed with the 1st Infantry Division can find support and assistance at the mall.

Chris Heavey, general manager of the Manhattan Town Center, said the Manhattan Cares Center opened Jan. 8 to provide information and education about Fort Riley soldiers in Saudi Arabia.

The center is an idea of Project Manhattan Cares, a project supported by individuals and community businesses, he said.

"It is not only a Manhattan Town Center project," Heavey said. "The whole community is involved."

Jane Rutledge, a Manhattan volunteer, said Manhattan Cares is not an organized group.

"Anybody who can do something that can help the servicemen can be a part of it," she said.

In the windows of the center, two mannequins wearing desert camouflage uniforms give people the opportunity to see what soldiers are wearing in Saudi Arabia. Inside, there are display tables with booklets and other general information.

A television continuously shows a videotape of Big Red 1 soldiers.

"Videotapes are filmed by the Big Red 1 and then are forwarded to Fort Riley," Heavey said. "Fort Riley sends a copy to TV Cable 6 in Junction City who copies it for us."

"We provide information about many different things," said Jasmine Stoverink, senior in psychology and a volunteer at the center.

Lisa Wight, senior in secondary education, said she didn't know how to send mail to a friend in Saudi Arabia.

"I think that the center is very helpful," she said.

"If you need to write to someone, if you don't know how to send mail to the servicemen, we can help you," Rutledge said.

Rutledge said there are at least five volunteers in the center every day, but that they still need some people to volunteer on weekends.

The center is open during regular mall business hours.

People usually use the Project Manhattan Cares hotline to ask information, Rutledge said.

County passes resolution

Legion asks for amendment forbidding flag desecration

CANDY MCNICKLE
Collegian Reporter

The Riley County Commission recently passed a resolution calling for the passage of a constitutional amendment forbidding the desecration of the American flag.

The resolution stated: "That the Board of County Commissioners of Riley County, Kansas respectfully requests the Kansas Legislature approve a resolution memorializing the Congress of the United States to propose an amendment of the United States Constitution, for ratification by the states, specifying that Congress and the states shall have the power to prohibit the physical desecration of the Flag of the United States."

It also asked, "that copies of the resolution be transmitted to the speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, the President of the U.S. Senate and all members of the congressional delegation from the State of Kansas."

Manuel Houghton, Commander of the Manhattan American Legion, said his organization brought the resolution to the County Commission Dec. 27, 1990.

The legion has been concerned with the matter for the last three to four years, he said. The legion hopes the proposal will lead to ratification of an amendment protecting the flag from desecration.

"If there is no protection for the flag, it will soon become an endangered species," Houghton said. "It is ironic that in Washington D.C. you can't burn leaves, but you can burn the flag on the Supreme Court steps."

Houghton said he feels that those who desecrate the flag hide behind freedom of speech. But, he said, desecration is an act rather than speech.

Americans forget why there are so many people who are trying to get to our country, he said. He said we should look at Lithuania and Romania, which have lost their freedom, and realize the same thing could happen to us some day.

Similar feelings were shared by Riley County Commissioner Wilton Thomas. He said citizens owe this country respect by honoring the flag.

Allied air attacks to aid ground campaign

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Military analysts say allied air attacks must still take out Iraqi roads, supply depots, communications links, missiles and anti-aircraft sites before a land war can be waged with minimal losses.

And that may not happen until February, some say.

While not predicting when a ground campaign will begin, the U.S. military acknowledges it can be launched only after extensive air strikes against Saddam Hussein's entrenched forces.

"At the present time, I would say these are probably some of the most formidable defenses that you could ever run into anywhere," Gen. H. Norman Schwarzkopf III, the U.S. field commander in the Persian Gulf, said Sunday.

Dr. William Taylor, a senior military analyst with the private Center for Strategic and International Studies, said, "I'm assuming we won't take on a suicidal mission pitting our weaknesses against their strength. Attacking overland is a loser."

Iraq has the fourth-largest army in the world, with 545,000 troops deeply entrenched across the rugged Kuwaiti and southern Iraqi landscape.

"After the Soviets, fighting Iraq has always been the worst case scenario," said one military source.

Taylor's center has estimated that a 20-day land campaign would produce 20,000 allied casualties, including 4,000 dead.

The battle plan has always been to isolate the Iraqi troops in Kuwait by air strikes that obliterate military headquarters inside Iraq, cut off supply lines and eliminate air defenses. Only then can ground troops move against Iraqi defenses without unacceptable casualties.

Tacos 3 for $1.25 (reg. 55¢)
Chili Burrito $1.77 (reg. $2.45)
Good through 1-26-91

TACO HUT
"Where Good Friends Get Together"
2809 Claflin
On The Hill Overlooking Westloop 539-2091
Open Sun-Thurs. 11 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11 a.m.-Midnight

DEAN RETAIL LIQUOR Your Aggieville Stop!

Call us for your Non-School Supplies
539-5269
Warehouse prices everyday
521 N. 12th Next to Southern Sun

Tae Kwon Do Karate
Free Demonstration:
Ahearn Gymnasium
January 25, 7:00-8:00 p.m.

Classes: Tuesdays and Fridays
January 25-April 26
6:30-7:30 p.m. or 7:30-8:30 p.m.

For Registration Information call 532-5566

KSU
KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
Division of Continuing Education

LIVING THE DREAM

NONVIOLENCE
A TIME TO ACT, A WAY TO LIVE

Martin Luther King, Jr. Observance Week
January 20-27, 1991 Kansas State University

Tuesday, January 22, 1991
1 p.m., K-State Union Little Theatre.

The Impact of King's Legacy on American Race Relations, presentation by Rev. Samuel Mann, St. Mark's Union Church, Kansas City, and Chairman, Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Call now for reservations: 532-6436.
Friday, January 25, 1991
Convocation Luncheon with Randall Kennedy,
Harvard Law School.
Noon, K-State Union Ballroom.

Sponsored by Dep't of Housing and Dining Services

For All You Late Night Operators
You've been operating all night with your friends. All the pizza places are closed? And you're hungry. What do you do? Your friends pull through and remember that Pyramid Pizza is open until 2 a.m. weeknights and 3 a.m. weekends. You call. You eat. Yumm. Show them what good times are all about.

TONIGHT, LET IT BE PYRAMID.

COUPON MONDAY MANIA Buy 1 pizza Get 1 FREE MONDAYS ONLY Expires 9/1/91	COUPON LUNCH SPECIAL Buy 1 slice Get 1 FREE! 11 a.m.-2 p.m. weekdays Expires 1/31/91	COUPON FREE PEPSI with ALL you can eat Sundays only. Expires 1/31/91
$1 OFF Any Pyramid Pizza Expires 9/1/91	MEDIUM PIZZA with Single Topping $7.50 Expires 1/31/91	LARGE PIZZA with single topping $8.99 Expires 1/31/91

Pyramid Pizza. Open when you really want. 539-4888

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTS'Cats gun down
'Roos yet againDAN WICKER
Sports Reporter

K-State overcame a sluggish start Monday night in Bramlage Coliseum to post a 86-62 victory, and continue its dominance of the University of Missouri-Kansas City this season.

Only six nights ago, K-State visited the Kangaroos in Municipal Auditorium, and handed them a 76-62 defeat.

The Wildcats slowly built a lead through a first half of play that remained tight until the final five minutes. Jeff Wires put the 'Cats up by 10 on a driving layup with 4:20 left, and K-State outscored UMKC 13-4 during that final stretch.

During the K-State run, Wires led the charge with five points, Wylie Howard added four, and Maurice Brittian gave the Wildcats their largest lead of 14 points on a thunderous dunk that brought the crowd to life.

Both teams added a free throw before halftime, and K-State headed to the locker room with a 43-29 advantage.

However, K-State looked less than impressive for the crowd of 10,327. The Wildcats converted only 14-of-32 field goals in the first half for a 43.8 percent, and went only 1-for-6 from beyond the three-point arc.

"I thought we had some shots that we just missed," Coach Dana Altman said. "I was a little surprised, I thought they would start in a zone, and maybe we weren't mentally prepared for that. Mentally, we were looking for that zone, and they came in a man (to-man defense) and just slowed us down a step."

The second half proved to be more miserable for the Kangaroos, as K-State continued to build their lead until it swelled to 24 points. Marcus Zeigler came off the bench to lead K-State with 13 of his 15 points coming in the second half, and Keith Amerson added eight, including two treys.

Every K-State player that entered the game was able to add to the K-State victory. Howard led all scorers with 17 points, including 9-of-10 from the charity stripe. Brittian added 11 points and nine rebounds, and Amerson and Wires both chipped in 10 points.

Patrick Sams was the last Wildcat to score, but did it in a dramatic fashion. With only two seconds remaining, Sams caught a pass from Wires and promptly dunked it home making the final 86-62.

"We're just struggling offensively, and defensively we tried to guard them a little bit. We just always seemed to be a half a step behind tonight," Altman said. "I thought we played hard, but we just made some real questionable decisions defensively."

According to Altman, the poor defensive decisions forced the Wildcats out of position, and caused them to foul more than necessary. K-State committed 20 fouls, with 11 coming in the first half.

An alarming fact also hit the K-State fans Monday night. It is possible for Jean Derouillere to have a less

■ See UMKC, Page 9

K-State center John Rettiger tries to pull a defensive rebound from University of Missouri-Kansas City guard Kent Denmon during first half action Monday night at Bramlage Coliseum. The 'Cats beat the Kangaroos for the second time this season, 86-62.

Christopher T. Assaf/Staff

Play of bench keys easy home triumph for team

Howard, Zeigler spark strong effort by reserve unit

Wildcat guard Marcus Zeigler defends Kent Denmon, UMKC guard, during the 'Cats victory over the Kangaroos 86-62 in Bramlage Coliseum Monday night. Zeigler finished the game with 17 points.

Mike Venso/Staff

TODD FERTIG
Sports Reporter

Five substitutes from the Wildcat bench outscored the K-State starting five in the 86-62 runaway victory over UMKC Monday night.

Instead of racking up points in the final minutes of a blowout, when starters are typically pulled, the five reserves led the way from start to finish, giving the team 45 points and 23 of its 49 total rebounds.

Wylie Howard sparked the team with seven straight points midway through the first half, giving the Wildcats their first lead, which they would not relinquish. Howard knocked down nine-of-10 from the foul line and led the team with 17 points.

While Howard gave the Wildcats the lead with 11 first half points, Marcus Zeigler made sure they kept it. Zeigler nailed six-of-eight attempts from the field in the second period and earned praise from Coach Dana Altman for his hustling backcourt defense.

"Marcus has played well the last two games and I thought tonight he really gave us something defensively," Altman said. "It's good to see those players step up and score some points."

Also contributing from the bench throughout the contest were Steve Fritz and Darryl King, who combined for 11 points and 10 rebounds. Howard attributed some of the reserves' ability to produce to the attitude on the bench.

"We try to stay in the game by applauding and encouraging each other," Howard said. "It helps us all to stay in the game mentally and to support the team. I think Coach really emphasizes the enthusiasm and support on the bench."

Howard struggled before recently moving to the bench, managing just 23 points in the five games prior to the loss to Iowa State last weekend. Howard came off the bench to score 18 in the ISU contest, however, giving him 35 in the past two games.

Although experiencing success off the bench, Howard said he doesn't prefer one role to another.

"I don't know why I wasn't playing well before," Howard said. "I don't really think it's a lot different coming off the bench, so I don't really feel more comfortable off the bench. I think I can look at things differently from the bench, but I think it's basically the same."

"Either way, every game I just try to come out and get completely into the game mentally, so that I am prepared and into the flow in any situation."

Zeigler played 25 minutes off the bench, mostly in place of Jean Derouillere, the Wildcats' leading scorer on the season, who produced one-of-11 shooting and just five total points.

With Derouillere struggling, Altman was forced to insert Zeigler in the lineup with point guard Jeff Wires, giving the Wildcats a small, quick backcourt capable of increased defensive pressure.

"I thought the results went well," Altman said of the backcourt combination. "With Marcus in there, we picked up the tempo and were able to put on some more pressure."

Like Howard, Zeigler has also broken loose from a scoring slump in the past two contests.

UMKC (62)

Dumas 5-7 0-0 10, Spiva 1-4 1-2 3, A. Davis 1-6 3-7 5, Denmon 2-9 5-7 10, Schmitz 4-12 1-2 12, J. Davis 2-2 1-2 5, Williams 6-7 3-5 15, Dickerson 0-2 0-10, Echols 0-1 0-0 0, Seabrooks 1-1 0-0 2. Totals 22-51 14-26 62.

K-STATE (86)

Derouillere 1-11 3-4 5, Howard 4-8 9-10 17, Rettiger 1-2 3-4 5, Zeigler 7-11 1-2 15, Wires 3-10 3-3 10, Amerson 4-7 0-1 10, Brittian 5-11 1-2 11, King 2-4 1-6 5, Sams 1-1 0-0 2, Fritz 3-6 0-0 6. Totals 31-71 21-32 86.

Halftime score — K-State 43, UMKC 29. Three-point goals — UMKC 4-15 (Dumas 0-1, Denmon 1-7, Schmitz 3-7), K-State 3-14 (Zeigler 0-3, Derouillere 0-4, Amerson 2-3, Wires 1-2, Fritz 0-2). Rebounds — UMKC 32 (A. Davis 7, K-State 49 (Brittian 9). Assists — UMKC 12 (Denmon 4), K-State 19 (Derouillere 6). Total fouls — UMKC 23, K-State 20. Fouled out — none. Technicals — none. Attendance — 10,327.

Iowa State adds to frustrations

Yet another
Big 8 loss
comes in AmesSCOTT PASKE
Sports Reporter

AMES, Iowa — It could have been so quick and simple. K-State, trailing by 14 points in the first half, could have let Iowa State finish the blowout that was surfacing in the form of a 15-2 Cyclone run.

But heartbreak seems to be the Wildcats' destiny lately.

The 'Cats clawed back into the game by halftime, only to see their hopes of a first Big Eight Conference win fall short for the third straight time.

Iowa State edged the 'Cats 94-91 in Hilton Coliseum Saturday, making K-State 0-3 in league play for the first time since 1984.

The 'Cats have lost their three league games by a combined total of 10 points.

"Playing close and not getting it done ... we can't take a lot of satisfaction in that," K-State coach Dana Altman said.

K-State's haunting traits of poor free-throw shooting and turnovers set up a frustrating finale, as Jeff Wires' three-point attempt to tie the game with three seconds remaining was knocked away by Cyclone guard Justus Thigpen.

Wires was knocked off balance on the play, leaving the crowd of 14,050 to wonder if the K-State guard was fouled. No whistle was blown.

Thigpen claimed he touched only the ball. Wires wasn't so sure. "You'd have to watch the tape and make the call," Wires said.

When the game ended, the basketball fell into Altman's hands. The K-State coach vented his frustration by yelling at one official, cocking his arm as if to throw the ball at him.

Instead, Altman regained his composure, and flipped the ball to Iowa State coach Johnny Orr before giving Orr a post-game handshake.

If anybody could understand Altman's feelings, it would be Orr. The Cyclones were 2-10 last year in games decided by five points or less.

"This was a good victory," Orr said. "It was great the way we played down the stretch. I told my team that we would have to work very hard to get a win."

Fortunately for Iowa State, the hard work was complemented by hot field-goal shooting. The Cyclones hit 60 percent of their shots, including 7-of-9 from three-point range.

Guards Doug Collins and Thigpen did most of the damage, hitting six of the long-range shots. Collins tied Big Eight leading scorer Victor Alexander, who was battling the flu, with 23 points. Thigpen, the goat in K-State's 93-90 overtime win in Ames last year, added 20.

"They hit some three-pointers that I misjudged," Altman said. "I didn't

Wildcats' lethargic start to season

Wildcat coach Dana Altman

The K-State Wildcats have not yet won a conference game after three tries. This is the worst start since the 1983-84 season.

Year	Conference Start	Overall Record
1942-43	0-10	6-14
1983-84	0-4	14-15
1990-91	0-3	?
1945-46	1-10	4-20
1943-44	1-10	7-15

Source: K-State Sports Information

Gregory A. Branson/Colegian

think they were going to shoot it that well."

The Cyclones proved Altman wrong and went 7-of-10 from the field midway through the opening half to build a 27-13 lead.

"We came out so slow and sluggish," Wires said. "It seemed we were fighting back the whole game."

Jean Derouillere, who led the 'Cats with 23 points, threw K-State's first counter-punch on a three-pointer with 8:42 left in the opening half. Four minutes later, Derouillere's second bomb tied the game at 32.

From that point, the lead changed hands 13 times, including five ties.

"We had some guys pick it up a little bit, which was pleasing," Altman said. "I guess if we're looking for positives, that would be a positive."

Junior forward Wylie Howard, who scored a career-high 18 points in

■ See ISU, Page 9

IOWA STATE (94)

Alexander 9-14 5-7 23, Collins 8-11 3-7 23, Thigpen 6-11 6-8 20, Doerrfeld 4-8 9-10 17, Pippitt 2-4 1-2 6, Brown 2-3 0-2 4, Pearson 0-0 1-2 1, Kunz 0-1 0-20, McCoy 0-0 0-0 0, Chappell 0-0 0-0. Totals 31-52 25-40 94.

K-STATE (79)

Derouillere 8-14 4-4 23, Howard 8-12 2-6 18, Rettiger 5-9 2-6 12, Zeigler 4-8 0-0 12, Wires 5-13 0-2 10, Amerson 3-10 2-4 8, Brittian 2-3 3-4 7, King 0-4 1-2 1, Sams 0-0 0-0 0, Fritz 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 35-73 14-28 91.

Halftime score — K-State 41, Iowa State 41. Three-point goals — Iowa State 7-9 (Collins 4-5, Thigpen 2-2, Pippitt 1-2), K-State 7-14 (Zeigler 4-6, Derouillere 3-5, Amerson 0-2, Wires 0-1). Rebounds — Iowa State 32 (Doerrfeld 8), K-State 41 (Howard 12). Assists — Iowa State 12 (Thigpen 4), K-State 18 (Wires 6). Total fouls — Iowa State 24, K-State 29. Fouled out — Derouillere. Technicals — none. Attendance — 14,050.

K-State forward Wylie Howard is fouled by Iowa State's Norman Brown during the Wildcats 94-91 loss to the Cyclones.

David Mayes/Staff

Is it spring?

David Svoboda

Sports Editor

Weekend sunshine, an uncharacteristic lack of conference success by one of the teams occupying Bramlage Coliseum and a quick exit from the NFL playoffs by the Kansas City Chiefs have me ready for spring.

Mind you, I know this is late January, and there will undoubtedly be snow — and probably a great deal of it — before we make it to April and May and the official start of the season I long for, but ...

Losing sucks. Chalk me up as one of those brats spoiled by the recent successes of the teams that help me make it through the winter.

I'm a baseball fan through and through, and the only thing that has helped me make a fairly painless transition from the end of the World Series to the start of spring training each winter has been the recent routine success of the football and basketball teams I follow.

In football, the Chiefs had slumped until last season. In 1986, they gave us a glimpse of the playoffs, but it was a fleeting glance. In 1989, they had a strong first year under Marty Schottenheimer, but everyone knew the best was yet to come. In 1990, we found that the best was still to come, though being second best beats the hell out of being last. The Chiefs played the most exciting brand of football anyone has seen here in recent years and finished 11-5.

And, until Sunday's classic, 15-13 contest between New York and San Francisco, the Chiefs were part of the best playoff game of the year as well.

But the loss at Miami was bitter, and it stopped a team seemingly on a roll dead in its tracks.

Winning was great, but the Chiefs weren't in the Big Dance.

But for this sports fan, that was alright, because K-State basketball was ready to hit its conference stride.

Unfortunately, three games into the Big Eight campaign, the team remains in the starting blocks, far from reaching anything resembling a consistent stride.

In fact, on the day the Chiefs saw their season end, K-State saw its Big Eight slate get off to a rocky start with a home loss to Nebraska — the only game a visitor has taken in a conference tilt thus far this year.

Mark the date down on your calendar as the darkest day sports fans in these parts have seen in recent years: Black Saturday, Jan. 5, 1991.

K-State's men have opened their year with three consecutive conference losses for the first time since 1983-84, when they dropped four consecutive games to Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Colorado and Kansas.

Sure, none of the games was a lopsided loss for the 'Cats, and yes, there are still 11 games to play, but this team doesn't look much like a fifth-straight entrant into the NCAA tourney at this point.

Failure to reach the field of 64 for the Wildcats would be a painful pill to swallow for several purple-clad supporters — sportswriters like myself included.

And that's why my mind wanders to thoughts of freshly-cut infields, the crack of the bat — anything having to do with the opening of a new season in the sport that is America's true national pastime.

No, I haven't given up on Dana Altman's team.

But, for now, things don't look too bright indoors for the first time since 1985-86. Only Altman and his team can change that now. They're just a few more disappointing performances away from my grabbing my ball glove and not looking back.

But they're just as close to my putting baseball out of my mind until April. I hope they can change my calendar and priorities.

It's not too late.

Lady Cats lose lead, game

Press by ISU spells difference in home defeat

JENIFER SCHEIBLER
Sports Reporter

It was like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in Bramlage Coliseum.

The Lady Cat team that played the first half was not the same team that played the second half and the crew consequently left the court with a disappointing 75-66 loss to the Iowa State Lady Cyclones on Saturday.

What looked to be a potential thrashing of the Lady Cyclones by the Lady Cats came to a screeching halt in the second half.

Coach Susan Yow attributed the loss to a decrease in the team's level of intensity that led to the inability to handle ISU's press in the second half.

"We came back out and I felt that we had lost our focus," Yow said. "We didn't really want to work any harder."

This, in turn, allowed the Lady Cats to fall victim to the Lady Cyclone press, she said.

"I think their press was the key to them coming back in the second half," she said.

In the first half the Lady Cats showed why they had earned a spot in the four-way tie for first place in the Big Eight.

The home crowd was treated to 18 minutes of solid execution, both offensively and defensively by the Lady Cats.

"The first half we played hard and with a great deal of intensity," Yow said.

The Lady Cats jumped out to a 10-2 lead early in the game, continued to build on it and looked to be headed to a complete domination of the Iowa State team.

"We were in sync," Yow said. "I thought we played one of our better halves of the year."

At the 6:04 mark of the game, point guard Mary Jo Miller fed Leah Honeycut for a layup to put the Lady Cats up by 10.

The Lady Cats saw their biggest lead of the game, 14, at the 1:52 mark, on layup by Kristie Bahner who scored 12 first half points.

Enter Dr. Jekyll.

Fueled by K-State turnovers, the

Christopher T. Assaf/Staff

Guard Nadira Hazim shoots over Iowa State's Leslie Maple on her way to scoring 23 points for the Lady Cats Saturday.

Lady Cyclones ran off eight straight points cutting the lead to six, 38-32.

The second half saw the Lady Cats build the lead back to 10 on a couple of free throws by Nadira Hazim, making the score 44-34 with 16:34 remaining in the game, but the momentum was with ISU.

The Lady Cyclones scored the next 10 points to tie the game at 44 at the 13:42 mark.

Neither team led by more than five points until the Lady Cyclones took control on a 3-point basket by Laura Decker to put them up by eight with 4:07 left in the game.

ISU built the lead to 10, but a 3-point basket by Diana Miller with 1:11 left cut the lead and gave the Lady Cats a spark of hope.

Missed free throws kept the Lady Cats from getting much closer to the victory.

Nadira Hazim got off to a quick start by scoring 13 first-half points and finished the game with 23 to lead the team.

Hazim was 6-of-6 from the free throw line to increase her free throw streak to 25. She is currently 21-of-21 from the line in Big Eight play.

Christopher T. Assaf/Staff

Senior Diana Miller runs into a wall of Cyclones during Saturday's game against Iowa State at Bramlage Coliseum. The Cyclones won 75-66.

Bahner finished the game with 14 points.

The Lady Cyclones had four players in double figures with Decker leading the charge by finishing the game with 17 points.

The loss puts the Lady Cats' record at 9-6 overall and 2-2 in conference play going into their next game against Oklahoma at 7 p.m. Wednesday in Bramlage Coliseum.

The game will be the second in a three-game conference homestand for the Lady Cats.

UNLV remains solid choice at top of college hoop poll

By the Associated Press

UNLV was a unanimous No. 1 for the third straight week in the Associated Press college basketball poll announced Monday, and New Orleans made its first appearance in rankings since 1987.

UNLV (13-0) received all 64 first-place votes and 1,600 points in balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The top four teams remained unchanged from last week, with Arkansas (17-1) No. 2, followed by Indiana (16-1) and Ohio State (15-0).

UNLV beat Long Beach State 114-63 on Saturday but faced UC-Santa Barbara Monday night. Santa Barbara was the last team to beat the defending NCAA champions, 78-70 last season.

"They're probably waiting for us outside the gym now," Runnin' Rebels Coach Jerry Tarkanian said after the Long Beach State game.

Arkansas received 1,518 points, Indiana 1,448 and Ohio State 1,434.

No. 24 New Orleans (15-2) and No. 22 Michigan State (12-4) were the two newcomers to the poll. The last time New Orleans appeared in the poll was the final week of the 1986-87 season, at 16th. Michigan State was ranked as high as No. 4 in preseason but fell out of the poll three weeks ago.

New Orleans beat Texas-Pan American 72-54 on Saturday. Michigan State beat Minnesota and Illinois in its recent outings.

Iowa, which had been 24th, and Seton Hall, 25th, fell out of the poll. Iowa lost 99-79 to Indiana and Seton Hall was beaten 78-64 by Syracuse.

Arizona (15-2) was No. 5, followed by Syracuse (16-2), North Carolina (13-2), Kentucky (14-2), Duke (15-3) and St. John's (15-3). North Carolina fell from fifth to seventh after a 74-60 loss to Duke, which moved up to ninth from 12th.

UCLA (14-3) was 11th, falling out of the Top Ten after an 89-82 loss to Stanford last week. Following the Bruins in the Second Ten were East Tennessee State, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Southern Mississippi, Louisiana State, Pittsburgh, Virginia, Connecticut and Utah.

Georgetown was No. 21, followed by Michigan State, New Mexico State, New Orleans and South Carolina.

Sports Briefly

Buckeyes hold off Hoosiers

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — No. 4 Ohio State won the battle for first place in the Big Ten as Jamaal Brown scored a career-high 29 points, including five in the final 1:35, and the undefeated Buckeyes survived third-ranked Indiana's second-half charge for a 93-85 victory on Monday night.

Ohio State (16-0, 6-0 in the Big Ten) led 48-29 at halftime and 54-32 early in the second half. Indiana (16-2, 4-1) had its 14-game winning streak ended.

UMKC

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8
than average performance. Derouillere was held to 1-of-11 shooting from the field and ended with only five points on the night. Derouillere also grabbed only one board.

"He didn't play very well. He just struggled tonight, and I don't know what the reason is," Altman said. "I didn't think he had a very good game all around. He did struggle on the boards, and without looking at the tape I can remember a couple of times when he was out of position defensively."

This gave way to Altman issuing a smaller guard tandem with Wires and Zeigler receiving more playing time together.

"It really makes a difference when both Zeigler and I are in the game," Wires said. "We have two guys to push the ball up the floor and two guys to apply the pressure on defense."

K-State needs to have one of its best performances of the season both offensively and defensively this Saturday when they travel to Stillwater, Okla., to face Oklahoma State in a 1:05 p.m. tipoff.

ISU

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8
a reserve role, gave K-State a lift inside. Howard, who also pulled down 12 rebounds, scored three times on follow shots. He gave K-State one of its seven leads at 59-58 on back-to-back buckets.

"He played pretty hard and pretty well," Altman said. "If he had hit his free throws, he would have a really good effort."

The same could be said for most of the 'Cats. K-State hit just 14-of-28 from the line. Derouillere was the only player to make all of his attempts.

But K-State's biggest blow may have come with 3:24 remaining, when Derouillere committed his fifth foul on Paul Doerrfeld underneath the Iowa State basket.

Doerrfeld, who scored a season-high 17 points, hit two free throws to give Iowa State an 80-79 lead. He scored nine of the Cyclones' final 14 points to offset a pair of three-pointers by K-State guard Marcus Zeigler.

K-State, which could not build a lead of more than three points the entire game, never saw the lead again.

"It hurt K-State when Derouillere fouled out," Orr said. "But we never let them get out in front of us where we couldn't come back by hitting a couple baskets. And we held on to our poise at the end of the game." K-State players said the string of close losses weren't producing any benefits.

"We're 0-3, and that record shows that we haven't beaten anybody," Wires said. "There's no satisfaction in just coming within two to Missouri and five to a ranked Nebraska team. We need to beat a couple of those teams."

"We're trying to find out reasons why we're not getting it done," Howard said. "If it's not one thing, it's another. We just got outfought tonight."

J. Matthew Rhea/Staff

Kelly Zart, senior in electrical engineering, makes an unsuccessful attempt to clear the pole during pole vaulting competition at the KSU Coors Invitational Track Meet Saturday in Ahearn Field House.

Track teams open seasons

JENIFER SCHEIBLER
Sports Reporter

The men's and women's track teams opened their indoor seasons by hosting the KSU Coors Invitational Saturday at Ahearn Field House.

The teams combined for 12 individual wins and two relay victories.

Coach John Capriotti said he was pleased and a bit surprised by his team's performance in the season opener.

He said he was surprised because it is hard to know what to expect from the athletes in the first meet.

"We wanted to start off the year with some solid performances. I think we did that and a little bit more," he said.

"Down the line, everybody competed well and did a good job. Basically, we trained right through this meet because it is the beginning of the year."

On the men's side, K-State's Corey King was named Outstanding Male Athlete for the meet. "He had a great meet," he said. "He looked like today he was finally on his way."

Neither of the two teams were competing at full force due to injuries and decisions to hold some athletes out of the meet for training reasons, he said.

Capriotti said the women's team really did well in spite of this.

"We had a good meet even without running four or five of our best girls," he said.

Capriotti emphasized he expects both teams to improve as the season progresses.

"Basically, from top to bottom it was a real good start. But we have a long way to go. A lot of these people can run, jump and throw a lot farther and faster," he said.

Entering the meet, Capriotti said his goals were to have solid performances and possibly some breakthroughs.

"Generally, I thought we had that today," he said.

Capriotti said he would like to see his teams finish strongly in the conference.

He said he hopes to see the women's team challenge Big Eight track and field power, Nebraska, for the conference championship.

If those on the men's team can recover from injuries, he said he would like to see them finish as one of the top three teams.

Service provides war counseling

S. KATHERINE DIETRICH
Health/Science Reporter

Operation Desert Storm is on everyone's mind and many students have sought a listening ear at the University Counseling Service for their concerns about Middle East aggressions.

Many students have loved ones involved in the operation, but even students without a direct connection to service personnel overseas are showing distress at the outbreak of war.

"Students are worried about the meaning (the war has) for their lives," said John Robertson, psychologist at University Counseling Services. They may be concerned, he said, about issues that affect them more personally, such as the reinstatement of the draft.

And in general, students have an awareness about the world around them that is jolted by the war. This, Robertson assures, is an expected and normal reaction.

Even so, the serious consequences of war may elicit unexpected reactions. "There may be a lot of laughing, or telling morbid jokes," Robertson explained. "But underneath the bravado is real fear and concern."

"This won't be over tomorrow," Robertson said. The emotional needs will continue as long as the U.S. military is involved.

Regents OK development plan

Proposal to go to Legislature if K-State, KCT merger passes

CINDY BRIGGS
Collegian Reporter

A development plan for the Kansas College of Technology in Salina was approved Thursday by the Kansas Board of Regents and will be sent on to the Kansas Legislature if the merger between K-State and KCT passes.

"The proposal is subject to Legislative approval," said Regent Charles Hostetler, Manhattan. "The Legislature has to approve it, but we did."

Robert Krause, K-State vice president of institutional advancement, said the long-range development proposal for the KCT campus consists of three phases.

Phase one includes the development of a main entrance to the campus and the construction of a north boundary road. The total cost of phase one is $500,000.

In phase two, a $2 million aeronautical center, a $2.4 million college center, which will provide services comparable to the K-State Union, and a $3 million residence with an expected housing capacity of 200 students will be built, Krause said.

The final phase will start in August 1993. Phase three will provide for a technology center with classroom and lab space for third and fourth-year technology students, along with a library addition.

However, this development plan cannot begin until the Legislature approves the merger of K-State and KCT.

The merger was introduced in the first Legislative session and has yet to have had a hearing in Senate committee. Once the merger has passed the Legislature, then the development proposal can be considered.

Krause said he hoped the Legislature acted quickly to approve the merger so other plans can move ahead.

If both the merger and the appropriations pass the Legislature, funding for the project will come from selling revenue bonds, which first must be authorized by the Legislature, and a half percent sales tax approved by voters in Salina in a special-election last September. The sales tax is expected to raise $4.5 million.

Krause said K-State is requesting either $2 million from the Legislature for the aeronautical center or funding for a lease agreement in the next fiscal year that would amount to about $31,000 for a lease payment, utilities and maintenance.

"If we had the Airport Authority at Salina build it, they would lease it to us and we would pay them back over a 20-year period long-term lease," said Krause.

The Salina Airport Authority is the

■ See MERGER, Page 16

Country Swing Dance Lessons

8 p.m.

$20 per couple
Tuesday, Jan. 22
at

The Ranch
SALOON

3 mi East on Highway 24

539-4989

ANNOUNCEMENT

Evidence gathered in several surveys of the student body indicates that a high proportion of students on the K-State campus have lost a friend or a family member in the past 12 months.

Dr. David Balk in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies has been given funds to conduct a two-year study of college students who are coping with the death of a friend or family member. The first part of this study occurred in the Fall Semester of 1990.

Dr. Balk is looking for 80 students who are still grieving a death of a friend or family member. He is also looking for 40 other students who are not bereaved over a death and who would be willing to take part in a companion research study on coping with stress in college life.

The project will begin in early February. Arrangements are underway to provide one hour of course credit for persons who would like credit for participating in the research project.

For further information contact Dr. David Balk, Justin Hall 318, 532-5510.

BUY 1 GET 1 FREE SALE

Buy one sale item at original price and receive another sale item (of equal or less value) absolutely FREE!

All Fall & Winter Merchandise included in this Sale

Alterations Extra

All Sales Final

BRENTWOOD
• FOR MEN & WOMEN •

700 N. Manhattan Ave.

Ph. 539-1414

HOURS: Mon.-Sat. 10-6, Thurs 10-8, Sun. 1-5

Sponsor of the Big Eight Body Building Championships
FREE-WEIGHT EQUIPMENT

- Universal Machines
- Exercise Bicycles
- Life Cycle
- Stairmaster
- Weight Training Consultation
- Tanning Beds
- Hot Tub
- Showers and Lockers

SEMESTER SPECIAL $75-GROUP RATES AVAILABLE
Laramie Plaza-Basement 539-7095

BALLARD'S
"Quality—Competitive Edge Sporting Goods Store"

January Clearance Sale

Mens & Womens
Warm-ups

40% off

Fall
Jackets

50% off

Aerobic Wear
and
Active Wear

20-50% off

Tennis Wear and Swimwear

50% off

Large selection of over 50 styles of brand name athletic shoes!

30-40% off

Hoopware

50% off

"Diamond rings and all those things, they never sparkle
like your smile."

Thompson Twins
King for a Day

Smile enhancement by the professionals

Teeth cleaning from $25

SAGER DENTAL ASSOCIATES, P.A.
514 Humboldt Plaza Hygiene Department 913-537-8823

Hours: Mon.-Thurs. 8:30-8:00, Fri. & Sat. 8:30-5:30, Sun. 11-5

1218 Moro

Aggieville

537-2441

'Intruder' suffers from cheesy script, release

Vietnam war movie's poor timing worsens pathetic film

ERIC MELIN
Collegian Reviewer

"I want to smell it. I've been away for awhile."

You can almost taste the cheese pouring out of that remark. As "Flight of the Intruder" opened, I had such high hopes. I was looking forward to seeing a dramatic Vietnam war movie with maybe a new angle in the story, and it had a strong cast. I should have known when Willem Dafoe uttered the above line, that what I was in for was another glorifying mindless action flick.

I should have been tipped off by the poster. It pictures Danny Glover, Brad Johnson and Dafoe looking smug and tough with a photo of an aircraft carrier and a neat-looking plane. This wasn't near as bad as the tag line above the title — "The only thing they can count on is each other." More Reviewer says...

Crash and Burn

+ ✓ ⊖

cheese.

"Flight of the Intruder" was scheduled for release last summer, but it was delayed for more editing. Unfortunately, the new release date could not have been timed worse. With a "crisis" going on in the Persian Gulf, the last thing this country needs is a tasteless macho movie about the Vietnam "conflict."

The best movie editors in the world couldn't save this pathetic film. It starts out with the death of a lieutenant who happens to be the partner of Jake Grafton (Johnson), the main dude. Everybody seems to be particularly sensitive about it, especially Jake, and they brood around for the first half-hour or so.

Somehow this takes our Naval heroes to a bar. There we are subjected to numerous cute asides and toilet jokes as a brawl ensues. I guess the producers figured they had to start entertaining at that point and that a bar fight was a sure-fire bet.

As one man throws another into a mud pit, he yells, "Mess call!" As I lay in the aisle, in stitches from laughing so hard, I could feel the Velveeta piling up.

This movie pretends to be about honor and courage but the screenplay is so bad you can see the actors struggling to keep a straight face as they recite ridiculously cheesy lines. It's a shame to see good actors like Dafoe ("Platoon") and "The Last Temptation of Christ") wasted on such trash.

Lafene contributes old glasses

S. KATHERINE DIETRICH
Health/Science Reporter

In countries with little or no eye care, a bad case of nearsightedness can mean going without a job. Sometimes all that is needed is a good pair of eyeglasses, which can be found in Lafene Health Center's collection box.

Dr. Dan Martin, physician at Lafene Health Center, is keeper of the eyeglasses box at the health center. When donations of old specs fill the container, he forwards them to the Christian Medical and Dental Society.

From there, the glasses are transported to countries by medical professionals who voluntarily care for those without health resources.

Several times each year, CMDS volunteers visit underdeveloped countries worldwide. Medical, dental and surgical services are provided to people who cannot afford health care, or cannot travel to get it.

Without these services, the amount of eye care received by residents in poorer countries would be "essentially none," said Martin.

By receiving the gift of vision-correcting glasses, some people are able to end lives of dependency and begin working to support themselves.

Thousands of people each year are assisted by the vision correction program of CMDS, said Jennifer Nolen, official at the agency's Texas headquarters.

Prescription glasses have been collected by Martin for the CMDS for most of the 14 years he's been at Lafene. Two to four boxes of glasses were sent to CMDS each year for several years. At one point the box was moved, and the program of collection was dropped.

Last spring Martin's enthusiasm for the program was re-sparked. He requested a new collection box from CMDS and set it up again over the recent Christmas break. Old, but wearable, prescription glasses can be donated at Lafene.

What Can Make ACUVUE Disposable Contact Lenses Even Better?

A Free Trial Pair!

We want to open your eyes to the convenience and comfort of ACUVUE Disposable Contact Lenses. Come in for an eye exam. If ACUVUE is right for you, we'll give you a free trial pair.

ACUVUE The First Disposable Contact Lenses - Johnson & Johnson

Dr. Paul E. Bullock 776-9461
Optometrist Toll Free 1-800-432-0036
555 Poyntz Ave., Suite 151 Colony Square - Extended hours Wednesdays & Saturdays.

BUSHWACKERS
WELCOME BACK
KSU

Tonight and Wednesday 9 p.m.

COMEDY INVASION

featuring
Taylor Mason

- 10th Anniversary of Comedy; Magic Club
- Evening at the Improv
- Showtime

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

-Call for Reservation-
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

Standing Room Only
sensational shoe sale
Buy One Get One FREE!
Women's Shoes.
1222 Moro-Aggleville-Manhattan

For Freshmen and Sophomore
Business
Majors

BAPP CLUB Meeting

4 p.m.
Union 207

Any questions
Call 532-6180

AIM HIGH

AIM HIGH
FOR CAREER
SUCCESS.

Air Force ROTC builds leadership, managerial ability, self-confidence, individual pride — all the qualities that count in your career. Air Force ROTC can even help pay for your education. Learn more now. Call

DEPT OF
AEROSPACE STUDIES
(913) 532-6600

AIR FORCE ROTC

Leadership Excellence Starts Here

Compare Our Prices!

Most Makes
of Ribbons!

Computer Paper
only $29.95

Hull Business Machines

715 N. 12th 539-1413

INTERVIEW & JOB SEARCH WORKSHOPS (4 sessions)

- Small groups/ personal attention
- Interview Practice
- Planning your job search

BUSINESS MAJORS:

Mondays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)

Starts Jan. 28

ENGINEERING MAJORS:

Tuesdays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)

Starts Jan. 29

EDUCATION MAJORS

Thursdays (7:30-8:30 p.m.)

Starts Jan. 31

Sign up NOW—Each session limited to nine persons.

$10 per session

CAREER DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

200 Southwind Place, Suite 106

776-1229

You Deserve More Than Just a Basic Apartment...

You Deserve Brittney Ridge Townhomes!

Brittney Ridge townhomes give you the luxury of an apartment with more added extras for as low as $195 a month. Each townhome has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, and a study room. Rooms are pre-wired for computer, phone, & cable TV. A large recreation area with gazebos, hot tubs and a volleyball court make this development more than just an apartment complex, but a community in itself.

Bus to Campus
Call Us Today
776-5599

Located in Northwest Manhattan on Candlewood Drive

DAN WEIR COMPANY DWC REAL ESTATE

2601 Anderson Manhattan, KS 66502
913/776-5599 • Fax 913/776-3805

NOW... THEN... NOW... THEN... NOW... THEN... NOW...

The Saint Mary Hospital Invites You And Your Family To An All Hospital

OPEN HOUSE

Saturday, January 26 • 1 PM to 4 PM

PRIZES:

Register to win:

- Schwinn Air Dye Bike
- One year Health Club Membership to the Health Club of your choice
- "Get Away" Weekend — 2 nights at Embassy Suites
- Mammogram (without radiologist expense)
- Reacher
- Elastic Shoelaces
- Fresh Bread/Rolls
- Fruit Basket
- Stress Rules
- Relaxation Tapes
- Scrub Shirts
- "Treat Your Own Back" Book
- Stress EKG with Physician Interpretation
- Medical Dictionary
- Duffel Bag
- Car Seat
- Fitness Assessment
- "Over The Counter" Medical Book
- ServiceMaster Spot Remover Kit
- Free T-shirts to 1st 100 visitors (1 per family)

TOURS:

- New Mental Health Unit
- Physical Therapy
- Vascular and Urodynamic Lab
- Patient Room and Day Room
- Emergency Room
- Birthing Room
- Special Dinner Room
- Pediatric Room

DEMONSTRATIONS:

- Muscle Stimulation
- Carotid Artery
- Echo Equipment
- Oximeter
- Medical Records — see how records are maintained
- Intra Operative Cell Retrieval
- What Happens After a Heart Attack

DISPLAYS:

- Diabetic Diet
- Low Sodium Diet
- Living Will
- Poison Control

COMPLIMENTARY:

- Blood Pressure Checks
- Stress Test
- Grip Strength
- Height
- Weight

Member CSJ Health System of Wichita
1823 College Ave, Manhattan, KS 66502

LIVING THE DREAM NONVIOLENCE A TIME TO ACT, A WAY TO LIVE!

Martin Luther King, Jr., Observance Week
January 20-27, 1991 Kansas State University

Martin Luther King, Jr.'s, Legacy and the Persian Gulf Crisis

Tuesday, January 22, 1991
7:30 p.m., 16 Bluemont Hall Media Center

Panel discussion with:
Dr. Anne Butler, Educational Supportive Services
Dr. Charles Perkins, Psychology
Motaz Alhourani, Political Science
Tony Williams, College of Education
Dr. Talat Rahman, Physics.

Students travel to Great Britain

ANNE TATUM
Collegian Reporter

Over Christmas break 20 K-State students and their faculty sponsors spent 17 days in Great Britain. The purpose of the trip was to view architectural sites, performing arts and other sites of cultural interest in and around London.

English instructor, Gary Clift, said this was the eighth or ninth year K-

State has taken this trip during winter intersession. Most of the students receive two hours credit.

"We have a pretty full calendar touring museums, literary sites and even some strictly haunted sites," Clift said.

He said the haunted sites are a highlight of the trip each year.

Ben Frisch, senior in public relations, said he has been to England twice. He also went with his parents when he was a sophomore in high school. He credited Clift with convincing him to go this year.

"I had Gary Clift as a teacher, and he gave me the information on the trip," he said.

Frisch said the sights he saw this year meant more this time.

Diane Dollar, assistant professor of art, went as a faculty sponsor for the fifth year.

"It's a wonderful opportunity to visit merry old England. The art is fabulous," she said. "I go every year because the art exhibitions change and the theater is always different."

Dollar said everyone toured together in the mornings to places like the ancient Roman baths in Bath and Stonehenge. In the afternoons they split up and went to their various areas.

Senators retreat to set new goals

STUDENT SENATE

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

With an abundance of new senators, the K-State Student Governing Association used a retreat this weekend to establish goals and form a sense of group unity.

The three-day retreat was a trip to the Rock Springs 4-H Center, about 40 miles southwest of Manhattan.

"We were looking at what we could do to help ourselves in order to help the students at K-State," Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt said. "The most important part was the unity."

Heitschmidt said 40 of the 58 people in Student Senate this semester are first-year senators. With such a high percentage of inexperienced senators, it is vital to the Senate to acclimate the newcomers to their responsibilities as quickly as possible.

"You have to hit it from the start," he said. "Senate doesn't work as well if you have to backtrack."

The goals set were general in nature, Heitschmidt said. More specific goals will be established in the next few weeks.

"An overall objective is refocusing on student services and student government managing those services better," he said.

Sex, stress key topics of forums today

By the Collegian Staff

Sex, stress and alcohol will be addressed by Mary Peterson, executive director of the Mid-American Panhellenic Council Association, Jan. 22 in Forum Hall.

Two presentations will be given. The first is at 2:30 p.m. on "Male/Female Relationships" and the second is at 7:30 p.m. on "Sex, Stress and Alcohol."

Peterson is the associate director of campus programs and student activities as well as the greek adviser at the University of Iowa.

Trina Callicott, senior in architectural engineering, heard Peterson speak at the Mifca/Mapca Regional Panhellenic Conference last March.

"She really holds your attention by using crowd participation," Callicott said.

The sponsors for the event are as follows: Delta Upsilon fraternity,

Alpha Delta Pi sorority, Greek Affairs and the Association of Residence Halls.

"Mary is up-to-date and really knows where we are coming from," said Jennifer Scheibler, junior in journalism and a member of Alpha Delta Pi.

The DUs first heard Peterson at their 1990 international summer conference and said they thought it would be a good idea to bring her to K-State.

IT'S OUR PARTY AND WE'LL BUY IF WE WANT TO.

It's the best deal of the new year. Buy one — Get one 91!! Buy a 6" Sub, get one more for 91!! Or buy a Footlong, get one for $1.91! A single drink purchase is required. Get on down to Subway for the best subs at some great prices!

Buy any 6-inch sub, get one for only 91¢.
Buy one Footlong, get one for $1.91.*

*Cold Cut Combo & Veggie & Cheese not eligible. Second sub must be of equal or lesser value. Offer expires: Jan. 22, 1991.
620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

SUBWAY

KRAZY KRIS

NOVELTIES & GIFTS
Adult Section

Paintball Games Begin in March

Don't Miss out on the Action!

We have supplies and rental equipment available

539-4567

1128 Moro • Aggieville

ON THE WILD SIDE

Welcomes you Back

- Beads-create your own jewelry
- Tapestries
- G.D. Stickers
- Baja shirts
- Art-original
- Concert posters

AND MUCH MORE TO SEE!

Hours: M-F 11-7
Sat. 11-6, Sun. 12-4

776-BAJA

TONIGHT

Delta Upsilon, Alpha Delta Pi, Greek Affairs
& The Association of Residence Halls

PRESENT...

Sex, Stress & Alcohol

Nationally renowned speaker Mary Peterson talks frankly on topics of concern to college students.

Co-Sponsors
ATΩ
ΠΒΦ
ΣΚ

— Jan. 22 —
Love, Lust & Dating — 2:30 p.m.
Sex, Stress & Alcohol — 7:30 p.m.
— Union • Forum Hall —
Admission is FREE

Co-Sponsors
ΔΣΦ
ΠΚΑ
ΓΦΒ

MCCAIN

Daniel McKelway and Friends
Mozart: Music for Winds

Friday, February 1, 8 p.m.
Here's an antidote for Poison: Take two Mozart Serenades and the Overture to the Marriage of Figaro; sit back and enjoy.

Join Avery Fisher Career Award-winning clarinetist Daniel McKelway and a dozen of his friends for an evening of wind music that will show you why Salieri was so jealous of Mozart.

With student prices 1/2 what the general public pays, a ticket to Mozart is just what the doctor ordered.

Students/Children: $7.50
Senior Citizens: $13.00
General Public: $15.00

Orchestra level seating

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Auditorium box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also available at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

This program is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. Additional support has been provided by the Friends of McCain, Union National Bank and Trust Company, and the Fine Arts Fee.

Bounce Into Spring January 22-26

Welcome Back Specials

20% Off Backpacks

20% Off Posters

15% Off Basketball Apparel

15% Off Computer Supplies

at the
K-State Union
Bookstore

15% Off Imprinted Wirebounds and Imprinted Binders

20% Off Study Aids
(Tag Indicates Study Aid)

Support the K-State Union.
Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities

K-State Union
Bookstore

Unarmed hijacker caught in Bulgaria

Soviet pilot makes emergency landing

By the Associated Press

SOFIA, Bulgaria — A hijacker who threatened to blow up a Soviet airplane carrying 151 passengers and eight crew on a domestic flight surrendered today after the plane made an emergency landing in the Bulgarian city of Burgas.

An official reached by telephone from Sofia said the hijacker was unarmed when he gave up to authorities following negotiations by Deputy Interior Minister Krasimir Sandzhiev and all aboard the plane, including five children, were reported safe.

The pilot of the TU-154 plane landed at Burgas because he was short on fuel after Turkey denied landing permission at Istanbul's Ataturk International Airport, said the official who asked not to be identified.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the hijacker threatened to blow up the plane shortly after takeoff if he was not taken to Turkey.

Several Soviet domestic flights have been hijacked the past year by youth desperate to escape their country because of economic, social and political problems.

The Bulgarian office of the Soviet airline Aeroflot identified the hijacker as Gennadi Yurievich Gannemets from the southern Russian port of Novorossiysk.

University work-study eases budget worries

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

As money belts tighten due to the recession, students and many departments on campus will be looking to get the most out of the dollar.

The college work-study program, which is a federally-funded aid program, has been the saving grace needed for many departments on campus whose budgets are dwindling.

Ann Stevens, administrative officer in the College of Human Ecology, said when student employment positions in the office become available, they do not actively seek out work-study students. Work-study, however, could be the deciding factor in who would be given the job.

"When students fill out applications, we look at whether the student is in the college and what kind of student they are, such as their GPA and extracurricular activities. If there are two students, one on work-study and one not, and everything is equal, we will take the student on work-study," Stevens said.

She said this path is taken for obvious economic reasons.

"There is only so much money to go around. When a position opens up we don't wait for a work-study student, but it helps," Stevens said.

Marlene Kunze Dolan, personnel manager for the K-State Union, said there are 80 work-study students employed in the Union.

"There are a great many more non-work-study students employed here, but we are always tickled pink when we can get a CWS student."

Students wishing to receive a work-study award must demonstrate their need based on the results of the ACT Family Financial Statement, said Larry Moeder, associate director of Student Financial Assistance

Students on work-study

Source: Student Financial Aid Office

Gregory A. Branson/Collegian

Office.

"Once they do this, we can grant them a work-study award. It is then up to the student to look for a position of employment on campus," he said.

The jobs filled by work-study students are identical to those of students on campus payroll, Moeder said. The only difference is the source of funding.

Welcome Back Students!

Budweiser. Suitcase SALE!!

Reves Retail Liquor

1100 Laramie
(Handi Corner in Aggieville)

537-1050

The Friendly Corner Store Mon.-Sat. 9 a.m.-11 p.m.

Nautilus

Total Fitness Center

$79.95

"Semester Special"

call or stop by for details

1100 Moro Aggieville "More fitness for your fitness dollar" 776-1654

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special
3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes
$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers
2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes
$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

new BEGINNINGS

HEX

12 Sessions for $25

Don't you Dare Let your Tan Fade!

1107 N. 3rd, 537-1003

With Coupon — Expires 2/16/91

PREGNANCY TESTING CENTER

539-3338

•Free Pregnancy Testing
•Totally Confidential Services
•Same Day Results
•Call For Appointment
•Walk-ins Welcome
•Located across from Campus in Anderson Village

Monday-Friday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. or by appointment

Basketball Officials Needed!

Meetings:

Tuesday, Jan. 22 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

Wednesday, Jan. 23 at 6:30 p.m. Rec Complex, Rec Gym

Thursday, Jan. 24 at 6:30 p.m. K-State Union, Room 212

* Attendance is mandatory for all meetings! *

Starting Pay: $4.00/hour (more for experienced officials)

Call Rec Services Offices for details...532-6980

Meet your Credit Union staff at the 1991 Annual Meeting of the KSU Federal Credit Union

Tues., Jan. 22, 1991

Rm. 213, K-State Union

7 pm

Faculty, staff, and retired members are encouraged to attend the annual meeting.

Business Meeting: Report of business and financial condition of the credit union. Election of member to the Board of Directors and Credit Committee

Program: "Credit Unions on Trial"

Learn how you can help your credit union win the battle to stay insured and regulated as a financial cooperative that is democratically controlled.

L.I.F.E.

Kansas State University

LIFESTYLE IMPROVEMENT THROUGH FITNESS ENHANCEMENT

SPRING SCHEDULE 1991

The L.I.F.E. PLUS Program

Hydrobics	M-F	7:30 a.m.
	T-Th	2:30 p.m.
		Pools
Aerobic/Flex & Tone	M-W-F	12-1 p.m.
		Nat. 004
Flex & Tone	T-Th	12-12:45 p.m.
		Nat. 004
Walk/Jog Program	M-F	Noontime

The L.I.F.E. Program

Early Bird - 6-7:30 a.m. M-F

Noontime - 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. M-F

Evening - 6-9:30 p.m. Sun.-Thurs.

Also included in the L.I.F.E. program fee are free weekly noontime blood pressure checks, a monthly newsletter, free cholesterol screening and fitness seminars.

In addition, the L.I.F.E. program offers a variety of health and fitness assessments. Showers, lockers and towels are available. Class registration at Ahearn Equipment Cage. Call 532-6765 for more information.

Sponsored by the Center for Exercise Research in the P.E.L.S. Department.

IS SAVING MONEY YOUR BAG?

SAVE BIG WITH VARNEY'S USED TEXTBOOKS

Let us show you how to save. Get 25% savings on textbooks when you buy used books from our large used book selection. Plus you'll find a variety of quality new books.

At Varney's find what you need with our helpful sales staff. Or place an order at no extra charge. Since saving money is our bag, let us make it yours.

Varney's

BOOK STORE IN AGGIEVILLE

623 N. Manhattan Avenue • 539-0511

Roth's new effort without creativity

ERIC MELIN
Collegian Reviewer

David Lee Roth has been known to put on a great concert. With and without his former band, Van Halen, his live shows have bordered on Vaudeville. His personal philosophy is the title of his third full-length solo release, "A Little Ain't Enough." It's a pity the album doesn't live up to its name.

It's been almost two years since Diamond Dave has put out a record (the platinum-plus "Skyscraper"), and only one band member remains — Greg Bissonette on drums. Departed guitar "godhead" Steve Vai left a huge gap to fill and newcomer Jason Becker can't quite do it. The songs have more of an ensemble sound to them, but at the same time are all terribly bland. This is not the vibrant Roth fans have come to expect.

In the past couple of years, AOR (Album Oriented Rock) has bloomed. Since the early 1980s when dance music took over the pop charts, classic rock has been mixing in with radio stations that play AOR. Consequently, AOR radio has become extremely popular. In his desperation for a comeback, Dave seems to be content with copying other successful pop metal bands.

The album's drawback is the forgettable vocal melodies. After one listen, there aren't any songs memorable enough to hum. "It's Showtime!" is the only real foot-stomper. The rest all suffer from homogenized predictability. They sound more like Wal-Mart "muzak" than David Lee Roth songs. Except for his trademark yelps, there's nothing here to distinguish these songs as his own. Robbie Nevil co-wrote the first two songs with Dave, and all the rest were co-written with various others, too. Dave didn't scribe a single tune himself.

Lyrical "A Little Ain't Enough" is a mixed bag. Half the songs are about sex. "40 Below" compares his sexual prowess to the cold weather with lines like "I'll give you bright red cheeks and a runny nose/Like when the car don't start and your booty's froze." Some of the lyrics, like those, are clever and are typical Roth. However, the majority of the songs are riddled with cliches. "Last Call" tells the story of a girl who will do anything if you buy her a drink and "Baby's on Fire" is pretty self-explanatory.

Later on, the album adopts a more serious tone. "Sensible Shoes" is about a guy who achieves fame and fortune and dumps his girlfriend, only later to regret it. It might be autobiographical, but lines like "But they don't know/And they can't see/How I'm hurting/How I'm empty" don't fit the Diamond Dave persona.

As Dave struts toward middle age and loses his hair, this party mentality doesn't suit Dave anymore.

"A Little Ain't Enough" lacks the punch of Roth's earlier music. A little originality wasn't enough for Dave this time around, but a lot of convention was.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

532-6555

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $4.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $5.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon FRIDAY for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $5.00 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.)

1 Announcements

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks. Monday through Sunday, $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103 $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

LAST CALL! Applications for the 1991 Miss Manhattan— K-State are due Wednesday, Jan. 23rd. For information, call 776-6467, 537-2667.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

ROOM, PRIVATE bath and board, $200 (negotiable). Females only. 539-1656 or 539-8705.

Sun Connection
$2 Sessions
with purchase of
5 or more.

1126 Laramie, 776-2426
offer good thru 1-28-91

2 Apartments—Furnished

CLOSE TO campus/ Aggieville. Nice three-bedroom, two-bath. Reasonable rent. 539-4641.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM in quiet, well-maintained complex available now. Carpet, paid heat, nice furnishings, laundry $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-5296.

ONE-BEDROOM UPSTAIRS apartment, close to campus. Water, trash and gas paid. $200. 537-0726.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

0 BLOCKS to campus from quiet, well-maintained, large one-bedroom. Available now with balcony, dishwasher, storage. Prefer professional person. Year lease. $295. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

1019 HOUSTON. Large three-bedroom. Near City Park. Full basement. Solar hot water. $450. Jerry 776-7842.

AVAILABLE NOW, two bedrooms, one and one-half bath. Spacious basement apartment. $360/monthly. Call Amy at 537-0566.

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry, $360. 539-6304.

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom efficiency. Washer, dryer. One block from campus, off-street parking, share utilities. 539-1217 or 1-466-2240. Available now.

TWO-BEDROOM. TWO blocks from campus. No pets. Water, trash paid. $390. 537-3758.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Washer/ dryer, available immediately. Call 776-0081.

SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a half, good female roommates, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7087 for information, 537-9376 roommate's number. Available now.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park, 537-8555 or 537-9065.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU, $280. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, $350, plus utilities. Two-bedroom apartment. Both close to campus. 776-9140.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON. Nice one-bedroom studio. Main floor. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Jerry, 776-7842.

NOW LEASING

KSU Students

Quality Apartments

2 Convenient Locations

Very Near KSU

Furnished & Unfurnished

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.

ONE-BEDROOM FOR $225, everything paid. Laundry and much more. Very nice. 539-1288.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.

1970 FORD Galaxy, automatic, 45K, great first car, $750. 532-6131.

1972 FORD pickup, good condition, must sell, $1,000 or best offer. Call 537-0253.

1980 MONTE Carlo, runs well, good condition physically and mechanically. Dependable highway car. Call for more information. Tim at 539-0882 after 5p.m.

1982 TOYOTA Tercel, runs excellent, 134K miles, tan, AM/FM cassette, live-speed, air conditioning, $995 or best offer. 539-7491.

1986 OLDSMOBILE Cutlass Ciera, two-door, power windows, air conditioned, $5,000. Also, 1982 Yamaha 650 Maxim. Make offer. 537-1038, Kevin.

FOR SALE: 1979 Pontiac Sunbird—blue. Good condition. Low mileage. $500. 532-5452.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

B/W VGA monitor, $135. 12" Magnavox monitor. 539-6404.

IBM COMPATIBLE, 8086, CGA monitor, 20 Meg HD, 640K RAM, $800, Okidata 193 wide carriage printer, $200. 537-8055 after 5:30p.m.

IBM-PC, 256K, dual drives, Internal Hayes 1200B, RGB monitor. Accepting offers. Will sell by 1-24-91 or reject all offers. (913)265-4663.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

ACCOMPANIST NEEDED—Dance Program—KSU. Must be available Monday and Wednesday, 1-2:20p.m. Call 532-6887, ask for Dina. Pay involved.

LUNCHROOM/PLAYGROUND supervisors, two hours per day, $4 per hour, 11a.m. to 1p.m. Apply to USD 983, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS. 537-2400. EOE.

MAINTENANCE STUDENT to work part-time starting immediately. Experience with maintenance and/or construction is desired. Apply in person on Wednesday, Jan. 23 only. See Warren at LaFene Health Center.

NEED A job? Are you hard-working and dependable? Vista Drive In is hiring for full- and part-time help. Apply in person.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruiselines, summer camps and amusement parks. Now accepting applications for summer jobs, internships and career positions in the United States and Mexico. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29928.

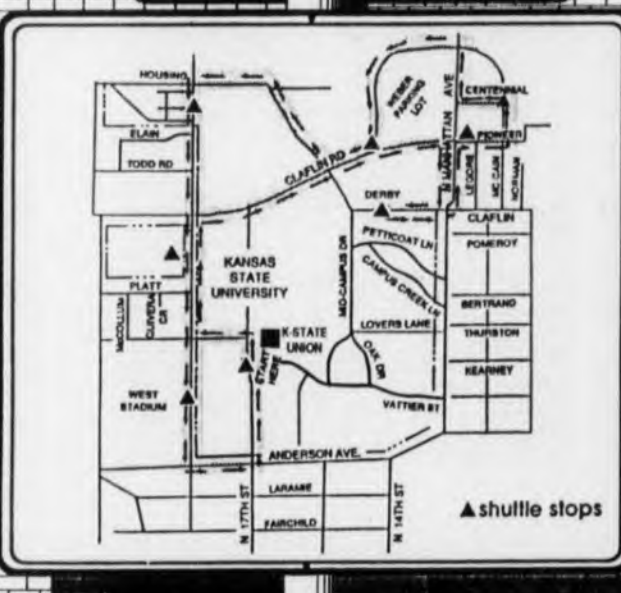

(Continued on page 15)

Haircut $12 (reg. $18)
Perm $45 (reg. $55)
(special offer expires Feb. 2, 1991)
by Lisa and Geri
776-8830 Candlewood

TINA'S
Studio 32
FOR HAIR

FREE SHUTTLE

▲ shuttle stops

K-State Union Bookstore

We really move our bus for you!!
January 14 to 18,
January 21 to 25 and
January 28 to
February 1, 1991

Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the Bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each half hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windsock!

Support the K-State Union! Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student activities, programs and services

WINTER SALE!

LOWMAN'S

IN - AGGIEVILLE

including

POLO RALPH LAUREN

Sweaters 30-40% Off

Winter Coats 25-40% Off

All Sportshirts 30% Off

Many Other Items 50% Off

Cole-Haan Shoes (in stock) 40% Off

Many Suits 30-40% Off

Sportcoats 30-40% Off

Fancy dress shirts 30% Off

Ties, socks, belts 25% Off

1215 Moro. Mon. through Sat. 10-6. Thurs. until 8. Sun. 1-5. 776-7304.

Welcome Buck

School days, school days. Good ol' short-on-cash days. The Kansas State COLLEGIAN has something to ease your cash flow blues. Until Jan. 25, you can save a buck ($1) off any COLLEGIAN Class Ad. If you need an apartment, a roommate, some furniture, a job, or would just like to tell someone, "It's great to see you again," clip the Welcome Buck below and save. Welcome to K-State!

Cost: 1-20 words, 1 day, $4
Deadline: Noon, day before
Hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m. M-F
Where: Kedzie Hall 103 (just east of K-State Union)

All ads must be prepaid unless you have an account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard & Visa accepted.

Welcome Buck

Good for $1 off any prepaid Collegian Classified Ad

$1 Offer expires Jan. 25, 1991

TALENT AUDITIONS

FOR SINGERS • DANCERS

Worlds of Fun is conducting an audition tour in search of the best in Midwestern talent to appear in our 1991 show program.

If you sing (pop, rock, show tunes), or dance (jazz only), you can earn over $6,000 performing six days per week during the summer, and weekends in the spring and fall. Performers are also needed for the summer only.

"All The World's A Stage" at Worlds of Fun, from our lively 50's-60's rock revue, STAX OF WAX, to the musical spectacular at the Tivoli Music Hall to the hand-clapping, foot-stompin' goodtime country and bluegrass at the Country Junction Amphitheater.

AUDITION INSTRUCTIONS:
If you are a singer, please sing one verse and the chorus of two contrasting styles of song: one up-tempo and one ballad. Sing any type of music you enjoy (rock, gospel, show tune, etc.) If you are a dancer, please prepare a jazz routine. Please limit your material to no more than three minutes in length. (No jobs are available for dramatic actors, or instrumentalists).

You must provide your own accompaniment, whether it be a pianist or a cassette tape. We will provide a cassette deck and a piano.

THE CLOSEST AUDITIONS:

- MANHATTAN, KANSAS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 24 at the KANSAS STATE UNIVERSITY
"K" and "S" Rooms in the K-STATE UNION
3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)
- LAWRENCE, KANSAS
THURSDAY, JANUARY 31 at the UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS
KANSAS ROOM on Level 6 in the KANSAS UNION
3:00 P.M. (Registration begins at 2:30 P.M.)

For more information and a complete audition schedule, contact the Show Productions Department, Worlds of Fun, 4545 Worlds of Fun Avenue, Kansas City, Missouri, 64161 (816) 454-4545 Ext. 1350

Worlds of Fun
KANSAS CITY

(Continued from page 14)

BUS DRIVERS, $5.20 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part-time, 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and 2:40 to 4:30 p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS 66500. EOE.

CAMP COUNSELORS—12 year old educational camp near Kansas City seeks counselors, WSIs for residential summer program for children 8-14, June 9 to Aug. 10. Prefer sophomores or older. $1,500—$1,900 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before Feb. 1, 1991 to Wildwood Center, Route 1, Box 76, LaCygne, KS 66040.

COUNSELORS/ SUMMER children's camps/ Northeast—top salary. Room board/ laundry, travel allowance. Must have skill in one of the following activities: Archery, crafts, baseball, basketball, bicycling, dance, drama, drums, fencing, football, golf, gymnastics, hockey, horseback-riding, juggling, Karate, LaCrosse, nature, photography, piano, rockery, rollerblading, ropes, sailing, sailing, soccer, soccer, track, water ski, weights, wood. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday, Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

EXPERIENCED WRITERS wanted: Journalism and Agriculture majors preferred. Send resume and sample work to Collegian Box 3, Kedzie Hall 103, Manhattan, KS 66506 by Jan. 22.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS, PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details: 1-805-687-6000 Ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS, All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS, All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext. K-9701.

ACTRESS for community service project eight days in February. $5.50/ hour. Call Michelle at 537-8823.

ALGEBRA MATH Tutor wanted for 8th grade students, 12:30—1:30 p.m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday, $5 an hour. Contact Manhattan Catholic Schools, 537-0533.

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly work. (504)846-1700. Dept. P8438.

BEST FUNDRAISER on campus is your fraternity, sorority or club interested in earning $500 to $1,000 for a one week, on-campus marketing project? You must be well organized and hard working. Call Lena at (800)592-2121 ext. 115.

SPECIAL POPULATIONS Instructor/ Supervisor—The City of Manhattan has an opening for a special populations instructor/ supervisor. Knowledge of handicapped/ disabled individuals and background in therapeutic recreation or special education. Position is part-time. $5.50/ hour. Apply at the Personnel Office, City Hall, 11th and Poyntz by Jan. 28, 1991.

SUCCESSFUL UNDERGRADUATES are now being recruited by the Academic Assistance Center to serve as Learning Skills Seminar Leaders during fall semester 1991. Specific duties include 1) leading a section of the Learning Skills Seminar which introduces freshman to the academic skills and techniques necessary to achieve academic success; 2) leading a study session in a social science or mathematics class; 3) attending the class which corresponds to the study session; and 4) attending and participating in weekly staff meetings. We are looking for applicants who feel confident in their ability to be a student role-model, are committed to the concept of academic success for all students, desire to teach others how to learn, are able to relate to many types of people, and have a solid grade point average (especially in the social sciences or mathematics). A time commitment of 10-12 hours per week will be required during fall 1991 at a salary of $750 for the semester. Students who are selected for the position must successfully complete a training class, EDAF 311 Guidance for the Paraprofessional, for 3 hours of academic credit. If you are interested in the position, contact the Academic Assistance Center in Holton 101 or call 532-6492 for further information.

STUDENT to work 20 hours beginning immediately and possibly continuing through summer, fall and spring. Need someone with flexibility to work during holidays. Preference to person with knowledge of WordPerfect 5.1 on Zenith computer and someone available during lunch hours, noon—1 p.m. Responsibilities include telephone answering, word processing, filing, use of dictation equipment, making appointments, and a variety of other office duties. Contact Dorothy Smith at 532-5942 or stop by the office of the Vice President for Institutional Advancement, 122 Anderson Hall to pick up an application. Starting salary $3.80/ hour. Deadline for application is Jan. 23.

SUMMER IN the Rockies! The Trail Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado! Positions available in Retail Sales and Food Service—contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517 (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities!

SUMMER JOBS outdoors, over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 East Wyoming, Kalspell, MT 59901.

SWIMMING JOBS (WSI)—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children to swim, swim team, beautiful pool and lakes in the northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TENNIS JOBS—Summer children's camps—Northeast—Men and women who can teach children in the Northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaroneck, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

WANTED: 85 people who want to lose weight! We will pay you to lose 10-29 pounds in 30 days. Call Jeff at 537-9817.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 625, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

QUEEN-SIZE WATERBED. Six-drawer pedestal and padded rails, $225. Row machine, $25. Call 776-6922.

REFRIGERATOR FOR sale. Great for dorm. 33"x22"x20", $50 or best offer. Call 539-0871.

WATERBED—SOFTSIDES. Queen-size—Moving must sell, $225. 537-9690.

WOHLER'S USED furniture and appliances, 615 N. Third, 539-3119, Hours 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Furnish your apartment or house, Come in and browse.

12 Houses for Rent

1011 Laramie, first floor is open for second semester. Two-bedroom, great environment. Enjoy college life. 539-3672 evenings.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND—CALCULATOR and pen set in Throckmorton. 539-8484 after 10 p.m.

FOUND: COSTUME jewelry pin. Found in front of Ward Hall. Come by Kedzie 103 to identify.

FOUND IN Union parking lot. White and gray puppy. Patch over left eye. One blue eye and one brown eye. Bright lime green collar. Call 776-1552.

FOUND: JEAN jacket at AC/DC concert. Row 9 on the floor. Call to identify, 537-2561.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

MOUNTAIN BIKE—Jazz Flipside, designed by Trek. Brand New! Jet Tec seat, etc... First $300 or best offer takes! 539-2009.

TREK 830 15-inch frame, brand new, $400. Call Julie 532-2078 after 6 p.m.

19 Music/ Musicians

DRUMSET BLACK Yamaha five-piece, 12", 13", 16" toms, 22" Bass Zildjian A 16" Crash, 18" Crash-Ride 14" Hi-hat, 1 Boom and 1 straight cymbal stand, snare stand, Hi-hat stand, $900. Ludwig Concert snare with stand, case, practice pad $200. Call 532-5427.

ESTABLISHED HARD rock band is auditioning lead and rhythm guitarists. Paying gigs. Stage experience and vocal ability a plus. 539-3334, leave message.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks

Buy one set, get second set for half price.

327 Poyntz 776-7983

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

GET YOUR filthy hands off my desert you imperialist running dog lackey! SH

TO THE girl with a smile, Whom I have thought of for quite a while. Your fragrance was pleasing. So please quit your teasing. You accuse me of not thinking. You must be drinking. I would like a better due. So I can find you. Signed, The Guy With The Wave.

22 Pets and Pet Supplies

TROPICAL FISH AND AQUARIUMS

PETS N' STUFF

1105 Waters 539-9494

OPEN Thurs. 'til 8 p.m.

23 Resume/Typing Service

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL RESUMES are not created equal. Be sure yours is the best possible by taking advantage of our many years experience working with employers. Limited time—cover letter costs only $5 with purchase of resume service. Career Development Services—776-1229.

24 Roommate Wanted

$170, ONE-HALF utilities, own bedroom, washer/ dryer. Call after 6 p.m. 776-1302.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate needed, $131 a month plus one-third utilities, water paid. Close to campus. 537-4634.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate, off-campus, 776-1281 after 7 p.m., ask for Chris.

FEMALE, OWN room. One block from campus, washer/ dryer. $125/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Own room. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for sublease, $146.66 per month plus electricity. 776-1720.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share cheap apartment close to campus, one-third utilities. Call 537-2267 after 5 p.m.

FEMALE to share large two-bedroom apartment. Own room, $175 plus one-half electric. 539-3227.

FREE JANUARY—February rent to non-smoking female roommate for two-bedroom. Directly off-campus, rent negotiable. Respond to Collegian Box 2.

HELP!! AVAILABLE immediately, bedroom for one or two females, $107 or $131 respectively. Ask for Heather 539-2301 Ext. 306.

MALE CHRISTIAN roommate. No deposit required. Private room with cable. Fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer. Bus service to campus from Brittnay Ridge. $195. Call Bob at 537-8048.

MALE OR female, 516 N. 14th, $185 month plus utilities. Own bedroom, 537-4510, Carlos. One and one-half blocks from campus.

MALE ROOMMATE. Private room with cable. Fully furnished kitchen. Washer and dryer. No deposit required. Bus service to campus from Brittnay Ridge. $200. Call 537-0472.

MALE ROOMMATE to share apartment close to campus. Phone 539-8608.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share large two-bedroom apartment for the spring semester only. $150 plus utilities, across the street from campus. 537-4637.

NEEDING ONE, two or three roommates, Brittnay Ridge. 776-4992, serious student.

NEED QUIET, sober, non-smoking person to share three-bedroom apartment across from campus, $150 month. 1222 Apt. #11 Blumont. Stop by.

NON-SMOKER, OWN room in nice two-bedroom apartment, $202.50 plus one-half utilities. Shuttle to campus available. Beginning Feb. 1. Call soon! 776-9079.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share a house. 539-1298.

ONE FEMALE non-smoker to share furnished house with washer and dryer, $150 per month. 537-7769.

ROOMMATE WANTED to share three-bedroom house close to campus. $160/ month plus one-third utilities. Must be quiet, clean, non-smoker and like pets. Call 537-8550.

ROOMMATES WANTED, $150 per month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 537-0635.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted of four to sublease, $150 per month, one-fourth utilities. Laundry, parking, four blocks from campus. 537-5134 after 6 p.m.

WANTED, MALE roommate. Three blocks from campus on Vattier. $130/ month. January is paid for. Please call Mike at 539-6529.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9 a.m.—5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

WELCOME BACK!

Put the COLOR back into your life with us!

•NEW BULBS
•NEW ACCELERATORS
•WELCOME BACK SPECIALS
•WOLFF SYSTEM EQUIPMENT

The most trusted name in tanning

SOUTHERN SUN-TROPICAL TAN

519 N. 12th 1814 Clafin

776-8060 (above Charlie's)

Your year-round Wolff system centers.

ENGAGEMENT RING in your Christmas stocking this year? Let me help you plan your wedding photos. 776-3785.

26 Stereo Equipment

DESIGN ACOUSTICS P.S. 10 speakers with stands, $275. Teac 7" reel to reel, brand new, w/DBX noise reduction unit, $450. Call Rob 537-4985.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

AGGIE DIVE Shop. Come see us for your scuba lessons and equipment. 614 N. 12th. 539-DIVE.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, close to campus, own room, low utilities. Karen 776-6815.

AVAILABLE FOR sublease now. 2000 College Heights. Call 537-9064.

ONE-BEDROOM, 1841 College Heights, interested in subleasing now through August. 539-2621.

SUBLEASE—1105 Ratone, $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Lease ends July 31. Water and trash paid. Call 537-9071.

31 Tutor

COLLEGE ALGEBRA Tutor. Highly qualified, high success rate, flexible hours, make appointments early. 776-7001.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

1988 TAMA drum set, like new, LP Chimes, Roto Toms, Boom Stands, 5 Zildjian and Paiste cymbals. Call 537-0253.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $17 in Kedzie 103 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

FOR SALE: Beer neon lights. Choose from several brands. $125 per light. Please call 539-5630 after 5 p.m. or 776-0089 days.

USED FURNITURE

Couches, chairs, pots and pans. Lamps, refrigerators, stoves, washers, clothes, hats, knick-knacks and collectables—your name it.

Grandma's Trunk Thrift Shop

1304 Pillsbury Dr.

(1/4 Mile South over viaduct)

OPEN 10-6 Mon.-Sat.

537-2273

FOR SALE—Danish modern couch and two chairs, $150. Like new weight bench and weights, $50. Desk with chair, $40. Call 776-1498.

SUZUKI GS350, needs repair, $75. Guild elec. Bass, X-702 model with heavy case, $100. Dave 776-1767.

TELEVISION FOR sale, 13" color remote control, $200. Dave 537-9583.

34 Insurance

HEALTH AND Auto Insurance, we have low monthly rates. Call us and compare. Good student discounts. Tim Engle, 555 Poyntz, 537-4661.

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

36 Games

NINTENDO PLUS remote plus four games. 776-9347, $150.

Double Barreled

By Daryl Blasi

"Hmm. Brutal child beaters, cold-hearted assassins. Ahh! Here we go, Mr. Duke! Hateful and violent bigots."

9 Food Specials

Tuesday Special RIB-IT NIGHT

All the BBQ Ribs, Fries and Salad Bar you can eat! $4.95

Every Tuesday 5-8 p.m.

The CHEF Cafe
111 S. 4th
Downtown

Class Clowns

By D.D. Moore

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS

1 "Planet of the —"

5 Heavenly sphere

8 Con game

12 Wife of Nick Charles

13 Feather scarf

14 Diva's delight

15 One who stays up late

17 "My Fair"

18 Trouble

19 Camel's cousins?

21 Operational unit

24 Tailor's concern

25 Taj Mahal site

26 "— Cowboy"

30 "— Sentimental Mood"

31 Spanish toast

32 Mauna

33 Second game of a double-header

35 Pueblo

Indian

36 Scrooge's expletives

37 Wheel on a spur

38 Style of type

41 Consume

42 Ancient

43 Sleepwear

48 Culting remark

49 Schedule abbr.

50 Sea eagle

51 Lodge members

52 Square of turf

53 "— Window"

DOWN

1 New England

22 Hindu fire

Solution time: 24 mins.

TAP TETRA GOR
ULA ARIAN ADE
BIRDBRAIN MEL
ALA LATEST BASKET SLAB
EGO YUG SKIDS
TANS MAW ERAT
ARGOT SHAW DDE
BARIS EDISON
SPIRIT EON
OAR BIRDBATHS
RID ECOLE RIA
ELS SKIES YAM

Yesterday's answer 1-22

god

23 Kind of race

24 "— Marner"

26 They can't think for themselves

27 Be red-hot

28 It was left behind by Pandora

29 Word with coat or dove

31 "The Man"

34 Subjects of arms talks

35 More spicy

37 Stadium cheer

38 George Herman Ruth

39 Kind of exam

40 "— Victory"

41 Minced oath

44 "Who am — judge?"

45 Wrath

46 Alfonso's queen

47 Rev.'s talk

CRYPTOQUIP

1-22

A P F F V X W F T U A F Q J F L Z W

B Z U T H H X T L L F W I F S B J L

W I L Z V Z U Q T P T O O X C F S Z K C

Yesterday's Cryptoquip: THE EXTERMINATOR IS TAKING HIS TIME KILLING AN ANT. SO I PROPOSE, "STEP ON IT!"

Today's Cryptoquip clue: C equals M

Coffman

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3 near Call Hall.

By serving as academic coordinator for the council of deans, he discusses subsidiary policies and budget matters relating to the University and the various colleges.

"We meet usually, on the first and third Mondays every month in the K-State Union Director's Conference Room," he said. "I also have one-on-one meetings with the college deans on an on-going basis, depending on the issues at hand."

Currently, the administration is working on the budget at three levels. They are preparing for the fiscal 1993 request to the Board of Regents, working on the specific fiscal 1992 request for the legislature and managing the current year's budget.

He said one drawback of his job is a limited opportunity to interact with students. Occasionally he spends time with student leaders.

To counteract this, Coffman said there are two ways to let students express their concerns to him and the administration.

One is through students' involvement in student government.

"Student leaders can bring attention to any problem students are experiencing to the administration," he said.

It's a given that a university without students is unlikely, but without students' needs being addressed, a university isn't doing its job.

Merger

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 10

body responsible for operating the property of KCT and has the ability to set bonds and to purchase property.

"They are the entity that has been designated by the city of Salina to manage the proceeds from the $4.5 million proceed package (gathered from the sales tax)," Krause said.

Funding for the college center, the technology center, library, the main entrance and the north boundary road will go through the state architects office instead of the Legislature, since the $4.5 million accumulated through the sales tax is not state funded.

"Assuming the Joint Building Committee approves it (the development proposal), then we'll go through the normal process of the state architects office. There will not be a need to go to the Legislature and ask for funding, the funding will be secured through the sales tax," said Krause.

Krause said that although it is up to the Legislature, he hopes the proposal is put into effect as soon as possible. If so, K-State could begin selling bonds by April.

"So far, everything looks real positive," said Krause. He added that the city of Salina has been overwhelmingly cooperative throughout the process of the merger.

Marshall

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

dropped out when they were informed of their Marshall wins.

With seven Rhodes scholars in 15 years, K-State ranks in the top 1 percent of all public and private universities in producing Rhodes Scholars.

Only Michigan State has had more Rhodes Scholars in the same time period.

K-State is making great strides in scholarship competitions other than the Marshall and Rhodes.

By having 15 Truman Scholars in 15 years, K-State has more Truman Scholars than any other university in the United States since the beginning of the Truman program.

Only Yale, Stanford, Radcliff and Harvard have had more Truman scholars.

President Wefald said he gives some credit to the K-State faculty for the unusually large number of winners.

"I think this shows what an excellent faculty we have," he said, "excellent in teaching and researching, but also willing to work diligently with their students."

Other credit goes to the candidates' coach, Nancy Twiss, who helped students with the application and interviewing process for the Marshall as well as several other scholarships, Montaner said.

Students recognized with design awards

ERIN BURKE
Collegian Reporter

K-State's interior architecture students have been recognized nationwide by capturing six of nine awards in Architecture Digest's student design competition.

The contest was open to accredited schools in the United States and had over 600 applicants, said Eugene McGraw, professor of interior architecture.

Third-, fourth- and fifth-year interior architecture students were given an initial floor plan and client profile to help design the interior for an apartment in a 15-story building. The deadline was Nov. 30, 1991, giving them eight weeks to complete the assignment.

Brian Rock, fifth-year interior architecture student, won first place. He received $5,000 with a matching amount awarded to the interior architecture department. Rock's design will be published in the July 1991 issue of Architecture Digest.

"I was very positive, but I didn't expect to win," said Rock. The judges did not say what made his design so unusual.

Rock said: "I designed with humans in mind."

Wesley Crosby, senior in interior architecture, was the recipient of a $3,500 second-place award.

Bonnie Blume, Guy Allen and Daniel Knoll, juniors in interior architecture, each won $1,000 for honorable mention.

Marc Tolbert, senior in interior architecture, received $1,000 and a special judges award for his creativity.

Tolbert designed the interior for an apartment 15 stories underwater.

"I didn't want my project to be like anyone else's," he said.

McGraw said he did not know how this success would affect University reorganization plans.

"It demonstrates the basic quality core in the Department of Architecture and Design," he said.

The winners said they felt the recognition was good for the department because of the possibility of University reorganization.

Their names will appear in Architecture Digest within the next few months.

WE WANT YOU
TO HELP SAVE LIVES

* New Donors ****
Earn $15 Cash on your First Donation!!
(If you haven't donated in the last 2 months, you qualify.)

the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER
Coupon required for Special. Open M-F
1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

McCain

Susan Marshall and Company
Thursday, January 24, 8 p.m.
The moves of this 8-member ensemble will take you to the cutting edge of dance. Witty, sexy, and certifiably cool. And to think you shelled out five bucks for Dirty Dancing. Fresh from a critically acclaimed run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, Susan Marshall and Company bring to K-State two outstanding works.

Arms (1984) focuses on an intricate and accelerating interplay of arms to reveal a man and a woman's growing interdependence and increasing unity.

"As crystalline a dance image as you could hope for." (The Village Voice)

Contenders (1990) was inspired by the 1988 Summer Olympics and takes a look at the game of life as Americans play it: with a headlong drive for individual distinction and achievement.

"This judge would score Contenders 5.7 out of 6. Rah, and bravo!" (Newsday)

Students/Children: $7.50, 6.50, 5
General Public: $15, 13, 10
Senior Citizens: $13, 11, 8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dance on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts with the Kansas Arts Commission. Additional support from the Fine Arts Fund.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

THE FUTURE OF COMPUTING HAS ARRIVED

CD-ROM Technology Combines Audio, Graphics and Text . . .

... And Tandy Multimedia Systems have it—today!

Now get the Tandy 2500 XL, VGM-200 color monitor, 52MB SmartDrive™ hard drive, CD-ROM drive and mouse—all for only $2999*. Just add your choice of CD-based titles, like the Compton's MultiMedia Encyclopedia™—a complete 26-volume reference on a CD-ROM disc!

Systems As Low As $91 Per Month*

Radio Shack
COMPUTER CENTERS
A DIVISION OF TANDY CORPORATION

Hours: Mon.-Fri. 9-8, Sat. 9-5, Sun. 1-5
2609 Anderson in Anderson Square 539-6151

*CD-ROM disc and headphones not included. Complete system includes 25-4074/4041/4124/1081/1042. Reg. separate items $3542.90. *Radio Shack revolving credit. Payment may vary depending upon account balance. Prices apply at Radio Shack Computer Centers and participating stores and dealers. Compton's MultiMedia Encyclopedia/TM Encyclopedia Britannica, Inc. Patent Pending.

STUDENT LOANS

Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!
Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK
Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

I B M®

- The business world computer
- In living color
- The ease of Windows
- The best student/faculty value

Save up to 50%

PS/2

Business Partner

Authorized Personal Computer Dealer

Connecting Point. IBM COMPUTER CENTER

1115 Westloop Shopping Center Manhattan 539-0801

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Wednesday, January 23, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 80

Finney details funding

Governor advises funding MOE

ERWIN SEBA
Staff Reporter

TOPEKA — Gov. Joan Finney recommended full funding for a third year of the Margin of Excellence in her first State of the State Address to the Kansas Legislature Tuesday.

Speaking from the podium of the House of Representatives chamber in the Statehouse, Finney proposed the closure of numerous exemptions to the state sales tax to finance property tax relief, MOE, programs for the needy and the state highway construction plan as part of her budget proposal for fiscal year 1992.

"In addition to providing the leadership, the means and the mechanism for achieving a near 30 percent property tax reduction by 1993, the budget I present proposes to fund the third and final year of the Margin of Excellence program for our regents institutions.

"I propose to continue the ambitious highway development program we embarked upon last year. And, I propose to restore and continue the basic service programs of Social and Rehabilitation Services to meet the fundamental needs of our people," Finney said.

During the speech, which legislators listened to quietly, Finney reiterated a campaign promise to use the assistance of regents universities' faculty as she seeks to make state government more efficient.

"Our universities have agreed to become full and active participants in the comprehensive review of the state and its future that I believe is so necessary," she said.

J. Matthew Rhea/Staff

Gov. Joan Finney delivers the State of the State Address Tuesday to Legislators calling for a third year of the Margin of Excellence at the State House.

Finney stressed that her election was a clear message to state leaders for property tax relief.

"The message I deliver to you today is not mine alone. It is a message first delivered last November by the people of Kansas.

"The people of this state want meaningful property tax relief and a more equitable tax structure," Finney said.

In her budget proposal, Finney called upon the Legislature to raise $664 million in additional revenue annually by broadening the sales-tax base.

The sales-tax base is to be broadened under Finney's proposal by closing exemptions to the current 4.25 cents-on-the-dollar state sales tax. Engineering, architectural and legal services are among the long list of proposed closed exemptions.

Because the state will not be able to collect the new sales tax receipts for 12 months during fiscal year 1992, about $478 million of the goal amount will be collected.

The largest bite from that amount will be taken to fund about $287 million in property tax relief.

As for MOE, Finney is honoring her campaign promise to fully fund the third year in her budget recommendations.

For K-State, the total MOE funding would be about $3.04 million in faculty salary enhancements from all funding sources. Of that amount, about $2.64 million will come from the state general fund.

Finney recommends MOE program enhancements for K-State be about $1.07 million from the state general fund. Finney is also recommending to the Legislature funds necessary to complete the merger of Kansas College of Technology at Salina and K-State be allocated.

For the state's eligible classified employees, the governor's budget proposal includes a 2.5 percent step-movement increase. The budget proposal also recommends a 1.5 percent cost-of-living increase for all classified employees for the second half of fiscal year 1992.

A 2.5 percent increase for fiscal year 1992 and an additional 1.5 percent cost-of-living increase for the second half of the fiscal year is recommended for unclassified employees not eligible for a step-movement increase.

The total cost of the unclassified salary increases for the regents system is estimated to be about $11.8 million.

Area legislators, while glad to see Finney's support for the regents schools, said the governor's entire budget plan is not guaranteed passage by the Legislature.

"It's going to be a long, hard road to convince legislators that the people who sent them here wanted to increase taxes to the tune of $700 million," said Sen. Lana Oleen, R-Manhattan. "But I think that there is also ... information to really be shared that we do need to support services of Kansas for Kansans."

Rep. Sheila Hochhauser, D-Manhattan, said Finney may have to forge a coalition on the issue of tax equity between those who are upset by property tax increases and middle- and lower-income voters to obtain adoption of her plan to fund property tax relief by closing exemptions to the state sales tax.

"What I do see a clamor for, and I think she addressed this, is some equity in the tax system overall and some tax reform. And I think people want to see that," Hochhauser said. "They want to know that there is some fairness in the way our tax system, overall, is administered. If that means a rollback in property taxes using some other kind of methods to make the system fairer, I think there will be good support for it."

Hochhauser said Finney will probably sell her plan to close exemptions on the basis of fairness, because many of the services that would have to pay the new taxes are those perceived to have higher incomes.

"I think her best approach is probably going to be two-pronged," Hochhauser said.

Wildcat basketball sponsorship perks

Businesses pay, depending on K-State's opponent, between $2,000 and $6,000 to sponsor a game. For their money sponsors receive:

- 30 chairback seats at the game for employees or clients.
- 30 passes into the Legends hospitality room in Bramlage Coliseum.
- the company's logo on the cover of the game program.
- primary use of the full-color, 16 feet by 6 feet, four-sided electronic reader board above the main score board over the court. This amounts to about 60 minutes total time during the game.
- a minimum of four promotional public address announcements during the course of the game.
- four mentions on the 31-station Wildcat Radio Network during the live broadcast.
- a "tag-on" advertisement on the Wildcat Radio Network 48 hours prior to the broadcast.

Source: Bramlage Coliseum Marketing

Gregory A. Branson/Colegian

Corporate sponsors support athletics

Ads on scoreboards seen by millions at home with national TV coverage

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Corporate sponsorship of collegiate basketball and football games was an idea that originated on the West Coast five years ago and is now spreading to colleges all over the United States.

K-State is no exception. "The fees that are paid by the sponsors are placed in the general budget of the athletic department for scholarships and operations," said Chris Peterson, associate director of athletics and director of marketing.

He explained the cost for corporations to sponsor each game varies according to who the opponent is. For example, corporate sponsors had to pay $2,000 for the exhibition games with Michigan AAU and the Czechoslovakian National team; $4,000 for the games with the University of Wyoming and University of Nebraska; and $6,000 for the game with the University of Kansas Jan. 29.

Peterson pointed out, though, that corporate sponsorship is a mutually beneficial relationship.

One of the benefits the sponsors get for their money is possible television exposure, he said.

Many of the K-State home games, especially Big-Eight Conference games, are televised nationally, regionally and locally by ESPN, Raycom and Creative Sports Marketing.

"Sometimes the TV camera is above or on level with the scoreboard," Peterson said. "A corporate sponsor can actually receive more indirect advertising than a company that purchases a 30-second TV spot, although there is no guarantee," Peterson said.

He explained, for example, games televised by C.S.M. have the potential to reach 1.3 million households and ESPN can reach at least 56.1 million households.

Harry Watts, district manager of external affairs at Southwestern Bell, said his company typically sponsors a football and basketball game each year. This year, they will sponsor the K-State-Oklahoma game Feb. 5.

Watts said Southwestern Bell wanted to sponsor an ESPN game because of the nation-wide coverage it receives. The ESPN's audience potential meets the needs of Southwestern Bell which is a regional company with national interests, he said.

Southwestern Bell also has the initial rights to the K-State-Oklahoma game again next year, Watts said. The athletic department will ask them at the end of the year if they want to continue the sponsorship or if they would like to sponsor a different game.

"K-State is on the leading edge," he said. "We benefit from the national recognition and there will be more corporate sponsorship in the future for basketball games at other universities.

"Education is also one of the primary focus areas, because Southwestern Bell can benefit the scholarship and educational opportunities at K-State," he said.

President praises restraint

Another missile attack on Tel Aviv goes unanswered in gulf war

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The White House praised Israel's restraint in the uncertain hours after an Iraqi missile attack on Tel Aviv. Some members of Congress said they could sympathize with Israel if it counterattacked.

President Bush met with his war planners at the White House shortly after a Scud missile struck a residential section of the Israeli city, with a toll of three dead and at least 70 wounded.

"We condemn this brutal act of terror against innocent victims," White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said.

"Israel has shown remarkable restraint in the face of this aggression. We continue to consult with the government of Israel and will continue doing so as events unfold," he said.

"A nation clearly is on the firmest ground when they are defending their own people," said Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas.

"They have an absolute right to respond," said Sen. John Kerry, D-Mass.

At the Israeli Embassy, Ambassador

Zalman Shoval declined to rule out a retaliatory strike but also said a response from Israel "would not necessarily have the character of retribution." He said "it's not necessarily eye for an eye" but how best to protect the Israeli people.

Bush reviewed the status of the war with Vice President Dan Quayle, Secretary of State James Baker III, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney and his top national security advisers.

"The president expressed confidence in the military's performance," Fitzwater said.

Saddam also has fired a handful of missiles at Saudi Arabia.

U.S. officials puzzled over why Saddam's powerful military was not putting up much of a fight and expressed frustration over the lack of information about damage inflicted against his forces.

"The truth is, we don't know why Saddam has chosen to react in the way he has," Fitzwater said.

Baker twice telephoned Lawrence Eagleburger, the deputy secretary of state who has been in Israel since the weekend, to discuss the attack, a U.S. official said.

Pentagon briefers told Congress that allied bombing raids were creating large craters at Iraqi air fields and interrupting command and control systems, but that the damage was being quickly repaired. Much of Saddam's military machine remained intact.

"The early euphoria has changed into an unease that this may take longer than we thought," said Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, said "the losses have been so low they may have set an unachievable standard for the rest of the war."

The White House claimed satisfaction with the course of the war but reminded Americans that "this is not a conflict that's going to be over in just a few days ... It's going to go on; there is a long plan and a long process."

Pentagon spokesman Pete Williams conceded, "We don't have a fully accurate picture" about damage. Bad weather has complicated the assessments, officials said.

Israeli citizens living in U.S. worry about families in gulf

SHANNON HEIM
A&E/Features Editor

When one K-State professor called home Saturday, his wife answered the telephone from a bomb shelter and spoke through a gas mask.

"I called my family in Tel Aviv the moment I heard the warning sirens," said Elieser Posner, associate professor of grain science and industry.

Posner said he has called his home, located in a suburb of Tel Aviv, several times since the Iraqi missile attacks began. He most recently called after the residential bombing Tuesday.

"I am very tense," he said. "I get strength from them — they calm me down."

Posner said because Israel has been surrounded by conflict for several decades, the citizens are handling the recent attacks calmly.

"It is part of life," he said. "Everybody understands that — if they want to live there — it's part of it. In Israel, you cannot build a house without a bomb shelter."

Posner said he hopes the residential bombing will not escalate Israel's situation into the war, but is confident in his government's ability to make any decisions.

Although she is also confident the Israeli government will make a peaceful decision, Yael Carmi, graduate student in speech, said she believes her country has every right to retaliate against Iraq.

"I am very proud that our people have had restraint, even after three brutal attacks," Carmi said.

"We do not belong in this war," she said. "I think that is why Saddam Hussein hit civilian targets rather than military — it is his way to try to force us into a war that is not ours. I think he is frightened of our military."

"Each time a bomb falls on Israel I am so frustrated," Carmi said. "I was brought up to love and dignify neighbors, not to hate and kill."

Carmi's family lives 15 minutes from Tel Aviv, and she said she will return if the crisis continues.

"It's my house and someone wants to destroy it, but I won't let them," she said.

"I talk to my mother and her voice is relaxed and calm, but here I am going crazy," she said. "I will go and try to pitch in or at least be there to hold my family's hands."

Briefly

World

Attempt to overthrow Saddam fails

LONDON (AP) — A London newspaper quoted an Iraqi opposition leader today as saying seven men were shot and killed in Baghdad last week in a foiled bid to broadcast a TV message urging Saddam Hussein's ouster.

The respected liberal newspaper The Guardian quoted Abdul Aziz al-Hakim as saying Iraqi security forces killed the seven as they tried to occupy the main TV station in the Iraqi capital.

It identified Hakim as a senior Shiite who was one of two Iraqi opposition leaders to meet with British Foreign Office officials in London on Monday.

The paper quoted Hakim as saying two of the men killed were senior members of Saddam's Baath Party. He did not reveal their names.

The men planned to broadcast a message blaming Saddam for starting another war and urging a general uprising, the paper reported. A power failure prevented them broadcasting and they were caught and killed by security forces.

Republics defy orders to disarm

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP) — The collective presidency and the police chiefs of Yugoslavia's six states held separate talks Tuesday as the pro-independence republics of Croatia and Slovenia defied federal orders to disarm their paramilitary units.

The eight-man presidency gave the order Jan. 9 for all illegal paramilitary groups to disarm and demanded the military enforce the decree.

Hours before the midnight Monday deadline to hand in arms, Croatian President Franjo Tudjman claimed the army put Croatia's special police forces into the paramilitary category that has been ordered to disarm.

The presidency, which includes representatives from each Yugoslav republic but not the six presidents, met Tuesday in Belgrade to discuss the situation, said sources who asked not to be identified.

Nation

Woman sentenced for bank fraud

NEW YORK (AP) — A small-town Nebraska woman was sentenced Tuesday to three years and two months in prison for bank fraud.

Becky Schafer, 29, apologized for stealing $3.3 million from her former employer, Citibank.

"I know what I did was very wrong. I'm extremely sorry for what this has done to my family and friends," she said. "I'm just anxious to be able to start my life over again."

In October, Schafer pleaded guilty to bank fraud and admitted embezzling $3.3 million from Citibank during the 2½ years she was employed in the bank's Corporate Trust Services department.

Her husband, Peter Schafer, a former paralegal, also has admitted his role in the scheme and will be sentenced Wednesday by a different federal judge.

In addition to the prison term, U.S. District Judge John F. Keenan imposed three years of probation and ordered Schafer to pay $1.5 million in restitution to Citibank. The institution has already recovered $1.5 million.

Region

Family moves because of attack

WICHITA (AP) — A Laotian family moved from its home out of fear it would be attacked again by teenagers who allegedly assaulted and robbed them.

The six family members said they were victims of a Vietnamese gang Sunday night.

The family fled Monday to a new home in Wichita.

Police said they had not determined whether the attack was gang-related. No arrests have been made.

The parents are especially scared, said their 23-year-old son, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The family said the attackers sexually assaulted a visiting 15-year-old girl. They also stole jewelry, a television, two video-cassette recorders, a stereo and money, the family said.

Firm raises funds for Cruzan case

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The law firm that represented the parents of Nancy Cruzan is leading a fund drive to help the local American Civil Liberties Union chapter pay for its expenses in the case.

The ACLU paid incidental expenses in the landmark right-to-die case, such as the cost of printing, photocopies, hotels and airfare, said William Colby, the attorney that handled the case for Shook, Hardy & Bacon.

Colby donated his legal fees of about $500,000.

The other expenses were about $20,000 in the four-year case that went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court. Colby said he worked hard to hold down the costs because the local ACLU had a very small budget.

Copeland pleads guilt before trial

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A plea agreement with a 76-year-old farmer accused in the serial killings of five transient farmhands would save him and his wife from facing the death penalty, his attorney said Tuesday night.

Public defender Barbara Schenkenburg said Ray Copeland will plead guilty to five counts of first-degree murder in the agreement, which came two days before he was scheduled to go to trial.

In exchange, Livingston County Prosecutor Doug Roberts will not seek the death penalty for Copeland and his 69-year-old wife, Faye, who was convicted in November.

Schenkenburg said the agreement would be submitted Thursday to Circuit Judge E. Richard Webber.

"The state will be filing waivers on the death penalty and recommend that the judge sentence them to life in prison without parole," Schenkenburg said.

Faye Copeland was convicted of first-degree murder in the deaths of five men once employed at the Copeland's 40-acre Livingston County farm in northwestern Missouri. Jurors, some in tears, recommended she receive the death penalty in four of the deaths. But Webber still must sentence her.

Prosecutors claimed the Copelands hired drifters to buy cattle with bad checks, resold the cattle, then killed and buried the men before the checks could be retraced. The couple allegedly made $32,000 off the scheme between 1986 and 1989.

Campus Bulletin

23 Wednesday

Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers will meet at 6:30 p.m. in Durland 141.

The German Table Meeting is at noon in the Union Stateroom 2. Anyone interested in German conversation is welcome.

Bisexual and Gay and Lesbian Society will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union 207.

The K-State Sailing Club Meeting is at 7 p.m. in the Union 209.

The International Club will meet at noon in the Union 205.

The Career Planning and Placement Center Workshop for resume building is at 2:30 p.m. in the Union 212.

Kansas State Sports Car Club will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union 206.

The Destiny Modeling Troupe Auditions will be held at 6 p.m. in the Ecumenical Center.

The Intramural Individual Sports begin at 8 a.m. in the Rec Complex.

24 Thursday

Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in the Union 203.

Hispanic American Leadership Organization Meeting is at 7:45 p.m. in the Union Big Eight Room.

Block & Bridle will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 123.

The K-State Sailing Club Meeting is at 8:30 in the Union 209.

ICHTHUS Christian Fellowship Meeting is at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theater. Pat Wildman will be speaking.

The Engineering Ambassador Executives will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 161.

The German Table Meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Espresso Royale Cafe.

The Society for Advancement of Management will hold an informational meeting at 7 p.m. in Denison 113A.

Ag Ambassadors/Representatives Meeting is at 6 p.m. in Waters 137.

The KSU Rodeo Club Meeting is at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

The KSU Horticultural Club will meet at 7:30 in Waters 244. Spring planting will be discussed.

25 Friday

Intramural Basketball begins at 4 p.m. in the Rec Complex.

Manhattan Weather

Today, cloudy. Colder. A chance for flurries. Highs 30 to 35. North to northwest winds 10 to 20 mph and gusty. Tonight, mostly cloudy. Cold. A chance for flurries. Lows 10 to 15. Thursday, Partly cloudy. Highs in the mid-20s.

776-5577 1800 Claflin Rd. First Bank Center 776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special

3 - 10 in. Pizzas
1 - Topping
4 - Cokes

$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers

2 - 10 in. Pizzas
2 - Toppings
2 - Cokes

$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

KRYSTALLOS

BEADS
BEADS
BEADS

Thousands of beads, crystals, and all the supplies you need.

1124 Moro Aggieville 11-6 Mon.-Sat. 539-0360

KSU Bakery Science Club
Bake Sale
Today!!!
3 p.m. to 5 p.m.
Shellenberger 105

Bonanza's

Winter Thaw Specials

FREE CHICKEN FRIED STEAK

with the purchase of FRESHTASTIKS
FOOD BAR at regular price

99¢ KIDS MEAL

with the purchase of an adult entree

Remember, Kids Eat Free Every Tuesday.

Offer good through 1/31/91
4 p.m. to close.

BONANZA

Steak • Chicken • Seafood • Salsas
622 Tuttle Creek Blvd. • Manhattan, KS

STUDENT
LOANS

Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!

Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK

Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

RUSHWACKER'S

WELCOME BACK
KSU

Wednesday 9 p.m.

COMEDY INVASION

featuring

Taylor Mason

- 10th Anniversary of Comedy; Magic Club
- Evening at the Improv
- Showtime

Before 5 p.m.
539-4321

-Call for Reservation-
531 N. Manhattan

After 5 p.m.
539-9727

Barn Burners

FirstBank Center

776-4111

Wednesday

$1.75

Pitchers

Fri.

& Sat.

Night

OPERATION DESERT STORM

Professors put Middle East war in class lectures

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

As the ominous thudding of American and allied bombs continues to reverberate in the Persian Gulf, K-State instructors are altering classes to include the war.

Since the semester is only a week old, the war has been skimmed briefly, said John Exdell, associate professor of philosophy.

"In the first class after the introductory class period, we used the hour to discuss the issue," Exdell said. "I teach an introductory social and political philosophy class, so it's quite natural to discuss this issue in class."

Exdell said the war would be discussed periodically over the course of the semester.

John Uhlarik, professor of psychology, said having only two lecture classes so far in his Fundamentals of Perception and Sensation class has made it difficult to go into detail about the war. The topic will be touched upon, however, as the semester continues.

"I'm trying to convince them of the need to study this area right now," Uhlarik said.

Uhlarik's class will study the human element involved with the complicated weapons and instruments the soldiers are faced with in the Persian Gulf, he said.

The war will be more difficult to discuss in larger classes, said Linda Richter, professor of political science. The classes with over 200 students will be limited because of the mass of people.

"I'm expecting it to influence the discussions, but it's not likely to change the reading," Richter said. "I always try to update the examples I use. Nothing since the Vietnam war has had such an impact."

Local public schools deal with crisis in gulf

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

It's business as usual for Manhattan public schools. Since the start of the gulf war, the Manhattan district schools have taken a low key approach to dealing with the crisis.

"We're trying to keep school as on-going and stable as possible," said Clark Reinke, principal of Amanda Arnold Elementary School on Hudson Avenue. "That's our number one job."

Reinke said teachers are encouraging discussions in class when they see a need, but they are trying not to dwell on the war.

"They can get all they want on the news 24 hours a day. It's too much for this age to deal with," he said.

Henritta Boch, principal of Bluemont School, said support groups have been formed for the elementary children to allow the students a chance to talk to a social worker.

"We are trying to offer as much to the children as we can. There are so many parent support groups — we want our focus to be on the children," Boch said. "We have a social worker going into the classrooms to talk about ways to deal with their parents' absence. We also have long lists of activities for the children to do to help get their minds off of it."

The teachers at Lee School, also an elementary school, are taking a little more active approach to the crisis by making a continuing effort to provide information and support for the children, Principal Connie Barricklow said.

The school sponsored an all-school assembly on Veterans Day with representatives from Fort Riley to explain what a veteran is and how it pertains to them. They have also written on red, white, blue and construction-paper ribbons the names of family members who have been in the service.

Yellow ribbons were reserved for family members in the military who were in the Middle East or otherwise stationed away from the family.

"We wanted to take a front-end approach to help the children. This way they are aware and maybe a little more prepared," she said.

Barricklow also said students have written letters to family members and bought a classified ad in the Manhattan Mercury Sunday edition to let the soldiers know the Lee school supports them.

Another route the school has taken is setting up a crisis team made up of faculty and parents which deals with problems the students are facing.

■ See GRADE, Page 10

Lt. Andrea Pasqualucci, center, gets help putting on her battle dress overgear from Sgt. Karen Nichols, left, and Staff Sgt. Edward Collazo, all of the 531st Transportation Company Army Reserve Unit, during chemical warfare training at Fort Riley Tuesday.

Soldiers train for chemical war

MIKE VENSO
Collegian Reporter

A group of people wearing camouflage listen casually to a routine discussion on chemical warfare in a chilly, dimly-lit room.

Just outside the window, a loud rumbling sound, like that of a huge bomber, is heard. In one corner, a pile of old, grey leather chairs sit stacked on each other. In the other, a case full of grenades and gas masks sit collecting dust.

Without notice, a bellowing cry of "Gas!" echoes through the basement. Within milliseconds, the group of soldiers respond frantically. They rip into a pouch attached to their side, withdrawing a handful of rubber and nylon resembling some space-age version of a French Foreign Legion hat.

Sgt. Carter Williams goes down the line barking, "You're dead, you're dead, you make it, you're alive," as the crew of soldiers from the 531st Transportation Detachment practice removing their stowed gas masks for NBC School at Fort Riley.

NBC stands for nuclear, biological and chemical — agents that pose serious threats in modern warfare. Allied forces and many nations in the Persian Gulf don gas masks and protective suits almost every day as Iraq plagues the region with missiles.

The members of the 531st, a Manhattan reserve unit, were taking their last training course Tuesday at the NBC school before de-

■ See RESERVES, Page 10

THE SAINT MARY HOSPITAL INVITES YOU AND YOUR FAMILY TO AN ALL HOSPITAL

OPEN HOUSE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26 • 1 PM to 4 PM

BRYAN
TRAVEL COLLEGES

"Your Passport To A Career"

Travel Agent • Corporate Travel Mgmt. • Tour Operator
Convention Planner • Hotel & Airline Industry • Car Rental Agent
• Cruise-Line Reservationists • Travel Promotions

24 Credit Hours • Travel Geography • Computer Training
Financial Assistance • Placement Assistance
CALL TOLL FREE 1-800-255-3507
1527 Fairlawn
Topeka, KS 66604

1 FREE

TANNING SESSION

Check out our re-opening specials
($2 sessions)1126 Laramie
Aggieville,
Manhattan, KSSun Connection

776-2426

Coupon good thru 1-25-91 • Limit one coupon per customer

SNOOKIES

WED. & THURS.

Live Rock 'n' Roll

Fiance

Tonight $2.50 Pitchers

1122 Moro, Upstairs

776-7726

Be king of the mountain.

That's what it feels like to be a Marine. You're an individual who can tackle anything and come out on top. Marine training sees to that. If you're up to this type of challenge, contact your local recruiter.

1-800-423-2600.

Platoon Leaders Class.
For freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

Women Officer Candidates Program.
For juniors, seniors and college graduates.

Officer Candidates Class.
For seniors and college graduates.

See the Officer Selection Officer in the Student Union on 24-25 January or call 1-800-748-7274 for more info.

MCCAIN

Daniel McKelway
and Friends
Mozart: Music for Winds

Friday, February 1, 8 p.m.

Here's an antidote for Poison: Take two Mozart Serenades and the Overture to the Marriage of Figaro; sit back and enjoy.

Join Avery Fisher Career Award-winning clarinetist Daniel McKelway and a dozen of his friends for an evening of wind music that will show you why Salieri was so jealous of Mozart.

With student prices 1/2 what the general public pays, a ticket to Mozart is just what the doctor ordered.

Students/Children: $7.50
Senior Citizens: $13.00
General Public: $15.00

Orchestra level seating

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University
Tickets now on sale at the McCain Auditorium box office. Box office hours: noon to 5 p.m. weekdays. Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also available at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and TTR (Fort Riley).

This program is presented in part by the Kansas Arts Commission, a state agency, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency.
Additional support has been provided by the Friends of McCain, Union National Bank and Trust Company, and the Fine Arts Fee.

OPERA
WAREHAM
HOUSE

... PRESENTS ...

*Jan. 26 - Baghdad Jones
(R & B)*Feb. 1 - Vaughn & the Magnificent 7
(Big Band Sound)*Feb. 8 - Left of Center
(D.J.)*Feb. 9 - The Millions (Alternative Pop)

*Mar. 2 - S.D.I.

410 Poyntz Avenue

for reservations: (913) 537-8646

Harry's Uptown

EDITORIAL

War leaves little room for liberty or justice

"Justice: once that word is uttered, where will it all end?" --from "Waiting for the Barbarians" by J.M. Coetzee, South African novelist

I love America, but I hate it too. I am proud to live in a country where my ambivalence is allowed. I love the ideals of liberty and justice that we as Americans hold sacred. But at times, I hate the means to these ends.

The war in the gulf is such a means. Many would have us believe it is a noble and liberating conflict. Others see it as a selfish attempt to protect American oil interests in the Middle East.

I can understand the arguments of both the proponents and the protesters of the war. And it is difficult for me to take a side.

What do I believe in? I believe in everything and nothing, with a vengeance, at the same time. An open, inquiring mind can be a difficult thing to live with.

It's not that I am without conviction. But just as magnetic north drifts, the reference points which shape my convictions drift. My direction changes. The Pangaea of my world breaks up. I am left clutching at the departing continents, trying to keep my world from coming apart.

All that remains of my world are these concepts we as Americans hold sacred: liberty and justice. These are the things I strive for. These are the things I want for the world.

But where is the liberty? Where is the justice? No matter how many ideals we take with us into the war with Iraq, the conflict remains dangerous with realities.

At the time of this writing, the Iraqis have captured at least seven allied prisoners of war. Think of what may happen to those men, and other men and women like them, if the war goes on for six months or longer. Think of what has probably happened to them already. I pity the life of a POW, no matter how long his plight.

And I pity the pawns of a land war as well. I remain mindful of their families and friends. I marvel at the random injustice of death as it occurs on a battlefield.

In these aspects of war there is no justice. Instead, the military and the President suggest, the offensive campaign is a sweeping attempt to install liberty and justice in Kuwait. Our reference points drift. Our direction changes. We suspend our own ideals in order to carry them to others.

How far can such a suspension of ideals hold? At what point do we return to the ideals for which we stand? We overestimate ourselves if we think we can remain undaunted by any enforced change of lifestyle. You can't go home again. No matter how this conflict finishes our world will never be the same.

I admit that it seems as if something had to be done. An unchecked threat to Saudi soil would have been a danger to our lifestyle. But the ideological ramifications for this conflict seem to have been convenient afterthoughts.

Nevertheless, the mixture of political realities and ideological (patriotic) appeals has solidified. We cannot support either side by ignoring the other. Both sides have arguments that make sense.

The conflict has the unfortunate depth of a color photograph. We are too close to it to detect the black-and-white tones that only hindsight will bring out in the big picture.

I think we're in trouble. It's clearly too late to turn back from what we've started. But I'm already sick of watching the newscasts of military censor-cleared material on the television. Already, it seems our early optimism was premature. Rumors of a draft without amnesty have long-range implications, no matter how the conflict turns out.

And above all, our ideals may be in more danger now than they were before the start of the war. Liberty and justice are sinking in sand and oil (and blood). How long will it be before they are completely out of sight, submerged entirely in a sticky gulf war?

What is the answer? The questions may be the only answer. Without the questions we are surely lost.

The questions, more than anything else, will keep our ideals alive. The questions will keep our own government in check as it strives to check the government of Iraq. The questions will help to ensure accurate media coverage of the situation in the gulf, even as the wartime censors work to maintain public support for the conflict.

And the questions will remind us of what we're doing, of what atrocities will inevitably transpire on all fronts of this war. In war, our methods may not be so different from those of our adversary (Remember Lieutenant Calley in Vietnam?). War is hell. And no matter what we say, the only rule in hell is that anything goes.

"Justice: once that word is uttered, where will it all end?" It's all on hold for now. Nothing should surprise us as news of the situation in the gulf reaches the states. No atrocity, no injustice should be unexpected.

But we should turn our shock into conviction. Despite the enormous complexities of the situation, it's time for me — and for all of us — to take a stand.

It's time to apply all that we know (but take for granted) about our ideals. Walking a fence is more dangerous than walking a tightrope; we do it lazily, unconsciously, without thought. It's time to take the plunge, no matter how scary it seems.

Watch the news, read the newspapers and think about what you're seeing. I, for one, am sick of CNN's drum-beating "War in the Gulf" logo. But my fatigue is no excuse for ignoring a situation that will affect us all.

Don't leave it to the "experts." They're running this war. The people can tell what's going on if they try. As Bob Dylan sings: "You don't need a weatherman to know which way the wind blows."

Everything's on the line here. It's not just the price of gas. The potential for change in our lives is beyond comprehension.

And let's not forget the Middle East. What if we "win"? Will the political reconstruction of the post-war Middle East stop with the simple restoration of Kuwait? How much are we willing to risk? How much can we afford to lose?

I'm not sure this country can survive another defeat like Vietnam. If this doesn't work, George, I hope you have some plans for cleanup of the mess it's going to make.

Don't wait for a draft. Don't wait until it looks like we might lose this thing. It's too late for indecision. Do anything, but do something for what you believe. And keep our ideals in mind.

Justice: my prayer is that it will never end with us.

Editorials

Press coverage necessary due to previous conflicts

The Pentagon has decided war is too important to be reported by the press. Don't expect anything like the dramatic combat footage shown on the nightly news during the Vietnam War in the current gulf war. Now, access to troops and operations is restricted to those in the press pool.

The Pentagon started press pools after the invasion of Grenada in 1983. During that operation, the press was left behind. From the military's point of view, that was probably the only successful action of the invasion.

The invasion itself was a debacle. Poor intelligence led to the dropping of elite commando and airborne units into areas covered by machine-gun fire. Charges of cowardice were made when troops refused to carry out their missions. Of the 19 deaths, less than half were from enemy fire. The rest were from friendly fire and accidents.

All of this went unreported by the Pentagon, which also misrepresented the number of American casualties.

Despite this blundering, the Reagan administration portrayed the Grenada invasion as a triumph. The military, basking in glory, handed out more medals than the number of personnel involved in the campaign.

In response to press outrage about their exclusion, the Pentagon developed the press pool. It was first used in the 1989 invasion of Panama.

In Panama, the press pool was brought in after most of the fighting had concluded. They were then stranded from what action remained. When they were taken on the military's self-serving excursions and could see actual fighting, they were told they couldn't go too near because it would be too dangerous for them.

No pictures of American or civilian casualties were shown to the American public. To this day, there has been no clear accounting of the number of Panamanian casualties inflicted during the invasion.

That brings us to the current war. There, the military restricts the movements of reporters and their access to troops. When excursions are made, pool reporters are taken to see what the military authorities want them to see.

The Pentagon's justifications for press pools are security and safety. Neither wash.

In Vietnam, the press agreed not to report operational details that would aid the enemy. And, as one reporter said, to not cover combat because it is too dangerous is like not covering election campaigns because they are too political.

In fact, the military blamed the loss of public support for the Vietnam War on TV and newspaper reports that often didn't reflect the optimistic spin the brass were putting on events. It is reasonable to assume the Pentagon has concluded if they can prevent such front-line reporting, they can more effectively manipulate public opinion at home.

Military reports from the gulf have already been contradictory about allied success in knocking out Scud missile launchers and neutralizing Saddam Hussein's air force. The gulf brass faces a serious crisis in credibility if such contradictions continue. Perhaps they should leave reporting to those who make it their profession.

More than that, the military has not shown themselves willing to give the public the information it needs to make intelligent decisions about national policy. In the long run, that is more important than the success or failure of Operation Desert Storm.

Letters

Unity called for

Editor,

I was quite disappointed by the Collegian's coverage of the war demonstration held on Thursday, Jan. 18. Yes, it is true there were conflicts between those who oppose the war in the gulf and those who are in support of it. However, more than just two points of view were present at the demonstration. I, like many students, do not consider this a justified war, but I did not attend the demonstration to participate in a silly, counterproductive yelling match!

Instead, I wanted to show support for our soldiers who, for whatever reason, are in the Middle East right now. Those courageous women and men need our support. They need to know we do not blame them for the unfortunate happenings in the gulf, and they also need us to lift their spirits — not to be a burden on them.

For those of you who simply want to see who can shout the loudest, go rent an arena and have it out. Yet, for those of us who can see beyond our own convictions about the war, in order to boost the morale of the people we love, let's come together. We've got work to do!

Angela Smith
sophomore in pre-law

Alternatives needed

Editor,

As I watch the war protesters in the Union Plaza today, I wonder how many have any idea at all of what they are doing. These people keep shouting, "No blood for oil." Do they know, or do they care that there are some 30 million American families currently living in poverty? Do they realize that those 30 million families are just surviving day to day? No. The war in Iraq is not an exchange of one quart of blood spilling across the desert sands for a quart of oil for Exxon; it is about cold congealing American blood right here at home. The blood of those 30 million families who can't properly heat their homes, families that can't properly maintain or even pay for fuel to supply a car so they can at least hope to be able to work for something better.

These protesters say there are energy alternatives, and I agree. However, by the time those alternatives can be developed, a great many innocent Americans will exist as just another frozen corpse for a lack of that quart of oil.

By all means, we should work to raise social consciousness, but do so in a productive way. Contact your congressmen and tell them you want an energy policy that is aimed at eliminating our reliance on foreign oil. But while waiting for that policy to take effect, do some good, support our armed forces and see what you can do to alleviate the suffering of those less fortunate Americans.

Jerry Hester
graduate student in physics

Group did act

Editor,

A letter by Jennifer Hamm (Jan. 18) reflects a misunderstanding of the actions that have been taken by those of us who demand an end to the gulf war. The organizers of the Jan. 17 rally are by no means newcomers to this issue.

Soon after the invasion of Kuwait, many people across Kansas began organizing to promote a diplomatic solution to the crisis. Our first major event was held in Abilene Oct. 14, the 100th birthday of President Dwight D. Eisenhower. The more than 250 people attending the Eisenhower Peace Forum already sensed a drift toward war and demanded that our administration make a sincere effort to settle the matter peacefully.

The Manhattan Coalition for Peace in the Middle East sponsored a rally at the Union Nov. 14 and a forum Dec. 6, at which panelists from all sides of the issue discussed the increasingly ominous situation with the audience.

The Jan. 17 rally was planned well before the bombing began. Our concern in all of these events was to head off the terrible loss of life that was to result from the Bush administration's policy of simply delivering ultimatums to a megalomaniac like Hussein. Such a policy guaranteed Hamm's husband and thousands of others would have to fight a needless war.

Did we call our members of Congress? Yes. Their offices were flooded with appeals throughout the fall and during the debates. An aide to Rep. Slattery said that 90 percent of the calls and letters they received were in opposition to a war.

We did everything in our power to prevent this war. Now that it has started, the best way in which we can support our troops is to demand that they not be sacrificed by continuing this horrible adventure.

Stan Cox
adjunct associate professor in astronomy

Quotes distasteful

Editor,

In a newspaper associated with an institution of higher education, would it not be possible to find some way to provide accurate reporting without the necessity of verbatim quotation (and thus the continuation) of language that is obscene, offensive and merely demonstrates the user's limited range of expression?

Carol O'Neill
math skills specialist

Heitschmidt calls for student action

Student body president gives address

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

Student Body President Todd Heitschmidt called for university reorganization at the regent level in the State of the University Address yesterday afternoon in the K-State Union.

The elimination of the Colleges of Architecture and Design and Human Ecology was not the answer to the lack of state funding, Heitschmidt said. Reorganization of some kind, however, could prove profitable.

"I still believe that some type of reorganization can be effective if it is considered at the regents level," Heitschmidt said. "I urge the Kansas Board of Regents to study the academic overlapping that is occurring with the regent's institutions."

The overlapping is due to the fact that the regent schools all provide the same things, he said. The regent schools should diversify.

Heitschmidt said students should participate in the planning committee of their respective college in tandem with student government leaders. Obtaining enough state funding for K-State will be difficult without proper representation, even in light of Gov. Joan Finney's budget request.

"I am pleased to inform you that her recommendations are definitely a positive outlook for higher education in Kansas and at Kansas State University," Heitschmidt said.

Heitschmidt also addressed the following issues:

- Craig Raborn's, junior in geography and a member of Heitschmidt's cabinet, campaign for the Manhattan City Commission.

- Student academic priorities.
- Desert Partners, a program to aid soldiers serving in the Persian Gulf and their families.

Funding for Farrell Library will be Heitschmidt's top academic priority, he said. A report of the library's condition will be released within the next several days.

"I don't expect any surprises, the library is in extremely poor condition," Heitschmidt said. "It is time to act."

Academic minor degrees are Heitschmidt's second priority, he said. Heitschmidt plans to initiate a proposal to Faculty Senate concerning the minor degree option.

Kassebaum speaks at hospital

MELISSA SMITH
Collegian Reporter

U.S. Sen. Nancy Landon Kassebaum, R-Kan., visited Manhattan Tuesday to dedicate a new Pawnee Mental Health Unit at the Saint Mary Hospital.

Kassebaum has helped Pawnee and the hospital obtain the rural-transition grant that funded the new unit, said Lee Stutzman, chairman of the Saint Mary Hospital

Board of Trustees.

"It is a tribute to those who I'm sure, spent a lot of time and effort in seeing it (the new unit) come to fruition," Kassebaum said. "You can't legislate caring and compassionate individuals."

Located in the hospital's new wing, the 20-bed short-term psychiatric unit is a joint program of the hospital and Pawnee, said Mark Brown-Barnett, chief executive officer of the Saint Mary Hospital.

The unit will provide temporary treatment services to patients who suffer from stress or patients who have chronic mental illness, said Steve Rockhill, mental health assistant with the Saint Mary Hospital. Patients will rarely stay over 30 days.

The $2.3 million expansion is in response to a community need, said Cathy Harmes, vice president of human resources and support services for the Saint Mary Hospital.

Until now, there was not an in-patient, mental-health unit within a 60-mile radius, she said.

Don Schreiner, executive director of Pawnee, said providing quality in-patient psychiatric care in Manhattan has been an important goal of Pawnee since he became executive director in 1984.

The mental-health unit is a clean industry that provides jobs for the community, said Dr. Eugene Klingler, mayor pro-tem of Manhattan.

Pope voices concern for missionary work

By the Associated Press

VATICAN CITY — Pope John Paul II on Tuesday announced an aggressive campaign to spread church teachings to new fronts, including post-communist Eastern Europe and Asia.

The pope laid out his strategy in an encyclical, one of the most authoritative forms a papal pronouncement can take.

"Redemptoris Missio", Latin for "Mission of the Redeemer," is the eighth encyclical of his 12-year-old papacy.

The pope warned of waning missionary activity. He said the faithful should not to succumb to the belief that one religion is as good as another.

This is the Catholic church's first important statement on missionary work in 25 years. Since then, the number of potential converts has doubled, the pope said, with the missionaries' biggest tasks in Africa, Latin America and Asia.

WE WANT YOU

TO HELP SAVE LIVES

* New Donors ****

Earn $15 Cash on your First Donation!!
(If you haven't donated in the last 2 months, you qualify.)

the MANHATTAN DONOR CENTER

Coupon required for Special. Open M-F

1130 Gardenway 776-9177 Call for appointment today!

SHUTTLE SERVICE

for temporarily or permanently physically limited students on campus, building to building

Inquire by calling 532-6441

FREE SHUTTLE

BUS STOP

We really move our bus for you!!

January 14 to 18,
January 21 to 25 and
January 28 to
February 1, 1991

Catch the K-State Union Shuttle to the bookstore to sell your books. The Shuttle runs from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., stopping at the Union each half hour. Just follow the map to the stop nearest you. Look for our K-State Union Van with the Wildcat Windssock!

Support the K-State Union! Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student activities, programs and services.

K-State Union Bookstore

Pizza Hut® DELIVERY

Makin' it great!®

•3RD & MORO 776-4334 •WESTLOOP 539-7447
•AGGIEVILLE 539-7666

K-State Sailing Club

Wednesday 7 p.m.
Thursday 8:30 p.m.
Union 209

Introductory meeting for new members

Come join the fun!

RED ROSES $1 EACH

While Supplies Last

Steve's Floral

1204 Moro Aggieville, Manhattan 776-5900
Hours 9-6 Mon.-Sat.

LADIES

The men of Seduction are coming to Manhattan.

Seduction will be appearing at The Blue River Pub at 8 p.m. Wed. Jan. 30.

•$10,000 stage and light show
•A Mel Gibson look alike
•A playgirl centerfold
•A model featured in GQ magazine
•"One of the hottest male reviews to come out of California in years," states the Times. "More than just a male review," says USA Today.
•All ladies 18 and older admitted. Tickets are $8 advance, $10 at the door. Available at The Blue River Pub.

Manhattan Bridal Show, Inc. 1991

Sunday, February 3

Houston Street Ballroom
5th & Houston

Doors Open At 12:30 P.M.
Fashion Show At 2:00 P.M.

Register To Win FREE Gifts Including A Dream Honeymoon
Value: $750

Sponsored By:

- Arbuthnot's Ballroom
- Bookers II Catering
- Borch Brothers Men's Wear
- Campbell's
- Christine's - The Wedding Co.
- Danenberg's Holiday Jewelers
- Double Exposure - Music for All Occasions
- D & S Rental
- Florence Schwab - Harpist
- G & A Real Estate, Inc.
- Heirloom Portraits
- Houston Street Ballroom
- Kansas State Travel
- Kitchens Plus
- KQIA / Q 101 Radio
- Mary Kay Cosmetics & Associates
- New Beginnings Hairstyling & Tanning
- Steve's Floral
- Travelers Express & Limousine Service
- Vern's Donuts & Cake Shop
- Woody's Ladies Shop

MCCAIN

TOMORROW NIGHT

Susan Marshall and Company

Thursday, January 24, 8 p.m.

The moves of this 8-member ensemble will take you to the cutting edge of dance. Witty, sexy, and certifiably cool. And to think you shelled out five bucks for Dirty Dancing. Fresh from a critically acclaimed run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, Susan Marshall and Company bring to K-State two outstanding works.

Arms (1984) focuses on an intricate accelerating interplay of arms in a man and a woman's growth, independence and increasing...

"As crystalline as you could be" (Stage Voice)

(1990) was inspired by the 1990 Summer Olympics and takes a look at the game of life as Americans play it: with a headlong drive for individual distinction and achievement.

This judge would score Contenders 5.7 out of 6. Rah, and bravo!" (Newsday)

Students/Children: $7.50, 6.50, 5
General Public: $15, 13, 10
Senior Citizens: $13, 11, 8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dances on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts with the Kansas Arts Commission. Additional support from the Pine Arts Place.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University

Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTSFamiliarity could help
NY, Bills

By the Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. — Super Bowl history suggests that familiarity breeds an edge, that playing a team for the second time in a season can be beneficial, especially with a championship at stake.

Six times in the past, Super Bowls have been rematches, and in four of those games, the team that won the first match won the second. The last time was 1986, when the New York Giants beat the Denver Broncos 19-16 during the season and 39-20 in the Super Bowl.

Running back Ottis Anderson remembers the sequence and how coach Bill Parcells handled it.

"Bill said, 'Be careful what you say. Enjoy the win but keep it in perspective. You might see them again.'"

"That was unbelievable. We got to the Super Bowl and there they were."

Five weeks ago, Buffalo beat the Giants 17-13, and as the game neared its end, Bills safety Leonard Smith, Anderson's former teammate with the St. Louis Cardinals, went into a victory dance.

"He was shaking his finger in the camera saying, 'We got those guys!'" Anderson said. "I thought of '86 and Denver and said to myself, 'You know, we might see each other again.'"

"Here we are."

The first game was memorable because both teams lost their starting quarterbacks. Buffalo's Jim Kelly went out with a sprained left knee, returning for the playoffs. New York's Phil Simms is still on crutches with a sprained right arch, replaced by Jeff Hostetler.

It was the last time the Giants lost. Hostetler quarterbacked them to narrow wins over the Phoenix Cardinals and the New England Patriots to finish the regular season, then to playoff victories over the Chicago Bears and the San Francisco 49ers.

The victory over New York positioned the Bills to gain home field advantage throughout the playoffs. A week later, with backup Frank Reich at quarterback, they clinched that with a 24-14 victory over the Miami Dolphins. Then they capitalized on the edge, scoring 95 points in playoff wins over Miami and the Los Angeles Raiders.

Lady Cats to face OU in conference tilt

ERIC BROWN
Sports Reporter

The new year has spawned a fork in the road for Coach Susan Yow's Lady Cats.

Fresh off a disappointing home loss to Iowa State, K-State now faces two crucial home-court tests involving Big Eight rivals from the state of Oklahoma.

No longer holding a share of the Big Eight lead, the Lady Cats are hoping to gather themselves during a contest at 7 p.m. tonight against OU.

The Lady Cats, 2-2 in the conference and 9-6 overall, are currently in a three-way tie for fourth, directly behind Oklahoma State, Nebraska and Iowa State, all of whom are 3-1 within the conference.

The OU game presents an opportunity to further weed out some teams from the fore-runners, and hopefully establish that there will be no team near the bottom wearing purple and white.

If K-State was to notch a victory and remain involved in the traffic jam at the top, Saturday's game with nationally ranked Oklahoma State would become a classic showdown.

However, Yow warned against overlooking the 1-3 and 7-10 Sooners.

"They're a very athletic team," she said. "They play hard and aggressive. Their record is very deceiving. Gary Hudson is an excellent coach, and they'll come in here well prepared."

Oklahoma will be led into battle by junior Angie Alexander, a member of last season's Big Eight all-tournament team and the Big Eight Select Team.

The veteran Lady Cats continue to receive a solid scoring punch from All-American candidates Diana Miller and Nadira Hazim, at 19.2 and 16.7 points respectively.

To have a successful outing, the Lady Cats will need to put the Cyclone game behind them and display a focused effort.

"I didn't think we had it in us to play as poorly as we did against Iowa State," Yow said. "I hope that — playing in Bramlage, with our experienced lineup, combined with how poorly we played against Iowa State — that we'll have the incentive to come out and really shine."

Christopher T. Assaf/Staff

K-State's Nadira Hazim has a rebound stolen by Iowa State's Sanquetta Davis during their game Saturday. The Lady Cats meet Oklahoma tonight in Bramlage Coliseum.

Sports Briefly

'Cat golfers finish 16th

The K-State men's golf team fired a final round score of 313 Tuesday to move out of last place and into a 16th-place finish at the prestigious Hammond-Bell Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Tournament.

K-State, competing in its first meet of the spring, finished the 54-hole tournament, which included six Top 20 teams, with a total of 960 strokes. The host school, Cal-Santa Barbara, won the team title with a score of 904.

Richard Laing led K-State individually, as he fired a final-round score of 75 to finish in a tie for 27th-place with a 54-hole total of 233.

Other K-State finishers included Bill Graham (242), Brett Vuillemin (243), Jim Brenneman (245) and Bobby Donlan (252).

"There's no question that the six to eight weeks off have really hurt us," said Coach Russ Bunker. "All these warm-weather schools have been playing the whole time, so it's tough to come out and compete when you haven't played for two months."

Bunker, however, said he was pleased with the effort put forth on the final day.

"We beat probably seven or eight teams in the final round," he said. "But we're certainly better than we showed over the course of the tournament."

Hoop team needs support

Bill
Lang

Sports Reporter

Well, sports fans, here we are mired in what seems to be a long winter for the K-State Wildcats men's basketball program.

The men's team, as you read on Tuesday, is off to its worst start in a long, long time. God have mercy on the 'Cats. Pray their fortunes will soon turn around. On the other hand, if the fans look to the other gender for a team, they will see a good one.

The K-State Lady Cats are currently 2-2 in conference play after absorbing a tough 75-66 loss at the hands of Iowa State this past weekend. What's more important, they may have lost more than simply a game.

Last Saturday's contest against the Lady Cyclones saw an attendance of 1,126.

Did you know that right now the Lady Cats — give us a little mood-setting music please — are averaging 1/11th of what Bramlage can hold. That comes to an average of about 1,200 bodies.

That sucks.

Now c'mon folks, this is K-State. I've been going to school about as long as our friend David Svoboda and I remember crowds of rabid people for the men's games — even if those games fell on nights before tests. Making a choice between studying or seeing the men play a game usually was — or is — no contest.

Well, let's see if we can switch some of those to nights — or days — featuring the Lady Cats.

Now, to start out with, I know a lot of the games have been during holidays, and that brings attendance way down.

But let us not forget these games — start salivating you budget-minded students — are free. That's right, free. Why, oh why, buy a season ticket when all that money can be spent on hot dogs and drinks at the women's game. And with the price of season tickets now-a-days, that's a lot of dogs 'n drinks one can purchase, although I prefer a frosty mug of brew to flat soda myself.

Last year, the Lady Cats led the league in attendance, averaging about 1,400. Now realize this: The Lady Cats are expected to challenge for the Big Eight crown.

And with three players — Kristie Bahner, Diana Miller and Nadira Hazim — of All-Big Eight caliber, they have a good shot at doing it. Miller is

■ See LANG, Page 10

Bowl revenue gives lift to Big 8 schoolsColorado, Nebraska bring additional money into bank accounts of member institutionsSCOTT PASKE
Sports Reporter

A K-State football game on New Year's Day has never occurred. For now, it's a dream most Wildcats, including Athletic Director Steve Miller, would love to experience.

But Miller and those involved in paying the bills for K-State's athletic program view bowl games with an added perspective. A hypothetical offseason spent watching Colorado or Oklahoma play in the Orange Bowl or Nebraska in the Fiesta Bowl is a nice consolation.

Especially in the dollars-and-cents game called revenue sharing.

According to Big Eight Conference Service Bureau Director Jeff Bollig, the league's formula for splitting bowl payoffs has a basic structure.

"It breaks down to taking the payoff that a bowl guarantees a participating school, subtracting the team's expenses involved with the game, and dividing the rest among the eight conference schools," Bollig said.

The downfall, Miller said, is that those schools waiting for a piece of the pie don't know how big their slice will be until payday comes.

"We project only the Orange Bowl split," Miller said. "Unless the Big Eight is involved in another game with a big payoff, or one that has national prominence, the money that is divided is minimal, if any."

The Orange Bowl is the only game conference schools can count on receiving money from because of contractual agreements established between leagues and participating bowls. The Big Eight champion receives an automatic berth in the Orange Bowl under present terms.

Bollig said Colorado, the 1990 Big Eight champion, will earn the conference approximately $4.2 million from the Orange Bowl when the payoff is made in June.

K-State Athletic Business Manager Paul Kowalczyk said the league would divide about $3 million after expenses are deducted, making K-State's cut about $375,000.

Bollig added that Nebraska, the only other conference school to participate in a bowl game last season, would earn approximately $2 million from its appearance in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Generally, New Year's Day bowl games offer the biggest payoffs. Some include the Orange Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Rose Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl. Other bowls are unpredictable, Miller said.

Miller, who is currently working toward pushing K-State out of a $2.3 million athletic budget deficit, cited the 'Cats' 1982 Independence Bowl appearance as an example.

"We actually lost money on the bowl," Miller said. "K-State was required to purchase 15,000 tickets for the game, and we were struggling to break even."

Miller said there are damaging effects when league schools are placed on probation. Oklahoma State and Oklahoma are currently under NCAA sanctions for rule violations.

"It hurts us in a two-fold way," Miller said. "There was TV revenue that was lost with a prominent program like Oklahoma, plus the potential bowl revenue that is lost because of the sanctions."

K-State places annual bowl receipts into its general operating budget, Miller said. The money is not applied to additional purchases, but goes toward past deficits.

Miller said there are substantial benefits when multiple conference schools make it to bowls.

"It's better to have more go if there's a generous, equitable split," Miller said. "We try to apply any excess to outstanding loans, since that is an area that involves interest payments."

"We are presently on a five-year plan to erase our deficit. Anything we could apply toward the deficit that would accelerate our efforts would be fantastic."

David Mayer/File

Defensive intensity — as shown here against K-State quarterback Paul Watson — is one reason Nebraska has been in bowl games year after year. Nebraska's bowl trips, and those of other conference schools, benefit all financially.

Movie depicts struggles of black family in South Africa

STACEY HARBISON
Collegian Reviewer

"Cry the Beloved Country" is a realistic portrayal of the human bondage that existed before blacks were emancipated.

The film is taken from the novel by Alan Paton and was made long before the topics of apartheid and emancipation became popular.

"Cry" is about a black priest who takes a trip to Johannesburg, South Africa after receiving a letter that says his sister is ill.

The priest decides to travel there in hopes of bringing her back home with him. He also wishes to bring back his son who was sent to get her months before.

The priest receives help from a Johannesburg priest portrayed by Syd-

Reviewer says...

+ compassionate and realistic

ney Poitier. He discovers his sister is sick only in the sense she has become a prostitute.

He convinces her to come back home with him and then begins to search for his delinquent son who is in the impoverished sections of South America.

Everywhere he looks for his son, he is told to try somewhere else. When he finally finds him, it is too late — he has been arrested for murder.

Through it all, the priest never gives up trying to help others. He never loses his faith.

The film is further brought to life when the father of the murdered man forgives the priest.

This forgiveness shows how life must go on, and the father proceeds to donate money to a black boys club. He then replaces the priest's run-down church by building a new one.

"Cry the Beloved Country" depicts the compassion and misunderstanding between father and son, brother and sister, black and white. The irony of misunderstandings turning into understanding only after death also shows the realism and compassion dealt with in the film.

"Cry the Beloved Country" is a Kaleidoscope film. It will be shown in the K-State Union Jan. 23-24.

New Regents member tackles issue that hits close to home

KIMBERLY KOHLS
Staff Reporter

There was a new face at the Board of Regents meeting last week.

Jo Ann McDowell, president of Independence Community College, was the first member Gov. Joan Finney appointed to the regents.

"I was appointed the day before, so I hadn't seen any of the material until that day," McDowell said. "I mainly observed and listened. I was impressed by the people on the board and the issues presented."

Ironically one of the issues was a proposal to remove the jurisdiction of two-year community colleges from the State Board of Education and make them the responsibility of the regents.

"I will have to look at this as a regent," McDowell said. "I haven't had a lot of time to read and review the proposal, so I haven't formulated an opinion about it."

McDowell said she hopes to be able to be a communication link between the community colleges and the regents.

"I'll be able to give the board information that will help them make a decision," McDowell said.

If the proposal is implemented, she said she would resign her position as a regent to remain the president at Independence. She has been president since 1988.

McDowell said her experience at the post-secondary level should help her as a regent.

"I deal with the same things everyday that the regent schools do," McDowell said. "I should be able to bring insight to the board."

McDowell, a 47-year-old Cherryville resident, has five college degrees, including a doctorate in education from K-State.

"I love K-State and my daughter attended K-State," McDowell said. "We send many of our students from Independence (Community College)."

K-State President Jon Wefald said McDowell's experience as a junior-college president would strengthen the regents.

"All regent schools work with the 19 community colleges, and having (McDowell) on the board should help cement relations between the two," Wefald said.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00390	01390	02390	03390	04390	05390	06390	07390	08390	09390	10390	11390	12390	13390	14390	15390	16390	17390	18390	19390	20390	21390	22390	23390	24390	25390	26390	27390	28390	29390	30390
00400	01400	02400	03400	04400	05400	06400	07400	08400	09400	10400	11400	12400	13400	14400	15400	16400	17400	18400	19400	20400	21400	22400	23400	24400	25400	26400	27400	28400	29400	30400
00410	01410	02410	03410	04410	05410	06410	07410	08410	09410	10410	11410	12410	13410	14410	15410	16410	17410	18410	19410	20410	21410	22410	23410	24410	25410	26410	27410	28410	29410	30410
00420	01420	02420	03420	04420	05420	06420	07420	08420	09420	10420	11420	12420	13420	14420	15420	16420	17420	18420	19420	20420	21420	22420	23420	24420	25420	26420	27420	28420	29420	30420
00430	01430	02430	03430	04430	05430	06430	07430	08430	09430	10430	11430	12430	13430	14430	15430	16430	17430	18430	19430	20430	21430	22430	23430	24430	25430	26430	27430	28430	29430	30430
00440	01440	02440	03440	04440	05440	06440	07440	08440	09440	10440	11440	12440	13440	14440	15440	16440	17440	18440	19440	20440	21440	22440	23440	24440	25440	26440	27440	28440	29440	30440
00450	01450	02450	03450	04450	05450	06450	07450	08450	09450	10450	11450	12450	13450	14450	15450	16450	17450	18450	19450	20450	21450	22450	23450	24450	25450	26450	27450	28450	29450	30450
00460	01460	02460	03460	04460	05460	06460	07460	08460	09460	10460	11460	12460	13460	14460	15460	16460	17460	18460	19460	20460	21460	22460	23460	24460	25460	26460	27460	28460	29460	30460
00470	01470	02470	03470	04470	05470	06470	07470	08470	09470	10470	11470	12470	13470	14470	15470	16470	17470	18470	19470	20470	21470	22470	23470	24470	25470	26470	27470	28470	29470	30470
00480	01480	02480	03480	04480	05480	06480	07480	08480	09480	10480	11480	12480	13480	14480	15480	16480	17480	18480	19480	20480	21480	22480	23480	24480	25480	26480	27480	28480	29480	30480
00490	01490	02490	03490	04490	05490	06490	07490	08490	09490	10490	11490	12490	13490	14490	15490	16490	17490	18490	19490	20490	21490	22490	23490	24490	25490	26490	27490	28490	29490	30490
00500	01500	02500	03500	04500	05500	06500	07500	08500	09500	10500	11500	12500	13500	14500	15500	16500	17500	18500	19500	20500	21500	22500	23500	24500	25500	26500	27500	28500	29500	30500
00510	01510	02510	03510	04510	05510	06510	07510	08510	09510	10510	11510	12510	13510	14510	15510	16510	17510	18510	19510	20510	21510	22510	23510	24510	25510	26510	27510	28510	29510	30510
00520	01520	02520	03520	04520	05520	06520	07520	08520	09520	10520	11520	12520	13520	14520	15520	16520	17520	18520	19520	20520	21520	22520	23520	24520	25520	26520	27520	28520	29520	30520
00530	01530	02530	03530	04530	05530	06530	07530	08530	09530	10530	11530	12530	13530	14530	15530	16530	17530	18530	19530	20530	21530	22530	23530	24530	25530	26530	27530	28530	29530	30530
00540	01540	02540	03540	04540	05540	06540	07540	08540	09540	10540	11540	12540	13540	14540	15540	16540	17540	18540	19540	20540	21540	22540	23540	24540	25540	26540	27540	28540	29540	30540
00550	01550	02550	03550	04550	05550	06550	07550	08550	09550	10550	11550	12550	13550	14550	15550	16550	17550	18550	19550	20550	21550	22550	23550	24550	25550	26550	27550	28550	29550	30550
00560	01560	02560	03560	04560	05560	06560	07560	08560	09560	10560	11560	12560	13560	14560	15560	16560	17560	18560	19560	20560	21560	22560	23560	24560	25560	26560	27560	28560	29560	30560
00570	01570	02570	03570	04570	05570	06570	07570	08570	09570	10570	11570	12570	13570	14570	15570	16570	17570	18570	19570	20570	21570	22570	23570	24570	25570	26570	27570	28570	29570	30570
00580	01580	02580	03580	04580	05580	06580	07580	08580	09580	10580	11580	12580	13580	14580	15580	16580	17580	18580	19580	20580	21580	22580	23580	24580	25580	26580	27580	28580	29580	30580
00590	01590	02590	03590	04590	05590	06590	07590	08590	09590	10590	11590	12590	13590	14590	15590	16590	17590	18590	19590	20590	21590	22590	23590	24590	25590	26590	27590	28590	29590	30590
00600	01600	02600	03600	04600	05600	06600	07600	08600	09600	10600	11600	12600	13600	14600	15600	16600	17600	18600	19600	20600	21600	22600	23600	24600	25600	26600	27600	28600	29600	30600
00610	01610	02610	03610	04610	05610	06610	07610	08610	09610	10610	11610	12610	13610	14610	15610	16610	17610	18610	19610	20610	21610	22610	23610	24610	25610	26610	27610	28610	29610	30610
00620	01620	02620	03620	04620	05620	06620	07620	08620	09620	10620	11620	12620	13620	14620	15620	16620	17620	18620	19620	20620	21620	22620	23620	24620	25620	26620	27620	28620	29620	30620
00630	01630	02630	03630	04630	05630	06630	07630	08630	09630	10630	11630	12630	13630	14630	15630	16630	17630	18630	19630	20630	21630	22630	23630	24630	25630	26630	27630	28630	29630	30630
00640	01640	02640	03640	04640	05640	06640	07640	08640	09640	10640	11640	12640	13640	14640	15640	16640	17640	18640	19640	20640	21640	22640	23640	24640	25640	26640	27640	28640	29640	30640
00650	01650	02650	03650	04650	05650	06650	07650	08650	09650	10650	11650	12650	13650	14650	15650	16650	17650	18650	19650	20650	21650	22650	23650	24650	25650	26650	27650	28650	29650	30650
00660	01660	02660	03660	04660	05660	06660	07660	08660	09660	10660	11660	12660	13660	14660	15660	16660	17660	18660	19660	20660	21660	22660	23660	24660	25660	26660	27660	28660	29660	30660

Rallyers clash on issue of abortion

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA — A pro-choice news conference Tuesday was interrupted by anti-abortionists who were upset that they had to remove their signs from the Statehouse.

They complained that the pro-choice group was still able to display its sign, which said, "Ring a bell for choice."

The anti-abortion signs that were removed by Statehouse area security staff members were attached to both sides of a baby carriage. An infant was in the carriage. The signs said, "I was adopted, not aborted."

After the members of Right to Life of Kansas complained because the pro-choice sign still was in the Statehouse, Statehouse area security officers also made the pro-choicers remove their sign.

Security Patrolman H.M. Hanner said a state law does not allow signs or groups to pass out literature in the Statehouse.

"We're not picking on either group," he said. "We're just following the statute."

No words were exchanged between the rival groups, and the pro-choice contingent proceeded with its news conference.

Members of the Kansas Choice Alliance had called their news conference to celebrate the 18th anniversary of the Supreme Court's Roe v. Wade decision. It recognizes a woman's right to have an abortion.

As part of their news conference, alliance members distributed about 2,000 bells to senators, representatives, Gov. Joan Finney and others in the Statehouse. They said the bells represented a person's right to choose abortion.

Right to Lifers distributed about 200 roses to senators, representatives and Finney. They said their roses represented the unborn child.

Adele Hughey, chairwoman of the pro-choice alliance, said the group's news conference was designed to remind Legislators that "Kansans are pro-choice and they want to keep it that way."

Hughey said she expected some type of parental notification or other restrictive abortion bill to be introduced in the Legislature this session. She said her group planned to launch a grass-roots campaign to let legislators know Kansans are concerned about their stand on abortion.

Pat Goodson, a Right to Life member, said her group plans to lobby for a restrictive abortion bill to be introduced in the Senate.

Before the news conference about 120 people gathered at an alliance lunch at First Presbyterian Church, across the street from the Statehouse. Sen. Marge Petty, D-Topeka; Rep. John Solbach, D-Lawrence, and House Speaker Marvin Barkis, D-Louisburg, attended the lunch.

Barkis, who is pro-choice, spoke briefly. He urged the group to make legislators aware of their stance on abortion.

"You have to take positions as legislators," he said. "You can't hide behind a committee, you can't hide behind the decision of the Supreme Court. We're all taking positions."

"And as we're taking those positions, you have to make sure that your point is heard."

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $4.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $5.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

1 Announcements

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs —skincare —glamor —nails —gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Floris Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID), $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

EDUCATION MAJORS— Have you registered for Symposium? Forms in BH006. Deadline—Jan. 28. Register now!

FAST FUNDRAISING program, $1,000 in just one week. Earn up to $1,000 for your campus organization. Plus a chance at $5,000 more! This program works! No investment needed. Call 1-800-932-0528 Ext. 50.

FLIGHT TRAINING: Private, instrument, commercial, CFI, ATP and multi-engine ratings. Hugh Irvin at 532-6311 or 539-3128.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

ROOM, PRIVATE bath and board, $200 (negotiable). Females only. 539-1656 or 539-8705.

Sports injury?
Call today for an appointment
537-8305

Dr. Mark Hatesohl
Chiropractic Family Health Center
3252 Kimball Avenue
Candlewood Shopping Center

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks. Monday through Sunday. $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE FEB. 1, two-bedroom, furnished, by City Park, $395. 537-6631.

CLOSE TO campus/ Aggieville. Nice three-bedroom, two-bath. Reasonable rent. 539-4641.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM in quiet, well-maintained complex available now. Carpet, paid heat, nice furnishings, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-5296.

SUPER CLOSE to campus/ Aggieville. Very nice two-, three-bedroom, two-bath, not complex, rent negotiable. 539-4641.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

0 BLOCKS to campus from quiet, well-maintained, large one-bedroom. Available now with balcony, dishwasher, storage. Prefer professional person. Year lease. $295. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

1019 HOUSTON. Large three-bedroom. Near City Park. Full basement. Solar hot water. $450. Jerry 776-7842.

AVAILABLE NOW, two bedrooms, one and one-half bath. Spacious basement apartment. $360/monthly. Call Amy at 537-0566.

CAMPUS LOCATION, large, one-bedroom, coin-operated washer and dryer, no pets, $290 plus deposit. 539-1465.

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry, $360. 539-6304.

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom efficiency. Washer, dryer. One block from campus, off-street parking, share utilities. 539-1217 or 1-456-2240. Available now.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment available now, carpeting, appliances, flexible lease, six blocks from campus. No pets, prefer non-smoker. 539-5015.

TWO-BEDROOM, TWO blocks from campus. No pets. Water, trash paid, $390. 537-3758.

ONE-BEDROOM, $230 month, no utilities, 12th and Bluemont. 776-8051.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Washer dryer, available immediately. Call 776-0081.

SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a hall, good female roommates, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7087 for information. 537-9376 roommate's number. Available now.

SUPER NICE one-bedroom apartments, five minutes from campus. Available Feb. 1, washer/dryer hookups, dishwasher, all appliances, carport, reserved parking spot, flexible lease, no pets. Prefer no children and non-smokers. 539-5015.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park, 537-8555 or 537-9065.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU, $280. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, $350, plus utilities. Two-bedroom apartment. Both close to campus. 776-9140.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON. Nice one-bedroom studio. Main floor. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Jerry, 776-7842.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.

ONE-BEDROOM FOR $225, everything paid. Laundry and much more. Very nice. 539-1288.

NOW LEASING

KSU Students

Quality Apartments

2 Convenient Locations

Very Near KSU

Furnished & Unfurnished

THE CURTIN COMPANIES

776-8641

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.

1970 FORD Galaxy, automatic, 45K, great first car, $750. 532-6131.

1980 MONTE Carlo, runs well, good condition physically and mechanically. Dependable highway car. Call for more information. Tim at 539-0882 after 5 p.m.

1982 COROLLA— SRS. Runs great. $1,545 or best offer. Call 532-3420.

1982 TOYOTA Tercel, runs excellent, 134K miles, tan, AM/FM cassette, five-speed, air conditioning, $995 or best offer. 539-7491.

1986 OLDSMOBILE Cutlass Ciera, two-door, power windows, air conditioned, $5,000. Also, 1982 Yamaha 650 Maxim. Make offer. 537-1038, Kevin.

FOR SALE: 1979 Pontiac Sunbird—blue. Good condition. Low mileage. $500. 532-5452.

6 Child Care

NANNIES, EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Under Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

7 Computers

B/W VGA monitor, $135, 12" Magnavox monitor. 539-6404.

IBM COMPATIBLE, 8086, CGA monitor, 20 Meg HD, 640K RAM, $800; Okidata 193 wide carriage printer, $200. 537-8055 after 5:30 p.m.

IBM-PC, 256K, dual drives. Internal Hayes 1200B. RGB monitor. Accepting offers. Will sell by 1-24-91 or reject all offers. (913)265-4663.

8 Employment

The Collegian cannot verify the financial potential of advertisements in the Employment classification. Readers are advised to approach any such 'employment opportunity' with reasonable caution.

BUS DRIVERS, $5.20 per hour, must be 21 years of age, have a good driving record and complete a training program. Bus driving experience not required. Part-time, 8:30 to 8:30 a.m. and 2:40 to 4:30 p.m. Apply to USD 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS. 537-2400. EOE.

CAMP COUNSELORS— 12 year old educational camp near Kansas City seeks counselors. WSIs for residential summer program for children 8-14, June 9 to Aug. 10. Prefer sophomores or older. $1,500—$1,900 plus room and board. For details, send inquiry before Feb. 1, 1991 to Wildwood Center, Route 1, Box 76, LaCygne, KS 66040. (Continued on page 9)

ANNOUNCEMENT

Evidence gathered in several surveys of the student body indicates that a high proportion of students on the K-State campus have lost a friend or a family member in the past 12 months.

Dr. David Balk in the Department of Human Development and Family Studies has been given funds to conduct a two-year study of college students who are coping with the death of a friend or family member. The first part of this study occurred in the Fall Semester of 1990.

Dr. Balk is looking for 80 students who are still grieving a death of a friend or family member. He is also looking for 40 other students who are not bereaved over a death and who would be willing to take part in a companion research study on coping with stress in college life.

The project will begin in early February. Arrangements are underway to provide one hour of course credit for persons who would like credit for participating in the research project.

For further information contact Dr. David Balk, Justin Hall 318, 532-5510.

A variety available at the K-State Union Recreation Area

MOVIE & NINTENDO RENTALS

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday $1
Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday $2

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities

Bounce Into Spring January 22-26

Welcome Back Specials

20% Off Backpacks

20% Off Posters

15% Off Basketball Apparel

15% Off Computer Supplies

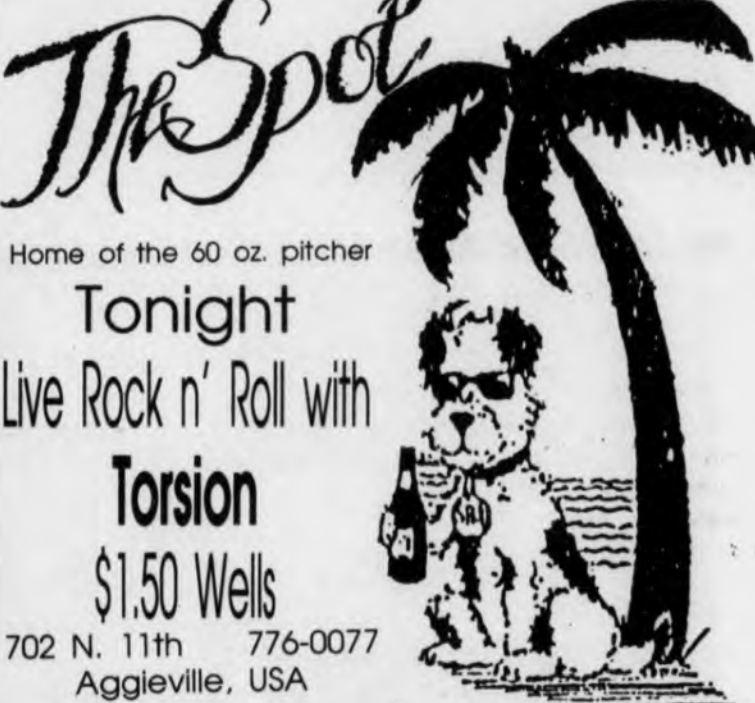

at the
K-State Union
Bookstore

15% Off Imprinted Wirebounds and Imprinted Binders

20% Off Study Aids (Tag Indicates Study Aid)

Support the K-State Union. Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities

Home of the 60 oz. pitcher
Tonight
Live Rock n' Roll with Torsion
$1.50 Wells
702 N. 11th 776-0077
Aggieville, USA

Bridal Registry
China-Crystal-Silver
Home Accessories
Wedding Invitations
Campbell's
5th & Poyntz DOWNTOWN 776-9067
See Us At The
Bridal Show Feb. 3
Houston Street
Ballroom

ADRESS FOR community service project eight days in February. $5.50/ hour. Call Michelle at 537-8623.

ATTENTION: EXCELLENT income for home assembly work. (504)646-1700. Dept. P6438.

SUMMER in the Rockies! The Trail Ridge Store is now hiring KSU students for summer work in Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado! Positions available in Retail Sales and Food Service—contact Box 2680, Estes Park, CO 80517 (303)586-9319 for information and applications. Call soon for best opportunities!

COUNSELORS/ SUMMER children's camps/ Northeast—top salary. Room/ board/ laundry, travel allowance. Must have skill in one of the following activities: Archery, crafts, baseball, basketball, bicycling, dance, drama, drums, fencing, football, golf, guitar, gymnastics, hockey, horseback-English, juggling, Karate, Lacrosse, nature, photography, piano, rocketry, rollerblading, ropes, sailing, sailing, soccer, track, water skiing, weights, wood. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaronock, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Drop by for informal interview Thursday, Jan. 31 Student Union building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

EARN $300 to $500 per week reading books at home. Call 1-615-473-7440 Ext. B288.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. 1-805-687-6000 Ext. B-9701.

HOME TYPISTS. PC users needed. $35,000 potential. Details. Call 1-805-962-8000 Ext. B-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. K-9701.

INTELLIGENCE JOBS. All branches. U.S. Customs, DEA etc. Now hiring. Call 1-805-962-8000 Ext. K-9701.

KAW VALLEY Green Houses, need full-time/ part-time help. Call 776-8585 between 4-5:30 p.m. Wednesday and Thursday.

STUDENT TO work 20 hours beginning immediately and possibly continuing through summer, fall and spring. Need someone with flexibility to work during holidays. Preference to person with knowledge of WordPerfect 5.1 on Zenith computer and someone available during lunch hours, noon—1 p.m. Responsibilities include telephone answering, word processing, filing, use of dictation equipment, making appointments, and a variety of other office duties. Contact Dorothy Smith at 532-5942 or stop by the office of the Vice President for Institutional Advancement, 122 Anderson Hall to pick up an application. Starting salary $3.80/ hour. Deadline for application is Jan. 23.

SUBSTITUTE CARRIER needed for major metropolitan newspaper. Excellent supplemental income. Call 537-1021 leave message.

SUMMER JOBS outdoors, over 5,000 openings! National parks, forests, fire crews. Send stamp for free details. 113 East Wyoming, Kalispell, MT 59901.

SWIMMING JOBS (WSI)— Summer children's camps— Northeast— Men and women who can teach children to swim, swim team, beautiful pool and lakes in the northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaronock, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

TENNIS JOBS— Summer children's camps— Northeast— Men and women who can teach children in the Northeast. Good salary, room and board, travel expense. Women call or write: Camp Vega, P.O. Box 1771, Duxbury, MA 02332 (617)934-6536. Men call or write: Camp Winadu, 5 Glen Lane, Mamaronock, NY 10543 (914)381-5983. Drop by for informal interview Thursday Jan. 31 Student Union Building rooms 202 and 203 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

WORK IN beautiful Colorado mountains this summer. Positions open in our kitchens as salads cook, baker, main dish cook, general helper and head cook. Menus planned by resident Food Manager. Excellent training opportunity! Room, board, salary and travel allowance provided. Our 71st summer! Applicants will be notified of campus interview date. Apply to Cheley Colorado Camps, Box 6525, Denver, Colorado 80206, (303)377-3616. Apply Early!

LUNCHROOM/ PLAYGROUND supervisors, two hours per day. $4 per hour. 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Apply to USD, 383, 2031 Poyntz, Manhattan, KS. 537-2400. EOE.

NEED A job? Are you hard-working and dependable? Vista Drive is hiring for full- and part-time help. Apply in person.

RESORT HOTELS, Cruise lines, summer camps and amusement parks. Now accepting applications for summer jobs, internships and career positions in the United States and Mexico. For more information and an application, write: National Collegiate Recreation Service, P.O. Box 8074, Hilton Head, SC 29938.

10 Furniture to Buy or Sell

QUEEN-SIZE WATERBED. Six-drawer pedestal and padded rails, $225. Row machine, $25. Call 776-6922.

WOHLER'S USED furniture and appliances, 615 N. Third, 539-3119. Hours 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 6 to 9 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday. Furnish your apartment or house. Come in and browse.

12 Houses for Rent

1011 Laramie, first floor is open for second semester. Two-bedroom, great environment. Enjoy college life. 539-3672 evenings.

14 Lost and Found

FOUND: COSTUME jewelry pin. Found in front of Ward Hall. Come by Kedzie 103 to identify.

18 Motorcycles/Bicycles for Sale

1991 TREK mountain bike, almost new, toe clips, water bottle, Avon lock, all included. Price negotiable. Call Scott at 537-3229.

MOUNTAIN BIKE— Jazz Flipside, designed by Trek. Brand New! Jet Tec seat, etc. First $300 or best offer takes! 539-2009.

TREK 830 15-inch frame, brand new, $400. Call Julie 532-2078 after 6 p.m.

Motorcycle Supply
cycle covers $15.95
Cycle News, weekly $1.75
Winter Leather Gloves $26.98
1771 Main
Black and white handles 776-6177

19 Music/ Musicians

DRUMSET BLACK Yamaha five-piece, 12", 13", 16" toms, 22" Bass Zildjian 16" Crash, 18" Crash-Ride 14" Hi-hat, 1 Boom and 1 straight cymbal stand, snare stand, Hi-hat stand, $900. Ludwig Concert snare with stand, case, practice pad $200. Call 532-5427.

NADY 201 wireless remote for guitar, hardly used. Ask for Jay at 537-1871.

Hayes House of Music

Guitar Strings & Drum Sticks
Buy one set, get second set for half price.
327 Poyntz 776-7983

21 Personals

We require a form of picture ID (KSU or driver's license or other) when placing a personal.

GET YOUR filthy hands off my desert you imperialist running dog lackey! SH.

G-PH PLEDGES— We'd like to say we're proud of you for being awesome and making good grades too. Keep it up as time draws near for celebration day will soon be here. We love you! The Activists.

HEY AGGIES! "Rumor Has It" if you're looking for fun— Come to the Pub, there'll be tons. So take this chance "To Pass It On Down" cause Saturday night will be the talk of the town.

MY DEAREST Pauline, May I wish you a very Happy Birthday and many more. Have a good one. Love, James.

STIPI— So you think it's your birthday, even though you refuse to acknowledge it. Happy Birthday! Today is your good day. Let's party. —Luedds

TO THE girl with a smile, Whom I have thought of for quite a while, Your fragrance was pleasing. So please tell your teasing, You accuse me of not thinking. You must be drinking. I would like a better date, So I can find you, Signed: The Guy With The Wave.

23 Resume/Typing Service

LETTER-QUALITY $1.25 double. Reports/ letters/ resumes. Same day available. Please call Susan Lawson, 776-0676.

ALL RESUMES are not created equal. Be sure yours is the best possible by taking advantage of our many years experience working with employers. Limited time— cover letter costs only $5 with purchase of resume service. Career Development Services— 776-1229.

ARE YOU prepared for interviews? The Resume Service has been providing professional resume writing services to KSU students and faculty for over 10 years. We provide resume, cover letter and form typing services with laser- and letter-quality printing. Call 537-7294, 539-6027 or stop by 343 Colorado Street.

RESUMES, LETTERS, data sheets, applications, papers and all your typing needs. Professionally entered and processed to your specifications at our new location, 618 N. 12th, across from Kite's. Ross Secretarial Service, 539-5147.

24 Roommate Wanted

$170. ONE-HALF utilities, own bedroom, washer/ dryer. Call after 6 p.m. 776-1302.

A FEMALE roommate needed. $150 plus one-half utilities, borders campus, laundry facilities available. Non-smoker, no pets. 539-6305.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate needed. $131 a month plus one-third utilities, water paid. Close to campus. 537-4634.

FEMALE NON-SMOKING roommate, off-campus. 776-1281 after 7 p.m., ask for Chris.

FEMALE, OWN room. One block from campus, washer/ dryer. $125/ month, one-fourth utilities. 537-9094.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted, Woodway Apartments, $175 month plus one-third utilities. Own room. Call 537-4966.

FEMALE ROOMMATE wanted for sublease. $146.66 per month plus electricity. 776-1720.

FEMALE ROOMMATE needed to share cheap apartment close to campus, one-third utilities. Call 537-2267 after 5 p.m.

FEMALE TO share large two-bedroom apartment. Own room, $175 plus one-half electric. 539-3227.

FREE JANUARY— February rent to non-smoking female roommate for two-bedroom. Directly off-campus, rent negotiable. Respond to Collegian Box 2.

HELP!! AVAILABLE immediately, bedroom for one or two females, $197 or $131 respectively. Ask for Heather 539-2301 Ext. 306.

MALE ROOMMATE to share apartment close to campus. Phone 539-8608.

MALE ROOMMATE needed to share large two-bedroom apartment for the spring semester only. $150 plus utilities, across the street from campus. 537-4637.

NEEDING ONE, two or three roommates. Britney Ridge 776-4992, serious student.

NEED QUIET, sober, non-smoking person to share three-bedroom apartment across from campus. $150 month, 1222 (Apt. #1) Bluemont. Stop by.

NON-SMOKER, OWN room in nice two-bedroom apartment, $202.50 plus one-half utilities. Shuttle to campus available. Beginning Feb. 1. Call soon! 776-9079.

NON-SMOKER MALE roommate wanted to share one big bedroom apartment. $125/ month now. 532-5217, leave a message.

NON-SMOKING FEMALE to share a house. 539-1298.

ONE FEMALE non-smoker to share furnished house with washer and dryer. $150 per month. 537-7769.

ROOMMATES WANTED. $150 per month plus one-fourth utilities. Call 537-0635.

TWO ROOMMATES wanted of four to sublease. $150 per month, one-fourth utilities. Laundry, parking, four blocks from campus. 537-5134 after 8 p.m.

WANTED: MALE roommate. Three blocks from campus on Vatter. $130/ month. January is paid for. Please call Mike at 539-6529.

25 Services

CONFIDENTIAL: FREE pregnancy test. Call for appointment. Hours: 9a.m.—5p.m. Monday through Friday. Pregnancy Testing Center. 539-3338.

ENGAGEMENT RING in your Christmas stocking this year? Let me help you plan your wedding photos. 776-3785.

RILEY COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT
2030 TECUMSEH 776-4779

FREE PREGNANCY TESTS

FREE PREGNANCY COUNSELING DISCUSSION OF ALL OPTIONS
Early Detection of Pregnancy is Important
CONFIDENTIAL
(Ad Placed by Friends of Women)

WELCOME BACK!
Put the COLOR back into your life with us!

•NEW BULBS
•NEW ACCELERATORS
•WELCOME BACK SPECIALS
•WOLFF SYSTEM EQUIPMENT

The most trusted name in tanning

SOUTHERN SUN-TROPICAL TAN

519 N. 12th 1814 Claflin
776-8060 (above Charlie's)
537-0744
Your year-round Wolff system centers.

26 Stereo Equipment

DESIGN ACOUSTICS P.S. 10 speakers with stands, $275; Teac 7" reel to reel, brand new, w/DBX noise reduction unit, $450. Call Rob 537-4985.

27 Sports/Recreation Equipment

AGGIE DIVE Shop. Come see us for your scuba lessons and equipment. 614 N. 12th. 539-DIVE.

28 Sublease

AVAILABLE IMMEDIATELY, close to campus, own room, low utilities. Karen 776-6815.

AVAILABLE FOR sublease now. 2000 College Heights. Call 537-9064.

EFFICIENCY APARTMENT next to campus. 811 Platt, trash and water paid. Gas heat, off-street parking. 532-6266. Ask for Marie.

FEMALE TO share apartment, close to campus, own room. Call 776-9215 and leave message.

ONE-BEDROOM, 1841 College Heights, interested in subleasing now through August. 539-2621.

SUBLEASE—1105 Flatone, $133/ month plus one-third utilities. Lease ends July 31. Water and trash paid. Call 537-9071.

29 Tickets to Buy or Sell

KSU OR KU basketball tickets for sale. Two general admission tickets for game at Manhattan. Call 532-5762.

31 Tutor

COLLEGE ALGEBRA Tutor. Highly qualified, high success rate, flexible hours, make appointments early. 776-7001.

33 Wanted to Buy or Sell

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID). $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from KSU Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

DID YOU still want to purchase a 1991 Royal Purple yearbook? They are available for $17 in Kedzie 103 between 8a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

FOR SALE: Beer neon lights. Choose from several brands. $125 per light. Please call 539-5630 after 5p.m. or 776-0089 days.

Plants & Supplies

1105 Waters
539-4751
Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30
Th till 8
Sun. 12-5

FOR SALE— Danish modern couch and two chairs, $150. Like new weight bench and weights, $50. Desk with chair, $40. Call 776-1498.

IBM WHEEL Writer 5 electric typewriter with memory and correction capabilities. Excellent condition. 537-4724 or 537-6372.

SUZUKI GS350, needs repair, $75. Guild elec. Bass, X-702 model with heavy case, $100. Dave 776-1767.

TELEVISION FOR sale, 13" color remote control, $200. Dave 537-9583.

34 Insurance

HEALTH AND Auto Insurance, we have low monthly rate. Call us and compare. Good student discounts. Tim Engle, 555 Poyntz. 537-4661.

SAVE MONEY on your Auto and Health Insurance. Call John Opat at 776-3882 for a free no obligation quote.

35 Newspaper

The Wichita Eagle

lets you choose the type of subscription you want.
Sign up now for the

17-week Semester Special
Every Day $25
Mon.-Sat. $15
Weekends Only $13
Sunday Only $12

To start your subscription, call local carrier John Fulkerson at 539-1371
Offer expires 1/26/91

36 Games

NINTENDO PLUS remote plus four games. 776-9347, $150.

37 Travel

Ski Colorado Discount Lift Tickets

	Here	Ski area
Copper	$26	$35
Keystone	$24	$35
Winter Park	$25	$32
Breckenridge	$25	$35

*Groups give advance notice so we can accommodate you.

Check out our ski trip packages

537-7546
Classico
Travel & Tours

Double Barreled

By Daryl Blasi

Class Clowns

By D.D. Moore

Jim's Journal

By Jim

Calvin and Hobbes

By Bill Watterson

Peanuts

By Charles Schulz

Making the Grade

By Bob Berry

Crossword

By Eugene Sheffer

ACROSS
1 Tissue
5 Census
8 Anagram
12 Minute
13 Ending for 14 Hot under 15 Important
17 — and 18 Anoint,
19 Word with
21 Newts
24 G's
25 Cricket
28 Estimate
30 Child's
33 — de Oro
34 Festive
35 Caesar's
36 Elec.
37 Highest 38 Lean-to

DOWN
1 Cockney
2 James
3 Easy gait
4 Walks un-
5 Lawyers'
6 Laughing
7 Formerly,
8 Nannies
9 First-rate
10 Blair or 11 Father of 16 Ump's
20 Regrets
22 "The
23 Business
25 Bikini top
26 Goal
27 Drill
29 Judd
31 Pub order
32 Disease
34 Fence
38 Harsh
40 Brain-
42 Former
43 Topmost
44 Irritate
45 Mulligan,
47 Singer/
48 Author
49 Leather
52 Eggs
53 Tin —
Alley

Solution time: 21 mins.

Yesterdays answer 1-23

1-23
T H H W B R K B C D X R T O X H K R
C H O C T B W R B C T B D X
Yesterday's Cryptquip: CHEEKY SEANCE-
GOER IS FINALLY ARRESTED FOR STRIKING A HAPPY MEDIUM.
Today's Cryptquip clue: C equals T

Reserve

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

ployment to Saudi Arabia.

Sgt. Wendell Wilkerson, head instructor at the NBC school, said this is required training before deployment.

As many as 400 soldiers a day have gone through the school, as the 1st Infantry Division and several area reserve units have been sent to the Gulf.

The training includes various stages of chemical exposure prevention, treatment and recovery. There is also a course section that shows trainees how to use the latrine while wearing their battle dress overgear or chemical suits and gas masks.

The course details first-aid procedures, such as using Atropine injection kits for people contaminated with chemical agents.

The group practices using the kits containing needles that are, "so fast and sharp, you won't even notice it went in," Williams said.

"Never administer your own kit. If someone doesn't have a kit, they just bit the bullet. Its self-preservation out there, man," Williams said.

NBC Instructor Sgt. Brad Hicks said, "These are basic survival skills that need to be performed to sustain a chemical attack."

Hicks told the group about various passive detection devices. M9 paper, a chemical detection material in tape form, can be attached to each soldier's uniform. The tape will change color when the chemical agent is present.

"It's not that reliable because so many things can activate it," said Hicks. "Any petroleum based product, 30 weight motor oil for example, can trigger the paper, but that is better than no detection system at all."

Each soldier is issued two complete sets of BDOs, including boots and masks, before deployment. They are required to carry one set with them at all times, in addition to their gear required for their job.

"Before (the Persian Gulf War) there was not a threat — people were more casual about it," Wilkerson said. "Now, they pay more attention."

Sgt. Karen Nichols, senior in education, who is a member of the 531st, said the training couldn't be more important.

"We're prepared if we practice. We'll be all right. I know. I have to graduate in May," she said.

Lang

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 6

the leading candidate for Big Eight Player-of-the-Year.

Now most people are used to the men's brand of roundball — dunks, spine-crunching charges and very fast fastbreaks — and that's fine. But these women are headsmart and excellent shooters — with the exception of Saturday's loss.

Consider this a challenge. Some of you might call it begging. But just try to get yourselves to a K-State Lady Cat game — maybe the one they are playing tonight at 7 against Oklahoma or the one this Saturday night at 7 against Oklahoma State — and support them in their quest for a Big Eight title.

Grade

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

This year, they are focusing primarily on the gulf crisis, she said.

"We have a very creative faculty and that has been an advantage for us in helping the students. We want to be really sensitive to the children's educational and emotional needs and provide a balanced atmosphere for them," Barricklow said.

Keeping the children calm has been a goal in the elementary schools, and it has been a goal in the high school and middle school as well.

"As far as the academic program, we are trying to keep a normal atmosphere. The counseling staff at Fort Riley really encouraged us that this was the way to go. We want to maintain a normal life that the students can hold on to," said Jim Rezac, principal of Manhattan High School.

Marvin Marsh, principal of Manhattan Middle School, said the aim is on day to day activity.

"We want to provide a stable atmosphere. Several of the youngsters have parents involved with the war. They are getting stimulus in other places. It is in their best interest to not change anything in the classroom," Marsh said.

The television is there constantly reminding the students of what is going on, Marsh said. School is the place where they can keep busy and study. So far, classroom performance has not been affected, he said.

"They are hanging in there pretty tough," Marsh said.

Latvia, Soviet Union discuss crackdown

By the Associated Press

RIGA, U.S.S.R. — The Latvian leadership on Tuesday said Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev has agreed not to impose direct Kremlin rule in the secessionist republic.

Latvian President Anatolijs Gorbunovs met for 2½ hours Tuesday with Gorbachev in Moscow to discuss the Soviet military crackdown that has claimed six lives in the Baltic republic. Fourteen people were killed Jan. 13 in Lithuania during a similar Soviet assault.

The Soviet president appeared on national television Tuesday to say he remained committed to a peaceful resolution of tensions in the Baltics, all of which want independence from Moscow. But one Latvian lawmaker expressed skepticism that Gorbachev could control the military.

Gorbunovs traveled to Moscow at Gorbachev's invitation hoping to defuse tensions with the Kremlin.

The Latvian president said Gorbachev also had agreed presidential rule was not necessary now in the republic. Gorbachev's powerful office allows him to impose direct rule in any of the 15 Soviet republics, meaning he could disband local parliaments and take other drastic steps.

New series will honor Rohles

ULRIKE DAUER
Collegian Reporter

Donald Rich, president-elect of the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating and Air Conditioning Engineers and program manager for the Carrier Corp., will be the first speaker in a new lecture series beginning March 6.

The Distinguished Speaker Series was created by K-State's Institute of Environmental Research and the College of Engineering to honor Frederick Rohles, emeritus professor of engineering and former IER director, for his outstanding research in the study of environmental human factors, which helped establish the international reputation of the IER.

The new series was proposed by Rohles' family to honor his 70th birthday last year.

"I appreciate that the Institute of Environmental Research and the College of Engineering support this idea," Rohles said.

The series focuses on engineering research and addresses a broader University public outside of the College of Engineering.

A committee of University personnel, appointed by the dean of engineering, decides who the speakers will be.

The first series of speakers will feature Rohles' colleagues.

"But we accept proposals from outside the college," said Professor Byron Jones, current director of IER.

In his research, Rohles, director of the IER between 1973 and 1986, combined engineering and the human aspect. His interest focused on people and their interaction within closed environments.

Rohles' studies on human thermal comfort are known worldwide in the scientific community. Second-hand smoke, heat stress, and the role of stress in individual cholesterol production are further subjects researched by Rohles that contributed to the international recognition of the IER.

The IER, a center of interdisciplinary research, is the only of its kind on a U.S. university campus and one of three such university-based institutes in the world.

Sponsor of the Big Eight Body Building Championships
FREE-WEIGHT EQUIPMENT

- Universal Machines
- Exercise Bicycles
- Life Cycle
- Stairmaster

- Weight Training Consultation
- Tanning Beds
- Hot Tub
- Showers and Lockers

SEMESTER SPECIAL $75-GROUP RATES AVAILABLE
Laramie Plaza-Basement 539-7095

Manhattan's First FM DB92 features comprehensive coverage of the Gulf War with CNN Radio News. Listen at the top of every hour, and at the half hour for updates. DB92 will also pre-empt programming for the latest breaking news.

Thursday, January 24-Sunday, January 27

Heat Up Your Winter Feet, and Checkbook, With Hot Sidewalk Sale Savings!

Big Red One Greetings From Home - Videotape Your Personal Message FREE! Anyone can send a videotaped message to any soldier in Operation Desert Storm. Visit the K6KZ-TV set-up in Center Court on Saturday, January 26 from 11:00-2:00 p.m.

Fashion Show Extravaganza!
Saturday, January 26 at 1:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m. in Picnic Place. Sunday, January 27 at 2:00 p.m. in Picnic Place.

MANHATTAN TOWN CENTER

DILLARD'S J C PENNEY SEARS SPECIALTY SHOPS PICNIC PLACE
MONDAY THROUGH SATURDAY 10-9, SUNDAY 12-5:30
539-9207

3RD AND POYNTZ

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Thursday, January 24, 1991

Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas 66506

Volume 97, Number 81

5/15/91
Kansas State Historical Society
Newspaper Section
120 W 10th
Topeka KS 66612

CNN Correspondent Jeff Flock lends a microphone to Chad Brown, junior in marketing, as photographer Bruce Fine zooms in on Brown in Haymaker Hall at about noon. War experts across the country answered students' questions via-satellite Wednesday.

Students quiz CNN war panel

Live broadcast links K-State community to gulf war

PAUL NOEL
Staff Reporter

K-State students got a chance to have their questions answered directly from the experts in Washington, D.C., and the Middle East. A CNN crew set up equipment in the basement of Haymaker Hall Wednesday to link students with experts to answer their questions about the gulf war.

David Steck, news director at CNN, said the crew has been on location since the war began. "We started in Illinois, and we've slowly worked our way down the Midwest," Steck said. "But, this is the first time we've tried a question-and-answer session."

Steck said he liked the idea of the session because, if several people have the same question in mind, it can be quickly answered. "Maybe there are things about the war that people are confused about," he said. "By getting in touch with people in Saudi Arabia and Washington, their questions get answered pretty fast."

Melissa Moessner, freshman in pre-med, was the first to ask the experts about the situation in the Middle East. Her question concerned possible world war in the case of retaliation by Israel. Robert Hunter, CNN correspondent in Israel, said he believed a proportional retaliation would not cause other Arab countries to enter the war, because indications show some form of retaliation would be acceptable. Moessner said she was pleased CNN was able to have her question answered. "I think it's great," she said. "I can't believe CNN chose Manhattan to come to. I think it's great they're going all over the United States to get different opinions."

Soldiers prepare for ground war in Desert Storm

By the Associated Press

NEAR THE IRAQI BORDER, Saudi Arabia — In a gas line such as this desert has never seen, assault helicopters swarm in like black death, filling up for a ground war their crews expect any day. At a highway cloverleaf, American Military Police hunker down behind a concrete block barrier painted, "Pink Floyd, The Wall," waiting for their piece of the war. In a truckstop curry joint, two British artillerymen, "Desert Rats," shake their heads in grim anticipation of a weeks-long onslaught they predict will be far worse than is widely believed.

By a roadside phone booth, Omani soldiers in faded combat turbans wait cheerfully to ring up their families, hopeful that their next call — if Allah wishes — will be made from liberated Kuwait City. Desert Storm is getting ready to break, and all concerned are convinced that a hard rain is going to fall.

On the surface, the mood is mostly positive, even relaxed. Full alert conditions did not stop a Bedouin from threading his pickup load of confused sheep beneath the revolving blades of U.S. Army helicopters awaiting fuel on an abandoned stretch of tarmac.

Capt. Robert Belletier of the U.S. First Cavalry Division, climbed out of a Blackhawk helicopter as it settled down to a rumbling idle, in line with 12 Cobras, Apaches and little Bell choppers. "We're all set," said Belletier. "We hear about all those Scuds in Dhahran, and we're happy to be up north where it's safe."

But when pressed to reflect on what might lie ahead in the next few weeks, his face took on that half-somber, half-quizzical look so common among allied troops on the northern frontier.

Three MPs from the 14th Military Police Brigade had that look as they watched the main road north from Dhahran to Kuwait in their machine-gun mounted humvee, the Army's newfangled version of the jeep.

"It's gonna take longer than we thought," said Cpl. Dave Hoernle, of Harrisburg, Pa., who ended up in the desert from his former base in Stuttgart, Germany, where his wife is also an MP. "Hopefully it will be done by June, but I doubt it," he said.

Two British artillerymen preferred to speak frankly rather than give their names. One, a veteran non-commissioned officer who said he had learned lessons the hard way, had no illusions.

"It will take five weeks at the least, from the word 'go,' and it will be bloody difficult," he said. "A bloke's dug in with his artillery, he's going to fight you, isn't he?"

He described U.S. land forces as hampered by too many overconfident young troops who had little idea of what they faced.

"I don't mean to be impolite about the Americans, but they're not ready," he said. "Too many aren't serious."

Neither British nor other allied troops were ready either, he added. "We will be soon, but I hope we don't have to go too fast."

He warned that Iraqi heavy artillery was well-sheltered, with underground stocks of conventional and chemical warfare shells. Oil-filled trenches and tank traps would be hard to breach. Meanwhile, allied ground forces and material were within range of the long guns.

Sgt. Abdul Hamid, 26, in the army of Oman since he was 15, did not have the concerned look. He seemed less worried about Saddam Hussein's army than about getting a phone line home.

City race joined by local student

Primary will eliminate one candidate

DAN SCOTT
Staff Reporter

A K-State student is launching a campaign to become the first student city commissioner in Manhattan's history.

Craig Raborn, junior in geography and student government cabinet member, filed to become a candidate in the upcoming Manhattan City Commission election Jan. 22, the last day to do so.

The number of candidates now totals seven, forcing a primary election scheduled for Feb. 26. Only one candidate, Roger Maughmer, is an incumbent. The remaining candidates are Helen Cooper, James Dubois, Linda Ferguson, Stanley Crowder and Edith Stunkel.

After eliminating one candidate, Manhattan voters will head to the voting booths once again on April 2 for the final election.

Raborn, a Manhattan resident since grade school, said his first goal is to convince K-State students to register for the primary election before the Feb. 10 deadline. While K-State students are not permanent residents of Manhattan, those living off-campus are eligible to vote in city elections.

"I hope to get past the primary with not just student support but with community support as well," Raborn said. "My main concern right now is to make it past the primary."

If successful, Raborn said a third- or fourth-place finish in the primary would be an ideal situation. He does not plan to squeak through in fifth or sixth place.

In the final election, the top two vote getters earn four-year terms. The third candidate will serve a two-year term, Raborn said.

In a leaflet distributed by Raborn, he said safe housing, a city-wide transportation system and a city-wide recycling effort are of particular concern.

To ensure safe housing, Raborn said he would work towards implementing a rental-inspection program. The program would benefit K-State students, Manhattan senior citizens and Fort Riley military personnel.

Raborn said a transportation system is needed in Manhattan to help the city grow.

"If we envision ourselves as a regional and commercial center, we must work to implement a transportation system throughout Manhattan and KSU," Raborn said in his leaflet. "Over time, that transportation system could be expanded beyond Manhattan."

The decision to personally run for one of the three commission openings was not made until 9:30 a.m. Jan. 22, less than four hours before the noon deadline.

"Todd Heitschmidt (K-State student body president) and I had talked earlier about getting a student to run for the commission," Raborn said. "Many students were interested but didn't feel that they knew enough."

Raborn has lived in Manhattan for many years, has covered the commission for over a year as a reporter for a local radio station and is currently the community-affairs director in Heitschmidt's cabinet.

Based on these qualifications, the two decided that Raborn was best capable of running a successful campaign.

Craig Raborn

Protesters victims of threats

DAVID FRESE
Staff Reporter
and SHANNON HEIM
A&E/Features Editor

Sometime around 10:30 p.m., Jan. 16, Kale Baldock was awakened by a phone call. "Are you aware we bombed Iraq tonight?" said the voice on the other end. "Sure," Baldock said. "What do you want to know?" "You're next," the voice said. America's fears of terrorism have come true. But instead of the targets being military in stature and the terrorists revenge-driven Iraqis, the targets here in Manhattan have been prominent peace activists.

And the identities of the terrorists remain hidden.

After the caller told Baldock he was next, Baldock and the caller got into a swearing match.

"Then he said 'I'd like to meet you on the battlefield of honor and slit your throat,'" Baldock said.

Then the caller hung up. ■ See THREATS, Page 10

Amy Strathman, junior in radio and television, left, and Tamara Grothaus, senior in theater, play Shelby and Mary-Lynn in "Steel Magnolias" during K-State Players practice Wednesday in Nichols Hall. Shelby was pleading for her mother's approval to let her have her baby.

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Briefly

World

Student democracy activist tried

BEIJING (AP) — A Chinese people's court on Wednesday put on trial Wang Dan, the most-wanted student leader of the 1989 pro-democracy movement that was crushed by Communist authorities.

Wang is at least the 25th activist to be tried or sentenced this month as the government seeks to wrap up such cases while the world is preoccupied with war in the Persian Gulf. Wang, 23, has been jailed 19 months.

His name topped a police list of the 21 most-wanted student leaders after the democracy movement was put down in an army assault across Beijing on June 4, 1989. Hundreds of people were killed.

Region

Legislature hears new proposal

TOPEKA (AP) — A planning commission would be established to help provide services for children in Kansas under a bill presented to Legislators Wednesday.

The commission's goal would be to coordinate public services for children, including education, health care, social services and job training.

It could make recommendations about juvenile offenders and children in need of care, prevention programs aimed at children at risk, foster care and child abuse.

Gerry Donaldson, a member of the legislative research staff, briefed members of the House Federal and State Affairs Committee about the commission, which was recommended by the interim Judiciary Committee.

She said the commission should eliminate any fragmentation of children's services.

79 Kansas counties lose population

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only a fourth of Kansas' counties gained population during the 1980s, with most of the growth occurring in urban corridors in the eastern half of the state, according to Census Bureau figures released Wednesday.

Rural areas generally declined. A total of 79 of the state's 105 counties lost population during the decade, with portions of northern Kansas suffering the largest percentage declines.

Economics played a major role in determining the population patterns in Kansas, according to demographic researchers.

"All of the agriculturally based counties basically have been losing population," said Helga Upmeyer, a research associate with the Institute for Public Policy and Business Research at the University of Kansas.

"I think you could associate it with economic-type development — where the jobs are. People tend to follow the jobs," said Teresa Floerchinger, state demographer in the Division of Budget.

"People that are moving out of rural areas are likely to go to the larger centers, such as Kansas City or even out of the state," said Upmeyer.

County bans smoking in jailhouse

STOCKTON (AP) — The sheriff is worried that a Rooks County decision to ban smoking in the jail could lead to trouble among inmates.

"I don't want to have to wait until one of my dispatchers gets clubbed in the head," said Sheriff Dave Denton. "It takes very little to set a prisoner off."

"If they are up there and if they are coming down on a nicotine withdrawal thing, it can really get to them. They're apt to fight each other and all kinds of things."

Smoking had previously been banned on three floors of the courthouse, but county commissioners voted earlier this month to extend the ban to the fourth floor where the jail is located.

Commissioner Gene Jaco said the smoking ban was extended because smoke was drifting down stairwells and through halls into smoke-free offices.

Lawyer guilty of cocaine possession

TOPEKA (AP) — One of the county's longest and most bitterly contested criminal cases ended when attorney Ron Gooding was found guilty of cocaine possession.

Gooding had been scheduled to stand trial by jury beginning Tuesday. But at the last moment, he entered a "stipulation" — an agreement with the prosecutor about what the facts would have been at trial.

While Gooding had pleaded innocent, the factual stipulation allowed Judge Fred Jackson to decide the case immediately and find Gooding guilty. Sentencing will be March 8.

He faces a maximum of five to 20 years in prison.

The stipulation averted a second trial for Gooding and ended a case which began with a raid on his home June 22, 1989.

The stipulation Gooding agreed to said evidence at trial would show he possessed the cocaine, did so intentionally and did so on the date in question in Shawnee County.

Campus

Harvard law professor to lecture

"The Question of Group Rights" will be the focus of K-State's 1991 Martin Luther King Jr. Convocation Lecture.

Randall Kennedy, Harvard University law professor, will deliver the lecture at 10:30 a.m., Jan. 25 in McCain Auditorium.

The convocation is part of the University's King Observance Week, and it is free and open to the public.

Kennedy is the founder and editor of the journal "Reconstruction," which publishes opinion designed to inspire candid, open debate of issues and political positions involving race.

Kennedy received a bachelor's degree from Princeton University. He studied history for two years as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford and then began his legal education at Yale.

After working under U.S. Appeals Court Judge J. Skelly Wright and Supreme Court Justice Thurgood Marshall, he was appointed to the Harvard Law School, where he teaches human rights apartheid and race relations law.

Campus Bulletin

Announcements

U-Learn Volunteer Sign-up will be all day Jan. 21-25 in Holton 16.

The Graduate School has scheduled the final oral defense of the doctoral dissertation of Peiqing Li Hung at 4:30 Jan. 25 in Cardwell 121. The topic will be "Investigation of Some Ill-Posed and Inverse Problems."

The KSU Gymnastics Club will meet from 8-10 p.m. Jan. 25, 28, 30 and from 7-9 p.m. Jan. 27.

24 Thursday

Women and Men Against Rape will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 203.

Block & Bridle will meet at 7 p.m. in Weber 123.

The K-State Sailing Club Meeting is at 8:30 in Union 209.

ICTHUS Christian Fellowship Meeting is at 8 p.m. in the Union Little Theatre. Pat Wildman will be speaking.

The Engineering Ambassador Executives will meet at 6 p.m. in Durland 161.

The German Table Meeting will be at 8 p.m. at the Espresso Royale Cafe.

The KSU Rodeo Club Meeting is at 7 p.m. in Weber 146.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers will meet at 1:30 p.m. in Ackert 120.

The KSU Horticultural Club will meet at 7:30 in Waters 244. Spring planting will be discussed.

The Society for Advancement of Management will hold an informational meeting at 7 p.m. in Denison 113A.

Ag Ambassadors/Representatives Meeting is at 6 p.m. in Waters 137.

Kansas State University Table Tennis Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in the EMC Building.

The American Society of Civil Engineers will meet at 7:40 p.m. in Throckmorton 132. Freshmen orientation will be before the meeting at 7:00 p.m.

BAPP Club Meeting is at 4 p.m. in Union 207.

Kansas State University Hockey Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Union 205. Organization will be the topic.

Talking Hands Meeting is at 4 p.m. in Union Station.

KSU United Nations Council will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 204.

The Multicultural Student Council will meet at 3:30 p.m. in Union 203

25 Friday

Intramural Basketball begins at 4 p.m. in the Rec Complex.

The KSU Rock Climbing Club will meet at 7 p.m. in Union 209.

Correction

Sgt. Wendell Wilkerson was incorrectly identified as the head instructor of the NBC school at Fort Riley in Wednesday's Collegian. Wilkerson is an instructor at the school. Sgt. Carter Williams is the head instructor. The Collegian regrets the error.

Manhattan Weather

Today, partly cloudy. Highs in the mid- to upper 30s. South to southeast winds 5 to 15 mph. Tonight, cloudy. A 30 percent chance of light snow. Lows in the mid-20s. Friday, mostly cloudy. A 30 percent chance of light snow mainly in the morning. Highs in the lower 30s.

BAY STREET AND THE PIT

THURSDAY

$1.25 Pitchers

$1.00 Longnecks

75¢ Wells

50¢ Kamis

K-State Sailing Club

Wednesday 7 p.m.
Thursday 8:30 p.m.
Union 209

Introductory meeting for new members
Come join the fun!

Manhattan Bridal Show, Inc. 1991

Sunday, February 3

Houston Street Ballroom
5th & Houston

Doors Open At 12:30 P.M.
Fashion Show At 2:00 P.M.

Register To Win
FREE Gifts Including
A Dream Honeymoon
Value: $750

Sponsored by:

Arbutnot's Ballroom
Bockers II Catering
Brock Brothers Mens Wear
Campbell's
Christina's — The Wedding Co.
Dauberg's Bridal Jewellers
Double Exposure — Music for All Occasions
D & S Rental
Florence Scholte — Hairist
G & A Real Estate, Inc.
Hochbaum Portraits
Houston Street Ballroom
Kansas State Travel
Kitchens Plus
KQV — Q 101 Radio
Mary Kay Cosmetics & Associates
New Beginnings Hairstyling & Tanning
Sweet's Floral
Travelers Express & Touring Service
Aerie's Dresses & Cafe Shop
Woody's Ladies Shop

A Roaring Deal to Tame Your Mane

"PERM SPECIALS"

Gals:

Warm & Gentle... Reg. $48 Sale $43

Quantum... Reg. $38 Sale $32

Spirals... $55 & up

Kids: under 10... $28

Guys: $30

Long hair is slightly higher. All perms include cut & style.
Free tube of 3 oz. Attractions Deep Conditioner with perm.

Haircuts

Gals $12 Guys $8.50 Kids (under 10) $6.50

All cuts include shampoo & style

2026 Tuttle Creek Blvd. 539-TAME (8263)

Be king of the mountain.

That's what it feels like to be a Marine. You're an individual who can tackle anything and come out on top. Marine training sees to that. If you're up to this type of challenge, contact your local recruiter. 1-800-423-2600.

Platoon Leaders Class.
For freshmen, sophomores and juniors.

Women Officer Candidates Program.
For juniors, seniors and college graduates.

Officer Candidates Class.
For seniors and college graduates.

See the Officer Selection Officer in the Student Union on 24-25 January or call 1-800-748-7274 for more info.

EDUCATION SYMPOSIUM

February 8, 1991

Piecing It All Together

The only piece missing is...

YOU

FOR ALL EDUCATION MAJORS

Register by Jan. 28
in Bluemont Hall 006

Bob Parr, Fort Riley counseling center, leads discussion during a Manhattan Military Wives support group Wednesday at a local Presbyterian church.

Groups help those at home

Big Red 1 deployment leaves families, friends dealing with confusion of war

LAJEAN RAU
Staff Reporter

People are coping.

Those with family and friends in the Middle East are scared to death. They need help dealing with their feelings, caring for their children, keeping in touch with their loved ones, and in some cases, even providing for themselves.

They are torn between fear and confusion, support for the troops and opinions about the war.

But they are coping.

This is the overwhelming message people involved with supporting military families and friends through the conflict are getting, said Angie Fryer, coordinator of Manhattan Military Wives.

"People are always calling me asking for names of women whose husbands are gone," she said. "I don't like that. That's exploiting them and can't really show how they feel."

These women are taking life as it comes, dealing with day-to-day problems on their own.

"If you've never had children, I will tell you that things always go wrong when your husband goes away," she said. "You will end up with a child in the emergency room, or your car won't start. These are the kinds of things that military wives are coping with."

Manhattan Military Wives, sponsored by the Presbytery of Northern Kansas and two local Presbyterian churches, has existed since 1967 and offers a variety of programming, as well as contact with other support groups and resources in the area.

Regular weekly meetings, which consist of speakers, crafts, pot-luck dinners and lots of talking and sharing, are every Wednesday afternoon.

Fryer said that since the crisis began, services and programs have been added and the number of women has risen steadily.

War broke out just hours after last Wednesday's get-together. Average attendance was about 30, this week there were more than 50 women at the meeting, Fryer said.

"We had four military mothers for the first time this week," she said. "The group is really for military wives, but everyone is welcome. Now, we are working on getting a new group going just for mothers."

As coordinator, Fryer provides all the programming for the group, but her work, as well as that of her assistant and some volunteers, includes home visits and phone calls.

"This is all about helping human beings," she said. "Sharing and caring is very much a part of military wives' lives. Every week there is someone new, but they are accepted so quickly."

One motto of Military Wives is "wives have no rank." Fryer said this is unique among military situations.

"We're not political, and we're not a bible group," she said.

One program Military Wives offers is a babysitting co-op. Fryer said women get coupons and tokens to use as payment for sitting services. They give and take these tokens in a barter system.

"When a woman starts running out of tokens, she better start doing some babysitting," Fryer said. "Child care is always a problem. Then add the stress of suddenly being a single parent."

■ See SUPPORT, Page 10

Military family support numbers

Desert Shield Army Hotline:
1-800-542-9254

Army Family Liason Office:
1-800-833-6622

Military Family Life Ministries:
239-9925

Crisis Helpline:
239-HELP

Army Community Services:
239-9435

Manhattan Military Visitor,
Military Wives Support Group:
537-7146

Parenting Helpline:
1-800-332-6378

Family Assistance Center:
239-4900

Counseling Service:
239-7267

Bicknell visits campus, students to aid college

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

The College of Human Ecology commended Gene Bicknell, chairman and chief executive officer for the National Pizza Co., not only for his speaking ability, but also for the timing of his visit — Jan. 22 and 23 — to K-State.

"His visit was very encouraging and exciting," said Mary Hollingsworth, Sensory Analysis Center manager. "His show of support for this college in Kansas — his interest, concern and support were encouraging, especially when they wanted to break up and reorganize this college."

During Bicknell's visit to the K-State campus Tuesday, he visited with the consumer testing class, foodservice systems and hotel operations classes in the College of Human Ecology. He also visited various department heads and visited with university and community leaders throughout the day.

In his presentations, Bicknell stressed the importance of listening skills. He said too many people want to talk and not enough people want to listen.

Hollingsworth said Bicknell practiced what he preached. She said he made it a point to visit with all the different departments in the college, to talk and listen to the faculty and students.

Later in the evening, he spoke to the Hospitality Management Society in Justin Hall lounge.

On Wednesday, Bicknell met with more department heads and had lunch with President Jon Wefald and campus guests. In the afternoon, he was scheduled for more meetings with department heads and a tennis match with Wefald.

Barbara Stowe, dean of the College of Human Ecology, said K-State has the only hotel and restaurant management program in Kansas, and that both undergraduate and graduate programs are available.

But, she said, the college would like to expand the graduate and research programs.

"These doctorate programs are needed because there are so many undergraduate programs," Stowe said. "We need a research base and instructors for this rapidly expanding area of study," she said.

Currently, K-State and Virginia Polytechnic (VPIU) offer doctorate degrees in foods and nutrition and specialization in certain human ecology programs.

Edgar Chambers IV, director of the Sensory Analysis Center, said another way the college tries to prepare students for their careers is to get speakers every semester to relate their successes and business operation philosophy to the students.

"He (Bicknell) is very concerned about what consumers think and their response to his product," Chambers said. "And we try to get experienced people with accomplishments at the consumer level."

Currently, National Pizza Co. has 365 restaurants and delivery units in 13 states with plans for 40 more this year, he said. The company also operates and franchises over 200 Skipper's seafood restaurants in the western United States, with plans for seven this year.

"You can't tumble over a mountain, but you can over a molehill. Set your goals high—reach for the top! Yet, have fun."

Copeland to plea

By the Associated Press

ROLLA, Mo. — Prosecutors have agreed to drop their request to put a 76-year-old man to death in exchange for guilty pleas in the slayings of five transients, according to a defense attorney.

The plea Ray Copeland was expected to make at a hearing Thursday may also save his 69-year-old wife, Faye, from the death penalty. Faye Copeland has been found guilty of five murders and a jury has recommended she die by lethal injection.

Circuit Judge E. Richard Webber, who said he had not been told that Copeland was prepared to plead guilty, has not set a sentencing date for Faye Copeland.

Public defender Barbara Schenkenberg confirmed that Ray Copeland would plead guilty at a hearing Thursday in Rolla at which jury selection was to begin. She said she could not discuss why Copeland decided to plead.

For Freshman
and Sophomore
Business Majors
looking for a way to get involved.

BAPP Club Meeting
Today - 4 p.m.
Union 207

Any questions call 532-6180

Thursday 9 p.m.

*Superbowl trivia *$2.50 pitchers
(Coors and Coors Light)

*free giveaways *Coors reps on hand
*$1 bottles (Coors and Coors Light)

Open Superbowl Sunday

Come watch the game on one of our 6 TVs

* open at 2 p.m.
* free hors d'oeuvres
* $2.50 pitchers
* big screen TV

Bo Winkle's
A Sports Bar

776-1022
3043 Anderson

Snookies

$1 Wells
50¢ Draws
Live Rock and Roll
FIANCE
776-7726 • 1122 Moro • Upstairs

LIVING THE DREAM
NONVIOLENCE
A TIME TO ACT, A WAY TO LIVE!

Martin Luther King, Jr.
Observance Week

January 20-27, 1991
Kansas State University

Friday, January 25
10:30 a.m., McCain Auditorium
All-University Convocation
in recognition of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s contributions.

Keynote Address
*The Question of Group
Rights* presented by Randall Kennedy,
Harvard Law School.
Founder and editor of Reconstruction, a magazine dealing with issues and political positions involving race.

"The Dance"
at
Blue River Pub
Saturday night 9 p.m.-1 a.m.
Sponsored by Collegian FFA

"THRIFTY
THURSDAY"

$3.49 For a Small Pizza
(one topping)
Dine-in/Carryout

Delivery—
Fast, Friendly & Free!

539-4888
12th & Moro
Aggieville, USA

COUPON
THRIFTY THURSDAY
$3.49 for a small
one-topping pizza
Good every Thursday

"We Pile it On"
—Carryout/Dine-in only—

EDITORIAL

Human factor lost in current war footage

"It takes twenty years or more of peace to make a man, it takes only twenty seconds of war to destroy him." King Baudouin of Belgium (1930-) Addressing U.S. Congress, 12 May 1959.

As the war with Iraq exploded this past week, many of us succumbed to the "glee factor" and watched the fascinating technology of war with wide-eyed, childlike wonder. So much so, we easily forgot there were people on the receiving end of our "smart missiles," and that there were human beings at great risk firing the missiles. When you actually see videotape of a missile being sent straight down the ventilation duct (sort of a vicarious "up yours" shot) of a large, soon-to-be-nonexistent building, understandably, you tend to lose sight of the "human factor."

The human factor surfaced with alarming clarity during this first emotional week of war, as much of America and the world viewed live broadcast of Israeli civilians undergoing ballistic missile attack with the combined threat of death by chemical or biological contamination. Yet, videotape of captured and brutalized Allied pilots struck home with the greatest force.

And, as the war progresses, the human toll will only get worse. That is the nature of war — to extract from the participants as much "human factor" as is physically possible.

My opening quote mentions 20 seconds.

With the weapons we have today, you can probably reduce that time by at least a factor of ten. The question is, will we really get to see it? The human destruction, I mean. Or, will we continue to view the antiseptically clean news coverage offered to major networks by the U.S. military with the "cleared by the U.S. military" logo at the bottom of the TV screen?

In other words, the military is now, in the name of national security, etc., our "information filter."

It appears the U.S. propaganda machine and its "information filter" is working quite well. According to a New York Times/CBS News poll taken Jan. 20, 74 percent of the respondents approved of the war effort, and 84 percent approved of the president's job performance.

We now have a majority of Americans believing the good ol' USA is actually defending the Constitution and our borders in war of "good" vs. "evil." And, I suppose, that is really the only thing we truly understand — simplistic problems with patriotic, flag-waving, chest-thumping, "rah-rah," "Go team!" solutions.

American support for this war boils down to the fact that we really don't want to know the truth, for that would only complicate the matter. More importantly, our men and women in the gulf must not die frivolously, no matter how malicious or absurd the policy is that placed them there.

Let's get one thing straight. The truth in

Brad Seabourn

Collegian Columnist

this situation is fairly simple. Saddam Hussein is a sick man with an abundance of nasty toys, and he didn't acquire them by rubbing a magic lamp. The truth is, Americans are going to die needlessly, on foreign soil, because of greed — a significant part of which is "American greed."

Yes, I know, you didn't want to hear that. It makes me sick too, but it is the truth.

This was not a man, such as Hitler, who armed his nation largely through his country's own manufacturing efforts. We, the United States and the world, sold this monster the tools he will soon use to destroy the sons and daughters of this nation, the most precious and vital "national interest" we have. There was no speculation. We knew exactly what kind of low-life we were dealing with.

Hussein spent an estimated $50 billion during the last decade on military expenditures, making him the world's largest single buyer on the international market of conventional, chemical, biological and nuclear weaponry. The following is just a sampling (June 1990, U.S. News & World Report) of Iraqi purchases in the 1980s and the source country (no distinction is made whether government or private enterprise):

- Brazil: 500 EE-3 Jararaca and EE-9 Cascavel armored reconnaissance vehicles;
- China: 1500 T-59 and T-69 main battle tanks, 80 J-7 fighters and specific nuclear weapons manufacturing components;
- Czechoslovakia: 1000 BMP-1 armored infantry fighting vehicles;
- Egypt: 100 multiple-rocket launchers;
- France: 94 Mirage F1 fighters, 300 AML-60 and AML-90 armored reconnaissance vehicles, 60 Roland surface-to-air missiles, 700 Exocet air-to-surface missiles, nuclear reactors and missile navigation systems;
- South Africa: 200 155mm howitzers;
- Soviet Union: 500 T-72 main battle tanks, 1000 T-62 main battle tanks, 350 Scud-B surface-to-surface missiles, 25 MiG-29 Fulcrum fighters, 33 MiG-25 Foxbat fighters, 70 MiG-23BN Flogger fighters, 70 MiG-21 Fishbed fighters, 30 Su-25 Frogfoot ground attack fighters, 50 Su-20 Fitter ground attack fighters, 8 Tu-22 Blinder bombers, 8 Tu-16 Badger bombers and 500 122mm towed howitzers;
- Britain: high-tech computer-controlled machinery;
- Belgium: mustard gas components;
- Italy: uranium ore and nuclear technology;

■ Sweden: assistance in missile projects;

■ West Germany: heavy-duty pumps, chemical weapons raw materials and technology;

■ United States: computers, test equipment, helicopters, expertise/technology/raw materials for production of chemical, biological and nuclear weapons.

As I said, this is only a small sampling. Obviously, the Soviet Union stands out as the big contributor, but it was largely western countries who contributed the nonconventional weapons technology that constitutes one of the major fears in President Bush's amorphous strategy for solving the situation in the Middle East.

Obviously, the "human factor" played an important role in creating the "evil" we have chosen to exterminate. And somewhere in the middle of all this mess are some very rich arms dealers. It is unfortunate the general public is so naive that it only sees evil when it is caricatured in the likes of a Saddam Hussein.

If we must resort to war, and it appears that is the case (like it or not), then let's at least learn one constructive lesson. I propose it be this: "If you make it your business to raise and sell mean dogs to everyone in the neighborhood, then don't be surprised when, one day, you are bitten by a mean dog."

Editorials

Police provide balance

In the American republic, there is a delicate balance between order and democracy. If order is to be maintained above all else, democracy's voices are silenced. If the normal discordant voices of democracy are given full sound, anarchy reigns.

At times, maintaining that balance can seem as difficult as keeping a house of cards erect in a windstorm.

Last week, when a rally against the gulf war drew supporters of the war to the K-State Union Plaza in a counter-demonstration, the potential for anarchy was present. Also present was the natural reaction to restore order above all else.

Tasked with maintaining that balance on the plaza were the competing demonstrators and the K-State Police. By keeping a low profile, the police first allowed the two groups to speak out without feeling intimidated.

The campus police's low profile left it up to the two groups to end unproductive chanting matches. But, when passions over the moral character of the war briefly erupted into a scuffle, the police decisively and quickly stepped in to extinguish the spark of potential violence without using the scuffle as pretext for silencing the voices of democracy.

The campus police are criticized and ridiculed. Sometimes the criticism is justified, but the ridicule is never deserved. By maintaining the administration's long-standing policy of allowing protests on campus, the police upheld the difficult, delicate balance of American democracy.

For that, Police Chief Charles Beckom and the officers under his command deserve our thanks.

Another perspective

It has begun.

War broke out in the Middle East Wednesday when President George Bush came to the conclusion that "we could wait no longer." Bush authorized a massive air strike against Iraq for the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

For all the rhetoric of the past few months — rhetoric which came loudly and strongly from both sides — many of us believed or held on to a naive hope that war would not happen, that diplomacy and sanctions would be given a chance to work.

But we, Mr. President, wonder who loses if "we win," what we'd be "winning" if we fight a bloody battle with Iraq, and what would have happened had we waited longer.

But we didn't wait longer, and now we must deal with the ramifications of our assault on Iraq.

The objectives, Mr. President, you say are clear: To drive Hussein from Kuwait and to restore the legitimate Kuwaiti government.

We, however, must wonder from where the vision for this clarity comes.

Does the vision come from a country bitterly divided, a country that has, in effect, no collective mind about war, a word we can now, regrettably, use?

Does that vision come from a few short months of trying to negotiate with the Iraqi government?

Does that vision stem from a view that we're retaliating, taking a defensive position rather than offensive?

From wherever the vision was formed, wherever this clarity comes, we believe such an outlook is clouded, infiltrated by the perception that what we're doing is a moral right — the kind of thing which cannot be questioned.

The country still needs to question the policy in the gulf, now more than ever. Now is not the time for a national debate to end; rather it is the most appropriate time for such a vigorous activity to begin.

In the end, we hope for a safe and speedy return of the soldiers, but we also hope for some answers, answers that will explain why we must continue to pray for those soldiers' return at all.

— Daily Eastern News
January 18, 1991

Better welcome deserved

I like many other students, faculty and community members have spent many hours watching the events in the gulf during the last few days. I feel the president has acted properly ever since Aug. 2. Although I sincerely hoped that this could have been resolved through peace, the president of the United States felt that the sanctions against Iraq would not cause Saddam Hussein to leave Kuwait.

The president, along with many of the people in this nation, felt that naked aggression by one country against another sovereign nation should not go unpunished. The people of the nation strongly supported his action during the first stages of the deployment.

I hear a lot of people say this is just a war for oil and that the only ones who will benefit are the big corporations. The president and the many members of the House of Representatives have said this war is about our way of life and a new world order.

People study history to learn from mistakes made in the past, therefore let us look at one period of history of the 20th century. In the period 1934-1940, the United States was isolationist and didn't want to get involved "Over There." The result was a war that lasted over four years, involved every major, and many minor, powers in the world and cost 50 million lives.

Many people say this isn't the same; Hussein is not Hitler. True, he is not the same man and his actions aren't the same. Hitler said Poland was as far as he was going to go; Hussein has stated that he wants to have the entire Middle East under his power. Although he might not have the military strength necessary to achieve this goal, what if Syria or Jordan, or any of the other countries over there,

Thomas Hufford

Senior/Accounting
Guest Columnist

decide to combine forces with him? What will stop him from annexing others as he has tried to do with Kuwait?

Many people say we should give peace a chance, now that we have dealt Hussein a decisive blow with our initial attack, we should try to let diplomacy and the sanctions work. I say to these people that he had a chance during the period after the first attacks, and he answered by saying "The mother of all battles has begun." He further stated he would not give up, and the United States would pay for its aggression.

Less than 24 hours after our first attack, he fulfilled his promise that if hostilities started, he would attack Israel with his missiles. These aren't the actions of a leader who is willing to surrender if it means he must withdraw from the military position he has obtained.

I think the formal announcement of the war was one of the best political speeches I've heard since the speech by President John F. Kennedy in 1961, when he announced that by the end of the decade, an American would walk on the moon. I feel the most significant point Bush made in his speech was that this would not be another Vietnam; that the soldiers would not be trying to fight with one hand tied behind their backs (by the bureaucracy).

As a Vietnam veteran, one who joined the Army during that war and then volunteered for duty in Vietnam, I look at what is happening here in the United States, and I feel as if I'm looking in a time machine back 20 or so years ago.

In William Broyles Jr.'s Nov. 22, 1982, Newsweek article titled "Remembering a War We Want to Forget," he quoted the thoughts of a man who was attending the dedication of the Vietnam War Memorial in Washington, D.C. He writes: "Our country was ashamed of us, hated us... thousands of demonstrators carried the Viet Cong flag through the streets of America."

Broyles continues with a quote by another veteran, Sid Smith. "When I came home in 1967, an Army dude had just been shot and killed by a protester when he got off the plane," he writes.

Should we let our armed forces sit in the desert wondering "What kind of welcome will I receive when I get home?" Although the peace marchers during the Vietnam conflict were protesting a war that wasn't a war and the actions of Congress and the president, when the young men and women returned after 365 days of "just doing their jobs" they were spit on, looked down at and killed by these "peace marchers."

I sincerely hope students here at K-State have enough sense, courage and self-respect that they can join me in giving the young men and women of Fort Riley and their families our support. We should all be able and proud to say to them: "Welcome home."

Collegian Editorial Policies

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR are always encouraged. Those which pertain to matters of campus and/or public interest are especially encouraged and are given the highest priority.

Bear claw mystery leads to career change

Professor of anthropology also specializes in forensics with U.S. Army

LORI STAUFFER
Staff Reporter

Mike Finnegan once planned to be a civil engineer. He didn't know the mistaken identity of a bear claw would lead him into forensic anthropology.

Finnegan was half way through graduate school at the University of Colorado when part of a hand was discovered in west Denver.

"There was no skin and no end digits so you couldn't tell if it had fingernails or claws, and it had soft tissue on it," Finnegan said. "The police took it over to the University of Colorado Medical School at Colorado General Hospital and had an anatomist look at it—he said it was a human hand."

The police wanted a second person to look at the hand and through one of his professors, Finnegan had his first try at forensic anthropology.

After the examination, he told the officers he agreed with the anatomist that it was an appendage. Finnegan, however, argued it was a bear paw rather than a human hand by the location of the largest digit.

"On bear paws, the largest digit is lateral, whereas on human hands the largest digit is medial," he said. "The anatomist wouldn't believe it."

Finnegan and the police went back to the intersection where the hand was found. As it turned out, a taxidermy shop was near the area. The proprietor identified the hand as a bear paw.

A dog had gotten into some garbage cans outside of the shop in which the taxidermist had dumped the remains of a black bear.

"That, I guess, kindled my interest in forensic work," Finnegan said.

Finnegan is now a professor in anthropology at K-State. His extensive background in skeletal anatomy and expertise in identifying animal bones has aided him in the forensic field.

"You really know what a human skeleton looks like and once the flesh is gone, who's going to look at it?" Finnegan said.

Finnegan said he is involved in about 25 cases a year identifying remains for police departments in Kansas and western Missouri, including a case near Liberal last November.

"Not all of these are what you would call forensic cases," Finnegan said. "A quarter of these cases are animal bones. Another quarter are human bones, but they are not a forensic case. For instance, they are early pioneer bones that washed out of a creek bank."

"About half of the 25 cases are actual forensic cases where we have to go out and do something," he said.

After identifying the four basic characteristics of age, sex, stature and race, Finnegan said, the police can check the missing persons files.

By comparing information in these files and dental records and X-rays with information collected about the body, police can often find a match. After identification, the police take before and after pictures to show in court.

Finnegan has been called to court to give his conclusions in identifying the remains. The courts are mostly concerned with the cause and manner of death, he said, which can include suffocation or drowning, while the manner of death can be accident, homicide or suicide.

Finnegan said if bones are affected, he may be able to give a cause of death. Depending how the bones are affected, he may or may not be able to make a suggestion to the manner of death.

"If a person jumps out of a third-story window and does a nose dive onto the concrete, we can tell you about the damage to the skull," he said. "We can't tell you if it was an accidental fall, if someone pushed him out or if he jumped out to commit suicide."

Finnegan has worked throughout the United States and South America.

As a consultant to the U.S. Army, Finnegan helps identify individuals that have been found in Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam and New Guinea. In the last two months, Finnegan has reviewed five cases for them.

Making a positive identification of the body is not really the toughest part of the job. Queasy stomachs can often make the initial trip to the field to look at the discovered remains difficult.

Finnegan said when dealing with real-life horror scenes, it is important to keep some kind of sense of humor.

"Humor is a little difficult to deal with because this is supposed to be very serious, but on the other hand a lot of times you need a little humor so it doesn't overwhelm you."

Finnegan said when he first came to Manhattan, there were about 10 homicides a year in Kansas City. That number has increased to about 30 times that.

"I don't know how many murders a year are coming out of New York. In L.A., they are shooting people because they didn't get out of a person's lane on the freeway," he said. "It's crazy. More of these things are happening all the time."

with this coupon

Moo Goo Gai Pan
Eggroll included
$3

HUNAM EXPRESS
537-0886
Free Delivery with minimum $9 order.
11 a.m.-1 a.m. 7 days a week.
1116 MORO

Not valid with delivery.
Coupon expires: 1-30-91

KRYSTALLOS
"Specialty objects from the earth"

SPECIALIZING IN:
• Sterling Silver
• Imported jewelry
• Clothing & accessories from around the world
• Books, belts, beads
• Crystals
• Guatemalan clothing

1124 Moro Aggieville 11-6 Mon.-Sat. 539-0360

The Spot

Home of the 60 oz. pitcher

Tonight
Live Rock 'n' Roll
with
Dr. Zeus
$1.50 Wells

702 N. 11th Aggieville, USA 776-0077

THE Palace
Cards & Gifts

ALL 1991
CALENDARS
ARE NOW
50% OFF

704 N. MANHATTAN-IN AGGIEVILLE-539-7654
MON.-THURS. 8:30-8:30-FRI.-SAT. 8:30-5:30-SUN. 12:00-5:00

GLASS
NEW!
Kaleidoscope Necklaces
$12.50

Glass Impressions 1128 Laramie - Aggieville
Mon. - Fri. 11-6 Sat. 10-4 539-4010

BUSHWACKERS
THE FUNDRINKERY

THURSDAY

$1²⁵ Pitchers
$1²⁵ Wells
50¢ Kamis

Martin Luther King Remembrance
KSU GOSPEL SERVICE
"Non-Violence...A Way to Live."
Speaker: Dr. James Boyer,
College of Education

All Faiths Chapel
Kansas State University
Manhattan, Ks.

This Sunday, Jan. 27-3:30 p.m.

CPI photo finish
one hour photo

Save 50%
on color processing & 4x6 prints
Each picture is the best it can be
or we reprint it free... now!

Film Developing
50% off
regular one-hour price

Color Enlargements
in One Hour
Buy 2 Get 1
FREE!

No limit on number of rolls discounted. Offer applies to first set of color prints only. Print length varies with film size. 4x6 in lab prices, not combinable with other processing and print offers.
Coupon good through April 6, 1991
CPI photo finish

one hour services: photo finishing • enlargements • reprints • double prints
also available: wallet photos • instant color passport photos • video transfer • copies from prints • cameras and accessories • film

Manhattan Town Center
main entrance by food court

25% OFF
WEDDING GOWNS
Special orders only
Expires February 28, 1991

WAN'S FORMAL WEAR INC.
1025 SOUTH KANSAS
TOPEKA, KS
(913) 232-7243
1-800-255-3563

STUDENT LOANS

Yes!

24 HR. PROCESSING MAKES IT SIMPLE!
Let the professional in-house staff at Kansas State Bank assist you with your student loan and all your banking needs.

Student Loans • Checking Accounts • 24 Hr. ATM Banking
Lender code #821176

KANSAS STATE BANK
Westloop • Downtown • Aggieville • K-State Union, 537-4400

I B M®

- The business world computer
- In living color
- The ease of Windows
- The best student/faculty value

Save
up to 50%

Connecting Point
COMPUTER CENTER
1115 Westloop Shopping Center
Manhattan
539-0801

IBM and PS/2 are registered trademarks of International Business Machines Corporation.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN
SPORTSLady Cats take homecourt winERIC BROWN
Sports Reporter

Oklahoma's Lady Sooners found out what experience can do to an inexperienced squad Wednesday night.

The experienced play of seniors Diana Miller, Nadira Hazim and Kristie Bahner and junior Mary Jo

Lady Cats 86, OU 75

Miller gave the Lady Cats all the punch they needed in an 86-75 win.

The win put the Lady Cats at 3-2 in conference play and 10-6 overall.

The multi-faceted offense provided 75 of the team's 86 points, along with rave reviews from OU coach Gary Hudson.

"This is one of the best teams we've seen all year. They're going to give Oklahoma State all they can handle," he said.

Oklahoma State and the Lady Cats face off in Bramlage Coliseum Saturday evening at 7.

The Lady Cats broke open a 4-4 tie with an impressive 17-point run, fueled by tight defense and an effective transition game that sent OU reeling early, 21-4.

However, deja vu was just ahead as, just when it seemed safe to go grab a hot dog and Coke, the Sooners went on that all too familiar rally.

K-State blew similar leads in their 75-66 loss to Iowa State last Saturday.

"We quit switching our defenses," Lady Cat coach Susan Yow said. "We were going from man to match-up zone. Then we stopped switching and (OU) got very comfortable."

That comfort came in the form of a 22-10 spurt that closed the margin to five at 31-26.

History was not to repeat itself on this night, as K-State's defense proved to be too much for the visiting Sooners, now 1-4 in league action and 7-11 overall.

Yow said she felt after last week's performance, a win was inevitable.

"I felt like we were destined to win tonight," Yow said. "I think the team had it under control, and it was just a matter of us picking it back up again."

"Our zone was working well in the first half and it matched up well with their offense," she said.

A big key in the Lady Cat lead was the success of the defense in shutting down the Sooners' leading scorer, Carin Stites, who went scoreless on 0-for-6 shooting in the first half.

The flustered Stites, who averages 20 points an outing, was frustrated by the defense. The Lady Sooners were deep in a hole, and she was able to get near her average with 19 in the second half.

While the defense was holding Stites and the rest of the Sooner offense at bay, it was Mary Jo Miller leading the attack at the other end.

"MJ always had her head in the game," Yow said. "She played a great floor game."

Lady Cat forward Diana Miller fights for a loose ball with Oklahoma guard Angie Alexander during K-State's 86-75 win over the Sooners Wednesday night in Bramlage Coliseum. Miller was called for a foul on the play. Miller was the Lady Cats' leading scorer with 28 points.

Buffalo offense puzzles
Giants

By the Associated Press

TAMPA, Fla. — Dave Duerson says the only way to stop the Buffalo Bills' no-huddle offense is to intercept the snap from center.

That's impossible, so Duerson and the New York Giants will have to figure out another way to stop an offense that has scored nearly 100 points in two playoff games.

The Buffalo offense has been so formidable that when Giants coach Bill Parcells, whose team has allowed more than 20 points in only four of its 18 games this season and allowed the fewest points in the NFL, was asked Wednesday if he was "conceding" Buffalo 21 points in Sunday's Super Bowl, he replied:

"Concede them 21? Isn't it 0-0 when they start the game? If it isn't, I'm not going."

The Giants already have seen the Bills' no-huddle, in a regular-season game at Giants Stadium Dec. 15.

After New York scored on its opening drive, Jim Kelly drove Buffalo to two quick touchdowns against a defense that appeared to be a half-step behind every play.

Then the Giants stopped the Bills twice, Kelly injured his knee, Giants quarterback Phil Simms bruised his foot and the shootout became a battle of backups. Buffalo won 17-13.

Kelly is back now and running the no-huddle better than ever, rolling up 44 points against Miami and 51 against the Los Angeles Raiders in the playoffs.

This season they've used it regularly, particularly in the second half of the season. It's one of the main reasons they led the league with 428 points, an average of 29 points per game counting the playoffs.

Buffalo's no-huddle is unique in that Kelly calls the plays — the only NFL quarterback who does. He almost always lines up in the shotgun, from which he can either pass or hand off, primarily to Thurman Thomas.

"Even if we're in the shotgun, the defense doesn't know if we're going to run or pass," center Kent Hull said.

Mike Vanzo/Staff

Despite pressure defense from Oklahoma guard Lori Johnson, Lady Cat Mary Jo Miller managed to get off six assists and 12 points, helping K-State defeat the Sooners 86-72 Wednesday in Bramlage Coliseum.

Guard's play leads team

BILL LANG
Sports Reporter

It's been said that a good wind that fans a fire will make it burn bright.

For the K-State Lady Cats, it was the play of Mary Jo Miller that helped them shine brightly in victory Wednesday night.

"I'll tell you what," said Lady Cat coach Susan Yow. "Everytime that Mary Jo has a good floor game, we're going to be in the game all the time."

Yow said when Miller has a good night, it usually affects the rest of the team.

For the game, Miller tossed in 12 points and had six assists in the Lady Cats 86-75 win. It marks the eighth time this season she has scored in double figures.

But in watching the game, one might have been lulled to sleep by her performance.

Miller continuously was able to take control of the offense and constantly found the open person. And when the offense called for ball control, guess who got the call. That's right, M.J.

You say you still don't believe it? Diana Miller, who was the game high scorer with 28 points, sure did.

"With all due respect to the rest of the team," she said, "the offense starts with (Mary Jo)."

As for Oklahoma's coach, Gary Hudson, he found Mary Jo to be a headache.

"Our defense in the first half just opened up and let her through," he said. "(Miller) played a great floor game. It was one of the better games I've seen a guard have without scoring a lot of points. She was able to penetrate the middle and then dish off."

As for the little court general, she found it as part of the team's success. "I found the court pretty open most of the time," Miller said.

However, it hasn't always been like this. Yow explained the quality of play she received from Miller Saturday against Iowa State — after a strong period over Christmas Break — wasn't up to par.

"Of course you're going to have some slumps," Yow said. "But it's better to get them worked out before the bulk of your season comes around."

Miller added that the early scoring by Diana Miller and Nadira Hazim helped to open the court for her.

"When those two started scoring, I knew that it would open up in the middle," she said.

And what about the flame in the form of conference-leader Oklahoma State which the Lady Cats face this weekend at Bramlage?

"I hope we can run just as well against them as we did tonight," she said. "They're the best team in the (Big Eight) right now, and I think we can do it."

Statistics

Lady Cat basketball

OU (75)

Bassett 5-8 1-4 11, Stites 6-16 2-2 12, Walker 7-9 0-0 14, Posey 5-8 0-1 11, Alexander 7-15 0-0 16, Johnson 0-2 0-0 0, Webster 0-2 0-0 0, Smith 0-2 0-0 0, Matzke 0-2 4-4 4, Totals 30-84 7-11 75.

LADY CATS (86)

D. Miller 9-16 7-7 28, Bahner 5-5 2-2 12, Grebing 1-5 2-2 4, Hazim 9-19 3-5 23, M.J. Miller 4-13 4-7 12, Honeycutt 2-2 0-0 4, Holzman 0-0 1-2 1, Moylan 0-1 0-0 0, Cherry 0-0 0-0 0, Bertrand 0-0 0-0 0, Totals 30-61 21-27 86.

Halftime score — Lady Cats 42, OU 26. Three-point goals — Lady Cats 5-8 (D. Miller 3-5, Hazim 2-2, M.J. Miller 0-1), OU 8-20 (Stites 5-11, Posey 1-1, Alexander 2-7, Johnson 0-1). Rebounds — Lady Cats 44 (Bahner 10), OU 27 (Bassett 8). Assists — Lady Cats 18 (M.J. Miller 8), OU 16 (Posey 5). Total fouls — Lady Cats 14, OU 22. Fouled out — Lady Cats, Bahner, OU Bassett. Technicals — none. Attendance — 860. Officials: Rick Snow, Steve Steljes.

Managers enjoy duties

Responsibilities many, varied for those behind scenes

JENIFER SCHEIBLER
Sports Reporter

Who are these people at the basketball games? The ones with the water, the towels and the clipboards in their laps?

They are the team managers, the people that every basketball team can't do without.

They have many responsibilities — more than most people realize.

"It's hard to tell everyone what we do," said Joeleen Bieber, senior in recreation and park management and head women's basketball manager.

People automatically think of the obvious responsibilities like taking statistics, filming the games and doing laundry.

But there is so much more. "We can be asked to do anything from making a phone call to just about anything that needs to be done," said Terry Ladner, senior in social science and head men's basketball manager.

Erik Crane, junior in pre-physical therapy and head men's basketball manager, said, "Basically, what our job is, is to make sure the players have whatever they need so they can concentrate on basketball."

Ladner added the managers are also there to aid the coaches.

"We try to make the coaches' jobs a little easier," he said.

One aspect of the managers' job that may not be in the front of people's minds is that of playing host to the visiting team.

Both Ladner and Crane said they think K-State does a good job hosting teams.

"From the minute they're off the bus to the minute they leave, we have one manager with them to make sure they have everything they need," Ladner said. "We treat visiting teams like we want to be treated on the road."

Going on the road is one aspect of their jobs the managers said they really enjoy.

"The best thing is traveling and getting to meet a lot of new people," Bieber said.

Ladner said it was fun to travel, but even better when the team returns from the trip with a win.

"That's the most fun part — knocking somebody off on their home court," he said.

He cites K-State's win in Lawrence in 1988 to break KU's 55-game winning streak in Allen Field House as one he remembers as being special.

Spending so much time with the team is bound to have an effect on the managers.

They said they often feel as though they are part of the team. "I hate losing just as much as the players," Ladner said. "And there is nothing I can do about it."

Although they all said they love what they do, time, or the lack of it, is something they constantly have to deal with.

"It's the equivalent of a full-time job," Crane said.

Bieber agreed. "People probably don't know how much time we really do put in," she said. "They say 'Oh great, you're a manager. That's neat,' but sometimes the amount of time gets hectic."

The managers all said an appreciation for the game of basketball drew them to their current jobs.

"I enjoy it because I can stay associated with the game of basketball," Ladner said.

Bieber said she has gained a different perspective of the game since the days when she played.

Crane emphasized the educational aspect of being a manager.

"There is so much to learn if you're interested in the game," he said.

Oliver Kaubisch/Staff

Matt McCabe, men's basketball manager, is on a team of four helping ensure that the 'Cats can concentrate on winning.

3 students get ready for final scholarship interview competition

BETH PALMER
Collegian Reporter

Three K-State students are preparing for the final Truman Scholarship interview Feb. 13 in Kansas City, Mo.

The $30,000 scholarship is awarded to at least one student from each state. A University of Kansas student is the only other candidate from the state. The award allows up to four years of graduate study which will lead to a career in public service.

Raymond Kowalczewski, Alicia Poteat and Jonathan Morris were notified recently they were finalists in the competition. They first applied in October to the K-State Truman selection committee.

After an interview in November, they were nominated to send their applications in for the national competition. The next step is the final interview in February, when the four surrounding states will compete.

"I've been reading as much as I can on every subject that has to do with politics," said Kowalczewski, junior in economics, political science and pre-law.

The final interview will consist of questions about current political issues and questions about the candidate's essay topic. The candidates' essays included abortion, environment and solid waste management, the land-fill issue and recycling. The committee can also ask any random question to test the candidate's general knowledge, Kowalczewski said.

Mock interviews with instructors are being provided for the candidates every Friday. These practice sessions are designed to help the candidates prepare for the real interview.

Some requirements for the Truman Scholarship are involvement in campus organizations, public and community service, and in government.

"Grades aren't the primary emphasis, but you can't have a bad GPA and get accepted," said Morris, junior in mathematics and physical education.

Candidates must be in the top 25 percent of their class and maintain leadership positions, said Poteat, junior in political science, women's studies and pre-law.

Being heavily involved with organizations and still maintaining good grades is a difficult task for any student. The candidates' said their biggest concern was finding the time for studying in the midst of all the activities they are involved in.

"I guess I'm an effective crammer," Morris said.

The Truman Scholarship will provide funds for study at a graduate school of the winner's choice. The University of Michigan, Northwestern and Duke are some of the universities that are high on the list of choices.

The winners will be announced in March or April.

Center conducts living will seminar

Speaker focuses on legal rights, Kansans' health care decisions

ULRIKE DAUER
Collegian Reporter

The Riley County Seniors' Service Center conducted a seminar on living wills for about 60 senior citizens Tuesday.

The seminar on living wills was the second program of this type conducted in the Seniors' Service Center, Donna McCallum, program coordinator, said.

Brenda Purser, assistant director of Community Services for Aging from the North Central-Flint Hills Area Agency on Aging, explained the Living Will Declaration, Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care Decisions and what decisions are involved in declaring a living will in Kansas.

The Living Will Declaration is the final expression of an individual's legal right to refuse medical or surgical treatment and accept the consequences. It makes known one's desire that death shall not be prolonged under specified circumstances.

According to an example of a Living Will Declaration provided at the seminar, these circumstances include incurable injury, disease or illness certified by two physicians to be terminal, regardless of the use of life-sustaining procedures, which would serve only to artificially prolong the dying process.

Today only 9 percent of U.S. citizens have an active living will due to a terminal-ill condition.

—Brenda Purser
assistant director of Community Services for Aging from the North Central-Flint Hills Area Agency on Aging

In case of an individual's inability to participate in decisions regarding medical treatment, such procedures should be withheld or withdrawn, permitting death naturally with only the administration of medication or the performance of any medical procedure deemed necessary to provide for comfort, the sample stated.

Purser said Kansas is one of 44 states that legalized some form of a living will, guaranteeing the same legal power as a state will. It is legally based on the National Death Act, which Kansas passed in 1979. Only three years earlier, the first living will had been legalized in California.

"It'll be another year, until the remaining nine states also have to have this legislation," Purser said. The U.S. Congress passed a bill saying any person screening or going to a nursery home has to present a Living Will Declaration, Purser said.

This point took almost 30 years to reach. Since the mid-60s, more and more people have looked for ways to avoid the indignity of deterioration, she said.

Extraordinary advances in medical technology in the past 50 years have led to procedures that now can sustain bodily functions over years, even in a condition of extreme mental deterioration, terminal illness or no hope of significant recovery.

"Today only 9 percent of U.S. citizens have an active living will due to a terminal-ill condition," Purser said.

Purser said more people have become curious through media attention, and the office has received a number of calls.

In Kansas and in 25 other states, the Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care Decisions completes the living will. Also known as medical power of the attorney or health care proxy, this document provides an agent to carry out one's own wishes expressed in the living will.

In this power of attorney, a person appoints another to make health care decisions in case of inability to make decisions on his own.

A power of attorney gives the right to authorize or withdraw treatment when appropriate. The agent is usually a family member, but any adult person can be nominated. Two persons must witness this statement, but a notary is not needed in Kansas.

Since it is important to make this statement easily accessible, it should not be kept in a bank safe, Purser said.

Florine and Don Dubois are two of the 60 senior citizens who attended the seminar. They said they are glad to get information from different sources before they declare their living will.

"The birth process is as difficult as the dying process," Dubois said.

THE SAINT MARY HOSPITAL INVITES YOU AND YOUR FAMILY TO AN ALL HOSPITAL

OPEN HOUSE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26 • 1 PM to 4 PM

Help Us Save The Planet and Save Money Too!

Bring in your empty haircare containers purchased at one of the listed locations, and Save Money on refills.

For Example:

- KMS Moisturizing Shampoo, 12oz.
~~$6.95~~ retail...REFILL $5.00
(Savings of $1.95)
- C'est La Force, 8 oz.
~~$6.75~~ retail...REFILL $4.75
(Savings of $2.00)

Participating Salons:

Crimpers Hair Design Studio Aggieville
Lords'n Ladies 4th & Pierre
Crum's Beauty College Downtown Poyntz

Manhattan's First FM DB92 features comprehensive coverage of the Gulf War with CNN Radio News. Listen at the top of every hour, and at the half hour for updates. DB92 will also pre-empt programming for the latest breaking news.

Now you can afford to dream in color.

If you thought that finding a color Macintosh* system you could afford was just a dream, then the new, affordable Macintosh LC is a dream come true.

The Macintosh LC is rich in color. Unlike many computers that can display only 16 colors at once, the Macintosh LC expands your palette to 256 colors. It also comes with a microphone and new sound-input technology that lets you personalize your work by adding voice or other sounds.

Like every Macintosh computer, the LC is easy to set up and easy to master. And it runs thousands of available applications that all work in the same, consistent way—so once you've learned one program, you're well on your way to learning them all. The Macintosh LC even lets you share information with someone who uses a different type of computer—thanks to the versatile Apple® SuperDrive™, which can read from and write to Macintosh, MS-DOS, OS/2, and Apple II floppy disks.

Take a look at the Macintosh LC and see what it gives you. Then pinch yourself.

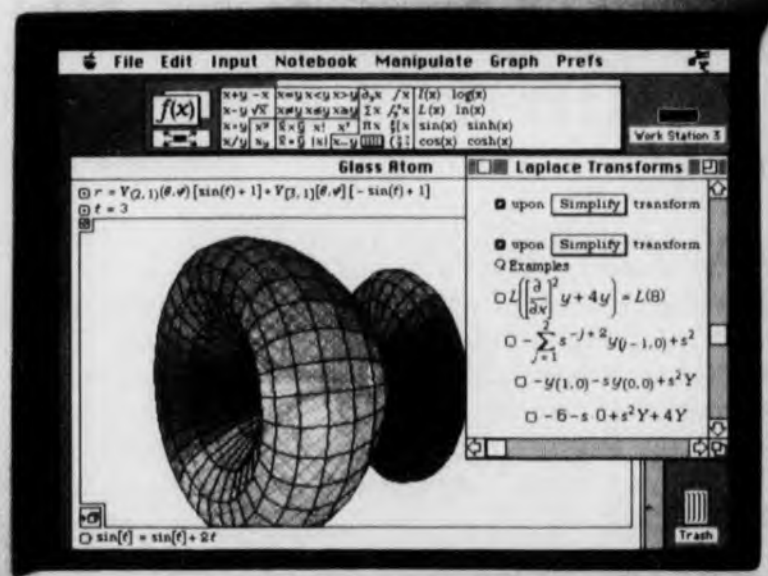

It's better than a dream—it's a Macintosh.

Apple introduces the Macintosh LC.

K-State Union
Bookstore

Support the K-State Union. Dollars spent in the Union help the Union sponsor student programs, activities and services.

MACSOURCE
The Best Support for the Apple Macintosh. Anywhere.
1110 Lawrence Manhattan 837-0188

Special Price!
only

$2,149

includes 12" color monitor and MacWrite II
Only $75/mo.* on your Apple Credit Card
*Payment may vary based on current account balance.

Sale ends Feb. 28, 1991.

Prices quoted are available to faculty, staff and students of Kansas State University.
Proof of eligibility is required.

The power to be your best.™

Clovvia women share duties

SHANNAN SEELY
Agriculture Reporter

In a cooperative living arrangement, members learn being responsible does not necessarily mean being independent.

About 50 K-State women live in Alpha of Clovia 4-H Scholarship House on Pioneer Lanes.

"It's cooperative living," said Renee Rodgers, senior in family life and human development. "It means all the duties — cooking, cleaning, yardwork and maintenance — are performed by us."

Rodgers said the only outside help is a K-State dietician who orders food and plans the meals. The Kansas 4-H Foundation serves as landlord.

"Clovia is halfway between a sorority and a residence hall," said Sharra Norris, freshman in animal sciences and industry. "We have fewer girls than a residence hall, so you can get to know everyone better, and it's easier to meet people."

Members consider duties necessary in exchange for a lower cost of living.

"Cost averages to about $220 per month," Rodgers said. "That's not bad for about four to five hours of weekly duties that can be worked around your schedule."

The first Clovia house was founded in 1933 by former 4-H members who wanted to live and work together.

Two other college campuses have followed K-State's example. University of Minnesota-Minneapolis-St. Paul and Fort Hays State University have Clovia Houses, Rodgers said.

Prospective members go through a selection process in the spring and summer. They tour the house, fill out an application and interview with a few officers and alumni.

Like sororities, new members have a pledge program in the fall semester. New members are tested about Clovia history, traditions and symbols. They also raise money for a house gift and a house improvement project, she said.

Since 1986, several rooms have been remodeled including the living room, phone area, guest room and lounge.

Through the efforts of money raised from chapter fund-raising and alumni donations, the recreational room was remodeled last summer. Cindy Dahnke, May graduate of interior architecture, designed and coordinated the new carpet, wallcovering, furnishings and entertainment center.

Because it is a scholarship house, members have study hours twice a week and must attain a 2.3 grade point average to become an active.

"I emphasized doing things as a group," Rodgers said, who serves as the new member trainer.

Sonja Dahnke, senior in art and ■ See CLOVIA, Page 10

Shortages, inflation make rubles worthless in Soviet economy

By the Associated Press

MOSCOW — Soviets have grumbled for years that shortages and inflation have made their rubles nearly worthless.

Their complaints became reality late Tuesday when President Mikhail Gorbachev announced he was pulling the green 50-ruble and tan 100-ruble notes out of circulation.

By dawn Wednesday, long lines had formed at banks in Moscow, Leningrad and other cities with Soviets anxious to cash in their high-denomination ruble notes so that they are not left with worthless pieces of paper.

"My friend called last night, and her 90-year-old mother was in tears," said a woman who stopped by a bank near the Kiev railroad station.

"She saved 2,000 rubles ($3,224) in an envelope for her own funeral," said the woman.

Under government decree, any large-denomination bills not turned in by Saturday are worthless. Anybody who tries to turn in more than his monthly salary is to be questioned about where the money came from.

For millions of Soviets, it will be impossible to produce written records of legal transactions in new small businesses, or the source of a lifetime's savings.

Prime Minister Valentin Pavlov has said as much as one-third of the cash is in the form of big bills. The government's move apparently was intended slash inflation by cutting the excess supply of rubles.

Professional black marketeers long ago switched from dealing in rubles to convertible currencies and are unlikely to be affected by the change.

But people temporarily holding large amounts of cash earned from selling or buying cars, video recorders and other such consumer items faced financial disaster.

SPRING CLOSED CLASSES

00340	01320	02300	03280	04260	05240	06220	07200	08180	09160	10140	11120	12100	13080	14060	15040	16020	17000	18980	19960	20940	21920	22900	23880	24860	25840	26820	27800	28780	29760	30740	31720	32700	33680	34660	35640	36620	37600	38580	39560	40540	41520	42500	43480	44460	45440	46420	47400	48380	49360	50340	51320	52300	53280	54260	55240	56220	57200	58180	59160	60140	61120	62100	63080	64060	65040	66020	67000	67980	68960	69940	70920	71900	72880	73860	74840	75820	76800	77780	78760	79740	80720	81700	82680	83660	84640	85620	86600	87580	88560	89540	90520	91500	92480	93460	94440	95420	96400	97380	98360	99340	100320	101300	102280	103260	104240	105220	106200	107180	108160	109140	110120	111100	112080	113060	114040	115020	116000	116980	117960	118940	119920	120900	121880	122860	123840	124820	125800	126780	127760	128740	129720	130700	131680	132660	133640	134620	135600	136580	137560	138540	139520	140500	141480	142460	143440	144420	145400	146380	147360	148340	149320	150300	151280	152260	153240	154220	155200	156180	157160	158140	159120	160100	161080	162060	163040	164020	165000	165980	166960	167940	168920	169900	170880	171860	172840	173820	174800	175780	176760	177740	178720	179700	180680	181660	182640	183620	184600	185580	186560	187540	188520	189500	190480	191460	192440	193420	194400	195380	196360	197340	198320	199300	200280	201260	202240	203220	204200	205180	206160	207140	208120	209100	210080	211060	212040	213020	214000	214980	215960	216940	217920	218900	219880	220860	221840	222820	223800	224780	225760	226740	227720	228700	229680	230660	231640	232620	233600	234580	235560	236540	237520	238500	239480	240460	241440	242420	243400	244380	245360	246340	247320	248300	249280	250260	251240	252220	253200	254180	255160	256140	257120	258100	259080	260060	261040	262020	263000	263980	264960	265940	266920	267900	268880	269860	270840	271820	272800	273780	274760	275740	276720	277700	278680	279660	280640	281620	282600	283580	284560	285540	286520	287500	288480	289460	290440	291420	292400	293380	294360	295340	296320	297300	298280	299260	300240	301220	302200	303180	304160	305140	306120	307100	308080	309060	310040	311020	312000	312980	313960	314940	315920	316900	317880	318860	319840	320820	321800	322780	323760	324740	325720	326700	327680	328660	329640	330620	331600	332580	333560	334540	335520	336500	337480	338460	339440	340420	341400	342380	343360	344340	345320	346300	347280	348260	349240	350220	351200	352180	353160	354140	355120	356100	357080	358060	359040	360020	361000	361980	362960	363940	364920	365900	366880	367860	368840	369820	370800	371780	372760	373740	374720	375700	376680	377660	378640	379620	380600	381580	382560	383540	384520	385500	386480	387460	388440	389420	390400	391380	392360	393340	394320	395300	396280	397260	398240	399220	400200	401180	402160	403140	404120	405100	406080	407060	408040	409020	410000	410980	411960	412940	413920	414900	415880	416860	417840	418820	419800	420780	421760	422740	423720	424700	425680	426660	427640	428620	429600	430580	431560	432540	433520	434500	435480	436460	437440	438420	439400	440380	441360	442340	443320	444300	445280	446260	447240	448220	449200	450180	451160	452140	453120	454100	455080	456060	457040	458020	459000	460980	461960	462940	463920	464900	465880	466860	467840	468820	469800	470780	471760	472740	473720	474700	475680	476660	477640	478620	479600	480580	481560	482540	483520	484500	485480	486460	487440	488420	489400	490380	491360	492340	493320	494300	495280	496260	497240	498220	499200	500180	501160	502140	503120	504100	505080	506060	507040	508020	509000	510980	511960	512940	513920	514900	515880	516860	517840	518820	519800	520780	521760	522740	523720	524700	525680	526660	527640	528620	529600	530580	531560	532540	533520	534500	535480	536460	537440	538420	539400	540380	541360	542340	543320	544300	545280	546260	547240	548220	549200	550180	551160	552140	553120	554100	555080	556060	557040	558020	559000	560980	561960	562940	563920	564900	565880	566860	567840	568820	569800	570780	571760	572740	573720	574700	575680	576660	577640	578620	579600	580580	581560	582540	583520	584500	585480	586460	587440	588420	589400	590380	591360	592340	593320	594300	595280	596260	597240	598220	599200	600180	601160	602140	603120	604100	605080	606060	607040	608020	609000	610980	611960	612940	613920	614900	615880	616860	617840	618820	619800	620780	621760	622740	623720	624700	625680	626660	627640	628620	629600	630580	631560	632540	633520	634500	635480	636460	637440	638420	639400	640380	641360	642340	643320	644300	645280	646260	647240	648220	649200	650180	651160	652140	653120	654100	655080	656060	657040	658020	659000	660980	661960	662940	663920	664900	665880	666860	667840	668820	669800	670780	671760	672740	673720	674700	675680	676660	677640	678620	679600	680580	681560	682540	683520	684500	685480	686460	687440	688420	689400	690380	691360	692340	693320	694300	695280	696260	697240	698220	699200	700180	701160	702140	703120	704100	705080	706060	707040	708020	709000	710980	711960	712940	713920	714900	715880	716860	717840	718820	719800	720780	721760	722740	723720	724700	725680	726660	727640	728620	729600	730580	731560	732540	733520	734500	735480	736460	737440	738420	739400	740380	741360	742340	743320	744300	745280	746260	747240	748220	749200	750180	751160	752140	753120	754100	755080	756060	757040	758020	759000	760980	761960	762940	763920	764900	765880	766860	767840	768820	769800	770780	771760	772740	773720	774700	775680	776660	777640	778620	779600	780580	781560	782540	783520	784500	785480	786460	787440	788420	789400	790380	791360	792340	793320	794300	795280	796260	797240	798220	799200	800180	801160	802140	803120	804100	805080	806060	807040	808020	809000	810980	811960	812940	813920	814900	815880	816860	817840	818820	819800	820780	821760	822740	823720	824700	825680	826660	827640	828620	829600	830580	831560	832540	833520	834500	835480	836460	837440	838420	839400	840380	841360	842340	843320	844300	845280	846260	847240	848220	849200	850180	851160	852140	853120	854100	855080	856060	857040	858020	859000	860980	861960	862940	863920	864900	865880	866860	867840	868820	869800	870780	871760	872740	873720	874700	875680	876660	877640	878620	879600	880580	881560	882540	883520	884500	885480	886460	887440	888420	889400	890380	891360	892340	893320	894300	895280	896260	897240	898220	899200	900180	901160	902140	903120	904100	905080	906060	907040	908020	909000	910980	911960	912940	913920	914900	915880	916860	917840	918820	919800	920780	921760	922740	923720	924700	925680	926660	927640	928620	929600	930580	931560	932540	933520	934500	935480	936460	937440	938420	939400	940380	941360	942340	943320	944300	945280	946260	947240	948220	949200	950180	951160	952140	953120	954100	955080	956060	957040	958020	959000	960980	961960	962940	963920	964900	965880	966860	967840	968820	969800	970780	971760	972740	973720	974700	975680	976660	977640	978620	979600	980580	981560	982540	983520	984500	985480	986460	987440	988420	989400	990380	991360	992340	993320	994300	995280	996260	997240	998220	999200	1000180	1001160	1002140	1003120	1004100	1005080	1006060	1007040	1008020	1009000	1010980	1011960	1012940	1013920	1014900	1015880	1016860	1017840	1018820	1019800	1020780	1021760	1022740	1023720	1024700	1025680	1026660	1027640	1028620	1029600	1030580	1031560	1032540	1033520	1034500	1035480	1036460	1037440	1038420	1039400	1040380	1041360	1042340	1043320	1044300	1045280	1046260	1047240	1048220	1049200	1050180	1051160	1052140	1053120	1054100	1055080	1056060	1057040	1058020	1059000	1060980	1061960	1062940	1063920	1064900	1065880	1066860	1067840	1068820	1069800	1070780	1071760	1072740	1073720	1074700	1075680	1076660	1077640	1078620	1079600	1080580	1081560	1082540	1083520	1084500	1085480	1086460	1087440	1088420	1089400	1090380	1091360	1092340	1093320	1094300	1095280	1096260	1097240	1098220	1099200	1100180	1101160	1102140	1103120	1104100	1105080	1106060	1107040	1108020	1109000	1110980	1111960	1112940	1113920	1114900	1115880
-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	-------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	--------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------	---------

Faculty team visits Europe

Architecture professors establish international contacts

KIMIS HATJITIMOTHEADIS
Contributing Writer

A team of faculty members of the College of Architecture and Design had the opportunity to see close-up changes made in what used to be Eastern Europe.

Bernd Foerster, architecture professor, John Keller, regional and community planning professor, Dennis Law, head of landscape architecture department and Carolyn Thompson, interior architecture assistant professor, visited universities in central European countries last November.

"The objective was for each of our departments to be represented," Thompson said. "We wanted to establish more international contacts, which is one of the goals of the University."

Law said this was the first time the College of Architecture and Design sponsored such a trip.

"We had the opportunity to meet with professionals and city officials and exchange valuable information," Law said.

The group also had an opportunity to work on an individual basis.

Keller said he had three objectives

during his visit in central Europe.

"First of all, I went to a number of universities, which offer some type of curriculum in city planning, to see if it would be possible to arrange exchange of students and faculty," Keller said.

"Second, I met with a number of people at local, regional and national levels, who are involved in city planning, and did a lot of information exchange."

"Third, I went to a number of research institutions to see what type of research they do and what type of things they are involved with in the industrial development," he said.

Law said one of the most important things they did was to identify individuals the team thought were key to the various professions in central Europe.

"Our objective is to try to bring them here and put them with similar key professions in our own region," Law said.

But exchange of students and faculty seems to be a problem.

"They are broke," Keller said.

"The average professor works three jobs, and students are supported by the community and the state," he said.

Most American universities, Keller said, offer large scholarships, but no one covers the total cost.

Salary differentiation is the factor that makes faculty exchange difficult for the time being.

"Faculty members there make $300 a month," Law said.

It would be difficult, he said, to adjust the difference in salaries.

Keller said he wishes he could go there to teach now, but they first have to find necessary funds.

"If I go there, I can stay for free and eat in the cafeteria for free. I can probably live with only $4-5 a day," he said.

It would be difficult, however to find someone to replace him here, he said.

The team said it saw many differences in policies and structure.

The basic difference, Keller said, was that the universities there are closed, in contrast to many U.S. universities with have an open-admissions policy.

Thompson also said the structure of the universities is very specialized.

"They have hospital-design studios or farm-building design studios. We tend to have more general studies, but their division breakdown is according to building type," she said.

Students, however, are the same everywhere, Keller said. They were friendly and very enthusiastic, he said.

But, Keller said he thinks students there were more interactive.

Students themselves, he said, kicked professors who were members of the regime out of the universities.

"Students here are interactive too, but there they are all over you," he said.

Another difference the team noticed, was that people in central Europe are very traditional.

"This made me appreciate traditional skills, which perhaps we in the United States have lost," Keller said.

Law said this was his first time in Europe, and his knowledge base has been expanded.

"I had the opportunity to see what architecture, planning, etc., are about in central Europe," Thompson said.

They said they will share with their spring classes what they learned there.

The team's experience from the trip will form the basis for a future conference and publication.

University scientists study race horses

SHANNAN SEELY
Agriculture Reporter

A group of K-State scientists are studying race horses which suffer from "bleeding" in the lungs. This condition is known as exercise-induced pulmonary hemorrhage.

EIPH is common among race horses and polo ponies who are "working on an all-out effort," said Steve Olsen, graduate student in exercise physiology.

Although the problem was detected over 300 years ago, no one knows for sure today where the blood originates in the lung and how to prevent EIPH.

Because severe cases of EIPH can greatly deter a horse's performance, horse jockeys and owners try several ways to prevent it.

Some have used a drug called Furosemide and felt the drug was effective by decreasing the severity of the hemorrhaging, Olsen said.

However, this has been inconclusive. Furosemide, or trade name Lasix, is a diuretic also given to people with congestive heart failure. A diuretic is a drug increases the amount of urine discharged from the body.

K-State scientists are trying to find out what effect Furosemide has on the running horse. In the process, Olsen said, they are learning about the interrelationship between Furosemide and EIPH.

Olsen said one of the causes of EIPH may be a lack of capacity in the lungs to exchange gases in today's horses which are stronger and larger than their ancestors.

However, no research has proven that theory. According to Howard Erickson, professor in anatomy and physiology, the scientists are using different dosages on a team of six horses to find the benefits of Furosemide treatment.

The drug is administered intravenously about four hours before the horses "race," or run on the treadmill at K-State's College of Veterinary Medicine.

Some discoveries have shown as Furosemide dosages increase, pressure decreases in the pulmonary artery, the main blood vessel that carries low-oxygen blood to the lung.

The research is sponsored by the American Quarter Horse Association and Solvay Pharmaceutical Company.

Erickson said they would like to continue the studies.

By the Collegian Staff

Company to perform dances at McCain

Susan Marshall and Co., a performing arts group, will perform at 8 p.m. Jan. 24 in McCain Auditorium.

The group of eight dancers will perform two works choreographed by Marshall. The first work, titled "Arms," was created in 1984 and concentrates on the relationship of a man and a woman.

"Contenders," the second number, focuses on each individual, although the entire group dances during it.

The dance company has performed since 1983 in theaters and dance festivals throughout the United States, Europe and Japan.

Kim Coday, McCain Box Office employee, said tickets have been selling well, but good seats are still available on all levels.

Coday said she encourages people to purchase tickets soon.

"It should be an interesting show," Coday said. "I'm very excited about it."

Tickets for the show cost $5 to $15 and are available at the McCain Box Office, Bramlage Coliseum, the K-State Union Bookstore and the customer service desk at Manhattan Town Center.

Tacos 3/$1.25

(reg. 55c each)

Chili Burrito $1.77

(reg. $2.35)

Good through 1-26-91

TACO HUT
Where Good Friends Get Together
2809 Claflin
On the hill overlooking Westloop. 539-2091

Open Sun. 11 am - 10 pm
Fri. & Sat. 11 am - 12 midnight

776-5577

1800 Claflin Rd.
First Bank Center

776-5577

PIZZA SHUTTLE

"NO COUPON SPECIALS"

Prime Time Special

3-10 in. Pizzas
1-Topping
4-Cokes

$10.50

Everyday Two-Fers

2-10 in. Pizzas
2-Toppings
2-Cokes

$8.50

Fast Delivery...Anywhere in Manhattan

HAIR CUTS FOR $5

HAIR AFFAIR

465 E. Poyntz
Town East Center
776-5488
exp. March 1, 1991

10% off NAIL CARE

•Glass Glazing
•Sculpting•Manicures
•Pedicures•Nail Art
•Therapeutic Manicures
•Therapeutic Pedicures

Marilyn Randa

Nail Specialist

HAIR AFFAIR

465 E. Poyntz
Town East Center
776-5488
exp. March 1, 1991

Sign Language Courses

Learn the basic skills of sign language. Students are instructed in the Manual Alphabet, and a vocabulary for about 200 functional signs.

Beginning Sign Language
Wednesdays, January 30-March 6

Advanced Sign Language
Wednesdays, January 20-April 24

To Register call: 913/532-5566

Division of Continuing Education

12 Sessions for $25

Don't you Dare Let your Tan Fade!

1107 N. 3rd, 537-1003

With Coupon — Expires 2/16/91

BLUE RIVER PUB

Friday, Jan. 25

Strippers

5-7 p.m.

No Cover Charge

Friday, Jan. 25

Submytion

10 p.m.-1:30 a.m.

Tuesday, Jan. 29

Elite Ladies

$3 at the door

$3 pitchers

5281 Tuttle Creek Blvd.

537-9877

Be a super-hero.

Bring home a party sub.

It's perfect for your Superbowl party.

So big you won't believe them. And so fresh and delicious, they'll make any gathering a blast. Fly home with a Subway party sub.

The sub of legendary proportion.
(48 hour notice and deposit required.)

SUBWAY

620 N. Manhattan
537-8700

MCCAIN

Susan Marshall and Company

Thursday, January 24, 8 p.m.

The moves of this 8-member ensemble will take you to the cutting edge of dance. Witty, sexy, and certifiably cool. And to think you shelled out five bucks for Dirty Dancing. Fresh from a critically acclaimed run at the Brooklyn Academy of Music's Next Wave Festival, Susan Marshall and Company bring to K-State two outstanding works.

Arms (1984) focuses on an intense accelerating interplay of a man and a woman's dependence and independence.

"As crystals of language as you could find" (Village Voice)

Arms (1990) was inspired by the Summer Olympics and takes a look at the game of life as Americans play it: with a headlong drive for individual distinction and achievement.

"This judge would score Contenders 5.7 out of 6. Rah, and bravo!" (Newsday)

Students/Children: $7.50, 6.50, 5
General Public: $15, 13, 10
Senior Citizens: $13, 11, 8

A Mid-America Arts Alliance Program made possible by the Dance on Tour Program of the National Endowment for the Arts with the Kansas Arts Commission. Additional support from the Pius Arts Foundation.

McCain Auditorium, Kansas State University

Tickets now on sale at the McCain Box Office (noon to 5 p.m. weekdays.) Charge tickets to MasterCard or VISA at 532-6428. Tickets also on sale (with service charge) at Bramlage Coliseum, K-State Union Bookstore, Manhattan Town Center Customer Service Desk, and ITR (Fort Riley).

Support

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 3

The group also provides some transportation services, relays information about the war in the gulf and helps women find and use the specific resources they need.

"Manhattan is such a rich community with so much to offer," she said. "A lot of these women are new to the area. We just provide them with an often, much needed link to the community."

Fryer said she has close ties with Fort Riley, which also offers a variety of support and counseling services.

Fort Riley's Irwin Army Community Hospital provides free counseling services for active-duty military and their families. They are available, both at the hospital, and now on an outreach basis in Manhattan, Junction City and Ogden.

Appointments should be made at the hospital, a chart for each person is kept there, and confidentiality is strictly maintained, said Betsy Walker, employee of the hospital's social work services.

"Outreach is for families that have trouble with transportation or are not familiar with the area because they are new to it," Walker said. "It's more convenient for them."

As long as services are needed, the outreach program, which is a pilot project subject to re-evaluation, will continue. The services did not start in conjunction with Operation Desert Shield, but many of the people who seek help are having trouble handling the gulf conflict.

Manhattan Military Wives and the First Presbyterian Church in Manhattan, where the group meets, provide a place for outreach to Manhattan.

"Being in a church hall, for instance, lessens the stigma of a mental hospital," Walker said. "It's a neutral place with low visibility, close to home."

Walker also said people were coping as well as they could.

"Women have a lot of strength," she said. "There are really two heros. The men who go to Saudi, and the women and families they leave behind."

Clovvia

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 8

humanities and Clovia president, said there have been some changes in the new member program.

The week before the members become active is now called Initiation Week instead of Hell Week.

"The activities have always been fun," she said. "No one is or has been hurt or really degraded."

However, some of the traditional activities have been toned down.

For example, new members are matched up with an active, called a big sister. In the past, big sisters would wake new members up, blindfold them and take them to breakfast.

Now, no blindfolding takes place because some girls felt uncomfortable, Dahnke said.

Clovvia is not a member of the Panhellenic Council. And, unlike Smurthwaite House, Clovia is not under K-State Housing Department.

Clovvia has a housemother, three alumni advisers and an alumni board to help the members.

"They're (the alumni) are the ones responsible for our house," Dahnke said. "We make sure we show our appreciation."

CNN

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Chad Brown, junior in marketing, said he heard about CNN coming to Haymaker at a hall staff meeting and thought it was good they were showing college students' opinions.

"I think there is a lot more support for the gulf war in this part of the country," he said.

Jeff Flock, CNN Chicago bureau chief, said he was very pleased with the questions.

"We usually take questions over the phone," he said. "I think this was better. It went real well."

Flock said CNN picked K-State because they wanted a Midwest university with more people from the heartland. K-State contrasts with the West Coast and is also very accessible, he said.

Threats

■ CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1

Baldock, student in psychology, said the call was not the first he had heard of. In fact, he said he was aware of several other people receiving threatening phone calls and terroristic threats. One was received by John Exdell, associate professor of philosophy.

"On the night the shooting started in Iraq, someone called and said 'We just bombed Baghdad and you're next,'" Exdell said.

The caller hung up without identifying himself or allowing him to respond, Exdell said.

Exdell said he has also received a letter from a man who identified himself as a Vietnam veteran.

"He feels protestors of the Vietnam War were traitors as are war protestors today," Exdell said.

Exdell said he reported the threats to the Riley County Police Department and hopes the threats are only that, but he said he can't help but wonder if it might be more serious.

"They're full of bluster and hope to intimidate us, but we must stand together and make it clear that we are not going to back down," he said.

"It's an unfortunate element that these people have — and I use this word cautiously, but I think it fits — fascist inclinations. They are apparently prepared to use violence or at least threats to curtail speech of their opponents."

Baldock said the victims of the threats are being persecuted for their progressive political views.

"The person who called me and apparently a number of other people is just some nutcase," he said.

But nutcase or not, the threats are being taken seriously by the victims. Especially after an assault against a K-State woman on campus.

The victim, Wendy Herdman, senior in theater, said she was sitting on a bench near Cardwell Hall when four men approached her. Herdman said she got up to leave and one of the men pushed her. Not once, but four times, finally knocking her to the ground and causing her to hit her head on a bench.

"They said they recognized me from the protest and that people like me, war protesters, shouldn't be allowed to live in the country," Herdman said. "They said if they ever see me on campus again they will beat me up."

Herdman's reasons for protesting the war stem from her experiences as a volunteer at Veterans' Administration hospitals.

"I've seen what it does to the soldiers. I don't want to have to go back to work at V.A. hospitals — I don't want more soldiers there from this war."

Herdman said it is the trauma of war that put the patients there, and the best way to support U.S. troops is to make sure they get home alive.

All three incidents of terroristic threats have been reported to police. The phone calls were reported to the Riley County Police Department and the assault was reported to K-State Police. So far, there is no evidence to support a connection between the phone calls and the assault.

"We have received reports from three persons," said Sgt. Brad Schoen, RCPD. "The phone calls are prosecutable. But first we have to catch them."

K-State Police Chief Charles Beckom said lack of positive identifications has hindered the investigation of the Cardwell assault. But, he was reluctant to talk about the case.

"Anytime we take a report and the person goes out and talks to the media we will not talk about it," Beckom said. "If they want to run their own media campaign, then that's their privilege."

Beckom said there are limited ways of identifying the assailants, and prosecution would commence once an identification could be secured. But if a victim goes to the media, Beckom said he begins to doubt their credibility.

"All too often when that party goes out and tells the press something they're not telling them exactly what they told us," Beckom said. "What I'm hearing is they're trying their case in the media. I suspect it's more for publicity than the actual crime of it."

Deans of colleges discuss diversity

Minority students' problems addressed

KIMIS HATJITIMOTHEADIS
Contributing Writer

Deans of the various colleges had the opportunity to speak about diversity in their colleges at noon Wednesday in the K-State Union.

Lane Marshall, dean of the College of Architecture and Design, said the college tries to help minority students reveal and relieve their stress.

"We have been very successful in this," Marshall said.

We have also noticed, Marshall said, that although many Spanish-speaking people speak very good English, some of them have difficulty reading in English.

"Now we can provide them Spanish textbooks for technical courses," he said.

David Mugler, director of residential instruction in the College of Agriculture, said that the college always had a small number of minority graduate and undergraduate students and women.

Mugler said the college had an effective campaign to increase the number of minority students in the college.

The number of minority and women students, Mugler said, is still small, but it is increasing gradually.

He also said he was happy to report that women in the College of Agriculture dominate in leadership positions.

Kay Stewart, assistant dean and director of student services in the College of Business Administration, said she could not speak of results.

She said the business college has a 12-member committee that works on different programs, but they still have not seen the results they would like to see.

"This is the only place I feel inactive," Stewart said.

Donald Rathbone, dean of the College of Engineering, said the two main goals the engineering department has are to recruit and retain students.

"We really had great difficulty hiring minorities, and getting graduate students," Rathbone said.

But, he said, engineering has put a lot of time in recruiting and retaining students and the number of minority and female students has increased.

He said he feels there is still a long way to go.

Engineering, Rathbone said, has strong minority students now.

"What I like about our program is that we have quality, but I feel the numbers are still low," he said.

Ronnie Elmore, associate dean in the College of Veterinary Medicine, said that nationally there are more women than men in veterinary school.

"But we are not at that point, yet," she said.

Elmore said it has also been addressed nationally that veterinary medicine does not seem to attract minority students as much as other professions.

Brice Hobrock, dean of University Libraries, said the library now has one person from a minority group who works temporarily, and a second intern is beginning the program.

"What we try to do is to create a minority faculty," he said.

They have salary budget, he said, which is available to them to provide part-time employment to minorities.

Marvin Kaiser, interim dean in the College of Arts and Sciences, said that the college tries to prepare students for a culturally diverse world.

KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN CLASS ADS

Kedzie 103

CLASSIFIED RATES

One day: 20 words or fewer, $4.00, 20 cents per word over 20; Two consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $5.25, 25 cents per word over 20; Three consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $6.25, 30 cents per word over 20; Four consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.00, 35 cents per word over 20; Five consecutive days: 20 words or fewer, $7.50, 40 cents per word over 20.

Classifieds are payable in advance unless client has an established account with Student Publications. Deadline is noon the day before publication; noon Friday for Monday's paper.

Student Publications will not be responsible for more than one wrong classified insertion. It is the advertiser's responsibility to contact the paper if an error exists. No adjustment will be made if the error does not alter the value of the ad.

Items found ON CAMPUS can be advertised FREE for a period not exceeding three days. They can be placed at Kedzie 103 or by calling 532-6555.

Display Classified Rates

One day: $5.20 per inch; Three consecutive days: $5.00 per inch; Five consecutive days: $4.80 per inch; Ten consecutive days: $4.60 per inch. (Deadline is 4 p.m. two days before publication.)

1 Announcements

1991 ROYAL Purple yearbooks may be purchased for $17 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in Kedzie 103. Yearbooks will be available in May 1991.

ALL YOUR Mary Kay needs — skincare — glamor — nails — gifts for all seasons. New oil-free products. Flors Taylor, 539-2070.

CAMPUS DIRECTORIES are here. Available in Kedzie Hall 103. $1.50 for students (limit two with ID); $2 for non-students. Campus offices may purchase directories from K-State Office Supplies. Check out the coupons in back!

COLLEGE MONEY. Private scholarships. You receive minimum of eight sources, or your money refunded. America's Finest Since 1981. College Scholarship Locators. Box 1881, Joplin, MO 64802-1881. 1-800-879-7485.

EDUCATION MAJORS— Have you registered for Symposium? Forms in BH005. Deadline— Jan. 28. Register now!

FLIGHT TRAINING: Private, instrument, commercial, CPL ATP and multi-engine ratings. Hugh Irvin at 532-6311 or 539-3128.

PERMS $19.95, acrylic nails $25, fill-ins $12. All services at special rates for students. Hair Studio 776-7421.

ROOM, PRIVATE bath and board, $200 (negotiable). Females only. 539-1656 or 539-8705.

WICHITA EAGLE: Subscribe now and get special semester discount rate. 17 weeks. Monday through Sunday. $25; Monday through Saturday, $15; Saturday and Sunday, $13; Sunday only $12. Call local carrier John Fulkerson, 539-1371 today.

2 Apartments—Furnished

AVAILABLE FEB. 1, two-bedroom, furnished, by City Park, $395. 537-8631.

AVAILABLE NOW, efficiency studio apartments. Bills paid, convenient location, parking, no pets. 539-4087.

CLOSE TO campus/Aggieville. Nice three-bedroom, two-bath. Reasonable rent. 539-4641.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM in quiet, well-maintained complex available now. Carpet, paid heat, nice furnishings, laundry, $355, year lease. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

NICE ONE-BEDROOM, quiet surroundings, one-half block from campus, $250 plus electricity. Available now. 539-5296.

ONE-BEDROOM in complex, 1026 Sunset. Laundry facilities, gas heat. $295, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM in small complex available February. 731 N. Sixth. $275, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM NEAR campus, 1010 Sunset. $285, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

SUPER CLOSE TO campus/Aggieville. Very nice two-, three-bedroom, two-bath, not complex, rent negotiable. 539-4641.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR Aggieville, lower level of house, 1128 Fremont. $250, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

TWO-BEDROOM NEAR campus, water, trash and gas paid, $470. 1866 College Heights. No pets. 776-3804.

3 Apartments—Unfurnished

0 BLOCKS to campus from quiet, well-maintained, large one-bedroom. Available now with balcony, dishwasher, storage. Prefer professional person. Year lease. $295. No smoking, pets, waterbeds. 537-9686.

1019 HOUSTON, Large three-bedroom. Near City Park. Full basement. Solar hot water. $450. Jerry 776-7842.

CAMPUS LOCATION, large, one-bedroom, coin-operated washer and dryer, no pets, $290 plus deposit. 539-1465.

COMPARE TWO bedrooms, Cico Park, appliances, laundry. $360. 539-8304.

NEWLY REMODELED, two-bedroom efficiency. Washer, dryer. One block from campus, off-street parking, share utilities. 539-1217 or 1-456-2240. Available now.

NICE TWO-BEDROOM apartment available now, carpeting, appliances, flexible lease, six blocks from campus. No pets, prefer non-smoker. 539-5015.

ONE-BEDROOM, $230 monthly, no utilities, 12th and Bluemont. 776-8051.

ONE-BEDROOM in lower level at house, 300 N. 11th, $250, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

ONE-BEDROOM in Wildcat Inn, 1722 Laramie. Water and trash paid, laundry facilities, gas heat. No pets. $325. 776-3804.

ONE-HALF BLOCK from campus. Washer/dryer, available immediately. Call 776-0081.

STUDIOS AVAILABLE in the Wareham. Convenient downtown location. $250—$310, water, trash paid. No pets. 539-8246 after 4:30 p.m.

SUBLEASE APARTMENT, three-bedroom, bath and a half, good female roommates, no deposit required. $175 a month. 537-7057 for information, 537-9376 roommates number. Available now.

SUPER NICE one-bedroom apartments, five minutes from campus. Available Feb. 1, washer/dryer hookups, dishwasher, all appliances, carpet, reserved parking spot, flexible lease, no pets. Prefer no children and non-smokers. 539-5015.

THREE-BEDROOM BASEMENT, $475, walk to campus and City Park. 537-8555 or 537-8065.

TWO-BEDROOM BASEMENT, living room, attached garage. Walk to KSU. $280. 539-1554.

TWO-BEDROOM HOUSE, $350, plus utilities. Two-bedroom apartment. Both close to campus. 776-9140.

TWO-BEDROOM AVAILABLE in complex near City Park, 1026 Osage, laundry facilities. No pets. $420, water, trash paid. 776-3804.

AVAILABLE NOW, two bedrooms, one and one-half bath. Spacious basement apartment. $360/month. Call Amy at 537-0566.

ONE-BEDROOM AVAILABLE, 924 Fremont, $250, water, trash paid. No pets. 776-3804.

REDUCED, ONE-HALF block from campus, furnished one-bedroom. Must see! Call for appointment 776-1340.

SMALL ONE-BEDROOM house. One block from campus. Refrigerator and stove furnished. Off-street parking. $175 plus utilities. Phone 539-4154.

STUDIO in lower level of house, 409 Summit, new carpet, $190 all utilities included. No pets. 776-3804.

4 Apts.—Furn. or Unfurn.

1019 HOUSTON. Nice one-bedroom studio. Main floor. No utilities except water and trash. $260. Jerry, 776-7842.

NOW LEASING

KSU Students
Quality Apartments
2 Convenient Locations
Very Near KSU
Furnished & Unfurnished
THE CURTIN COMPANIES
776-8641

THREE-BEDROOM APARTMENT one block campus/Aggieville. Available now. Call 539-7356.

LARGE TWO-BEDROOM, fireplace, available now and August. Phone weekdays, 537-9064.

ONE-BEDROOM FOR $225, everything paid. Laundry and much more. Very nice. 539-1288.

5 Automobile for Sale

1965 MUSTANG, three-speed, six-cylinder, $2,400. 537-7798, 539-7123.

1970 FORD Galaxy, automatic, 45K, great first car. $750. 532-6131.

1980 MONTE Carlo, runs well, good condition physically and mechanically. Dependable highway car. Call for more information. Tim at 539-0882 after 5 p.m.

1982 COROLLA— SR5. Runs great. $1,545 or best offer. Call 532-3420.

1982 DATSUN 4x4 king cab, sunroof, mag wheels, air conditioning, power steering, AM/FM cassette, flat bed. Phone 776-5106 evenings, 776-2292 days.

1985 PLYMOUTH Horizon, good condition. Call 532-7254, 776-2315.

1986 OLDSMOBILE Cutlassiera. Two-door, power windows, air conditioned, $5,000. Also, 1982 Yamaha 650 Maxim. Make offer. 537-1038, Kevin.

6 Child Care

NANNIES. EAST Coast affluent families seek live-in nannies, paid airfare, excellent salaries. Upper Dublin Nannies 1-800-937-2766.

NEEDED SOMEONE to pick up my son from the KSU CDC and bring him to my home until I get home. Hours 5-7 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday. Wednesday 8-9:30 p.m. 776-2124.

7 Computers

COMPAQ LTE. Notebook, 6.2 pounds, 9.54 MHz, 80C86, 20 MB hard drive, $1,950. 537-3738.

(Continued on page 11)

BUY-HIRE-SELL-RENT
KANSAS STATE
COLLEGIAN

Ad It Up! in the KANSAS STATE COLLEGIAN

Welcome Buck

School days, school days. Good ol' short-on-cash days.

The Kansas State COLLEGIAN has something to ease your cash flow blues. Until Jan. 25, you can save a buck ($1) off any COLLEGIAN Class Ad. If you need an apartment, a roommate, some furniture, a job, or would just like to tell someone, "It's great to see you again," clip the Welcome Buck below and save. Welcome to K-State!

Cost: 1-20 words, 1 day, $4
Deadline: Noon, day before
Hours: 8 a.m.-5 p.m. M-F
Where: Kedzie Hall 103
(just east of K-State Union)

All ads must be prepaid unless you have an account with Student Publications. Cash, check, MasterCard & Visa accepted.

Welcome Buck

Good for $1 off any prepaid
Collegian Classified Ad

Offer expires Jan. 25, 1991

Bounce Into Spring January 22-26

Welcome
Back
Specials

20% Off Backpacks
20% Off Posters
15% Off Basketball
Apparel
15% Off Computer
Supplies

15% Off Imprinted
Wirebounds and Imprinted Binders

20% Off Study Aids
(Tag Indicates Study Aid)

K-State Union
Bookstore

Support the K-State Union.
Your dollars help the K-State Union sponsor student services, programs and activities

MANNEQUIN

Troupe models in mall stores

MARLA ROCKHOLD
Collegian Reporter

Most mannequins cannot talk, move, smile or laugh. However, the Manhattan Town Center had talking, moving, smiling and laughing mannequins Jan. 19.

These mannequins, part of a modeling troupe called Destiny, were posing for Seiferts clothing store. While posing, they got many second glances and stares as people realized how real they actually were.

Destiny is a multicultural, multi-racial and multiethnic modeling group that was formed in the fall of 1990.

Adrienna Morgan, sophomore in pre-nursing from Panama, said Destiny's purpose is to break down stereotypical views and to prove a point — no matter what your race or group, you can have fun together.

Morgan said she founded Destiny because she felt Manhattan was in a need of something like it.

Destiny models perform skits, do dance routines or act as mannequins.

"We do not use a runway style of modeling," said Morgan. "We use more of a European style, which is more entertaining for the whole family."

Morgan, who has been modeling since she was 12, said this unique style is used because she modeled in Europe. Morgan said she modeled for various boutiques in Germany and also did some freelancing.

Trude Amundsen, freshman in business, is a member of Destiny. She said she joined the group when she saw an advertisement in the paper wanting dancers.

Amundsen said she was spending her free time doing nothing, so she decided to try out for the group.

Amundsen had two years of experience modeling at home in Norway and said she easily made the group.

Morgan said Amundsen was great at European-style modeling.

Amundsen said she feels she has gained much from the modeling group, and that being in Destiny has allowed her to meet people from many cultures and ethnic groups.

"There are no black people in Norway. There were maybe five in my town and I had never really seen a black person up close," she said.

From her experiences with Destiny, Amundsen said she has learned people look so different, yet we're so alike.

Kristen Fairbanks, freshman in pre-med, is also a member of Destiny. She said she also saw the advertisement in the paper wanting dancers and auditioned.

"Being a model has been a dream ever since I was little and this is a good opportunity," Fairbanks said.

Fairbanks said Destiny has been good for her.

"It is a confidence builder. People are watching you and they think you are good, and that makes you feel good," she said.

The members of Destiny said they find it fun and challenging to model as mannequins because people are always trying to make them laugh, which can be easy to do.

Adrienna Morgan, sophomore in pre-nursing and president of Destiny, instructs performers at a rehearsal Tuesday in the Ecumenical Center. Destiny is a multicultural modeling troupe founded by Morgan in the fall of 1990. Destiny last posed as mannequins for Seiferts.

They said at other times, people will touch them to see if they are real. Amundsen said someone even pinched her.

Fairbanks said when she modeled for Seiferts, she picked out an outfit at the store across the hall she liked and watched it so she could avoid eye contact with people who would make her laugh. She also said she learned to put herself in a trance in order to keep her concentration.

Destiny has 19 members; 17 females and two males. Most of the members are K-State students. To join the group, a person must audition for Morgan.

In an audition, Morgan said she teaches four basic turns. The person auditioning must construct a short routine and perform it in about 10 minutes.

After joining Destiny, there are some obligations. There are contracts to sign for clothing damages and rehearsals.

Destiny usually rehearses four days a week for an hour. Even though rehearsals are usually scheduled for an hour, Morgan said they have so much fun, rehearsals actually last longer.

Destiny will be performing again at the Manhattan Town Center Feb. 2 at Seiferts. They also may be performing in the center court in the mall Feb. 8.

Morgan said they will also be performing in the K-State Union during Black History Month.

Destiny does not charge for its daytime performances such as the ones at the Manhattan Town Center and the Union. For evening performances, Morgan said they will charge no more than $5 a ticket.

Even though Destiny may make some money, Morgan said, "The biggest thing I want people to keep in mind when they watch Destiny is times have changed and people have changed and it is time for people to unite. We are doing this and having fun doing it."

Researcher receives award

Cox wins outstanding scientist award, wheat research funds

SHANNAN SEELY
Agriculture Reporter

For the first time in over 11 years, a K-State researcher has recently been named Early Career Scientist of the Year for the Northern Plains area by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service.

The recipient, Stan Cox, is a USDA wheat geneticist at K-State's Wheat Genetics Resource Center. The center, near Claflin and College avenues, has an office, greenhouses, field spaces and laboratories.

Cox was awarded $10,000 to apply to his continuous research of wheat genetics. The award is given to an outstanding scientist who has worked for the ARS seven years or less.

His work is the middle link of the chain of scientists who produce new wheat hybrids for farmers.

"We are trying to introduce genetic varieties never before cultivated," Cox said. By doing this, the genes transferred can increase disease or insect resistance, for example. A hybrid is the offspring of genetically dissimilar parents.

Specifically, Cox develops the parent material, or germ plasm, for the wheat breeders of the Great Plains to use in developing new wheat varieties.

One way to describe his work is the nameplates that point to his office and his co-worker's.

"His says 'retail' and mine says 'wholesale department,'" Cox said.

Rollin Sears, professor in agronomy, is one wheat breeder who directly uses the germ plasm and works closely with Cox on several projects. They also co-advise about seven graduate students.

"We're really good friends," Sears said. "My strengths are more in physiology and biochemistry. Stan's are genetics and statistics. Really, the area of plant breeding encompasses those four major areas plus others. We feed on each other's strengths."

Sears said Cox receives national and international requests for the germ plasm.

Cox said receiving the award was scary. To him, the research of science is not based on individual accomplishment.

"I'm afraid credit won't be given to all those who have helped," he said.

Bar offers country entertainment

JIM STRUBER
Consumer Reporter

Some people want live country entertainment every weekend, and nobody in Manhattan caters exclusively to this particular clientele.

Fortunately for country-western enthusiasts, there is the Ranch Saloon.

Bob Dieball, owner of the Ranch Saloon, said the mainstay of the Ranch Saloon has been country music.

Dieball said there are a lot of clubs who will play country music one night and rock 'n' roll the next.

"We want to keep it country, that is the way we have been doing it for nine and a half years here at the club," Dieball said. "Country music has been the backbone to our success. When people come out here, they know it is country music — and that is the way it is going to stay," he said.

Some of the bands do play two or three rock 'n' roll tunes when the crowd gets a little wound up, Dieball said.

Dieball said the Ranch is a private club and charges $10 for membership. The members pay a $2 cover charge and their guests must pay $3.

"Without the cover charge we wouldn't be able to afford the live bands — they are necessary to pay for the entertainment," he said.

Dieball said the biggest drawing cards are the local bands that come and play every Friday and Saturday night. He said one of the favorite attractions at the Ranch is the band "Firestarter," from Belvidere.

"They play a lot of up-tempo music and have a good fiddle player," he said.

"The main attraction at the Ranch Saloon is the dance floor," said Dan Moser, senior in animal sciences and industry. "There are some places who play country music occasionally, but they have a small dance floor."

For those K-State students wanting to learn how to dance to country music, the Ranch offers two dance classes in the fall and after the first of the year. They last for six weeks and cost $20 per couple. One session started this week and another will start after spring break.

"Our dance lessons have been real successful, our dance teacher is the same one who has been with us for nine years," Dieball said. "People she taught to dance nine years ago are still coming to dance nearly every weekend. She does a good job," he said.

CLIP & SAVE

LOSE INCHES IN MINUTES

Set•N•Me•Free

Aloe and Herb Body Wrap

Effective treatment for

- Losing inches and cellulite
- Sagging Skin • Blemishes
- Stretch Marks • No Harsh Chemicals

Crimpers
HAIR DESIGN STUDIO
613 N. Manhattan
539-7621

Regular Price: $50.00

$35.00 with ad

Compliment: Nu Skin Non-Surgical Face Lift

Expires Feb. 28, 1991

SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE SAVE

This coupon is good for any regularly priced product or service.

$5 HAIR EXPERTS $5 off

1323 Anderson Ave. • Manhattan, (913) 776-4455

COUPON

1323 Anderson Ave. • Manhattan, (913) 776-4455

HAIR EXPERTS DESIGN TEAM

1 FREE

TANNING SESSION

Check out our re-opening specials ($2 sessions)

1126 Laramie
Aggieville,
Manhattan, Ks

Sun Connection

776-2426

Coupon good thru 1-25-91 • Limit one coupon per customer

LORDS'n LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

$3.00 OFF Woman Haircut & Style

$2.00 OFF Men Haircut & Style
(includes shampoo & blowdry)

$5.00 OFFperms

ASK for:

Jennifer

3-8 MON.-FRI.

5-8 SAT.

218 S. 4th Offer expires Feb. 16, 1991 776-5651

Crum's BEAUTY COLLEGE 776-4794

$4.00 •Haircut
•Blowdry
•Shampoo

with this coupon

Exp. 2/28/91

8 a.m.-8 p.m.
531 Poyntz

Satisfaction Guaranteed!

-all services performed by supervised cosmetology students-

You're Looking Good
For Back to School

50% off Men's Haircut and Style

reg. $12 now $6

Women's Haircut and Style

reg. $15 now $12

50% off perms

ASK for:

Kelli

Tammy

Alis

LORDS'n LADYS
Hair Design & Skin Care Studio

Return ad with service

Offer expires Feb. 2, 1991

Store Hours: 8 a.m.-8 p.m.

218 S. 4th • 776-5651

Crimpers
HAIR DESIGN STUDIO
Aggieville, Ks. N.S.A.

1/3 OFF
perms

Redken
KMS
Nu Skin

HOURS: 8-8 Monday-Friday
8-5 Saturday
Closed Sunday

Return ad with service
Expires Feb. 28, 1991